Called as a witness, having been first duly sworn to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, was examined and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q. Mr. Mattson, your name's Tyler Mattson; right?

A. Uh-huh.

Q. Have you ever taken a -- have you ever had your deposition taken before, Tyler?
A. No.
Q. It's important that you verbalize yeses and nos so that the court reporter can make a clean record. I know it's our habit to nod and say "uh-huh."
A. Yeah.
Q. I do that too.
A. Yeah.
Q. But in depositions we have to verbalize yeses and nos clearly.

I'm going to ask you some questions here today. If you don't understand a question, I can repeat it. If you can't hear me, tell me and I'll speak up.

If you need to take a break, that's fine. Just let us know.

Other than that, I don't have any preliminary directions for you. We'll try to get through this as quickly as we can.

I know you don't want to be here any longer than you have to, right?
A. Right.
Q. Okay. All right. So state your full name for us.
A. Tyler Anthony Mattson.
Q. Okay. And, how old are you, Mr. Mattson?

A. 27.
Q. 27.
Okay. What's your date of birth?
A. [redacted]
Q. All right. And did -- where -- where did you grow up and go to high school?
A. I went to Magazine until seventh grade. Then I switched to Booneville High School and graduated from there.
Q. Okay. And what year did you graduate?
A. 2013.
Q. 2013. Okay.
And did you go to college after that?
A. I started some college but I dropped out.
Q. Okay. How much college did you -- did you do, about?
A. A year, about a year.
Q. Okay. Where did you go?
A. Ozark ATU, a smaller college campus.
Q. Okay. And, before coming to Booneville, where all did you work?
A. Rockline and Walmart.
Q. What's Rockline?
A. They make baby wipes. It's just a factory. They make baby wipes and coffee fil- -- and I think they used to do coffee filters.

Q. Okay. And what did you do for Rockline?
A. I was a packer and palletizer. I just would stand on the conveyor belt line, put packages into boxes, send them down to be palletized; and we would swap off.
Q. Okay. And why did you leave that job?
A. To get a job at BHDC.
Q. Okay. And why did you want to work at BHDC?
A. I had grown up around disabled people all my life --
Q. Okay.
A. -- beforehand. My mom worked there for years, and my dad worked there. And it just kind of down -- down the tree.
Q. I see.
What did your -- when you say -- did you have relatives that are disabled?
A. I had an aunt that was one; I had never met her.
Q. Okay.
A. But back then my dad -- or my dad's ex-wife now used to work for BOST, with a live-in person; so I was about -- around that as well.
Q. What did your mom do at Booneville?
A. She was the same as me. Back then she was called an RCA or something like that.

Q. How long did she work there, if you know?
A. About maybe 15 years.
Q. Okay. Does she still work there now?
A. No.
Q. No.
Do you know when she -- when her employment ended there?
A. 2001.
Q. Okay. And what about your dad? When did he work there?
A. I don't know. He wasn't there for very long. Maybe -- maybe a year or two.
Q. Okay. Did you have brothers or sisters?
A. None biological.
Q. Okay. Are your parents still together?
A. No.
Q. No.
Who do you -- who do you -- do you live -- do you live alone now?
A. I live with my girlfriend.
Q. Okay. And do y'all live in Booneville?
A. Yeah.
Q. Okay. And you've never been married?
A. No.
Q. And you don't have any children?

A. None biological.
Q. Do you have a stepchild or a -- well, I guess --
A. Yes, technically.
Q. Your girlfriend has children?
A. Yeah, yeah.
Q. Okay. And do those children live with y'all?
A. Yeah.
Q. How old are they?
A. Five.
Q. One child that's five?
A. Uh-huh. Yes, yes. Sorry.
Q. It's okay. It's habit. I do it too.
A. Yeah.
Q. It's just . . .
So you -- when did you first start working at Booneville?
A. 2017. February was my hire date. I don't know the exact number.
Q. Okay. And what were you -- were you hired as a -- as a res- -- you tell me what you were hired as?
A. RCA was the title.
Q. Okay. And that stands for residential care --
A. Assistant.
Q. -- assistant.
And was that also your title at the time of David's death?

A. RCT.
Q. Okay. What's RCT stand for?
A. Residential care technician.
Q. Okay. And so does that mean you got a promotion?
A. No.
After six months of being there everybody goes from an R -- back then it was from an RCA to a RCT.
Q. Okay. So there's kind of, like, a six-month probationary period?
A. Yeah, yeah.
Q. So -- and you were an RCT at the time of David's death?
A. Yes.
Q. When did you -- I understand you left Booneville and have since come back.
When did you leave Booneville?
A. About -- at this point 6 1/2 months ago. I don't know exact dates, but it was about 6 1/2 months ago.
Q. Okay. And did you leave on our own accord or by your own choice? Or were you asked to leave?
A. No. By my own choice.
Q. Okay. Why did -- where did you -- what is -- what was your reason for leaving?
A. Trauma was an issue. And just --

Q. What do you mean?
A. After that, after a while it just kind of I guess ate at me necess- -- sort of.
Q. What did?
A. The David situation.
Q. Okay.
A. And just after a -- 4 1/2 years of doing it, I was kind of burnt out for a little bit. I needed a break I think is really what it boiled down to.
Q. Okay. I don't blame you. I have no doubt it's a difficult job.
A. It can be.
Q. So what did you do in between -- what did you do while you were -- during the time you were --
A. I -- I worked at BOST, which is similar to that but just on a smaller scale.
Q. Is it a lo- -- is it a residential facility?
A. They have facilities where they live in, like, group homes.
Q. Uh-huh.
A. But I went to this person's apartment and watched them on the weekends.
Q. Okay. And what -- so what prompted you to leave that and come back to Booneville?
A. Well, in between that after I left there, I went to Walmart for a short time; and it just wasn't for me. Like, I -- I just didn't enjoy it again.

Q. Right.
A. I just really missed the clients, is what it really just boiled down to.
Q. Okay.
A. Like, I just missed the -- missed them a lot, so . . .
Q. You missed the clients that you -- I take it you enjoy the work?
A. Yeah. Yeah, absolutely.
Q. Okay.
A. Yeah.
Q. What kind of -- and I'm not -- I'll get to training you received from Booneville in a little bit.
A. Uh-huh.
Q. But what sort of -- did you have any kind of specialized training, nursing classes, CNA training, anything like that before coming to Booneville?
A. I went for a CNA before I got at the BHDC, but I never finished my test because I got -- honestly, I just got really nervous in tests, and so I just couldn't -- I did it a couple times, and I couldn't get through it.
Q. Okay. And at that time residential care techs weren't required to be CNAs?

A. No.
That was long before -- it was before I even worked there that I got a CNA or that I went for a CNA rather.
Q. Oh, okay. Am I correct that residential care techs now are required to have CNA training?
A. Yes.
Q. When did that come up, that requirement?
A. Maybe a year and a half ago.
Q. Okay. It was after David's death, though?
A. Yes. Yes.
Q. Okay. So I assume now you do have the -- that CNA training?
A. Yes.
Q. And, briefly, what did that entail? How long did it take and --
A. It took three weeks: One week of book learning, another week of skills training, and then third week of alter- -- alterations [sic] between book and skills.
They would just tell us general basic medical -- like, measuring urine; bedpan changing; changing beds, just things of that sort.
Q. Is it -- there's no basic lifesaving training?
A. I did CPR in my Phase class whenever I first came there 4 1/2 years ago.
Q. But that is not taught in -- at -- in the CNA training?

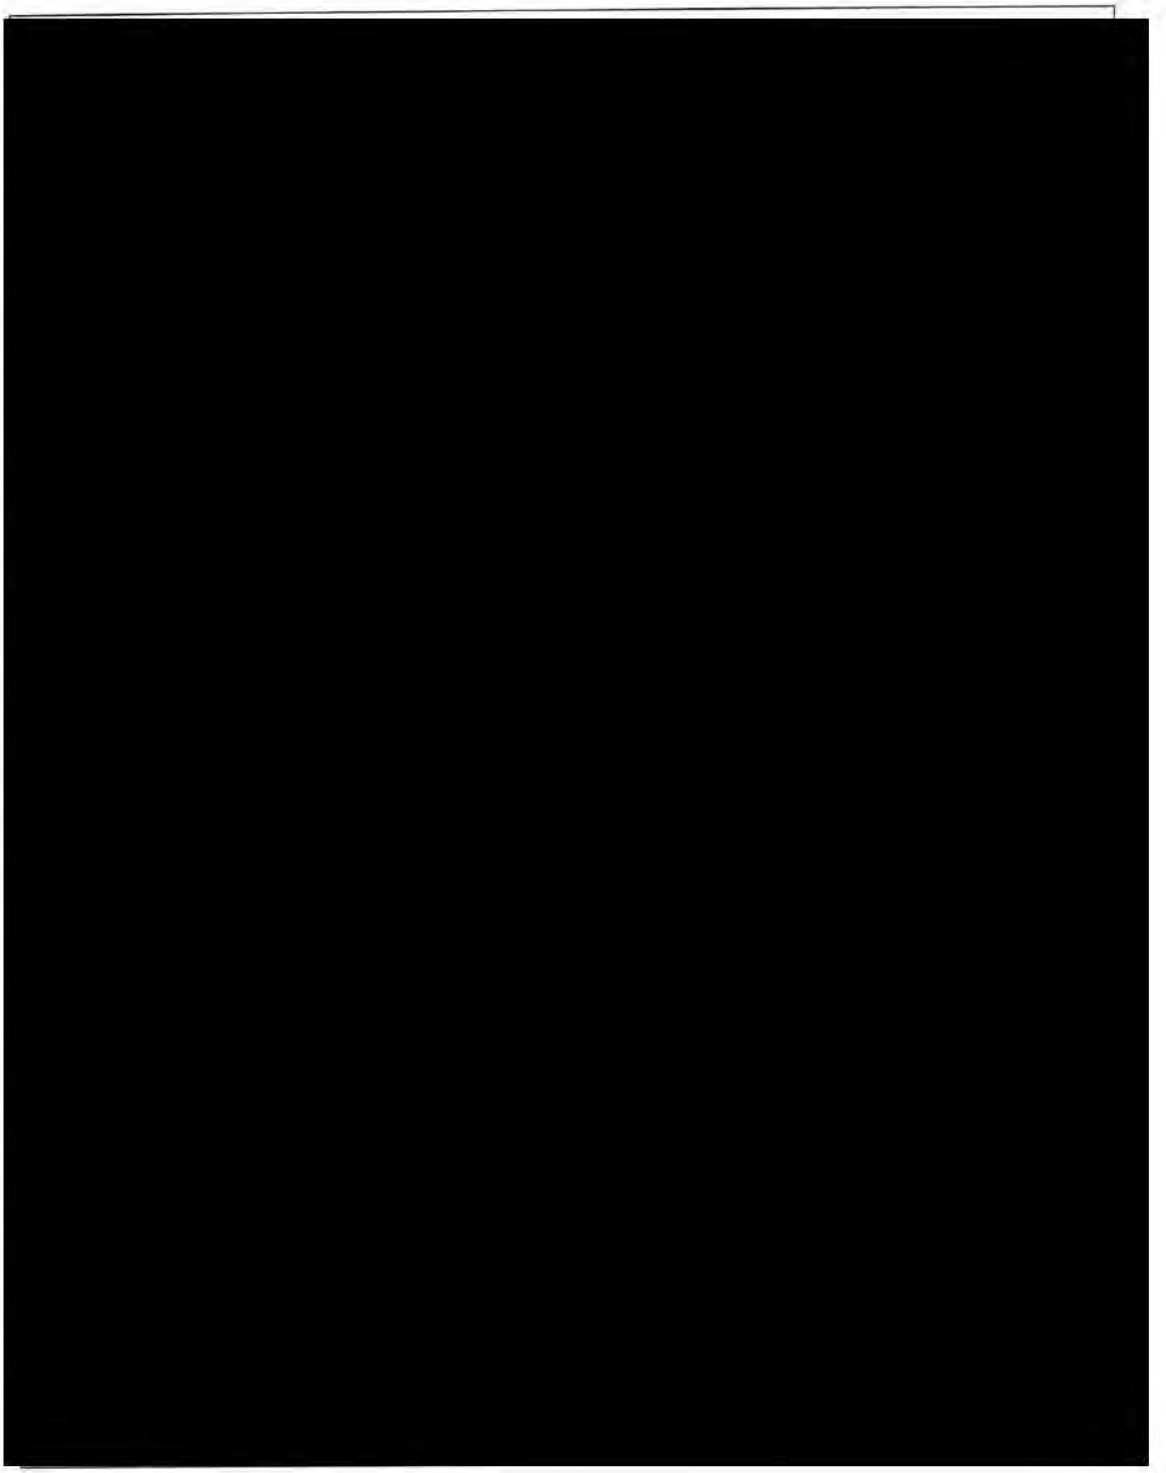
A. Not that I remember.
Q. Okay. So as far as you recall -- and I have no idea myself.
A. Right.
Q. But, as far as you know, the CNA training does not encompass or include, you know, basic lifesaving techniques like CPR and that sort of thing?
A. Not that I remembered.
Q. Okay. And we'll get to your training here in -- at Booneville in just a minute.
But have you ever been terminated from a job?
A. No.
Q. Okay. You paused for a second there.
A. I had to think. But no.



Q. Okay. Have you ever had any other job that would have involved having to intervene in behavioral incidents with a client other than at Booneville?
A. No.

Q. Okay. So the BOOST job --
A. BOST.
Q. BOST job, that's -- that's more you're going to somebody's home that needs assistance with --
A. They -- the BOST clients, as far as I understood, they weren't behavioral risks. They were living in an apartment for a reason; because they could be trusted I guess to live out in the -- in the community.
Q. Okay. Have you ever -- have you ever been arrested?
A. No.
Q. So you have -- you've no misdemeanor or felony convictions on your record?
A. No.

Q. Okay. All right. Okay. As a residential care technician, what are your duties and responsibilities?

A. For the shift I was on, day shift, I would get them ready if they hadn't been ready from the previous shift.

Q. Okay.
A. To get them shipped out to work.
Whenever they were all out to work, I would go in, clean their rooms, bathrooms. And typically when they got back from work, just because it's easier on us and easier on them, we would do their showers or prompt them to do their showers.
Q. Okay. And did you typically work the same shift?
A. Yes.
I worked 12 to eight when I first started.
Q. Uh-huh.
A. For about six months and then went to --
Q. 12 p.m. to 8 p.m?
A. 8 a.m. -- 12 -- 12 a.m. to 8 a.m., rather. I'm sorry.
Q. Okay.
A. And then I did 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. after about six months.
Q. So at the time of David's death, you were -- you were on the 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. shift?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. How many days a week did you work?
A. Five.
Q. And I've never -- I've -- I've neglected to ask anybody this, but when you're -- do you have, like, a certain number of patients? Or when you go in for your shift at -- I'm sorry, eight in the morning?

A. Uh-huh.
Q. Are you informed, okay, Patient X or Patient A, Patient B, Patient C are your responsibility today? Is that kind of how it works?
A. It's a one-to-eight ratio for every area.
Q. Okay.
A. So --
Q. One RCT to eight patients?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay.
A. It's -- so at the -- where I was working at the time, it would be two people there. So -- but we have a visual list of who was there, and so we would know every -- there wouldn't be different people there every day necessarily.
Q. On the day in question -- I believe it was a Saturday, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. Was it a -- were you -- were you tasked with -- is it fair to say your job was to supervise them?
A. I don't like that word; but I guess, yeah.
Q. Well, and I -- and I don't know -- you know, tell me; educate me. What is --

A. In an outsider's point of view, yeah. I -- I suppose so, yes.
Q. How would you describe it? Because I really want to -- I mean, I want to know --
A. The way I put it -- I've always kind of put in jokingly in ways and --
Q. Right.
A. -- like, this doesn't -- I don't mean this unprofessionally.
Q. Yes.
A. But it's like kind of a glorified babysitter sometimes.
Q. Okay.
A. Within -- but extra steps, you know.
Q. Right.
A. So -- as in shower, cleaning them up if accidents happen, things of that sort; but . . .
Q. But your responsibility would be eight individual clients?
A. Yes.
But if there's two people -- which there always needs to be two people -- it's everybody on that area.
So, for instance, I think back then we had 10. So we would be responsible -- me and whoever else was there would be responsible for them.

Q. For 10?
A. At the area I was working at, the Blue.
I -- I don't know if that's the exact number of clients that was there; but, like, that's just the example I was using.
Q. So one to eight --
A. If there was eight individuals on the -- I'm sorry for interrupting.
Q. Go ahead.
A. If there was eight individuals on the floor, I could be there alone.
Q. Okay.
A. Yeah.
Q. If there was more than eight --
A. But if one more stepped in, I would need another person.
Q. So on the day in question on June '20 -- June 13, 2020, how many RCTs were -- well, how many -- how many clients were you responsible for on that day?
A. Me and one other were responsible for the -- our regular 10.
Q. 10?
A. If -- if it was 10. But I don't remember exact numbers because people have come and gone since then and --

Q. But there were two of -- two RCTs?
A. Yes, there were two RCTs.
Q. Who was the other one?
A. Eileen Helms.
Q. Eileen Helms?
A. Yeah.
Q. Okay. Was she present -- I've never heard that name. Was she present?
A. She was in the lunchroom, so she wasn't actually outside with me during --
Q. Okay.
A. -- the event.
Q. Did she ever -- do you know if she ever came to the scene of the event or?
A. No. No, she couldn't because she was --
Q. Okay.
A. She had to deal with other clients.
Q. Okay. I guess that's why I've never --
A. Yeah.
Q. And is she somebody that you were typically paired with?
A. Yeah. She was a regular staff then as well at the time.
Q. Is she still there?

A. She works in a different area; but she is still there, yes.

Q. Where does she work now?

A. The Green. So, she's like, on the same hall but on a different end.

[redacted]

Q. Okay. Okay. Tyler, I'd like you to tell me as best you can about the training you received when you -- when you first got hired there, which was again 2017?
A. Yes.
Q. And, to clarify and speed things up, I'm only concerned with training you received on how to respond to behavior incidents, meaning acceptable forms of intervention during -- you know, you know what I'm talking about?
A. Yes.
Q. I don't need to know about --
A. Okay.

Q. -- you know, irrelevant things. So you seem like a bright guy; I think you can parse through it.

So tell me as much as -- tell me -- tell me about your initial training that you received as -- training that would in any way pertain to intervening in behavioral issues with clients?

A. From what I remember on the training that I had in 2017, we had different levels per se --

Q. Uh-huh.

A. -- of training. So it kind of just depended on the severity of the case.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. It would just be basically walking hip to hip and walking them to sit down per se.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. Or elevate up.

And they would call it the "basket technique." And it's basically underhanding, holding the elbow and holding the arm and then walking.

But typically you would want another person with that if they were going -- if they were being a lot more aggressive in the case.

Q. Did you go through something called Phase 1 --

A. Yes. That was the -- that was the title of the initial training.

Q. The what?
A. The title of the initial training, the first training.
Q. Okay. And so just broadly speaking what are the kind of things they teach you in Phase 1?
A. As far as, like, everything?
Q. As far as -- as far as how to -- as far as how to manage -- I guess as far as how to manage the clients?
A. They taught us a lot of basic psychology and understanding of the different disabilities and how we could possibly respond to them.
Q. Okay.
A. Techniques we could use to deescalate the situation.
Q. And what are -- tell me about those.
A. It's kind of a person-to-person basis.
Q. Uh-huh.
A. Distractions work wonders.
Q. Okay.
A. Reinforcements.
Q. Pos- -- kind of like positive reinforcement type --
A. Yeah, yes.
Q. -- verbal cues?
A. Yes.
Just things of that nature, really. Just distractions and -- changing the subject is the same.

But positive reinforcements, removing them from what could be agitating them if there is a physical thing agitating them is a big one if you can get it to happen.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. That's really all I can think of offhand.

Q. And was it also in Phase 1 where you were taught the different pers- -- maneu- -- personal restraint maneuvers that you --

A. Yes.

Q. -- started to describe?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And tell me about those as much as you can recall.

A. Well, like I said earlier, we had the basket as a -- that was like I guess the proper term they used.

And the one I was like -- I said "hip to hip" where I'm just behind them, and if they're not full-blown necessarily --

Q. Uh-huh.

A. -- like, I can just walk them out. But if they're being sort of aggressive I guess like -- because, again, it was based on different levels of aggression. Like I said, the medium one, typically you would want another person with that because that's whenever they're starting to get actual physical.

Q. The what you would want?
A. The -- the basket one. I just call it the medium one. I'm sorry.
Q. The what?
A. The basket where, like I said, when you hook under and --
Q. What else did you call it?
A. -- wrap their -- medium tier. Like, I --
Q. Medium tier?
A. Yeah. I -- I've just kind of made up my own little . . .
Q. But the basket ma- -- the basket -- you call it the basket what?
A. Just really that was what it was called, was the basket. It's kind of like you're holding a basket.
Q. And you -- and you under- -- and you consider that to have been for kind of medium-level aggression?
A. Yeah, yeah.
Q. And -- okay. And how is the basket move performed?
A. I --
Q. You can stand up.
A. Okay.
Q. Please do, actually.
A. Basically -- let me just use you for an example maybe.

So it would be this sort and this sort.
Q. Okay.
A. And, as you can see a basket, you know, I'm holding his -- holding his arm like a basket.
Q. Yeah.
A. So and then it would be guiding them to a seat or whatever to get them in a grounded position or else a sitting position so it's not -- they're not as, you know, able.
Q. Okay. And you kind of -- you kind of bend the wrist like this?
A. No, no. No, no. I wasn't trying to bend this wrist. It's just holding it like this.
Q. Okay.
A. How -- I didn't mean to bend his wrist; I wasn't trying to.
Q. And that's something you would -- is that also -- is that also how you would move them hip to hip?
A. Yes.
But that's with, like, another person. There's no way you could do that easily with just yourself I feel like.
Q. So that's more for getting them to lay down.
A. No, no. No, no. Seated.

Q. Seated.
A. Yeah, seated.
Q. And, again, that -- that's something that you said would be used for middle-level type aggression?
A. Yes.
Q. What -- what would you consider to be middle-level aggression?
A. More verbal threats. And you can see -- or, well, I could see just them getting more clearly aggravated.
Q. Uh-huh.
A. Because it kind of just -- like I said earlier, it kind of goes in tiers. You know, they're kind of just irritated; then it begins more --
Q. So --
A. -- apparent aggravation.
Q. So that's a personal restraint you might use for a -- for a client who's not being physically aggressive but just is being verbally aggressive, appears agitated, and might get physically aggressive but hasn't yet?
A. There's a little physical aggression. Like, I probably -- I should have reiterated that. I'm sorry.
There's a little physical aggression; but, like, there's not enough to -- to me to really, like, apply anything else necessarily I guess.
Q. Well, okay. What do you mean? Like, what would be a little -- what would you consider a little physical aggression?

A. Well, like -- ah, just kind of -- well, basically from the first restraint that I told you about, it's whenever they're --
Q. The basket?
A. -- being -- no. The first one is the hip to hip.
Q. But you need two people for that?
A. No. No, the basket is two people.
Q. Okay. What's hip to hip then?
A. As it is -- oh, yeah.

THE WITNESS: Sorry. Oh, my goodness.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: That's okay.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

A. So it's quite literally just this.
Q. Oh.
A. And you're just walking. Like, there's no, like, hardcore physical restraints. You know, it's just --
Q. You're guiding them?
A. Yeah, more or less. It's just guidance and that's it.

But if they were being --

Q. And you would use --
A. -- resistive --
Q. And you would use that --

A. As the beginner or the start of it.
Q. The -- and so give me an idea of the types of client behaviors that would necessitate using that hip to hip?
A. Seeing them going after another client per se. It's mostly, like I said, a removal mechanism.
Q. So if they were physically attacking another client?
A. Or even another staffer exam- --
Q. Okay.
A. -- in that case.
But just attacking something or someone.
Q. That's when you would use this --
A. Yeah. It's a removal technique to get them away from whatever the issue is and separation.
Q. And that's the -- that's for the lowest level of aggression?
A. Yes, yes.
Q. Okay.
A. But whenever -- the basket for example is whenever they're kind of resisting during that. So you -- it's a step process.
Q. Okay. And the basket you need two people?
A. It makes it a lot easier.
Q. Okay. And what about the high -- a higher level of physical aggression?

A. I don't remember what they taught us then because they've changed it.
Q. Okay. What is it now?
A. A spotter -- if I remember correctly, it's a spotter technique. And that's whenever it becomes transitioning to the ground.
Q. What's a spotter technique?
A. Two people, along with the basket, like I said.
Q. Uh-huh.
A. And then one person's behind the pers- -- behind who you're transitioning.
Q. So that you can lower them onto the ground?
A. Safely.
Q. Safely.
And for the purposes of -- for what purpose would you put them on the ground?
A. When they're full blown out of control, basically.
Q. Okay. And how does -- and getting them on the ground does what? Again, I'm just asking you to you educate me. I --
A. Yeah, no. You're fine.
It's just -- it's more of a control mechanism I think.
Q. Okay.

A. It -- that's the easiest way to proceed to mechanical if you need it, mechanical restraints if you needed them.
Q. But they're -- there are I'm sure lots of times where it's necessary to get them on the ground --
A. Oh, absolutely.
Q. -- and you -- but you don't have to graduate to the papoose board, right?
A. No. Yeah, exactly.
There's been several times where it's more of like -- to me it's, like, okay, why are you here now, you know.
Q. Okay.
A. So I would talk to them -- I feel like this is a silly way to put it; but, like, it's more of a personal level at that point, you know.
Q. Yeah.
A. Because there -- there's a reason you're here, you know.
Q. I understand. I understand. I understand and I -- and I get it's a difficult job. I'm just trying to understand as best I can what --
A. I'm trying to explain it to, like, someone who doesn't understand the best I can too; so . . .
Q. You're doing good, actually.

A. Okay. Good.
Q. And those -- those three maneuvers that we just went over --
A. Uh-huh.
Q. -- those were -- do you think those were all taught in Phase 1?
A. The first two I know for sure. I don't know about the third one; because, like I said, it -- it's recently changed.
Q. Okay. Was there a Phase 2 of training?
A. Yes.
Q. Well, put a pin in that.
A. Okay.
Q. Was there anything else from Phase 1 that you were taught that's relevant to -- that you think is relevant to this that we haven't discussed?
A. I guess it would be kind of relevant. They would go over their BTPs and their LURs, which is basically sort of like --
Q. Behavioral Treatment Plans?
A. Program.
Q. Programs?
A. And LUR is, like, Living Unit Record.
Q. Okay.
A. So it was a very general summary.

Q. Uh-huh.
A. And I say that very lightly. But it's a very general summary of what they were -- or what their day consisted of. Like, they would have their 24-hour schedule; positive reinforcers; what they could get, what they could not get.
Q. Uh-huh.
A. Rights restrictions, things of that sort.
Q. Okay. Okay. Any -- anything else that you -- that you recall from Phase 1 training?
A. Honestly, after the LUR you could really just go from there as far as, like, knowing a client.
Q. Tell me about LUR again. What is that? Living?
A. Living Unit Record.
Q. And what does that contain?
A. It -- like I said, the 24-hour schedule, their reinforcers, their rights restrictions.
Q. Okay.
A. Things of that sort. Just, like I said, a very general summary of them.
Q. So at this first training session, this Phase 1, you were given -- you were introduced to the people that are going to be your clients and given this basic information about them, their --
A. Not necessarily. Phase 1 was all bookwork also; so it was a lot of examples, per se.

Q. So an example of what a 24 hour --
A. Exactly, yeah.
Q. -- looks like? I've got you.
A. But the second week of Phase 1 was OJT training, on-the-job training. And that's when they would give you an assignment of a particular client, not necessarily the one you're going to be assigned to permanently.
Q. I see.
A. But they would be -- it would be, for example, go into that person's LUR and see their rights restrictions or their positive reinforcers or their schedule; and we write it down on a little quiz sheet.
Q. Okay.
A. And we would be -- be assigned two people from the same area, and we would work on the floor -- with some restrictions, but we would work on the floor as OJTs.
Q. Okay.
A. For the week.
Q. And Phase 1 lasted a week, and then there's a week of on-the-job training after that?
A. Phase 1 lasted three weeks total, but it was --
Q. Three weeks.
A. -- books, OGT [sic]. Books with some OGT [sic] mixed in.

Q. And then also some -- some physical techniques that you're learning as well?
A. On the first week.
Q. On the first week, during the first week.
And is there a Phase 2?
A. Yes, six months after your initial Phase 1.
Q. Did you -- and I assume all of these are done on the Booneville campus?
A. Yes.
Q. And did you complete Phase 2 as well?
A. Yes. That's how I got my RCT.
Q. Makes sense.
And what is -- what is -- what's different about Phase 2? What are you -- what additionally are you taught in Phase 2?
A. Honestly, I don't remember much of Phase 2.
Q. Okay.
A. Like, it was -- if -- if I remember correctly, it was really just a big summary week.
Q. Maybe reinforcing things you learned and --
A. Yeah, just -- just a refresher period. And, like, I think they added a few things. They added telemetry, system hunt.
Q. What's telemetry?
A. It's a watch device that they have on certain clients who are on -- who are known to be elopers.

Q. Like mind reading? No, I'm just kidding.
A. Yes -- no.
Q. Okay.
A. But it's -- it's a watch device on certain clients who would be elopers.
Q. Okay.
A. And basically there's -- they look like satellite boxes, honestly.
Q. Yeah.
A. But it can -- if they run off within a mile radius, they can track them on a beeping system.
Q. Okay.
A. So what they would do for the training is they would hide it out in a general area, off campus usually just to not be in the way of clients or whatever because they'd would be walking around, you know.

And we would get the little device box and hunt around for it.

Q. Okay. Okay. Were there any other phases after that that you had to do?
A. Just CPR refreshers, but it wasn't necessarily a Phase.
Q. Okay. CPR refreshers, I believe that was once a year?

A. I think it was then, yeah.

They -- they've added and changed so much since I've came back, like, it's kind of hard to remember everything from then.

Q. And do you recall who provided the -- which staff members provided that, the Phase training to you?

A. At that time it was Mark Hise and Sandra Shipley.

Q. Okay. What about NCI training? Noncrisis -- nonviolent crisis intervention? Did you have to go through that as well?

A. That was the -- the basket and the hip to hip. That was the title of it.

Q. Oh, okay. So the NCI was incorporated into the Phase 1?

A. Yes.

Q. There wasn't a separate -- you didn't have to, you know, come to Little Rock and do a week of NCI?

A. No. No, no, no. It was all incorporated. And it was, like, a full day, full day or two-day event that, like, they really kind of drilled into us.

Q. Okay. And tell me what you were taught specifically on when you were allowed to make physical contact with the clients, lay hands on the client in a -- well, let me -- let me edit that question a little bit.

I'm not talking about, you know, incidental contact when you're helping them brush their teeth or something like that.

A. Right.
Q. I mean what were you taught specifically about when you were authorized to apply any form of physical or personal restraint? When were you --
A. When --
Q. -- allowed to do that?
A. When they are being a threat to objects, to themselves, or to other clients or staff.
Q. Okay.
A. So any time there was, like, a actual -- like, verbal, it was kind of just, like, okay; you know, we'll let them get it out and rant per se.
But, like, once they -- whenever they started getting real physical and actually trying to actually harm themselves or other people --
Q. Uh-huh.
A. -- that's when we stepped in per se.
Q. And you weren't required to first exhaust nonviolent or nonphysical contacts, techniques?
A. Oh, yeah, absolutely. I would do my best to try to just deescalate as best I can. Like, I did not want to put hands on anyone --
Q. Sure.

A. -- unless I absolutely had to.
Q. So what are some things that you would do to avoid having to put hands on them? What would you try first?
A. If I had --
Q. Or what were you taught to try first, rather?
A. Well --
Q. Or what you actually tried first? Either way.
A. Yeah, it's -- it's kind of a person-by-person thing. If I had a good rapport with them, I could -- I could just talk to them.
Q. Okay.
A. Because most of the people I worked with were kind of high functioning so they understood, and they understood what was -- they were doing wrong.
Q. Uh-huh.
A. But generally if I didn't have, like, necessarily bad or good rapport and they just knew me as the staff, I could kind of remove them. You know, just, Hey, let's go over here. Let's, you know, do this. Let's color or let's hang out or let's listen to your iPod.
Q. Uh-huh.
A. Just things of that sort. Just coping mechanisms, distracting mechanisms that I knew would work for that individual person. Because I worked so long with those people, I kind of knew what made them tick in that sort.

Q. Uh-huh.
A. So . . .
Q. What about just getting up, walking away, and giving them some space?
A. Some of them that would be good. But generally whenever there was -- whenever they were aggravated, they were in a crowded area.
Q. Uh-huh.
A. So I didn't want to it to escalate further and other clients get involved, so I would try my best to kind of remove them and maybe then walk away. Like, move -- take them to their room --
Q. Uh-huh.
A. -- for them to calm down alone and then walk away, if that makes sense.
Q. So I think you said it was kind of -- kind of based on your -- as opposed to there being a set requirement or a list of noncon- -- nonphysical contact interventions you had to exhaust first, it was more just kind of up to you based on your personal experience and knowledge with an individual client?
A. They gave us examples. And that was kind of me using them but in a casual way because --
Q. What examples did they give you?
A. Just as I said: Distracting mechanisms, reinforcers, removing them from the situation, whatever.

Q. And what are some things that you would use to distract?
A. Change the subject was a big one.
Q. Okay.
A. Joke with them.
Q. Okay.
A. That was a big one. If you can get them to be in a better mood immediately and go --
Q. Snacks, treats?
A. Me personally, I wasn't a fan of that because it reinforced bad behavior. If I had to I would, but I wanted to exhaust all my other possibilities or options before that.
Q. And what specifically had to happen before you would lay a hand on a client? What -- what did you need to see before you would consider --
A. Physical aggression to another person was a big flag for me.
Q. Okay.
A. Whether it be to myself or to another client or to another staff.
Q. Okay. Were you not taught techniques for sort of sidestepping a physically-aggressive client?
A. Like defensive techniques?

Q. Yes, defensive techniques that -- that would prevent you from having to lay hands on them but instead just allow you to sort of get out of the way kind of.
A. Like, I'm trying to understand how you're asking that.
Q. Well, okay. Mandy Jones or Amy Mandy Jones --
A. Uh-huh.
Q. -- when I -- when I deposed her, she told me that -- that she was taught in NCI to maneuver away from a client to not --
A. Oh, yes, yes. Like, we have blocking techniques. And, like, if they've got you in a hold per se --
Q. Yeah.
A. -- we had options or we had --
Q. Tell me about blocking techniques.
A. What I remember, it was just two hands and swiping away. So like --
Q. Two hands swiping away?
A. Like, if they swung at you and step back.
Q. Okay.
A. Step back in, like, a half circle.
Q. And -- yeah. And I remember telling her -- I remember thinking it kind of sounded like a matador. You know, get out of the way.
A. Yeah, exactly.

Q. What you're saying makes more sense. Blocking and just kind of --
A. Uh-huh, block and deflect and --
Q. Yeah.
And you were taught that --
A. Yes.
Q. -- in Phase 1?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. Anything else like that that you were taught in Phase 1?
A. Like I said, just techniques if they got ahold of you.
Q. Okay. Like, got ahold of you? Got ahold of you like how?
A. Like, got ahold of me. Like bear hug, chokehold. Anything they could do, really.
Q. Okay.
A. But they just used the most common things that they've experienced and they were told to -- taught.
Q. And I assume that this blocking and sidestepping you were -- that's an NCI maneuver, right?
A. Yes.
Q. And I assume that's -- that's what you were taught to do if a client is going to -- is --
A. Yes.

Q. -- slapping at you or swinging at you, right? Yes?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you receive any certification from NCI?
A. No.
Q. Paper --
A. The only certification we got was for CPR.
Q. Okay.
A. And we just get a card and . . .
Q. Were there any NCI representatives present at this training?
A. Not that I remembered.
Q. Okay. So it was more -- it was Booneville's own staff just teaching portions of the NCI program to y'all?
A. Teaching what they were required to teach.
Q. Required by --
A. I don't know.
Q. -- their bosses?
A. I guess.
Q. Okay.
A. But what they taught us was what was -- what they had to teach us for the little bit they could teach us.
Q. And Amy -- or Ms. Jones also testified that y'all were taught not to grab a client by both wrists at the same time; is that correct?
A. Yes.

Q. I can't remember what she said about one wrist. I think she said you can -- if you have to, you can grab a client by one wrist?
A. If I remember correctly, like -- I -- yeah.
Q. Okay. And so we've already talked about -- and you were taught to -- you were taught to physically restrain clients on the floor if --
A. If needed be.
Q. -- if need be, right?
A. Yes.
Q. And were you taught how long you could hold them there on the floor?
A. There were -- if I remember correctly -- this is just kind of a vague memory, know-how -- we had a 15-minute check-in period --
Q. Okay. If it's --
A. -- if I remember right.
Q. So -- okay. So potentially you could -- you could -- if you had to, you could hold a -- you know, keep a client --
A. Then you could call back. Then you would have to call back and get reauthorization by a Q. That's what they were called.
Q. But for -- oh, here's another. I forgot this one. I have to -- it's hard for me; I'm going to try to never talk over you so she can make a clean record. If you can -- if at all possible, just let me get the -- I know -- let me get my lawyer words out before you --

A. All right.

Q. -- respond.

A. That's fine.

Q. I know you're guessing what I'm going to ask.

A. Sorry.

Q. And you're probably guessing right most of the time.

A. Yeah.

Q. That's okay.

A. It's a habit. I'm sorry.

Q. I have the same habit. Just ask my wife.

MR. GILLISPIE: What was my -- Madam Court Reporter, what was my last question?

(Record read as requested.)

Q. (Mr. Gillispie) So my question was: Presumably if -- if the client is just really out of control and you had to, you could -- you could restrain them on -- on the ground for up to 15 minutes?

A. Yes.

But in my experience it's not going to last that 15 minutes --

Q. Right.

A. -- because if you're still fighting, it needs to be mechanical intervention at that point.
Q. Okay.
A. That's just my personal experience that I've had in -- over the four years that I worked there.
Q. So it -- I guess it would be fair to say then you as an RCT are tasked with using your best judgment?
A. It's very much a pick your own battle situation.
Q. Okay. And you're authorized -- your understanding is you were authorized by Booneville to use these different physical restraints we've been talking about on kind of an as-needed basis if the circumstances required, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay.
A. They were -- to me personally they were a last-ditch effort kind of thing, any of them, honestly. Like I said earlier, I don't -- I didn't like doing them --
Q. Sure.
A. -- unless I just absolutely had to. Like, I would honestly feel bad if I ever have to.
Q. Right.
Were you also taught to, you know, recognize behavior patterns in individual clients that you got to know that might signal that they're about to have a behavior event or recognize triggers that you think -- that you know would likely lead to a client having a behavior event? Were you taught to recognize those and try to anticipate?

A. Yes, we were taught; but it really -- in that specific scenario, it was really just a time learned. This -- it was a situational thing. You would -- you would learn your clients and learn what would trigger them and learn what they would do whenever they were about to have a behavior.

Q. I hear you.

A. So it was -- again, it was very much a individual basis, so . . .

Q. And an as-needed basis?

A. Yes. You -- you would pick up on those things real quick.

Q. I'm showing you here what I'm going to mark as Exhibit 1 to your deposition.

THE COURT REPORTER: Are we staring over? Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: Yeah, let's start over.

(Exhibit 1 marked for identification.)

Q. (Mr. Gillispie) This is titled "Avoiding/Defusing Violent Behaviors."

MR. GILLISPIE: And, Eric, I'll give you this just as soon as I'm done with it here.

MR. COLLINS: Okay.

Q. (Mr. Gillispie) Bates number 002716.

Do you recognize this from your annual training?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And are these, some of these things that you're taught to help defuse or avoid violent behaviors?

A. Yes.

Q. So "Know the individual."

"Listen," correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Were you -- do you recall ever being instructed that it's -- that -- to "Keep your hands at your sides with your palms open in a reassuring stance"?

A. Yes.

Q. And it -- and I'm assuming that's a form of deescalating or --

A. Yes, it --

Q. -- preventing -- or preventing the need to deescalate, right?

A. Yes.

It just basically means I'm not here to be a threat or I'm not trying to --

Q. Uh-huh.

A. You know what I mean.
Q. And I assume you were taught to pay attention to the distance between yourself and the client?
A. Yes.
Q. So that the client doesn't feel I guess kind of like a cornered animal, right?
A. Yes.
Q. And were you taught if the client -- you know, if the client is upset, you're taught it looks like to stand if they stand, sit if they sit?
A. Yes.
Q. Yes? Okay.
And you're taught "not to argue, threaten, or raise your voice or become judgmental," correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And to "keep your face passive and neutral" as opposed to frowning and scowling or laughing?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And to stay relaxed and "reassure the individual that you're there to help," and basically just be calm -- as calm and nonthreatening as possible; that's what this is all about, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And you were taught those things and -- and would that have been those first three weeks of training?

A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And did you find that these techniques were helpful?
A. Yes.
The sitting and standing one actually goes a long way, more than what people would think. Because me personally, if, like, if I'm sitting down and someone is standing over me, I'm just like --
Q. Yeah.
A. -- it's stressing me out, so . . .
Q. I get it. Yeah, I get it. Okay.
Are these -- is this a pretty exhaustive list of the -- the sort of deescalating or --
A. It's a very --
Q. -- or techniques that you were taught?
A. -- it's a very -- what's the word? Perfect situation list.
Q. Meaning -- are you trying to say in a perfect world, it would be nice if this worked every time?
A. Yes, yes.
Obviously not all of this is going to be a hundred percent; but this is a good, like, basic guideline and to branch out from that.
Q. Okay. And, really, all I'm asking is: Is there anything else important you were taught like this that -- that we haven't talked about?

A. Like I said earlier, it's very much -- the whole job in general is very much a pick your own battles kind of -- kind of job.
Q. Okay. Tell me one more time what you mean by that.
A. Don't overreact to things.
Q. Okay.
A. Like -- like I said earlier for the verbal, just -- just let them get it out if they -- if that's really all it is. You know, don't -- don't get upset over it, you know.
Q. Sure.
A. Acknowledge it but don't -- "planned ignoring" is the word.
Q. Sure.
A. Is the proper term.

But, again, it's a -- very much a pick your own battles, and you make the most out of the job.

So there's some clients that -- I hate to use this word, but had the wherewithal to know whether or not they like you or not.
Q. Uh-huh.
A. And, if they don't like you, they're gonna let you know, you know; so -- but if they like you, they'll also let you know; so . . .

Q. Was -- did David Cains have that wherewithal?
A. Most of the time.
Q. Okay. And did he ever let you know one way or another whether he liked you?
A. He always told me, "I love you." You know, he always said, "I love you. I love you, Tyler." You know, just --
Q. Okay.
A. -- but sometimes, you know, David has -- had his demons, and so it's something he couldn't help sometimes. It just -- it would just explode.
Q. And when you say "demons" you're talking about a tendency to get upset and -- and be noncompliant or physically aggressive?
A. Yes.
I hate to use that word; but, like, that's -- you know, I don't like the word "issues."
Q. But, as far as you know, he never expressed a displeasure specifically with you?
A. No. No, he never said once, "I hate you," or "I don't like you," or anything like that. It was -- he was -- whenever he was in a good mood, like, he would always want reassurance.
Q. Were there staff members that he did have noticeable issues with?

A. Not that I noticed.

The shift I worked, the people that I worked with, he all got along with.

Q. Okay.

A. Other people, I don't know. He never verbalized it.

Q. To the extent a guy like David could have enemies, did -- does he have any -- I know it's silly to even ask, but did he -- did he have any known enemies there, whether it be staff or other clients? Did he?

A. There -- there was one client, it was kind of wishy-washy with him. Some days he liked him and some days he didn't. But there was one client, individual he was kind of iffy about more than others. But, other than that, no.

Q. Had something gone on with him?

A. I'm not sure. There's -- it had been going on before I even got to his work area.

Q. How -- were you -- was David one of your assigned clients every time you worked?

A. Yes.

Q. So you were around him a lot?

A. I was familiar, yes.

Q. In a -- you know, in a given -- so you'd get there at eight. You leave at four.

At the time -- at least that was your schedule at the end there, right?
A. Yes.
Q. When you get there at eight, do you -- do you immediately begin interacting with him and the other clients?
A. Immediately when I get that -- get there I fill out my paperwork. And then I branch out and say, "Hey, let's get ready." You know, "Let's do this. Let's do this."
Q. So you -- you'd meet -- when you first meet them each day, they're -- they're -- it's before breakfast and you --
A. It's after breakfast.
Q. It's after breakfast.
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. Night shift does breakfast, and then it's --
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. So what's kind of the first thing that you would do with David?
A. Just --
Q. On a -- on an average day?
A. Generally I really didn't have to mess with him too much, because he was pretty good about just getting up and around.
Q. So what would he be doing? Let's say it's 9:00 in the morning. What's David doing on an average day?

A. Waiting for mobile.
Q. What's -- okay. And mobile to take him somewhere?
A. To work.
Q. Okay. And that's, like, a shuttle?
A. Yes. It's a van.
Q. A van.
And it takes him to another building where he -- remind me; I can never remember.
What did he do? What was his job?
A. If I remember right, in the morning times he went to the Stone building and he did recycling.
Q. So, but before that bus got there, he'd kind of just be hanging out in his room?
A. Hanging out talking to us, hanging out in his room.
Q. Okay.
A. Just in the TV room.
Q. Okay.
A. He was kind of -- he wasn't hyper but he just kind of -- he'd just kind of float around.
Q. He was social?
A. Yeah. Yeah, especially with staff.
Q. Okay. And, from what I understand, he was a pretty friendly guy?
A. Oh, yeah. Yeah.

Q. So, I mean, do you -- did you have positive feelings towards him? Do you, you know --
A. I cared really deeply about him. Yeah, I mean, I didn't -- like, just in general I didn't have, like, any negative stuff.
Q. Sure.
A. Just I -- I don't know. I -- I liked him a lot.
Q. Yeah.
And I imagine there were clients that -- well, at least I've been told that there were clients there that were truly dangerous individuals that, you know, you maybe wouldn't want to be alone with?
A. Yes.
Q. So I -- I imagine that you didn't, you know, feel deeply -- you know, have a bond with every client; did you?
A. No, no.
There was some who I gravitated to more than others. But that will be any staff up there; that's not just me, you know.
Q. Of course.
But he was one that you -- that you had a particularly -- you felt like you had a particularly good bond with?
A. I felt like I did, yeah. I liked him.

Q. Okay. Okay.
MR. GILLISPIE: Can we take a -- take, like, a quick five-minute break, if you y'all don't mind.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're going off the record. The time is approximately 1:48 p.m.
(Recess taken.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are back on the record. The time is approximately 2 p.m.
Q. (Mr. Gillispie) Okay. Tyler, were you ever part of David's Individual Program Plan or part of his IDP team?
A. No.
Q. No. Okay.
So I -- I assume you had no hand in the contents of that?
A. No.
Q. Do you -- are you aware of -- of David Cains having caused injury to a staff member or other client ever?
A. No.
Q. He never caused injury to you?
A. No.
Q. So I assume you didn't consider him to be a particularly dangerous or violent client?
A. No.
Q. And here in a minute we'll jump into the actual incident; but I want to know what you know, if anything, about other physical restraints used on David in the past.

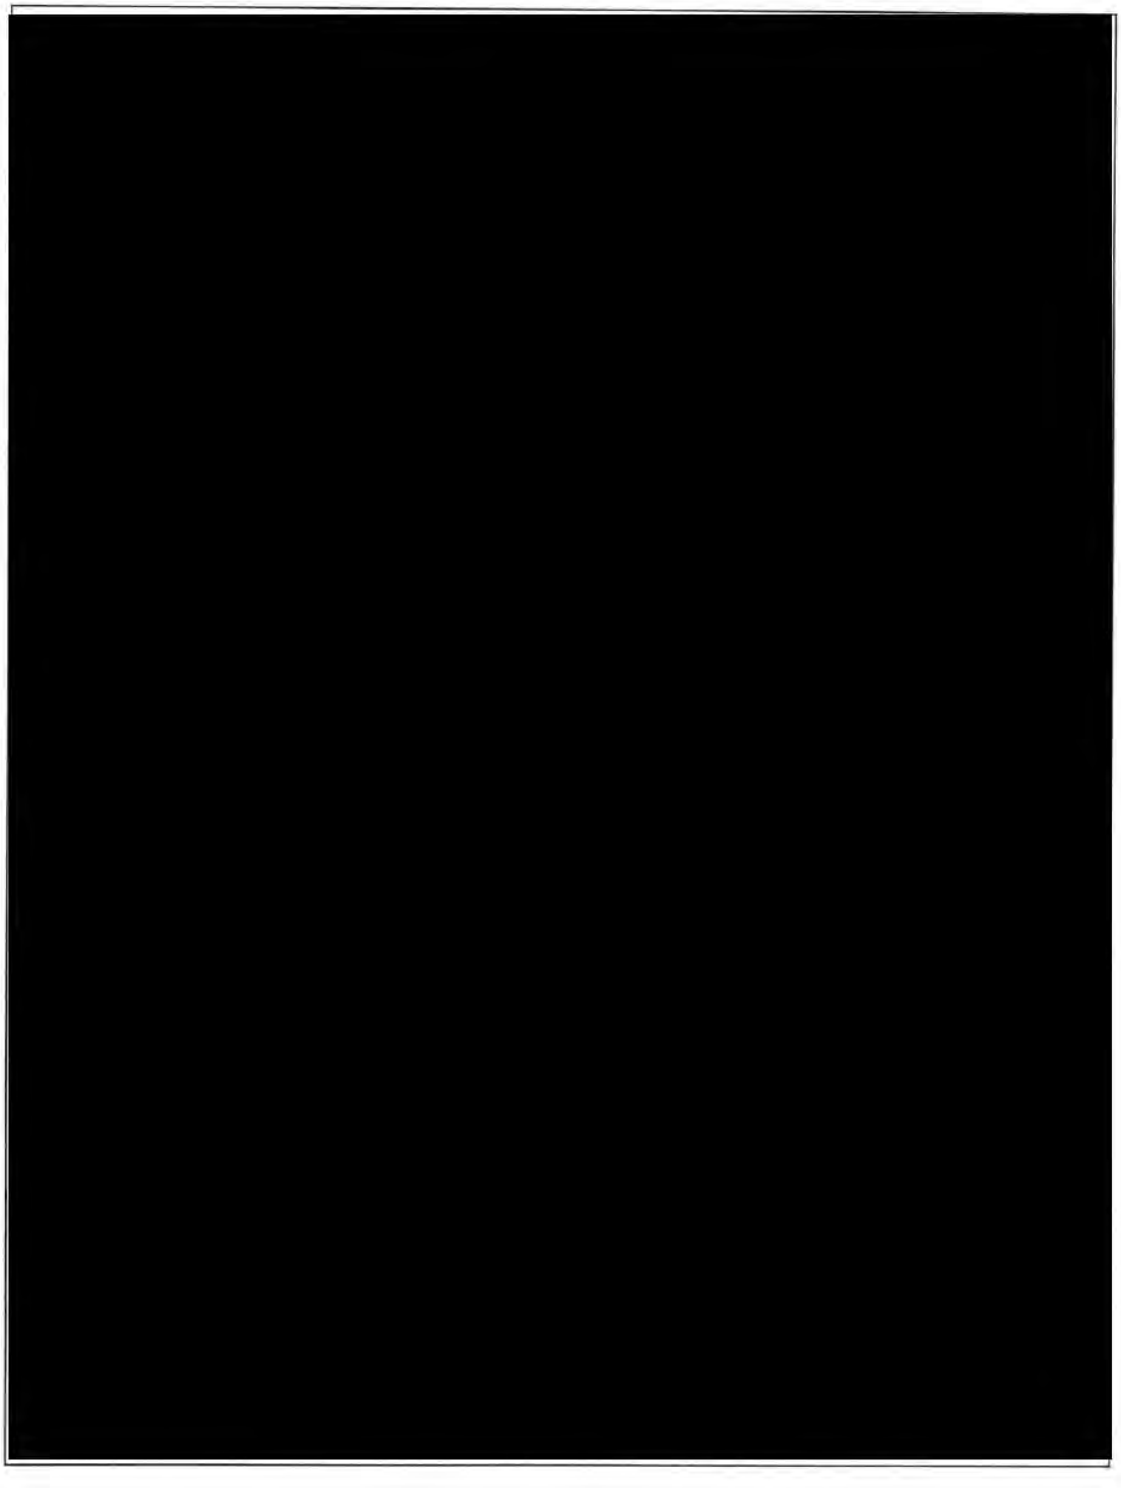
So let me start by asking: Have you -- you, Tyler Mattson, ever participated in any other physical restraints of -- or personal restraints of David?

A. No.

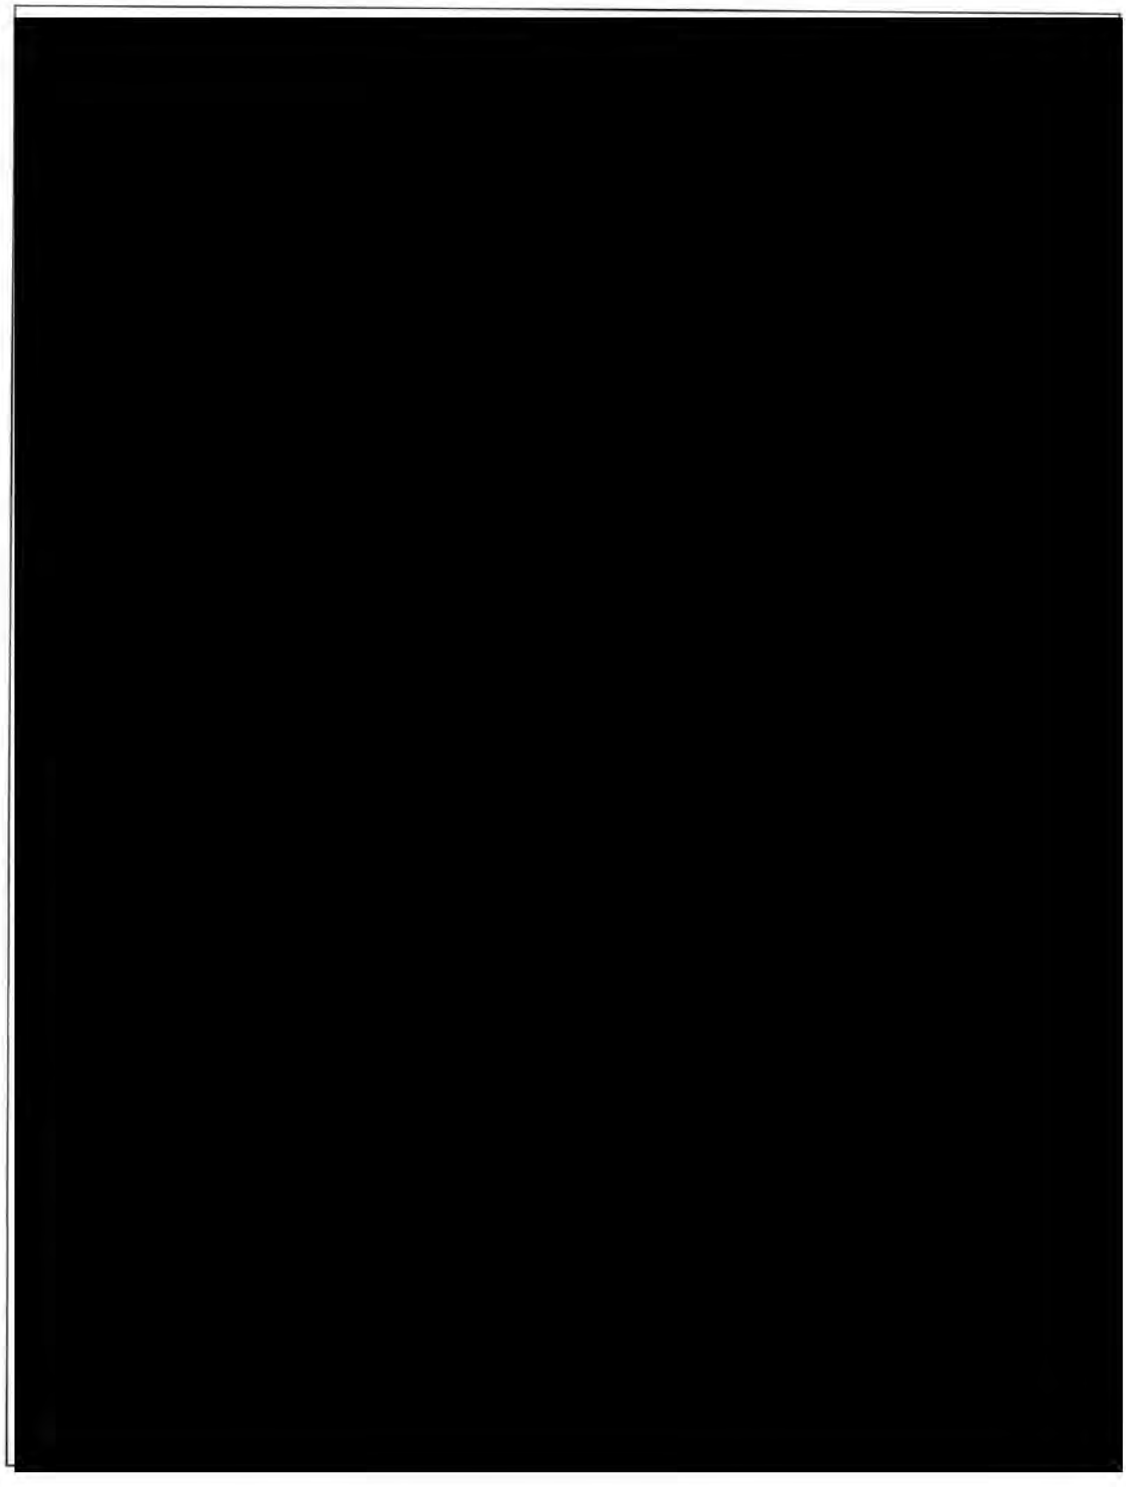
Q. Okay. This was the only -- you think this, this one incident was the only time that you ever --

A. No.

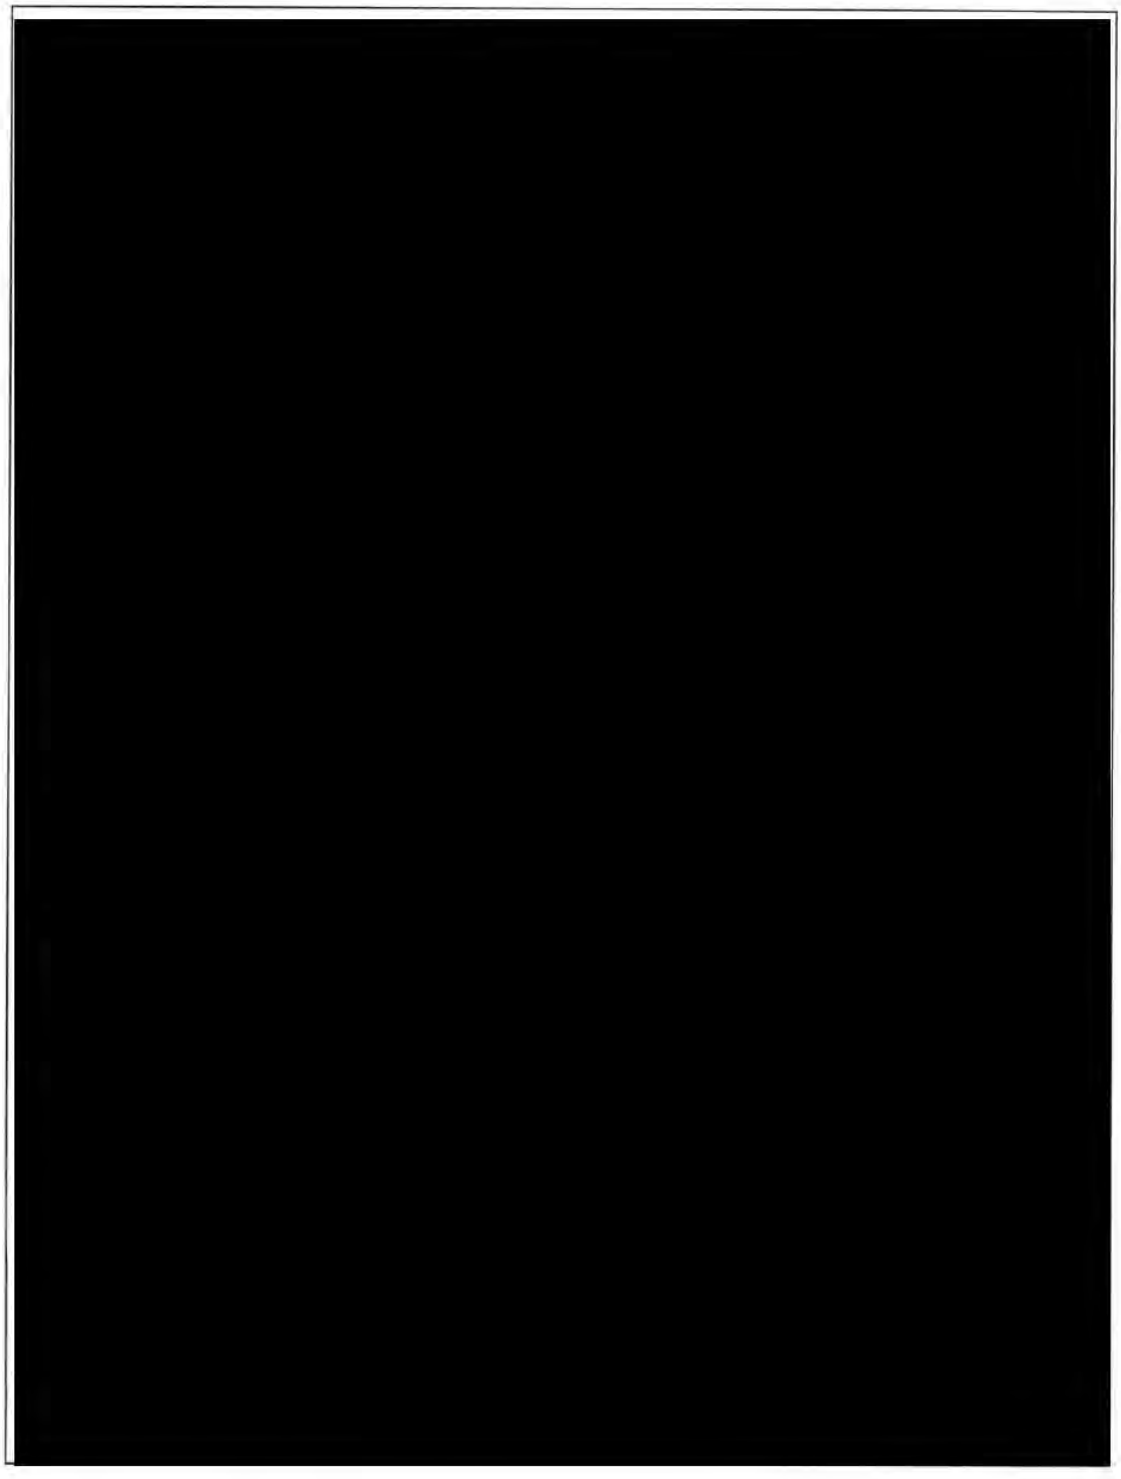


He had went after a nurse; but I didn't, like -- it -- it was basically the hip to hip. I just kind of remember the situation, didn't escalate much further than that.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. I apologize. I don't have -- I think I do have copies. Are these the same thing?



MR. GRELLNER: The time, check that just to make sure.



MR. GILLISPIE: Yeah, you're right. You're right.

