students with disabilities prevents the state from connecting students with disabilities to the workforce; and

(3) In order to meet the economic demands of the state, it is essential to collect significant data and examine the postsecondary services, supports, and accommodations necessary for students with disabilities to improve postsecondary education and career outcomes.

(b)(1) An institution of higher education that is eligible to receive Title IV federal student aid funds shall report annually to the Division of Higher Education the number of students with disabilities at the institution of higher education based upon the number of students with disabilities who are registered to receive accommodations.

(A) Number of students registered to receive accommodations;

(B) Percentage of students registered to receive accommodations of all undergraduate students; and

(C) Total number of undergraduate certificates or degrees awarded to students with disabilities who are registered to receive accommodations.

(3) An institution of higher education is not required to submit the information described in subdivision (b)(2) of this section if the:
