Farmers and others began using alternative products. There is a criminal statute making possession of anhydrous ammonia in a container that does not comply with the rules of the Boiler Inspection Division a Class B felony. Ark. Code Ann. 5-64-1301 et seq. While rarely necessary, the agency feels it is important to maintain this rule for public safety reasons.

In this respect they serve as a quick reference guide for field inspectors and others. The technical codes, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers Boiler and Pressure Vessel Code and the National Board Inspection Code are lengthy and expensive. They are not always available even in electronic format in the field.

Rule 010.05-015 Operating Permits, Rules of the Elevator Safety Board, Department of Labor				ID#: 1371
Statutory Authority: Ark. Code Ann. 20-24-106.	07/25/2006	09/01/2006	08/08/2006
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Required under State or Federal Law: Ark. Code Ann. 20-24-106.
Requirement Statement: Ark. Code Ann. 20-24-106(c)(1) requires the board to make rules for the maintenance, inspection, tests and operation of all elevators and escalators. Ark. Code Ann. 20-24-116 requires operating permits.
Enforce: Operating permits are required by Ark. Code Ann. 20-24-116(a)(3) and the requirements of this statute are largely incorporated in this rule. In addition to the statutory requirements, there are procedure or practice provisions for the revocation of an operating permit; a requirement to keep a current address on file; and a requirement to notify the agency if the conveyance is involved in a serious physical injury or fatality. Also, while most fees are set by statute, the board is authorized to set fees for temporary operating permits in an amount up to $100. Ark. Code Ann. 20-24-116(e)(2). This rule sets fees for temporary operating permits.

Enforce: Ark. Code Ann. 20-24-106(d) authorizes the Elevator Safety Board to grant variances in certain circumstances. It also establishes the fee, which by statute is to be established by the board up to a maximum of $100. The rule also deals with certain specific types of variance requests. For example, it specifically provides that the board will not approve a variance for the installation of a residential elevator in a non-residential application.