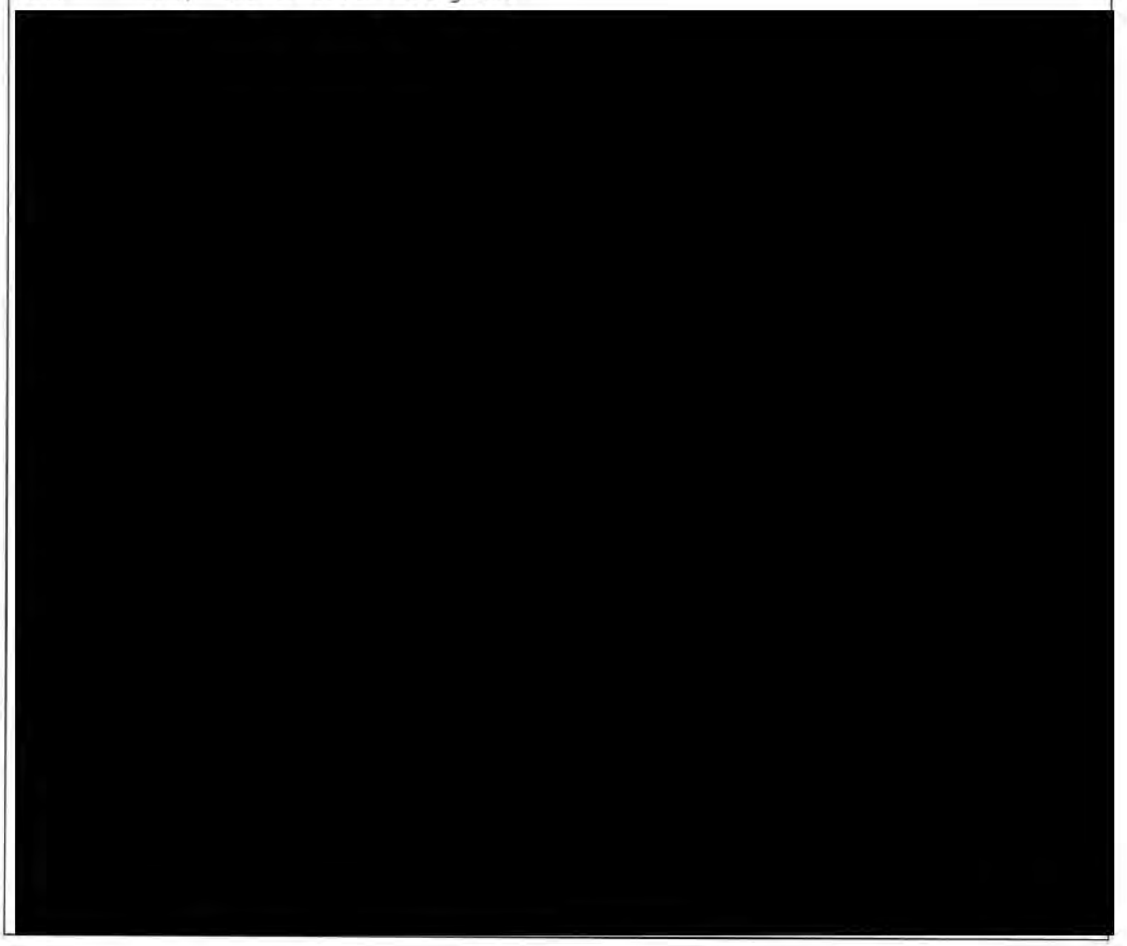
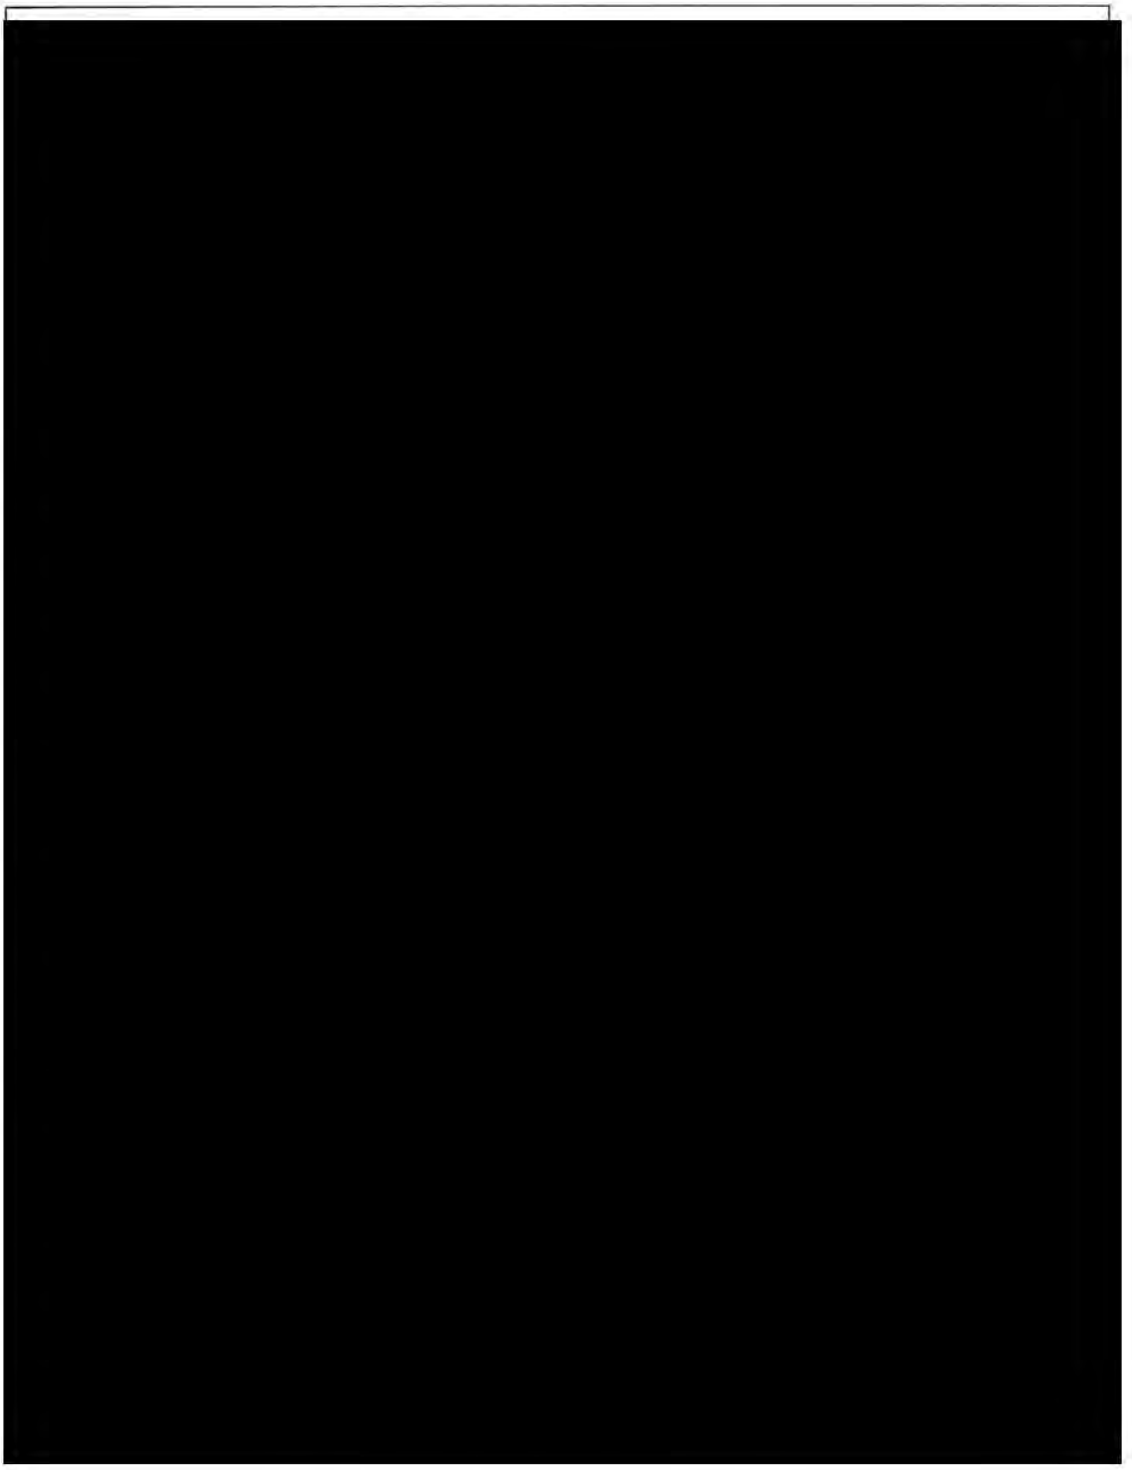
Q. Okay. What would have been the next step in personal -- or the -- a step up in personal restraint for the --

A. Basket.



Q. The basket. Okay.



You wouldn't grab his -- you wouldn't hold him by the wrist?

A. No.

Q. Okay. Is that not taught as far as your know -- you know?

A. Not that I know, especially not both wrists. Like Amy had stated, you don't grab both wrists.
Q. Right.
But you're not even -- you're not really even aware that grabbing by the one wrist is taught?
A. I don't like doing it, so no.
Q. Well, I'm not asking that; I'm asking if it's taught?
A. No, it's not taught.

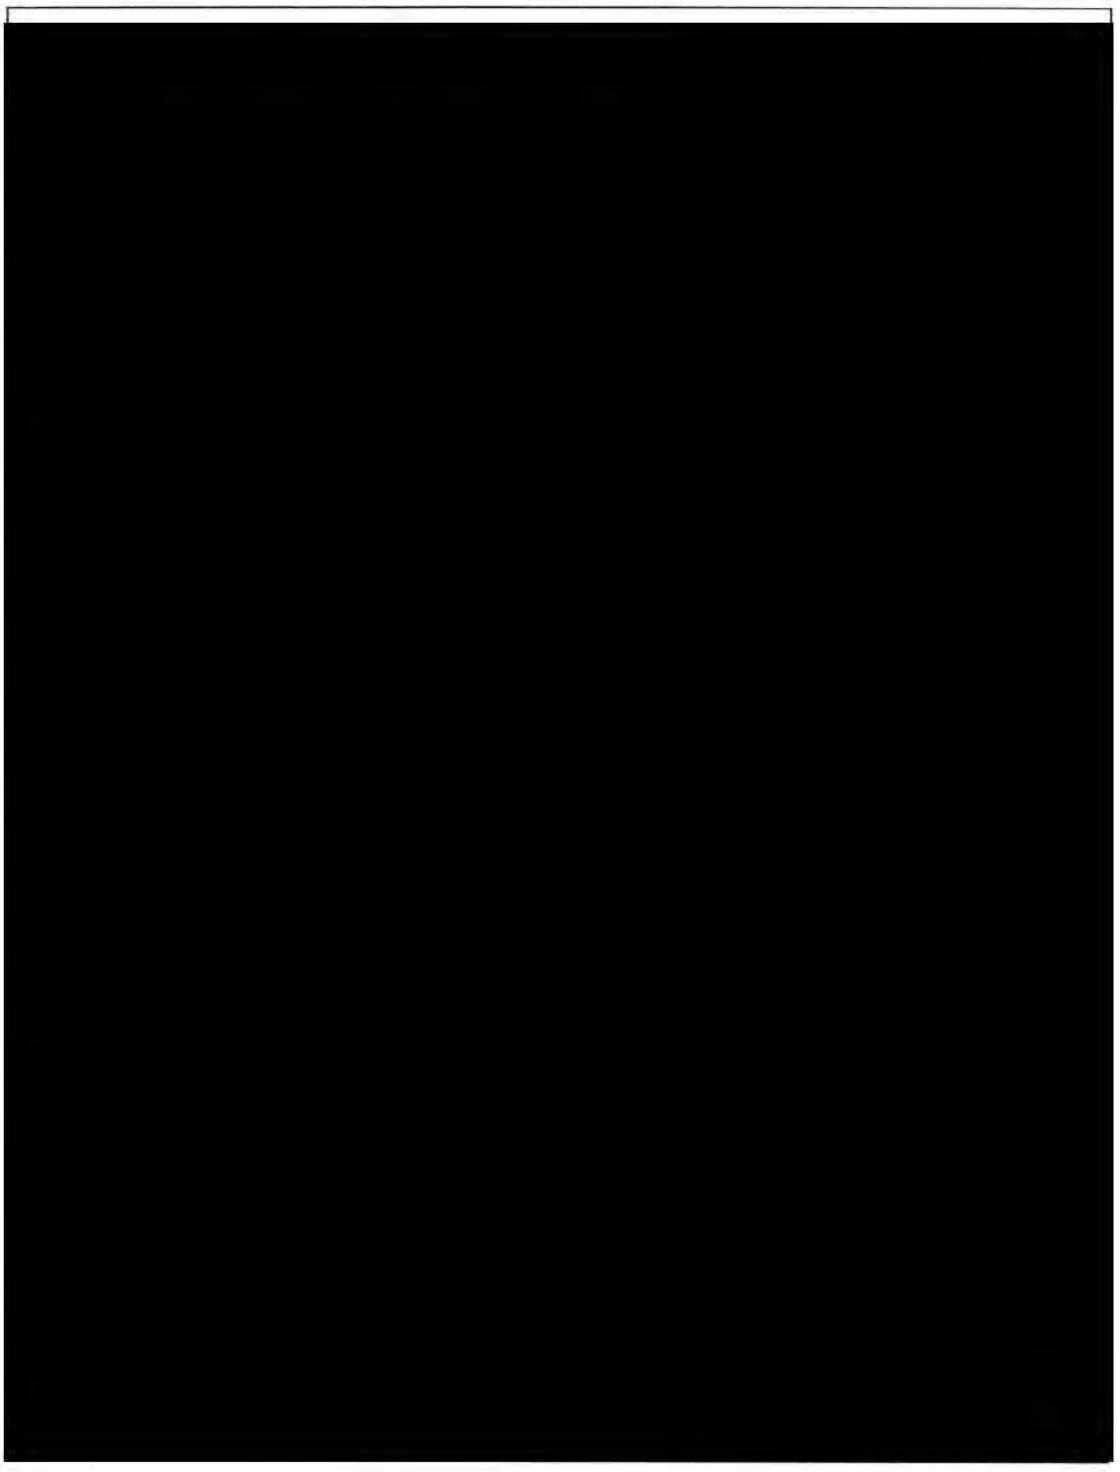
MR. GILLISPIE: What exhibit are we on for this one?

THE COURT REPORTER: 2.

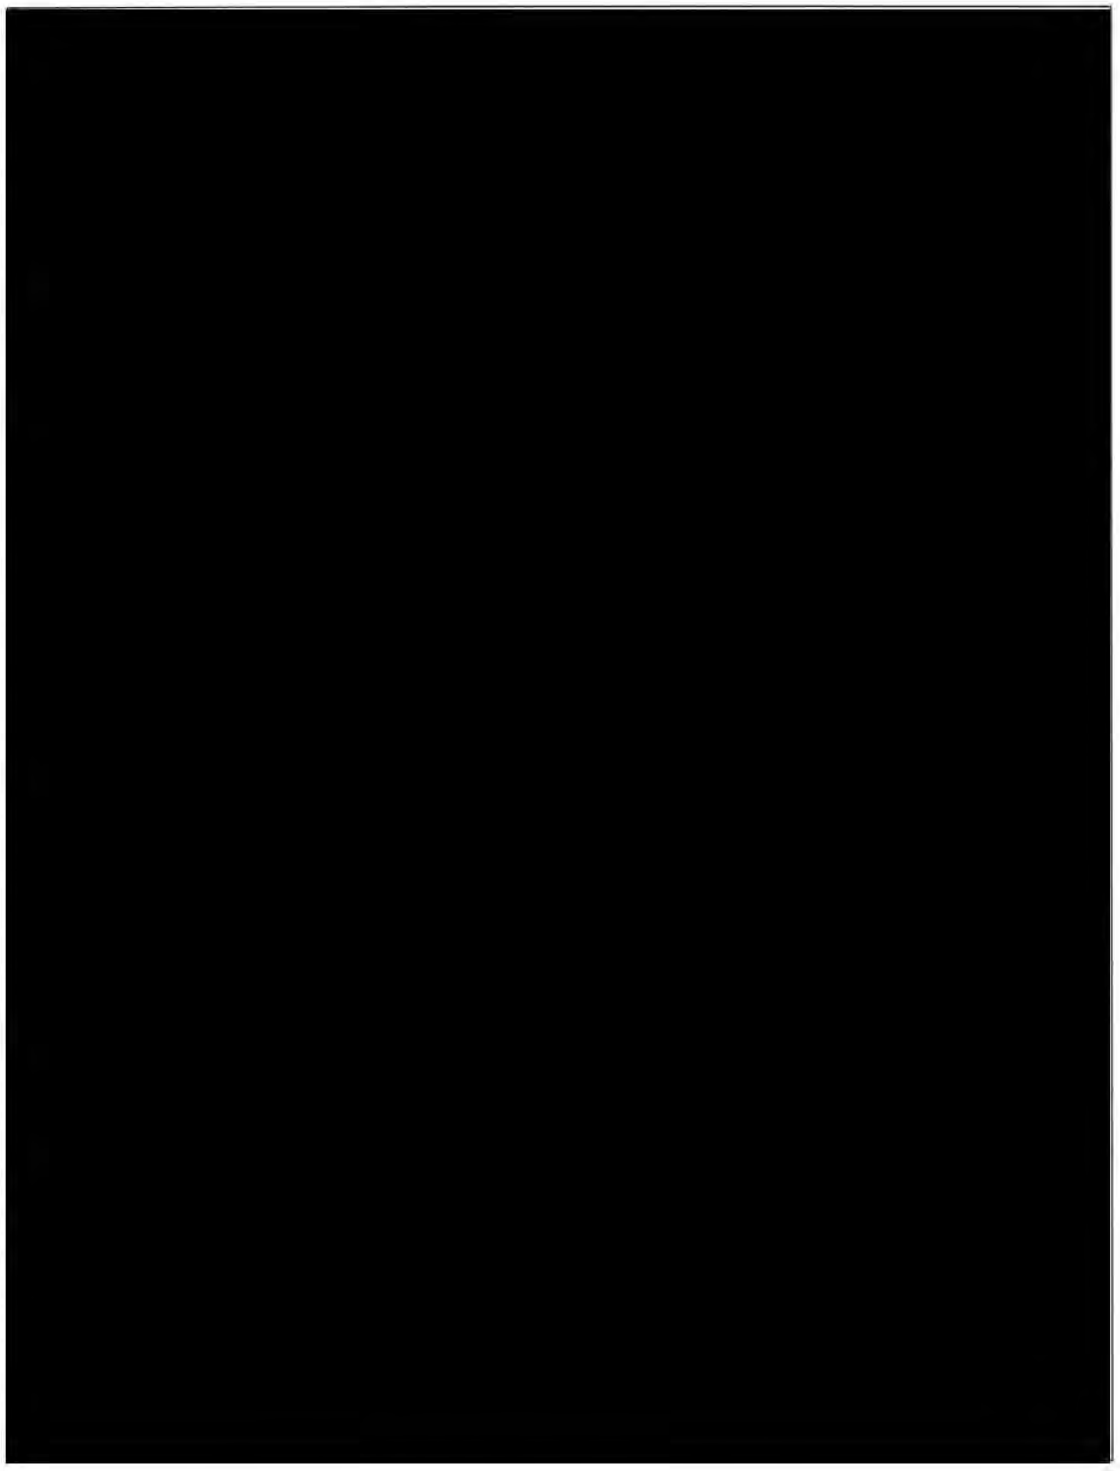
(Exhibit 2 marked for identification.)

(Discussion off the record.)

MR. GILLISPIE: I'll mark that as Exhibit 2.

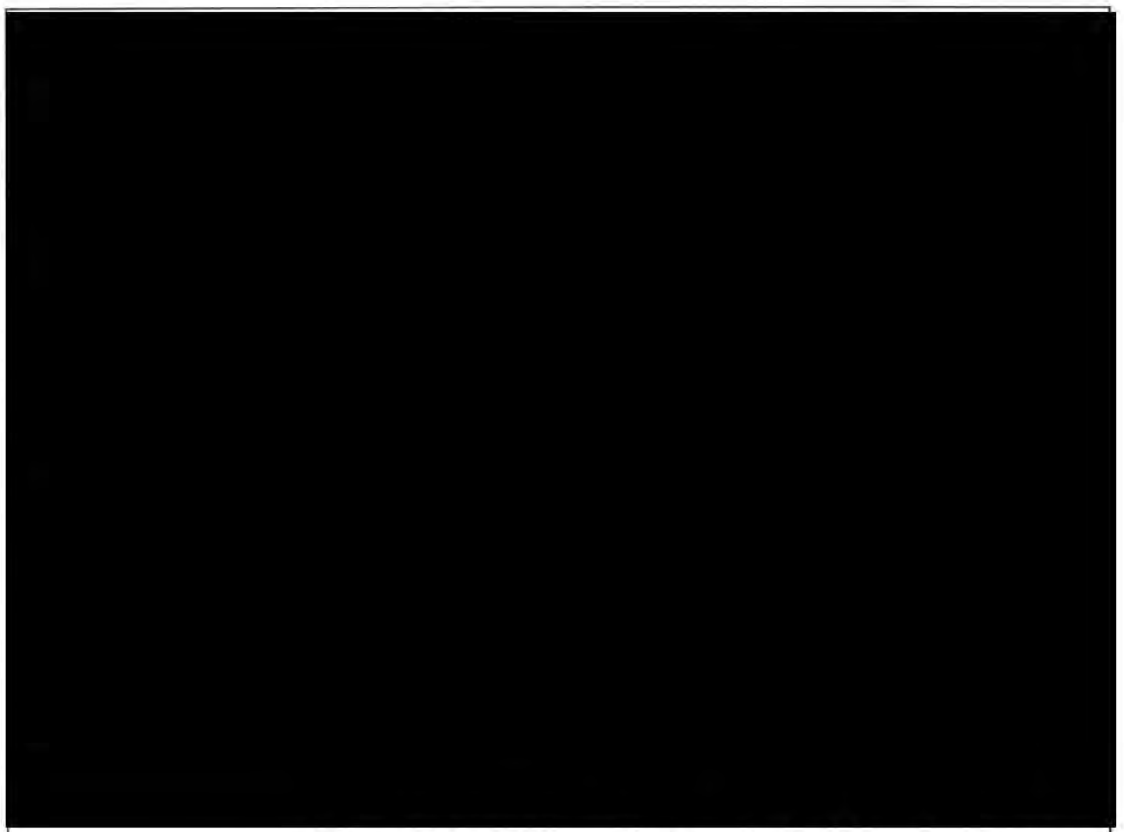


Q. (Mr. Gillispie) And then, Tyler, do you want to take a look at it and make sure I didn't misrepresent something.



A. That looks good.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. We'll make this Exhibit 2.



Q. (Mr. Gillispie) Okay. And then one more of these.

[redacted]

Shyloa Myers, AR CRR No. 710
StenoScribe, Inc.
alldaydepo@gmail.com

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. And this is Bates numbered 747. It will be Exhibit 3 for this deposition.

(Exhibit 3 marked for identification.)

MR. GILLISPIE: Give me just a moment. For what it's worth, I'm actually doing the opposite of wasting y'all's time here. I'm going through here and X'ing out things I don't -- I think I can skip.

Q. (Mr. Gillispie) Okay. Other than those, the ones we've gone over, can you specifically recall any other personal restraints that you've ever been involved in with David Cains?

A. No.
Q. Okay. Do you have any idea around the time of his death in -- or in 2020 are you able to ballpark about how many restraints were required for David maybe by other staff other than you?
A. No.
Q. Okay. Did you personally ever notify David's family about any personal restraints used on David?
A. No.
Q. Did you ever -- I'm assuming you never spoke to them after his death either?
A. No.
Q. Okay. Do you have any knowledge about whether anybody else ever notified his family about these in- -- these, these behavior incidents?
A. I don't know.
Q. Okay. Were you ever present for any mechanical restraints used on David?
A. Not that I can recall.
Q. Okay. And I assume you'd agree with me -- or I assume that you would acknowledge that at the time of David's death, the policy at Booneville was that only medical staff could call for an ambulance?

A. Yes.
Q. Okay. That's changed since then?
A. I --
Q. You're not sure?
A. I don't know. I don't know if it's changed.
Q. If it has, you haven't been told about it?
A. No. I haven't been told, no.
Q. Would you have liked to have been able to call 911 yourself at the -- as soon as you realized he was in serious trouble?
A. I would have liked to, yes.
Q. At the time of his death, was the facility short staffed?
A. I believe it was just before COVID, but not -- not too terribly short staffed that I recall.
Q. That you recall. You -- nothing -- it doesn't stand out --
A. Nothing, like, extreme.
Q. Yeah.
A. So not that I recall.
Q. It doesn't stick out in your memory as -- as short staffing being any factor in his death?
A. No.
Q. Okay. Are you familiar with the terms Category I, Category II, Category III, as it pertains to behavioral management of the clients?

A. I've heard the term but I'm not a hundred percent familiar with what it means.
Q. Okay. So if I were to tell you that -- that you're -- and you're also familiar with the term IPP, that every client has an IPP?
A. (Witness nods head.)
Q. If I were to -- yes?
A. Yes, I'm sorry. Yes.
Q. If I were to tell you that David's IPP allowed for Category I interventions as well as -- as well as -- if I -- okay.

So if I were to tell you that his IPP specifically only allows for Category I procedures or other Center emergency procedures that would be necessary to protect folks from injury, would you -- I'm sorry -- would you know specifically what I was talking about?
A. No.
Q. Okay. Do you recall ever -- having ever been provided this document, which I'm labeling as Exhibit 4? It's Pol- -- it's referred to as Policy 3011-D.

Do you recall having ever seen that in your training or in your class work?

(Exhibit 4 marked for identification.)

A. Not that I remember. But maybe in my early

Phase 1.
Q. Okay.
A. But, again, that was four years ago.
Q. Okay. Could you read the part there that I have highlighted.
A. "Behavior management as covered by this policy serves as a guide to ensure that individual's actions that are aggressive, disruptive -- disruptive and/or present a danger to the individual or to others are managed with the least restrictive method."
Q. Go ahead. Keep going.
A. Oh. "Behavior management is not a substitute for other forms of active treatment and is incorporated into program plans based on individual needs."
Q. Okay. So, according to this Policy 3011-D, which again is -- I've come to understand is a kind of an overarching policy produced by DHS, DDS Director's Office that applies to all the behavioral -- behavioral development centers throughout the state, this policy says -- you would agree this policy says -- or dictates, rather, that when dealing with -- with trying to manage the behavior of a client, you're required to use the least restrictive method possible; correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And if you'll turn to -- to Page 2, do you see where it says "Category I"?

A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And under Category I it lists the types of interventions contained within Category I, and those include: "Verbal intervention, separation from activity up to 30 minutes, separation from setting up to 30 minutes, assignment of additional chores, restitution, withholding privileges" and finally, "personal property removal" for not more than an hour.
Would you agree that I described Category I accurately?
A. As it's stated, yes.
Q. Okay. And do you see where it says Category III? On Page 4 at the bottom where it says Category III?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. Now let's turn to page -- Section D of Category III, within Category III is included personal restraints, physical restraints; correct?
A. Yes.
Q. So according to this document -- at least according to this document -- and I understand you're not familiar with this document.
But, according to this document and assuming what I'm telling you is correct, physical restraints are acceptable for clients under Category III precautions but not for clients under Category I precautions; correct?

A. That's what it -- yes.
Q. Yes?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay.
MR. GILLISPIE: Do you want to see?
MR. COLLINS: No, thank you.
MR. GILLISPIE: You can give that to her, Exhibit 4.
Q. (Mr. Gillispie) And so my question to you is: As far you can recall, it was never conveyed to you -- it was never told to you by -- by a supervisor or anyone else that David's IPP provided for only Category I?
A. Not that I can recall.
Q. Okay. And, at the time of his death, your direct supervisor was Amy Mandy Jones?
A. She was the PS -- if I recall right, she was the PS running The Hill, yes.
Q. Okay. And then above her would have been?
A. I believe it would be Sandy Evans or the director.
Q. Okay. Who did you consider to be your boss when you -- at the time of --
A. The person running The Hill would have been Mandy.
Q. Okay. And did Mandy have a -- any kind of -- did Mandy have a relationship with David? Did she know him well, spend time with him?

A. She knew him in passing but didn't work with him regularly.
Q. Okay. And did you get along with Mandy well?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. Do you know of any issues that Mandy has had with other clients in the past? Maybe a client has complained about her? Or perhaps something like what happened to you, another staff member or somebody accused her of maltreatment?
A. Not that I know of.
Q. Okay. Did Sandy Evans -- were you questioned by Sandy Evans after David's death?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And do you recall -- what do you recall from that?
A. She was empathetic towards me and that she gave me the sheet, and that was pretty much it.
Q. Just she told you she was sorry that you had -- you're having to deal with this?
A. More or less.
Q. She didn't question you about how it happened or anything like that?
A. It was all explained in the sheet.
Q. What sheet?

A. The Witness Report.
Q. The Witness Report that you wrote?
A. That I wrote, yes.
Q. Okay. So she -- she -- other than your witness -- she -- she -- I understood she accepted your Witness Report.

But, as far as you recall, she didn't -- she didn't do any further interrogation or questioning of you?
A. Not that I recall. She was just being empathetic and --
Q. Okay.
A. -- as she could professionally be in the situation.
Q. Sure, sure.

And how shortly after the death was this meeting with her?
A. Immediately afterwards.
Q. Okay.
A. And after -- yeah.
Q. And you never met with her again about it?
A. No.
Q. And about how long do you think that meeting with her lasted?
A. It took me maybe 15, 20 to write the report and I left.
Q. Okay. But how long did it take her to talk with you?

A. About the duration. She didn't talk to me afterwards or before, other than being empathetic. It was just I gave her the report and --
Q. So she had you write a report. She didn't -- she didn't ask you any questions about the event? She -- other than -- and she -- the only words you recall her speaking to you were kind of . . .?
A. She just kind of asked me what happened. But, like, as far as, like, did she interrogate me necessarily? Not that I recall.
Q. But -- so you say you do recall her as -- specifically asking questions about the event?
A. Just what happened. She didn't ask too many details that I remember.
Q. Okay. And about how long do you think the conversation part with her lasted?
A. Barely a minute. It was what happened and her being empathetic. And she handed me a sheet and she explained it me, and that's really just . . .
Q. Got it. And when you say explained it to you, meaning explained how to fill out the form?
A. Basically. I mean, like, she didn't tell me what to write down necessarily; but she was like -- she gave me a -- how do I word this? She basically just gave me basic -- basic instructions.

Q. Okay.
A. Of what -- what to write down and how to -- all that stuff, but nothing beneficial towards me necessarily.
(Exhibit 5 marked for identification.)
Q. Gotcha.
So I'm showing you what I've marked as Exhibit 5. This is Bates stamped 2714, and this is Client's Rights or Client Rights.
And this is from your training materials, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And you would agree that this is a list of sort of the rights of the clients that you're there to -- to care for, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And you would agree that your -- that your primary role is to literally care for these people, correct?
A. Yes, yes.
Q. Number 8: "The right to receive medical care, nursing care, and dental care in a safe and clean environment."
Number 12: "The right to express individual preferences."
Number 14: "The right to privacy during treatment and care of personal needs."

Number 16: "The right to be free from mental and physical abuse and threats of punishment or deprivation."

Do you recall having -- having these, these rights taught to you?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Number 17: "The right to be free from chemical and physical restraints except when properly authorized for specific behavior and limited period of time or to protect them from injury to themselves or others."

18: "The right to the protection of a qualified guardian if needed for their personally well-being and interest."

And 19: "The right to considerate and respectful treatment."

Do you agree with me that all of those are listed here as the rights of the clients that you were tasked with caring for?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Do you agree with all of these?

A. Yes.

Q. Is there anything here that you -- anything that I read off that you disagree with or think shouldn't be a right?

A. No.
Q. Okay. Do you agree that the -- that the clients have a right to be free from physical restraint, restraints except when specifically provided for a specific behavior or to protect them from injury or causing injury; correct?
A. Yes.
MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. That is Exhibit 5. And then let's take one more break, and then we'll come back and wrap up.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're going off the record. The time is approximately 2:39 p.m.
(Recess taken.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are back on the record. The time is approximately 2:47 p.m.
Q. (Mr. Gillispie) Okay. Mr. Mattson, tell me about the day in question.
Specifically what do you recall -- do you recall interacting with David prior to the incident that day?
A. He was in a good mood all day.
Q. Did you -- did you first see him when you got there early in the morning?
A. Yeah. He would usually be there to greet us.
Q. Okay. Kind of take me through what you remember all the way through lunch.

A. I just -- it was a normal weekend. Weekends are pretty lax. We -- we just kind of hang out more than anything. I got there; I did my normal paperwork of signing in and all the things I would sign.

He was just, like, "Hey, Tyler. Hey, Tyler. Hey, Tyler," you know --

Q. Yeah.

A. -- just how he does.

I was like, "Hey, David." You know, just kind of talking to him and just talking to everybody else that I can. Because usually whenever you get in there, you just kind of get swarmed by everybody. It's like, Oh, so and so's here. You know, it happens with every area.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. But that was really pretty much it. We just kind of hung out, just watched TV if he went in the TV room or . . .

Q. Uh-huh.

A. But he -- most of the time he stayed in his room.

Q. Okay. And did you escort him to lunch?

A. He -- we rode mobile together, me and the rest of the guys.

Q. Okay.

A. And the other staff.

Q. And about how many of y'all rode mobile to lunch together and had lunch together?

A. I don't know the exact numbers back then. Because, like I said earlier, it's fluctuated.
Q. It wasn't 10?
A. If I had to do a ballpark guess, it would be 10.
Q. Okay. And what time is -- is lunch served the same time every day?
A. Generally in, like, an hour window between, like, 11 to 12-ish.
Q. Okay.
A. If I remember right.
Q. And on this date do you recall what time you arrived at the cafeteria?
A. No, I don't know. I don't remember the exact time.
Q. Okay. Do you wear a watch?
A. (Witness indicates.)
Q. No.
A. I have my phone but I don't take my phone out at lunch.
Q. Okay. And do you -- do you recall what David had for lunch?
A. Egg sandwich.
Q. Okay. Egg salad sandwich?
A. Just an -- like, I -- I guess it was an egg sandwich of some sort.

Q. Okay. Did you eat as well?
A. No.
Q. Okay. And did he sit alone?
A. No.
Q. Was his --
A. We sat in a group.
Q. Okay. I'm picturing, like, a -- like, a school lunchroom table; is that --
A. Yeah, sort of. Well, just a regular wooden table.
Q. Okay. What did he have -- do you recall what he -- do you recall what else he ate other than the egg sandwich?
A. No, I don't know the sides or anything. That's what -- I just know the main thing was an egg sandwich.
Q. Okay. You don't recall what he had to drink or anything like that?
A. Maybe Kool-Aid or tea is what they usually had, so it had to have been one of those two.
Q. Did anything happen on the way to lunch or during lunch that upset him?
A. No.
Q. Okay. How long after arriving to -- at the cafeteria would you say it took him to get his lunch and finish it?
A. 10 minutes maybe.

He wasn't super slow eating but not too quick. He was pretty normal.
Q. Okay.
A. I mean, that --
Q. Maybe 10 minutes to eat his sandwich?
A. Yeah. 10, 15.
Q. And then he immediately after finishing the sandwich asked you to take him to the bathroom?
A. He was getting agitated by -- I don't -- I don't know what. No one had spoken to him that I'd seen. I could just see he was getting agitated.
That's why I was, like, "Hey, let's go to the bathroom and get away."
Q. What was he doing to let you know he was agitated?
A. His facial expressions.
Q. Okay.
A. He had very dignified facial expressions whenever he was ag- -- agitated.
Q. Say that one more time. That was --
A. He had very, like, dignified -- he had very, like, evident facial expressions whenever he was ag- -- agitated.
Q. You used the term "dignified"?
A. Well, I -- I think I used it poorly.
He was very apparent with his facial expressions.

I think I just used the wrong word.
Q. Okay. Did it -- did he suddenly have a very serious look on his face? Is that what you mean?
A. He would just look agitated, like, just -- I mean --
Q. Was he saying anything?
A. -- he wasn't scowling or anything, no. He was just --
Q. Okay.
A. Not that I recall.
Q. He wasn't slamming his fist or --
A. No.
Q. -- throwing Kool-Aid?
A. No.
Q. So you could just tell just from the look on his face that he was agitated, so you initiated -- you initiated removing him to the hallway?
A. To the bathroom.
Q. To the bathroom?
A. Yes.
Q. Don't you have to walk out of the cafeteria?
A. Well, yes. Yes, but . . .
Q. And then is that -- when you walk out of the cafeteria, are you in a hallway or more, like, a lobby?
A. More like a lobby.

Q. And then the bathroom is off of that lobby?
A. Yeah. It's just -- yeah.
Q. Okay. Well, did he go with -- was he happy to go out there with you? Did he --
A. I mean, he wasn't happy but he didn't argue.
Q. Okay.
A. He stood up and just -- he took a clients's hat and kind of smacked him on the head -- not hard but like --
Q. Uh-huh.
A. -- he wasn't doing it jokingly, necessarily.
Q. Uh-huh.
A. And then I was like, "Okay, well, let's go," you know.
Q. Uh-huh.
A. Like, I didn't -- I didn't put hands on him necessarily.
Q. Okay. And you -- so you sort of escort him to the bathroom.
Did you go into the bathroom with him?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And was he -- did he go into the bathroom willingly?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. Do you think it's possible he didn't want to leave the cafeteria?

A. No.
Because if he didn't he would have said, "I don't want to go."
Q. He would have?
A. Yeah.
Q. Okay. Do you think it's possible he didn't want to go in the bathroom?
A. No. Because he asked that as well.
Q. He asked what?
A. He asked, "Can we go to the bathroom?" just -- well, it was more of, like, do you -- a suggestion, "Do you want to go to the bathroom?"
He was willing for it. He was, like, "Yeah, let's go," you know.
Q. Okay. All right.
And you guys -- was it just the two of y'all in there?
A. Yes.
Q. Did he use the bathroom?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. About how long did that take?
A. Less than a minute.
Q. Okay. So he urinated?
A. Yes.
Q. In a urinal or a stall?

A. Urinal.
Q. A urinal.
And he is able to do that without any assistance?
A. Yes.
Q. Is he also able to wipe himself without any assistance?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And, after he's done using the bathroom, I assume you -- did you ask him to wash his hands? Or does he know to do that on his own?
A. He knew to do it on his own. He was pretty -- for the most part pretty hygienic.
Q. Good. All right. So he washes his hands.
Are y'all talking at this point?
A. Yes.
Like, I was trying to just kind of BS with him, you know, just kind of shoot the breeze.
Q. Okay.
A. Just trying to bring him down as much as I could in the moment. Just joking, is what I usually would do with him.
Q. And, as he's using the bathroom and washing his hands and you're joking around with him, does -- is he -- seem okay at that point?
A. He just has a neutral expression.

Q. Okay. Not necessarily agitated but not necessarily happy?
A. Yeah.
Q. All right. And do you remember specifically anything you might have said to him in the bathroom?
A. No.
Q. Just sort of --
A. I wasn't hounding him or anything of that sort.
Q. Right.
A. No. I was just -- just talking, you know.
Q. Yeah, I assumed not. I just -- I'm just --
A. Right.
Q. I'm just trying to figure out what -- what the trigger might have been to upset him?
A. Uh-huh.
Q. Do you -- and, if you know, save me the time and tell me.
A. I have no idea.
Q. Okay.
A. I honestly have zero clue.
Q. Okay. All right. So washes his hands.
Then what happens?
A. He was like: "Can we stay out here in the lobby?"
I was like, "Yeah, sure. That's fine."
Q. Is he sitting down or standing up?

A. Sitting down in a chair.
Q. A chair. Okay.
What are you doing?
A. I'm standing near him but not like -- not towering over him. I'm at a good distance, you know.
Q. Okay.
A. I'm not just, like, trying to be imposing necessarily. I'm being ready I guess.
Q. Was there another chair you could have sat in?
A. Not that I saw.
Q. Okay. So you would have had to sit on the ground if you were going to --
A. Yeah.
Q. -- sit with him?
A. Yeah.
Q. Okay. So he's sitting there.
Do y'all -- what happens next? Do you talk? Does -- what happens?
A. I tried to talk to him, but he's just kind of just sitting there.
Q. Okay. About how long?
A. A minute, if that. Not -- not a long time at all.
Q. And at this point can you -- does he have that agitated look on his face again?
A. Not quite.

Q. Okay. What's he doing as he's sitting there?
A. Just sitting. He was just sitting look- -- staring out.
Q. All right. And then what happens?
A. He grabs a paper and goes after me.
Q. Where does he grab paper from?
A. There was a flyer on the wall.
Q. Does he stand up to grab it?
A. He grabbed it and then went after me. He was sitting down and then went after me to attack me.
Q. What -- what kind of paper was it? Just --
A. It was just -- it was just a printout paper, just a flyer.
Q. What did he do with it after grabs it?
A. He was throwing it and then went after me. He threw it down and then went after me.
Q. He threw it down and then went after you.
Did he say anything?
A. No. He just screamed "bitch."
Q. He screamed "bitch"?
A. Yes. That I recall.
Q. Anything else that you recall him saying?
A. No.
Q. And then you said he -- he came after you?
A. Yes. He charged me.

Q. Charged you.
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. Does -- describe that for me as best you can.
A. He just went to grab me. I mean . . .
Q. How far away from him were you?
A. Maybe from here to that pole. Maybe a little bit shorter.
Q. This pole?
A. Yeah, about there. Maybe to the chair.
Q. My chair?
A. Between there.
Q. Okay.
A. Yeah.
Q. So about 6, 7 feet?
A. Maybe.
Q. Okay. And when you say "charge," was he running at you?
A. Lunging, running. Yeah, just -- he went after me. He didn't really have room to necessarily run.
Q. Can you -- do you mind standing up and showing me?
A. I -- as best as I can. Like, he just -- it was, like, just a classic -- like, went to grab at me.
Q. Okay. Went to grab at you?
A. Yes.

Q. So not swing at you but grab at you?
A. Grab at me.
But, like, he had -- like -- like I said, that distressed face.
Q. Okay.
A. Like he was agitated and -- yeah.
Q. All right. And -- okay. And then what -- what did you do?
A. I tried to hold him and we kind of just fell.
Q. How did you try to hold him? Stand up and show us, please.
A. Like, I was -- like, I just kind of grabbed him by the shoulders the best as I could, you know, with him -- momentum --
Q. Yeah.
A. -- and we just kind of stumbled over, you know.
Q. Okay. So he's coming at you arms raised like this?
A. It -- yeah.
Q. Like this?
A. Outwards, yeah.
And I just kind of grabbed, like, here and here. I didn't, like, grab by the wrist. You know, but, like, we kind of just awkwardly fell.
Q. Did he get a -- did he get a grip around you?
A. No, he didn't get a grip around me.

Q. Okay. Sorry.
A. No, that's all right.
Q. This won't take long.
So he's coming at you. Show me and slowly so -- so I can really see it: What -- what do -- show me what you do as he's coming at -- he's lunging at you.
What do you do? What do your hands do? Where do they go?
A. I'm just like -- biceps, like, arms.
Q. Okay. So you would have your -- your right hand on his left bicep and your left hand on his right bicep?
A. Yeah.
Q. Pretty much?
A. Pretty much, yeah.
Q. Okay. And -- and do you stay there locked like --
A. No.
Like, we tripped. Like -- like, we just kind of fumbled around. Because it was, like, all in one big momentum, you know.
Q. Uh-huh. And you fall to the ground, and he hits his face on the ground?
A. No, he didn't hit his face on the ground.
It wasn't a fast fall. It was a controlled fall as much as I could control it.
Q. Okay. Give me just a moment, Tyler.

And he wasn't spitting at you?
A. I -- I don't remember.
Q. Okay. So -- and I'm going to -- I'm going to show you this in a minute. This is -- what I'm looking at here is the Witness Statement Form, the Office of Long-Term Care Witness Statement Form that you completed on the day of.
I assume it's the -- does that look familiar?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Is that the form Sandy Evans gave you?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. So in this statement you don't say that he tried to put his arms around you, lunge at you. You just told me that he tried to lunge at you and put his arms around you.
In this -- in this statement you said he attempted to hit you.
A. He -- that's -- he may have. I don't remember. Like, it was two years ago; and so I don't remember every intricate detail about it. That's just what I remember, and it could be different.
Q. And it says I -- and it says that you "Applied personals by grabbing his arms. He ended up falling over. I did not land on him."
So that's a little different than what you're describing now. What you're kind of describing now is that he lunged at you, and you grabbed him by the biceps; and then the force caused you guys to tumble over.

That's what you're describing now, but that's different than what you wrote here. So how -- I mean, how can you . . .?

A. He fell and I just kind of went with him, as far as I can recall.

Q. How did he fall? What caused him --

A. We --

Q. -- to fall?

A. We just kind of tripped up on each other. It was all one big motion, like I had said.

Q. Okay. And why did you not attempt to do the blocking technique where you block and kind of get out of his way?

A. I wouldn't have had room. I was against a ledge.

Q. You were against a ledge?

A. Yes.

Q. Why would a ledge prevent you from being able to do like this?

A. Because I would have fell over be- -- if he had put enough momentum into me.

Q. Okay. So you guys fall over.

And what happens -- and where did -- how did he land? If he didn't land on his head, how did he land?

A. Like I said, I kind of controlled it so he just kind of landed relatively safely. Like, I tried to not let him land on his stomach because I knew that he just aten [sic].
Q. So what did he land on?
A. Just kind of his -- the side of his arms. Like, we just kind of landed funny; but . . .
Q. Do you recall giving a statement to Disability Rights Arkansas on July 29, 2020?
A. Vaguely.
Q. Okay. Well, they -- they issued a report concerning the incident.
Have you ever seen that report?
A. No.
Q. And according to their report -- and this -- this report dated October 22, 2020, Bates marked 4523, this report claims that -- that you, specifically you gave a statement to them stating that David landed on his face.
A. Face down. But he didn't hit his face, no.
Q. Well, this says "landed on his face."
A. Okay. I . . . no.
Q. Are you saying that -- that their -- what they -- that they're misquoting you?
A. Possibly.

Q. What would the other alternative be?
A. He -- landing face down, they misconstrued it. They made it sound like he, like, smacked his face; and he didn't --
Q. Well, did he land face down?
A. He landed towards his face, but he did not hit his face.
Q. How do you know?
A. I would have seen it.
Q. Well, like you said, it's been over two years; and, you know, you didn't -- you couldn't remember if he spit or if it was a hit or a grab.

So wouldn't you have -- whatever you told them July 29, that would be fresher in your memory than what you're saying now; wouldn't it?
A. I suppose.
Q. And, you know, I mean, it's possible they -- they're misconstruing your statement, but it's pretty clear what it says is that -- that David landed on his face, and then you rolled him onto his side.

You're absolutely 100 percent positive that -- particularly considering that you're now saying that he did land face down, you're saying you're also a hundred percent positive he did not land on his face?
A. I don't recall him, like, smacking his face, no.

Q. But it doesn't mean it didn't happen; because you were also tumbling yourself, right?
A. Yes, that's possible.
Q. Okay. So you fall over.
What -- where is he positioned?
A. On his side.
Q. Did you try --
A. And I tried to put him on his side as fast as I could.
Q. All right. So he lands face down and then you -- where do you land?
A. Like -- I don't remember exactly. Just around him. I didn't land on him, necessarily.
Q. Okay. Necessarily.
Do you think, like, some of your weight landed on him?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Okay. And you just, like, instantly turned him onto his side?
A. As fast as I could, yeah.
Q. Which side did you turn him onto?
A. His left if I remember right.
Q. Okay. Well, before you turned him onto his side, what was he doing? Just laying there kind of face down?
A. Resisting me.

Q. He was both laying face down and resisting you?
A. He was trying to squirm around, yes.
Q. And you didn't want him squirming?
A. Because he was still being violent.
Q. He was still being violent by squirming around face down on the ground?
A. Yes, he -- he wouldn't --
Q. How is that violent?
A. He was trying to resist and fight me.
Q. Why didn't you just get up and give him some space, since he's already on the ground?
A. Because he was still very agitated.
Q. Well, so. Let him calm down. Why didn't you do that?
A. That's not how it works immediately.
Q. How does it work?
A. He would still be agitated afterwards, very agitated.
Q. So you thought it was best to turn him on his side and pin him on the ground?
A. I was wanting him to calm down. I was trying to get him to calm down.
Q. And in order to get --
A. And I was talking -- I was talking to him.
Q. And, in order to get what you wanted, you turned him over, held him down?

A. I -- I guess.
Q. Well, you guess. You were there.
Did you -- is that what happened or isn't it?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And is he talking to you at that point?
A. No. He was just still insulting me, calling me names and screaming.
Q. Okay.
A. That was another semblance that I knew he was still agitated.
Q. Yep, still agitated. Still needed to be controlled. I understand.
About how long -- and where are your hands on him?
A. On, like, his upper body. Not, like, on his head but, like, controlling his arms. Like, not on his wrists but just -- generally his arms, upper area.
Q. Okay. And you didn't have one hand on his -- on his -- kind of his waist, one on his shoulder area?
A. No.
I just had, like, his arms controlled. Because that's -- he was infamous for, like, kind of winging back and swinging at you.
Q. Well, you said he's never hit you before. He's never made contact with you before.

So how can you tell me he's infamous for that?
A. Because I have seen him do it. I have -- and just from hearsay.
Q. We're talking about a four year old, the mind of a -- somebody with the mind of a four year old. You're telling me he's never hurt you, never hurt anybody else that you know of; he's never even made contact with you.
But you're also telling me he's infamous for some sort of on-the-ground boxing move?
A. Winging his arm back isn't a boxing move.
Q. Well, is it infamous?
A. I -- I -- like I said --
Q. Infamous?
A. I've had -- I've heard hearsay.
Q. Okay. You know, are you familiar with what the word means, "infamy"? Might --
MR. COLLINS: Objection. At this point you're starting to harass. Like, you've had this phrase back and forth. I don't know why you're getting to this point that you're harassing him.
Q. Well, I'm not trying to harass you. I just want to make sure that we're talking about the same thing. But I'll withdraw the question.
Okay. And when you say you were holding the upper part of his body, would you say you had both hands -- he's laying -- he's laying on his left side like this, right?

A. He -- he's completely on his left side, like, legs and everything. He is parallel to the ground.

Q. Okay. And so both of your -- as far as you remember, both of your hands would have been up, like, on his --

A. Yes.

Q. -- up on this part of his right --

A. Yes.

Q. Like, the upper right part of his body and shoulder?

A. I was -- I was more or less just kind of holding the left side.

Q. Okay.

A. I wasn't really necessarily restraining. I was more holding. But I -- there was -- like, I was actively restraining the right arm because he was like --

Q. Okay.

A. -- that's whenever he was, like, most flailing.

Q. Okay. And I know you weren't holding his head. That's not what I'm -- what I'm suggesting. I just want to make sure I understand where your hands were.

A. Right.

Q. How long did this go on before Mandy Jones arrived on the scene?
A. That I can remember a couple of minutes. It wasn't -- shortly after because her area --
Q. Okay.
A. -- or she was coming up to monitor lunch.
Q. Okay. So about -- about a couple minutes later Mandy arrives, correct?
A. To the best of my knowledge.
Q. Okay. And what does -- does she say anything? Or do you say anything to her?
A. No. She just immediately jumps in and starts helping.
Q. Okay.
A. Starts holding one side because I was getting worn out.
Q. And is that when she was holding his head?
A. She -- I don't remember her holding his head.
Q. Okay. And that's another -- that's another one of those statements that I -- in your OLTC statement you didn't mention her holding her [sic] head. Ryann Campos mentioned maybe holding her [sic] head.
But then according to DRA, you said Mandy was holding his head. But we can -- we don't necessarily have to get into that, unless you have some way to clarify that for me now.

A. Not that I remember.
Q. Okay. So where do you remember Mandy holding him?
A. I think she just took the other arm. Because I was just kind of . . .
Q. Okay.
A. Kind of -- he was doing more like a full body --
Q. Yeah.
A. -- flail at this point, but he was still --
Q. I --
A. He was still there.
Q. And I assume you're on your knees?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. All right. And so you guys are holding him. And then I know at some point Ryann Campos shows up.
How long is it that you and Mandy are holding him there before Ryann arrives, about?
A. About maybe the same time, two or three minutes. It wasn't very long.
Q. Okay.
A. That I remember.
Q. Okay. And you're saying this whole time all these minutes he's -- he's just violently out of control on the ground there?
A. Yes. He's still resisting. Resisting, screaming, everything.

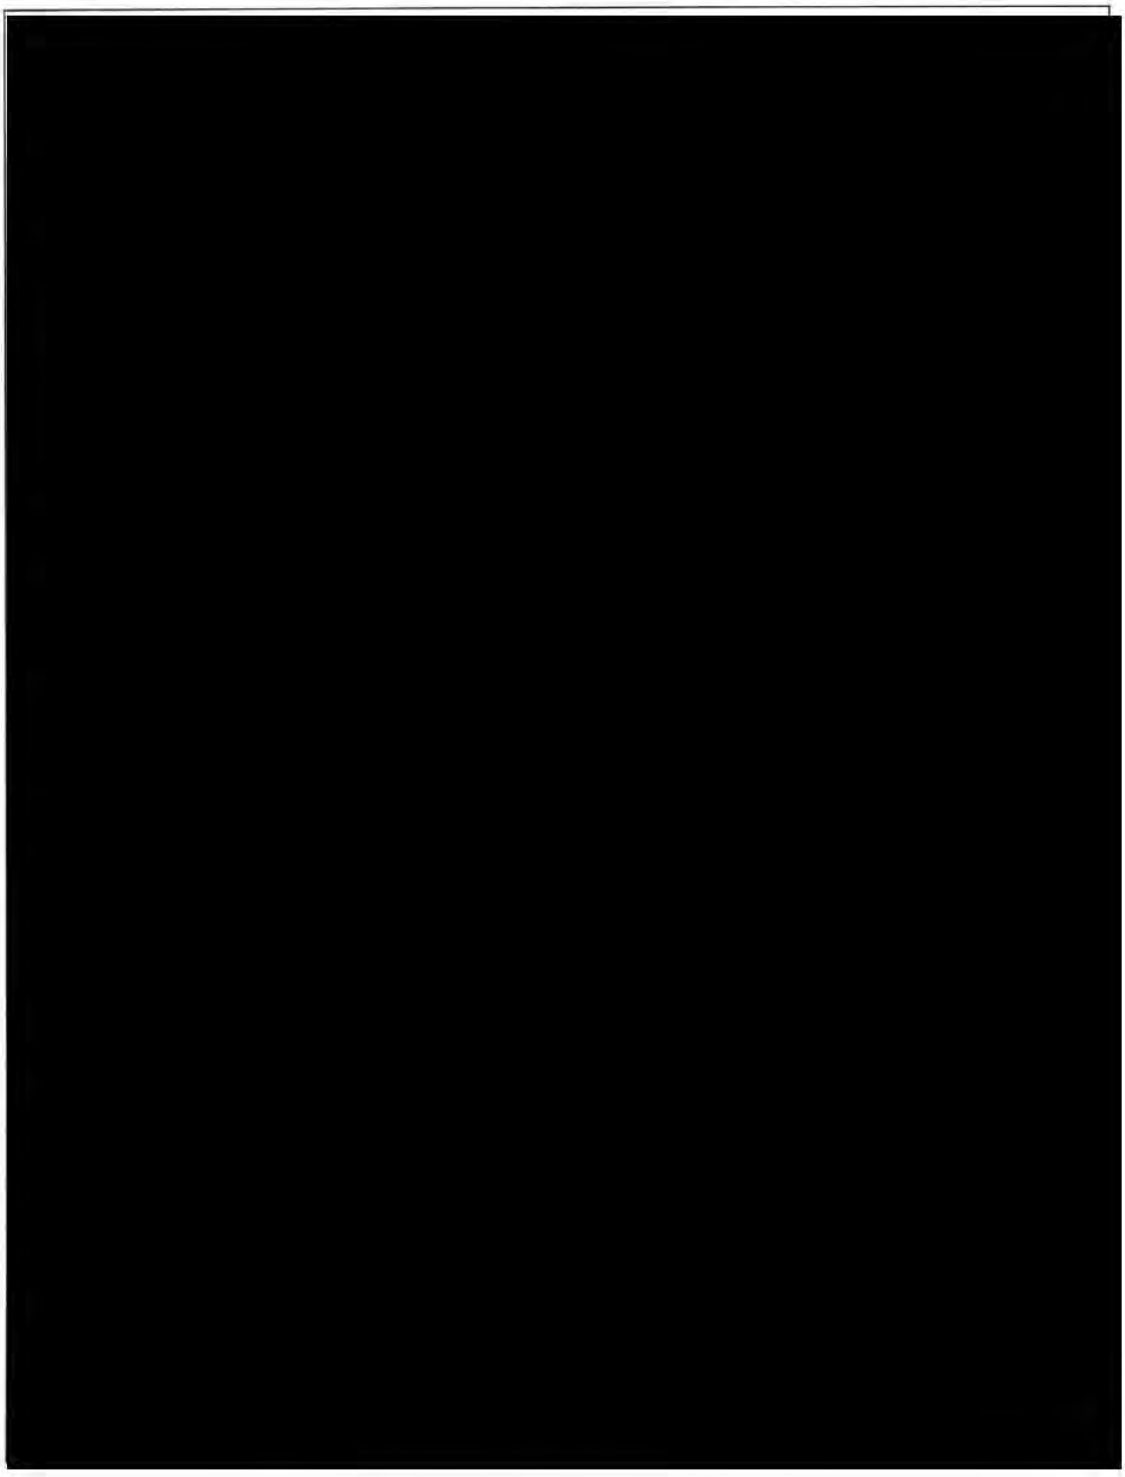
Q. Okay. Okay. And then Ryann arrives and what does she do?
A. She grabs his legs.
Q. Okay. And is David saying anything at this point?
A. Still screaming for a moment.
Q. For a moment?
A. Yeah.
Q. What is he screaming?
A. Just insults, "Bitch. I hate you." Just -- he -- he would scream, "I hate you" and those, those two words seemed to be his popular ones.
Q. Okay. And what were you waiting for? What did you want to see? What -- when were you guys going to let him up?
A. Whenever he was saying he was calm and he wasn't screaming anymore.
Q. Okay. So until he stopped screaming and said what -- you know, you guys weren't going to let him up?
A. Yes, until he -- we knew for sure that he wasn't going to be agitated still and aggressive, we were going to -- we would leave him there.
Q. Even though he'd not caused any injury to any of you, not even made physical contact with any of you with his -- with his hands?

A. He was so spontaneous we had to be careful.
Q. Even though he has no history of injuring anybody ever?
A. Full-on injury, no; but I have seen him get aggressive.
Q. Okay.
A. That I know of, injuring.
Q. Well, I mean, you know, I have two-year-old twin toddlers. They get aggressive sometimes. I tell you what I don't do. I don't pin them to the ground until they --
MR. COLLINS: Are you testifying now?
Q. -- until they say what I want to them to say.
Okay. So how long are you three pinning him to the ground now that Ryann's arrived before he starts changing colors and defecating on himself and throwing up and dying?
A. As best I remember, maybe a minute or two. But it wasn't very -- it wasn't a long time.
Q. Okay.
A. And, as soon as we noticed the color change and all that, we immediately got up.
Q. Okay. And what's the very first thing that you noticed that alerted you that he was having a health crisis?

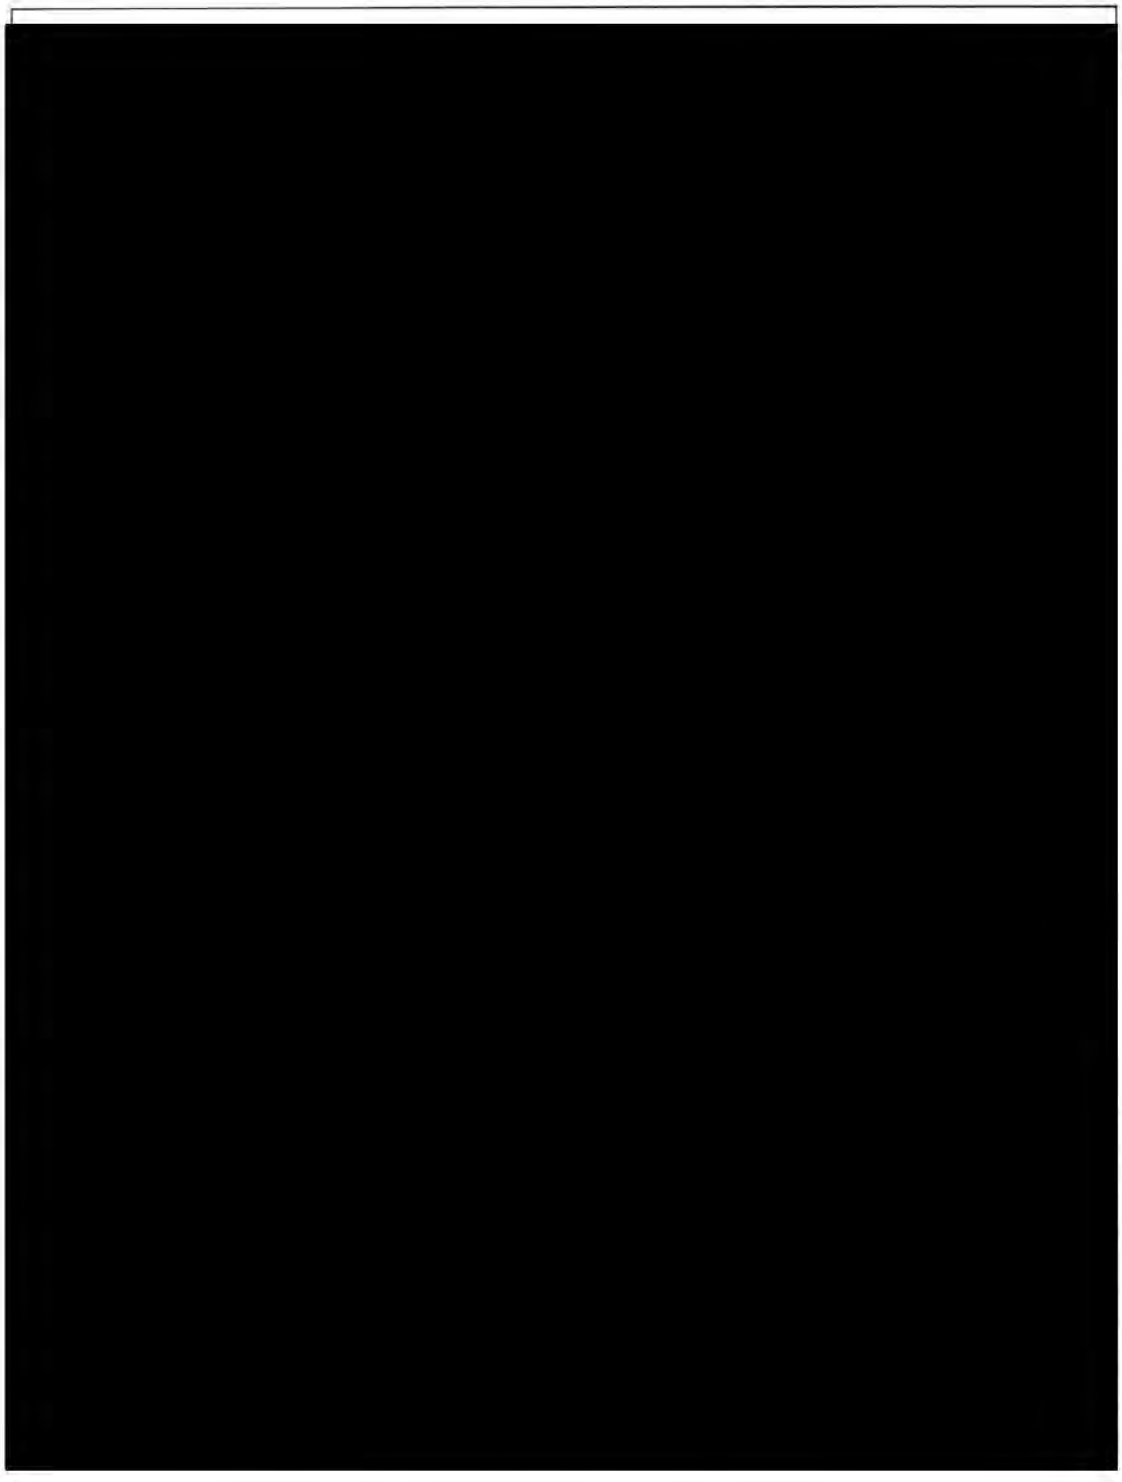
A. He was throwing up. There was food coming out of his mouth.
Q. And he --
A. And, as soon as we noticed that, we stopped.
Q. And he's still on his side at this point?
A. Yes.
We didn't put him on his stomach; we didn't put him face -- like, we didn't roll him face down or anything. We were using what I thought was our best judgment. Whether or not that was -- I don't know.
Q. And what -- okay. So he starts throwing up; that's the very first thing you noticed.
Before you -- before you smell defecation --
A. He had --
Q. -- or before you --
A. He had --
Q. -- notice a color change, you -- he's throwing up? That's the first thing?
A. He had messed himself, but that was another thing he would do whenever he was angry. He would mess himself, pee, you know.
Q. Okay. So he messed himself.
Y'all kept holding him down there after he messed himself?
A. Because he was still being aggressive.

Q. Okay. And he -- and it's only when he -- when you notice that he's vomiting that you guys let up and roll him onto his side -- or onto his back?

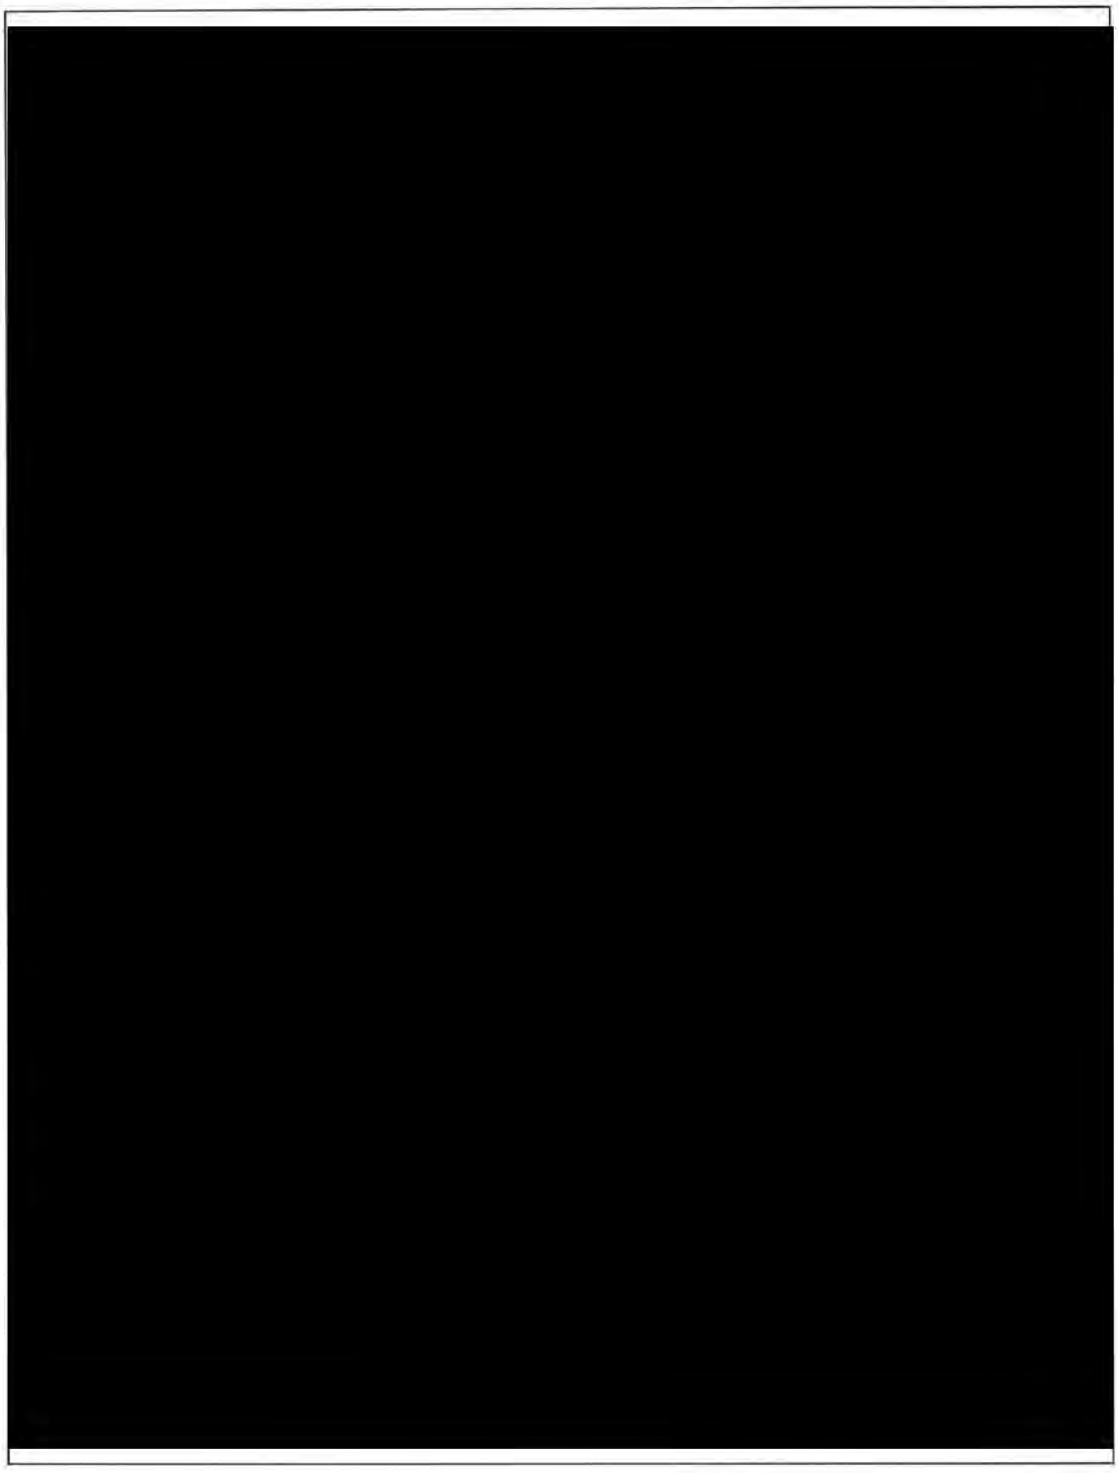


A. Yes.

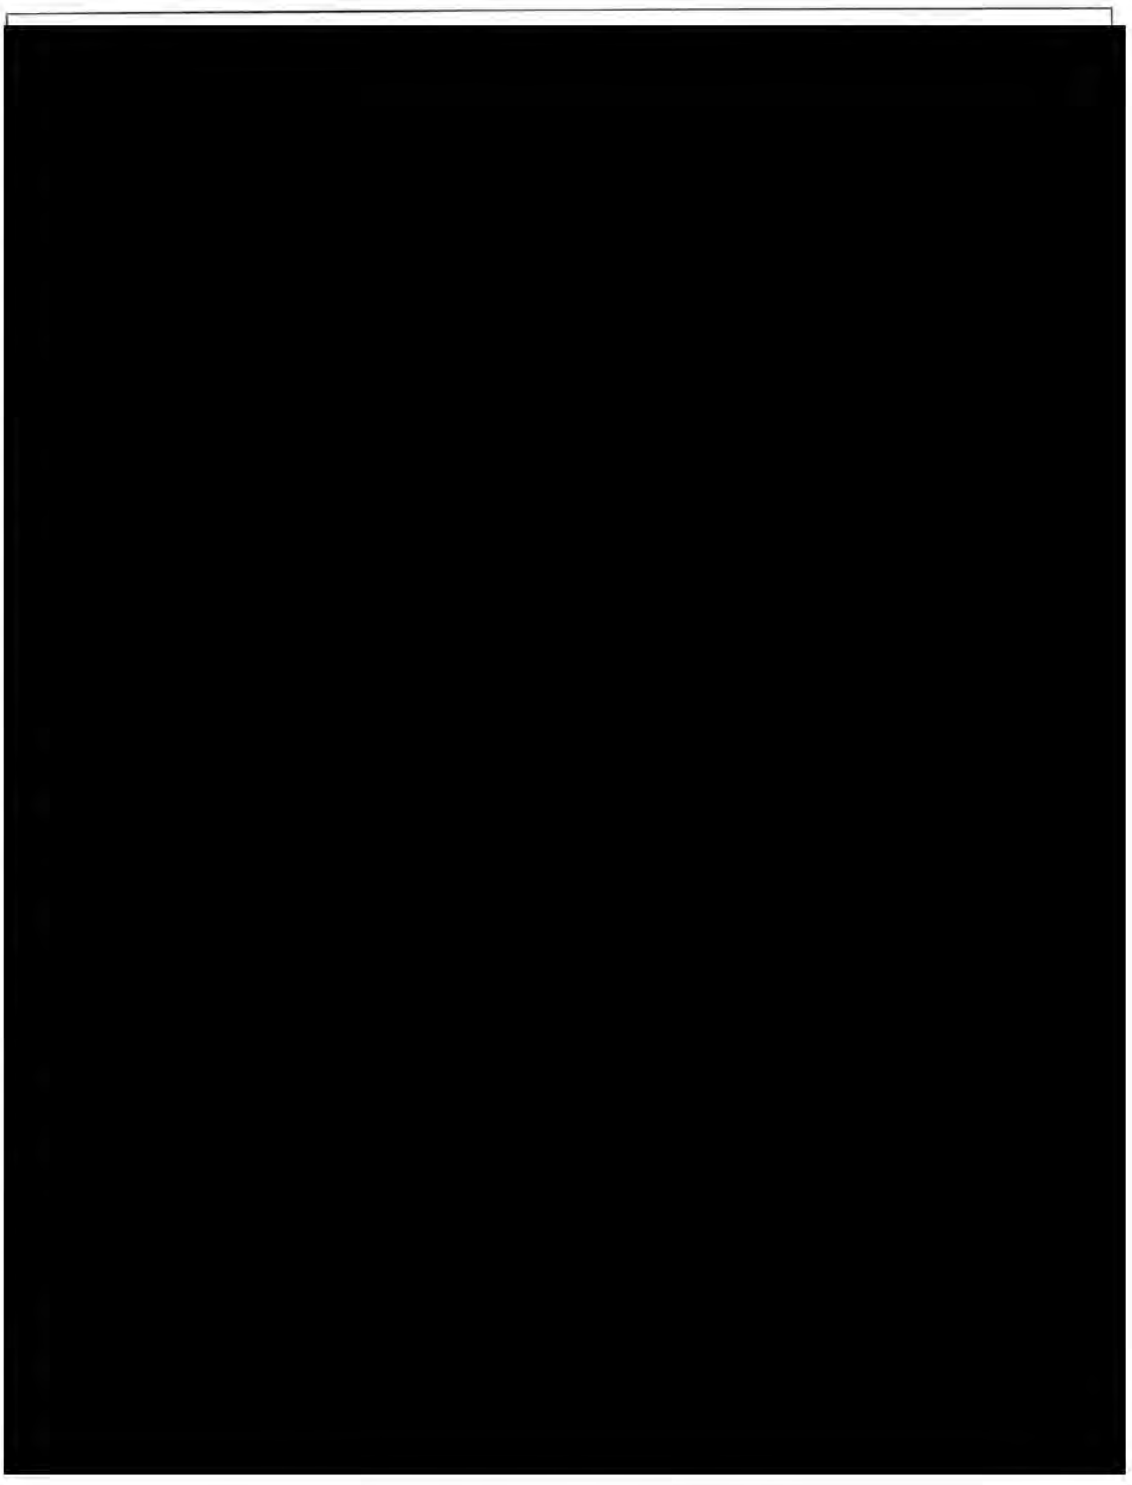
That's what we thought would be the best course of action at the time.



Q. So you rolled him onto his back.



And what happens then?



[redacted]

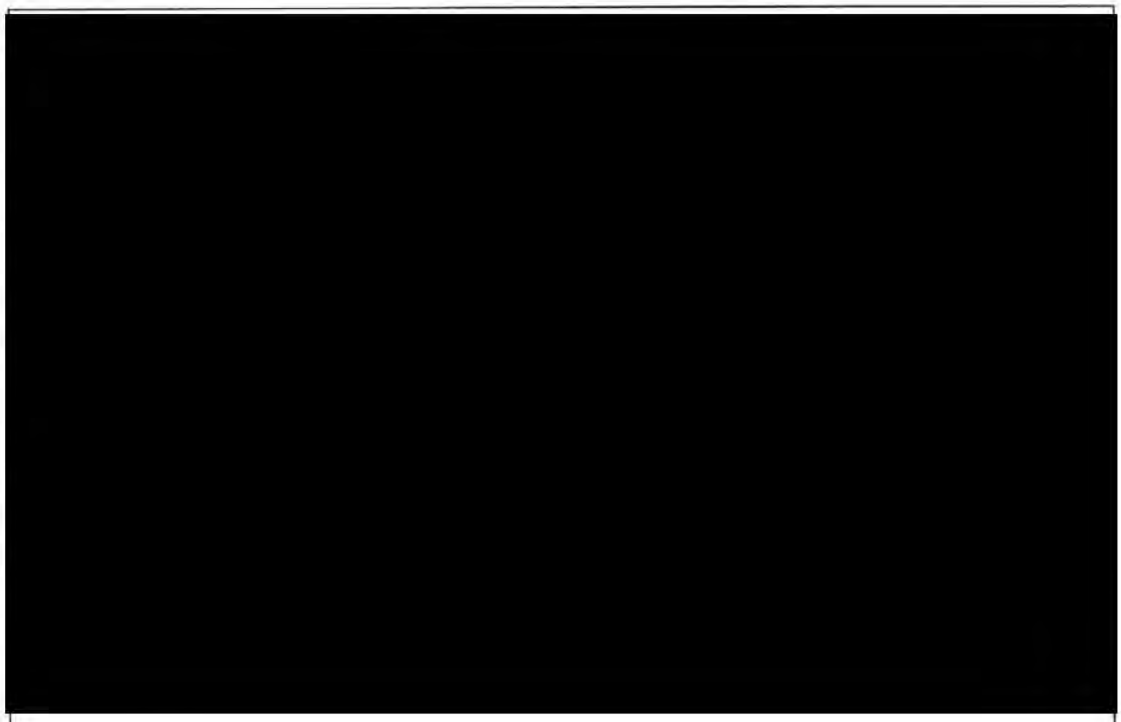
Q. But you know 911 wasn't called until medical actually got there and laid eyes on the scene, right?
A. That's -- as far as I know.
Q. Okay. Again because --
A. We're not allowed to.
Q. You and Mandy and Ryann we're not allowed to call 911?
A. Right.
Q. Because you're not medical staff, right?
A. Yes.

MR. GILLISPIE: Could you hear his yes?



THE COURT REPORTER: I did. Thank you.

Q. (Mr. Gillispie) I -- I understand that at the time you had not been given CNA training but you since have and maybe some other training.

Since his death have you learned any lifesaving techniques that would have been useful had you been trained in them --

A. Not --
Q. -- at the time?
A. Nothing different.
Q. Nothing different. Okay.
Did you personally speak to paramedics or the police?
A. No.
Q. Do you know who did personally speak to paramedics or the police?
A. No. Just I know it was a nurse. I don't know which one.
Q. Okay.
A. It was the medical team.
Q. You -- and you know it was a nurse just because you -- I'm assuming just happened to glance around and see it?
A. Whenever I glanced around whenever I got a chance to, I had seen it, as far as I remember.
Q. But you weren't -- you don't know what she might have said or didn't say?
A. I have no idea.
Q. It was a female nurse too, right?
A. We only have female nurses so I assume.
Q. Okay. Who all do you remember being at the scene other than that female nurse, the three of y'all, Nurse

King, Nurse Schmidt?
A. The only person that I recall is Nurse Angie and Nurse Amanda.
Q. Amanda Schmidt and Angie Nelson?
A. Yes. Yes, that's all I remember because they all just kind of blurred together.
Q. Okay. And I assume you were aware of David's [redacted]
[redacted]
Q. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
[redacted]

Q. Okay.
A. I don't know exact -- my details, what all he finished. But, like, I know that was a big thing that he had; and that was -- yeah.
MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. Are we on 6?
THE COURT REPORTER: Yes, sir.
(Exhibit 6 marked for identification.)
(Exhibit 7 marked for identification.)
Q. Okay. Tyler, I'm showing you what's been marked as Exhibit 7 to your deposition. This is a BHDC Restraint Incident Debriefing Form.
Do you see the paragraph at the very top in bold?
A. Yes.

Q. Do you see what I'm talking about?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. I'm going to read that. "The Booneville Human Development Center is dedicated to the reduction of restraint use at the facility. The use of restraints is proven to be dangerous for both staff and clients, with the occurrence of injuries dramatically increasing when restraint is used. All efforts must be made to deescalate behavioral situations so that they do not result in restraint.

"All restraint at the facility is to be for emergency use only (even when part of a behavior treatment program) when a very real risk -- very real risk of personal injury or severe property damage is imminent."

Do you agree that I -- that's a correct reading of what that says?
A. Yes.
Q. And have you -- are you familiar with that, that policy language?
A. Yes.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. All right. If you'll hand that to her, please.

THE WITNESS: (Witness complies.)

(Exhibit 8 marked for identification.)

Q. And then the last exhibit here is what I've marked as Exhibit 8.

Do you recognize this, this Booneville HDC Policy, Policy Roman Numeral I-D-4?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Have you been instructed on this policy? Provided this document in training?

A. Yes, in Phase class.

Q. Okay. In what?

THE COURT REPORTER: I'm sorry. In what class?

THE WITNESS: Phase class.

Q. Phase class, okay.

Do you see at the bottom where it -- Emergency Use of Restraint?

A. Yes.

Q. Would you read the -- just the first two sentences there, please.

A. "Emergency restraint is defined as the use of the least restrictive procedure and for the least time necessary to control severely aggressive or destructive behaviors."

Q. And then the next sentence.

A. "The use of emergency restraint will comply with all relevant standards and regulations."

Q. Okay. So, as you sit here today, is it -- is it your testimony that what -- what you and Mandy and Ryann did complies with this policy?
A. As best as we could in the situation.
Q. You feel like that -- that holding him, pinning him there to the ground, all three of you, for as you said two, three, up to seven minutes possibly before he starts choking or vomiting and choking, that was the least restrictive thing you could have done at the time?
A. With how aggressive he was being, I feel like yes.
Q. And you would describe what he did as severely aggressive --
A. Yes.
Q. -- or destructive?
A. Yes.
Q. And specifically what -- what -- specifically what did he do that you would call severely aggressive?
A. He had intents of attacking me. He had intents of causing harm to me. And --
Q. And you -- and you know that how?
A. He went straight for me.
Q. And he'd never once hurt you in the past, so why -- you know, how -- why could you not have dealt with this just as you would any other situation where he's swung? Or, you know, why did it have to get this --

A. Because it was escalated as it was, and I was the only one there for the time being. There wasn't a -- a whole lot of build-up time.

Q. Well, let's say that what you're saying is -- hypothetically let's saying -- let's say what you're saying about him charging at you and you having no other choice but to grab him by the arms and roll to the ground with him is true.

How was holding him there on the ground when he's already on the ground, face down on the ground at the beginning, how is what you guys then did the least restrictive thing you could have done?

At that point he's on the ground. He's not charging at you anymore.

A. Right.

Q. I mean, why on -- I just -- just why? Why not get up, give him a chance to calm down, get 10 feet away from him? Get in a spot that if he does charge you again, you can use your blocking techniques; you can -- you know, he's a little boy. He can't hurt you; you know that.

Why? Why not do that?

A. Because he wasn't a little boy, necessarily. Mentally, yes; but physically he was a big guy. And he was very explosive; he was very -- from what -- my understanding of it and in my direct work with him -- I wasn't there for, like, two years like I had been with other people. I'd only known him for six months.

But, from my understanding and my experience, he was very explosive and, frankly, kind of unpredictable at times.

Q. But, Tyler, you said many times he's never even made physical contact with you, and you're around him hours every time you work there. You know him well; you have a deep bond with him. He's never even -- he's never even landed a slap on you. I mean --

MR. COLLINS: Is there a question here?

Q. That is the question: How can you say -- how can both things be true?

A. As I said, he's unpredictable. It wouldn't have mattered if it was his best friend at the time. He could have just attacked him just because he was mad about something. It didn't matter if it was me; it didn't matter if it was Eileen; it didn't matter if it was anyone. He could have just gotten wildly aggressive.

Q. And you do not think that -- as you sit here today, you do not think that the safer option after he's on the ground, particularly for 15 seconds, much less six, seven minutes, you don't agree that the safer option would have been to ease up on him, just -- just give him a little bit of space?

A. Like I said, he was still flailing and being aggressive. He would -- he was being violent.
Q. On the ground --
A. He was --
Q. -- how?
A. Like I said, he was flailing; he was whipping around. I was doing the best I could for my -- only person.
Q. Okay. Well, then give him some space.
Why couldn't you give him some space? You don't think that would have been a better thing to do? You don't --
A. No, I don't --
Q. You don't think that if you had done that he would be alive today?
A. No, I don't think so.
Because with how I knew him, he -- like I said several times, he was severely unpredictable. He could have gotten up and just went right after me. He could have got up and went and attacked another client in the -- in there, in the --
MR. COLLINS: Can we put pause on this real quick and clarify which question he's answering? Because you asked two there. You asked did you think there'd be a better thing to do or do you think he would be alive today.

Which question are you answering?
Q. I'm ask -- do you think there's anything you could have done differently that would cause him to not have died in this horrific way on this day?
A. I don't know. I don't know. I . . .
Q. You wouldn't -- if you could go back in a time machine, there's not a single thing you would do differently?
A. If I could I wouldn't even put hands on him if I could have -- didn't have to. I didn't want to. But he was being violent towards me specifically at that time, so letting up the -- while he's still squirming around -- he's still agitated, clearly; and he was still screaming at me.

I asked him: "Are you calmed down? Are you calmed down?" And he was still screaming at me. He was still very agitated.

If I let him up -- with what knowledge I had of him, he could have easily and more than likely would have attacked me again.
Q. But he would be alive, wouldn't he?
A. I don't know.
Q. I do.
MR. GILLISPIE: That's -- that's -- I just want to enter his OTLC statement into the -- as an exhibit. Let me find it.

(Discussion off the record.)

(Exhibit 9 marked for identification.)

MR. GILLISPIE: Do you want to see that? It's just his -- I'm not even going to question him about it. I just want to -- other than what I already have.

MR. COLLINS: This doesn't have any Bates numbers on it. Where did you get this document from?

MR. GILLISPIE: It was -- it was what was produced to the family by DHS before I got involved.

MR. COLLINS: Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: We can -- we can go back and check if it's the same.

MR. COLLINS: I was just --

MR. GILLISPIE: Yeah. She -- they gave her, like -- I don't know, like, 300, 400 pages of documents before she ever . . .

(Exhibit 10 marked for identification.)

MR. GILLISPIE: And then this is Exhibit 10. Eric's seen this many times. This is the Disability Rights Final Report, Exhibit 10, Bates stamp 4523.

I am going to take this back for a second.

THE COURT REPORTER: No problem.

Q. (Mr. Gillispie) I just to want to show you this real quick, Tyler. This is -- actually, this is Exhibit 2 from Mike Alvis's deposition; but it's a Behavior Treatment Program that Mike -- Mike Alvis generated on August 20, 2018.

Q. And, yet even knowing that, you guys still held him there for that long on the ground?

A. That's why we attempted to just at least put him at some sort of an angle. We didn't just lay him completely flat. Maybe the angle was wrong, but we were just -- we were using our best judgment in the moment.

[redacted]

Q. And so I'll ask you again for the last time: You wouldn't -- knowing all that, you wouldn't have let him up -- you would -- if you could do it again, you wouldn't let him up off the ground quicker, sooner?
A. I would try to, yes.
Q. All right.

MR. GILLISPIE: I'll pass the witness.

MR. COLLINS: No questions for you.

THE COURT REPORTER: Did you say you have no questions, sir?

MR. COLLINS: No questions.

THE COURT REPORTER: Okay. We're ready to close this record out.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: This concludes the deposition. We are going off the record. The time is approximately 3:42 p.m.

(Discussion off the record.)

MR. COLLINS: We would like transcript copies for both Mr. Alvis and Mr. Mattson so they can review and correct anything he feels was misstated.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Would you like the video as well?

MR. COLLINS: Yes, please.

(Deposition concluded at 3:44 p.m.)

AVOIDING / DEFUSING VIOLENT BEHAVIORS

Employees are reminded that we must continue to strive to calm upset individuals without injury or damage. The following steps may help defuse or avoid violent behaviors:

1. Know the individual.
2. Breathe slowly and deeply to relax
3. Try to appear calm and relaxed before intervening- even if you are not.
4. Speak slowly and softly, keeping voice low at all times.
5. Listen.
6. Keep hands at sides with palms open in a reassuring stance. Do not trap or corner the angry person. Do not double your fist, point your finger, cross your arms, put your hands on your hips, in your pockets, or behind your back.
7. Judge the distance you keep by your knowledge of the individual and your rapport with him/her; allow both of you space and room to escape.
8. Stand if he/she stands; sit if he/she sits. Squat or sit down if the individual is in a wheelchair.
9. Do not ask "Why." Do not argue, threaten, raise your voice, or become judgmental.
10. Listen.
11. Let the individual know you are there to help in any way you can, but do not make promises you cannot keep.
12. Keep your face passive and neutral – do not frown, scowl, or laugh.
13. Reassure the individual that you are there to help and you will wait with him/her until he/she works through whatever is bothering them. Let them express his/her fears, frustrations, and accusations without censor.
14. Stay relaxed, keep a monitor on your voice tone, body stance, muscle tension, and breathing so that you present yourself as a source of stability and model of how to remain calm.
15. Listen.

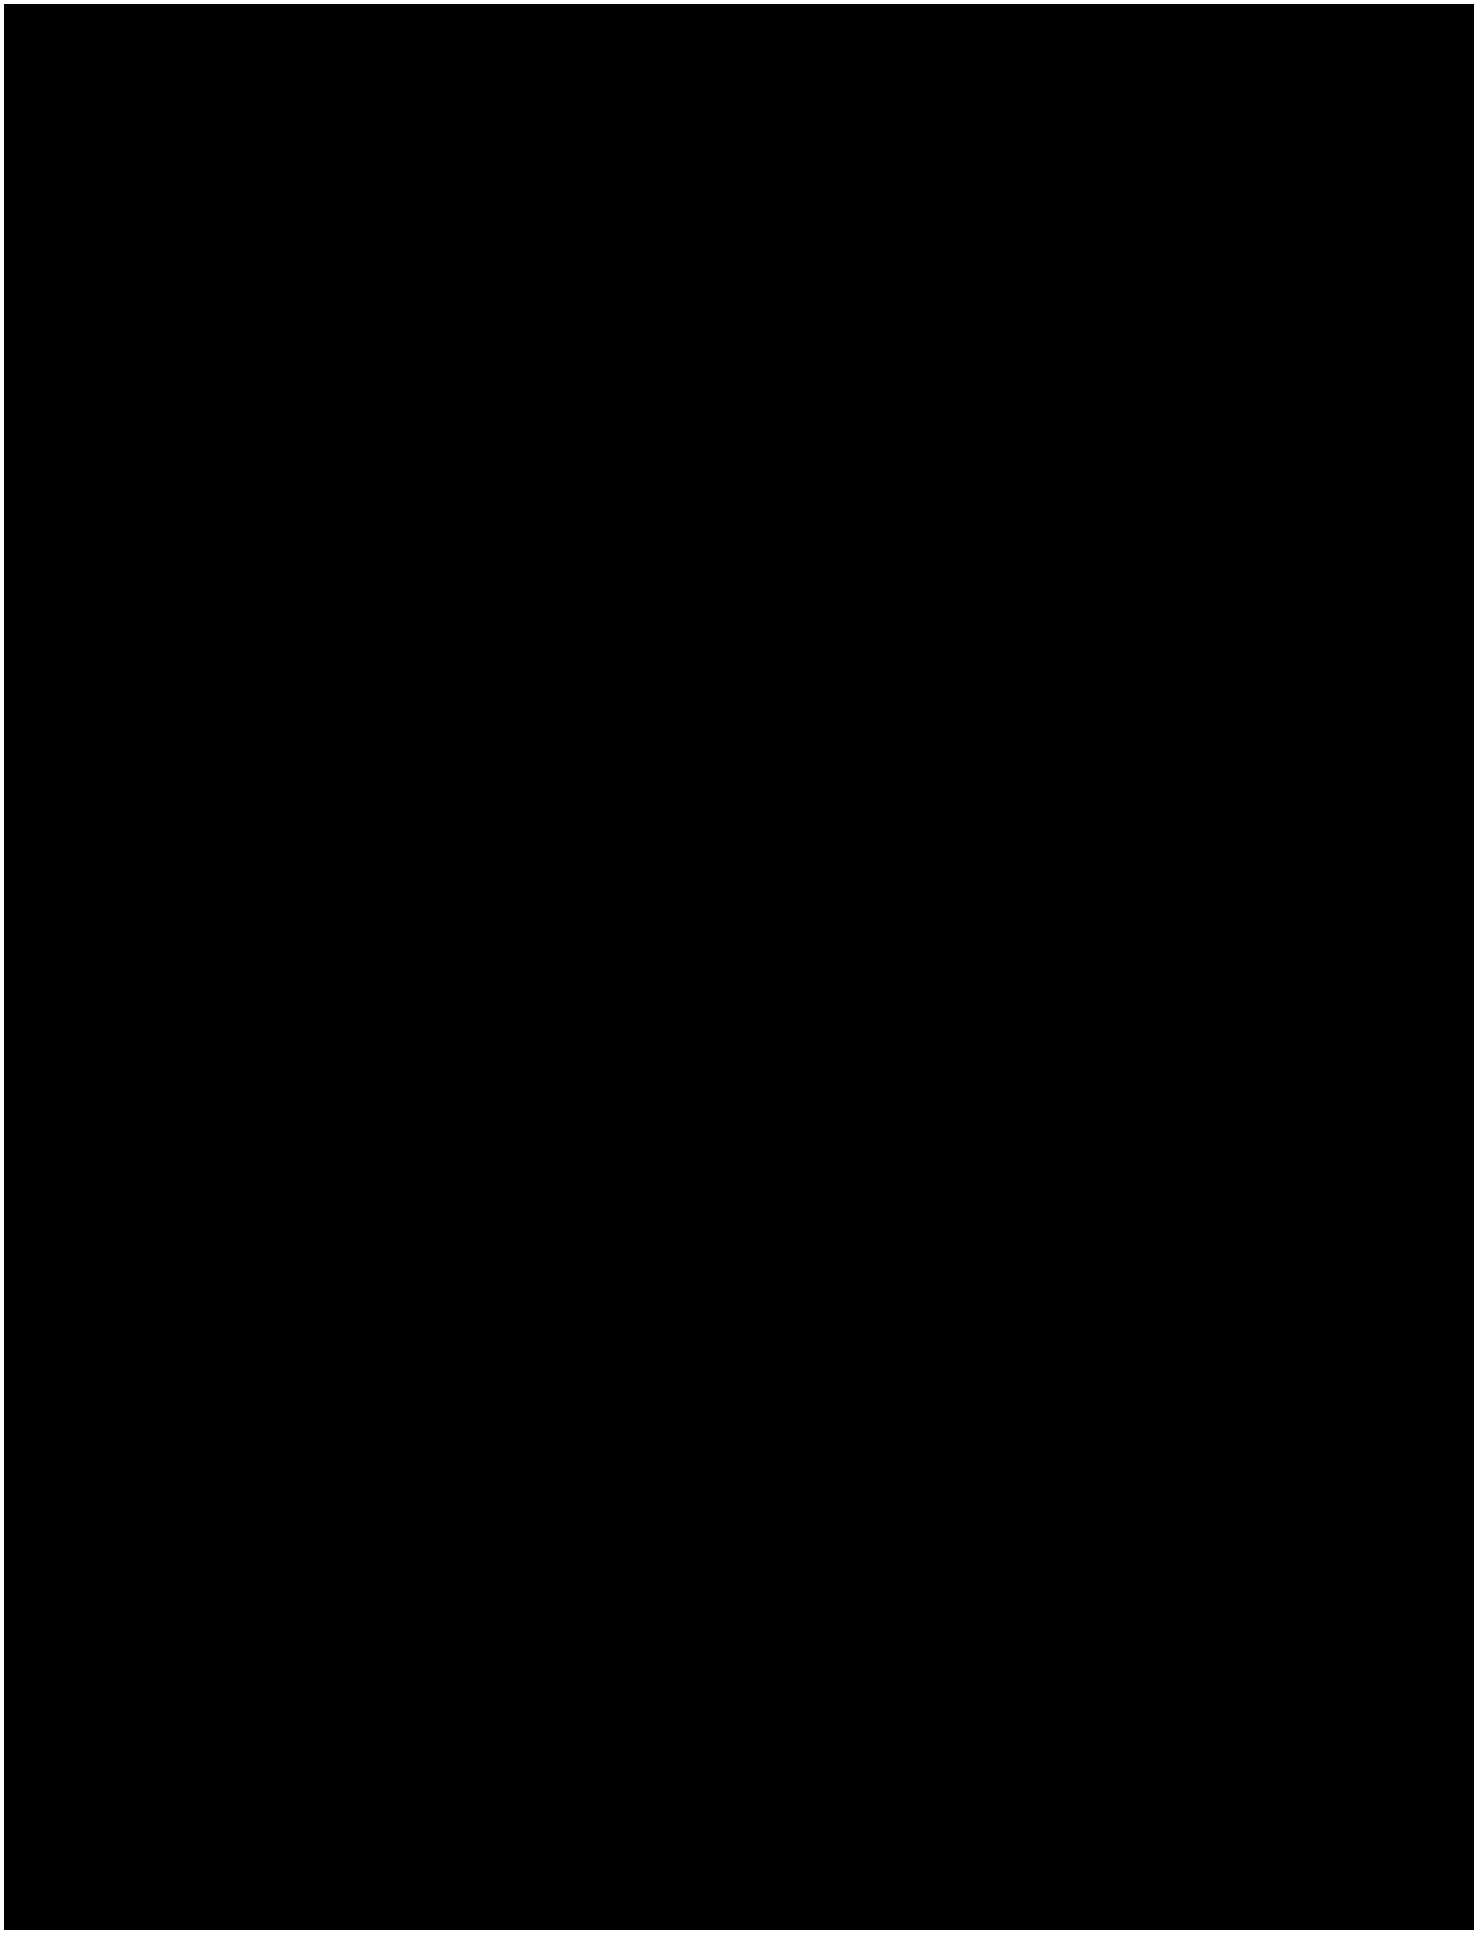
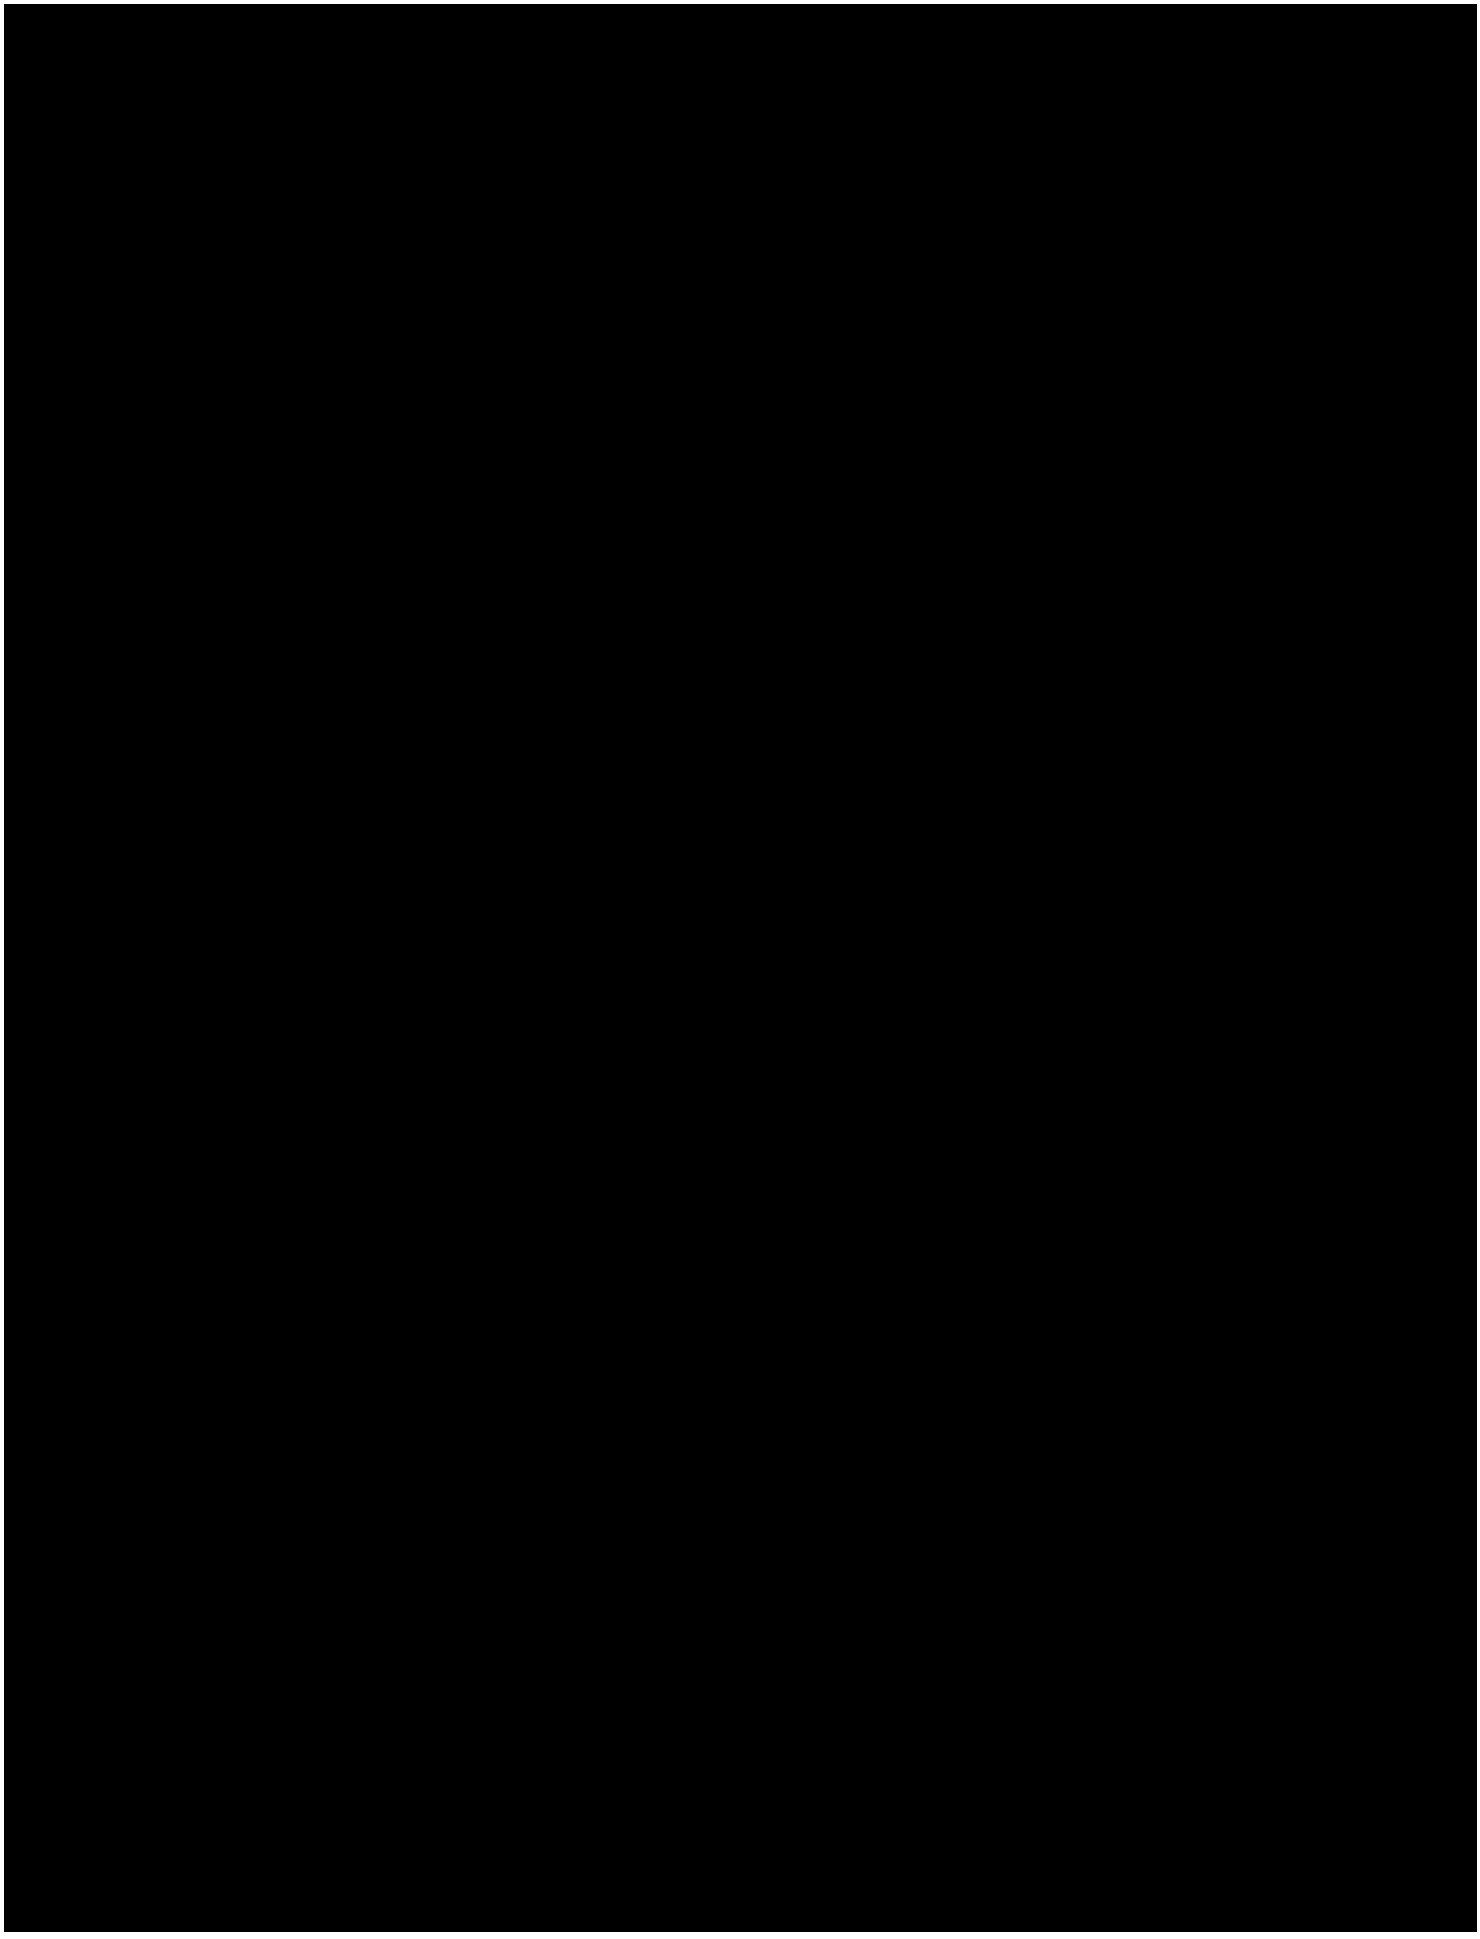
NONVIOLENT CRISIS INTERVENTION TRAINING PROGRAM OBJECTIVES (NCI)

Identify behavior levels that contribute to the development of a crisis and choose appropriate staff intervention for each level. This program is used to provide guidance to the acting out individual and the employees that are dealing with de-escalating the behavior.

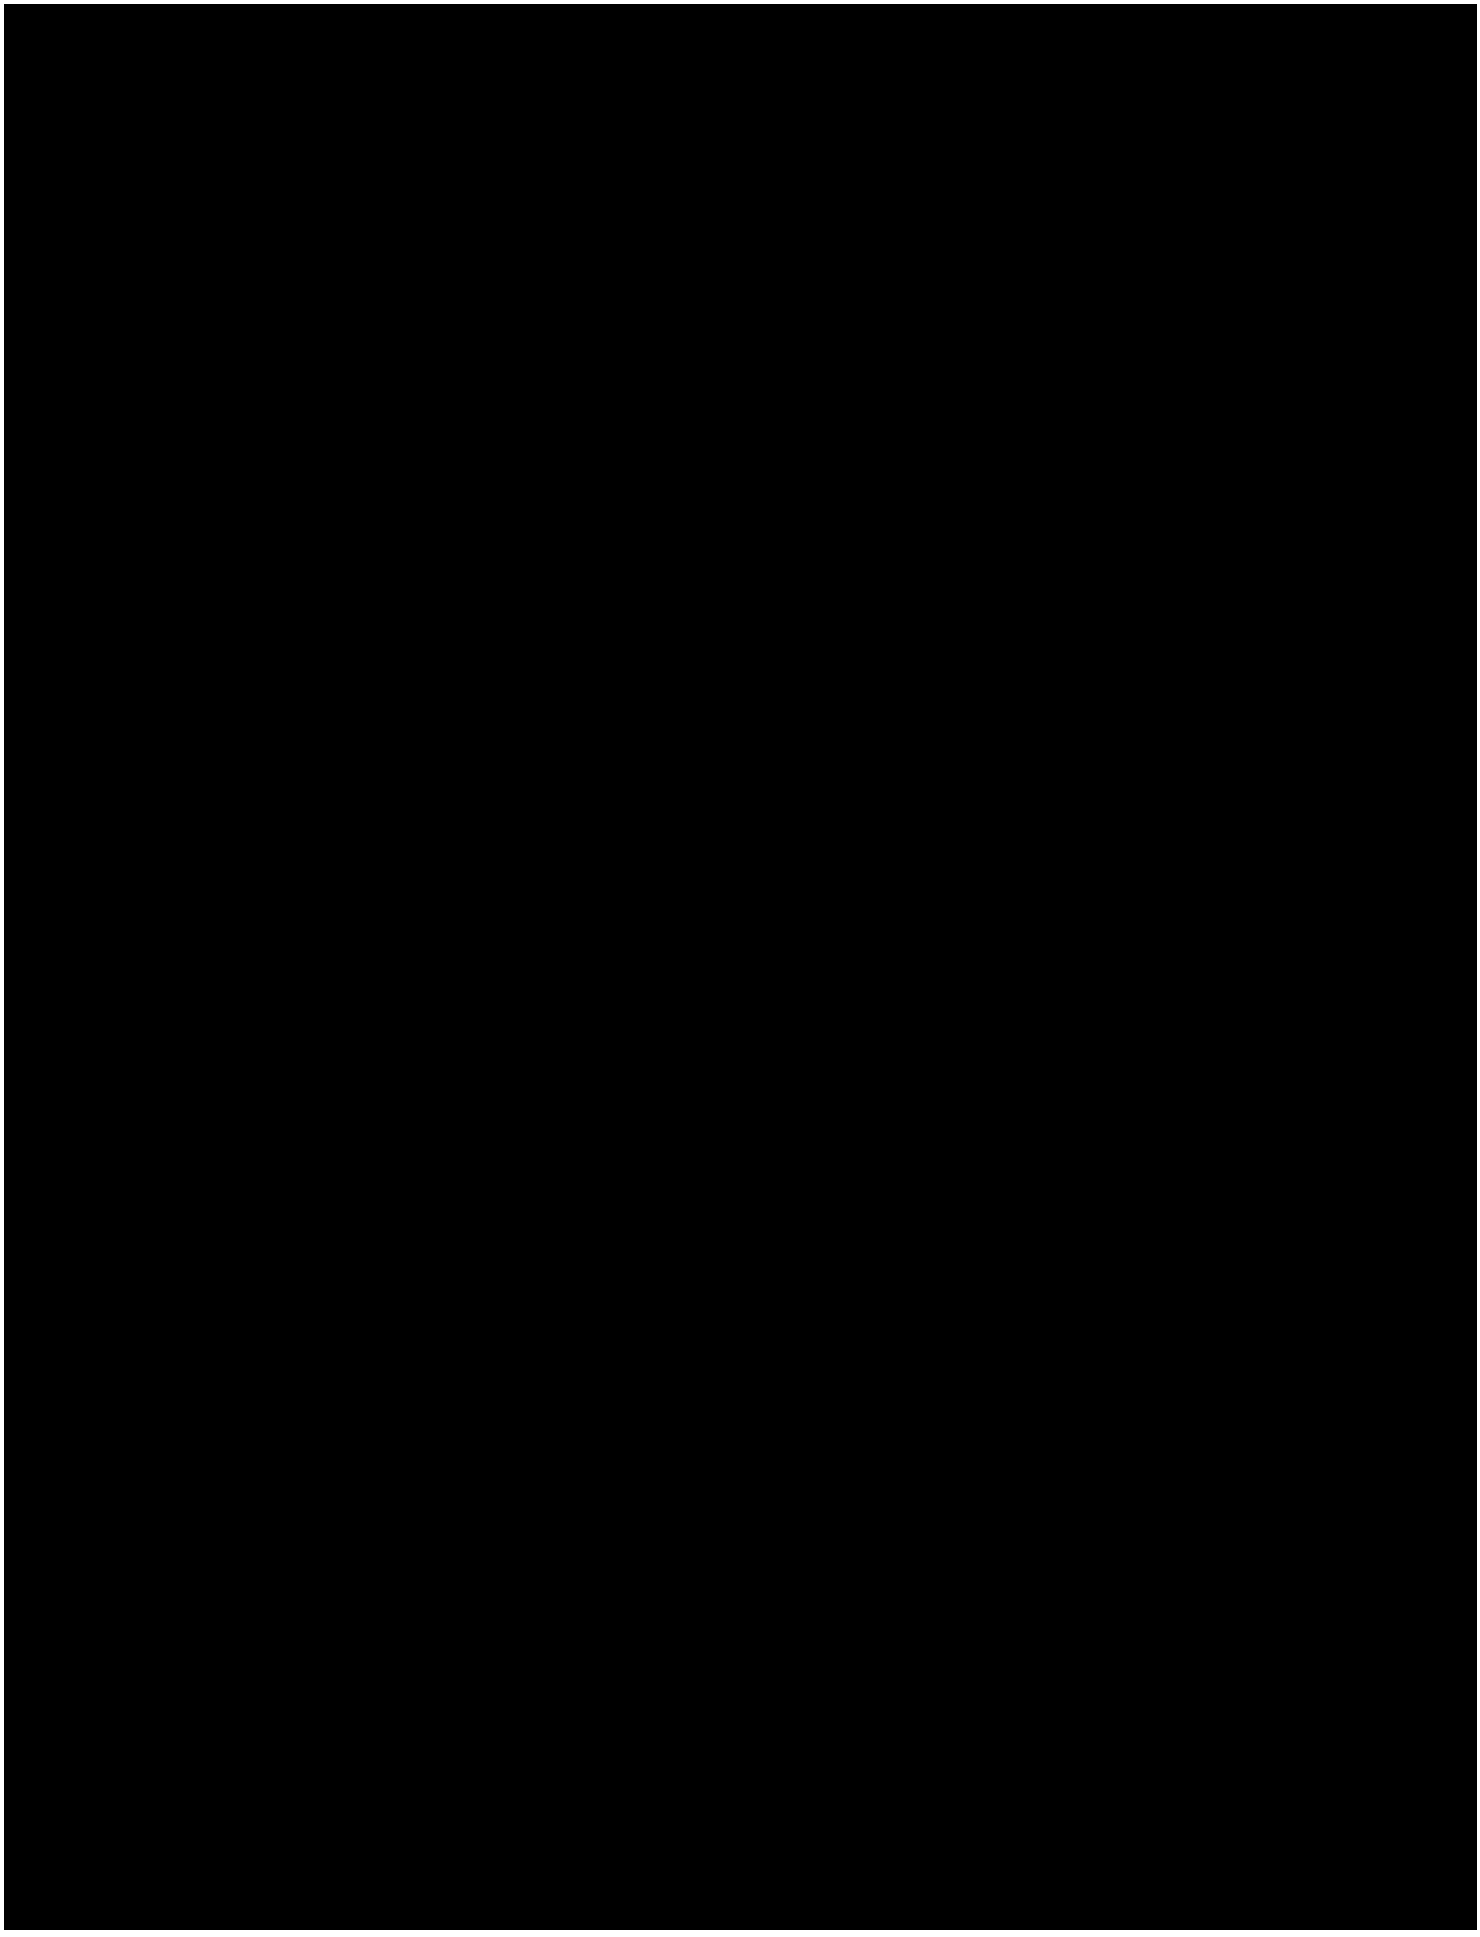


When writing a Behavior Report, be careful not to include any of your personal feelings (opinions) about the incident or behavior. Instead, always rely on the Five 'Ws'- Who, What, Where, When, and Why.

PREVENTION / REPORTING OF MALTREATMENT



BHDC strictly prohibits the maltreatment of clients residing at this facility. Maltreatment is defined as:



- Physical abuse or assault.
- Psychological abuse.
- Verbal abuse.
- Negligence.
- Failure to provide necessary care.
- Exploitation or sexual abuse.
- Misappropriation of personal property or moving furniture or belongings without permission.

ARKANSAS DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES
DIVISION OF DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITIES SERVICES
DDS DIRECTOR'S OFFICE POLICY MANUAL

Policy Type	Subject of Policy	Policy No.
Service	Behavior Management	3011-D

1. Purpose. This policy is intended to provide guidelines for managing challenging behaviors of individuals residing in DDS operated programs (Human Development Centers).

2. Scope. This policy applies to all DDS operated programs (Human Development Centers) and their employees/volunteers. All such programs will include a review of this policy as part of the employee orientation process.

3. Definition of Terms

Behavior management, as covered by this policy, serves as a guide to ensure that an individual's actions that are aggressive, disruptive and/or present a danger to the individual or to others are managed with the least restrictive method. Behavior management is not a substitute for other forms of active treatment and is incorporated into program plans, based on individual needs.

Qualified Mental Retardation Professional (QMRP) or QMRP designee is used in this policy as a person designated to monitor, supervise, and make decisions regarding specific behavioral situations. QMRP/designee will be assigned by the administrator of the DDS program in which he/she works. Criteria for selection will involve prior training, experience, and demonstrated ability in the area of behavioral management. The QMRP/designee must be in a position that is on a level involving supervisory or decision-making responsibilities. The QMRP designee is authorized to perform any of the duties of the QMRP as outlined by regulations or policy.

Interdisciplinary Team (IDT) is defined as a group of persons (professionals, paraprofessionals and non-professionals) who develop an individual's program plan and whose participation is required in order to identify the needs of the individual and to devise ways to meet those needs. The IDT includes the individual and may also include those persons who have worked or will work most closely with the individual, those persons who provide needed assessments or services, and the individual's family, guardian, or advocate. In general, the IDT includes persons professionally qualified in such fields as health care, education, psychology, and social work.

Licensed nurse is defined as a registered nurse or licensed practical nurse. The agency may use a physician, in lieu of a licensed nurse, but this is not required.

Replacement: This policy replaces DDS Commissioner's Policy 3011-D, dated January 28, 1981, March 13, 1981, and DDS Director's Policy dated October 1, 1991; December 1, 1993; and January 30, 1998.

4. Policy

NOTE: It is the philosophy of the agency to utilize all positive approaches to behavior management prior to and in conjunction with more restrictive programmatic techniques. Positive approaches may include, but are not limited to: positive reinforcement, gentle teaching, redirection, graduated guidance, and modeling of appropriate behaviors. Measures to address positive behavior should be incorporated into formal program efforts to the extent feasible.

Efforts at positive programming prove to be successful with the majority of maladaptive behaviors. All Human Development Centers will maintain policies and procedures for positive programming. The use of behavioral programming other than positive is designed for the individuals who repetitively engage in dangerously aggressive behavior and for whom other interventions have not been effective. All behavior programs developed in accordance with this policy will be designed to reduce or eliminate the target behavior(s) within a specified time frame, will be supported by documentation that positive, less restrictive methods have been systematically attempted and failed, will be monitored regularly by the individual's QMRP and Interdisciplinary Team (IDT), and will be revised if proved to be ineffective. The potential harmful effects of each procedure will be weighed carefully against the harmful effects of the targeted behavior and the IDT will determine if the harmful effects of the behavior outweigh the potentially harmful effects of the procedure.

Category I:

Category I procedures are those which may be used without prior approval of the Human Rights Committee or psychology staff. To ensure consistency, they should be addressed by the IDT. Frequent use (as determined by IDT) of these procedures with an individual indicates the need for consideration of the development of a behavior plan by the individual's IDT.

The individual must be supervised during these procedures. With the exception of verbal intervention, any use of Category I procedures, whether part of a formal behavior program or not, requires documentation on a Behavior Incident Report, Data Sheet, or other locally used behavior documentation system.

A. Verbal Intervention: Verbal intervention is utilized to stop an inappropriate behavior in progress and involves telling the individual "no" or "stop", identifying the behavior, and redirecting to an appropriate activity. The command is given in a firm but normal tone of voice. Threats, screaming, yelling or issuing repetitive or multiple sets of commands are not considered verbal correction and are inappropriate.

B. Separation From Activity Up to 30 Minutes: The individual is prevented from engaging in a reinforcing activity in which he/she has displayed inappropriate behavior. Separation is maintained within the same room or outdoor area where the activity is conducted. This is considered a Category I procedure if compliance by the individual can be accomplished through verbal prompting/physical prompting without requiring personal restraint (holding).

C. Separation From Setting Up to 30 Minutes: The individual is removed from the area where the reinforcing activity is taking place. Separation must occur under observation either outdoors or in a living or training area (bathrooms, storage rooms and closets do not constitute living/training area). This is considered a Category I procedure if compliance by the individual can be accomplished through verbal prompting/physical prompting without requiring personal restraint (holding).

Note: Separation to Allow Calming (STAC) – Also available is the positive procedure of STAC whereby the person is encouraged to move to an area away from the person or situation that upset them. At the same time, they are assisted in directing their attention to talking about the problem, listening to music, talking about family, relaxing quietly, going for a walk, etc. The activity should be chosen by the person in need of calming. When sufficiently calm, staff will assist the person in resuming normal activities.

D. Assignment of Additional Chores: The individual is assigned additional chores as a consequence for inappropriate behavior. Additional chores may be assigned only if such chores are already a part of the Individual Program Plan (IPP) and are not designed to replace work assignments of housekeeping personnel.

E. Restitution: The individual is cued to restore any property damaged, stolen or defaced. If appropriate to the individual's level of functioning, he/she may be cued to offer a verbal apology to the offended person. If appropriate to the individual's ability to comprehend, monetary reimbursement for the value of the damaged or stolen property may be required if this is a part of the IPP. In lieu of full value, a symbolic portion of the value may be required. Monetary reimbursement requires Human Rights Committee approval and Guardian consent.

Note: The individual is not degraded nor put on display while restoring damage. The individual is given the same equipment and protection to complete the restitution as would normally be given to a person not responsible for the damage.

F. Withholding Privileges: The individual loses a particular privilege following the occurrence of an inappropriate behavior. Privileges include such things as special planned community activities. However, trips off grounds are special and should only be curtailed if problem behavior is anticipated during that trip. Examples of situations where problem behaviors may be anticipated include a problem behavior having already occurred and the person is not fully calm, or, a problem behavior has not yet occurred, but there are indications that a problem behavior is likely. The curtailing of trips off grounds should be done after consultation with psychology staff, or with supervisory staff if psychology staff is not available. Privileges do not include basic living activities, such as meals, habilitation activities, or basic rights afforded all individuals.

G. Personal Property Removal (less than one hour): Removal of an individual's personal item that is being used in an inappropriate or unsafe manner or location. For example, if an individual disturbs others in a common TV room by playing his radio too loudly and will not reduce the volume when instructed, the radio may be removed from that individual for a time not to exceed one hour. The item will be held in a secure area and will be returned to the individual's room or to the individual directly, as appropriate (See Section 6, Page 8 of 9).

Category II:

Category II procedures may only be used as part of a formal behavior program designed by the individual's IDT, written by a licensed psychological professional, and approved by a licensed psychologist, physician, Human Rights Committee, and the facility administrator. Behavior program approval will include receipt of a signed consent from the individual and/or guardian.

A. Response Cost: The individual loses reinforcers previously earned in a behavior management system, (i.e., Token Economy Program)

B. Overcorrection - includes the following procedures:
   1) Restitutional Overcorrection: Requires the individual to restore the environment to a state that is better than it was before the occurrence of the inappropriate behavior.

   2) Positive Practice Overcorrection: Requires the individual to engage in an intensive practice period in which the alternative appropriate behavior is practiced.

C. Contingent Personal Property Removal (up to 24 hours maximum): Immediate removal of an individual's personal belongings contingent on the occurrence of a targeted behavior. Confiscated property will be held in a secure area and will be returned to the individual's room or individual directly, as appropriate. This procedure is considered Category II if the individual voluntarily (without duress or coercion) surrenders the property upon request.

Category III:

Category III procedures may only be used as part of a formal behavior program designed by the individual's IDT, written by a licensed psychological professional, and approved by a licensed psychologist, physician, other professionals, as indicated by the nature of the program, Human Rights Committee, and the facility administrator. Behavior program approval will include receipt of a signed consent from the individual and/or guardian. The individual's record documents the IDT's conclusion that the potential harmful effects of each restrictive procedure (restraint, etc.) are clearly outweighed by the harmful effects of the targeted behavior.

Policy Type	Subject of Policy	Policy No.
Service	Behavior Management	3011-D

A. Separation Time Out (Activity or Setting): Placement of an individual in a quiet area away from reinforcing activities or persons as a result of an inappropriate behavior occurring. The individual will be visually monitored during the time out. Further conditions include either:

1) Separation lasting for over 30 minutes to one (1) hour maximum.

2) Separation (any length of time) requiring physical intervention/personal restraint to ensure compliance.

B. Contingent Personal Property Removal (up to 24 hours maximum): Immediate removal of an individual's personal belongings contingent on the occurrence of a targeted behavior. Confiscated property will be held in a secure area and will be returned to the individual's room or to the individual directly, as appropriate. This procedure is considered Category III if the individual does not voluntarily surrender the property upon request, and it must be physically removed.

C. Sensory Deprivation: Involves the temporary impeding of one of the individual's senses for a period of time, contingent upon the occurrence of the target behavior. Most often, this procedure includes only the use of a blindfold or cloth placed over the individual's eyes when it has been shown to facilitate calming. The individual must be visually supervised during the use of this procedure, which may be used in combination with other Category III procedures, as designated in the individual program. It could also include lessening auditory input by covering the individual's ears, or covering a body part (usually the hands) to limit tactile stimulation, hand in mouth, or biting.

D. Restraint: When utilizing restraint as a programmatic option, a hierarchy of lesser restrictive procedures will be attempted prior to restraint, except in limited cases where this is clearly clinically contraindicated. IDT consideration will be given to parent/guardian notification of the use of restraint and address it in the behavior program.

1) Personal Restraint: In order to prevent personal injury or serious property damage, the individual or a portion of an individual's body is immobilized by another person or persons in order to prevent personal injury or serious property damage. Approved methods of intervention must be in the individual's behavior program. This is planned personal restraint, contingent upon occurrence of a target behavior. When available, a licensed nurse should monitor the personal restraint and/or check the individual's physical condition as soon as possible following restraint.

Excluded as personal restraint are: physical assistance, prompting of graduated physical guidance to assist individuals during such procedures as toothbrushing and feeding, or to control random head or arm movements during such procedures as haircutting, or the use of physical assistance in escorting, redirecting, or in manual guidance techniques are not considered personal restraint and do not require documentation as personal restraint. Also excluded as programmed personal restraint is the use of personal restraint in an emergency situation (Section 6, Page 8 of 9*) or during a necessary medical or dental procedure.

In the event of personal restraint, the QMRP/designee of the area must be notified as soon as possible. Programmed personal restraint will occur until the individual is calm and will not exceed fifteen (15) minutes. The IDT will define what constitutes calm behavior for this individual when used in a behavior program.

2) Mechanical Restraint: In order to prevent personal injury or serious property damage, the individual or a portion of the individual's body is immobilized until calm by an approved device or devices which may also prevent normal functioning, as described in section C, above. Restraints must be checked for safety and integrity prior to use. The device's use will not exceed 15 minutes without an extension of time approved and documented by the QMRP/designee, preferably, after face-to-face attention. Unless otherwise determined by the IDT, QMRP/designee extensions will be obtained every 15 minutes until the individual is calm. The IDT should define what constitutes calm behavior for this individual when used in a behavior program. Unless determined clinically contraindicated by the QMRP/designee, should the time in restraint reach 55 minutes, the individual must be released for five minutes for motion, liquid intake, or toileting.

Should time in restraint reach 1 hour and 50 minutes, the individual must be released for at least 10 minutes–for motion, liquid intake, or toileting. If this 10-minute release is judged to be a danger to the individual and/others, additional staff should be called to ensure safety for all concerned. In addition, the individual will be checked, face to face, at least every 15 minutes for safety, well being, and integrity of the restraint. Constant observation is required.

Note: On-site monitoring by the QMRP/designee is recommended. When available, a licensed nurse should monitor the mechanical restraint. If unavailable to monitor, a licensed nurse shall check the individual's physical condition as soon as possible following restraint, but in no case later than thirty minutes after the initiation of the restraint.

Excluded as programmed mechanical restraint is the use of restraints in an emergency situation (Section 6, Page 8 of 9), during a necessary medical or dental procedure, or to promote healing following a medical procedure or injury. Devices such as a helmet which are not prescribed for the purpose of restricting an individual's movement and/or normal functioning, but rather for their safety and protection are not considered a mechanical restraint.

Note: For medical management, please refer to local site Policy on drugs to manage behavior (Behavior Management/Psychiatric Interventions).

5. Conditions for Use of Behavior Programs.

A. A formal behavior program will be developed by the IDT, written by a licensed psychological professional, and approved by a psychologist. It will include the following elements:

1) Description of the behavior to be modified;
2) Functional Analysis;
3) Thorough description of each step of the program to include duration and intensity of specific procedures, the methods of monitoring and analyzing the process, and special precautions that will be taken;
4) Description of any alternatives to the specific procedures;

B. The Individual Program Plan or behavior program will include:
1) Description of all procedures already attempted;
2) Side effects and risks, if any, of the intervention, in comparison with those of allowing the maladaptive behavior to continue; and
3) Behavioral objectives.

C. Behavior Management Procedures should be used in order of least restrictive, unless clinically contraindicated. Exceptions to this order must be fully documented and substantiated as to why more restrictive procedures are advisable before less restrictive ones.

D. All persons administering Category II and III procedures must have been trained in the administration of those specific procedures and have personally experienced those particular procedures, unless medically contraindicated for that person.

E. The Human Rights Committee will review all Category II and III programs at least every 6 months.

F. IDT consideration will be given to seeking consultation from outside expertise when IDT staff resources have been exhausted, as evidenced by the use of Category III procedures for over one (1) year without significant progress. If an outside consultant has been used without success, the agency should continue to access this or other outside expertise until an effective strategy is realized.

An outside consultant is defined as a professional of any discipline and who is not a member of the IDT. For instance, the outside consultant may be a member of the HDC staff not on the identified IDT, the agency staff, or a professional not affiliated with the agency.

6. Emergency Procedures. Nothing in this policy prohibits the use of emergency restraint (mechanical or personal), confiscation of any item used in a threatening manner, or removal from the environment for the purpose of protecting the individual and others around him/her. This includes the use of restraint procedures in the course of an established program, when the individual becomes a danger to him/herself or others, prior to staff being able to implement a lesser restrictive hierarchy. However, it is emphasized that emergency procedures may not be used at frequent intervals, becoming a routine method of intervention. If emergency procedures are utilized three times in a six-month period, the IDT will meet to conduct a functional analysis and develop an appropriate plan of action. The emergency use of restraint must conform to ICF/MR regulations and must be reported immediately to the facility administrator or designee.

7. Prohibitions: These activities are expressly prohibited.

   A. Corporal punishment - refers to the application of painful stimuli to the body as a penalty for certain behavior, and includes, but is not limited to, hitting, pinching, the use of electrical shock or other infliction of pain, whether or not applied as part of a systematic behavior intervention program.

   B. Individuals who receive services from the agency disciplining other individuals unless involved in an organized and approved self-governing program. Individuals will not participate in the actual administration of discipline.

   C. Seclusion of an individual alone in a room or other area from which entry/exit is prevented. This does not include placement in a time-out area for brief, programmed time segments, as part of a behavior program that meets all applicable standards.

   D. Unless specifically requested by family/guardian, any procedure that denies visitation or communication with family members.

   E. Any procedure that denies sleep, shelter, bedding, food, drink, or use of bathroom facilities.

   F. Inappropriate vocalizations, maltreatment, neglect, or forced exercise.

8. Informed Consent. The individual served and/or guardian, as appropriate, will be provided a copy of the behavior program which utilizes Category II and III procedures. Informed consent will be obtained PRIOR to the implementation of the program, with the following procedures:

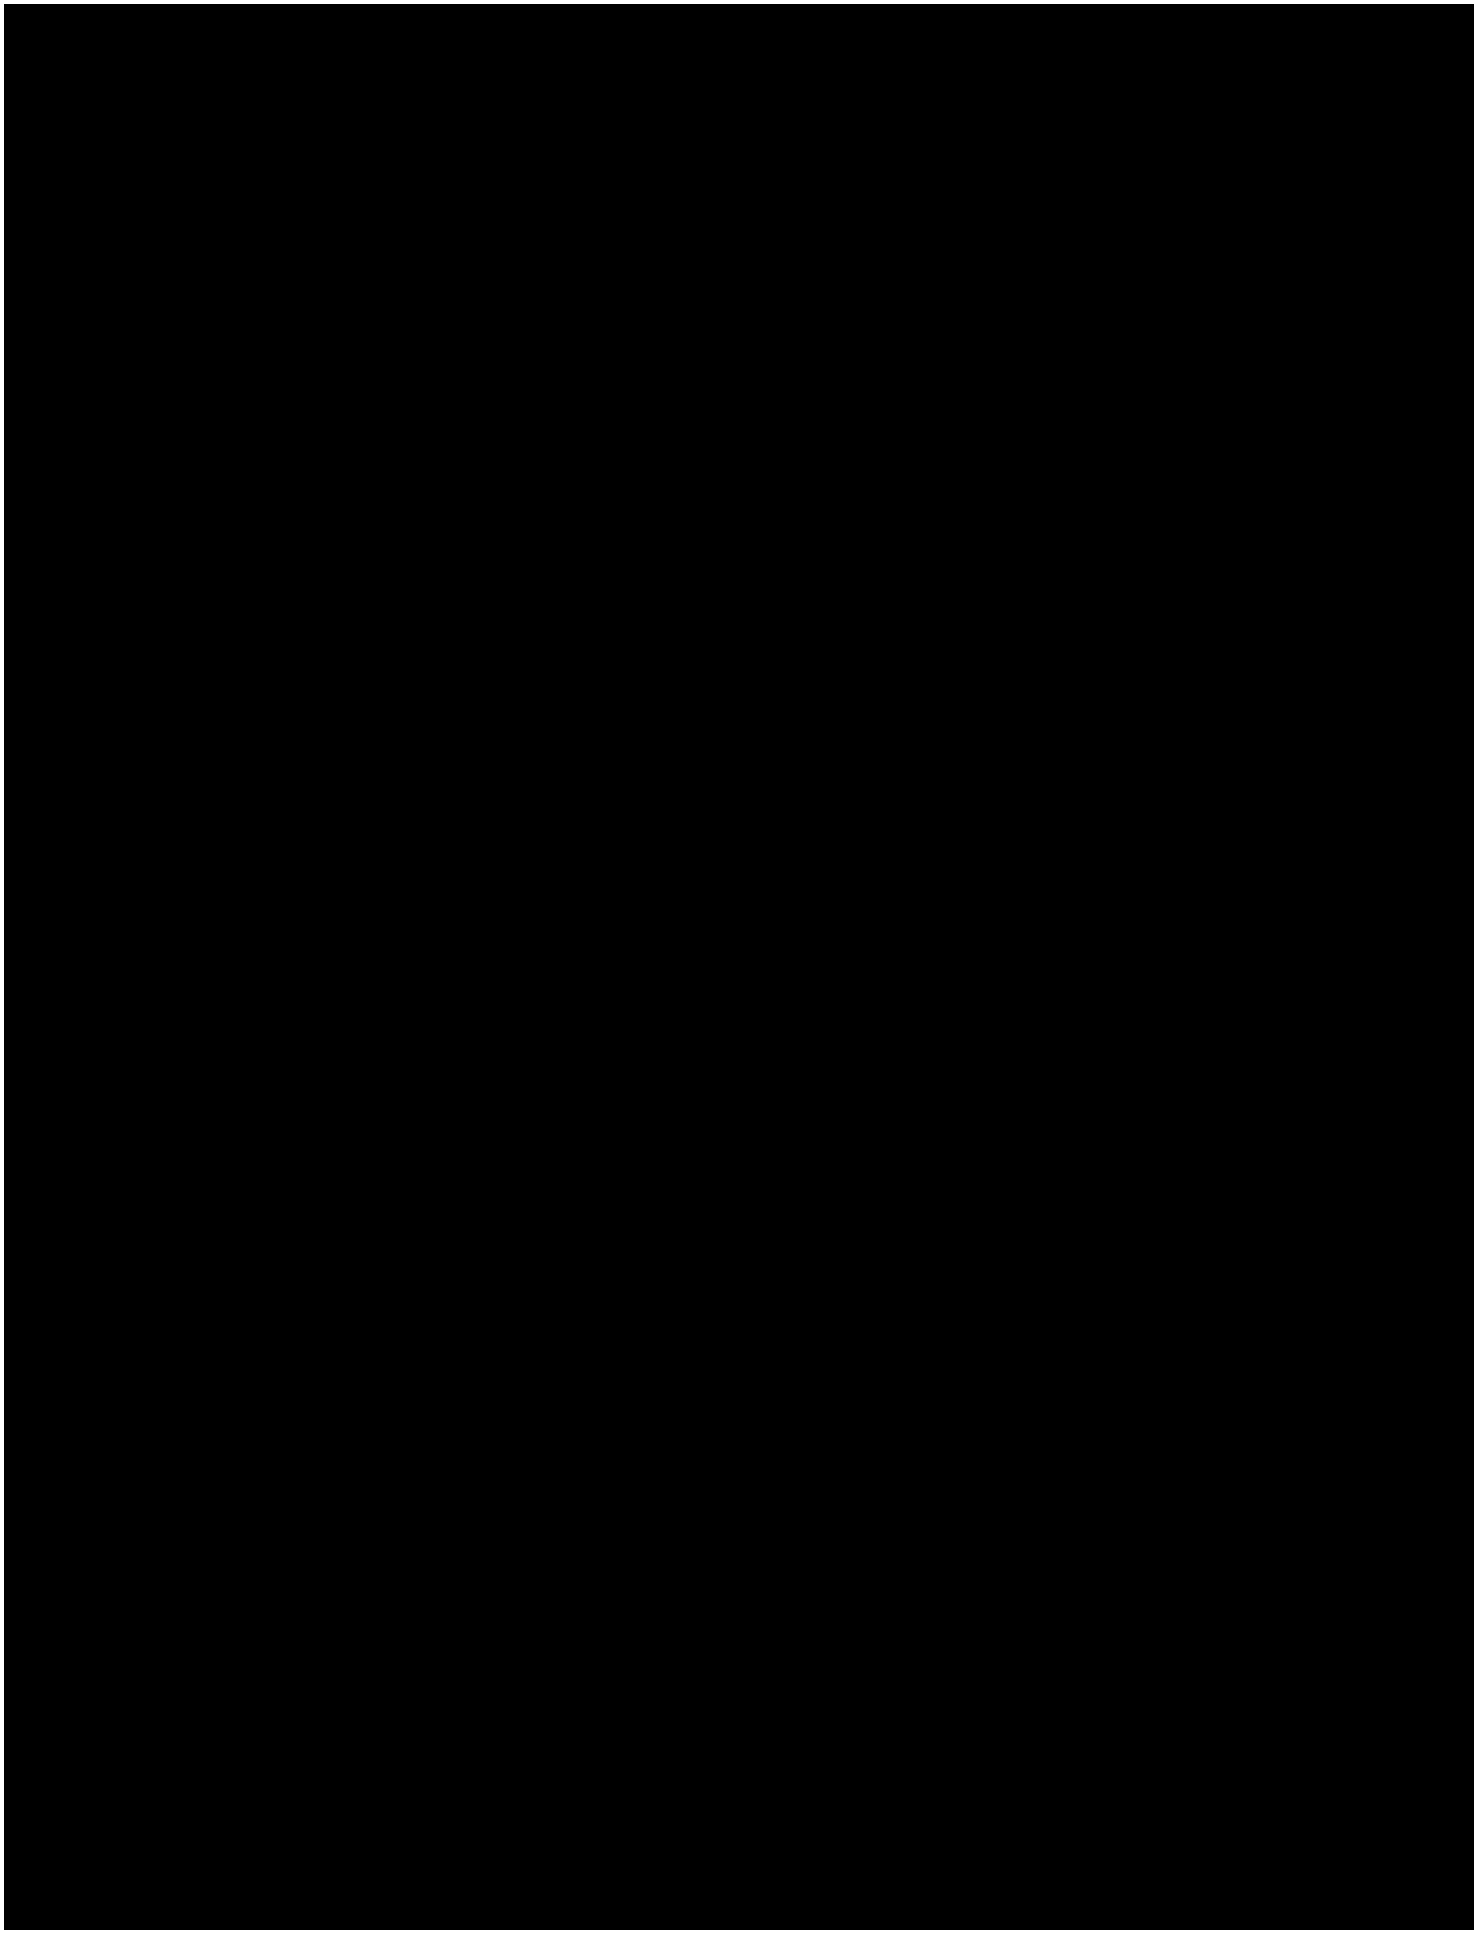
Policy Type	Subject of Policy	Policy No.
Service	Behavior Management	3011-D

A. Persons 18 years of age or older who have no legally appointed guardian may give informed consent for their behavior program. If there is a question about the individual's ability to give informed consent and no guardian can be located, appropriate legal action must be pursued to have someone appointed who can give consent.

B. Consent by the legal guardian(s) is required if guardianship has been established.

C. The legally adequate consent will:
1) Specify, in terms that are easily understood, the restrictive or intrusive procedure(s) involved;
2) Inform the person(s) giving consent of any potentially harmful effects of the procedure(s);
3) Be time-limited, not to exceed one year; and
4) State that consent may be withdrawn at any time.

9. Uncategorized Procedures. In the event a proposed procedure does not readily fit in one of the prescribed categories, it may be utilized on an emergency basis, if necessary, at the discretion of the administrator or designee until the appropriate category is determined.



NOTE: Behavior Management Policy 3011-D does not preclude the use of other restrictive/intrusive procedures that would prevent serious bodily harm and/or destruction of property or death. These procedures can only be considered when lesser restrictive procedures have been proven ineffective or their implementation are determined to be clinically contraindicated. Approvals required are the same as those for Category III procedures. Additional approvals may be required as deemed necessary by the facility administrator.

DOCUMENTATION OF AND RESPONSE TO MALADAPTIVE BEHAVIORS

POLICY STATEMENT: Maladaptive behaviors must be documented on a Behavior Report (BR), a Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint (also called the Restraint Log), or other authorized data keeping device. Personal or mechanical restraint for maladaptive behaviors is to be used only as an emergency measure. Maladaptive behaviors include, but are not limited to, behaviors that result in, or have the potential to result in, injury to self or others, or the destruction of property. Nothing in this policy removes or alters requirements as stated in other policies of verbal notification of incidents to the Superintendent and/or other staff.

PROCEDURES:

1. REQUIRED DOCUMENTATION

   a. When indicated, a BR must be completed following the maladaptive behavior. Incidents that are to be documented on the BR are the following:

      i. Behaviors that pose a threat to the physical or mental well being of the client or others.
      ii. Behaviors that have a direct negative impact on the client's programming.
      iii. Behaviors that directly contribute to the client remaining in a setting requiring a greater degree of supervision rather than a less restrictive one.
      iv. Target Behaviors identified by the Psychology Department and the Interdisciplinary Team.
      v. An incident requiring personal restraint (also requires notification of a QIDP). See Attachment #1.

   b. If the incident requires emergency mechanical restraint, a Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint must be completed. Such behaviors are defined as those emergency situations in which behaviors may result in, or have the potential to result in, injury to self or others, or the destruction of property and cannot be controlled through the use of less restrictive measures.

   c. The rules of confidentiality will be followed when documenting these incidents. Any reference to a client other than the identified client in an incident report must be by initial only. Reference to other staff members involved will include their full name and title. All corrections must be made by a single line through the incorrect entry and the writer's initials. The Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint must include the signature of the QIDP or other staff member authorizing the restraint.

2. EMERGENCY USE OF RESTRAINT

   a. Emergency restraint is defined as the use of the least restrictive procedure and for the least time necessary to control severely aggressive or destructive behaviors. The use of emergency restraint will comply with all relevant standards and regulations. Restraint will not be used as punishment or for the convenience of staff in lieu of adequate programming.

b. Seclusion will not be used as either an emergency or programmatic procedure.

c. A QIDP must be notified when personal restraint is used and it must be documented on a Behavior Report.

d. Personal restraint of a client is used when the behavior is such that verbal control has been lost and other less restrictive measures have failed to control the behavior.

e. Personal restraint will be implemented by staff who have been trained in the use of approved methods. Personal restraint must not exceed 10 minutes. During the period of personal restraint if the client becomes calm no further restraint procedures are to be implemented. If the client shows no indication of calming and becomes violent, staff will proceed as indicated in Paragraph f. below.

f. The request for the emergency use of mechanical restraint will be based on need as exhibited by the client who is so aggressive that restraint is necessary to prevent imminent physical harm to themselves, others, or property. Mechanical restraint may be used only when all other means of controlling the behavior have been exhausted. Staff will proceed in the following manner:

   i. A Restraint Incident Leader will be identified. The attending staff will immediately implement emergency mechanical restraint. As soon as possible staff will notify the on duty Program Supervisor who will contact a QIDP or other authorized staff for authorization for the use of emergency mechanical restraint.
   ii. The authorization for the mechanical restraints must not exceed 15 minutes. Continued use of mechanical restraint must be re-authorized every 15 minutes.
   iii. Immediately after emergency mechanical restraint has been applied, staff must contact the nurse on duty. The nurse will examine the client to ensure the restraint is applied in a pain free and harmless manner and present no physical danger to the client. The nurse will make a notation of the examination on the Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint.
   iv. A client in emergency mechanical restraint must be:

      1. Kept under constant visual observation. This observation will be for the client's physical condition (e.g., distressed breathing, bleeding, adequate blood flow to the head and extremities) as well as for signs of calming.
      2. Checked for security of restraint, current behavior and general status. A synopsis will be documented every 15 minutes.
      3. Released for 5 minutes every hour for motion and exercise.
      4. Given the opportunity for fluid intake, meals, baths and toileting. These needs will be addressed and documented as the need arises.

5. Released from emergency mechanical restraint as soon as possible. This is defined to mean as soon as the client is calm and no longer a danger to self or others. Verbal outbursts do not necessarily mean a person is still out of control or that restraint should continue.

v. After release from emergency mechanical restraint, using the Restraint Incident Debriefing Form, the Restraint Incident Leader will conduct and document a debriefing discussion with the other staff members involved in the restraint and the client that must include the following:

1. The behavior which resulted in the use of the personal or emergency mechanical restraint.
2. Any environmental factors involved in the incident.
3. The antecedents to the behavior including interactions with peers or staff
4. Any action by staff that might have kept the incident from escalating to restraint.
5. The client's reaction to the use of restraint.
6. Any changes to the client's programming which might have prevented the incident.
7. Options that the client could have used to avoid the use of restraint.

3. COMPLETION OF DOCUMENTATION

a. The person authorizing the use of emergency mechanical restraint must sign the authorization. During deviant hours authorization may be obtained by telephone. Attending staff will note on the Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint that such authorization was obtained by telephone.

b. The on duty Program Supervisor will be responsible for ensuring that the appropriate reports are completed in a timely and accurate manner.

c. Completed Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint and Restraint Incident Debriefing Form will be filed in the client's Master File "Behavior Incident File".

4. REVIEW AND DISTRIBUTION OF THE COMPLETED DOCUMENTS

a. Upon completion of the report it will be sent to the appropriate Team Office.

b. The Team Leader will review all reports for content, accuracy and appropriateness and sign in the appropriate place. If corrections are required the Team Leader will contact the writer of the report and ensure corrections are made. As soon as possible the report will be given to Quality Assurance to be scanned, copied, and distributed to appropriate staff. The original report will be sent to the Record Center Operator and filed in each client's file within five days.

c. The Record Center Operator will review Behavior Report, Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint, and Restraint Incident Debriefing Form for completeness and errors. The originator will be notified to correct errors found by the Record Center Operator.

d. The QIDP and Psychology staff member will review copies of all reports for programmatic issues, patterns of use, and the appropriate follow-up.

e. The authorized data keeping device (i.e., Behavior Report, Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint, and Restraint Incident Debriefing Form) will be forwarded to the Psychology Department depending on the program requirement.

5. FUNCTIONAL AND ENVIRONMENTAL ANALYSES OF BEHAVIORS

a. The purposes of conducting functional and environmental analyses are to determine:

1. The pragmatic utility of a behavior for a client, i.e., what the behavior "does" for the client.
2. What role the environment may have played in the causation of the behavior.

These analyses assume aberrant behavior does serve a functional purpose, but that a functionally equivalent (appropriate) communicative response can be taught, and will serve to substitute for the aberrant behavior. Further, the aberrant behavior will reduce in frequency as the more appropriate response becomes systematically reinforced.

b. These analyses will provide the data needed to formulate programmatic responses to teach and reinforce appropriate behaviors to replace aberrant behaviors and inappropriate behaviors.

6. APPROVED RESTRAINT PROCEDURES, TECHNIQUES, AND DEVICES

a. Personal Restraint, an emergency procedure limiting movement by the holding of a hand or limb.

b. Chemical Intervention ordered by the Physician.

c. Protective Helmet.

d. Papoose Board, a Mechanical Restraint device limiting movement and range of motion.

f. Wrist Restraint, a Mechanical Restraint device limiting movement and range of motion.

7. AT BHDC ONLY ICF/IID QUALIFIED QIDP's SHALL BE APPROVED TO AUTHORIZE THE USE OF RESTRAINT

The Program Coordinator/QIDP is the first choice person to authorize restraint for clients on their caseload. After hours and on weekends the Team Leaders or other qualified QIDPs may be notified.

The following positions are recognized as being qualified QIDPs:

Program Coordinators/QIDPS, Team Leaders, Director of Residential Services, Superintendent, Assistant Superintendent, Director of Quality Assurance; Chief Psychologist, Psychological Examiners, Registered Nurses, and Staff Physician.

Current work telephone numbers for these persons can be obtained from DHS/BHDC Share.

THE STAFF PHYSICIAN MUST REVIEW, BY SIGNATURE, THE USE OF ALL EMERGENCY MECHANICAL RESTRAINT.

Disability Rights Arkansas

Dignity. Respect. Advocacy.

Tom Masseau, Executive Director

October 22, 2020

Director Melissa Stone
Division of Developmental Disabilities
Arkansas Department of Human Services
700 Main Street
Little Rock, AR 72203-1437

Director Stone:

Disability Rights Arkansas (DRA) is the designated federal Protection and Advocacy System ("P&A") for individuals with disabilities in Arkansas. One of DRA's core functions is to investigate the deaths of persons with developmental disabilities in facilities that provide services to people with developmental disabilities. DRA has authority under federal law to thoroughly investigate deaths occurring in any public or private entity that provides care, services, treatment, or habilitation to individuals with disabilities.

As you are aware, resident David Cains of Booneville Human Development Center (BHDC) died on June 13, 2020. His death occurred while three BHDC staff restrained David on the floor outside of the cafeteria. David's family contacted DRA and requested we investigate his death and the circumstances surrounding it.

DRA completed an extensive investigation into David's death. Our investigation involved reviewing the Adult Maltreatment Investigation Report, all witness statements, the DPSQA Complaint Investigation Report, the EMS report, hospital records, and the Coroner's report. Our office interviewed BHDC staff, including Tyler Mattson, Amy (Mandy) Jones, and Ryann Campos, the individuals who restrained David; Sandy Evans, the Adult Maltreatment Investigator; Jeff Gonyea, the Superintendent; and Mark Hines the NCI instructor. Our office also interviewed the Emergency Medical Services provider, Samuel Scow, who provided emergency services that day, as well as Michael Chrisman, the Deputy Coroner who was assigned to David's case.

Summary

David Cains was 42 years old, [redacted]

According to the BHDC Staff written statements and interviews with DRA staff:

On June 13, 2020, David ate his lunch in the cafeteria at the Commons Building. After finishing his meal, David put his tray away, asked to go to the restroom, and was accompanied to do so by Tyler. According to Tyler, David seemed irritated, asked to sit in the lobby to calm down after exiting the restroom, and then began screaming, ripping paper off the wall, and attempting to hit Tyler.

Tyler stated that he, "applied personals[1] by grabbing [David's] arms and ended up falling over."[2] David landed on his face and Tyler then rolled him to his side.[3] Tyler believes that this restraint began at 11:30 a.m., although all times are estimates as there are not any visible clocks in the area where the restraint occurred, according to all staff interviewed. Mandy Jones arrived shortly after David was brought to the ground and assisted in the restraint. According to all written witness statements, David was resisting the restraint at that time. Ryann Campos arrived sometime later and began holding David's legs. Within seconds of arriving Ryann noticed that David had defecated on himself and she

From EMS Report and BHDC Staff written statements:

[redacted]

This entire event took place on the floor while three people were holding David by his legs, torso, and head. A fact that was omitted in reports to EMS, the hospital, the Coroner, and the family.

During our investigation, we noted several unresolved discrepancies between written statements, subsequent interviews, and investigative conclusions:

1) There is not a consensus between the employees involved regarding the positioning and actions of each employee, information pertinent to identifying not only potential wrongdoing, but also possible missteps to be avoided in the future.

[7] BHDC Policy IV-B-10 states that on-site medical should be the first call and that "medical will assess the situation and call an ambulance if appropriate." All persons interviewed, including Superintendent Gonyea, interpreted the policy to prohibit non-medical staff from calling 911 in response to a medical emergency and confirmed that as the BHDC practice.

a. Ryann's written statement and subsequent interview by DRA staff were consistent with one another. She states that when she arrived David was on the ground on his left side, Tyler was on his knees facing David and holding his wrists, and David's hands were by his sides. Mandy "came to assist to position David's head so he wouldn't spit"[11] and then Ryann attempted to assist by holding David's ankles when he began to kick.

b. Mandy stated that when she arrived, "David was on his left side with his arms held up with his elbows bent slightly."[12] She states she assisted by holding David's hands so that he could not strike Tyler, who was positioned behind David. Mandy denied ever holding David's head during the restraint.

c. According to Tyler's written statement he was "squatted over him, not putting [his] weight on him during any of this, holding his shoulder and sides,"[13] Mandy assisted by "grabbing his hands," and Ryann held his legs down. During our interview, Tyler deviated from his written statement, stating "she [Mandy] was on his side behind him, holding his head on the side, keeping close to ground but not pushing on it"[14] because David was trying to bite. He also clarified his positioning as being behind David, who was laying on his left side and "spread out T-style"[15] with his left arm on the ground. Tyler was holding his right arm (not Mandy) and trying to get it to the ground. David's arms were never above his head.

d. Adult Maltreatment Investigation Report #5-2020, completed by Sandy Evans, fails to resolve discrepancies regarding the placement of David's hands and whether a staff member was holding his head in place during the restraint.

e. Cameras at the facility would have been immeasurably helpful in resolving the discrepancies and ultimately understanding the circumstances surrounding David's death.

2) A timeline of events included in two separate documents we received completely omits any reference to a restraint having occurred.

a. The DHS Incident Report includes a timeline of events provided by Stacy Weinbrenner, RN/DON, who does not appear to have been at the scene of the incident at any time.

i. [redacted]

1. Tyler and Mandy's written statements and interviews with DRA indicate that Mandy did not arrive until Mr. Cains was already on the ground and being restrained by Tyler, in conflict with the assertion here.
2. There is no evidence of either staff member attempting to "settle" David.

b. A similar statement is included in a "Timeline of Events" that appears to be a word document included in David's medical file. The statement is not attributed to anyone in this document.

The same misinformation was passed on to the investigating coroner, Deputy Coroner Michael Chrisman, leading him to list the cause of death as respiratory arrest, due to food aspiration, and cardiac arrest. Mr. Chrisman stated:

[redacted]

When our office interviewed Mr. Chrisman, he stated he had no knowledge that David was restrained prior to or during this incident. He confirmed that his office would have further investigated had they received that information and would likely have requested an autopsy.

When BHDC staff contacted David's mother, they told her that David choked on his lunch and that the family would need to contact the hospital for any additional information. When the family called Mercy Hospital, they were informed David was deceased. David's family did not find out about the personal restraint until June 22nd – nine days after David passed away and three days after David's funeral. By the time the family learned of the circumstances surrounding his death it was too late for them to request an autopsy.

This was a tragic event. Any time an individual passes away while in the custody and care of the state a meaningful, critical evaluation of the policies and practices that led to that incident should be required. In this case, that evaluation included: (1) an investigation by an individual who is employed by the BHDC, working alongside those who she is charged to investigate; (2) a review and endorsement of that investigation by the superintendent who hired or who is ultimately responsible for the actions of those employees investigated; (3) the suppression or omission of relevant, if not crucial facts from agencies who would further investigate the circumstances of this gentleman's death.

The BHDC review of this death, endorsed by Superintendent Gonyea, concluded that no individual involved in this incident did anything wrong; therefore, nothing could have been done differently to prevent it and nothing can be learned from it. To date, we have not been informed whether BHDC has reviewed or revised their restraint policies or practices following this event.

At some time after the internal investigation concluded the Division of Provider Services and Quality Assurance (DPSQA) investigated David's death and the circumstances surrounding it. Very little information could be gleaned from the DPSQA Complaint Investigation Report reviewed by DRA. Despite the ability to attach narratives of staff interviews, none were found or made available upon our request. Ultimately, the DPSQA investigation concluded similarly to the internal investigation conducted by BHDC with no description of the events or statements from witnesses.

Practice of Restraints at BHDC

In 2012, DDS retained H&W Independent Solutions, who are self-described "skilled trainers and workshop facilitators on a wide range of topics pertinent to organizations supporting people with disabilities." In April of 2012, BHDC participated in a training survey with H&W to evaluate and improve the quality of care to the residents. During the evaluation of BHDC, H&W found that significant improvement was needed due to, in part, the BHDC staff's reliance on emergency restraint.

Nearly four years later, in January 2016, our office issued a report regarding the use of restraint at BHDC. We warned that risks associated with restraint include physical injuries, significant trauma, and death. We pointed out that the overuse of restraint could cause physical and emotional trauma to both the residents and the staff at BHDC. We recommended that BHDC retain an independent expert to implement evidence-based alternatives aimed to reduce or eliminate the use of restraint at BHDC.

NCI/CPI trains staff to respond to crisis by intervening in non-violent ways to prevent escalation and offers programs to certify staff in this skill. At the same time BHDC certifies its staff in the use of NCI/CPI, BHDC also trains its staff to restrain residents using methods that require no certification, are not evidence-based, and, when practiced, conflict with NCI/CPI training. It is concerning that BHDC staff are then left to choose between non-violent crisis intervention and physically/emotionally traumatizing physical restraint.

Findings

- [redacted]
- Instead of releasing David when he was lying down on the floor, David was restrained on the hard floor by three BHDC staff after finishing his lunch.
- Prior to the restraint, Staff failed to use other less intrusive interventions such as NCI/CPI, for which they are trained.
- Staff failed to leave him on the floor, unrestrained, until he was calm.
- [redacted]
- This restraint likely either directly or indirectly led to David's death.
- The facility failed to properly communicate the circumstances of this incident to EMS.
- We found no evidence that the facility properly communicated the circumstances of this incident to the Arkansas State Police, the Logan County Sheriff's Office, or any other law enforcement agency.

- BHDC's investigation failed to resolve discrepancies in statements from witnesses.
- It is not the policy or practice of BHDC to permit direct care staff to call 911 in an emergency.
- NCI/CPI does not endorse or instruct any maneuver that involves physically restraining an individual on the floor.
- During interviews, BHDC direct care staff reported that they, "take people to the floor often."
- BHDC could not articulate what kind of "restraint technique" is being taught to staff.
- The conclusion from Superintendent Gonyea failed to find that anyone violated any policy or procedure and inexplicably failed to find that any policy or procedure might need review or modification.
- No corrective actions were made or recommended by BHDC or DHS - Division of Provider Services and Quality Assurance.
- BHDC failed to adequately inform David's family of the circumstances surrounding his death.

Recommendations

1. Install video cameras on campus. Video cameras on campus would greatly assist investigators in determining whether maltreatment has occurred. Presently, we have differing statements from individuals regarding a restraint on the floor that led to an individual's death.
2. Retrain all staff in NCI/CPI. NCI/CPI does not endorse the use of restraint while an individual is lying down on the floor. The very fact that NCI/CPI is touted as the intervention strategy implemented by BHDC, and yet this individual was restrained on the floor long enough to aspirate and die means that NCI/CPI was either ignored or forgotten.
3. Reevaluate the use of restraint in all forms and employ evidence-based, nonviolent methods of crisis intervention. A greater problem that exists is the overall reliance on restraint at BHDC. It is a culture of compliance that we see often in prisons. When individuals are not compliant, they are made to comply. If DHS does not address restraint and physical, mechanical, and chemical intervention as a system-wide problem, the culture cannot be meaningfully changed. Further, the physical restraints BHDC employs are not based on any professional training or sanctioned method.
4. Clarify or Modify policy to permit staff to contact 911 in response to emergency medical situations. Staff must have permission to identify and respond in an emergency. BHDC is a large campus in a rural area of the state. While it is comforting that nursing staff is available to respond to medical issues, the current policy forces staff to ignore what many first aid/CPR certification programs insist is the first step in responding to a crisis – calling 911.
5. Engage qualified, independent investigators to complete thorough, meaningful investigations on ALL deaths.

a. Utilize investigators that are completely independent of the Human Development Centers they investigate. While it is important that BHDC review incidents internally for quality improvement and staff oversight, there must be a truly independent investigation by a disinterested third party. At one time, DDS employed an attorney whose role was to investigate deaths at any HDC. We are unaware whether or why such a position no longer exists. Anyone DDS authorizes to investigate serious incidents should have no connection to the Human Development Centers they investigate. Investigators should be informed regarding the requesting of an autopsy and empowered to make such a request when warranted.

b. Ensure all investigations are reflective of the gravity of the circumstances investigated. Death investigations must be both thorough and critical. Investigations that lack specificity in their investigative processes and findings, do not include interviews of all involved parties, and by design can only substantiate maltreatment or declare nothing could have been done differently undermine confidence in the process. When a family is left to gradually learn new information regarding the death of their loved one, including that the coroner was not accurately informed of the circumstances surrounding the death, what else are they to be left with other than suspicion and anger? Instead, the trauma surrounding the death is amplified and revisited with each new fact they learn. That is not closure; that is not justice.

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Hi, Ms. Campos. How are you?

A Hello. Good morning. I'm doing good.

Q Good. Thanks for being here.

I know you got served with a subpoena. But, for some reason, they didn't serve you with your witness fee check at the same time.

A Right.

Q So our office mailed you a check for -- it's $35 for your appearance here today; which is the statutory amount that witnesses get when they're subpoenaed to a deposition.

So you should be receiving that today or tomorrow. I think it was mailed --

A I have to pay that or --

Q No, you get it.

A Oh.

Q It's for you.

A Okay. Well, thank you.

Q Yeah. It's for you.
Now, if you had come to Little Rock, I would have had to pay you a lot more --
A Uh-huh.
Q -- because I would have to pay for your mileage as well.
A Yeah.
Q And I think 35 is low. If it was up to me, it would be -- they need to bump that up. But --
A Ha.
Q Anyway, so you're in Fayetteville; is that right? Or Rogers?
A Fayetteville.
Q Fayetteville. Okay.
A Uh-huh.
Q Well, thank you for being here. And your name --
A You're welcome.
Q And your name is Ryann Campos?
A Ryann.
Q Ryann, I'm sorry.
A Yes. No, you're good.
Q All right. How old are you, Ryann?
A I just turned [redacted]
Q Okay. All right. I wanted to start by asking you, what all you -- what documents did you look at today to prepare?

A Well, documents wise, I haven't seen a document in three years or two, so --
Q And you don't have anything in front of you there? You don't have any documents with you that you're using --
A No.
Q -- or notes?
A No.
Q Okay.
A This is all off the top of my head.
Q That's fine. I know it's been a couple years.
Have you spoken with anybody in preparation for this today?
A No.
Q Have you ever spoken with Mr. Collins?
A No.
Q Okay. This other attorney right here, you've never spoken with him?
A And might have in the past, like when I was working for BHDC, but my memory -- I don't. . .
Q Okay --
A I --
Q But not in preparation for today's deposition?
A Correct.

Q Okay. And you've not seen any deposition transcripts from this case?
A The only paperwork I've received was the date and time that I had to be in Little Rock.
Q Okay. Okay. Good deal. Good deal.
When did you leave BHDC?
A Oh, goodness. It was 2019 or 2020.
Q Okay. Well --
A Because --
Q -- this incident happened in June of 2020. So I --
A Okay. Then yeah.
Q Do you know about when in -- I think your personnel file says that you left because of bedbugs.
A Yes. That place was infested.
Q Okay. So it was bedbugs at BHDC?
A Yeah.
Q Tell me --
A I can't believe they showed y'all that.
Q Tell me about that.
A It should -- I -- I haven't been there since then, so it could be better. I know they were remodeling and rebuilding.
But I was currently working at Davidson house.
Q Uh-huh.
A And we had -- multiple times, me and my other co-workers had to go in and just pack everything up, throw it through the washer and dryer. Keep it all together until, you know, everything was gone.

But, obviously, not all of the bedbugs were gone. We were finding them in the aid stations, in the TV room. Like it was so bad that I brought them home to my home. And I'm a clean freak, like everything is spotless. And --

Q Yeah.

A I was devastated. I mean, I felt the nastiest I've ever felt when that happened.

And, after that happened, I was like, nope, I'm leaving.

Q Oh, my gosh. Wow.

A Because I had to spend over $1,000 just to heat treat my unit, my apartment, so --

Q Because you brought -- they were so bad at Davidson house. That you brought them home with you?

A Yes. Yeah.

Q I think David Cains lived in Davidson house, didn't he?

A Correct.

Q And did his room have bedbugs?

A He was downstairs and I worked upstairs. So --

Q So he --

A I didn't really work with him much.

The only time I seen David was in the interaction of going to lunch or vice versa.

Q Okay. And did you become a -- you started there as a --

A Residential technician.

Q Residential tech? And then would that be an RTA? And then, after six months, you became a residential tech, whatever the next level is?

A Yeah.

Q RCT?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Started as an RCA and then you became you a -- you made it through Phase Two and got your RCT?

A Correct.

Q Okay. And did I see that you have multiple family members that worked there as well or that do work there still?

A No. I only had -- my cousin's wife was the only one that worked there.

Q Okay. I saw, not in your personnel file, but just in other -- well, no, I guess it was in your personnel file. But Bernice Campos and a Carly Campos.

A Oh, no, they never worked there. That's my sister and my mom.

Q Oh, so were those like letters of recommendation?
A Yeah.
Q Okay. Obviously, I didn't read that very closely, did I?
A It's okay.
Q That's all right.
A No, I would never let them work there.
Q Okay.
A Crazy.
Q Well, why wouldn't you let them work there?
A I don't know. At one -- it just wasn't their type of field history.

Like my mom's a dental hygienist. My sister's a CNA. And she has a heart. She's real soft spoken and that would just probably intimidate her --

Q Yeah.
A -- working there.
Q Other than the bedbugs, were there other things about that job that kind of got to you after a while?
A No. I mean, everything was good. It was just the bugs. Like --
Q It was just the bugs.
A -- nobody wants to bring home bedbugs.

And they did -- even if you did catch them, there was no helping you get through that situation. And I've never had them in my life and it was just gross --

Q Did you --
A -- so I was like --
Q Did you complain to your supervisors or a supervisor?
A Oh, yeah. Everybody knew about it. Everybody on that hill knew. Jeff Gonyea knew. I mean, everybody knew.
Q Did you ever talk to him about it?
A I mean, there's been multiple, multiple people that has brought it up to his -- his attention.
But I've never personally spoke -- spoke to him about it. I just quit and moved on. Got my house -- moved --
Q Well --
A -- out of my apartment, started from scratch. I threw everything away.
Q Wow. I'm sorry.
A It's okay.
Q Did they ever try to fix the problem?
A I mean, they'd have pest control come in and spray. But that was like it. They wouldn't do anything else besides call pest control.
Q And, if it had been your house, what would you have done? Or, if it have been out to you, what would you have done?

A I probably would have burned the building down. No.
Q Other than that.
A No. I mean, I'd try and do everything I could to get rid of them.
I mean, I had to spend over $1,000 just for a little studio to get rid of what I had.
Q And so I assume then that you'd say they did not do everything they could have to get rid of the bedbugs in Davidson house?
A No, they didn't.
Q Did clients ever -- did you ever notice the, you know, clients being attacked by bedbugs or --
A Yeah. All the time. I mean, they were up in their bed frames.
Q And so would the bedbugs be attached to the clients and they're walking around with these beds?
A We've seen them crawling on them while they were sleeping. Because we'd go in every two -- we'd do our rounds every, you know, every two hours, checking on them.
And we would go in there with a flashlight and we would see them crawling on them.
Q Crawling on the clients?
A Yes. And then we would have to wake that client up.

And then we would have to strip their whole room. We'd have to bag up all their clothes. They would have only just a mattress to sleep on because we would have to take out everything. I mean, it was sad.

Q You didn't work on David's floor, but do you have any idea whether this problem was on David's floor as well?

A I think it was mainly Davidson up. It wasn't -- I don't know how -- I don't know. I don't know how downstairs was as much as I did upstairs.

Q Can you recall what other staff member might have been working down on the downstairs part of Davidson that would know the answer to that?

A Tyler Mattson.

Q Okay. All right. And what did you think of Tyler Mattson?

A He was a good worker.

Q Good worker?

A He was a hard worker. He came to work all the time. He did his job. He did everything that he could for those residents. I mean. . .

Q Did you ever hear about allegations of him mistreating a resident?

A No. Not at the time I was working.

Q What about other times?

A No.
Q Okay. You never heard stories about other incidents? Not the one involving David, but other incidents?
A No.
Q Okay.
What about Amy Jones or Mandy Jones?
A Amy was our PS. She was amazing.
Q Okay.
A She -- she loved them residents like they were her kids.
Q Yeah. And did you feel the same way?
A Yeah, I did.
I mean -- no, just leave them in there. I'm sorry. My dogs are barking.
Q Okay.
You loved the residents though?
A Yeah, we treated -- they were like kids to us. Like we took them out, we played basketball. We did activities. We took them fishing.
I mean, everybody has bad days and everybody has good days. And we tried to treat them like they were part of our family.
Q Uh-huh. Yeah. And when you say everybody has bad days and everybody has good days, do you mean the residents or the staff or both?

A Both.
Q Kind of like a parent has bad days where maybe they're not the best parent on certain days?
A Correct. Correct.
Q Okay.
I can tell by looking at you the answer's no, but you ever been convicted of a crime?
A No.
Q You ever been --
A I've never been to jail.
Q Okay. Have you ever been accused of any sort of maltreatment or been investigated for maltreatment?
A No.
Q Okay.
While you were at Booneville, other than for the David Cains incident, were you ever investigated for maltreatment at any other point?
A No.
Q Okay. And I understand that you were, that you were cleared by Sandy Evans for the David Cains incident.
But could you tell me about that investigation and what you recall from it following David's death?
A When I -- okay. So we were on our way to lunch. And it was a pretty day.

We normally walk the residents down to Commons area, I mean, just to get them out of the dorm. Because, at that time, it was all -- I believe COVID was happening. So we tried to keep everyone separated. So we'd walk down --

Q Ms. Campos --

A Yes?

Q I don't mean to interrupt you, but I think -- I don't think you maybe understood my question.

A Oh.

Q I was just asking about, after David Cains' death, do you recall --

A Oh, sorry.

Q No, yeah. I'm just asking about the investigation that Sandy Evans conducted.

A Uh-huh.

Q Can you tell me what you recall about that specifically?

A I just remember we had to be interviewed on Skype with a few people. I don't remember their names though.

Q Do you recall being brought over to, I think it's, the Kelly building right after David was -- right after David died and put in a room to fill out a form and talk to Sandy?

A Yes. Yes.

Q Okay. And was that a witness -- did she hand you a witness statement form?
A Correct.
Q And did she --
A That's -- sorry.
Q You go ahead, please.
A All I did was fill out a witness statement and turned it in to her.

We physically didn't talk about the situation. I just filled it out and turned it in.
Q Okay. So you never talked, you never had a conversation with Sandy about the incident?
A No.
Q She never questioned you about it?
A She -- I don't remember. I'm sure she probably had to, so. . .
Q Do you recall her ever, you know, taking you into a room and sitting you down and questioning you similarly to how I'm questioning you here today?
A No. She just -- I just remember filling out a witness statement. And then --
Q So you don't specifically recall being sort of questioned by Sandy?
A Yeah. Yeah, I don't recall that.
Q Okay.

Was there another time, not that day but another time down the road, that you may have been brought in for questioning by Sandy?

A The only time I was questioned is when we did our Zoom there at BHDC.

Q But that wasn't with Sandy, was it?

A I -- I believe she was there; because she was the one that was on camera first introducing herself.

Q Who else was on the Zoom?

A That, I can't tell you.

Q How many --

A I don't know.

Q -- people were on the Zoom?

A Three or four.

I know it was go -- it was going by so quickly. There was like multiple coming at me.

Q And do you recall who was questioning you on the Zoom call?

A I know -- I don't mean to be -- sound rude, but remember, there was a colored lady. I don't remember her name.

And there was two or three after her. I don't --

Q Okay. And I'm assuming this wasn't the day of his death or even the day after his death. This would've been --

A No. This was after, I guess, the sister started her whole process of trying to figure things out.
Q Okay. So that would be several weeks after his death or more?
A Yep.
Q Okay.
And what is your understanding of what the sister was trying to do at that time?
A All I know is that she's trying to sue the state because of his death saying that we were the ones that killed David.
Q Okay. And do you understand why she might feel that way?
A Yes and no. I mean, if it was my family, I'd be concerned as well.
Q And I appreciate your honesty. And, look, for the record, I'm not here to make you feel like a bad person or --
A I mean, for my opinion --
Q -- I'm not here to do that.
A -- I did everything I could to save him.
Q Sure.
A I mean, so did everyone else behind me.
Q And I believe that. The problem is that the restraint itself on the ground is what caused him to die though, isn't it?

A No.
Q No? Okay. How would you --
A What restraint?
Q The restraint that you participated in.
A No. That did not cause his death.
Q Okay. Tell me what you mean.

A Yes. And there was -- I was on the phone with the nurse. There was -- I don't remember who all was calling nurses at that time.
Q So you're saying you never participated in the restraint then?

A I -- I don't -- it's been a while. I wish I had my notes. I wish I had --
Q You never held his legs?
A I do -- he was kicking.
So, I mean, from us trying to get the nurses over there and trying to relax him, I didn't want someone else ending up getting hurt, so, I mean. . .
Q Is it your -- have you ever been deposed before --
A No.
Q -- like this? Okay.
A No.
Q A deposition, first thing you need to understand is that you're testifying under oath.
She administered an oath to you. Do you recall?
A What's an oath?
Q At the very beginning, she had you raise your hand.
A Oh, yes.
Q Okay. What that means is that you're under oath and that, if you testify in a way that's not truthful, you're committing the crime of perjury.
A Right.
Q Which is a felony. And I do not expect you're going to commit perjury. But I just need -- I try to remind everybody of that, just so they --

A Right.
Q -- understand the seriousness of what this is. The gravity of this situation.
A Absolutely.
Q So what I'm asking -- and if you don't -- you know, it's not a memory test.
But I do need to know what you recall. And I need to know if what you're saying is that, when you first arrived on the scene, David was already having an emergency health situation? Is that what you're saying?
A He was -- yes.
Q And then -- but you also held his legs?
A He -- I didn't want him hurting him or anyone else. And he was -- he -- I guess he was having a behavior before I got there.
Q Okay.
A So at -- I wish I had my paper. Because I -- I don't remember everything.
Q Sure.
Well, let me start this way. What do you remember seeing? What's the first thing you remember seeing when you walked into the Commons building and saw David on the ground? Who was there and what did you see them doing?
A They were -- he was -- I don't remember. I just know that he was punching and kicking.

Q Okay. How do you -- and who was he punching and kicking?
A Tyler Mattson.
Q But, at the same time, he was also, you said --
A That -- that was --
Q -- choking and --
A That was after his behavior.
Like I -- I came in -- I came into the situation kind of like at the end of everything, of his behavior. Like I -- it was -- Q But he was on the ground, wasn't he?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And Tyler and Amy were holding him on the ground; right?
A Correct.
Q And do you recall how they were holding him on the ground?
A No, I do not.
Q Okay. Let's put a pin in that and come back to it.
Okay. And you underwent Phase One training and Phase Two training; correct?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And in, Phase One training, do you remember having to pass a test?
A For?

Q Do you remember having to get 70 percent or better as an assessment score in order to complete Phase One and to complete Phase One before two?
A Yes. Yes.
Q You do? And was that a written test?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And do you recall, I guess you passed those tests?
A Yeah. I don't remember what was -- I mean, I know we went through CPR training.
Q Uh-huh.
A I mean, that was one of the tests.
Q I believe one of the tests also had to do with restraints and responding to behavior incidents.
Do you recall that test?
A Okay. Yeah.
Q Okay. And I assume you passed that test?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And was that test administered to you by staff development?
A Yes.
Q Would that have been Mark Hise?
A Correct.
Q All right. And, prior to taking that test, what are the things that you were taught about restraining clients?

A Oh, goodness. It's been awhile.
Q Were you ever taught that you were authorized to hold a client down on the ground while the client's having a behavior incident?
A I do -- I mean, we were taught a lot. It's just been a while. I mean --
Q What do you do now?
A I'm a CNA.
Q Okay. Where do you work?
A I work at Greenhurst --
Q In Charleston?
A I mean, Butterfield. Butterfield. Sorry. Butterfield.
Q Okay. And Butterfield is a nursing home?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And how long have you worked there?
A Since August of last year.
Q Okay. And do you work there full time?
A Correct.
Q All right.
And did you have any other jobs between Booneville HDC and Butterfield?
A I worked at Greenhurst in Charleston.
Q Okay. The nursing home there in Charleston?

A Correct.
Q All right. And are you from Booneville originally?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And I believe I saw that you -- did you finish high school at Booneville High School?
A Correct.
Q What year did you graduate high school?
A 2016.
Q 2016?
A Uh-huh.
Q All right. And did you do any college?
A I went to Ozark Tech for a couple -- or a semester and then I got kicked out. And I had to learn how to grow up real quick, so. . .
Q How did you get kicked out?
A Drinking and partying too much.
Q Okay. And then it would have -- and then, shortly after that, you started working at BHDC?
A Correct.
Q Okay.
Do you recall being taught to transition clients to the ground in phase training?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And am I correct that the purpose of that was to transition them to the ground so that they can be placed on the papoose board for mechanical restraint?

A Correct. Or the Joey board.
Q What's the Joey board?
A It's the same thing. It's just smaller.
Q Okay. And were you taught any other reason for transitioning a client to the ground or taking a client to the ground that you recall?
A Just to be -- for them to not harm themselves or others. I mean, we --
Q So what I'm getting at is, were you specifically authorized to take a client to the ground in an emergency behavior situation?

Were you specifically authorized to take a client to the ground for the purpose of holding them there on the ground until they calmed down?

Not for purposes of the papoose board or mechanical strength but simply to hold them there on the ground until they calmed down, were you taught to do that?

And were you told that that was -- were you authorized to do that?
A I don't re -- I don't remember everything through the training.

I mean, I've had things happen to me. I've had a wreck. I mean, I don't remember everything, so. . .
Q In other words, the thing that was happening to David Cains when you arrived on the scene, holding him on the ground there, but not for the purpose of a papoose board?

A Correct.

Q You don't recall whether that was authorized --

A The --

Q -- or not?

A There was no board, papoose board or Joey board, there.

Q I know.

A I mean --

Q I know. They were just holding him there for him to calm down.

What I'm asking is, were you authorized to do that? Or were you only authorized --

A No, I mean --

Q -- which is my understanding -- let me finish.

Or were you only authorized to take a client to the ground for purposes of transitioning them to a mechanical restraint?

A I can't -- I don't -- I believe we -- it was for the next step to be.

I know we were -- they were in the process of calming him down.

Q Right.

A I mean, he was -- he was hitting, he was swinging. He was kicking. He was spitting.
Q Did he hit or kick or spit at you?
A No.
Q Did you see him hit anybody?
A Yeah, Tyler.
Q Okay. Where did he hit Tyler?
A I don't remember.
Q But he was on the ground, David was on the ground, the whole time you saw him; right?
A Yes. For like not even two minutes.
Q Okay. So two minutes is about the time that you held his legs while they held him at other parts of his body?
A And then that's when I realized, hey, we need to get a nurse. I mean, something's happening. And this isn't --
Q But you'd agree that -- but two minutes is about the time that you would have held his legs; is that correct?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And was he vomiting and was he choking or was he struggling to breathe during those two minutes that you were holding his legs?
A No.
Q He wasn't?

A No.
Q Because the first thing you said was that, when you first got there, he was struggling to breathe already.
A Well, I jumped ahead. I jumped in. I'm nervous. I mean --
Q That's okay. That's okay. That's all right.
But I just want -- because this is important. I just want to make sure that we're clear on this.
So it would have been -- when you first arrived on the scene, he was not yet struggling to breathe; correct?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And Tyler and Amy were already holding him down on the ground, trying to get him to calm down; right?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And you recall David sort of -- was he flailing?
A What does that mean?
Q Sort of waving his arms and legs, kicking. You know, maybe moving --
A Trying to hit --
Q -- his arms and legs.
A -- and kick.
Q Sorry?
A Trying to hit and kick or --

Q Sure. Was he making movements like that?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And you said he was spitting?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Did he seem to spit on anybody?
A He did spit on someone. I can't -- I don't recall who it was.
Q Uh-huh. And he was on his left side, wasn't he?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And Tyler was holding him, was holding -- was kind of over -- was on top of him?
A I don't -- I don't remember all the -- what all they did. I mean --
Q Okay.
A -- I don't --
Q They were each holding him down on parts of his body and you grabbed his legs; right?
A Yeah. They -- it -- in no harm's way were they holding him in any way that he would not be able to, you know, be -- breathe or anything.

I mean, they were nowhere near his neck.

Q So you don't feel like what happened eventually, which is that he aspirated and choked on his own vomit, you don't feel like that was related to being held down on the ground?

A No.
I mean, David was a fast eater. He ate -- he ate pretty quick. That's why he has -- had to have someone sit with him --
Q Uh-huh.
A -- at lunch or at breakfast or at dinner. I mean --
Q I just want to be really clear here.
You're saying that that you don't think -- you're saying that you don't think that the ground restraint, whereby the three of y'all were holding him on the ground, you don't think that was in any way related to how he died?
A No.
Q You think he would have aspirated and choked to death anyways?
A Yeah.
Q Even if he was just standing perfectly upright?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And have you shared that opinion with anybody else before?
A No.
Q Have you ever talked --
A We were told to not talk about the situation. I mean, I kept --
Q Who told you that?

A I mean, it would have been HIPAA if we did.
Q Okay. But who --
A And then I would --
Q Who told you not to talk about it?
A I mean, it was under investigation, so. . .
Q Again, but who told you not to talk about it?
A Upper people. I don't rem -- I don't fully remember who. I mean, I just -- bits and pieces, you know.
Q Okay.
Did you ever talk with Sandy Evans about what you just told me? Did you ever say that to her?
A What? That --
Q That you think that he would have died even if there hadn't been a restraint?
A Yeah.
Q And did she agree with you?
A Absolutely.
Q Sandy agreed with you that he was going -- he would have aspirated and died, even if he had been --
A I mean, nobody knew that he was going to die. I mean. . .
Q Well, I'm just trying to make sure I understand what's your beliefs are here about this.
A I don't be -- I believe that everything we did, did not escort (ph) to his death.

Q So your position is that absolutely nothing that y'all did in any way contributed to his death?
A Correct.
Q All right. And did Sandy Evans ever tell you that was her opinion as well?
A Me and Sandy, we never really talked like that. I mean, I turned in my witness statement and that was done.
We went a few weeks and then we got interviewed with some other people. And then three years or two years went by and here I am.
Q Okay. And -- just a moment.
Did Tyler or Mandy ever tell you or do you know, from some other source, how long they had been holding David on the ground before you got there?
A I don't -- I don't know how long. Like I said, I came after all that.
Q Did anybody speak to you when you arrived on the scene? Did Tyler or Amy say anything to you?
A No. I was more worried about David getting -- you know, hurting himself or someone getting hurt from him kicking.
Q Okay. But he wouldn't have been able to kick anybody on his left side, while he's on his left side, would he have?
A I mean, yeah. I can kick on my sides. I mean --

Q Okay. So nobody asked you to grab his legs? You just did that on your own?
A Right.
Q All right. And you don't remember speaking to -- prior to him vomiting and choking to death, you don't remember exchanging any words with either Tyler or Amy?
A The only thing I remember is calling a nurse and getting the nurses there as quick as I could.
Q Okay.
And, after he started, what was the very first indication that he was choking to death?
A Well, I didn't -- I didn't -- I don't know it. I just know he had a bowel movement.
Q Uh-huh.
A And I was like something's wrong. I mean, we need to get a nurse.
So, immediately, I called the nurse; and they all came running.
Q Okay. And that was the only thing that you -- there wasn't any other signs that he was in trouble other than that he defecated?
A Not that I can recall. As soon as the nurses came, they took over and then the EMTs showed up.
Q Okay.
A And then, once the nurses came, I remember them asking me to run and go get the medicals.

We have a medical bag full of, you know, for people that aspirate and that. I ran and grabbed that, dropped it off to the nurse, and I had to go back to my people.

Q Okay.

So you've testified here that you held his legs while Amy and Tyler held other parts of his body. Y'all held him on the ground, all three of you, for two minutes before --

A I mean, I don't know exactly the time. I mean, I'm just estimating. I don't know if it -- it wasn't that long.

Q Okay.

It's important in depositions, Ms. Campos, if you could, just let me finish the question before you start speaking just so the court reporter doesn't get confused and can make a clear record. Does that make sense?

A Okay. Yeah.

Q And I know you can guess what I'm saying because you're a bright person; but, just so this can go smoother, just, if you could, try to let me finish my question. Okay?

A Okay.

Q And I'll try to do the same for you with your answers. And you've already been good about verbalizing yeses or nos. But that's another instruction that I should have given you. Rather than using uh-huh or hu-uh or shaking your head or nodding your head, try to say yes or no. Again, it's just so the court reporter can accurately record our conversation.

A All right.

Q Make sense?

A Yep.

Q Great.

Okay. So approximately -- you know what the word approximately means? About?

A Yeah.

Q Okay.

A Yes.

Q Right around?

Okay. So you testified that you held his legs and Amy and Tyler held other parts of his body while he's on the ground for approximately, about, two minutes before he defecates and starts choking; correct?

A Yes.

Q Okay.

And can you recall specifically whether you were ever taught to do that? Were you ever taught to do that to a client while they're on the ground?

Was that something you were taught? Was that something you were told you can do?

A To refrain them from hurting themselves and others.
Q Even on the ground?
A Correct.
Q Okay. So do you recall who would have taught you to do that?
A Uh.
Q Would that have been staff development, Mark Hise?
A Correct. Yes.
Q Okay. So your testimony here is that that Mark Hise taught you that, in addition to transitioning clients to the ground for purposes of putting them on the papoose board or the Joey board, you can also transition clients to the ground and just hold them there to prevent them from harming themselves or others?
A Correct.
Q Okay.
A Until -- you know, it probably would have led up to a Joey board. But then he started -- you know, he had a bowel movement. And that was when I was like something's wrong. So we called the nurse and they came running.
Q You say it probably would have led to a Joey board. But you said there was no --
A Right.
Q -- Joey board anywhere near there; right?

A No. There wasn't. No. Absolutely --
Q And nobody --
A -- no boards were --
Q And nobody -- Tyler -- nobody said, hey, let's call for a Joey board --
A Correct.
Q -- correct?
A No.
Q Nobody said anything about a Joey board or papoose board --
A No.
Q -- did they?
A No.
Q You know, Tyler -- I've deposed Tyler.

Tyler testified that, prior to your arrival, they'd been holding him on the ground between four and -- I'm sorry. Between four and five minutes prior to your arrival.

And you get there and another two minutes passes with y'all holding him on the ground. But not once did anybody say anything about a papoose board or a Joey board, did they?

A No.
Q And so there wasn't one mentioned and there wasn't one nearby?

A Correct.
Q And nobody did anything to call for one did they?
A We -- I don't re -- I think somebody was in the process. But I don't remember their name.
I mean, I don't know what all happened before I got there.
Q So you have no specific knowledge that anybody was in the process of ordering a Joey board?
A Not to my knowledge.
Q Okay. And a Joey board is the same thing as a papoose board?
A Correct.
Q Okay. Did you know David well?
A No.
Q (Inaudible) --
A No.
Q Okay.
A I didn't work with him that much as I did upstairs.
Q Okay.
I assume you recall that the policy at Booneville and at all of these types of facilities in the state is that, when personal restraints are used, it must be the least restrictive form of personal restraints possible; correct?
A Correct.

Q Okay. And you'd also agree that staff are required to do everything they possibly can to avoid having to use physical or personal restraints --

A Correct.

Q -- correct?

A Correct.

Q And you're taught de-escalation techniques; correct?

A Yes, we were.

Q And you're taught these things to -- signs to look for to determine whether a particular client is getting agitated so that you can de-escalate before it has to get physical; right?

A Correct.

Q And do you recall being taught methods for -- well, let me just ask you.

What do you recall being taught about handling a situation where a client swings at you or tries to slap you?

A I would call for assistance.

Q Okay. Do you recall specifically any techniques you were taught to deal with that?

And when I say that, I mean, a situation where a client is agitated and becomes aggressive and tries to hit you.

A We try to redirect them.

Arkansas State Claims Commissio
FEB 16 2023
RECEIVED

Q How?
A As in trying to calm them down, taking a walk. I mean, going to get a snack, try to go play basketball. I mean, we try --
Q But how do you address not being hit or being hit? I mean, what do you -- like a client takes a swing at you, what are you taught to do?
A I would call for assistance.
Q Are you not taught any sort of methods for stepping out of the way --
A Of course.
Q -- or -- okay.
A Yeah. We would step out of the way. We wouldn't want to get hit.
Q And are you taught -- Amy Jones was talking about a particular sidestepping maneuver that she was taught. Do you recall that?
A Yeah. We would, I mean, step out of the way. I mean --
Q And then would you then try to give them -- back up and just give them some space --
A Yeah.
Q -- and try to let them calm down?
A Correct. Correct.
Q Okay.

And you have no knowledge whether, in this instance, Tyler Mattson did any of that prior to the restraining him on the ground, do you?

A I don't -- I don't recall anything that happened. Everything that happened before I showed up, I did not see.

Q Okay. And you have no knowledge about what happened prior to when you showed up; correct?

A Correct. Correct.

Q Tyler's never told you about it?

A No.

Q Mandy's never told you --

A No.

Q -- about it?

A No.

Q Okay. Do you call Ms. Jones Amy or Mandy?

A Mandy.

Q Mandy. Okay. And you never talked with either of them about what happened prior to your arrival on the scene?

A No. I just wrote everything that I -- what I did as in calling the nurse and getting them there.

Q Okay. And you are the one that called medical; correct?

A Correct.

Q Okay. And did Amy tell you to do that? I'm sorry. Did Mandy tell you to do that or did you do that on your own accord?
A It was kind of -- I did it. I was -- I was getting up to do it. And then everything happened. I was in the process of doing it myself. I mean. . .
Q Okay. And how long did it take medical to arrive after you called?
A Not that long.
Q Best guess. I know you can't say for certain, but just best guess.
A I would say two, three minutes. I mean, they had to come from Judge Hill and Judge Hill is kind of a ways down the hill.
Q If you had been at Judge Hill and gotten this call, how long would it have taken you to grab your equipment and get to the scene?
A Two to three minutes.
Q Okay.
A If you were on the run.
Q If you were running?
A If you were on the run, like jumping in your car and going.
Q Yeah.
Okay. And how long after the nurses arrived was 9-1-1 called? Do you know?

A Well, they did what they had to do. And then once they -- the EMT showed up. Oh, goodness.
Oh, the nurses did all they could do and then they called the EMTs. I want to say maybe six, five to six minutes.
Q After they arrived?
A Right.
Q Okay. Do you recall --
A It's been awhile.
Q I understand. Did you specific -- I understand. But it had to have been a -- I can't imagine --
A I mean, it happens, boom, boom, boom. I mean. . .
Q Have you ever been involved in a situation where a person died other than this?
A Nope.
Q I've never been involved --
A I was -- I mean, now that work at a nursing home, yes, people -- I mean, they're not checking in to check out.
Q Understood. Understood.
A I mean, people come and go. I've seen multiple dead bodies now that I work in a nursing home.
Q Uh-huh.
A So kind of like, when that happened, it kind of -- it scared me. It -- I mean, I didn't know what to do. All I knew is I need a nurse, I need a nurse.

Q Okay. Do you recall specifically --

A And as far -- sorry.

Q Do you recall specifically what the nurses did to try to help David prior to calling 9-1-1?

[redacted]

Q Okay. And what were you doing while they were doing that?

A I had to go back and refrain to my group for lunch.

Q Okay. Were you there when the paramedics arrived?

A I seen them leaving. I seen them taking David out.

Q Okay. Did you ever speak to a paramedic?

A No.

Q Did you ever see anybody speaking to the paramedics?

A I mean, the nurses.

Q Which nurses did you see talking to the ambulance? The paramedics.

A I want to say Trish, Amanda. I don't know everybody's last name.

Q Trish --

A There was -- Trish, I believe, is the top of all the nurses.

Q Is she an RN?
A Correct.
Q Okay.
A Amanda Schmidt, Kelly King --
Q Okay.
A -- Fleming. I don't remember her first name.
Q Lacey Fleming?
A Lacey, yes. Correct.
Q Okay.
A There was a couple others I don't remember.
Q Okay.
So you said you didn't know David well. Had you ever participated in a physical restraint with David prior to this?
A No.
Q Had you ever seen David physically restrained prior to this?
A No.
Q Had you ever participated in -- so you've never participated in any chemical, mechanical, or personal restraint on David Cains prior to this day?
A No, sir.
Q And you never witnessed David being restrained, chemically and mechanically or personally, prior to this date?

A No, sir.
Q All right.
So I assume David Cains had never been aggressive or violent towards you before?
A No.
Q Okay. And I assume you never witnessed David be violent or aggressive towards anyone else before?
A As long as I worked there, no, I did not.
Q Okay. Are you saying that you've heard of him being aggressive?
A I really never -- no. I never really spoke about him.
Q Okay.
A I --
Q So you --
A All I heard was good things. I mean, he's a -- I know, I mean, he's in there for a reason, and he's a good person. I heard nothing but good about him.
Q Okay. That's good enough.
So you never heard of David causing injury to anyone else then?
A No.
Q All right.
MR. GILLISPIE: Eric, I think this may end quicker than I anticipated, but I want to take ten minutes, ten minute break here, to go through my notes and make sure that I haven't missed anything important.

And then, Ms. Campos, we'll get back on here in about ten minutes and I'll try to wrap this up for you. Okay?

THE WITNESS: Okay. Thank you.

MR. GILLISPIE: Thank you.

(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q All right. Ms. Campos, almost done here.

A Okay.

Q So far, have you understood every question that I've asked you?

A Correct.

Q Okay. You've heard my questions and understood my questions and then answered those questions to the best of your knowledge and recollection; correct?

A Correct.

Q All right.

Aside from this, this ground restraint, that occurred on the day of David's death, had you ever seen any other clients be pinned to the ground in this same way during a behavior incident?

A Yes.
Q Okay. And not for the purpose of transition to a papoose board but just for these same purposes of controlling a client's behaviors?
A Correct. And then sometimes other residents, you know, everybody has different -- I -- I can't speak for the other behaviors. But I know some did lead to the boards, so. . .
Q Have you ever personally participated in a similar type of ground restraint?
And, again, I'm not talking about for transitioning to a papoose board, but I'm talking about like what happened with David where the restraint is in response to a behavioral incident and the purpose of it would appear to be to hold the client there on the ground until he or she calms down.
Have you ever yourself participated in another one of these other than the one on David's date of death?
A No.
Q But you've seen or heard of them occurring?
A Correct.
Q About how many?
A I mean, I couldn't tell you. They're -- I can't tell you what's true and what's not true.

I mean, there's stories that were just being told.
Q Okay. Give me an example.
A Like I said, as we were refraining him from trying to hurt himself or anybody else, I mean, there has been situations like that.
Q Can you think of a specific situation?
A Not off the top of my head, no.
Q You've heard -- how do you know it's happened? I guess.
A I -- like I said, I don't know what's true and what's not true. They were just stories.
Q And you're saying that these, you've heard stories about other clients being restrained on --
A In the past.
Q Let me finish.
You've heard other stories about clients being restrained on the ground in a similar way?
A Correct.
Q In the past? But you've not participated in it, have you witnessed it?
A I've not -- no.
Q Okay. You just know it's happened before because of things you've heard?
A Correct.
Q And do you know where you heard them? Who told these stories to you?

A No.
Q Okay. Would you say that it's a fairly common way to restrain a client who's having a behavior problem?
A Yeah.
Q Okay. And why would you say that?
A I mean, that's what we were taught.
Q You were taught to do this even when it's not for purposes of transitioning to a papoose board?
You were taught that --
A Correct.
Q -- you can take clients to the ground and hold them there on the ground?
A I mean, from -- if they were trying to harm themselves or others.
Q Right. And, in those situations, as you sit here today, you're testifying that you were specifically taught that, in those situations, you can do what the three of y'all did to David on the day of his death?
A Correct.
Q And was that authorization ever provided to you in writing?
A No. We went through class.
Q Okay.
A I mean, that was one of our. . .

Q And, again, that would have been Mark Hise that trained you in that?
A Correct.
Q Do you know if there's a document that exists or a policy that exists that specifically addresses this issue?
A I'm not for sure.
Q Okay. Nothing that you can recall though?
A I'm sure somewhere along the lines. I mean, I -- I -- that's something for Mark to answer.
Q Okay.

But, to be clear one last time, if going by your estimate of how long he was held on the ground, which actually matches up with -- Mr. Mattson estimated that the restraint lasted about two minutes after you got there as well.

And he said that, before you got there, it had lasted between four and five minutes, so for a total of either six or seven minutes of ground restraint prior to David defecating and having trouble breathing and vomiting and all that.

You're saying, just one last time because I want to be clear, you're saying that, that six to seven minutes of holding a client on the ground, was in order for them to try to get them to calm down was specifically taught and authorized by Mark Hise?

A Correct.
Q Okay.
Describe for me, if you can, to the very best of your memory, what you saw when you first walked into this Commons area.
When you first got to the scene, did you hear things first? Did you hear commotion and then see David on the ground? Just try to -- try to --
A I mean, that --
Q -- take me through it.
A -- that particular area is always loud. I mean, it -- I mean, we have an activities room where everybody plays pool in, loud music was playing.
We had the cafeteria -- cafeteria full of people eating. I mean, it was pretty loud. So I can't -- I can't tell you at -- I mean, what all -- all I was trying to do was refrain anyone from getting hurt.
Q I want you to tell me what you saw, what you remember seeing, the moment that you turn the corner and laid eyes on David on the ground. What do you recall --
A Him kicking.
Q -- as best as you can recall. Okay. Him kicking. Where were his hands?
A I can't tell you that. I don't remember.

Q Okay. So you never saw him hit anybody, actually make contact with anybody, did you?
A Not from when I walked in, no.
Q Okay. And you never saw him --
A That's --
Q -- make contact with his feet either with anybody; correct?
A I mean, he was trying to kick Tyler at that time.
Q But he was laying on his -- but David was also laying on his left side and Tyler was now behind him; correct?
A I can't -- I don't remember where everybody was positioned. I can -- I remember what -- what all I did and what I did to get the nurses there.
Q Do you recall -- you said you did recall filling out a witness statement form for this; correct.
A Correct.
Q And you also recall giving a statement to some folks over Zoom; correct?
A Correct.
Q And I am speculating that that Zoom call would have been your interview with Disability Rights. Does that --
A Yes.
Q -- ring a bell?
A Yes.

Q Okay. Because I know that disability rights took, interviewed you as well. And I have what -- I have their report that talks about your interview.

So would that Zoom interview, that would have been the Disability Rights interview?

A Probably, yeah.

Q Okay.

A Be like -- because, like I said, all I remember was turning in a witness statement. Then a couple -- few weeks later, I got interviewed. And then here I am two years later.

Q I hear ya.

So your written witness statement, I'll represent to you, says that, when you got to the Commons room, you noticed David Cains on his left side fighting Tyler; is that --

A Uh-huh.

Q -- correct?

A Yes.

Q Okay. David was on his left side; correct?

A Correct.

Q Okay.

A Like I said, I haven't seen that piece of paper since two years ago.

Q And it says that Tyler was on David's left side holding both wrists. Does that ring any bells for you?

A I mean, if it's on that paper, then -- like I said, I don't remember what all I --
Q Okay.
A -- put on there.
Q And it says that you saw David Cains look up at Tyler and spit?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Do you recall that?
A I recall him spitting.
Q Okay. And then it says that Mandy Jones then held David's head so that he couldn't spit.
A I -- it's been -- it's been a while. I don't know everything, what all they did. I just remember what all happened when I --
Q Well, it's in your report that she --
A Yes.
Q -- held his head --
A Okay.
Q -- so --
A Well, I don't have that report in front of me. I don't know -- I haven't seen that report in two years. They wouldn't send me a copy of it. So, whatever you're reading from my report, then that's what I wrote.
Q Okay. Assuming that what I'm reading is accurate, assuming that I'm reading it to you accurately, Ms. Campos, that would mean that what you wrote is true; right?

A Right.

Q And, if you did in fact write in your report that Mandy Jones was holding David's head, then Mandy Jones was holding David's head; right?

A Right.

Q Okay. And then it says that you saw David Cains' legs start to kick and you stepped in to assist by holding both ankles.

A Correct.

Q Okay.

So nowhere in that statement do you say that you saw David kick anybody or hit anybody; correct?

A Correct.

Q All right.

A I mean, we were all shooken up because we all -- I mean, obviously, we all knew he had pass -- or we didn't know he passed. But something was wrong and I mean --

Q Are you saying --

A -- like all of our nerves were up.

Q And they made you do this statement --

A Like right after everything happened.

So, I mean, we didn't have no time to sit down and rethink, you know. . .

Q And then they never gave you an opportunity to be interviewed again by Sandy and more thoroughly; correct?
A No.
Q And, as far as you recall, Sandy never questioned you at all; correct?
A Correct.
Q So my point, again, you just assuming that what -- I know you don't have it. But assuming that what I'm looking at or assuming that I'm accurately describing to you what your statement says, you have no reason to think that something you put in here isn't true, do you?
A No. All -- everything I put in there is true.
Q Okay.
A I mean, I wouldn't lie. That someone's life, you know?
Q Right. And I'm just pointing out that, you know, you didn't put -- you did mention that he spit.

But you make no mention of him actually striking anybody with his hands or his feet, nor do you make any mention of it in your DRA statement, according to their report.

So would you agree with me then that you have no specific memory of him landing a punch or a hit with either his feet or his hands?

A All I remember was he was trying to kick. And I was trying to help him from hurting himself or others.
Q I understand that. And I do understand that --
A And --
Q I understand that. I believe you. And I promise you, I'm not trying to make you out to be a bad person.
I'm, honestly -- I just have to -- I wasn't there, there's no video of it. I just have to get a very detailed and very accurate understanding of what happened.
A Right.
Q So these little, little details are very, very important. And, again, I promise you, this is not about making you look bad. That's not my intention at all.
And, after today, you know, you probably won't ever have to think about this again.
But -- and I just want you to listen to when I ask that --
A What do you mean by that? Am I -- I mean, that I'll never have to worry about this again. I mean, this is -- it's serious.
And I'm scared for my life, you know, because all we were trying to do was refrain from -- I mean, we didn't expect this to happen. It was -- it all hap -- it was crazy. I mean --

Q I can tell you that, you know, I do not foresee any possible way that you would suffer any personal consequences at this point. Okay?
A Okay.
Q You know, you're not being sued.
A No. Am I --
Q You know, I didn't sue you.
A Am I -- prison, that's what I'm worried about. Like --
Q No.
A I mean, I've never been to freaking jail. I don't want to --
Q I can promise you, I promise you, we're not -- nobody's going to sue you.
A Okay.
Q At least over this case.
A Yeah.
Q I don't know what you're getting up to in other parts of your life.
A No. No. Hopefully not that.
Q I can promise you, nobody's going sue you. And it's not possible, it's not legally possible, for you to get in any trouble at this point.
A Okay.
Q Okay?

Well, all I'm asking is what -- let me repeat it.

Your written statement that you did right after and the statement that you gave to DRA, they do mention you saw David spit, but neither of them mentioned that you saw him strike with his hand, strike anyone with his hands or his feet.

I'm just confirming that. You did not see him strike anyone, make contact, strike anyone --

A Yeah. I didn't --

Q -- with his hands or his feet?

A He didn't fully kick. He was kicking at. And that's when I stepped in to -- or try not let that escalate, you know, him hurting himself or someone else.

Q So you're saying that -- but you did not see him strike anyone --

A No.

Q -- actually make contact; correct?

A From the time I was there, no.

Q Okay. You don't know what happened --

A And I know at the time -- at the time, my nerves were completely up.

And, I mean, you -- I know I left out -- I mean, obviously, you can tell too and the interviewers before y'all. I mean, there's lots of things being left out.

But at the time, our -- everything was just -- we were scared. I mean, I was only 20 years old thinking that, oh, no, I'm going to prison because someone passed away. But I mean --

Q I understand.

A And when they interviewed us, they were pretty -- I mean, that was the first time I've ever been interviewed like that. So I was pretty intimidated.

Q When --

A I mean, I was sweating bullets, I mean --

Q On that Zoom?

A Yes.

Q I understand that you don't know what happened before you got there.

But, after you got there, did you or did you not see David land a blow with his hands or his legs?

A No.

Q You did not see that?

A No.

Q Okay. You didn't see him destroy any property, did you?

A No. He didn't destroy anything.

Q All right. And so, since you didn't see him land any blows, obviously, you didn't see him causing injury to staff either; correct?

A Not that I'm aware of. No.

Q Okay.
A Like I said we -- as soon as I called the nurses, I mean, everybody was pretty, boom, boom, boom.
Q Uh-huh.
A I mean, they -- as all -- everything that I heard, David was a wonderful person. He was a wonderful guy. He was fun to be around. I mean, nobody was there to harm him.
Q No. I do not think at all that you intended to harm him.
A No.
Q I know that you did not intend to harm him. Everybody understands that.
This is more about policy failures. But that's not for -- it's not your responsibility to understand my case at this point. So --
A Right.
Q -- were you aware that David -- you are aware David had just eaten lunch at the time of this incident?
A He just -- he just got done or he was in the middle of eating.
Q Well, is there any reason he would have been eating his lunch in the lobby? Wouldn't he have done that in the cafeteria?
A It could have been -- I don't -- I don't know. I was not there.

Q But you knew he'd eaten --
A He ate breakfast --
Q -- short --
A -- he ate breakfast. He ate -- he -- they have snacks through a certain period.
Some of them get snacks, so I don't know what all he had ate'n or when -- when he did eat.
Q But you --
A I don't -- I do not know if he was eating lunch at that time.
Q Okay.
A I should -- that's what I meant to say. I was just trying to think around everything.
Q Did you know if he had recently eaten lunch before this incident?
A I don't know.

[redacted]

Q Are you talking about the quick look sheet?
A Oh, I don't remember --
Q Let me pull it -- let me show you something and --
A Okay.
Q -- tell me if this is what you're talking about.
Just a moment.
MR. COLLINS: Hey, Josh, if you'd wait one second please.
MR. GILLISPIE: Yeah.
MR. COLLINS: I think Mark is joining a little bit too soon, unless he just disconnected. Okay. I think he disconnected. You're good.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Can you see this?
A Yes.
Q Is this what you would have been able to --
A Every -- everything was printed out and in a binder. We had no computers.
MR. COLLINS: Hey, Josh, if I can interrupt real quick. All I see right now is your master exhibit list. I'm not seeing --
THE WITNESS: Yeah.
MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q You don't see something that says Quick Look Sheet?
A No.
MR. COLLINS: I saw the document titled that, but the document is not pulled up. It's just in the list.
MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. Do you see it now?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
MR. COLLINS: Yes.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q So all you should be seeing is a two-page document. At the top, it says Quick Look sheet.
A Yes. And underneath special precautions, it should say that he is GERD -- GERD. Yep, there it is.
Q Okay. And I'm just asking, is this quick look sheet what would have been in that physical file so that staff could look --

A Read, yes.

Q Okay. Okay. And is there any other document that would've -- you said it's a nurse's station where this is kept?

A I mean, that should be at the nurse's station. It should be at each aid station.

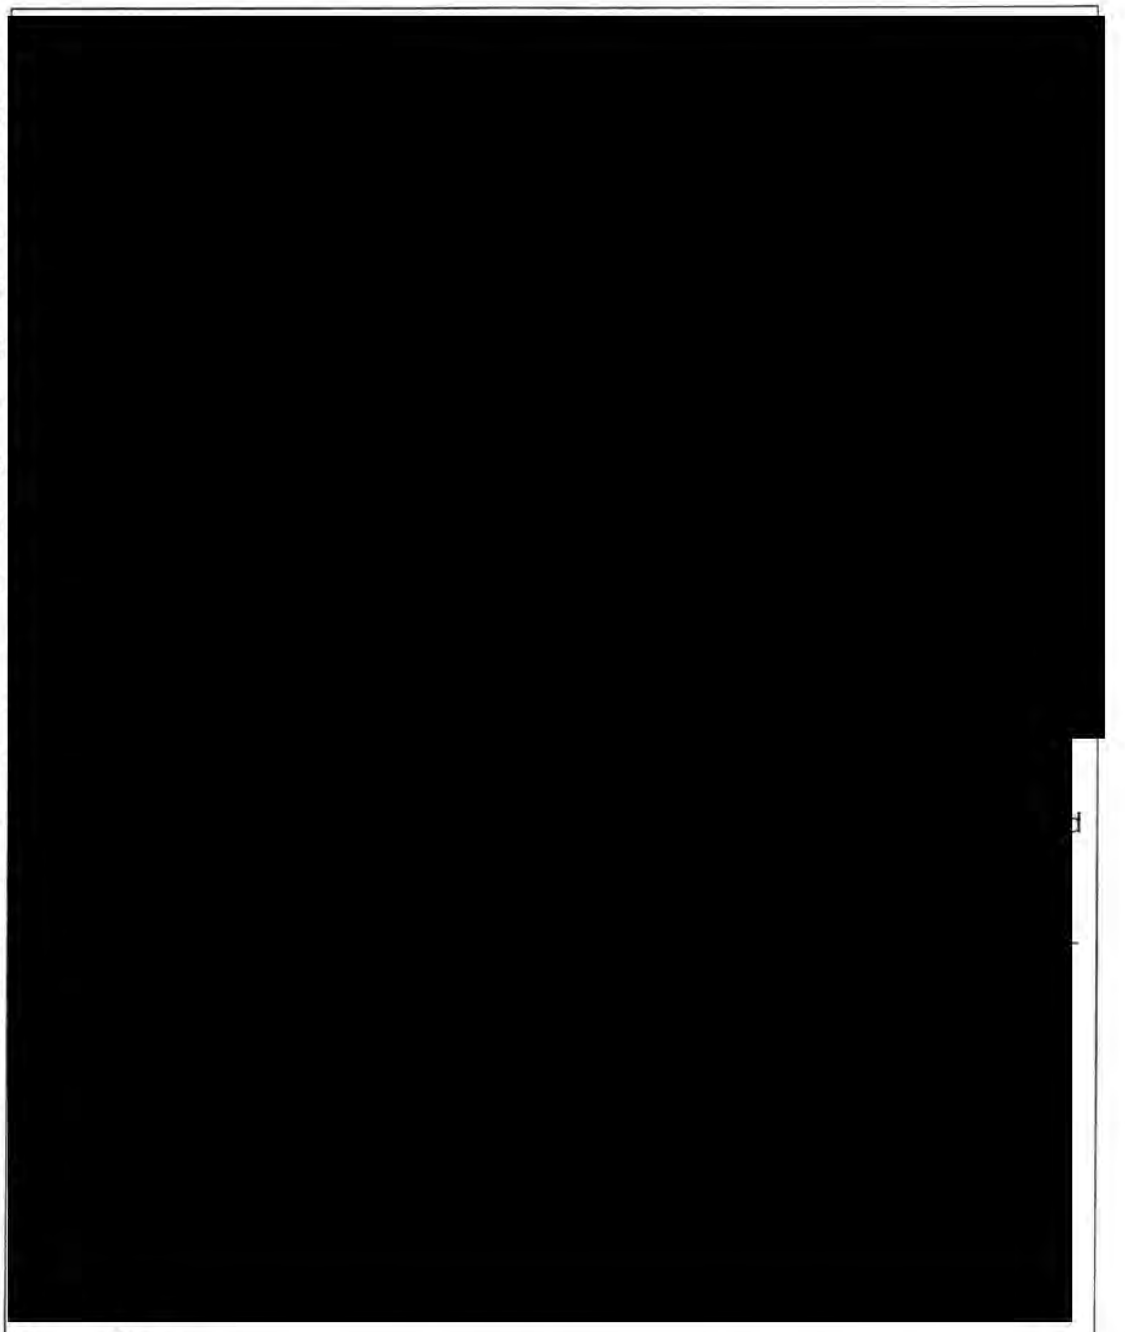
Q Aid station.

A Yes. The nurses should have a copy of this also.

Q I didn't mean to say nurse's station. So, yeah --

A No, you're good.

[redacted]



A Like I said, I was at work one day and I was just -- because we get -- they send these papers out like no other.

So we have to go through -- like at the bottom of this paper, it should have a date. And things get updated. So they'll send us a new one. And we have to pull the old one and put the new one in because we --

Q I see.

A -- have new people coming in and out all the time.

[redacted]

Q Okay.

A Unless they sent out before -- after that. I mean --

Q Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: We'll make this Exhibit 1, Cris. And then how do I stop share? There we go.

(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 1 and is attached hereto.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q All right. Y'all can't see my stuff now; right?

A No, we cannot.

Q Okay. Good. I got lots of secret stuff on there.

A Okay.

Q Not really. Not really.

A Probably a bunch of mess that you would really not have to worry about.

Q According to the DR, the Disability Rights Report, according to -- there's a portion of the DR, Disability Rights Report, where it describes the statement that you gave them in that Zoom interview.

And it says it was consistent with your written statement, which is good. It says that Ms. Campo states that, when she arrived, David was on the ground on his left side. Tyler was on his knees facing David and holding his wrists and David's hands were by his sides.

A Uh-huh.

Q So is that correct? I suppose that's consistent with your written statement --

A Yeah.

Q -- as well.

A Uh-huh.

Q Does that jog your memory a little bit?

A Yeah.

Q And, as you sit here day, is that your best recollection of what Tyler was doing at the time you arrived?

A Correct.

Q Okay. And that would have been, you know, in your best recollection of what David was doing at the time, which was laying on his left side; right?

A Correct.

Q And Tyler was on his knees behind David, holding David's wrists, both of his wrists down by David's side; right?

A Correct.

Q Okay.

So, at that point, did anybody ever consider, you know, at that point, David is not -- at that point, was David able to -- let me scratch that line of questioning for now.

I'm going to show you one more document.

A Go. She's scratching at the door.

(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 2 and is attached hereto.)

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. You all should be seeing a document. This will be Exhibit 2. Booneville HDC Policy.

Is that supposed to be a one or an I, Eric?

THE WITNESS: I think an I.

MR. COLLINS: I believe it's I.

MR. GILLISPIE: I mean, it looks like an I. It's just in some of -- I've seen other places where it's referred to as a one, so -- okay.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Policy I-D-4, documentation of response to maladapted behaviors.

You're seeing that, Ms. Campos?

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. I'm going to go down to -- ignore that Plaintiff's Exhibit 3 sticker.

But, this part here, do you see where it says that emergent restraint is defined as the use of the least restrictive procedure and for the least time necessary to control severely aggressive or destructive behaviors?

The use of emergency restraint will comply with all relative standards, relevant standards, and regulations. Did I read that correctly?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And you understand what you participated in with David to be an emergency restraint; correct?
A Correct.
Q And you would agree that this policy, this is a rule, what I just read, this is a rule that defines and mandates how to handle emergency restraints situations; correct?
A Correct.
Q And you would agree that, in an emergency restraint situation, that staff must only use the least restrictive procedure possible; correct?
A Correct.
Q Do you know what least restrictive -- how do you understand least restrictive? What do you understand that to mean?
A As in using the Joey board or the other board, the papoose board.
Q Okay. Could you explain what you mean?
A Like we tried to not have to go as far as using the papoose board or Joey board.

Q Okay. So that's your understanding of what the least restrictive procedure means? It means doing whatever you can to not have to use a mechanical restraint?

A Correct.

Q Would it not also mean the least restrictive type of personal restraint --

A Correct.

Q -- as well? It would?

A Correct.

Q Okay. And, by least restrictive, you'd agree that refers to the least restrictive or least restrictive for the client, meaning the least -- something that is the -- now I've got my -- I'm struggling to come up with the word I'm looking for here.

But you would agree that least restrictive means the thing that restricts the client's freedom of movement in the least possible way; correct?

A Correct.

Q Okay. And, for the least amount of time necessary; correct?

A Correct.

Q And that it's only to be used to control severely aggressive or destructive behaviors; correct?

A Correct.

Q And, at the time that you arrived on this scene, you said that -- you've already testified that you didn't see David hit anybody, you didn't see him kick anybody.

And Tyler was holding his wrists, in fact, and Mandy was holding his head, so --

A As from -- from the time --

Q So let me finish my question.

A Okay.

Q So how, at that point, how could -- would you agree that, at that point, would you agree that what you were witnessing there, when you got there, I know, you don't know what happened before. But what you witnessed when you got there could not possibly be described as severely aggressive behavior by David, could it?

A I don't know. I -- I just know that as -- I was just trying to refrain anyone from getting hurt.

Q I get that. I get that. But you can't -- do you think it's fair to describe what David was doing there laying on his side with Tyler holding his hands and Mandy holding some other part of him as severely aggressive by David?

A I mean, from what he did before I showed up, they -- their nerves -- I can't speak for them.

Q You don't know -- we already established you don't know what happened before you shut up.

I'm only talking about what you saw with your eyes --

A Uh-huh.

Q -- Ms. Campos.

And what I'm asking is, do you think it's fair to describe what you personally witnessed by David as severely aggressive, given that he was restrained on his left side, his wrists held by Tyler, Mandy hold another part of him?

A I mean, I -- I don't -- I don't know how to answer that.

Q I just want your opinion. Is that what you would -- would you call what David was doing in that moment when you walked in there, was David being severely aggressive --

A Yes.

Q -- and destructive?

A Yes.

Q Okay. How? How so?

A I mean, he -- he was trying to kick. I mean, he spit in someone's face. I mean, he could have hurt someone or himself.

Q Okay.

And you would agree that you are taught before laying hands on these clients, you are taught that, before you can lay hands on them, you guys are to do absolutely everything you can to de-escalate the situation, use other methods; right?

A Correct.

Q And one of those methods is defined in the policies as separation?

A Uh-huh.

Q Are you familiar with that?

A Correct.

Q Okay. Well, did it ever occur to you, particularly given that you were aware of his GERD restrictions and that he may have eaten recently and is supposed to have remained upright as opposed to on the ground, given all that, did it ever occur to you to attempt to just separate from him or to -- or for everybody just to kind of get away from him --

A After --

Q -- and let him calm down?

A After -- I mean, everything happened so quickly.

I -- I know as soon as I felt like a nurse needed to be there, that's when I stepped back.

Q But rather than join in, in grabbing his legs when they're already holding him down, why did y'all -- why not just suggest to Tyler and Amy that, hey, let's -- you know, this guy isn't even supposed to be on the ground for one thing, let's just back up, give him some space, separate, and see if he can just kind of calm down on his own so that we don't have to restrict him so severely?

A Oh, I mean, that's a good question.

Q Would you agree that that might have worked, if it had been tried?

A I -- I -- I don't know. I cannot -- I can't answer that.

Q Well, don't the policies require that you try that though?

A And I'm not saying they didn't try that before all this happened. They could have very well did.

I mean -- and then it could have been him -- I can't -- like I said, I can't speak for them and what happened before I got there. But. . .

Q But nobody attempted that after you got there.

A No. Because after -- after that happened, I called the nurse (inaudible) and then that's when everybody stepped back.

Q Well, when you first got there, you joined in on the ground restraint and grabbed his legs. And that lasted for approximately two minutes. So it wasn't that quick.

But, in that two minutes that you were there, nobody suggested or nobody attempted --

A I mean, nobody --

Q Let me finish.

Nobody suggested or nobody attempted to get up and separate, give him some space, since he's already on the ground and mobilized, get up, give him some space and see if he can gather himself? Nobody did that; right?

A Oh, I was -- I don't know. I --

Q You don't know if, after you got there, there was an attempt made to de-escalate the situation without --

A I mean, we were --

Q -- without grabbing him?

A All I seen when I got there was him kicking, him on his side and still trying to kick.

I mean -- and I tried to refrain anybody get hurt or him hurting himself. And I know I keep repeating myself and repeating myself. But I don't know -- I -- I can't talk for them. And I don't know how else to word it.

Q And I know you can't talk for them. But you can talk for yourself and for the time that you --

A And, yes, I'm sure there is multiple ways that we could have did something better than what we did or how we did it.

I mean, there's always better ways of doing something. But, at that time and how everything escalated and how it ended, I mean, everybody's nerves were up. I mean, it -- it's something I've never been in.

Q I understand that. But there were -- you said there were better ways and -- meaning, you know, there were less restrictive ways that that situation could have been handled at that point; correct?

A Correct.

Q Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: I'll pass the witness.

MR. COLLINS: I have nothing for Ms. Campos.

MR. GILLISPIE: Thank you, Ms. Campos.

THE WITNESS: Thank you.

DOCUMENTATION OF AND RESPONSE TO MALADAPTIVE BEHAVIORS

POLICY STATEMENT: Maladaptive behaviors must be documented on a Behavior Report (BR), a Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint (also called the Restraint Log), or other authorized data keeping device. Personal or mechanical restraint for maladaptive behaviors is to be used only as an emergency measure. Maladaptive behaviors include, but are not limited to, behaviors that result in, or have the potential to result in, injury to self or others, or the destruction of property. Nothing in this policy removes or alters requirements as stated in other policies of verbal notification of incidents to the Superintendent and/or other staff.

PROCEDURES:

1. REQUIRED DOCUMENTATION

   a. When indicated, a BR must be completed following the maladaptive behavior. Incidents that are to be documented on the BR are the following:

      i. Behaviors that pose a threat to the physical or mental well being of the client or others.
      ii. Behaviors that have a direct negative impact on the client's programming.
      iii. Behaviors that directly contribute to the client remaining in a setting requiring a greater degree of supervision rather than a less restrictive one.
      iv. Target Behaviors identified by the Psychology Department and the Interdisciplinary Team.
      v. An incident requiring personal restraint (also requires notification of a QIDP). See Attachment #1.

   b. If the incident requires emergency mechanical restraint, a Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint must be completed. Such behaviors are defined as those emergency situations in which behaviors may result in, or have the potential to result in, injury to self or others, or the destruction of property and cannot be controlled through the use of less restrictive measures.

   c. The rules of confidentiality will be followed when documenting these incidents. Any reference to a client other than the identified client in an incident report must be by initial only. Reference to other staff members involved will include their full name and title. All corrections must be made by a single line through the incorrect entry and the writer's initials. The Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint must include the signature of the QIDP or other staff member authorizing the restraint.

2. EMERGENCY USE OF RESTRAINT

   a. Emergency restraint is defined as the use of the least restrictive procedure and for the least time necessary to control severely aggressive or destructive behaviors. The use of emergency restraint will comply with all relevant standards and regulations. Restraint will not be used as punishment or for the convenience of staff in lieu of adequate programming.

PLAINTIFF'S EXHIBIT 3

b. Seclusion will not be used as either an emergency or programmatic procedure.

c. A QIDP must be notified when personal restraint is used and it must be documented on a Behavior Report.

d. Personal restraint of a client is used when the behavior is such that verbal control has been lost and other less restrictive measures have failed to control the behavior.

e. Personal restraint will be implemented by staff who have been trained in the use of approved methods. Personal restraint must not exceed 10 minutes. During the period of personal restraint if the client becomes calm no further restraint procedures are to be implemented. If the client shows no indication of calming and becomes violent, staff will proceed as indicated in Paragraph f. below.

f. The request for the emergency use of mechanical restraint will be based on need as exhibited by the client who is so aggressive that restraint is necessary to prevent imminent physical harm to themselves, others, or property. Mechanical restraint may be used only when all other means of controlling the behavior have been exhausted. Staff will proceed in the following manner:

   i. A Restraint Incident Leader will be identified. The attending staff will immediately implement emergency mechanical restraint. As soon as possible staff will notify the on duty Program Supervisor who will contact a QIDP or other authorized staff for authorization for the use of emergency mechanical restraint.
   ii. The authorization for the mechanical restraints must not exceed 15 minutes. Continued use of mechanical restraint must be re-authorized every 15 minutes.
   iii. Immediately after emergency mechanical restraint has been applied, staff must contact the nurse on duty. The nurse will examine the client to ensure the restraint is applied in a pain free and harmless manner and present no physical danger to the client. The nurse will make a notation of the examination on the Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint.
   iv. A client in emergency mechanical restraint must be:

      1. Kept under constant visual observation. This observation will be for the client's physical condition (e.g., distressed breathing, bleeding, adequate blood flow to the head and extremities) as well as for signs of calming.
      2. Checked for security of restraint, current behavior and general status. A synopsis will be documented every 15 minutes.
      3. Released for 5 minutes every hour for motion and exercise.
      4. Given the opportunity for fluid intake, meals, baths and toileting. These needs will be addressed and documented as the need arises.

5. Released from emergency mechanical restraint as soon as possible. This is defined to mean as soon as the client is calm and no longer a danger to self or others. Verbal outbursts do not necessarily mean a person is still out of control or that restraint should continue.

v. After release from emergency mechanical restraint, using the Restraint Incident Debriefing Form, the Restraint Incident Leader will conduct and document a debriefing discussion with the other staff members involved in the restraint and the client that must include the following:

1. The behavior which resulted in the use of the personal or emergency mechanical restraint.
2. Any environmental factors involved in the incident.
3. The antecedents to the behavior including interactions with peers or staff
4. Any action by staff that might have kept the incident from escalating to restraint.
5. The client's reaction to the use of restraint.
6. Any changes to the client's programming which might have prevented the incident.
7. Options that the client could have used to avoid the use of restraint.

3. COMPLETION OF DOCUMENTATION

a. The person authorizing the use of emergency mechanical restraint must sign the authorization. During deviant hours authorization may be obtained by telephone. Attending staff will note on the Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint that such authorization was obtained by telephone.

b. The on duty Program Supervisor will be responsible for ensuring that the appropriate reports are completed in a timely and accurate manner.

c. Completed Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint and Restraint Incident Debriefing Form will be filed in the client's Master File "Behavior Incident File".

4. REVIEW AND DISTRIBUTION OF THE COMPLETED DOCUMENTS

a. Upon completion of the report it will be sent to the appropriate Team Office.

b. The Team Leader will review all reports for content, accuracy and appropriateness and sign in the appropriate place. If corrections are required the Team Leader will contact the writer of the report and ensure corrections are made. As soon as possible the report will be given to Quality Assurance to be scanned, copied, and distributed to appropriate staff. The original report will be sent to the Record Center Operator and filed in each client's file within five days.

c. The Record Center Operator will review Behavior Report, Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint, and Restraint Incident Debriefing Form for completeness and errors. The originator will be notified to correct errors found by the Record Center Operator.

d. The QIDP and Psychology staff member will review copies of all reports for programmatic issues, patterns of use, and the appropriate follow-up.

e. The authorized data keeping device (i.e., Behavior Report, Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint, and Restraint Incident Debriefing Form) will be forwarded to the Psychology Department depending on the program requirement.

5. FUNCTIONAL AND ENVIRONMENTAL ANALYSES OF BEHAVIORS

a. The purposes of conducting functional and environmental analyses are to determine:

1. The pragmatic utility of a behavior for a client, i.e., what the behavior "does" for the client.
2. What role the environment may have played in the causation of the behavior.

These analyses assume aberrant behavior does serve a functional purpose, but that a functionally equivalent (appropriate) communicative response can be taught, and will serve to substitute for the aberrant behavior. Further, the aberrant behavior will reduce in frequency as the more appropriate response becomes systematically reinforced.

b. These analyses will provide the data needed to formulate programmatic responses to teach and reinforce appropriate behaviors to replace aberrant behaviors and inappropriate behaviors.

6. APPROVED RESTRAINT PROCEDURES, TECHNIQUES, AND DEVICES

a. Personal Restraint, an emergency procedure limiting movement by the holding of a hand or limb.

b. Chemical Intervention ordered by the Physician.

c. Protective Helmet.

d. Papoose Board, a Mechanical Restraint device limiting movement and range of motion.

f. Wrist Restraint, a Mechanical Restraint device limiting movement and range of motion.

7. AT BHDC ONLY ICF/IID QUALIFIED QIDP's SHALL BE APPROVED TO AUTHORIZE THE USE OF RESTRAINT

The Program Coordinator/QIDP is the first choice person to authorize restraint for clients on their caseload. After hours and on weekends the Team Leaders or other qualified QIDPs may be notified.

The following positions are recognized as being qualified QIDPs:

Program Coordinators/QIDPS, Team Leaders, Director of Residential Services, Superintendent, Assistant Superintendent, Director of Quality Assurance; Chief Psychologist, Psychological Examiners, Registered Nurses, and Staff Physician.

Current work telephone numbers for these persons can be obtained from DHS/BHDC Share.

THE STAFF PHYSICIAN MUST REVIEW, BY SIGNATURE, THE USE OF ALL EMERGENCY MECHANICAL RESTRAINT.

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Hey, Ms. King. Could you state your full name for me, please?

A Kelly Sue Gruber King.

Q Okay. Ms. King, I appreciate you being here today.

How long have you been -- you're an LPN at Booneville Human Development Center; correct?

A Correct. Yes.

Q And how long have you worked there in that role?

A Since 2008.

Q Oh, okay. A long time. And you work there still; correct?

A Correct. Yes.

Q All right. Where did you work before there?

A Saint Claire Hospital in Baraboo, Wisconsin.

Q Okay.

And, other than at LPN, do you have any other nursing certificates or degrees or anything like that that I need to know about?

A No.
Q Okay. All right.
Did you know David Cains before he died?
A Well, I worked with him for many years.
Q You did? Okay. You had regular contact with him for many years?
A Yes.
Q Okay. What were your thoughts on him? Did you have a good relationship with him? Did you get along well with him? Was he a troublemaker?
A Yeah. He's a funny -- he was funny. He liked to tease the staff. Yeah.
Q Did he ever cause you any physical harm?
A He slapped me once.
Q He did?
A Yes.
Q He slapped you in the face?
A Correct. Yes.
Q Okay. How did that happen? Or what led to that?
A We were at med pass and he came up for his meds; grabbed his meds and took his meds and then just slapped me across the face.
Q Was it very hard? I mean, did it hurt? Or was it --
A Briefly. It just hurt briefly.

Q Yeah. Is that something that would happen often or just happened that one time?
A To me, just once.
Q Did you require any kind of medical attention for that?
A No. Hu-uh.
Q Okay. Do you know of him slapping, hitting, or in any other way, hurting any other staff?
A Yes. Yes, he did.
Q Tell me about that.
A Well, he -- I remember one time, maybe more than once, he was spinning and trying to slap when the staff was trying to calm him down.

I can tell you twice I walked into the dorm and he had the fire extinguisher above his head; but, the minute he saw me, he gave it to me.

Q So, Ms. King, Nurse King, I appreciate you going into great detail. But I mean just injuries.

Do you know of any injury he ever caused to a staff member that required medical attention?
A No. Not that I can think of offhand.
Q Okay. Do you know of any specific incidents where he slapped another and made contact, like he did with you, slapped another staff member?
A Specific? No.

Q Okay. What about kicking or punching?
A Well, I know he punched a female staff in the stomach. I didn't actually witness it, but I was called to see him after that.
Q Okay. Who was the staff member?
A Her name is Christina.
Q Christina?
A Yeah.
Q Do you know the last name?
A I don't. I'm not good with their first names, so getting that's pretty good for me.
Q When about did that happen?
A I'd say two or three years ago.
Q Do you know the circumstances?
A I don't.
Q And so Christina then came -- he punched her in the stomach is your understanding?
A Correct. Yeah.
Q You didn't see it though?
A Correct.
Q But this staff member came to you afterwards?
A No. Hu-uh.
Q They didn't come to you for treatment?
A No.
Q And they didn't --

A We're not allowed to treat the staff.
Q Oh, okay. Do you know if this staff member required medical treatment?
A She did not.
Q Okay. How did you know it happened?
A I was called over to assess him for a chemical.
Q Okay. And do you where -- do you know if there's documentation? We didn't find -- when going through his behavioral incident reports, we didn't see this.
Do you know if there's documentation on this somewhere?
A I don't know. The staff would have to write a behavior report and I don't think --
Q Okay.
A Okay.
Q Thank you. I didn't mean to cut you off. I just don't want to waste more of your time than I have to.
MR. GILLISPIE: Eric, would you please check and see if there's a -- that's not in what we were given. Would you see if that exists for that?
MR. COLLINS: Yeah, I will.
MR. GILLISPIE: And also the one that I think Amy or Caleb mentioned but didn't know any details on as well, if there's any documentation on that that exists.

MR. COLLINS: Gotcha.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Okay.

Nurse King, I apologize if I already asked this question, but it's been a long day.

Are you aware of any -- are you aware of David harming anybody to the extent they needed medical treatment at any point? Are you specifically aware of that ever happening?

A No.

Q Okay. Did you consider David to be among the more dangerous and violent of the clients there?

A No.

Q A couple of the other nurses have told me that there were -- okay. There are, at times, patients who are sexual assault risks or, you know, can truly be dangerous men. Is that your -- would you agree with that?

That there are clients that are, you know, you would actually be fearful of being caught alone with?

A Yes.

Q David was not one of those though; right?

A No.

Q Okay.

And, the time that he slapped you, did you feel like you were in any serious danger of any kind of significant physical injury or was it more like a, you know, a child who is acting out?

A Probably more like a child that was acting out.
Q Okay. Did you ever personally witness anything that David did that would be considered something that could cause severe physical injury to someone?
A Yes. Like I said, he held the fire extinguishers over his head like he was getting ready to throw them at staff.
Q Uh-huh. Did he throw it?
A No. He did not.
Q Okay. Other than that, anything else? Is that it?
A Nothing that I can recall.
Q Okay. Very good.
Did you ever participate in any physical -- okay. Let me preface this by saying I don't mean chemical restraints; meaning, I know that you would probably, at times, be called to administer Ativan or something. I'm not talking about that.
Did you ever participate in any personal, physical restraints, like holding him on the ground or helping him get put in a mechanical restraint? Anything like that?
A No.
Q Okay. Did you ever witness that happen?

A I remember him being on the board, but I don't recall seeing his actually being put on a board.
Q Okay. Do you know the circumstances for why he was on that board at that time?
A The only time they're in that circumstance is when they're just out of control. Physically out of control.
Q And is it your understanding that David, on the day of his death, was that physically out of control? Or do you not know?
A I don't know. Actually, I don't know.
Q Have you since talked to anybody about what was going on before you guys arrived on the scene?
A Not -- not beforehand. No.
Q Since he died, have you talked to anybody, whether it be one of the direct care staff or anybody else, have you learned anything about what was going on prior to when he went into cardiac arrest?
A No. We didn't discuss it.
Q Okay. You've not discussed it with anybody?
A Correct.
Q Other that your -- other than Mr. Collins, which I don't get to know about. But, anybody else, I do get to know about.
A No.
Q Okay.

So you have zero knowledge about what his behavior was like prior to medical getting the emergency call that day?

A Well, afterwards, a group of people -- right afterwards, a group of people got together and our boss asked what happened.

And I don't -- there was a young girl. I remember a young girl being there and I remember she said that he was thrashing about. I don't think she used that term. And that he was waving his arms, quote, like he was trying to hit us.

That's all I can tell you that I know about that.

Q And you don't know which young girl was saying that?

A No, I don't.

Q Would it have been Amy Mandy Jones or Ryann Campos?

A I know it wasn't Mandy. I don't think it was Mandy and I don't think it was Ryann. I don't know who Amy is.

Q Amy is Mandy's first name. She just goes by Mandy.

A Oh. I don't know who it was. She was young. That's about all I know.

Q Okay.

So you never participated in a personal restraint. Did you ever witness David be restrained by direct care staff?

A Yes. I mean, kind of.

Q Okay. Did you ever witness David be restrained by direct care staff on the ground?
A I don't think on the ground.
Q Did you ever witness direct care staff restrain anybody on the ground?
A Yes.
Q Okay. How often?
A I'd say probably once every two or three months.
Q Okay. And is it your understanding that, like Ms. Schmitt told me, is it your understanding that direct care staff received some kind of training on how to take clients to the ground when necessary?
A Yes. They get training.
Q In specifically that?
A Yes.
Q And do you have any idea what that training is? I know you don't receive that training, do you?
A No. The only -- no.
Q Do you know what it is?
A I don't know. I don't know. I've never seen it. I've never seen it by an instructor anyway.
Q You've never seen it, you've never seen the training? You've seen it done, you've just never seen the training, you mean?
A Right. Yes.

Q Okay.
And, when you've seen direct care staff take a client to the ground, can you describe an example of that, of what you've seen?
A Well, usually, they -- they're just down on the ground and the staff is kind of like in a half hold. Not like a full-body hold but just holding them down.
And the only time they do that is when we have to give them a chemical so that nobody else is getting hurt from the needle and that the needle just goes into the client.
Q And you'd say you've seen that, with them kind of holding them on the ground like that, what did you say, once every couple months?
A Yeah. Two, three months.
Q And you've been working there for over a decade?
A Yeah.
Q Okay. Do you know who trains them in that by chance?
A Mark Hise.
Q Okay. That's what I thought.
Was there a staffing issue with direct care staff in this time period around June of 2020? Were they short staffed? Do you have any knowledge of that?
A I think we were full staffed back then. I think there was about, I could be wrong, maybe 300 employees at the time.

Q Okay.

So my understanding of your involvement -- and you can just correct -- I'm going to save us all some time here and tell you what my understanding is. And you just tell me if I get it wrong and then you can correct me.

But my understanding of your involvement is that you and Nurse Schmitt and Nurse Noah were in the Judge Hill building on this day. Nurse Noah received a call from Ryann Campos stating that, I think they got the name of the client wrong, but stating that a client was not breathing over in the commons area.

So far, is that correct?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And then Nurse Noah, I guess, kind of tells you and Nurse Schmitt to get on over there pretty quickly; right?

A Correct.

Q Okay. And Nurse Schmitt tells me that you guys then immediately got up, walked out to her car, grabbed the AED.

She estimated that probably took about, I think she said, 40, 45 seconds to get to her car. Is that about right?

A I would probably say 30 seconds. It wasn't -- it wasn't long.
Q Okay. And then her estimate was I think it was another --
MR. GILLISPIE: Eric, correct me if I'm wrong, if you remember better than me.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q I think she said it was another, maybe a minute, to get to -- to drive over to the building itself.
A Yes.
Q Is that about right?
A That's correct. Yes.
MR. COLLINS: Uh-huh.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q And then maybe, what, another --
A Thirty --
Q -- 40, 45 seconds to get out, walk in, and get to the scene?
A Yeah. About 30 seconds.
Q Okay.
And then what do you see immediately? What do you recall seeing immediately?
A David Cains was laying on his right side.
Q Okay. And was anybody doing anything to --
A No. I didn't see him at first because we had to come up the stairs. But I believe it was Ryann in front of him clearing his mouth.

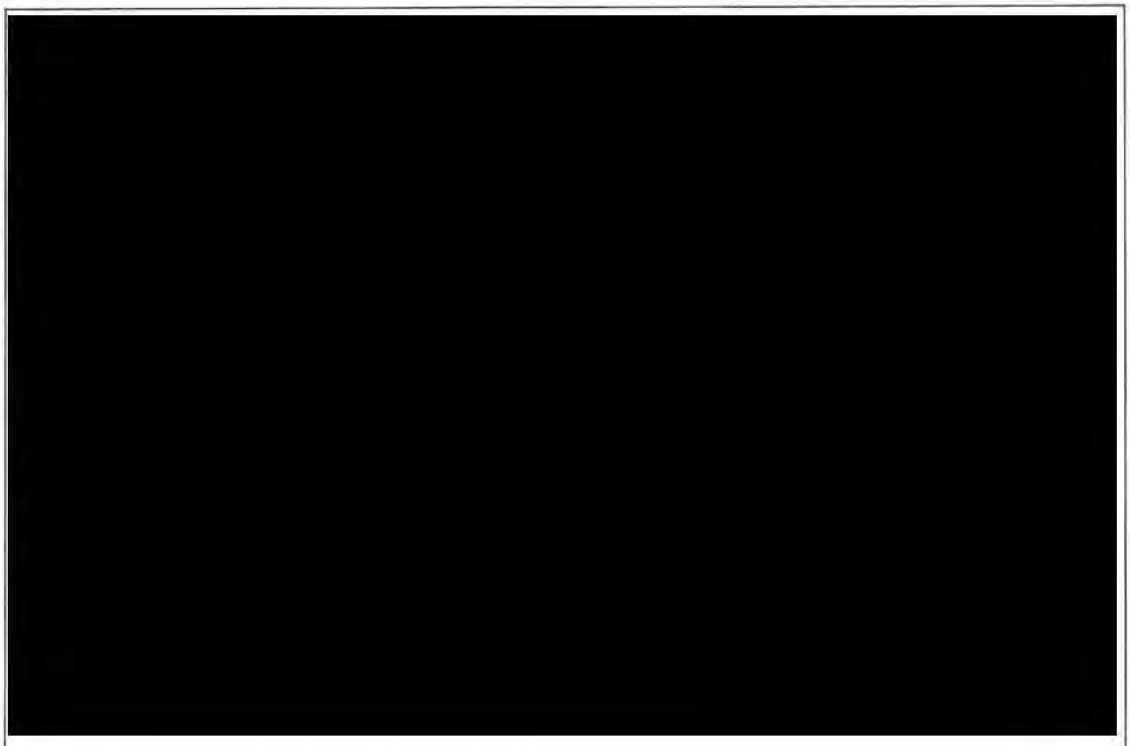
Q Uh-huh. Okay. And, in as much detail as you can recall, tell me what happened next.



A Actually --

Q Starting with you arriving at the scene.

A Okay. Actually, I'm not sure, but I think there was somebody at the double doors by the kitchen when we first came on; because I think that's when we asked if -- or -- I can't remember if we said call 9-1-1 or -- I don't remember the exact conversation. But I think that's when it was called.

[redacted]

Q And who had called EMS?
A You know, I'm not real sure, to tell you the truth. I -- I'm not real sure.
Q Okay. And I am correct that only you, medical staff, at this time, were authorized to call 9-1-1; right?
A Yes.
Q Do you know why that was a policy?
A I'm actually -- I think it's because we can respond faster than EMS.
Q Well, but --
A Initially.
Q -- what would have been the harm to allow staff to call you and 9-1-1 at the same time?

A Oh, well, they can.
Q Their understanding was they weren't allowed to. And that's been my understanding throughout this. That there was a policy that only medical staff, meaning you and other nurses and what other doctors maybe were authorized, to ever call 9-1-1 at this time.
A Well, BHDC wants medical staff to make that decision.

But American Red Cross does tell you that you can call 9-1-1 and that is a part of the American Red Cross teaching that everybody gets.
Q So what if the American Red Cross teaching contradicts or -- I'll tell you what. Scratch that. Withdraw that line of questioning.

Debbie Noah got a call that a client was not breathing. Can I ask why 9-1-1 wasn't just called right at that moment?

Like I know that you guys needed to get over there right away, but why couldn't Debbie or somebody else at Judge Hill or one of you, while you were driving over there, also not call 9-1-1- like, right away, when you hear somebody's not breathing?

I mean, that's what I would do. I'm just trying to figure out why, you know, y'all didn't do that.

A I don't know who called or when. I mean, they could have called. I don't know.
Q Well, that's not what I'm asking. I'm asking why you personally, why didn't you call 9-1-1 when you are riding over there in the car with Amanda?
A Why didn't I call?
Q Right. Because 9-1-1 -- everybody that I've talked to tells me that 9-1-1 has equipment and capabilities superior, life-saving equipment and capabilities.

You know, they have EpiPens, they can do intubation, they can do deep suctioning, they can, you know, communicate. You know, they have superior life-saving skills.

So I'm just asking, you know, why didn't you or Ms. Noah or Ms. Schmitt or somebody else, anybody else, call 9-1-1 the second you heard that a patient --
A I don't --
Q -- was literally not breathing?
A Well, because, I mean, I didn't really know what was going on and a lot of --
Q But you were told he wasn't breathing. Did you not believe the person?
A Well --
Q Did you need to see it for yourself?
A Yes. Actually, I did.

Q Why?
A Well, because, a lot of times, we get calls and they say things that aren't quite -- like, for example, recently, we've had two phone calls that clients were nonresponsive.
Well, when we hear nonresponsive, we're thinking that they're passed out and they're not responding to physical stimuli.
So we get calls like that and they're actually awake and alert, they're just not -- they're ignoring their staff. So, we actually --
Q Right.
A -- need to see what's --
Q Nonresponsive is different than not breathing. This call was specific. It was somebody's not breathing.
Do you get calls from your -- do you guys regularly get calls from staff telling you somebody's not breathing when they actually are, in fact, breathing?
You get a lot of cry-wolf, not breathing calls at --
MR. COLLINS: I'm going to object to this. She's answering your question. She's given her reasoning as to why she didn't call.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q You still have to go ahead and answer.
A Actually, I have had a couple of phone calls where a client is not breathing within the last year; and, when we got there, they were, in fact, breathing.

Q Okay. And, because of that, you guys just don't take staff's word for it? You have to see -- medical needs to see for themselves that somebody's dead or not breathing before you call 9-1-1? And that seems like a safe policy to you?
A I -- you know, I don't even know how to answer that, to be honest with you.
Q Well, yes or no?
A Yes or no what?
MR. GILLISPIE: Cris, could you read her the question again that I just asked?
COURT REPORTER: The very last part of the questions was seems like -- does that seem like a safe policy to you? Meaning --
MR. GILLISPIE: Actually, back it up. Back it up. Read the whole passage of what I said to her.
COURT REPORTER: Okay. You have to see for yourself if somebody is breathing before your -- you will call 9-1-1. Does that seem like a safe policy to you.
A Well --
BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q So that's two questions, actually.
The first question, Nurse King, is do you have to see it for yourself? That's question one.
The second question is, does that seem like a good, safe policy to you?
So you can go ahead and answer now.
A You know, I'm going to say no for both those questions.
Q Okay. You don't have to see it for yourself?
A Correct.
Q And, had that been the policy, you would agree that's not a safe policy then? Or no for both questions is fine. You answered it.
And you would agree with me though about the part about paramedics having the superior capabilities, superior life-saving capabilities?
A Yes.
Q Okay. They have equipment that y'all don't have; right?
A Yeah. They can intubate and we can't.
Q And they can -- they can administer --
A IV medications. They can -- they have an automatic compression machine where ours is all by hand.
Q And they have a, I believe, deep suctioning device?
A Yes.

Q Okay. And those are all things that y'all don't have that they do have; right?
A Yes.
Q And that's not your fault. This isn't an attack on you. It's not your fault. I'm just, you know -- of course that's not your -- you don't set this policy. You don't make those decisions. I just, you know, just want to know the facts.
Okay. Last bit of questioning. Do you have any knowledge as to specifically what caused David to -- well, actually, back up.

[redacted]

Q Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: I'm going to take a couple of minutes and see if there's anything else.

MR. COLLINS: Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: Thanks.

(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. King, you said you were there when the paramedics arrived? Yes?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Did police or firemen arrive as well or do you just recall ambulance?

A No, I just remember two EMS people.

[redacted]

Q Do you recall who would have spoken to -- do you recall anybody telling the paramedics about how it all happened?

A I don't. No.
Q Okay.
Do you have any information about, relevant information, about any of these direct care staff, meaning Campos, Mattson, and Jones, that you thinking is important to this case or you might talk about at a trial of this matter?
A No. In fact, the only one that I even know is Tyler Mattson.
Q Okay. And what's your impression of him?
A He's a -- seems like a good kid. He doesn't work here anymore. But I don't think he worked here very long.
Q You don't have any knowledge of him having issues of going overboard in physical restraints with clients?
A I've never seen it.
Q Have of heard of that?
A And I've never heard of anything either.
Q Okay.
Do you know if David Cains, if there were any staff members that had an issue with David Cains or that David Cains had an issue with or was afraid of or would tend to get upset around?

A No, actually, I don't.
Q Okay.
A I -- he never showed me around anybody.
Q Is there anything else that you have to say about this matter?

And let me clarify. What I mean is, you know, we may have to have a trial in this case in which you're going to testify.

You know, is there anything that I haven't asked you about that you feel like is important information that you have and that you're going to want to share at trial?
A I don't think so. And, really, I think you know more about it than me. I don't know what else to say.
Q And you've not had conversations with anybody at the facility about --
A I wanted to. But I'm trying to remember everything on my own, to be honest with you.
Q Okay.

All right. Well, I appreciate you being here today. Thank you.

MR. COLLINS: Thank you.

(WHEREUPON, the proceedings were concluded in the matter at 1:55 p.m.)

The evidence in this case tells the following story:

If he had been standing or seated when he vomited, he would not have drowned in his vomit/aspirated death, regardless of what caused the vomiting; he was on the ground when he vomited because staff were holding him on the ground, regardless of how he got to the ground. Staff were not authorized to hold clients on the ground, not trained to do so, and were in violation of policy in doing so.

At the end of the day there were three staff members supposedly trained in CPR and first aid right next to DC with their hands on him, yet they somehow let him drowned in his own vomit right in front of them.

DRA warnings ignored. Gonyea acknowledged that he ignores DRA.

FORESEEABILITY

She claims it is a goal of DDS to reduce restraints as much as possible; she agrees that is because restraints increase the risk of danger to both clients and staff. Melissa Weatherton, p. 30.

"The Booneville Human Development Center is dedicated to the reduction of restraint use at the facility. The use of restraints is proven to be dangerous for both staff and clients, with the occurrence of injuries dramatically increasing when restraint is used. All efforts must be made to deescalate behavioral situations so that they do not result in restraint. All restraint at the facility is to be for emergency use only (even when part of a behavior treatment program) when a very real risk of personal injury or severe property damage is imminent." DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. Schmitt, could you please state your full name for us?

A My name is Amanda Schmitt. My married name is McClure but I still go by, legally, Schmitt.

Q Okay. And my name is Josh Gillispie. I'm an attorney for David Cains and his family and I'm going to be asking you some questions here today.

Have you ever been deposed before?

A No. Not -- not anything like this. I've spoken like to office of long-term care and stuff but never like -- it's never went past there.

Q Okay. Let's just jump right in.

Are you still employed at Booneville Human Development Center?

A No.

Q Okay. Where do you work now?

A I work at Legacy Health and Rehab.

Q Okay. When did you stop working at Booneville?

A About a month ago.
Q All right. Why did you switch jobs?
A I -- I needed to explore other opportunities. I -- it's not a very good work environment for me, on the Hill.
Q Okay. Why is that?
A I -- I don't agree with a lot of issues there between the DEON, the ADON, myself, and just all of medical, in general.
Q I'm sorry, Ms. Schmitt. You cut out partially there. Would you mind repeating that last sentence starting with I don't agree with?
A I don't -- I just don't agree with a lot of viewpoints of the DON, the ADON, and just how medical -- the medical department is there.
Q What is D --
A It just wasn't a good fit for me anymore.
Q What does DON stand for? Is that department of nursing?
A Director of nursing, yeah.
Q And who's the director of nursing there?
A Stacy Weinbernner.
Q Okay. And what was the other? AD --
A The ADON is Angie Nelson.
Q Okay. And I assume that's the assistant director of nursing.

A ADON, it's assistant director of nursing.
Q Okay.
Could you tell me, please, what the things are that you disagreed with? It may not be relevant but I just need to know just in case it is relevant to this case.
A Well, the medical department and the living area departments are very separate there.
If I have a concern about something, I'm told that that's not my lane and to stay out of it. I have a hard time with that.
I feel like the care of the residents should be a little bit more and medical should have a little bit more say in it.
Got in a lot of arguments with everybody there over things, simple things, just where the two departments can't agree to make a decision for the residents.
And then there are some personal issues between the -- between Angie Nelson and I.
Q Okay. I don't need to know, I won't get into your personal business. But, as far as the other stuff you were telling me about, what of that would, if any, would relate to what happened with Mr. Cains? Do you think that played a role?
A I don't believe that it necessarily played a role in what happened with him.

But like, from a medical perspective, I had pulled him from schedule full times because I felt like he was too overwhelmed to go to class that day or to his work area or to go to Commons to eat and had placed him, you know, back at the dorm for those instead of going to those activities.

And, ultimately, I'm not allowed to make that decision. It has to be made by his team.

Q So you feel like there were a lot of times where, emotionally, it was better for him, safer for him to just go back to his dorm; and you wish you would have been able to make that call for him?

A Yeah. I'd made that call several times, to send him back to his dorm from class because he just became overwhelmed sometimes.

Q Do you know if that was happening on the day he died? Was he overwhelmed? Do you know?

A I did not see him, unfortunately, until he was already down that day.

Q Okay. So you don't know what his mood was like previous, prior to when he started choking that day?

A No. I wasn't his nurse that morning, I don't believe. I believe that Kelly King was his nurse that morning and I was working the upstairs dorm.

Q Okay. How long did you work at Booneville?
A Five years.
Q And you're an LPN; correct?
A Yes.
Q Do you have any other licenses or specialized training that I should know about?
A No. I don't have any like specialized training other than [redacted] So I've got a couple of years of like hands-on experience with special needs. But nothing that -- like school wise.

[redacted]

[redacted]

A Yeah.

Q Did you grow up in the Booneville area?

A Yes.
Q Okay. Where did you go to school?
A Booneville.
Q Booneville High?
Any college?
A Yes. I went to the nursing program at ATU at Ozark.
Q And how long is that program?
A That was a long time ago. I think it's about a year.
I've went back since then and gotten a degree, taken some classes. I was going to go back for my RN but then I had kids that started college and decided that I didn't need to be trying to pay for my college and theirs at the same time, so. . .
Q Sacrifices.
A Yeah.
Q What was your degree in?
A I don't want to tell you wrong, but I think it is -- it's the associates degree with Allied Health, I believe.
Q Okay. The LPN, that was a one-year program at Arkansas Tech Ozark?
A Yes. It wasn't a degree program, at that point. It was just like the diploma nursing.
Q Okay. And, just broadly, tell me about your work history prior to -- where did you work prior to Booneville?

A Well, I worked four or five years in a nursing home in Booneville. And then I worked at Mercy Fort Smith in the ER Department.
Q Okay.
A And then in the in-patient hospice department before coming to Booneville.
Q Okay.
I'm sorry, but I have to ask this. Have you ever been terminated from any nursing position?
A No, I haven't.
Q Okay. I assume you don't have any criminal history.
A No.
Q Okay.
And so you had worked at Booneville for roughly five years before recently leaving, so you started in maybe, what, 2016, '17?
A I -- yeah. If that was five years ago, then yeah.
Q Yeah. Five years ago from now --
A Yeah.
Q -- (inaudible) 2017.
A Yeah, that sounds right.
Q Was your title the same the whole time?
A Yes.
Q And what was that title?

A LPN.
Q LPN? And not to belabor the obvious but what were your duties and responsibilities as an LPN there at Booneville?
A I did medication, chemical interventions, treatments; just monitored for change in condition.
Q And you did not provide direct care to the clients; correct?
A Like showering, things like that, no.
Q Well, for instance, I've spoken with Amy Jones and I'm going to talk to Ryann Campos and Tyler Mattson.
And my understanding is, you know, they were residential care workers, they provide direct care. Your duties were --
A Yeah.
Q -- really nothing like their duties?
A No, no. I didn't have any of the same things they did.
Q Okay.
What was your interaction -- how much daily interaction did you have with the clients in general?
A That kind of changes day to day. I spend -- I like to spend a little bit more time at the door kind of building those relationships.
But med passes are very quick. We -- we don't get to spend a lot of time with them during med pass. They -- they line them up in the hall and bring them to the med window, just one right after the other.

The ones I have a little bit more behaviors I spent more time with because, you know, they would call us to do like a check to see if they needed a chemical. And a lot of times, you know, just change in person being with them and talking to them can kind of calm that down.

So, ones with behaviors, I spent a little bit more time with.

Q I'm going to ask you a little bit more about that later.

But, if you could, just take me through a normal day for you there. You get there, what shift did you typically work?

A I worked 6 a.m. until 7:15 p.m.

Q And, if you can, tell me, again, broadly, I don't need you to go minute by minute, but what an average day would be like.

You know, you get there, what building you're in, what do you do, what do you do the next hour. You catch my drift?

A Okay. Pre-COVID and during COVID are kind of different. But --

Q I'm concerned about the time David --

A About --
Q -- (inaudible) his death and --
A -- when this happened?
Q Let's say -- yeah. So COVID started in March of --
A Okay.
Q -- 2020. This happened in June of 2020. So just, you know, spring of 2020, around this time, what was a typical day for you.
A We get to work and clock in at Judge Hill.
Q Okay.
A And we'll count, decide who's going to what area, get our narcotics for that area, and then we go to that dorm.

On the days that I had up and down, I would usually go upstairs and set up a couple of my medications for the ones that don't like to wait for you and then I would go back downstairs and do med pass downstairs and then go back upstairs and do med pass and then come back downstairs to get the couple that had refused to come to the med window. There's always somebody who doesn't want to get up.

And then go back to Judge Hill for our morning meeting. And then the clients would go to their various schedules. And, unless we were called to an area for there being a problem, then I usually wouldn't see them again until lunchtime. And they were still eating lunch still at Commons, at that point.

Q Where would you be --

A They would get their meds -- where would I what?

Q Where would you physically be when they're at lunch?

A I'm trying to remember if we were already giving meds at the dorm during the incident with David.

Because we had changed some things. Before, they all came up to Commons and got their medication at the med room that's at Commons for lunch. And so we would kind of be in the building while they were, most of them, were eating. Or a nurse would be kind of in the building while they were giving -- while they were eating lunch.

But I believe, when this happened, we were already giving lunch meds at the dorm because some of the work areas weren't going all the time.

It's -- I'm -- it's been awhile and things have been so different.

Q Let me ask it a different way.

When there's downtime, when you're not needed for a chemical intervention, when you're not needed for handing out meds, kind of in that time period that you were alluding to, do you have an office that you go to or somewhere in Judge Hill that you --

A Yeah. We have an office, slash, break room that we're in for most of the time.

Q Okay.
A If we're not in our dorms.
Q And that's in the Judge Hill building?
A Yes.
Q But you would also be assigned to a specific dorm?
A Yes. Well, when we come in, in the mornings, there's -- the nurses that are working decide where they're going.
Q Okay.
MR. COLLINS: Hey, Josh --
A And Davidson House was --
MR. COLLINS: Go ahead, Amanda.
THE WITNESS: I'm sorry, what?
MR. COLLINS: You go ahead. Finish your --
A Okay. Davidson House was my normal dorm. It's usually where I worked if there were two nurses upstairs. If there were not, then I would work the whole dorm most of the time that I worked.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Okay.
MR. COLLINS: Josh, before we move on, real quick, I know we kind of skipped past it at the beginning since we were trying to get into this real quick.

The usual stipulations and reserve any objections, I want to make sure we have that on the record, that we're doing that, and not waiving them; right?

MR. GILLISPIE: Yes. Yes, sir.

MR. COLLINS: Okay. Thank you.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Okay.

So we talked about how your role is obviously different than that of the direct care providers.

A Correct.

Q And, by direct care providers, I mean the residential --

A Yeah.

Q I'm sorry. I forgot the term.

A Yeah.

Q Help me out here. For what Tyler and --

A Residential staff.

Q Yeah, residential staff. Direct care staff.

I'm going to refer to them interchangeably as residential staff, direct care staff. Does that make sense to you?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And what you did was different?
You were there for medical purposes and for emergencies when needed? Is that fair to say?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And I'm assuming you did not have to go through the same training as them either as it relates to --
A No.
Q Specifically, you did not have to go through the same training as them as it relates to restraining, physical restraints on clients, that sort of thing?
A Yeah. We don't -- we don't have any of that training.
Q Okay. None of the NCI non-violent crisis intervention? None of the de-escalation stuff? You don't go through that training?
A We had a very short training. Our -- the nursing isn't anything like residential. We have a very short -- like how to -- how to get loose if they get ahold of us training.
Q Okay. Briefly --
A But we don't learn (inaudible) --
Q Briefly, tell me how you would get loose.
A They told us things like, if they came up and grabbed you like around your chest, you know, from behind, you know, to wiggle, to scoot down to get your arms underneath them to get loose.

Or, if they grab your wrist to, you know, pull your arms towards their thumb side to get your arm loose.

Q Okay.

A But we didn't learn any takedown holds or anything like that.

Q Okay.

Just to be crystal clear, because if I'm correct in what I hear you saying, we can move on and this is going to go a lot quicker.

But I think what you're saying, and I just need you to verify it for me, is that, as an LPN, you didn't have to get any of that -- you weren't trained in NCI or how to apply personal restraints to clients; correct?

A No. We were never shown how to do restraints.

Q Okay.

Do you have any knowledge of what kind of training the residential staff would have had in those things?

A No.

Q Okay.

A I know that they're shown what they can do. They practice in a class how to take somebody down to the ground or how to like just restrain their hands for personal holds.

Q Okay.
A But I --
Q And you know they have a class, they're taught how to take clients to the ground in a class?
A Yeah. Or how to like just restrain their hands, how to remove them from harm efficiently.
Q Okay.
A But I don't know what they're taught in those classes.
Q Okay. Do you know where those classes are given or who teaches them?
A No.
Q Okay. But it's your understanding, at least, that those classes include techniques for getting clients to the ground?
A Yes.
Q And you don't know what those techniques are though; right?
A No.
Q And tell me about your relationship with David Cains. I think you said you worked in Davidson and I think that's where he lived.
A Yeah.
Q Did you know him, see him regularly?
A Yeah. I had David quite frequently. He -- it was -- he was really a fun guy.

I mean, he did have behaviors and he would get overwhelmed and kind of lash out, but he -- he didn't mean to. He wasn't like -- he wouldn't have a behavior because he wanted to get his way.

It was -- you know, he would just kind of lose control sometimes. But he was -- he was such a fun guy. He played the tambourine and loved the Monkees.

And he had a Mr. Potato Head. That was kind of mine and his thing, is he had this Mr. Potato Head and I'd always tell him I was going to take the eyes from his Mr. Potato Head and put it where the nose goes and the nose where the eyes go; and he would just get like all kinds of excited about it. And he moved it on a top shelf to show me that I couldn't reach it to move his eyes.

And he was -- he was a really cool guy. We had a pretty good relationship.

Q That's great. That's great to hear.

A Yeah.

Q So you didn't consider him to be a particularly violent or aggressive patient?

A No. I mean, he -- he lashed out a lot when he got overwhelmed. But it was usually like a really quick just throw a fire extinguisher or throw a stack of cups or whatever, you know, but I don't think that he was ever trying to hurt anybody. He just didn't know what to do with his feelings.

Q It kind of sounds like almost like toddler stuff. Is that fair to say?

A Yeah. Yeah. Several times that he was very upset and going to have a behavior like at the dorm, he would come down to the med window and just -- he'd cry.

You know, he'd just come down there and start crying. And usually he'd -- you know, me and him would just kind of joke around about the Mr. Potato Head or whatever and he would calm down.

But it's just -- I don't know. Sometimes he would come down there too and grab a stack of cups off my med cart and throw them across the room.

But it was always followed with, I'm sorry, I'm sorry, are you mad at me, am I in trouble. You know, he -- he didn't mean it.

Q And you never felt like he was -- did you ever feel like he was capable of causing real violence to you or anybody else? You know, physical harm, that sort of thing?

A He threw a fire extinguisher at my head one time.

Q Okay.

A That was -- but I don't think he was actually aiming for my head. I think he was just mad and found a -- you know, saw the fire extinguisher and threw it that direction, you know?

Q Do you know --
A But, yeah, he -- he could have hurt somebody very easily though.
Q Did he ever hurt you?
A No.
Q Okay. Did you see him hurt anyone else?
A No, not hurt anybody else.
Q Okay. Did you ever hear about or do you know of him ever causing actual injury to anybody else?
A Actual injury, no.
We have a lot of client to clients that result in like a red mark or a scratch. And I can't tell you that David never did any of that.
Q Uh-huh.
A That's just such a frequent occurrence, I can't say that he never did. But never serious injury, no.
Q Do you know of any specific instance or a specific person that he ever left a scratch or mark on?
A There -- there's no way for me to be able to answer that. There's a lot of behaviors in that facility and there are a lot to client to clients. And if I told you --
Q Well, let me --

A -- for sure that --
Q Let me stop you --
A -- (inaudible) know.
Q Let me make that easier for you.
I'm not asking you to guess. Obviously, you can't possibly know everything that goes on. I get that. I just mean do you have any specific knowledge, as we sit here today, of the name of a person or the specifics of any incident where he left a mark on somebody?
A There is nothing that sticks out in my mind.
Q Okay. And I understand that, you know, it may have -- I'm just asking, do you know of any -- I just need to know if there's any specific --
A Yeah, I don't -- I don't. I just don't want to tell you that for sure, that he didn't any time that I was a nurse because I --
Q That's not what I'm asking.
A -- don't want --
Q That's not what I'm asking.
A -- (inaudible) --
Q I only want to know what you know, what you truly know. Does that make sense?
A Okay. Yes.
Q And that's going to --
A I do not recall --

Q -- make this whole thing go faster for you and easier.
A Right. Okay. I do not recall a certain person that he has left marks on; no, I do not.
Q Okay.
Did you ever witness David trying to hit anybody?
A Yeah. I witnessed him throw a fire extinguisher. I've witnessed him throw things at people.
Q I mean with his hand, like a slap or a punch.
A Yeah. He pulls his hand back. I've seen him pull his hand back several times but not actually hit somebody.
Q And, when he does it, is it like, you know, a grown man about to slug somebody like this or is it more like what a kid would do?
A Usually more like a kid to, you know, like preaching.
Q Okay. But you've never seen him make a fist and swing at anybody with his fist?
A I don't believe so.
Q And you never heard of him doing that?
A I don't believe so.
Q Okay. And, again, you don't have any personal or specific knowledge of David causing an injury to anybody; correct?

A Correct.
Q Okay.
A I have seen him hit himself --
Q Uh-huh.
A -- when he's been upset and pull his hand up like he's going to bite himself.
Q Uh-huh.
Are there other residents that -- and I'm not asking for their personal information or their names. But are there other residents that you know of that have caused real injury to somebody that's the kind of injury that's required medical attention? Has that happened?
A Yes, it has. But they are usually more self injuries for -- the major injuries that we've had are usually more self inflicted.
Q To your knowledge --
A But we do get --
Q To your knowledge, has any staff member ever had to go to the hospital or get any kind of medical treatment because of something a client has done to them?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Who was the staff member?
A There have been several that have had to come like to the nurse for deep scratches, for bite marks.
Q Okay.

A We've had some sexual assaults on campus --
Q Okay.
A -- from residents.
Q Okay. Never from David though; right?
A No. Not that I'm aware of.
Q Okay. And you never had to treat any bite marks or scratch marks that David has caused, as far as you specifically know; right?
A Not as far as I recall.
Q Okay. David certainly never sexually assaulted anybody; right?
A No. No.
Q Okay. But there are -- I guess there are clients there that are capable of serious stuff like that?
A Yes, there are.
Q Okay. Are there clients there that, you know, you really wouldn't want to be alone in a room with?
A Most definitely.
Q Are there a lot? I mean, is that a rare thing? Are there several men, male clients, like that there?
A There are several there that you definitely should not want to be alone with. I -- downstairs --
Q And David's not one of them; right?
A No. David's not, no.
Q Okay.

A I would never be afraid to be alone anywhere with David.
Q David, you know, plays with Mr. Potato Head and listens to the Monkees. You know, don't give him a fire extinguisher; but, other than that --
A Right.
Q -- he's nothing to be afraid of?
A They're all -- you should be afraid of all of them. You should really be concerned that any of them, at any point, could hurt you.
Q Okay.
A But -- you know what I mean? You know that going in though.
Q Okay.
Have you ever participated in any restraints of David other than chemical restraints?
A No. No physical restraints.
Q I assume you've had to administer chemical restraints at times.
A Yes.
[redacted]
Q Okay. Approximately how often would you have to do that, administer the chemical intervention with David?

A I'm sorry. I can't really answer that. I don't know; and it's been quite a while since I've had David and I -- there are so many clients there.
Q Uh-huh.
A It seems like it was getting more frequently.
Q If you had to put a number on it -- and, again, I know it's been a long time and I'm asking you to estimate to the best of your memory.

If you had to put a number on how many chemical interventions you would have been involved in with David Cains during your time there, about how many would you say?
A I don't feel comfortable making a guess on that. There's too many clients and it's been too long. And we respond to all chemicals, not just the ones for our clients. And I -- I don't feel comfortable putting a number on that.
Q Okay. And I get that. I'm just trying to -- I have no idea whether it was once a year or once a week. Could you at least help me out there?
A At least once every couple of months.
Q Okay. Thank you. Thank you. That gives me something.

MR. COLLINS: John, do you mind if I take two minutes?

MR. GILLISPIE: No. Let's do it.
MR. COLLINS: Okay.
(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q I think the last thing I'd asked you, you said you never participated in any personal restraint.
Aside from chemical restraints, you never participated in any other type of physical restraint of David; right?
A Right.
Q How about mechanical restraints? Did you ever have to participate in that with David?
A We don't -- nurses don't normally put somebody in mechanical restraints. We do check them after they've been in the mechanical restraints; but I don't recall ever -- I don't recall David being in mechanical restraints.
Q Okay. And, when I say mechanical restraints -- rather, when you say mechanical restraints, are you referring to the papoose board?
A Yes.
Q Anything else that would be considered mechanical restraints that you're aware of at Booneville?

A Not -- no. That's what -- that's what they use. But I don't recall David being in that.

Q Okay.

Did you ever witness David being restrained, put in a personal restraint, taken to the ground, anything like that? Did you ever witness that prior to the date of his death?

A I believe that I've seen like somebody holding his hands, like when he's reaching through to grab something. I've seen people like pull his hands back down.

But I've never seen him be like held. Usually, when they have called me for a chemical on him, he's crying when I get there and not in any type of restraint.

And I could ask him, you know, David, do you need something to help you calm down; and he would very happily, yes, and he'd take his coat off, he'd pull his sleeve up. Like they didn't have to hold him for that.

Q Yeah. [redacted]

A He didn't like being out of control.

[redacted]

Did you ever -- was he ever being restrained on the ground? Do you ever recall him being restrained on the ground when you've got to give him that chemical restraint?

A I don't recall ever seeing that, no.
Q Okay.
Did you know Tyler Mattson?
A Yes.
Q Y'all worked together for several years?
A Yes.
Q How close were you?
A He wasn't always one of staff at my dorm. He worked at other dorms also.
We talked at work but not outside of work unless I just bumped into him at Walmart or something.
Q Okay. Do you recall him ever having any issues with David Cains? Or David Cains having any issues with Tyler?
A Oh, like personal issues? No.
Q Okay. Or any issues? Do you have any memory of --
A No.
Q -- those two interacting?
A No. I really don't.
Q Were there any staff members that David Cains was afraid of or would have bad reactions to or have any issues with whatsoever that you know of?
A Not -- not that I recall. Not a particular staff member. It was more situations that he had problems with than people.

Q And what were those situations?
A Well, like if he was somewhere where things were very loud or if there was a lot going on or somebody was having an outburst around him, that would really affect him.

And he didn't like to go to class. He didn't like to go to schedule frequently.
Q When would class be during the day?
A They go, usually, after breakfast until three o'clock. But different ones have different schedules. I don't know David's particular schedule.
Q Do you know what he --
A I just know that he --
Q Do you know what he would typically do --
A He went to the Hemp building and -- or Hamp. I'm not for sure exactly how they say it.

But that's where -- I know he was -- at least one of his training areas. Because I've went there several times because he was upset and needed to go back to the dorm or needed a chemical.
Q Do you know --
A I'm not really for sure what he did though. I think he did (inaudible) but I'm not positive.
Q Do you know what David would typically do after lunch?

A No. I don't remember his schedule.
Q Okay.
Amy Jones testified that Booneville was short staffed at the time of his death, in June of 2020. Do you also recall that being the case?
A I don't recall when they weren't short staffed.
Q Okay. Tell me more about that.
A We have a lot of people that have to stay when their shift is over and work another shift without notice. We have -- you know, sometimes night shift can't go home. They stay and have to work during the day.
There's been a lot of times that they have taken somebody that's supposed to be a one-to-one staff and had to drop their supervision level to just where you can visually see them instead of one-to-one. That's a very frequent occurrence.
Q And would it be fair to say that there were times when the facility was running with less than the necessary amount of staff needed to care for the patients properly?
A There were a lot of times that they had a lot less staff than I felt was what they needed, yes.
Q Okay. And, in your opinion or based on your observations or how you feel about it, do you feel like that understaffing issue led to frustration on the part of staff and direct care staff?

A Most definitely. They were exhausted.
Q Made their days more difficult and stressful than it needed to be, I assume.
A Yes. They were -- they were absolutely exhausted.
Q And this was the case in June of 2020 as well; correct?
A Right after COVID first started, we had -- a lot of people quit.
Q Uh-huh.
A And it's very hard, like in my mind, to think about when that was in relation to David.
This past couple of years has been one very, very, long day, is what it's felt like; because it's -- and everything like time wise is kind of like thrown off.
Q Well, let me help you --
A But they -- they've been short since I started.
Q You -- okay. So, even in normal times, staffing was an issue.
But I'm assuming that, after COVID started, when people started quitting, staffing was even more of an issue; correct?
A Yes. Yes.
Q Okay. And --
A It was a huge issue.

Q Okay. And, in my mind, the pandemic started in March of -- you know, pandemic for us started in March of 2020. I think of it that way because it's when the NBA shut down, it's when Tom Hanks announced he had it, and it was just like, oh, my God, this is real. My kids were in the NICU at the time, so I'll always remember that.

So it was roughly four months after that, in June, that David died. So fair to say that's in the middle of the pandemic; right?

A Yes.

Q Okay.

All right. Let's just get to the date of his death.

Were you the nurse that received the emergency medical call from the direct care staff that day?

A I did not receive -- they called the emergency number. And I'm not the nurse who answered that number. But we were all in the break room and --

Q At Judge Hill?

A -- Debbie had answered that phone call.

Yes. And she said that we had a patient choking.

Q Uh-huh.

A And she said I'll grab the emergency bag. I grabbed the AED and when I -- I ran to my car. And, by the time I got to my car, they were calling my personal phone.

Q Okay. Back up just a little bit. Put a pin in that, back up just a little bit.

You said Debbie Noah is who received the call?

A I'm -- yes. Yes. Debbie Noah received the emergency call.

Q Okay. And you were with Debbie Noah in the Judge Hill building when she got that call?

A Yes.

Q And who else was there? Ms. King?

A Kelly King. Uh-huh.

Q Okay. And do you know -- I believe it was Ryann Campos that made this call. Do you know if that's true or not?

A She's the one that called my personal.

Q And she told you that --

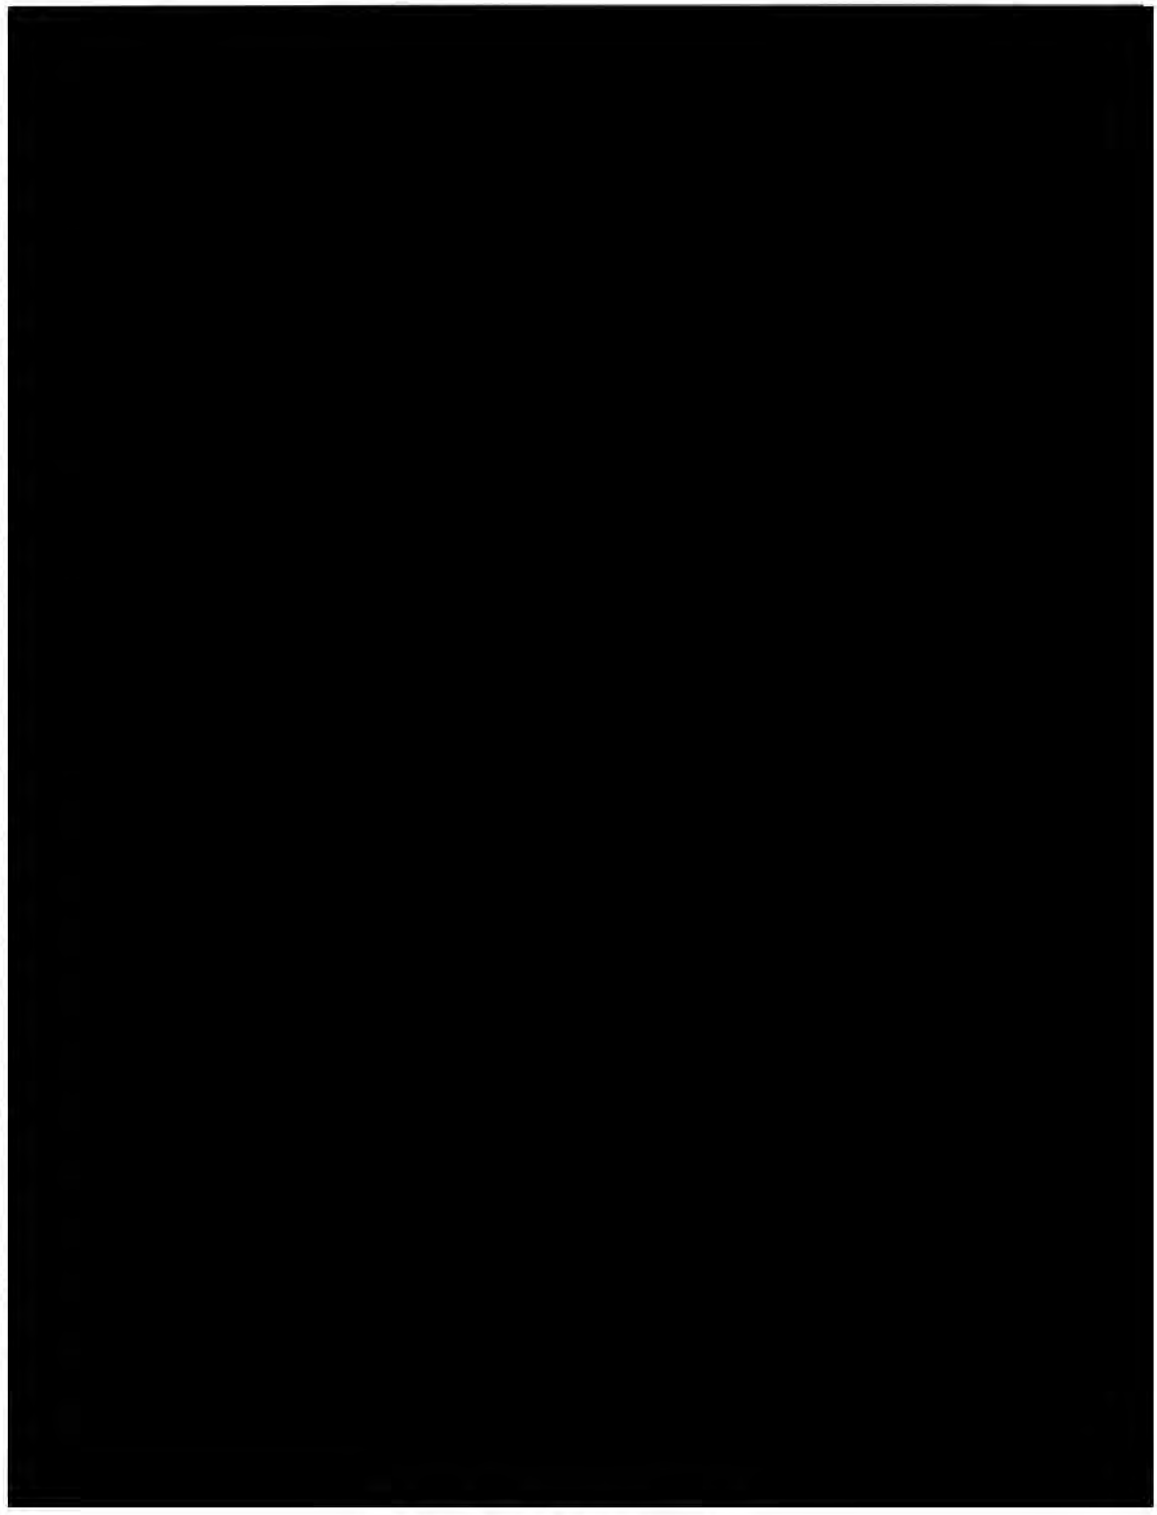
A But I don't -- I don't know who called the number.

[redacted]

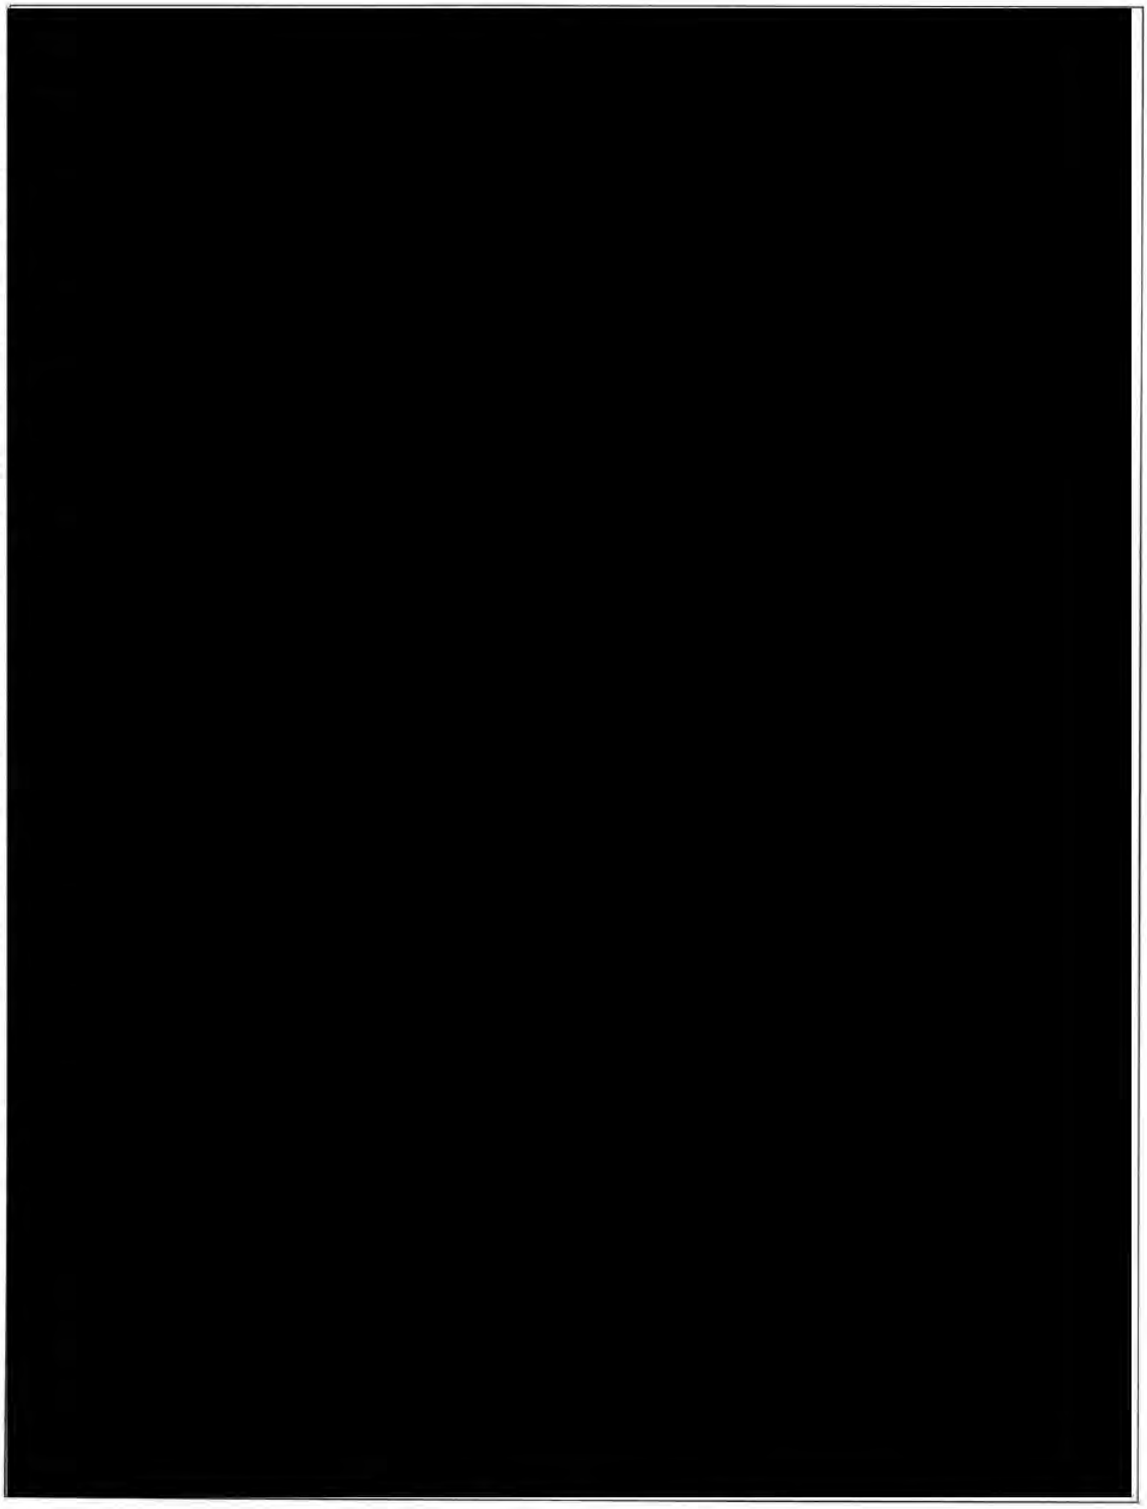
Q That's okay. You don't need to. I just wanted to know so my associate could write it down for me.

All right. Do you know -- I believe that what I've seen in the record was that that call came to Debbie Noah at 11:33 a.m. Do you know if that's true or do you not know?

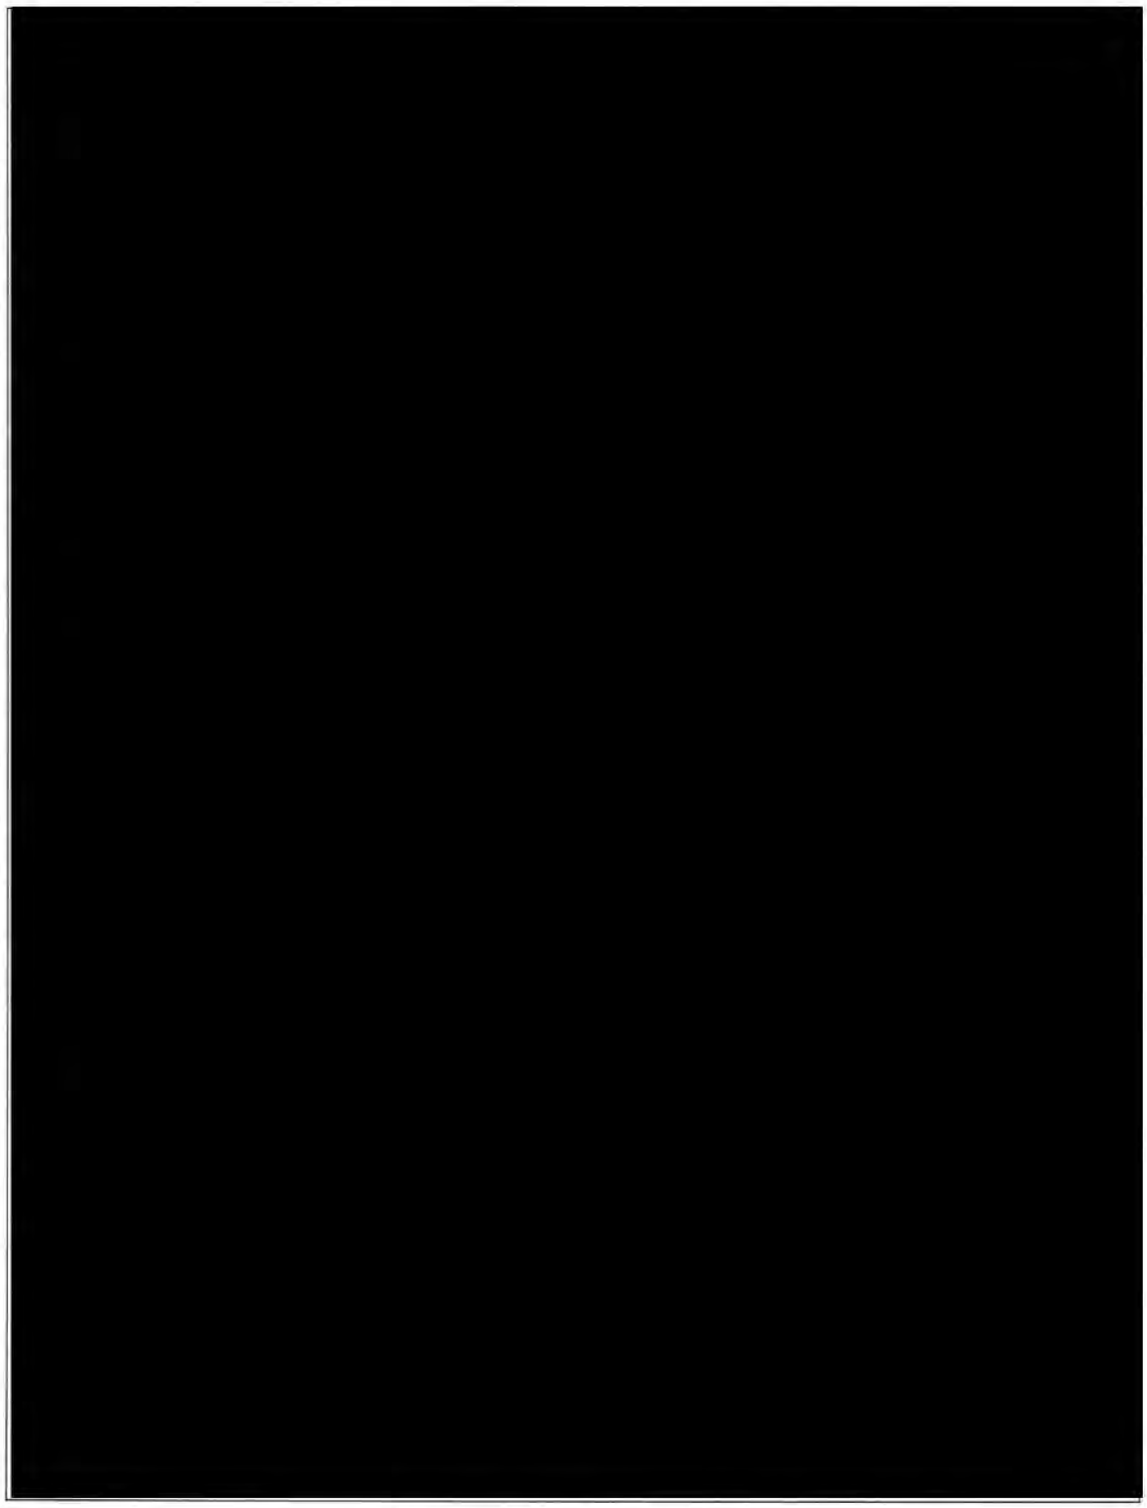
A I have not reviewed my nurses note since the day of the incident, so I don't know time.



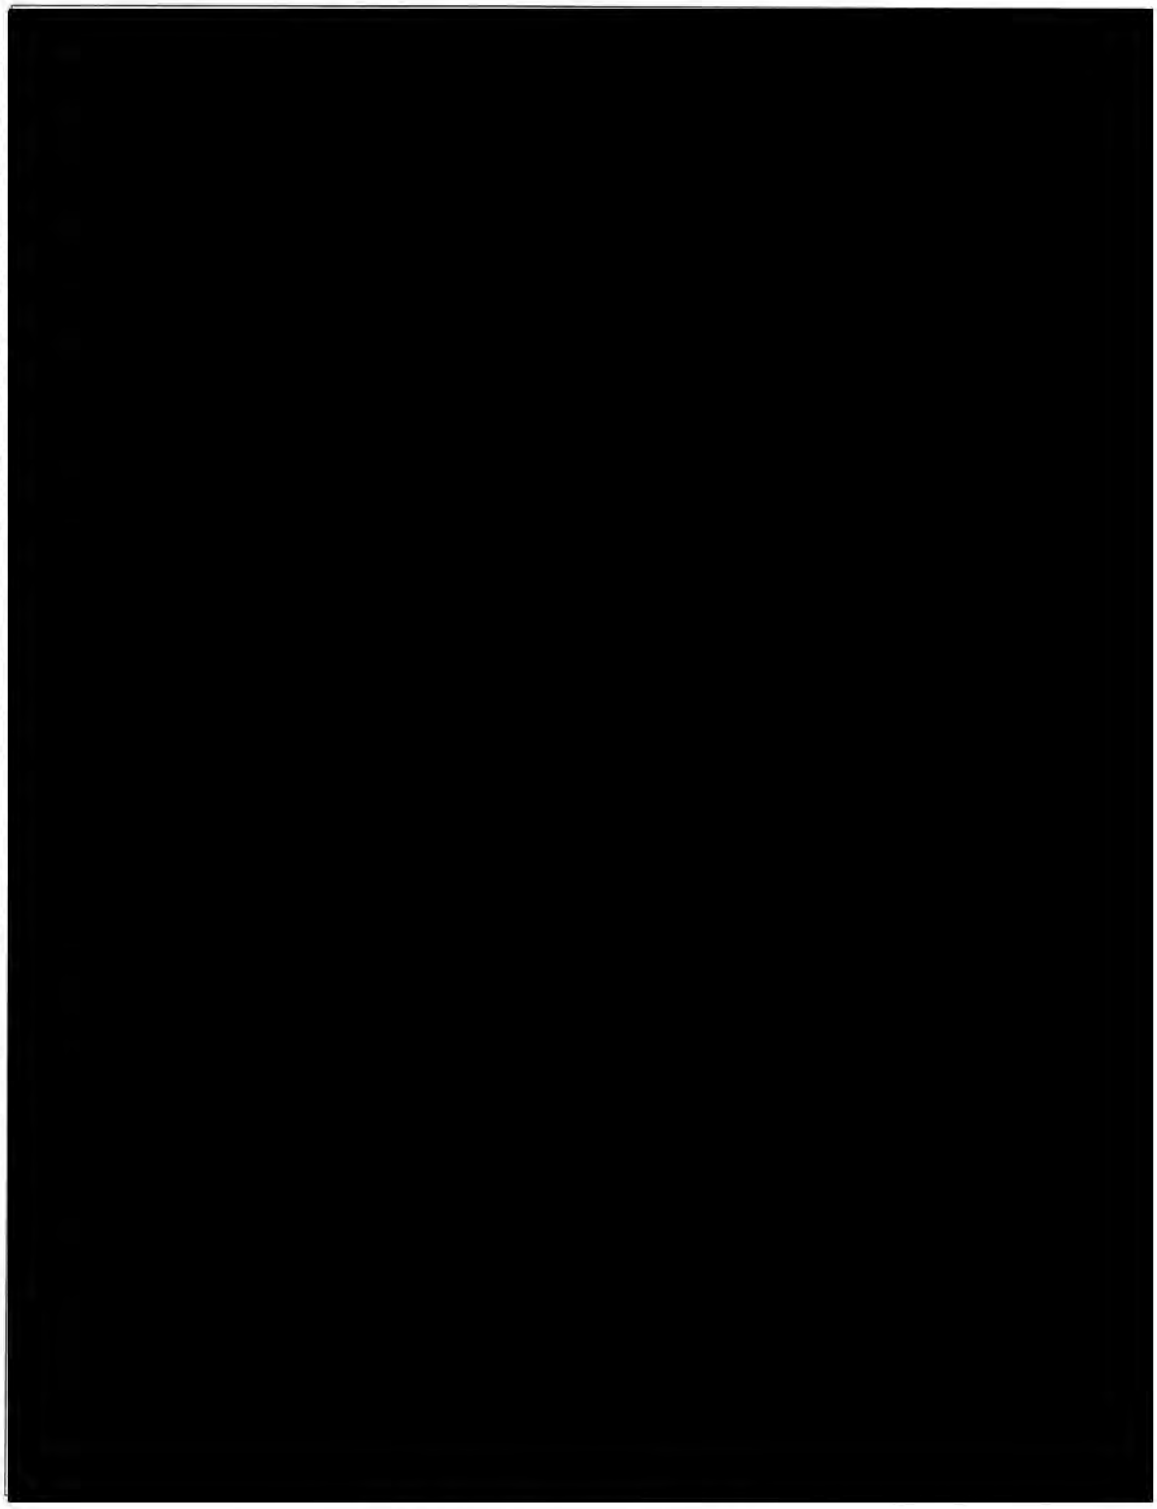
Q Okay.



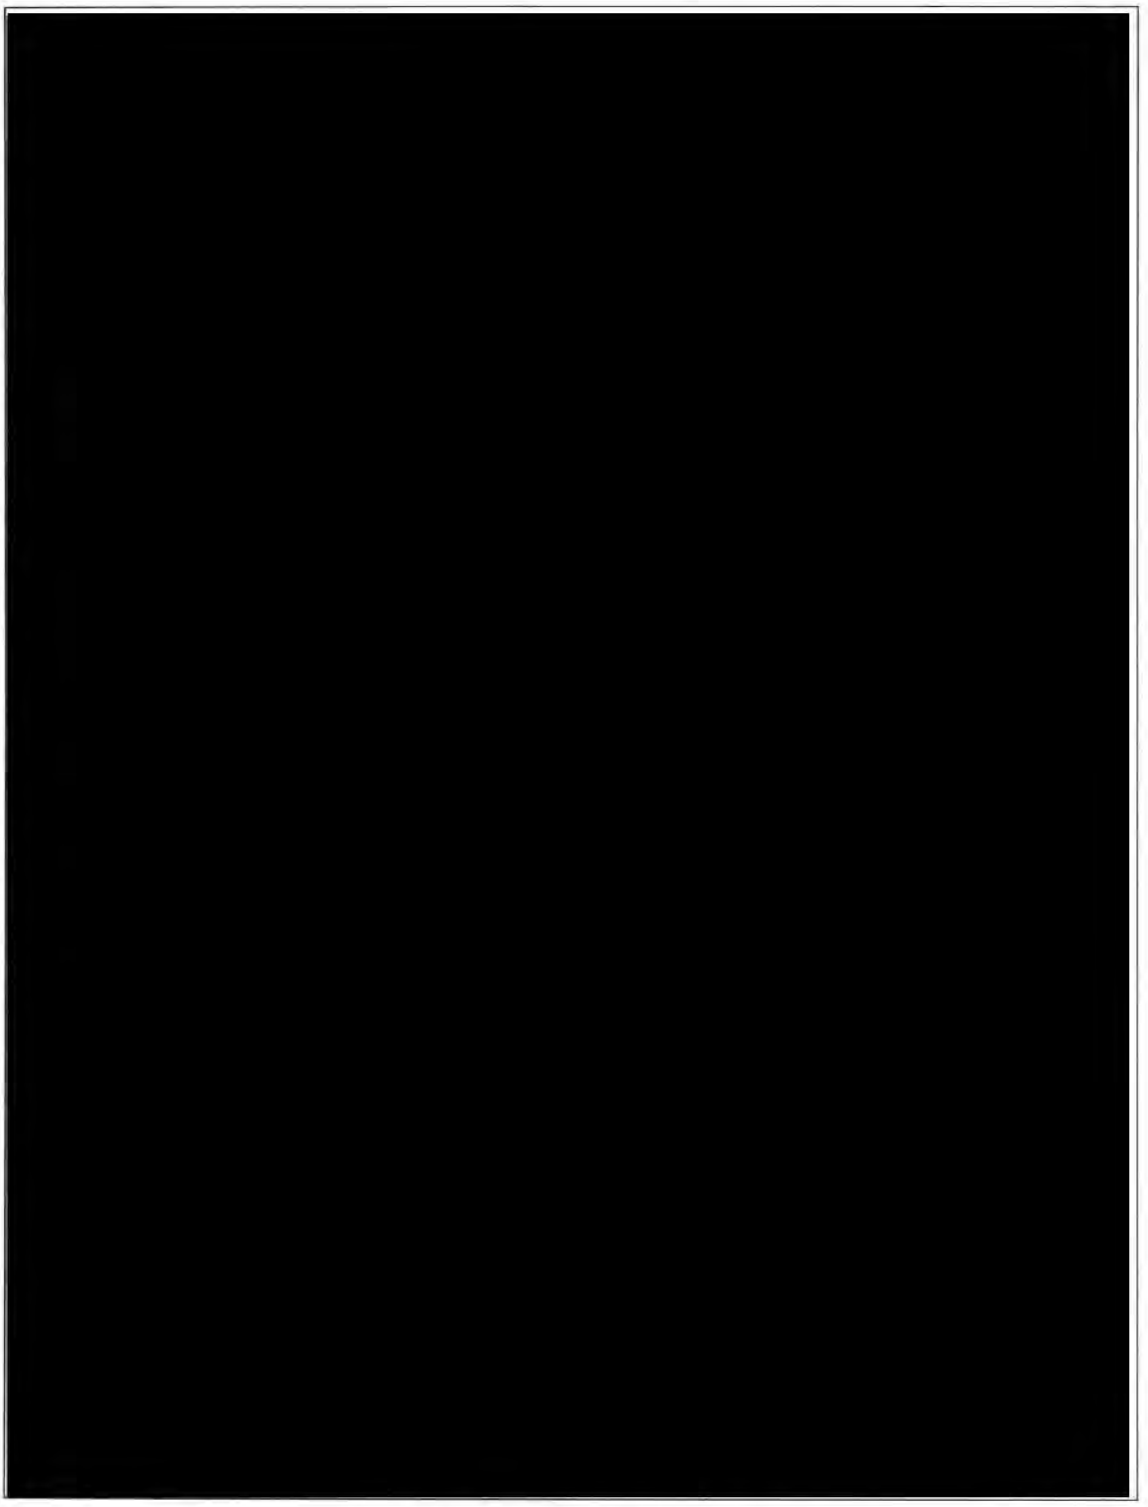
(Brief discussion off the record.)
A Now, I did speak with the office of long-term care after the incident.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Okay. And I have that statement and I know I've seen it. And I was going to refer to it just to help you out, but I'm not sure I have it in front of me. That's okay though.
All right. So Debbie Noah gets that call. Take me through step by step what happens after Debbie gets that call. And in as much detail as you can recall. This is kind of the important part of your deposition.
So as much detail --
A Right.
Q -- second, minute by minute, go.
A Okay.
Debbie got the call; she hung up and said that a client was not breathing. She gave us the name of a different client.
I don't know if we're supposed to say somebody else's name, but she said that they had said that a different client was choking and not breathing. They had given the wrong name.
And she said -- she was getting the emergent -- they were at Commons. She was getting the emergency bag.



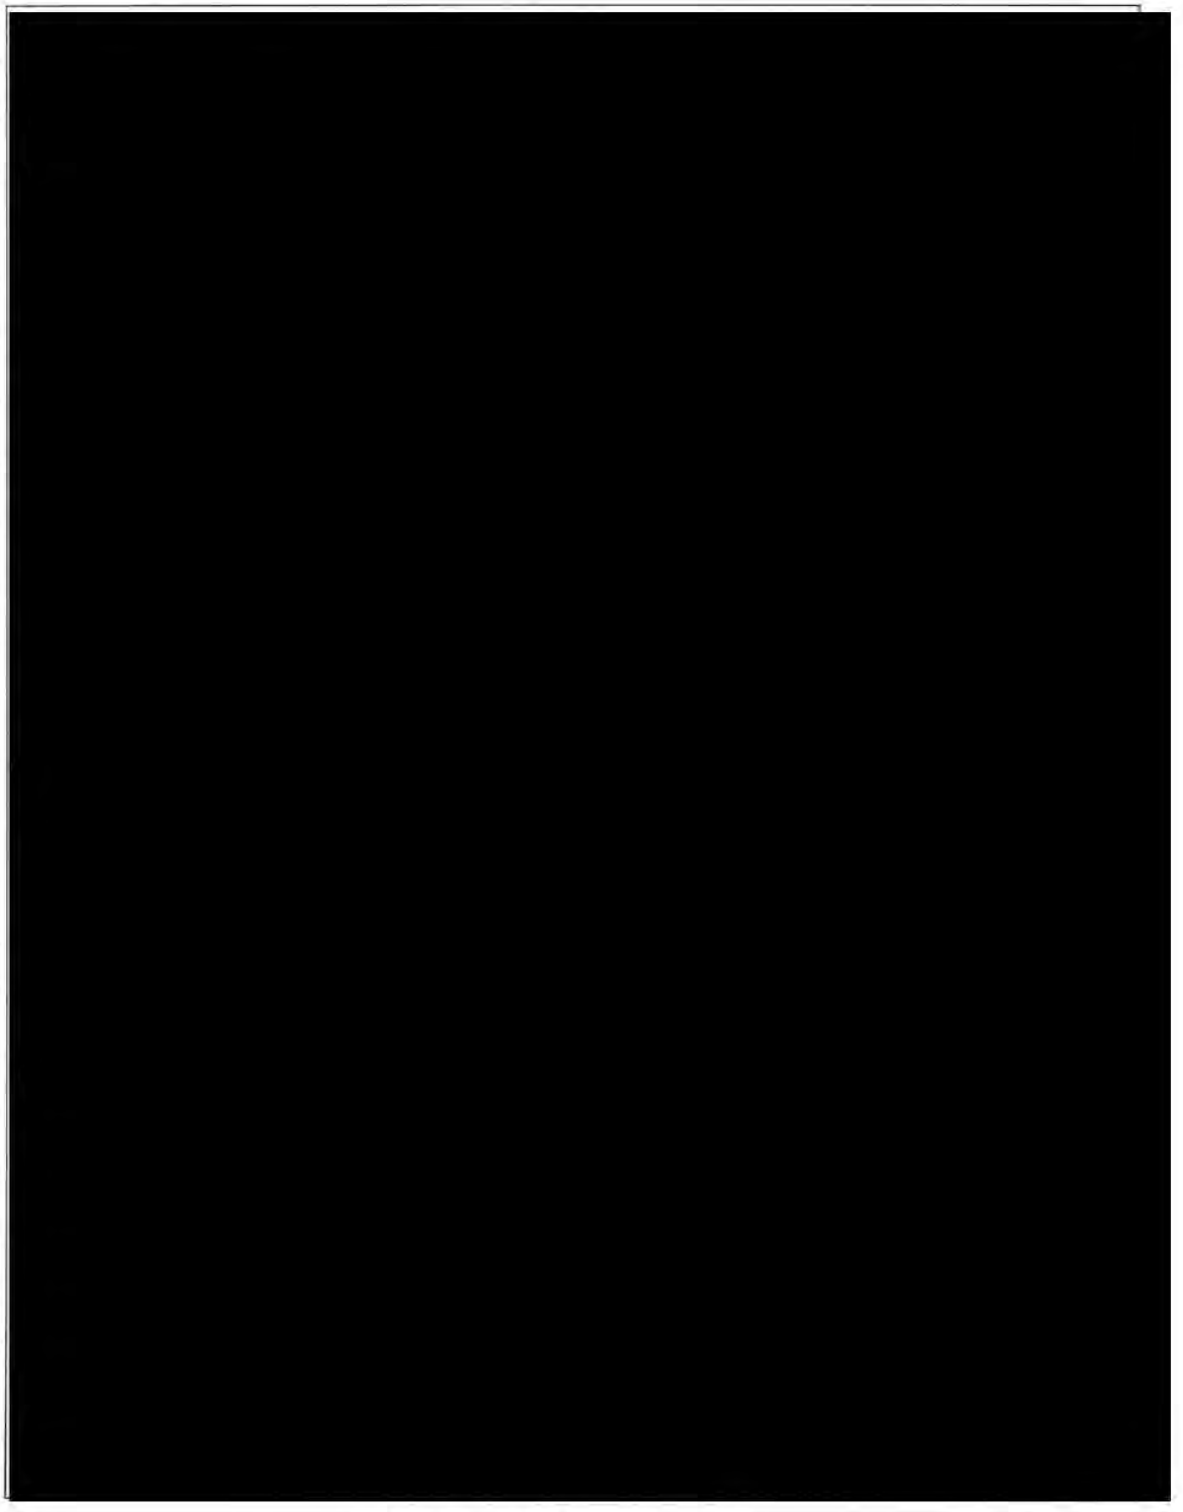
Kelly King and I ran out the front door, I grabbed the AED that is at Judge Hill by the front door to take with me.



There is one at Commons. But, if I'm in an area that has one, in responding to an emergency, I'm always going to grab that one too, just in case a battery is dead or there's a problem with it, whatever.



[redacted]



As soon as we got on scene, 9-1-1 was -- we made sure that 9-1-1 was notified. As far as why they didn't call 9-1-1 first, I'm not for sure. I wasn't there.

Q Wasn't there a policy that forbid them from calling 9-1-1?

A I don't believe that there's a policy that says you can not call 9-1-1. They are supposed to call medical.

But, to the best of my knowledge, the policy states that you can call -- you call medical and you can call 9-1-1 for staff or clients who need it.

I have not reviewed that policy in a long time but I am -- I am pretty confident the policy states -- doesn't state that you're not allowed to call 9-1-1.

Q I'm going to show -- I have the policy here. It's Policy -- Booneville HBC Policy 4-B-10, Bates Stamp 4423.

MR. GILLISPIE: Eric, we previously used this. This was Exhibit 2 in Ms. Jones' deposition.

(Brief discussion off the record.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q All right. So we'll call it Exhibit 1 for Ms. Schmitt's deposition. I'm going to read it out loud and I'm going to show it to you.

(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 1 and is attached hereto.)

THE WITNESS: I can't see it. I can't see --

MR. GILLISPIE: I know. I haven't shown it to you. I'm going to.

COURT REPORTER: She can't see us though.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. That's right.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q This is Booneville Policy 4-B-10. This was produced to me by Booneville and DHS in discovery. And I'm going to read from it.

Procedures, number one -- I'm sorry. Procedures, number two.

In all cases in which a serious medical injury or illness is suspected either to clients or staff, a call to the medical department should be made. This should be the first call so medical staff can respond immediately to the situation.

A call to medical at 1422 should be made and the following information should be given; caller's name and title, victim's name, location, situation and condition of the victim, parentheses, alert, unconscious, et cetera.

Medical will assess the situation and call an ambulance if appropriate.

So my understanding all along has been -- and it was also the direct care staff's understanding, at least the ones I've deposed so far, which is Amanda Jones.

It was her understanding that only medical staff were supposed to call 9-1-1. Are you saying that's not your understanding?

A My understanding is that, as a nurse, I can make a determination to call 9-1-1 whenever the staff doesn't --

Q Well, I know you can.

A -- necessarily think it needs to be done. But --

Q I know you can do that.

A -- my understanding is not that they're not allowed to call 9-1-1.

Q Okay.
A But they are supposed to call us first, but --
Q So you're surprised to hear that that's their understanding of it then?
A Not -- I -- I can't speak to what somebody else would read into that situation. And I can't speak to how they would feel about it.
I do know that, regardless of what my policy is, if somebody is obviously fixing to die in front of me, I'm going to call 9-1-1.
Q Uh-huh.
A I don't think that they knew that he was not -- did not have a pulse.
When we got there, I do not believe that they, in any way, thought that he did not have a pulse. They were still thinking that they were just dealing with somebody who was choking.
Q Well, he was choking and he was turning purple; he was vomiting. And Amanda testified that he'd stopped breathing at the time they made the call.
So, in your opinion, that should have been a call to -- there should have been a call to 9-1-1 made at the same time; right? Or even before y'all?
A I believe, per policy, they have to call us first.
Q All right.

A That is the policy that they were given, that they have to call us first.

My understanding is this went from him having a behavior to him being on the floor very quickly.

[redacted]

Q Is Ryann the only person that you talked to about what went on before you arrived on the scene?

A They were all kind of trying to tell us what happened. That he had had a behavior, that he was choking.

But they were all standing in the same area trying to give us information.

Q What all did they tell you, specifically, that you can recall?

I guess I'm asking, what's your understanding -- as you sit here today, what's your understanding -- I know you weren't there.

But, based on what you've been told or what you've heard, what is your understanding of what exactly happened prior to you arriving on that scene?
A My understanding is that he got upset inside of the dining room, that he started having a behavior, that they were taking him into the hallway, and he vomited and choked.
Q Okay. What about how he got to the ground? Do you know anything about that?
A I don't.
Q Okay. What about direct staff restraining him on the ground by holding his legs, holding his head, things like that? Do you know anything about that?
A Ryann told me that she was holding his legs and noticed that he had a liquid bowel movement.
Q Okay.
Did she also tell you that Amy Jones was holding his head to prevent him from spitting?
A She -- I don't -- no. I don't recall her telling me that.
Q Okay. Do you recall anything about anyone holding his head, at any point, to restrain him during the restraint?
A I -- no. I wasn't -- I wasn't there for the restraint. And they didn't tell me any details of the restraint, just that he had choked.

Q Okay.
And what are all of the medical tools available to y'all in a situation like this that you have there?
I know you told me about some of them. I just want to make sure I'm not missing something. You've told me about the suction mask, you told me about the shock device.
What other tools did you guys have at your disposal to save his life?
A We -- we only do -- we can't do a chemical code.
Like, in a hospital, they can give medications to help get a heart -- you know, to --
Q The paramedics --
A -- start to get a rhythm and stuff. We don't have those --
Q Paramedics that come in an ambulance --
A Yeah. Paramedics do that.
Q -- (inaudible) that too; right?
A Yes. They -- they can do a chemical code.
Q Okay.
A In facility, we can not. We can not do deep suctioning.
We have just a hard suction tube that we can put into the mouth. We can't do like deep suctioning into the throat --

Q Paramedics --
A -- and the bag mask --
Q Paramedics can do the deep suctioning though; right?
A Yes.
Q And they can do the chemical -- what did you call it?
A Like a chemical code.
Q Uh-huh.
A They can do that part of it. They can administer IV medications. We can not.
Q And, if David had -- done in time, is that chemical code like the most effective thing that could have been done, maybe, based on your knowledge and training?
A In any -- in a hospital setting where you can do advanced life support, that is.

But, inside of a long-term care facility, we are not able to do advanced life saving. We have what is called basic life support.

Q Okay.

I guess what I'm getting at is, in a perfect world -- and I get that it's not -- you have no responsibility for what tools you're given there. This isn't a -- I'm not, in any way, trying to criticize you.

I'm just asking, in a perfect world, what would you have liked to have had when you got there to try to save his life?

A Any emergency room physician, an ICU staff, a ventilator. All of the things that you can only provide inside a hospital, that is what would have been needed to save his life.

Q But, even then, things that a paramedic can provide such as deep suctioning or the chemicals, that would have even been better than what you had; right?

A It would have been better. But I don't think that it would have made a difference. I really don't.

Q Okay.

[redacted]

Q I understand.

And do you have any idea how long the choking, whatever it is that went on prior to them calling you, do you have any idea how long that went on?

A I do not know.

Q And about how long do you think it took you to get to the scene after the call was made to Debbie Noah?

A It didn't take any time at all. I was parked directly in front of the building.

I actually have a really bad habit of jumping the curb and parking in the grass right in front of Judge Hill.

It's where we're not purposed to park; but it's where I purposely park my vehicle because there is no parking in front of Judge Hill. And I want to be able to get to somebody in an emergency. Commons is just right up the road from where we were.

Q Yeah.

Let me ask it this way. Approximately how long do you think it took from the time Debbie Noah got this call to the time you got to your car?

A Until the time I got to my car?

Q Yeah. Thirty seconds?

A Thirty second. Forty-five seconds.

Q Okay. And --

A It was -- it's a very small building and it was a dead run.

Q And you had to grab -- and you stopped to grab the thing you needed, of course.

A Yes. It is -- it is by the front door.

Q Okay. And Nurse King is with you? She gets in the car with you; right?

A Yes.

Q And about how long -- about how many seconds or minutes did it take to drive from Judge Hill to the Commons building?
A It's going to be less than a minute or maybe right at a minute.
Q Okay.
A I mean, it was -- we pulled out and I hit the gas.
Q Okay.
And then about, approximately, how long would it take for you to then get out of your -- or park at Commons, get out of your car, and reach the scene?
A I parked directly in front of the front doors.
So we jumped out of the car, ran up the stairs into the building, and he was right inside the front doors, right up the stairs.
Q So maybe 45 seconds?
A So that wouldn't be long. Forty-five seconds to a minute, maybe.
Q Okay.
A I mean, like I'm -- I'm overshooting the amount of time it would take, so I'm not -- I don't know. We were running.
Q Okay.
A These are people that we deeply care about. This is not just a job. These are people that we care about.

These are people that we go to bed at night still thinking about.

Q Uh-huh. I believe --

A We -- we don't slowly respond to this kind of thing.

Q I know. I know you were -- I get that. I get that. And I'm not suggesting you weren't.

A These clients are almost like our children.

Q Yeah. I can appreciate that. And I can tell that you cared about David.

A Very much.

Q I know that will make his family feel good to hear when they see this deposition.

A Kelly King and I were probably the two nurses that were the closest to David.

He -- he'd always say Kelly's a big fat witch; and she's like this little bitty, tiny, skinny thing. And so I taught him to say that Kelly's a big fat witch and Amanda's a pretty, pretty princess.

I mean, like we played with him. We had a good relationship with him. And he was -- he was one we were especially close to.

Q So this had to be terribly upsetting for both of you, I'm sure.

A Yes.

Q It still is.

A Yes.
Q Now --
A As a nurse, I have coded and lost a lot of people but this one really hit hard.
Q I can tell from sitting here and talking to you that you did absolutely everything that you possibly could. And I totally believe that.

Do you have any opinion as to what could have or what could have occurred differently that might have avoided all this?

I understand you did absolutely everything you could do. But do you know -- do you feel like staff, direct care staff, messed up in any way here?

I just want to know how you feel about it.

A I feel like they responded to a behavior the same way that they would respond to any behavior.
Q What does that mean?
A I don't feel like there was any malice.

I mean, if somebody -- if they are in a situation where they feel that somebody is going to harm themselves or harm other people, they're going to restrain them.

That is what they are taught to do; and that is what they do every day, is they try to stop somebody from harming themselves or harming somebody else. And I believe that that is what they were doing. And it went badly.

And, when David would have a behavior, he would often vomit. That was sometimes the whole of his behavior. Sometimes he would become upset and just vomit and then start to cry.

It wasn't always a violent outburst. But he did vomit during times of stress often. And I believe very strongly that that's what happened, that he had a behavior, he was being restrained, and he -- he vomited.

I do not feel that they had any type of malice. They were distraught when this happened. They did everything that was asked of them.

When I asked them to go and get something, they were running to get it.

Mandy pulled -- or Amy pulled a hair tie out of her hair and pulled my hair up while I was giving compressions.

They made phone calls when asked to. They responded exactly -- did every single thing that was asked of them to do. And they never left the scene while we were in there.

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q Okay. And that's what happened here; right? David aspirated?

A Well, what I understand is, what happened here, is David choked on a food bolus. That's my understanding.

Q You have no knowledge that he also aspirated?

A I don't know that you're -- that you understand the exact difference in this. When you -- when you choke --
Q Help me out. Help me out.
A When you have a food bolus and you choke -- okay.
When you have a food bolus and you choke, something comes up into your airway, into your esophagus, and it's -- it's blocking that. And your vomiting around that.
Every time that you try to take a breath in, that liquid is going to go into your chest. That's kind of secondary to the food bolus, to choking on a food bolus.
Q Uh-huh.
A Like you can aspirate just liquids. Like, if you take a drink and you take a breath at the same time, you know how you'll cough sometimes, that's aspiration.
Q So aspirating doesn't mean that fluid, that particles or fluid, is getting into the lungs causing choking? That's not aspiration?
A Yes. Yes, it does. That is aspiration. Aspiration is the part of it actually getting into your lungs.
The choking is what stops you from being able to breath, like there's something lodged in there and you're -- it's stuck in your throat.
Q And it's your under --
A Aspiration is usually caused with that.

[redacted]

Q Uh-huh.
A Choking and aspiration are kind of a different thing. The choking caused the aspiration, not you laying down and stomach acid coming up.
Q Okay. But it's your under --
A They told me he choked.
Q So it's your understanding that a food particle was lodged in his -- where? His throat, his esophagus, and that caused choking, where was it lodged? As far as --
A That, I -- I don't know. I would have had to cut him open and look.
Q But it's your understanding that the --
A They told me that he choked.
Q Okay.
Let's take a quick --
A My understanding was that he had choked on a food bolos.
Q I see. Let me --
A Which means, somewhere between his stomach and his mouth.
Q Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: Going to take a quick two-minute break, Eric.

MR. COLLINS: Okay.

(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q All right.

Ms. Schmitt, I just want to -- and I think you're right. I think I don't have a great technical knowledge of these medical terms maybe; so that's why I'm needing your help here.

If I understand you correctly, there's a difference between choking on food that you've been eating and food aspiration. Those are two different things; right?

A Yes. Choking blocks the airway. Aspiration is where part of it goes inside of your lungs.

[redacted]

If you've ever had acid reflux and you feel that burn come up inside the back of your throat and it causes a cough, that -- that's aspiration.

Aspiration, sometimes, is silent, you don't hear it. You don't always know when somebody is aspirating.

Q Okay. But, in that scenario, that could cause --
A And choking, you (inaudible) --
Q That's an area that can cause food particles to get into the lungs which could then cause cardiac arrest; correct?
A Yeah. But you can do both at the same time.
Q But --
A Yeah. Yeah. You can do both at the same time. You can choke and aspirate at the same time.
Q But it's your understanding --
A But choking alone --
Q Okay. Let me finish. Let me finish.
It's your understanding that, in this particular situation, this was a straight up he was choking on some food he was eating; right?
A That is what was told to me, is that he had choked.
Q Which means he would -- he started choking as he was eating or right, you know, as he was taking a bite of food and trying to swallow it; right?
A They said that he -- they said he had a behavior and that he started to vomit and choked.
Q Okay.
A I wasn't there.
Q I know you weren't there. And --
A I didn't see it. But I will tell you --

Q -- yeah. I just needed -- yeah. I know --
A -- the staff that was --
Q -- you weren't there.
A -- with him, I would trust the staff that was with him [redacted]
Q Okay. And I --
[redacted]
Q Okay.
I'm just trying to make sure I understand you correctly. I'm trying to make sure I understand what you understand happened.
Am I correct it's your understanding that he choked on food or he choked on vomit? What was told to you?
A That he choked on vomit. Or -- I mean, they said he had the behavior; that, when they were removing him from the dining room, he choked.
I don't know if that meant he still had food in his mouth when he was leaving the area. I don't know that he didn't have a sandwich in his hand and take a bite as he was coming out.
Q Okay.
A They told me he was choking. And that is all I can tell you.
Q Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: I'm going to introduce two more exhibits here, Eric.

One is the certificate of death. We'll call that Number 2.

(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 2 and is attached hereto.)

MR. GILLISPIE: And the other is the coroner's report. We'll call that Exhibit 3.

(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 3 and is attached hereto.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q And again, just to be crystal clear, there is choking on food or choking on vomit; that's different than food aspiration, because that would mean that it gets in the lungs; right?

A You can have both at the same time. You can choke on food and aspirate.

Q Well, you can have both at the same time but they -- they're still different --

A The reason --

Q They're still different things; right?

A Technically, yes.

Q [redacted]

[redacted]

Q Okay. And that's a --
A But my understating is that he was choking before this -- before he went to the ground.
My understanding was that he -- I don't know though. I wasn't there. I wasn't in the room.
Q Right.
A All they said to me was that he was choking. And, when I got there, he was already on the ground.
Q And nobody said anything to you about food aspiration?
A No. The staff wouldn't be able to tell me if he was aspirating. That's --

Q Okay.
A You need an x-ray or something to confirm that somebody has aspirated.
You can't tell by looking. You can get a temperature rise after it happens to show that there's an infection or that, you know, something has gotten into their lungs.
But, I mean, they wouldn't have been able to tell the difference between those two things.
Q Okay. That (inaudible) --
A I wouldn't be able to tell you one hundred percent that he aspirated.
[redacted]
Q Right. Okay.
MR. GILLISPIE: So, Exhibit 2, this is the certificate of death. I know the witness can't see it but I'll show Eric. I'm going to read it first.

It says, immediate cause of death,

[redacted]

Exhibit 3, this is the coroner's report. Cause of death, respiratory arrest due to food aspiration. Make this Exhibit 3.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Okay.

So you weren't aware of the contents of those two documents, I assume, Ms. Schmitt.

A No.

Q Do you know who spoke to the -- did you yourself speak to the paramedics when they arrived?

A I think everybody kind of spoke to the paramedics when they arrived. Told them that we had been doing CPR for quite a while, that the AED had not advised to do a shock.

Q Who do you specific -- do you have any specific recollection of Tyler Mattson speaking with either paramedics or any other emergency responders?

A I do remember that they asked the direct care staff that was with him what had happened.

Q Uh-huh.

A But I -- I wasn't a part of that conversation.

Q Okay.
A And I don't know which one was answering questions.
Q Okay. But it's your understanding that they spoke to Ryann Campos, Tyler Mattson, and Mandy Jones?
A My understanding is they came in the door and they asked what happened; and the people in the room were answering questions.
Q Okay.
A But I don't know who said what to them. There was a lot of people in the room at the time. There was a lot of emotion in the room at the time. And I --
Q Who all was in the room --
A -- don't recall.
Q -- other than you, Nurse King, Mattson --
A When EMS arrived --
Q -- Jones -- yeah.
A -- it -- Joann Miller, I believe, was in the room. Lacey Fleming was in the room. Andy Nelson was in the room.

One of the kitchen staff had, at one point, brought out like a big tablecloth because he had vomited and we were trying to, you know, clean up the areas the best we can.

Q I don't need to know about --
A Put something down to soak up stuff while we were working.

I don't know if they were in the room. I --

Q Who is Lacey Fleming?

A The paramedics --

Q What does Lacey do?

A Lacey is -- she's another LPN. She was an LPN at the time. She's an RN now, but she was an LPN at the time.

Q And I know Angie was the --

A She had got there right before EMS got there.

Q -- (inaudible) -- if you could, just please let me finish my question before --

A Yes.

Q -- you start talking.

Angie was the assistant director of nursing; right?

A Correct.

Q Okay. And who was the first person that you mentioned before Lacey and Angie that was in the room? Joe --

A Joanna.

Q Okay. Who is she?

A Joanna Miller.

Q Okay. What is she --

A She's an LPN.

Q She's also an LPN? Okay.

Was Sandy Evans in the room that you saw?
A Not to my knowledge.
Q Did you ever see Sandy Evans speak to --
A Not to my knowledge.
Q Did you ever see Sandy Evans speak to paramedics or law enforcement?
A I don't remember seeing Sandy Evans at all that day.
Q Okay. Was Jeff Gonyea in the room?
A No.
Q Okay.
Anybody else that you can recall other than the guy from the kitchen, the other LPNs, Angie --
A Yeah.
Q -- and then the direct care staff that were involved in the restraint? Anybody else that you can recall?
A I don't recall anybody else being in there, no.
Q And who do you specifically remember talking to or speaking to paramedics or police?
A I don't have a direct memory of who said what.
I know they came in, they asked what happened, and the medical staff, the nurses, letting -- you know,

[redacted]

Q Okay.
A And then they asked what happened before that; and that's when the direct care staff said that he had choked and had had a behavior.
But I don't know which one said what to him or exactly what they said.
Q Okay. But it was one of those three direct care staff folks?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
Do you recall any other times that David had either choked or aspirated or had an event like that?
A I do not recall David having any type of medical emergencies. I do recall him vomiting when he was upset.
Q Uh-huh.
A But him not having any issues from that.
Q Okay.
Do you know if those three direct care staff had CNA training?
A I do not know that. But I do not believe that they had been -- had CNA training.
Q Okay. And do you know if that's a requirement for direct care staff?
A It was not a requirement until recently. They have just now started having our staff become CNAs.

Q Okay. And do you have any knowledge as to why they made that change?
A I do not.
Q If a person is laying on their side and they start vomiting and choking, are you supposed to lay them on their back?
A No. But you can't do chest compressions unless you lay them on their back.
Q What are you ideally supposed to do?
A When they're -- when he was vomiting, them laying him on his side was the correct thing to do.
Q Not on his back but on his side when he's vomiting?
A Yes. On his side.
Q And why is that?
A So he -- it will run out the side of his mouth instead of sit in the back of his throat.
Q Okay.
And you don't have any knowledge as to whether the direct care staff did that or put him on his back, because you weren't there?
A I do know he was on his right side. When I came in the door, he was on his right side. And Ryann had her fingers in his mouth, pulling fluid from his -- the side of his cheek.
Q Okay.

Thank you, Ms. Schmitt. I don't have any more questions.

A Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: Eric, I'm done. Do you have anything for her?

MR. COLLINS: No.

Ms. Schmitt, obviously, I'm not your attorney; but, as Mr. Gillispie can tell you, you do have the right to review this transcript if you want to. That's something you can request or waive at your own will.

THE WITNESS: Okay. I would like a transcript of this.

FIRST AID GUIDELINES

POLICY STATEMENT: First Aid Guidelines are available for use in each of the Aide Stations in each living area. This will permit appropriate and immediate attention to medical conditions of sudden onset, including injuries and choking.

PROCEDURES:

1. The First Aid Guidelines have been approved by the staff physician for the Booneville HDC.

2. In all cases in which a serious medical injury or illness is suspected, either to clients or staff, a call to the Medical Department should be made. This should be the first call so Medical staff can respond immediately to the situation.

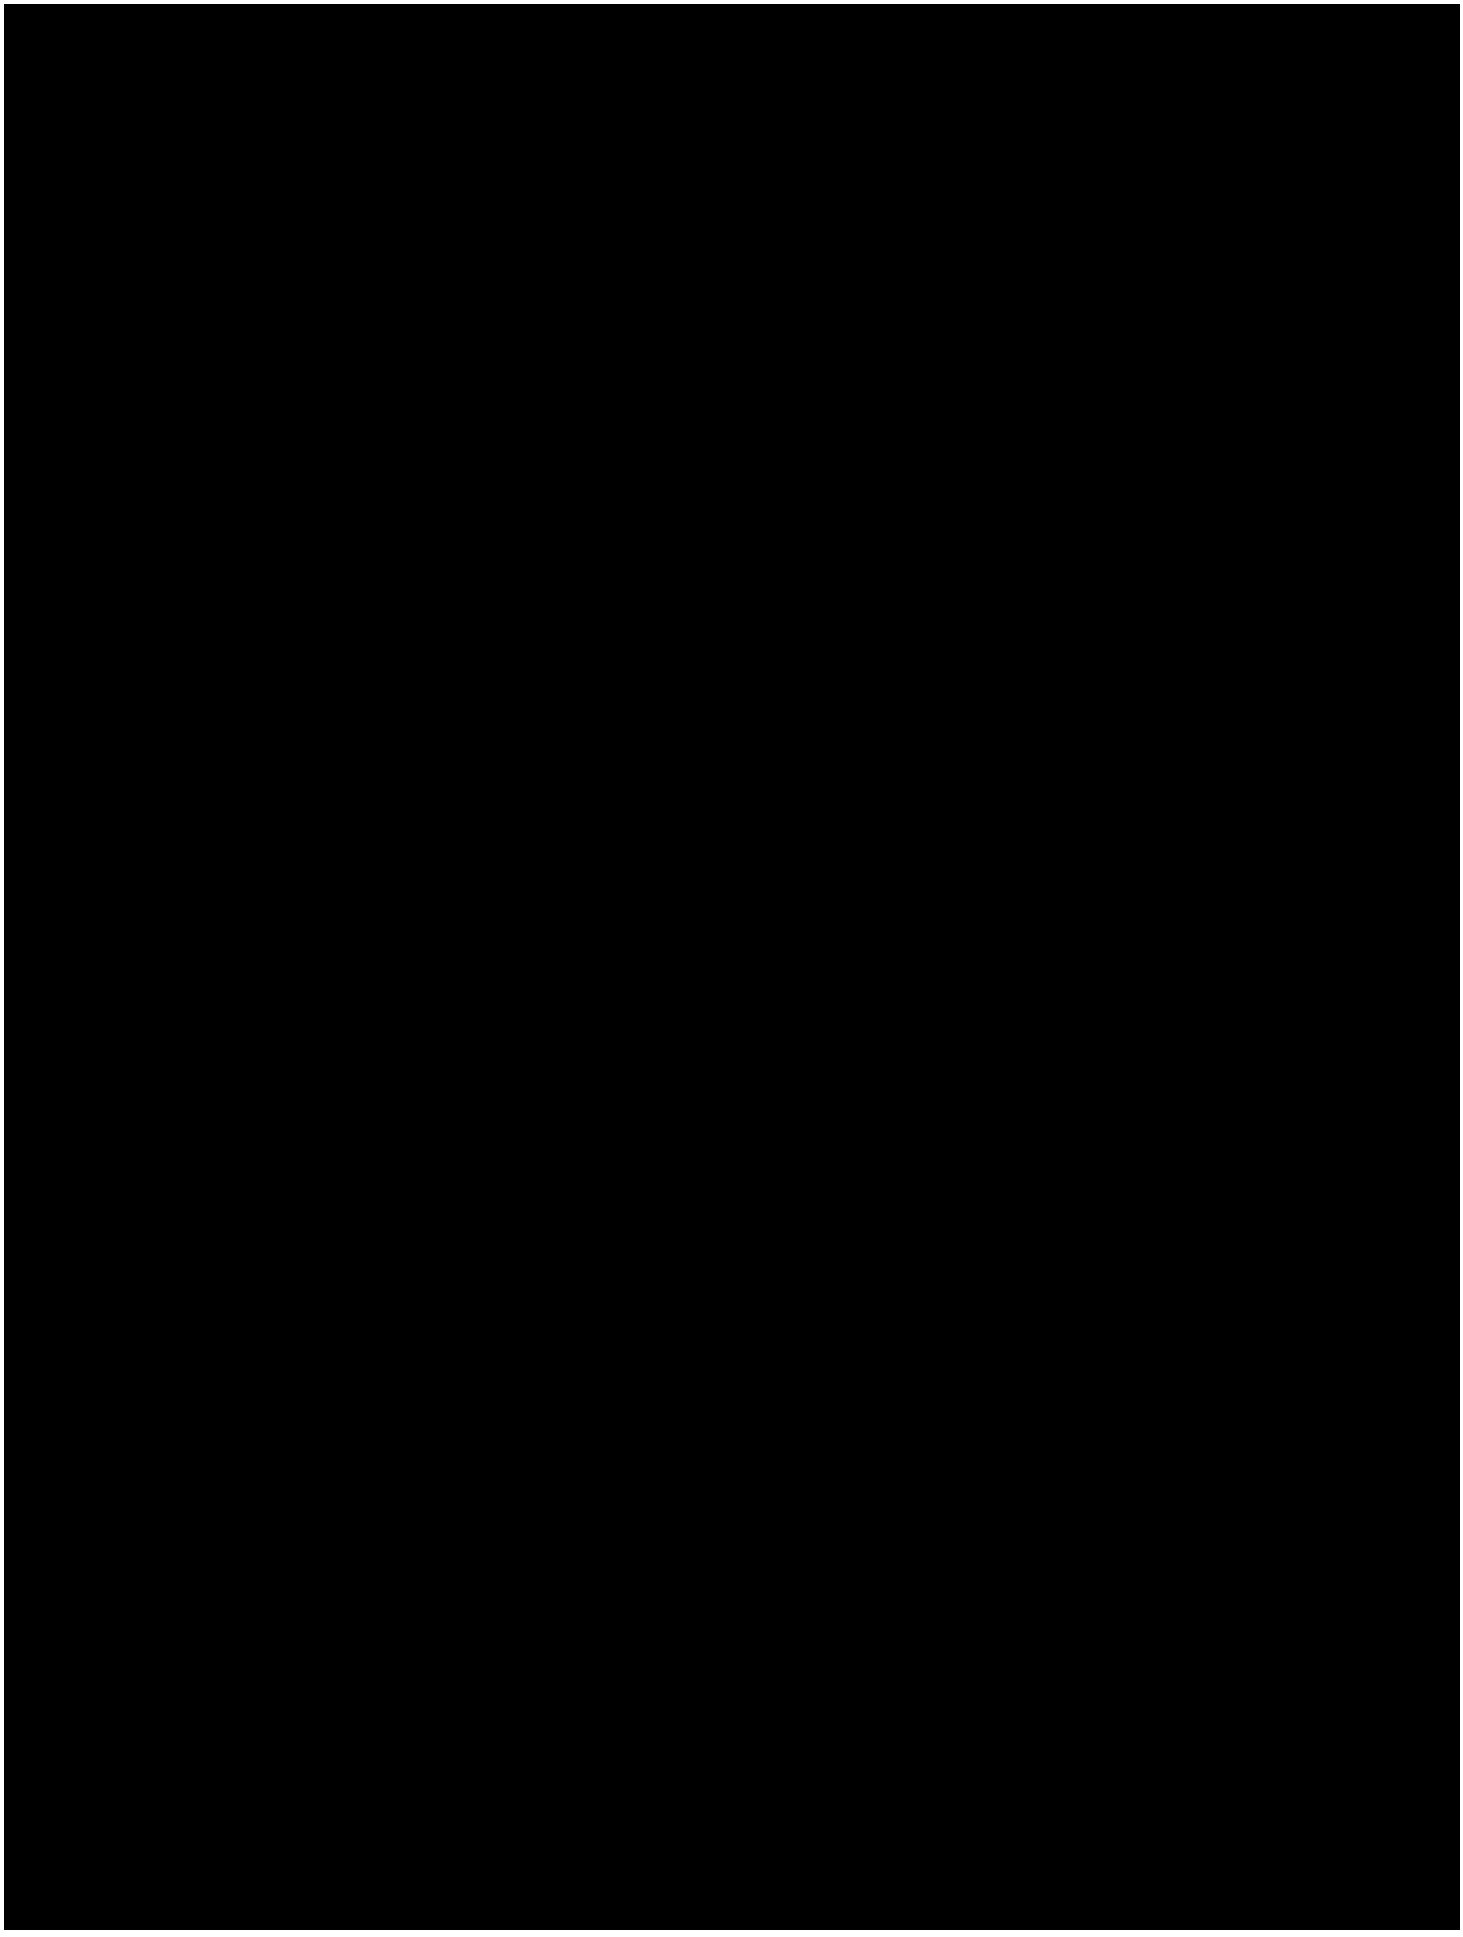
   A call to Medical at 1422 should be made and the following information should be given:

   1. Caller's name and title
   2. Victim's name, location, situation and condition of the victim (alert, unconscious, etc.)
   3. Medical will assess the situation and call an ambulance if appropriate.

3. All staff members are trained in first aid, CPR, and abdominal thrust for choking so, that if necessary, emergency rescue measures can be initiated before Medical staff arrives.

4. Choking is a serious and potentially life-threatening situation and the following guidelines should be followed:

   a. Staff will supervise clients during meal times and nursing staff will be available by phone at all times;
   b. emergency equipment including oxygen and suction machine will be kept in the dining room for use as needed;
   c. All staff will receive annual training in abdominal thrust and choking precautions.



5. First Aid kits, disaster kits, and first aid guidelines will be kept in all areas. Medical will do monthly inspections on first aid kits, and every 6 month inspections on disaster kits, and refill appropriately. If living area staff notice supplies are low, Medical is to be notified and supplies will be replenished.

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Mr. Carter, will you state your full name for us?

A Don Carles Carter, III.

Q Okay. And, Don, you and I have spoken on the phone a couple times before.

My name is Josh Gillispie. I'm the attorney for the estate of David Cains. And am I correct that you called -- you saw a news piece about this case and contacted my office? Is that correct?

A Yes, sir. That is correct.

Q Okay. And what's your address, Mr. Carter? Where do you live?

[redacted]

Q Okay. And how old are you?

A Booneville, Arkansas. I'm 67.

Q Okay. And you worked at -- when did you work at -- were you an employee at the Booneville Human Devolvement Center at one point?

A Yes, I -- yes, I was.
Q Okay. And approximately what years were you employed there, sir?
A I think I may have told you 2015, but it could have been I began working in 2016 and I worked up until 2020. I worked four and a half years.
Q Okay. What month in 2020 did you leave that job?
A I think it was September of 2020.
Q Okay.
A I'm sure it was.
Q Okay.
A The very end of September.
Q Okay. And what was your job at Booneville?
A My title was equipment operator. But my actual job was to run the recycle route which -- in which paper was picked up and brought back to the center for material for clients to have a job in processing.

However, I was also trained just like any -- any direct care staff. I went through the same training where, when I wasn't driving the truck, I could fill in and be used for coverage.
Q Okay.
A And that -- and, basically, my -- my truck driving was two-thirds of the time, on the average, and the other was one-third of the time.

Q So, if I'm hearing you right, about one-third of the time, you would fill in as direct care staff to the clients?
A Yes. But that could vary. One time, I could be doing the truck a hundred percent; and, the next time, during holidays and slow periods, I might only be doing it 25 percent.
Q Okay. And was that common for the other employees in -- was that common for other employees that were not -- let me not ask such a bad question.
A Well, I --
Q What I'm asking is, was it common for employees to fill in as direct care staff when it maybe wasn't their normal job? Or was that something --
A Yes.
Q -- just you did?
A I was one of the few. But that could happen if they were trained; and I was trained.
Q And were you given, as far as you know, were you given the same training as some of the -- as the full-time direct care staff?
A Yes.
Q Do you recall what any of that training was called or if there was a name for that training course you might have gone through?

A Yes. It was called PHASE, F-A -- excuse me.
P-H-A-S-E.
Q Okay.
A That was what it was referred to.
Q Okay.
A And it consisted of two weeks of training.
Q Okay. All right.
A Basically, PHASE I week and PHASE II week.
Q Okay.
And did you know David Cains?
A Yes, I did.
Q Okay. Did you serve as direct care staff to David Cains at times?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And was David Cains -- did David Cains ever cause you any physical injury?
A No, he did not.
Q Are you aware of David Cains ever causing physical injury to any person?
A No.
Q Okay.
Were you ever involved in physically -- in doing personal holds on or physical restraints on David Cains or any other clients?
A I have been involved in one, what we would call a behavior, with David Cains, in which I actually had to touch him.

Q Okay.

A I have been involved with several with other clients.

Q Tell me about the one with that you were involved -- so you were involved with one personal restraint.

And, when I say personal restraint or physical restraint, I'm talking about incidents in which you or another staff member had to lay hands on them for some reason. Do you understand that?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And you're saying there was one such incident that you were involved in with David Cains where you personally, you know, had to participate in a personal restraint?

A Yes. It was approximately three years ago. Excuse me.

David had just returned from lunch or arrived from lunch and we, at that point of the day, it's probably our -- we're a little short staffed because some staff are still accompanying clients to lunch.

But David was in a bad mood. He was sitting at a desk and he -- he rose up in a violent manner, not to attack a person, but in a -- when he is agitated like this, he is prone to kick the chairs and kick tables and kick things. As I said, not people, but sometimes the object could fly, could strike a person accidentally, another client.

A coworker, which I will refer to as a senior staff member because she's been there about ten years, tried to control the situation and she -- the best -- in this situation, the best thing to do is to try to get the client to come to the floor where you can keep them from hurting themselves or other people.

I noticed the commotion and I walked over and my -- the part I played was just to, with minimal pressure, just to hold his leg, legs, to keep him from kicking somebody.

Q Okay. And this female, do you remember this female employee's name? If you don't remember the name --

A Yes. Rhonda Harris.

Q Okay. And so are you saying that this staff member, who you remember to be Rhonda Harris, sort of took David to the ground and then your role was to kind of hold his legs to keep him from kicking while he -- once he's on the ground?

A Yes. Basically, the role I played was just to be there as a backup. However, I did hold his legs.

Q And I think --

A Rhonda --
Q And I think when we talked -- and Rhonda, where would Rhonda kind of hold him? Just kind of by his shoulders or --
A Yes.
Q And, in that particular incident, was it just the two of y'all?
A Yes. My supervisor heard the commotion and walked up. David McLemore walked up and saw everything was okay and then just kind of -- just kind of stood back --
Q Okay.
A -- and observed.
Q So David McLemore witnessed this and observed; is that right?
A Yes. He would have made any calls to -- if any judgments needed to be made, he was in a position to provide that.
Q And about how many minutes do you think that you and the staff member you remember to be Rhonda had to hold him there on the ground?
A Approximately five minutes. However, it could have been seven. It may have been ten.

But, when this situation occurs, David normally calms down fairly rapidly.
Q Okay. And you said this was shortly after he'd had lunch, as you recall?

A Yes. Yes.
Q And I think you may have told me, even though this was the only one with David you personally participated in, is it fair to say this, that this type of physical restraint on the ground like you're describing, was that the normal way or the best way to handle David?
A In an extreme situation, yes.
We had a lower classification, it was called redirection. And I've seen probably 20 redirections with David, in which case it would not -- it would not accelerate to be in -- to a full behavior like this was.
Basically, you could just tell -- you could just -- as it describes, just redirect David. David, go sit down; David, put your head down on the desk. And those do not have to be documented.
Q Right.
A Now, the situation that I just described is a behavior and it does have to be documented.
Q Right. Right. And on this particular day, the -- again, the reason that it was necessary to do it on this day was because he was kicking at desks; is that right?
A Yes.
Q And who is it that specifically -- can you recall who specifically, what supervisor, what person, specifically told you or anyone else that you know of that restraining them, restraining him on the ground, was the proper way to do it?

A It could have been in just talk with coworkers.

It also derives from my experience being in that building, assigned to that building, and observing the way other staff members would hold situations, would control situations.

Or it could have possibly been from Randy's -- from my supervisor's instructions. I do not remember. But I have witnessed 20 or 30 of these with various clients of these documented behaviors. So, after a while, you kind of -- you --

Q And when you say you -- when you say you've witnessed 20 or 30, are you saying you witnessed 20 or 30 times where clients have been restrained on the ground?

A At least that many, yes.

Q And it's always -- and no staff member's ever been in trouble for restraining clients on the ground, as far as you know? It's always been an accepted practice?

A There have been problems at BHDC, but I have never witnessed one of those that was questioned.

Q Well, actually what I'm asking is -- I'm sorry. My question's actually simpler than that.

And I think the answer is no, but I'm just asking, do you know if anybody ever -- if any direct care staff or any staff was ever reprimanded for restraining a client on the ground in the way that you described the incident you participated in with David?

A No.

Q Okay.

A If -- if the staff was more physical, people have been reprimanded and people have been terminated.

Q But it was your understanding that it was proper procedure to use the ground that way? To have the --

A Yes.

Q -- client on the ground that way?

A Yes. That is the way we were instructed.

Q Okay. Who instructed you to do it that way?

A In the PHASE class I previously mentioned.

Q And was that instructor, Mark Hise?

A No. It was prior to Mark's arrival or Mark's -- Mark had not reached that position yet. It was Sandra Shiggly.

Q Okay. And, in PHASE, you were actually trained in doing essentially what -- doing the type of restraint that you and Rhonda used on David?

A Yes. We were shown videos and we practiced on -- in the training class on fellow attendees. We were walked through the situations.

Q And, again, you would say, in your approximately four-and-half years there, you witnessed at a minimum of 20 times clients were restrained this way? Or was it more?

A It would be between 20 and 30 times. We're talking about 125 clients on the whole facility, so it was a -- it was a common occurrence.

Q Okay. And, again, I'm just talking about on the ground. So, on the ground, you're saying between 20 and 35 times probably?

A On the ground, probably 20.

Q Okay. And how many times -- other than the time that you were involved yourself, did you ever see David taken to the ground?

A Yes.

Q About how many times?

A Probably one other time.

Most of the time, with David, the redirection would be used.

Q Because he wasn't dangerous, was he?

A No. He was just -- just kind of out of control.

Q In your opinion, was he capable of legitimately harming a grown man?

A Not intentionally.

Q Okay.

A That would only occur if a -- for example, if a chair was kicked or a table was turned over.
Q Let's say there's no furniture, there's no tools of any kind, it's just him and his hands and his feet.
In that situation, where he was no access to any chairs or tables or desks or any sort of weapon of any sort, in that scenario, in your opinion, based on your experience, was he capable of causing any actual harm to another grown man?
A No.
Q Okay. And, again, I think you said this, but you know of no incident, you know of no time where he did cause any harm to another person, do you?
A That is correct.
Q Okay. And was there a certain time -- you mentioned that this incident you were involved with happened after lunch.
Did you ever notice if there was a certain time of day where David seemed to be more irritated than others?
A To me, it appeared in the period after lunch or an hour following lunch. That would -- that would be my answer.
Q And did you ever discuss this with another staff member? You know, just this observation?
A Yes, I did.

Q And who was that person?
A The person's name was Elaine Demint. Elaine Demint. And she --
Q Could that have been Elaine Dewitt?
A -- Dewitt. Yes.
Q Okay. And what did Ms. Dewitt -- what did you and Ms. Dewitt discuss about noticing David being more prone to behaviors after lunch?
A Ms. Dewitt arrived at the observation that this occurred more after lunch. And she also speculated that it could be because he wasn't feeling well.
Q Did she further speculate, you know, in what way he might not be feeling well?

[redacted]

Q And about when did you and Ms. Dewitt have this discussion? If you can remember.
A About six months before the aforementioned behavior that I was involved in.
Q When was the aforementioned behavior incident you were involved in?
A It was approximately three years ago.
Q Three years ago from now?
A Yes. It was a --

Q So sometime in --
A -- year before -- a year before I left the job.
Q Okay. So you left the job around September 2020; correct?
A Yes.
Q So the behavior incident that you were personally involved in with David would have been probably in the fall of 2019?
A Yes.
Q And you're thinking that you and Ms. Dewitt discussed this mutual observation y'all had maybe six months before that, sometime maybe in the spring of 2019?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And did y'all talk about any -- you know, did y'all discuss anything, any solution or possible solution? Did the conversation veer towards that?
A No, we did not discuss a solution. It was just a casual conversation in which we were discussing David's behavior. David's -- we were discussing David.
Q Okay. Do you know if any other staff members or administrators ever made the same observation?
A I'm not aware of that.
I do know that this -- that Elaine's observation was relayed to Randy. So he -- our building supervisor. So he was aware of it.

Q And how do you know it was relayed to Randy?
A Well, we discussed -- any information like that was passed around to fellow staff members.
If they were not a party to the conversation, they would have -- they would be made aware second hand.
Q I'm sorry. I misunderstood you, I think.
I'm asking, how do you know that -- and when you say Randy, do you mean David Randy McLemore?
A Randall David McLemore, yes.
Q Randall David McLemore? That's his full name?
A Yes. On the paperwork, he would -- he may sign it David. But we called him Randy.
Q But when you say Randy, you're talking about a man named McLemore?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And my question was, how do you know that McLemore was made aware of y'all's observation about the problematic time period after lunch with David?
A I have heard Randy also discuss it.
Q Okay. And who with?
A With -- I can't be more specific because of my memory, but just fellow staff members.
Q Okay. Let's see.
Now, you never saw David be placed on a papoose board or in a mechanical restraint?

A No.
Q Okay.
And, again, you've witnessed David be restrained, taken to the ground and restrained on the ground at least one other time besides the incident that you were involved in with Rhonda?
A I would say that's an accurate statement.
Most the time, David would be just redirected to sit down and would be monitored one-on-one with a staff member within -- a staff member within three foot or four foot standing next to him for possibly an extended period of time, like 30 minutes.
Q And were you involved with any incidents like that where you were able to just calm him down without having to have any physical contact?
A Yes. I have filled in as that person to provide the one-on-one.
Q If you could, could you give us a sense or an idea of how often -- I know you said you filled in as direct care maybe a third of the time, is that right?
A On the average, yes.
Q And when you worked at Booneville, was that a full-time job for you? Meaning, did you work around 40 hours a week?
A Yes. I worked full time.

Q Okay. And what hours of the day did you typically work at Bonneville?
A I worked regular hours, eight to five, with some overtime.
Q Okay. And was that consistent throughout your employment there?
A Yes.
Q And so my question is, are you able to say, you know, roughly how much contact or how often you would have been around David Cains?
A I had -- generally, I would be in a position to be in contact with David for ten minutes or 30 minutes a day.
Q Just about every day?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And was it the same for several other clients as well?
A Yes.
Q So David wasn't --
A That would apply to approximately 30 clients.
Q Okay. And why those 30 clients specifically?
A Those were the ones assigned to our building.
Q And your building was the Stone building?
A It was called the Stone building or the recycling building.

Q Okay. And David was assigned there for vocational purposes?
A Yes. Half a day.
Q Okay.
A In the evenings. Or in the afternoon.
Q Okay. All right.

MR. GILLISPIE: We're going to take a quick break. Mr. Carter, you're almost done. Don't do anything or go anywhere because I don't want to lose you.

THE WITNESS: I'm not.

(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q I wanted to ask you, in your training or really at any time, at any point in your time at Booneville, were you given any instructions about 9-1-1 and who's allowed to call 9-1-1 in case of emergency?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And what were you told?
A We were told we were not -- staff members were not allowed to call 9-1-1.

The nurse would be the one that would call 9-1-1. And I questioned this as early as my first week of work in training. And they said that was the procedure to be followed.

And, to add more, over the -- over the period of time, I felt like that was a bad -- that was a bad policy. And, if the situation presented itself, that I would violate protocol and call 9-1-1 in an emergency, even if it would cause me to get fired. Because I would probably be fired anyway.

Q And so you're saying the policy was, no matter what, no matter what, you were told that you can not call 9-1-1 unless you're a member of the medical staff?

A That is correct.

Q And there were no exceptions?

A No exceptions.

Q And do you recall when you were told this or who told you this specifically or if it was -- how this was imparted to you, told to you?

A That was told -- that was the instructions presented in the first week of that PHASE one training, the first week of my employment, in the training class.

And it was the prevalent policy the duration of my employment.

Q What do you mean prevalent policy?

A That -- that was the policy. You did not call 9-1-1.

Q Do you remember who gave you those instructions?
A Sandra Shiggly.
Q Okay. And did you ever personally witness an occasion where you felt like 9-1-1 should have been called but it wasn't?
A No, I've never witnessed that.
Q Do you know of any situations where you feel like -- did you ever hear about any situations or did any other staff member ever talk to you about a situation where they would have liked to call 9-1-1 but couldn't?
A I've had casual conversations with other staff members where that exact subject was talked about.
Q Do you remember any specifics of those conversations?
A Just that -- that, in the conversation, we agreed that that was a dangerous protocol. Delaying an emergency call.
Q Do you have any idea why that was the rule?
A Yes. It was to control a situation.
To be blunt with you, BHDC administration wanted to present their narrative in the documentation in an event like an emergency.
Q What do you mean?
A They wanted total control of what was -- would appear in the documentation.

Any emergency event would have been documented. And they just presented an attitude where they wanted complete control.

Q Do you know why that was so important to them?

A It was just -- they had had problems in the past where things leaked out that was not in their interest.

Q Do you know, do you specifically recall what any of those things might have been that leaked out?

A There over -- in the last ten years, I -- I know of at least three incidences, emergencies, that resulted in death. And I'm sure that played a -- that played a part in their decision.

Q Are you saying that you think that they -- what other deaths other than David's?

What other deaths do you know of? If you can recall. So it would be two other deaths then?

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q Do you believe that administration -- do you have any information or any belief as to whether administration in their desire to, as you said, to control the narrative of this -- well, scratch that. Let me withdraw that question.

You used the term -- when I asked you why, what your understanding was as to why this rule was in place, you said it was so that they could control the narrative.

Could you elaborate a little bit or maybe say more clearly what you mean by that? By control the narrative, what does that mean?

A The -- from my experience, the administration were what I would call control freaks.

They -- if something was out of their control, it made them uneasy. They had to -- they had to be in control.

Q Are you suggesting they would cover things up if they had to?

A I wouldn't go that far. But I would say they would paint a picture that would show them in the best light.

Q Okay. And that's what you mean by control the narrative?

A Yes.

Q And that's your belief as to why that prohibition on calling 9-1-1 was in place?
A Yes.
Q And did you ever discuss -- did anybody ever talk to you about this? Did you ever talk about this with anybody, this reason?
This controlling the narrative, was this a known thing?
A Yes.
Q I guess what I'm getting at, this wasn't just your personal opining, Don Carter's personal opinion, was it?
A No.
Q Okay.
A I had opportunity to have casual conversation with fellow staff members while we would ride -- when we were on the truck route.
And this was -- this subject was talked about on several occasions with different staff members. And, basically, that was our -- we concurred that that was our conclusion.
Q And did you ever discuss it with any senior staff or administrators?
A No.
Q Did Sandra Shiggly or anyone else ever explicitly tell you, hey, this is the reason for this rule?

A No.
Q Okay.
A I -- I will say, on my first week in the training class, my first week of employment, I -- I spoke out in class and questioned, I said -- to make sure I understood that -- what she was saying.
And she said, explicitly, no staff member is to call 9-1-1. Only a medical person, which meant a nurse, would call 9-1-1.
Q Okay. And were you aware at that time of negative reports that had been written about Booneville by Disability Rights or any other criticism of Booneville?
A Yes.
Q And do you -- I mean, is it your understanding that they played into it? You said things have leaked out, there have been some criticism.
I'm just trying to understand, you know, everything you believe or know about why they may have been so concerned with controlling narratives and --
A From the administrative point of view, our perception was that this Disability Rights was the enemy.
Now, the lower staff members didn't feel that way. But that's the observation that was made by -- that myself and obviously other staff members has confirmed in our causal discussions.

Q And can you recall the names of any of these other staff members that you had casual discussions with about any of this?
A Yes. A previous employee, Gary St. Pierre, he's retired now.
And I have also with other staff members that are currently employed, but I'd rather not -- since my memory may not be --
Q Well, Mr. Carter, I understand that. But, unfortunately, in such a serious proceeding like this, we have to get those names and we'll give them an opportunity to tell us what they remember. And, you know, they're not going to be in any trouble.
A Okay.
Q There are no individuals being litigated against in this matter, sir.
A Okay. Ken Matthews. David Poore.
Q David what?
A Poore. P-o-o-r-e.
Q Okay.
A Issac Sirk.
Q How do you spell that last name?
A Sirk. S-i-r-k.
Q Okay.
A Billy Wilkins.

Q Okay.
A And Elaine Dewitt.
Q Okay. And these are the people that you would have had, as you said, casual conversations with about the 9-1-1 policy?
A To the best of my remembrance.
Q Okay.
Did you ever speak directly with any senior staff or administrators about Disability Rights?
A No.
Q Okay.
A I mean, I've heard Randy McLemore comment that, you know, we have to be careful because of that -- because of that. But nothing in detail.
Q Okay. And, when you say be careful, just in general or be careful like when auditors from Little Rock are coming?
A Be careful in that we have to make sure we do what we're supposed to do.
Q Okay.
A Meaning follow the rules.
Q Okay.
Do you recall ever being given a document of any kind that laid out what types of personal restraints were allowed to be used on the clients?

A I think that would have been in the training manual.
Q Okay.
A I can not say for sure, but I'm almost positive that that would be documented in a training manual.
Q Okay.
Were there times when supervisors or auditors, I don't know what you would call it, but folks from Little Rock and maybe DHS would come and survey or check up on how things are going at Booneville?
A Yes. Approximately every four to six months.
Q And what did you call that? What did y'all call that?
A Basically, fellow staff members would just say the surveyors are on campus or the auditors are on campus.
Q On the days that that would happen, would you be given advance notice that they were coming?
A Yes.
Q And would everybody be given advanced notice?
A Yes.
Q And how was that advanced notice imparted to y'all?
A Just casual conversation.
Q Would supervisors tell sections or areas, hey, auditors are coming, be on your best behavior?
A Yes.
Q Do you recall ever being told that by any supervisor?

A Yes. My supervisor, Randy McLemore.
Q And describe as best you can remember what that communication from him would have been.
A He was -- we were in a large work area and he would just walk around and tell the staff members that they, the auditors are -- would be there to see them. You know, just a kind of heads up.
Q Were you supposed to be getting advanced notice of that? Do you know?
A I do not know the answer to that question.
Q Okay. Who was your supervisor when you would perform direct care functions?
A That would -- normally would be in our work area, which would be Randy McLemore.
If I was assigned to a living area, it could be a different person.
Q And was Randy McLemore also trained in direct care?
A Yes.
Q Did you ever see Randy McLemore take anyone to the ground?
A Yes. He -- he was a very good supervisor. And he has been involved in more behaviors than any person.
If he was available, he would be the first to respond.

Q Why do you say that?
A Because I observed that. He would normally be in his office and the closest staff member would respond.
But if -- if Randy was close by, he would insert himself, because he is the most experienced.
Q And I think you're saying good at his job. You respected the man?
A Yes. Yes.
Q And you've witnessed Randy restrain clients while on the ground?
A I've witnessed Randy redirect David Cains and that probably resulted on several occasions from it escalating.
Q Okay. But you said you've also seen Randy have to participate in restraining clients on the ground personally; right?
A Yes.
Q About how many times do you think you've seen that?
A Fifteen to twenty.
Q Okay.
My last question for you is, are you familiar with -- I imagine you're familiar, you drove a truck on the campus, you're familiar with the layout of the campus?
A Yes.
Q You know where the Commons building is?

A Yes.
Q And you know where the Judge Hill building is?
A Yes.
Q I will represent to you -- I know you weren't there -- well, you were not there the day David died; correct?
A Correct.
Q Okay.
I will represent to you that, on that day, David -- the incident that resulted in David's death occurred in the Commons building. Is that your understanding as well?
A In the cafeteria. Yes, the cafeteria.
Q Okay. The cafeteria is in the Commons building; right?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And the incident occurred in a hallway outside of the cafeteria in the Commons building. That would still be the Commons building; correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
A There would have been a hundred people, probably, in the Commons cafeteria, so --
Q What I'm asking you, Mr. Carter is -- I'll represent to you that three direct care staff were involved in a restraint of David Cains in the Commons building.

David started vomiting and struggling to breathe and was vomiting and aspirating and couldn't breathe. And one of these staff members called medical and medical was in the Judge Hill building. You follow me so far?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Do you think it would have been possible -- well, based on your experience at this facility, your experience on these grounds, how long would it -- what's the least amount of time it would have taken for a nurse in the Judge Hill building to receive this call, get in a car, drive over to the Commons building, go inside the Commons building, observe the scene, and then call 9-1-1?

A A very minimum of five minutes. It could have been longer.

Q Why do you say that?

A Well, the parking areas are very cramped.

By the time a person would get in their car, navigate the narrow parking area -- this is a 1940s design. And the parking areas are -- the driveways are narrow.

To back out of a parking area, to navigate, and to arrive at that location, a minimum of five minutes.

Q Even on a Saturday?

A Yes.

Q So it wouldn't matter how busy the parking lot was?

A No. It could have been longer on a weekday. But, even on a Saturday, I would say, for me to do that in a hurry would be five minutes.
Q Did you have any conversations with anybody, do you have any knowledge of, based on things you've heard or people you've talked to, about what happened this day and whether a call to 9-1-1 right away could have made a difference for David?
A No, I have not had conversations with fellow employees.
Q So you never talked to anybody about what happened to David?
A I have talked to people about David's tragedy. But it did not include as to what might have -- it was not Monday morning quarterbacking of what might have --
Q Right.
A -- been done.
Q Who have you spoken to about what happened with David?
A Probably all the staff members at some -- immediately after the vent. And some possibly extended while riding on the truck route.
Q Did anybody directly involved in it like Tyler Mattson or Mandy Jones or Ryann Campos or any of the nurses, did you ever talk with any of them directly about

--
A No.
Q -- what happened?
A No.
Q Okay.
There's been some suggestions or allegations by the Disability Rights that emergency authorities were intentionally given some bad information about what went on with David. Do you have any knowledge of that?
A No, I do not.
Q Okay. And, again, to clarify, you think it -- this is my very last question.
I'm going back to how long it would take for somebody to get from Judge Hill building over to the Commons building on a Saturday. So let me lay it out one more time.
And you got a call -- you have a person in the Commons building. They call over to the Judge Hill building where -- the nurse's station.
Are you familiar where the nurses --
A Yes. Yes.
Q -- where the nurses spend their time in the Judge Hill building?
A Yes.
Q You are? Okay.

So a nurse I believe --
A Let me just say this. I have -- I have picked up recycle at all the offices. So I am very familiar with the layout of all the offices.
Q Okay. So you've driven from the Judge Hill building to the Commons building many times?
A Yes.
Q You've picked up recycling, your job was to literally pick up recycling and go from building to building?
A Yes.
Q And you're saying it is simply not possible for these nurses to have taken this call in the Judge Hill building, grab their stuff, hop into a car, driven over to the Commons building, and gone inside in less than five minutes?
A That is correct.
Q Okay. Would you say it's more likely even longer than five minutes?
A Could very possibly be. But, again, under optimal conditions, it would take five minutes.
Q And, one more time, in as much detail as you can, tell me why that is.
A Several factors, as I've mentioned. Narrow driveways dating back to the '40s, possibly other cars parked along the -- those passageways which probably was not the case on a weekend.

But it's just a -- it's kind of like a rat maze going from one building to another.

Q Okay. So it's not a straight shot across a flat parking lot?

A No. It's a 1940s design for smaller cars.

Q Okay.

A It's just not of modern standards.

Q Okay.

And what's the distance from where you would park at the Commons building to the entrance to the Commons building? The part you have to walk.

A She would have probably parked right in front. But, if she parked in the parking lot, it would have been 200 feet.

Q Okay. And what's the difference -- same question but for the Judge Hill building from where the nurses station is in the Judge Hill building to the parking lot at the Judge Hill building.

A Two hundred feet.

Q Also you think 200 feet?

A Approximately.

Q Not from the front door of Judge Hill but from where the nurses hang out in Judge Hill.

A Right. She would have exited the back door to the parking lot so approximately 200 feet.
Q Okay.
All right. Well, Mr. Carter, that's all the questions I have for you. I'm going to pass you over to Eric here; but I appreciate your time.
A Thank you, sir.

CROSS EXAMINATION

BY MR. COLLINS:
Q Mr. Carter, real quick, I'm just going to pick up where we kind of left off and then I'll go back from there.
So you're identifying -- you said they were at the Judge Hill building, and they went to the Commons building? Is that your understanding of it?
A Yes.
Q Okay. How far is the Judge Hill building from the Commons building?
A As the crow flies, I would say close to a quarter of a mile. Now, driving, it would be farther.
Q Okay. And you identified that the main hassle of that would be getting out of a parking spot? Navigating parking spots?
A Yes.
Q Okay.

Do you think it would be as much of a hassle if their car was not in a parking spot, where it was instead parked on the curb?

A There are very few parking spots. Most likely, the car would have been parked on the curb.

Q Okay. Would there still have been as much of a hassle?

A Yes.

Q And why is that?

A The parking area is very small behind the Judge Hill nursing area, so it -- there's only like two parking spots. So most of the nurses park along a curb.

Q Uh-huh. And if there were parked in front of the front door --

A There's also an overflow area which is 500 yards away that, during the week, some of the nurses park in the overflow area.

Q And what if they were parked in front of the front door?

A Excuse me?

Q And if they were parked in front of the front door on the curb?

A The nurses never park -- even on a weekend, the nurses -- to the best of my nurse -- the best of my knowledge, the nurses would not park in front of the front door.

The front door would be in front of a living area. And the bus runs. And, because of the narrow restrictions, you do not park in front of Judge Hill. So the nurses would have parked in the back.

Q Okay.

I want to move on real quick to, you said you quit in September 2020; is that correct?

A To the best of my knowledge.

Q Why did you quit?

A As I had said, I was the -- I was the truck driver on the recycle route. And we covered five counties in this area. We went to approximately 20 different schools.

And there have always been two people, the driver and an assistant, who would be rotated among other staff members. So there's always been two people on the truck route.

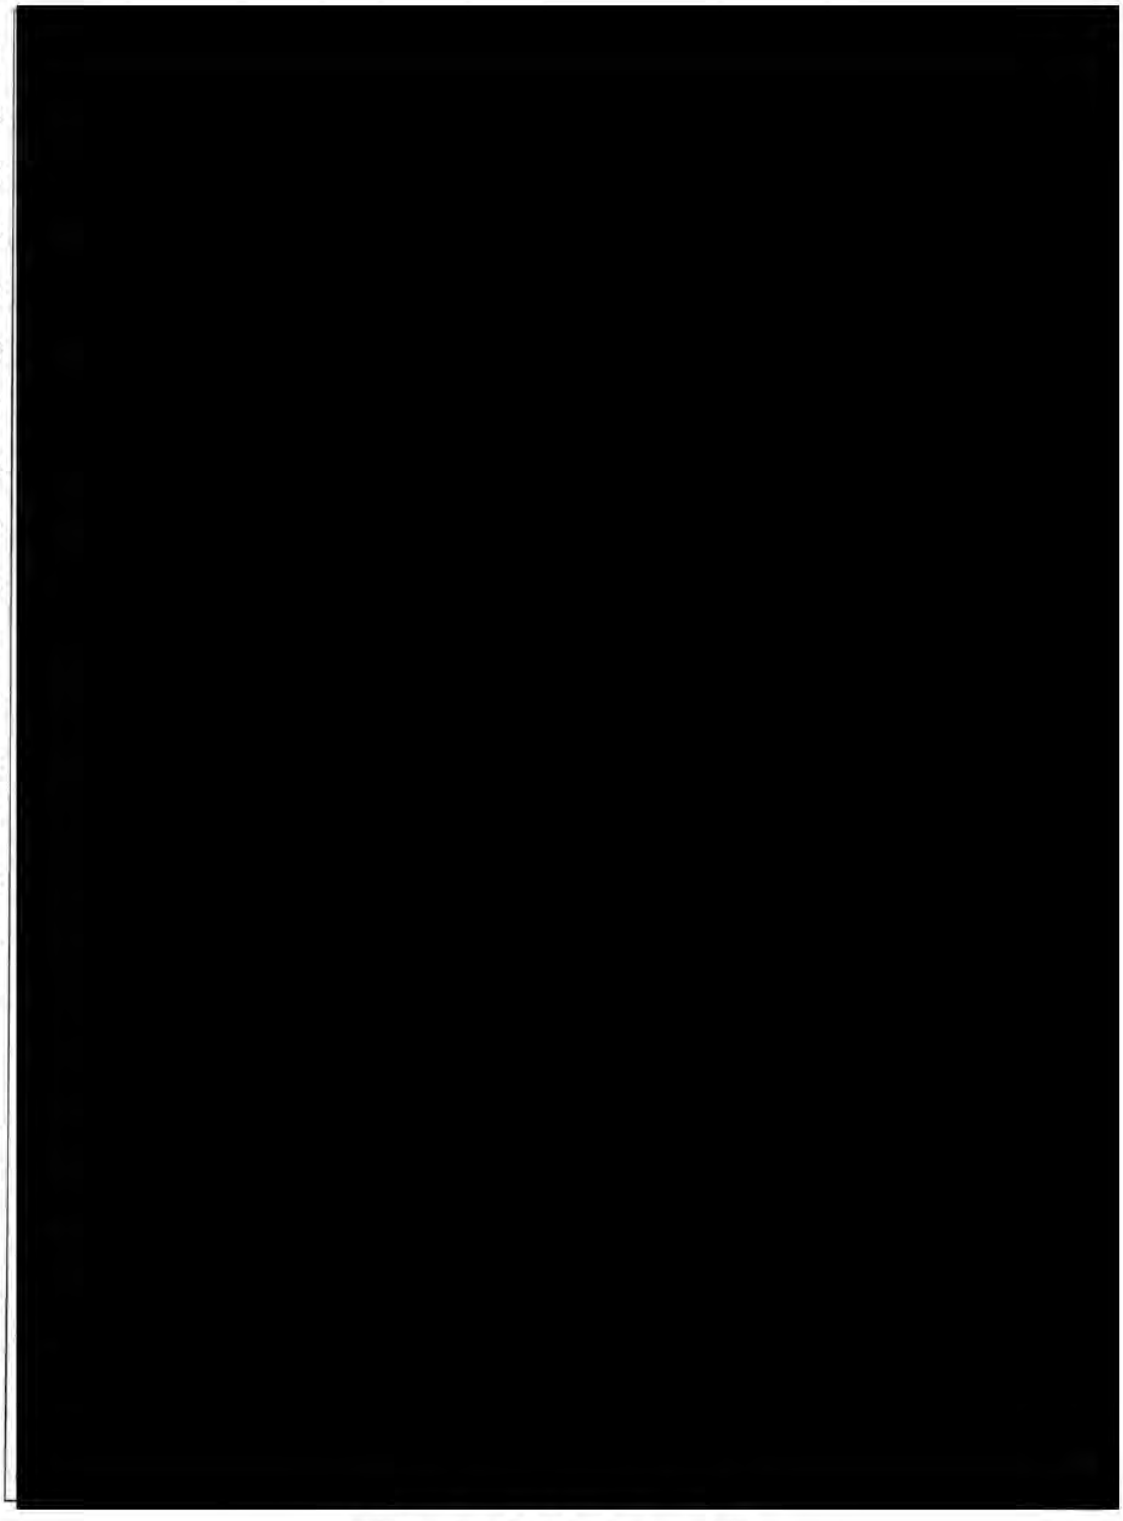
Well, when the pandemic hit and there were staff shortages, I was told to just do it by myself which meant, basically, I was doing the work of two people.

And it -- my job was considered the hardest job on the hill. And it was beginning -- by doing all this work myself, it was beginning to take an effect on my body.

I am 67 years -- I was 65 years old at the time.

And, basically, I was being overworked.

And then my immediate supervisor was aware of this and he -- my immediate supervisor who was Randy McLemore. And he was managing it as things -- for example, we would pick up the priority stops and let the small volume stops maybe sit for a day or two.



And Randy had no problem with that. He was managing it in a successful and adequate manner.

Randy took a week's vacation. And Randy's supervisor was a lady named, excuse me just a second, was a lady named Carey Johnson. And Carey Johnson did not like me.

[redacted]

When -- in Randy's absence, she called me. I'd been working all day in the rain. I was soaking wet. When I arrived back at the office of the building, the secretary said Carey Johnson wants to see you right now.

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q Okay.

Are you able to see us? I don't know if you have video of us or not.

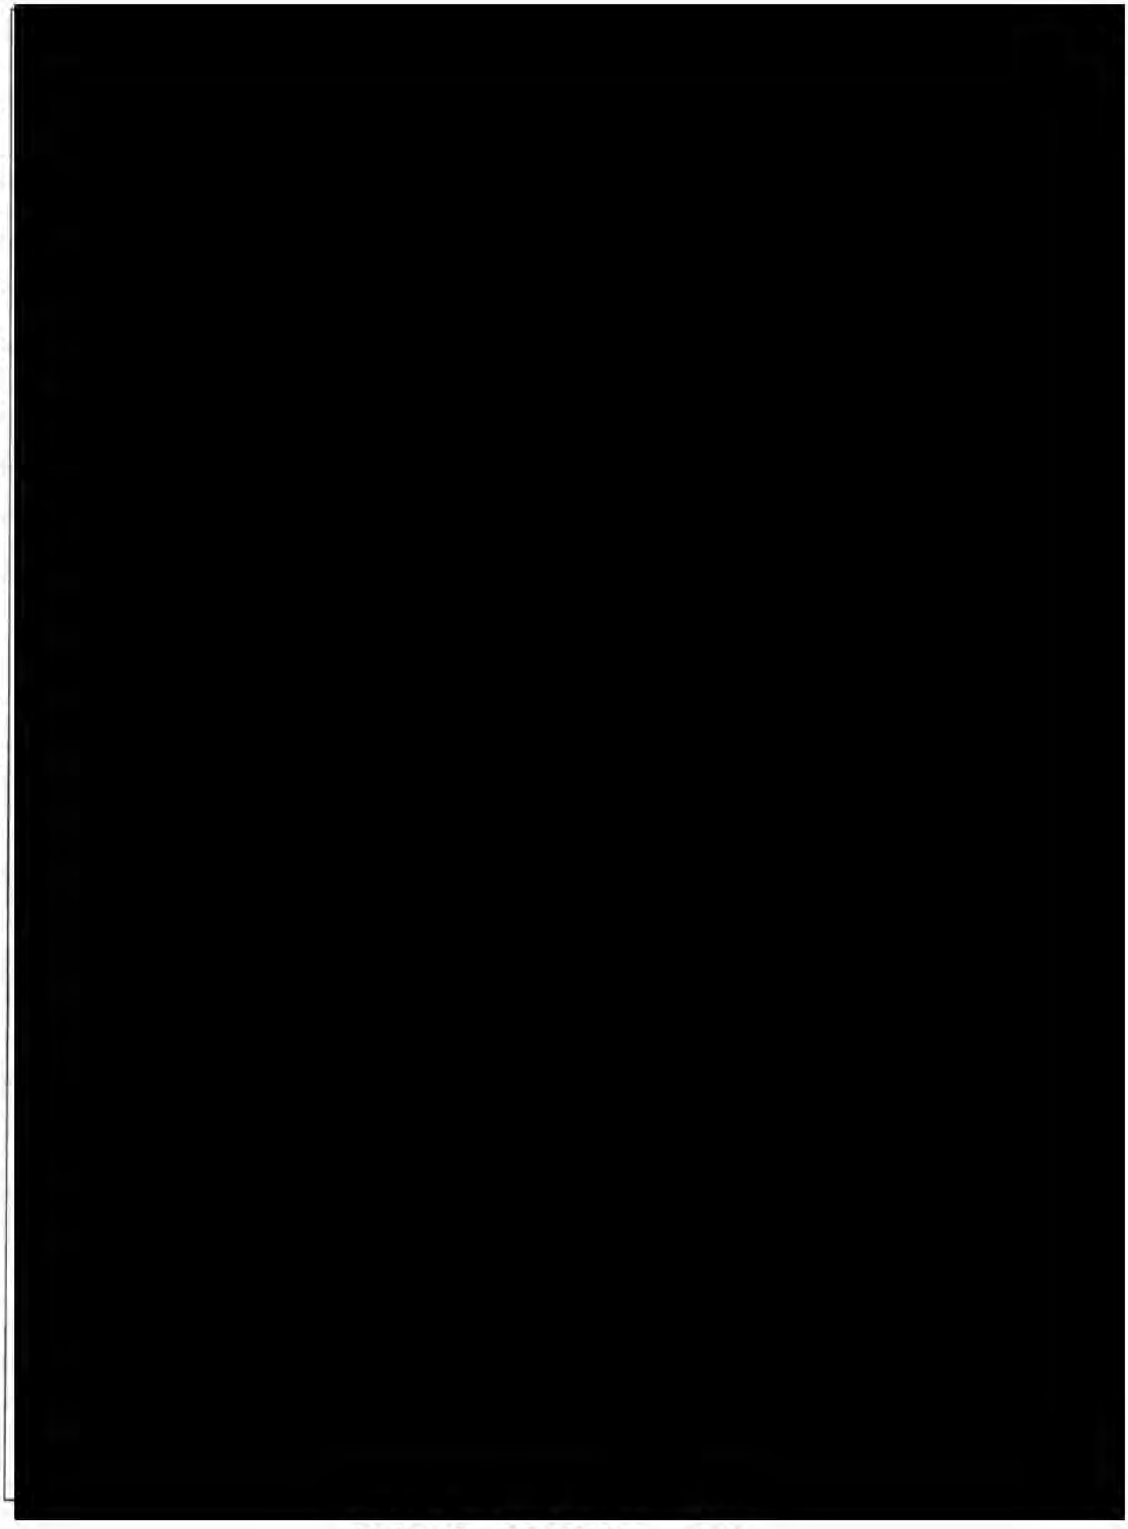
A No, I do not have video.

Q Okay.

MR. COLLINS: Josh what we might want to do is I'm going to enter some of these exhibits, would be his resignation letter as well as his write up.

After this, I'll scan them to you and possibly e-mail them.

MR. GILLISPIE: That's fine.



MR. COLLINS: Okay.

(WHEREUPON, the documents were received and marked for identification and are attached hereto.)

BY MR. COLLINS:

Q Okay.

[redacted]

Finally, did you apply to other jobs with DHS?
A Did I apply?
Q Yes, sir.
A Yes, I did.
Q And what other job did you apply for?
A I applied for a computer technician job on the hill. And I had previously worked for DHS in Little Rock back in the '80s for food stamps and I had five years experience at that job as assistance programmer.
And there was an opening in Little Rock and I applied for that. A current -- when I say current, I mean like 2019 period, and I applied for that. And I --
Q And which --
A -- interviewed (inaudible) --
Q I'm sorry. Go ahead.
A I interviewed for that job in Little Rock.
Q And which job was that?
A It was a computer related job. Probably a -- I don't remember the title. But it was in -- it was commensurate with my previous experience.
Q Okay. And was your application rejected?
A No. I -- at first, it was rejected.
I have a -- I have a degree in computer science.
Q Uh-huh.
A The people on the hill thought I -- I mean, when I -- personnel on the hill, I had the impression that they didn't believe me. Because I was working at a lower job.

The reason I was working at a lower job, I had to get ten years in with the state to collect my employment.

Q Uh-huh.

A My retirement.

Q Okay. So did you ever write a letter saying that your application was erroneously rejected?

A I think I wrote a letter to verify that I did have a Bachelor of Science degree and that I felt I was qualified.

I can't remember if I wrote a letter or I -- I was told that on the phone or I discussed that on the phone. But I remember something like that.

Q Okay. So your background is in computer science or something along those lines?

A Say that one more time.

Q Your background is in computer science; is that correct?

A Yes. Back in the '80s.

Q Okay.

Have you ever had any medical training?

A No, I have not, except CPR.

Q Okay.

So do you know how many times 9-1-1 was called from Booneville HDC during your time of employment there?

A I have no idea.

Q Do you know how many times medical was called?

A I have no idea.

Q Okay. Do you know how many times medical was called to an emergency that turned out not to be an emergency at all?

A I'm sure that has occurred, but I have no information or no idea how many times that might have happened.

Q Okay. And so your impression of the 9-1-1 policy, that it was, in your words, possibly a coverup because administration was controlling and wanted to control the narrative?

A Now, would you ask -- will you repeat that question?

Q Okay. I'm saying your impression of the 9-1-1 policy was that it was due to the fact that administration wanted to control the narrative and possibly cover up things?

A Yes.

Q Okay. It sounds like you're guessing or that's a bit of a conspiracy.

Do you have any actual basis or knowledge or have you spoken to anyone in administration that would lead you to believe that?

A No.
Q Okay.
MR. COLLINS: I have nothing further.
MR. GILLISPIE: Me neither. Thank you, Mr. Carter.

MIKE ALVIS,

Called as a witness, having been first duly sworn to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, was examined and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q. Hello, Mr. Alvis. How are you today?

A. I'm doing all right.

Q. And your name is Michael Alvis, right?
A. Yeah.
Q. And it's --
A. I go by Mike.
Q. Mike, okay.
A. Yeah.
Q. And are -- are -- you're not a -- you're not a doctor?
A. No.
Q. Okay. What is your title at -- or at the -- at the Booneville facility?
A. Psychological examiner.
Q. Psychological examiner, okay.
A. Uh-huh.
Q. So what kind of credentials do you have for that?
A. I have a master's degree in counseling psychology.
Q. Okay. A master's. I was thinking that's what it was. Master's in psychology, okay.
A. Uh-huh.
Q. How old are you, Mr. Alvis?
A. 60.
Q. 60, okay.
Well, let me start by saying my name is Josh Gillispie. I'm an attorney for David Cains and his family.

A. Uh-huh.
Q. I just want to ask you a few questions about your time with David and about the facility that shouldn't take too long.
Have you ever been deposed before, Mr. Alvis?
A. Not really, no.
Q. No? Never been in part of a -- you never had to go and be questioned --
A. I've been in court.
Q. Okay.
A. A -- two to three times.
Q. Okay. What have you been in court for?
A. One time was back in the nineties I think it was. I was working for the Centers for Youth and Families in helping DHS take the children out of the home.
Q. Okay. Oh, okay. D --
A. That was --
Q. Okay. That sort of thing?
A. Yeah.
Q. Was --
A. So --
Q. -- were all the times that you had to go to court involving that sort of --
A. Client thing, yeah.
Q. -- thing?

A. Yeah.
And in Hot Springs I've been to court twice I think trying to get a client into a hospital.
Q. And how long have you been employed at the Booneville Human Development Center?
A. Currently? Since nineteen eight -- I mean 2018 currently.
Q. What do you mean "currently"?
A. I was employed there before in ninety -- not ninety. Excuse me. Yeah, it was 19 -- I was there for four years, so 2008 to 2002, before.
Q. You mean 1998 to 2002?
A. Yeah. Uh-huh, yeah. That's it.
Q. And then you -- you came back to Booneville in 2018?
A. January, yeah.
Q. Okay. And you're still there?
A. Yes.
Q. And is that your -- your full-time job?
A. Yeah.
Q. Meaning you don't work at other facilities with --
A. No.
Q. Okay. Okay. And -- let's see. All right.
Mr. Alvis, where are you from originally?
A. What do you mean? Like --

Q. Where'd you grow up?
A. Mena, Arkansas.
Q. Mena.
A. Mena, yeah.
Q. All right. And where did you go to -- where did you get your master's degree?
A. University of Central Arkansas.
Q. Okay. And what year did you graduate?
A. 1989.
Q. 1989 from there. All right.
And you said it's a master's in --
A. Counseling psychology.
Q. -- counseling psychology.
A. Yeah.
Q. Okay. Where did you work -- what was your first job after that?
A. Counseling Associates.
Q. Okay.
A. In Russellville.
Q. And what kind of work did you do for Counseling Associates?
A. I was an outpatient therapist.
Q. Okay. Just a general therapist for --
A. We were -- yeah.
I covered whoever they gave me, a client.

Q. Kind of like you'd have a client that comes in once a week or once a month --
A. Yeah.
Q. -- and does talk therapy?
A. Yeah, yeah.
Q. Okay. And how long were you at Counseling Associates?
A. Technically I started my internship in January, and that job ended in June.
Q. That job ended in June.
A. Yeah.
Because they hired me while I was still in grad school. And I had already finished my internship hours, and they hired me through -- my first job.
Q. When you first came to work at Booneville in 1998, what did you do at the facility? What was your job?
A. The same -- the same job that I was in now, I'm in now: Psychological examiner.
Q. Psychological -- and that's your title, psychological examiner?
A. Yeah, yes.
Q. What does that mean?
A. I provide testing, psychological evaluations, individual and group counseling type deals. I'm -- I go to meetings; annual IPP, Individual Program Plans.

Q. So --
A. And special staffings and . . .
Q. So you administer testing to the clients; you administer counseling to the clients, and you're an integral part of their IPPs as well?
A. I don't know about integral; but I am part of it, yeah.
Q. Or -- what is the other acronym I'm looking for? The IDT?
A. In Per- -- In- --
Q. Individual Development Team? Or are you familiar with that?
A. Really I -- to be honest with you, yeah, that's the first time I've heard that one.
Q. Okay.
A. IDT, yeah.
Q. Well, every client has a --
A. IPP.
Q. -- has a -- okay. And, well, maybe -- tell me what your understanding of an IPP is.
A. Individual Program Plan.
Q. Okay.
A. And it's a review of what they're going to be doing for the following -- the coming year.
Q. Okay.

A. In terms of programming; you know, like, work and training to -- you know, self-care and medication.

There's lot's -- I'm -- I'm not really responsible for the IPP things, so I'm not really -- I'm not -- we cover a lot of topics through that, through that meeting.

Q. Is there a person that is primarily or ultimately responsible for IPPs?

A. Oh, yes; the Q.

Q. The who?

A. The Q, the qualified -- is it -- it's -- it used to be QMRP, but I think it's QIDP I think.

Q. Yeah, I -- I think I -- I've seen that, that acronym.

A. Yeah.

Q. And that's a person?

A. Yes, uh-huh. Yeah, that's, like, the leader of the team.

Q. Do you know --

A. That --

Q. -- who that is for David? Or who that was for David?

A. I really couldn't tell you. I don't --

Q. Is it different for everybody?

A. Everybody has a different Q but some people -- I mean, we have the same caseloads sometimes; but . . .

Q. How many -- how many coworkers do you have that function as a -- well, let's call them Qs, as Qs?
A. I think there are four right now I think.
Q. Okay. And -- and who are they?
A. Frances Preston.
Her name is -- her last name is Hoopa. I forget what her first name is.
And then Crystal Strain I think. Strain, yeah.
And Justin Jobb is covering as a QIDP and as a team leader too.
Q. Okay. That name rings a bell. Could that have been his Q?
A. It could have been.
Q. But you're not sure?
A. Yeah.
Q. And is there another one that you can recall? You said four.
A. There was a -- yeah. That's -- there's four.
Q. That was four. Okay.
A. Yeah, yeah.
One person had just quit, but he had moved up to the -- a team leader position and he just quit a while ago.
Q. And --
A. And he was a Q that was there.

Q. -- IPP, Individual Patient Plan?
A. Program Plan.
Q. Program -- or Individual Program Plan?
A. I think that's --
Q. Individual Program Plan; I think you're right.
A. Uh-huh.
Q. And it -- it's your understanding that when a patient is -- is first admitted, an IPP is created for that patient?
A. Within a certain -- like, yeah.
Q. And then once a year it's reviewed and --
A. Uh-huh.
Q. To see if it needs to be modified?
A. Yeah, yes.
Q. Is that correct?
A. Yeah, and -- and it's -- yeah, you -- generally once a year, yeah. But there's, like, special team meetings that happen throughout the year about -- if there's situations or things that happen.
Q. So if -- if a patient is behaving in a way or -- or showing symptoms that warrant extra care, the IPP might be reviewed by his --
A. Yeah.
Q. -- providers, and you might modify it --
A. I think so.

Q. -- as needed?
A. Yeah. Yes, I think so.
Q. You think so. Okay.
A. But I'm not -- like I said, I'm not a Q; so I'm not really sure what all the --
Q. I understand.
A. Yeah, they -- I know that if there's -- I forget the number, but so many chemical or phys- -- mechanical interventions we have to meet. And, you know, that -- that's about all I know, is it . . .
Q. So if --
A. I'm not the one who calls the meetings.
THE COURT REPORTER: I'm sorry. Say that again.
THE WITNESS: I'm not the one who calls the meetings.
Q. Let me -- let me -- since you've never been deposed before --
A. Yeah.
Q. -- that's a court reporter.
A. Uh-huh.
Q. She's writing down everything we say.
A. Uh-huh.
Q. Of course, you're testifying under oath; you understand that.

A. Uh-huh.
Q. It's important to speak clearly.
A. Okay.
Q. So that she can make an accurate record of what is said here.
A. Okay.
Q. If you don't understand one of my questions or if you can't hear me, which won't be an issue --
A. Right.
Q. -- everybody can hear me --
A. Yeah.
Q. -- probably in the next room.
I want you to stop me and ask me to rephrase or ask me to -- to say it again.
A. Okay.
Q. Because I really want you to understand my questions.
A. Uh-huh.
Q. I would also ask that you let me finish the question before you start speaking, and I'm going to do the same thing for you. I'm not going to interrupt your answer, if at all possible.
A. Uh-huh.
Q. Again, this is for a clean record. It makes it easy -- it makes it easier on her.

Another thing is it's important in a deposition to verbalize yes and no.
A. Uh-huh.
Q. Because if we were just sitting here talking, I'd be doing a lot of this or a lot of this. Unfortunately, while we are being filmed, she still needs to make a record and needs to hear the yes or the no.
Does that make sense?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And I do not plan on having you here very long; but if you need to take a break at any point, you let me know and we'll stop.
A. Yeah.
Q. Okay?
A. Yeah. I've been driving for two hours -- and the -- I had to go to the restroom when I first got here. And I think I'm okay, but I drank a lot of coffee and was drinking; so --
Q. Well, I --
A. -- it may hit me.
Q. I -- I certainly understand that. And you just let me know; I won't hold it against you.
A. Okay.
Q. Not a problem.
Okay. So let's -- let's get into the testing.

Your -- your -- you said that -- that a psychological examiner --

A. Uh-huh.

Q. -- examiner, it makes sense that you administer tests.

What are some of the -- what are the tests that you administer to --

A. The --

Q. -- the clients?

A. Intellectual assessments. You want to know the names of them?

Q. Yes.

A. The Slosson, that's about -- and the Wechsler Adult -- Adult Intelligence Scales. And those are the two intelligence tests that I've given up there.

Q. Okay. Aside from intelligence tests, are there any other tests that would have been administered to David Cains?

A. A Vineland or an individual -- or let me see what the name of it was. It was -- it's an ICAP but we don't use the ICAP anymore.

Q. Sure.

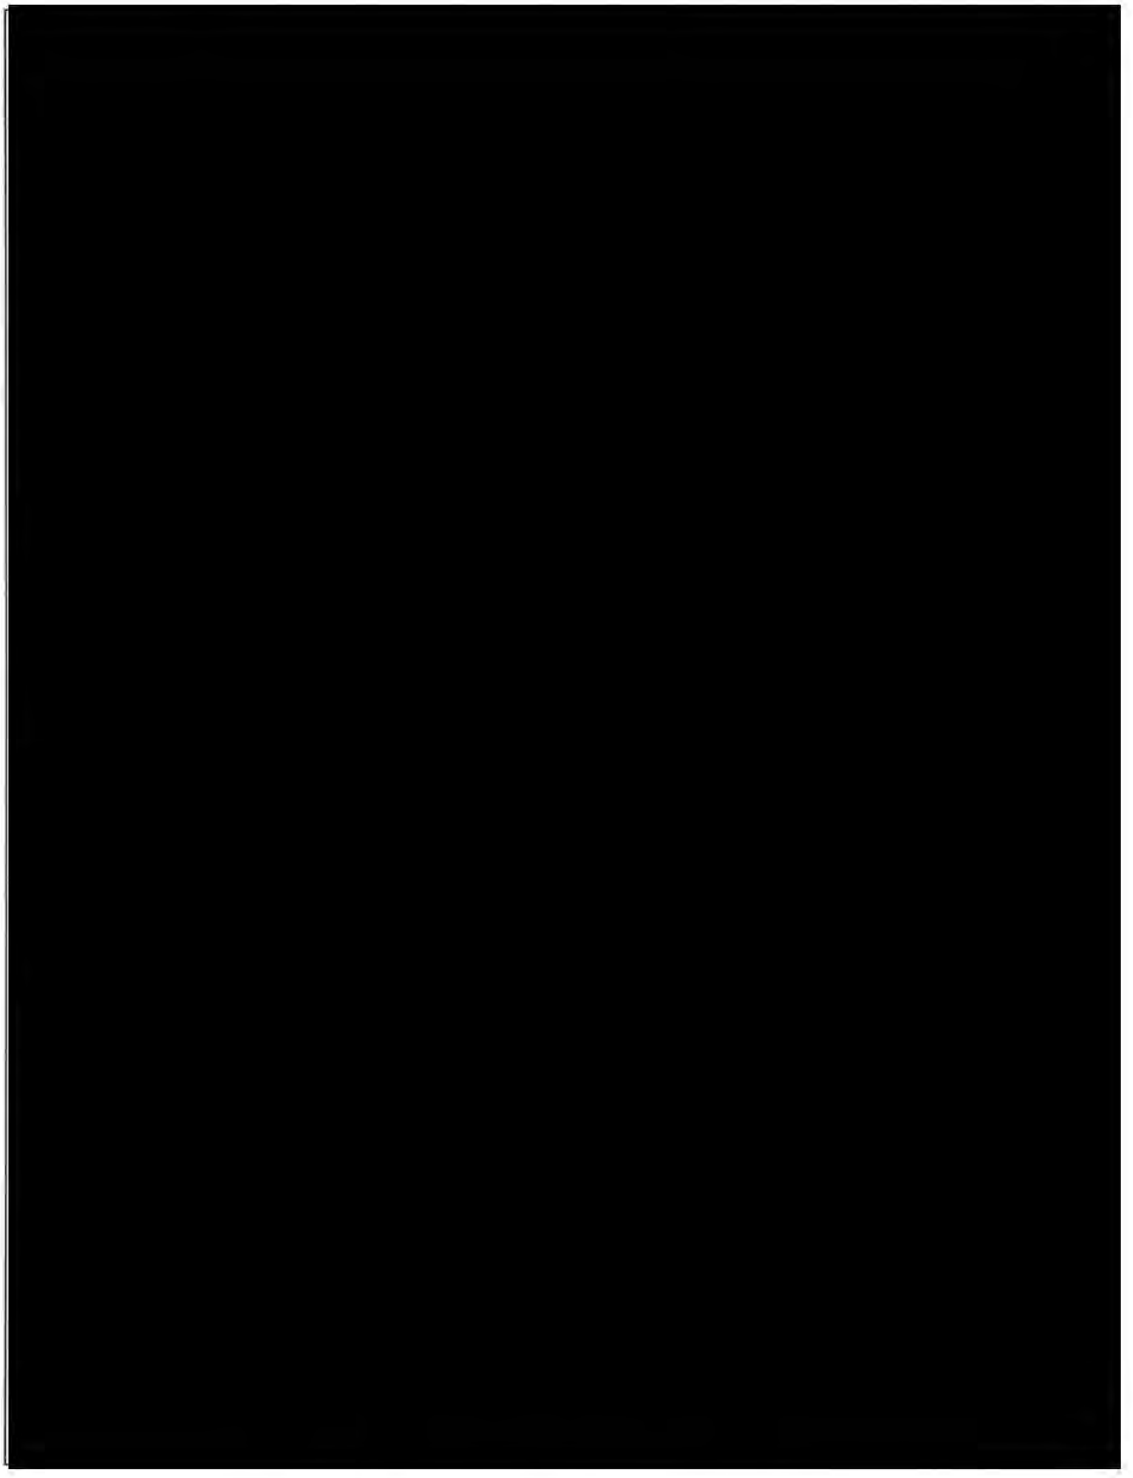
A. But it's an older test. Inventory for Client and Agency Planning is the ICAP, was the last one.

Q. What is -- and what is the purpose of that test?

What are you looking for?
A. That is mainly adaptive behavior stuff and also to de- -- it measures how much care they need or the level of care they that are -- they need; that they function at.
Q. Okay.
A. But, like I said, we -- I haven't used that test in years.
Q. Did you ever use it on Mr. Cains?
A. I never did.
Q. Do you know if anyone else did?

[redacted]

Q. What does that indicate? I don't know what a "service score" means.
A. I'm not -- yeah, okay. Yeah, I -- I haven't used this in so long, so I'm not really completely sure what the levels are.



[redacted]

[redacted]

Q. Okay. But it's not an intelligence test?
A. No.
Q. It's a --
A. No. It's a . . .
Q. So in laymen's terms what -- what is it? And I'm not trying to trip you up here. I just want to make sure I understand what --
A. Yeah.
Q. And if you don't -- I know you said you haven't used it in a while; but, just to the best of your recollection --
A. Uh-huh.

Q. Okay. I'm -- okay. Okay.
So what test did you personally administer to -- to David Cains?
A. Nothing. I've never --
Q. You've never administered a test to David Cains?
A. No.
Q. Okay. I may have the wrong person here.
Do you know who did administer tests to David Cains?
A. I really don't know. I didn't bring it, no. Or I didn't -- I don't have it.
Q. Okay. He was one of your patients, though; wasn't he?
A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And not every client there is your patient, correct?
A. No, correct.
Q. There's other psychological examiners that work there as well?
A. Yes, one.
Q. One other? And who is that?
A. Kathy Edwards.
Q. Okay. Now, I saw your name on a lot of documents. I don't recall seeing any with her name on it, so that's why I have you here today.
But you -- you're saying you never administered any intellectual or -- or IQ tests or any other tests to David?
A. Correct.
Q. And you don't know who did?
A. No.
I didn't know I was going to be asked that.
Q. Okay. And are they not administered yearly?
A. No.
Q. How often are they administered?
A. A person over the age of 21, it -- whatever the IQ testing was done is generally carried throughout their stay while they're there.
And a Vineland is about the same thing. If they're test -- if they're given the test over the age of 21, we just basically keep that original score because it doesn't change much.

Q. It doesn't change once they're fully developed?

A. Yeah, pretty much.

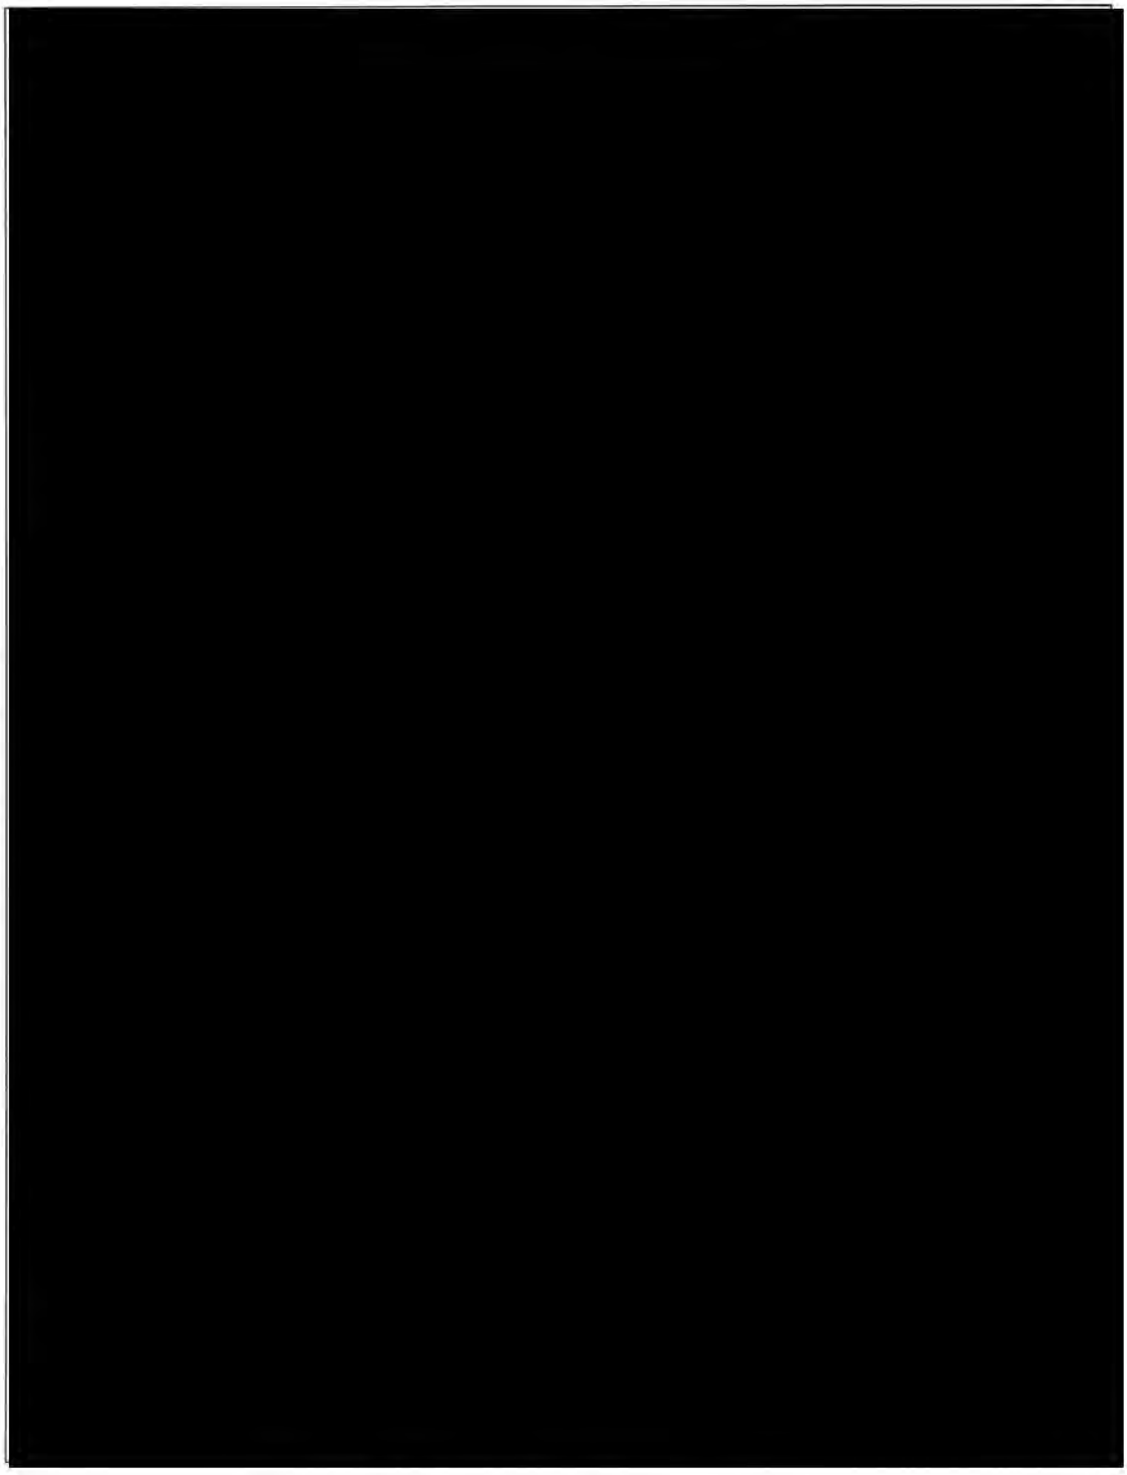
Q. Okay. And so you're famil- -- you -- you've -- you're -- him being -- since he was your patient, I assume you're familiar with the results of his IQ test testing; correct?

A. Yes. I guess, yes. Yes.

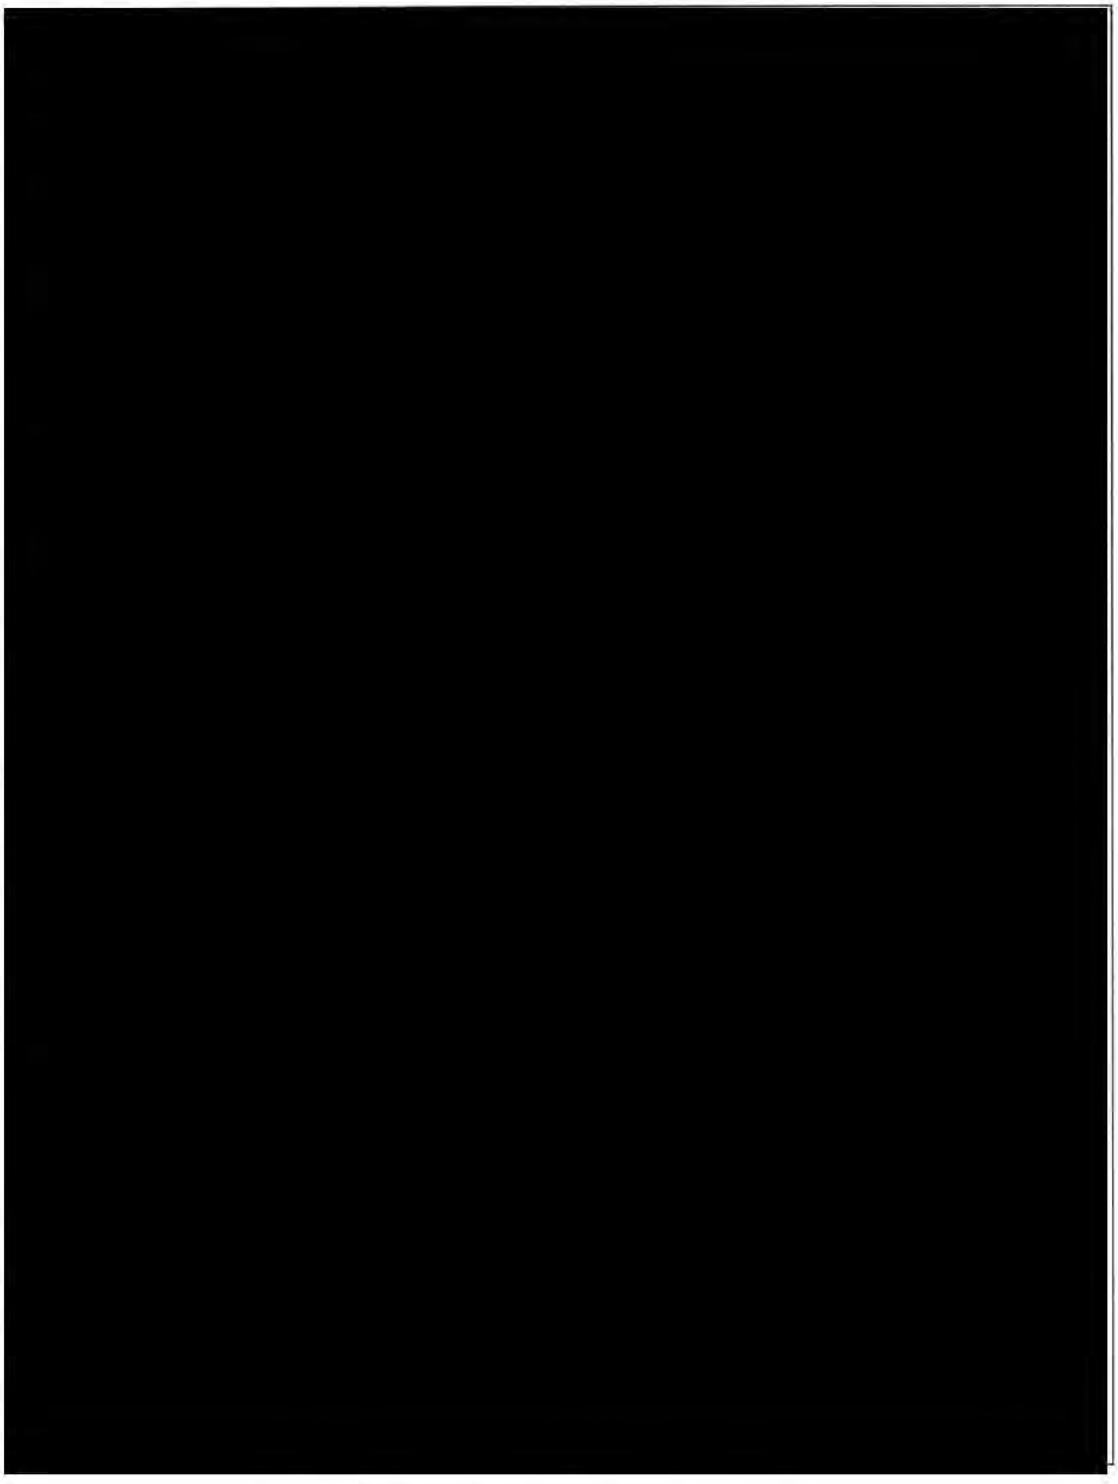
Q. Okay. And could you tell us about what his IQ testing revealed?

A. Well . . .

Q. What tests he was given, what scores he -- he -- what the scores were, and what those scores indicate?

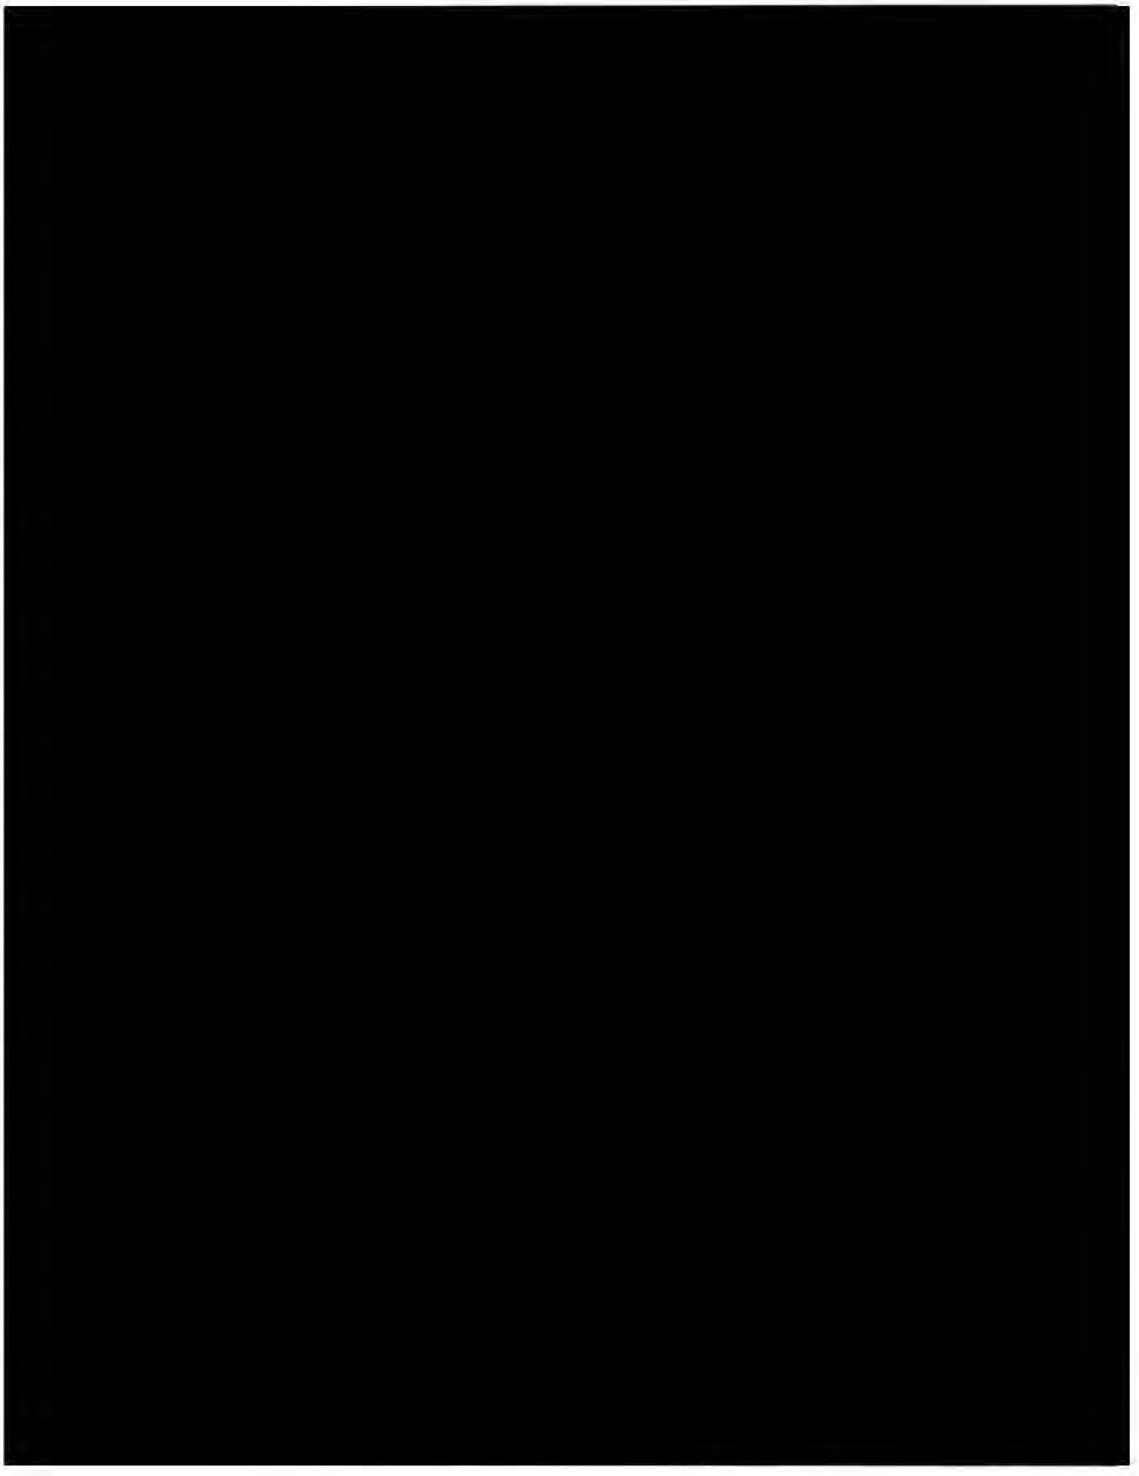


[redacted]



Q. What's a- -- what is the average score on this test for just the average --

A. 100.



Q. 100.
A. Yeah.
Q. And what is considered intellectually disabled?
A. Anything below 70.
Q. Okay.
A. A score of 70, below 70.

Q. All right. Let's make this Exhibit 1. I'm sorry to take your -- your paper.
A. Yeah.
Q. But I don't have this and --
A. Oh.
Q. -- it's become an exhibit now.
A. Okay.

(Exhibit 1 marked for identification.)

Q. Let's keep it there for now. You can have it back for now. We've just got to give it to her before we leave.
A. Okay.

[redacted]

Q. But you -- you would a- -- based on -- how much interaction did you have with him?

A. Limited. I've saw him at the annual reviews. I seen him in the dorms in the hallways.
Q. Uh-huh.
A. You know, a few times.
Q. You never administered counseling to him?
A. Not necessarily, no.
Q. What does "not necessarily" mean?
A. I have -- I haven't.
Q. Okay.
A. No.
I've seen him in the hallways and said hi to him and "How are you doing today?", those kind of things. But sitting down and talking with him and helping him process his feelings and those kind of things, I did not do that.
Q. Okay.
A. Counseling.
Q. Did he have a counselor that did that?
A. No.
I mean, I was the -- I'm the psychology person there.
Q. So if he --
A. He was on my team, yeah.
Q. So if he were being provided counseling, it would have come from you?

A. More than likely, yes. Yeah. And, the staff, when they interact with him, they're trained in that; how, you know, to talk with them and those kind of things too.
Q. But they don't have a master's in psychology?
A. No. Right, correct.
Q. I mean, is there anybody else that -- that -- other than you that during the last couple of years of his life -- again, he -- he died in June of 2020; you started back in January of 2018.

Between when you began or when -- between the start of your working there in 2018 and his death in June of 2020, was there anybody that you know of that provided actual counseling or therapy to -- to David?
A. No.
Q. And if he had been required to do counseling or if he had been -- if counseling had been part of his plan, regular counseling, it more than likely would have fallen to you to provide that counseling?
A. Correct.
Q. Okay. Is it -- is it unusual for -- for the clients at -- at Booneville to receive regular counseling?
A. When you say "unusual," it's not a daily practice. I'm not really sure what you mean by that.
Q. I guess I sort of assumed that -- that most of them went to -- did some sort of counseling or therapy on a regular basis.

Is that not the case?

A. That's not the case.

Q. Okay. And if -- if -- so what -- what then -- why have a counselor there? What -- when would your services as a counselor be needed?

A. Really the ID- -- the IDT.

Q. Okay.

A. I guess inter- -- interdisciplinary team.

Q. Which you were a part of?

A. The -- yeah.

I mean, we'd have to meet and say that he needs counseling; and then they'd leave it up to me to -- how often and those kind of things.

Q. Okay. So, the interdisciplinary team, the IDT?

A. I think so, yeah.

Q. Okay. I think you're right.

A. Yeah.

Q. And he had an IDT; I think they all had IDTs.

A. Everybody does, they -- all the clients.

Q. Okay. They had a team.

A. Yeah.

Q. And, for instance, I know Caleb Murray was on that team; I've talked to him.

You were also on that team, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And how often did you meet about David?
A. I really can't recall. I know that we have the annual IPP meeting, and I'm not sure about any special team meetings that we've had about him.
Q. Do you specifically recall any meetings about David Cains?
A. Not really, no.
Q. When you do the annual reviews, what month are those done in?
A. Usually the month before about --
Q. The month before what?
A. The I -- Individual -- the meeting, the IPP. Sometimes two weeks, sometimes a week.
Q. All right. I'm not -- I'm not following you. Maybe I -- let me rephrase that question.
On an annual basis every client has an IPP that is reviewed by their interdisciplinary team, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. What I'm asking is: Is that done -- are those done at -- in January for every client? Are they done in June for every client? When -- you know, what's the schedule?
A. My understanding is it's within a year of the last IPP.

Q. Okay.
A. So -- and I'm thinking that it's generally, like, within 11 -- on the eleventh month is when they usually schedule it on the, you know . . .
Q. How often -- how often are you -- not just for David, but how often are you in IPP sessions, IPP review meetings with -- with --
A. It varies. You know, some weeks I have none.
Q. Uh-huh.
A. I mean, I -- at the end of this month I have -- I don't have -- I don't have any meetings that week. One to two a week, sometimes more.
Q. Okay. And are those held in a conference room there on the campus?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. Where on the campus are they held?
A. In the Nyberg building.
Q. Okay. And --
A. Or at Social Services. I've had IPPs there.
Q. And who all -- who all is present at these typically?
A. The Q.
Q. Uh-huh.
A. Social services, the nurse.
Q. What nurse?

A. The RN.
Q. Okay.
A. The RN that's over his care there.
And then a vocational representative, the client, and me.
Q. Are the client's guardians or family ever there?
A. And guard- -- yes, they're always invited.
Q. And my understanding is that -- that David's mom and/or sister was often present.
Do you recall that?
A. Not really.
Q. Okay.
A. No.
Q. But you don't really recall any specifics about any specific meeting involving David, though; do you?
A. No.
Q. Okay. And you -- I assume you have no knowledge about what his behavior was like around the time of his death, meaning: Had there been more noncompliance or physical aggression issues in the months leading up to his death than perhaps the months before that, that sort of thing?
A. I don't really know.
Q. Do you have -- okay. And that's okay. I just want to make sure.

A. Yeah, yeah. Yeah, yeah.
Q. You don't have any --
A. No.
Q. So if you were to be in a courtroom and asked, you know, was David extra aggressive at the time of his death, you wouldn't have an answer?
A. No.
Q. No?
A. I would not have an answer.
Q. Yeah. Sorry. It just -- again, try to verbalize those nos as best you can.
A. Okay. Yeah, yeah.
Q. So I don't have to . . .
A. Yeah.
Q. Okay. So you never gave David any tests; you never gave David any counseling; you don't recall any details from team meetings going over his IPPs.

With regards to these specific things that we've already talked about, is there anything that you do recall that -- that you think I need to know about? Again with just regard to the things we've already talked about?

Any specific memories --
A. Nothing --
Q. -- you might have that would shed light on David's condition towards the end of his life?

A. Nothing, nothing I can think of.
Q. Okay. And that -- that's okay. That's okay. I -- it's not a memory test. I just --
A. Yeah.
Q. If you do know it, I need to know it; that's all.
A. No.
MR. GILLISPIE: Let's take a quick break.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are going off the record. The time is approximately 10:40 a.m.
(Recess taken.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are back on the record. The time is approximately 10:48 a.m.
Q. (Mr. Gillispie) Okay, Mr. Alvis. I'm going to show you a document marked -- well, it's Bates stamped 013959. If you would take a look at that for me.

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q. Did I read that correctly?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. So those are kind of the reasons that -- that this, this was updated; is that right?
A. Correct.
Q. Okay. And above that paragraph -- well, let me ask you this: What caused the team to review this to begin with, to review the BTP?
A. I really can't recall. I'm not sure when his IP --
Q. Well, take your time and kind of --
A. Yeah. I --
Q. -- familiarize yourself with the document.
A. Yeah.
Q. Please, take your time.

A. It doesn't tell me why it -- we had this -- why it had it updated -- when I got there, I mean, the practice is to update the programs with my name on it because I'm the new provider.

And there -- and, I'll be honest, there are probably a couple of them that I have not updated yet because the programs are still good.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. And -- and I updated it -- I -- because the team said we need to update it, so I did it.

Q. So the team said you need to update it.

So who -- who asked you to update it?

A. The IDT whenever we were having the staff meeting.

Q. Okay.

A. You know, and basically I -- I suggested it; and then everyone says, "Okay, yeah. We need to update it."

And I say, "Okay." Then we do it.

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q. But you wrote this document?
A. Yes. That part, yes.
Q. But you don't know why you wrote that? Why you added that to this document?

A. Oh.

[redacted]

Q. I -- I'm just trying to get an understanding of just how it works. I'm not trying to give you a hard time. I just -- I'd just like to understand, you know, how it works; how -- how these patients are monitored, how often their -- their -- their needs are re-evaluated, that sort of thing.

A. It's on a monthly basis that we review the data, because we have to re- -- record what numbers of Behavior Reports that are sent to us, and the -- their Q gets the an -- the monthly data part, our data entry or whatever it is.

[redacted]

Q. What is -- what is "Phase"?

A. Phase is the first part of the training that all staff go through.

Q. Okay.
A. When they first -- it's like an orientation kind of thing, process; and . . .
Q. And I -- I'm correct that personal restraints are not part of Category I procedures, correct?
A. I think you're right. Yeah, correct.
Q. Category I procedures are -- are --
A. Verbal redirection.
Q. Just a moment. I'll help us both out here. I just have to find my copy of 3011-D.

So from what I'm seeing, Category I procedures include: Verbal intervention, separation from activity up to 30 minutes, separation from setting up to 30 minutes, assignment of additional chores, restitution, withholding privileges, and personal property removal for not longer than one hour. And that's everything.

Would you -- would you agree with that; that that's what Category I in- -- allows?
A. Yes.

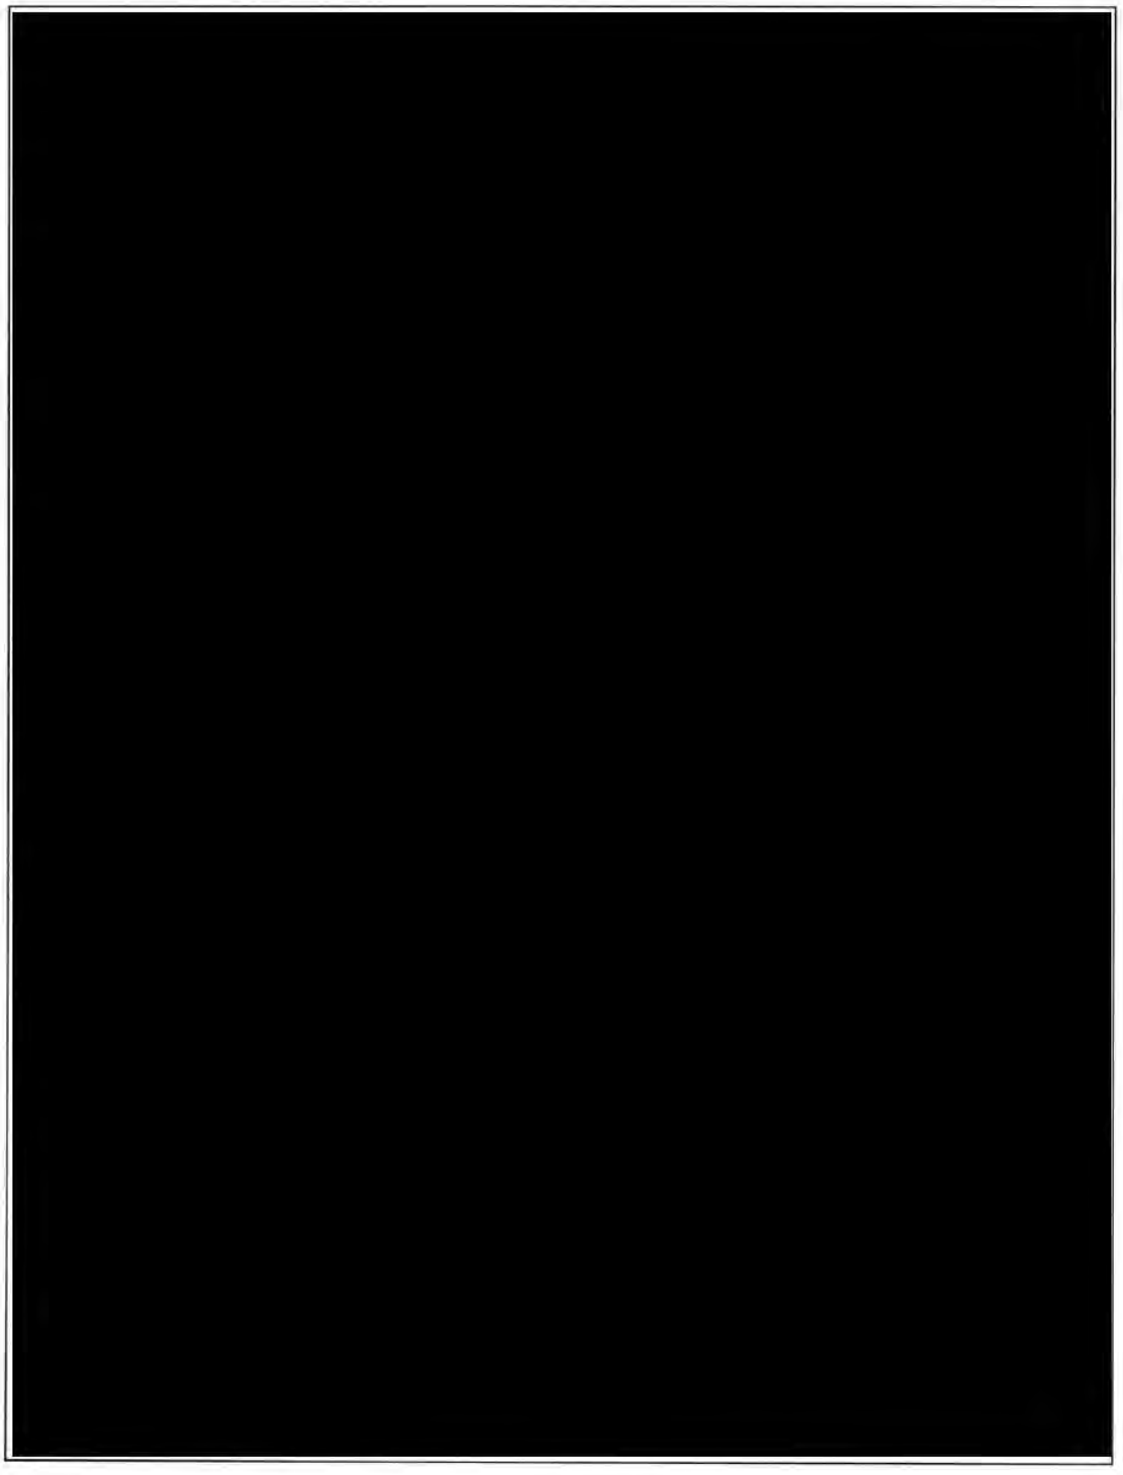
MR. COLLINS: Do you mind if I look at it for review?

MR. GILLISPIE: Absolutely.

We'll mark it as Exhibit 2.
Q. (Mr. Gillispie) It's on -- starting on Page 2.
A. Yeah.

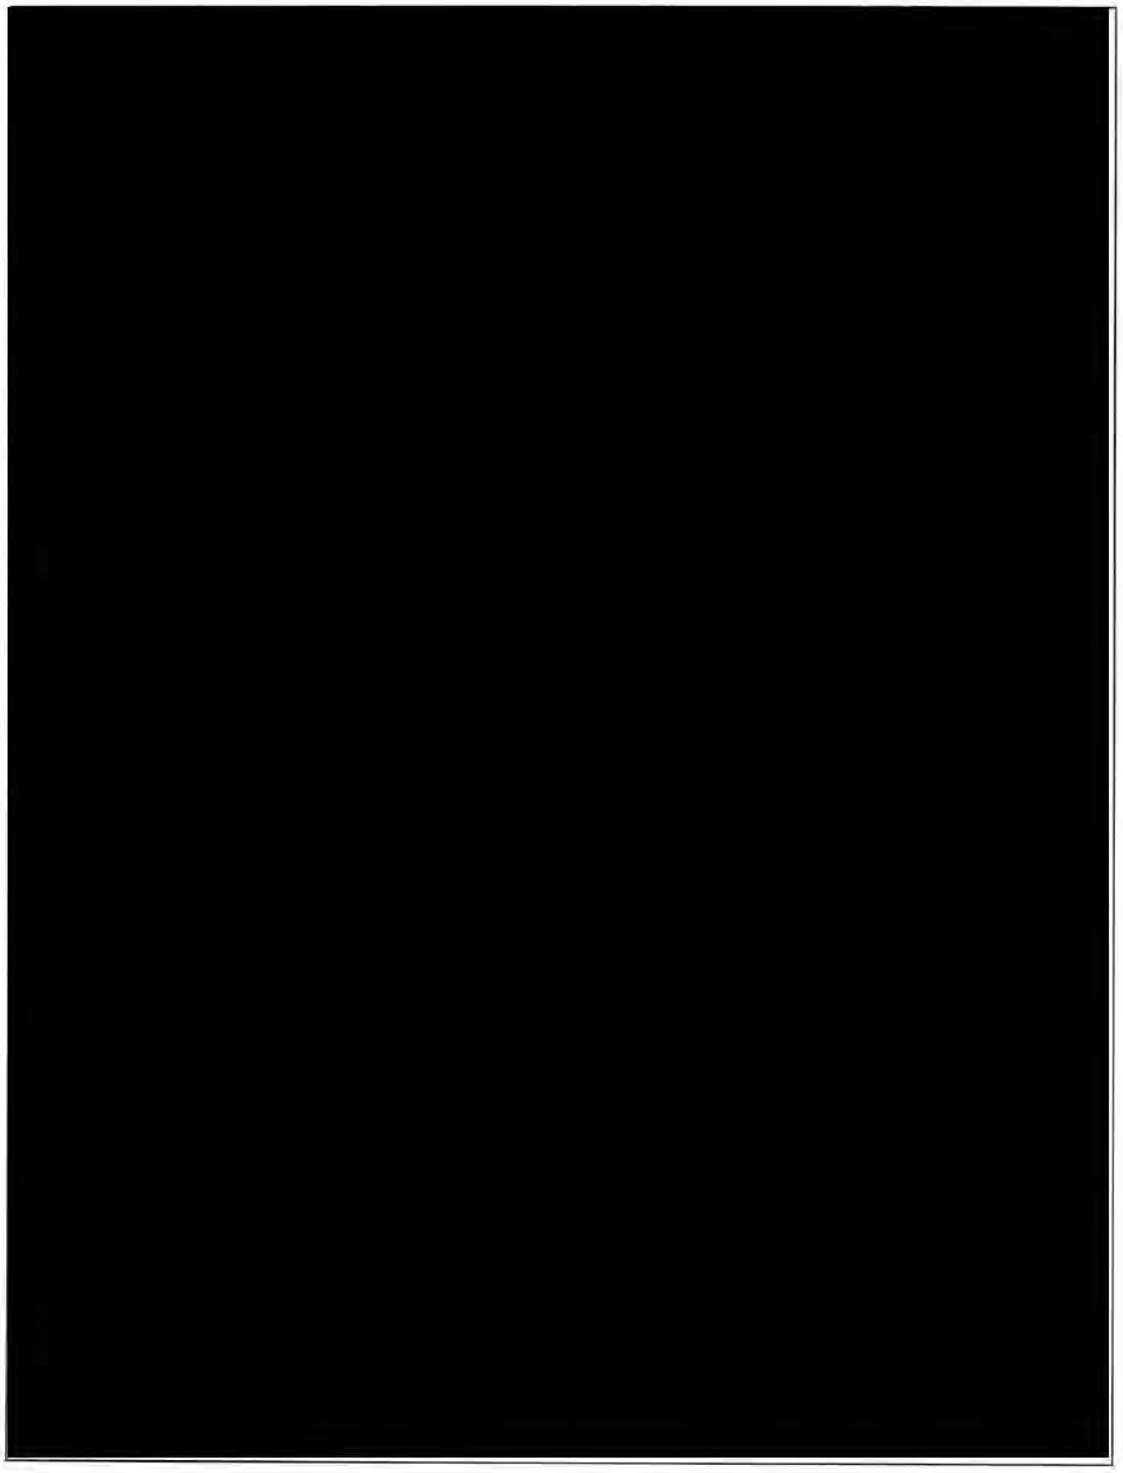
Q. Ending on Page 4.
A. Okay. Yeah.
Q. And -- and so are you done reviewing it?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. Is your answer the same; that you would agree that -- that those -- those things that I enumerated there is everything listed under Category I?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. All right. Turning back to --
MR. GILLISPIE: Well, do you mind if I -- thank you. I'm actually going to use this for the next one, so . . .
MR. COLLINS: May I see it real quick?
MR. GILLISPIE: Sure, sure. But I'm not . . .

[redacted]



[redacted]

Q. That's good. Thank you. Thank you.



So -- and you wrote this document, and you signed it there at the bottom; correct?

A. Correct.

MR. GILLISPIE: Do you want to see this?

MR. COLLINS: Yes.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. I'm going to mark this as Exhibit 2 to this deposition.

(Exhibit 2 marked for identification.)

Q. (Mr. Gillispie) Okay. Did you know Mike Wyrick, Ph.D.?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And -- and was he -- did he have your job at some point before you?

A. No.

Q. Okay. Who was he --

A. I mean, he's a psych -- he's a psychologist.

Q. Is he still there?

A. On a contract basis, yes.

Q. Has he always been there only on a contract basis?

A. No.

He retired -- I want to say -- I mean, 2017 whenever I started, that would be -- he was already -- he was retired. And then he came back a year and a half ago I guess maybe.

Q. Okay.

A. Maybe two years. I'm not really sure when he started, started back his contract.

(Exhibit 3 marked for identification.)

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q. Okay. So you were not the primary author of David's IPP?
A. Correct.
Q. That would have been whoever his QIDP was, right?
A. Correct, yes.
Q. And did you say you knew it was Justin Jobb? Or you just thought it --
A. No --
Q. -- could have been Justin Jobb?
A. -- it could have been. I know that it -- it couldn't have been Frances because she's new; Hoopa is new; Strain is new. And Jobb is --
Q. Okay.
A. Justin Jobb may be --
Q. I think it's --
A. I'm not really --
Q. I think it's "Job," but . . .
A. Oh, okay.

Q. It's one of those names that you read and it kind of pops out. I think I've seen it.

Let me ask you this: How many patients do you have now?

A. 42 to 43.

Q. Okay. And how many did you have in June of 2020, best guess?

A. Probably about the same, forty something.

Q. Okay. And there's one other examiner as well?

A. Correct, yes.

Q. And would that person have a similar number?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

A. She has a -- right now I think she has -- I counted. She has, like, three or four more people than I do on my caseload.

Q. But at any given time you have at some -- around 40, give or take?

A. Yes.

Q. Is that right?

A. Correct.

Q. And, again, that would -- and David was one of yours, correct?

A. Yes. At the time, yes.

Q. Was he your patient the whole time you -- you worked there? The whole time after you came back up to his death, was he your patient?

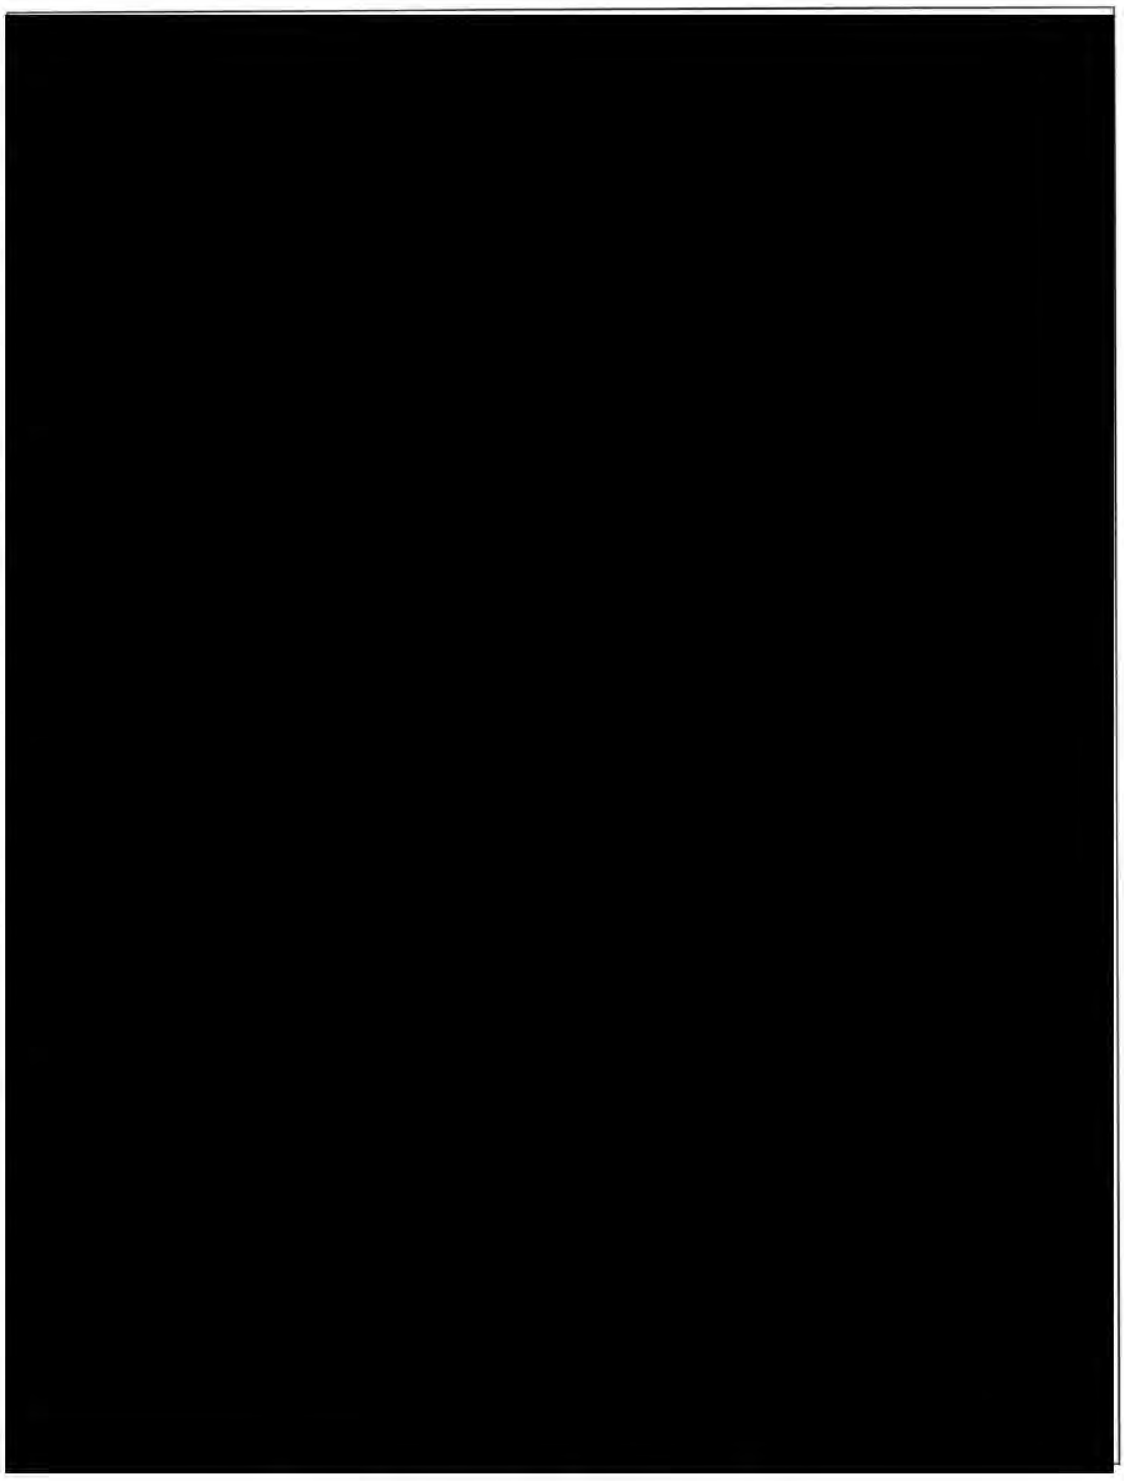
A. More than likely. You know, we -- we did some switching clients, those kind of things. I'm not really a hundred percent sure that he was --

Q. Yeah.

A. -- on my caseload when I first started. He might have been, but we've -- we've switched -- back then we had another psychologist. She was -- she had some clients that were in other areas, and so -- and then whenever she left, we had to juggle; so I'm not sure.

Q. So what is -- Dr. Mike Wyrick, if he's there on a contract basis now, what -- what -- what kind of things does he do that are different than what you and -- and Ms. Edwards do?



A. Basically everything that we do, except he has a Ph.D. And, you know, and then he signs off on our Category III programs.

[redacted]

Q. Okay. And I know that it is not your choice at all who gets counseling and who doesn't, but don't -- do you feel like David might have benefited from some regular counseling?

A. Personally and professionally, probably not.
Q. Okay.
A. Because the level of retention that people have with the -- their disability, it -- the -- I mean, they could sit there and tell you things and act like they understand it, but then they really don't understand it. Because just minutes later they go back and, you know, say I -- you know, so and so did this to me. I -- you know . . .
Q. It would be like trying to do talk therapy with a four year old?
A. Correct, yeah.
Q. Okay.
A. Yeah. Because it doesn't really stay, stick with them.

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q. Okay. Did you ever speak to his guardian? Do you recall ever having any inter- -- any interaction with his guardian? His mom or his sister?

A. I can't really recall. I was in -- I -- it seems like I've been in so many meetings, I'm not sure who's been there and who --

Q. Right. And I understand that.
A. Because we cover for others when they're not there; and, you know . . .
Q. The Category I stuff notwithstanding, do you -- and I assume you don't -- but do you have any personal knowledge about the types of physical restraints or personal restraints that direct care staff were permitted to use on David?
A. I don't know. I really . . .
Q. No?
A. No. Mainly --
THE COURT REPORTER: I -- did you say "no," sir?
THE WITNESS: I said "no."
THE COURT REPORTER: Or "don't remember"?
THE WITNESS: No.
MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.
THE WITNESS: I said no. No.
Q. (Mr. Gillispie) Did you ever witness David being physically restrained at any time?
A. No, never.
Q. Did you ever hear stories about David being physically restrained or rumors?
A. I -- when I've reviewed the Behavior Reports, I probably had -- did see him -- see it, you know, used.

Q. But nothing that you specifically recall?
A. Yeah, nothing that I really specifically recall.
Q. Okay. Do you have any knowledge about David Cains causing injury to other people at the facility, whether it be staff or other patients?
A. No.
Q. I guess --
A. I have -- no.
Q. Okay.
A. No.
Q. Okay. So you have no knowledge -- as you sit here today, you have no knowledge about David having ever physically harmed somebody else at the facility, correct?
A. It's -- correct, yeah.
Q. Okay. And you've never heard about that happening with David either?
A. I might have. I just don't remember hearing it, to be honest with you.

Q. Do you know how many -- how many behavior incidents he was having a month at the time of his death?
A. I'm going to -- no. But if -- if I were to extrapolate from the past, it's probably about the same on Behavior Re- -- whatever the Behavior Report at the time was.
Was it two Behavior Reports a month? Is that . . .?
Q. I -- I've heard from a couple witnesses, I believe Amy Jones and Amanda Schmidt, that --
A. He --
Q. -- that the facility may have been short-staffed in June of 2020.
Do you recall that being the case?
A. No, I don't recall that.
Q. Okay.
A. But they -- we've been running short of staff for -- I mean, they're always running -- it seems like they're running short staffed, but I'm not --
Q. And does -- does that fall to -- does the brunt of that fall to the direct-care staff mainly?

A. Okay, what? What falls to the direct-care staff? I'm not . . .
Q. Well, if you're running short staffed, I assume somebody's having to do more than they're supposed to do; somebody's being overburdened.
Does that overburdening fall more on the direct-care staff or everybody?
A. It's probably everybody.
Q. Everybody.
A. I would think. But more -- probably moreso on the direct-care staff though.
Q. So staffing is -- is generally an issue. You just don't remember it being specifically something that sticks out in June of 2020?
A. (No audible reply.)
Q. Correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Were you ever questioned by law enforcement or paramedics or anybody about David's death?
A. No.
Q. Were you ever questioned by Sandy Evans about David following his death?
A. No.
Q. Have you ever discussed his death with anybody before other than -- other than what you might have discussed with Mr. -- Mr. Collins? I don't -- you can't tell about that.

A. No.

Q. But anybody else?

A. When a person dies up there, I mean, I usually go to my support staff. I mean, Kathy Edwards; Wyrick; and -- and -- to them and I -- you know, we talk about it, processed what happened.

But I didn't really -- I don't -- I didn't -- I don't remember really processing his death as much as it was just that -- I mean, when it happened, I was probably just in -- in shock and in grief the whole time. It just -- you know, it take -- it -- the way I process grief is it takes me a while and -- to even express it, so . . .

Q. But you -- you recall grieving over David's death?

A. Everyone that passes away up there, I grieve, yes.

Q. Okay.

A. And, yes, I did with David.

Q. Would -- and that -- I appreciate that; that -- that makes sense.

But, just to be clear, I think you told me earlier, though, that you didn't -- you didn't know him well, though? You didn't -- you haven't spent a lot of time with him, right?

A. Correct.
Q. If you had to guess how often you personally interacted with him, what would you say? Once a week? Once a month?
A. Once every two to three months.
Q. Once every two to three months.
A. Yeah.
Q. And what would that be for?
A. Maybe --
Q. What would be the reason for that interaction?
A. I was in the dorm and I saw him and I said hi to him. One time I recall -- I remember saying something about nice clothes that he had or something like that. I just -- him standing in the hallway, that's . . .
Q. Okay.
A. I mean, that's what comes to mind.

[redacted]

Q. Who would be the best person to ask about that?
A. The lady who I think -- I guess the speech and language person who developed those and the RNs. And then they -- they would have conveyed it to the direct-care people, what the . . .
Q. Who was David's RN?
A. I really don't know.
Or the LPN? I mean, the LPNs are the ones who directly work with them. So I'm not . . .
Q. Give me just a moment here. I want to make sure I didn't miss anything. And then you, sir, can be done.
Do you have any knowledge or opinion based on your evaluations of David and your time spent with David on his physical capabilities as far as coordination, strength, that sort of thing?
A. I have no knowledge, no.
Q. Okay. And I -- I believe from what I've -- I've heard, you would have had no hand or you -- you would have had no role in training direct-care staff on how to deescalate David, anything like that?
A. I covered it in Phase, yeah.

Q. What?
A. I'm taught -- well, labeling and redirecting, that's about the main . . .
Q. And you -- you teach Phase?
A. Sometimes I do. Or Kathy Edwards teaches Phase.
Q. Okay. What is Phase?
A. That's the first --
Q. I have no idea what that --
A. It's the orientation that all staff get when -- when they're there.
Q. Okay. How long does it last?
A. The psychology part, four hours.
Q. It's done --
A. 4 1/2 hours.
Q. And it's done in one day?
A. Our part, yes.
Q. And that would have been the only part you would teach?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And what do you teach in that psychology part?
A. I don't teach it all the time. I taught it whenever Kathy Edwards weren't -- wasn't teaching it or when Dr. Wyrick wasn't teaching it.
Q. When you have taught it, what have you taught?

A. Behavior management, psychiatric diagnosis. What is it? Trauma-informed care was one that we started.
Q. What would you have taught with regards to behavior management?
A. Reinforcement. The ABCs of behavior, understanding behaviors. The ABCs are antecedent, behavior, and consequence. And breaking that down in terms of what the antecedents are, the behaviors --
Q. So --
A. -- what they could be and . . .
Q. Give me the Cliff Notes on what that is?
A. What is? The ABCs?
Q. Yes.
A. Oh, okay. The ABCs is -- antecedent is the behaviors that happen before the behaviors happen. It could be anything from someone looked at them wrong, someone said something to them, or they just -- their mental health kicked -- you know, symptoms kicked in, and they got paranoid or they thought something or those kind of things.

The antecedents, that's the time that staff need to intervene and say, you know, "Hey, let's do this. Let's do that." Redirecting them away from what they're saying or doing.
Q. So --

A. And then --
Q. -- are you talking about -- kind of talking about teaching staff to notice patterns in patients or notice triggers for patients --
A. Yeah.
Q. -- so they can anticipate behavior?
A. Before -- that's -- it's done with everybody. I mean, everyone -- you know, they -- these are the things that you've got to look -- the ABCs is the things that happen.

And then, the behavior part, there's nothing that you can do to do -- to change that behavior, unless you change something in the -- in the antecedent or the consequence. And so the -- that part's covered.
Q. So antecedent includes what?
A. The redirection, separation; the Category I procedure stuff.
Q. Okay. And how do you -- you know, if you were teaching --
A. What can --
Q. -- somebody how to redirect somebody like David Cains, what would you tell them?
A. Just notice any changes in their behaviors.

And mainly it's people -- and what I tell them is, you know, once -- once you know the client, you know what the -- specifically what's different about them.

Q. Uh-huh.
A. You know, so it -- it would be hard to tell with David. I couldn't -- can't really say anything specifically about that.
Q. Okay. Just in general what's an example of how to --
A. If I knew him --
Q. -- give me an example of how you would teach somebody like Tyler Mattson to redirect a client.
A. Noticing any changes in how the person acts or reacts. And then when you notice that change and see what's going on with them, you know, try to change their mind or get them engaged in some other activity other than what they're doing at the time.
Q. But are there specific techniques for doing that? I know what reduction means.
A. It's just -- yeah, that's --
Q. I'm asking you for the -- sort of the expert's take on it.
A. I don't give any -- I don't give any specifics. It's just broad, you know, things to notice.
Q. So you might just say you need to redirect them --
A. We notice --
Q. -- but you wouldn't necessarily say, "And this is how you redirect them," A, B, C?

A. Generally not, no.
Q. And would you have been involved in any of the training on -- on how to physically intervene in emergency situations?
A. No, I wasn't involved in that training. But I've been trained.
Q. And what were you -- how were you trained in that?
A. During a Phase class, some -- you know, and assist to the floor techniques and those kind of things.
Q. You were taught to --
A. The CPI, the -- I don't even know what all that stands for. It's Crisis Prevention Institute I think or something like that.
Q. And so you --
A. CPI.
Q. -- you yourself were -- were given lessons on how to get clients to the floor if necessary?
A. Yes.
Q. I saw that, yeah.
Did you recall who would have given you that training?
A. It was on a video.
Q. And you -- and this video --
A. Staff development.

Q. What's that?
A. It was through staff development.
Q. Okay. And the head of staff development is Hise, Jeff Hise? Kevin Hise?
A. I don't really know.
Q. Mark Hise?
A. He's one of them up there, yes.
Q. Okay. And this video would have been shown to you during the Phase training?
A. I saw -- it was -- it was -- we saw some of the -- some of that during Phase, but I'm not sure if this video was shown then or what, to be honest with you.
Q. And did you ever undergo any NCI training?
A. It's about the same. I think nonviolent -- is it --
Q. Yeah, nonviolent intervention training?
A. Yeah, that's -- that's what I meant to say is -- yeah. That's --
Q. So you think this was a part of that?
A. I think so.
Q. But you're not certain?
A. Not really, no.
MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. I think that's -- I think that's all I have, Mr. Alvis. I appreciate you being here.

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Mr. Murry, thanks for being here today. Again, my name is Josh Gillispie. I represent David Cains and his surviving family members.

I don't expect to be questioning you for too long today. In fact, my plan is, if Eric is okay with this, we could get you wrapped up and then we could take a quick lunch break and then come back and do Amy.

And, you know, I -- there's no reason we need to be here all day, I don't think.

So have you ever been deposed before?

A No, sir.

Q You may want to turn your volume up just a little bit there.

A Okay. I'm not at my computer, I mean, a normal office. Where do I go to do -- turn the volume up for you?

Q I can hear you now.

Maybe you just -- I'm not sure. But I can hear you now better. I think maybe -- that's fine.

A Okay.

Q So I asked, have you ever been deposed before?

A No, I have not.

Q Okay.

Well, I'm just going to be asking you some questions. Only thing I need you to remember to do is to, because this isn't being recorded, videoed I mean, verbalize yesses and nos as best as possible as --

A Okay.

Q -- opposed to uh-huh and hu-uh; because it makes it real difficult for court reporters to determine where that's a yes or a no.

If you don't understand a question, I want you to stop me and asked me. If you don't -- you can't hear me, stop me and ask me.

If, you know, you need to take a break, just let me know. Not a problem.

So let's start by -- your full name is Caleb Murry?

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. And how long have you -- and what is your position at the facility?

For purposes of this deposition, I'm talking about the Booneville Human Development Center, which I'm either going to refer to as Booneville or the facility. And, as long as Eric's okay with that, I -- that's what I'm referring to when I say facility.

You work at the facility?

A Yes, sir. My title is social service worker, slash, program coordinator.

But my job is in the social services office as a social service worker.

Q Okay. And what does that mean exactly? What does that entail?

A Well, we are the main point of contact between the families and -- or, I'm sorry, between the facility and the family.

We keep them appraised of all medical appointments. If they have any questions, they contact us.

Also, we keep up with the annual consents for the clients. We -- so that's our -- one of our main responsibilities is being the contact with family.

Also, what I do, I will, you know, attend -- every three months, we'll have a meeting with the psychiatrist. I will attend and keep them appraised, you know, if the client is on the baseline, if there's anything that seems abnormal with him, to let him know.

Q Uh-huh.

A Also, once a year, I meet with each client. And I will go over their rights and responsibilities as well as the rules of BHDC, update their social history.

And then, once a year, we'll have what's called an individual program plan where we'll meet with the whole team --

Q Right.

A -- and the guardian, if they choose, and talk about, you know, if we think they're placed appropriately here, go over, you know, their health, safety, and security plans; if anything needs to be added or rescinded. Talk about their goals for the upcoming year.

Also, when we get a new resident that comes in, I will, you know, go over their records and write the initial social history for them. And that can be a basis that will be updated yearly.

Q Okay. I think that's a really good explanation. Thank you. That gives me a much better sense of what your role is there.

How long have you been at Booneville?

A A little over seven years. I started in late December of 2014.

Q Okay. And have you been in this job role the whole time?
A Yes, sir. For -- now, I worked at the school for about six-and-a-half years before then. And there were some summers I worked in recreation.
But, whenever I came on to work full time in December, this is the role I have been in.
Q When you say you worked at the school for six years, what school are you referring to?
A I worked at the Bonneville High School and the Booneville Middle School or Booneville --
Q Okay. As a counselor or social worker as well?
A No. My role there, the first years I worked -- for three years, at the high school, I ran the business learning lab. And then they did away with that program and so I assist with literacy at the junior high.
And then we had some budget cuts and they were doing reduction courses in the high -- I went to work at the alternative school there. And this position came open in -- you know, I didn't know -- because there was -- there was an ongoing reduction force.
And I had worked up here before. I put my application in and that's when I -- I came up here.
Q Okay. All right. And are you from the area?
A Yes, sir. I've lived in Booneville my whole life.

Q Oh, really? All right.
Where did you go to college?
A University of Arkansas Fort Smith.
Q Okay. How far is Fort Smith from Booneville?
A About 45 minutes.
Q Okay. It's that close? I know it's pretty close to Eureka; isn't it?
A I think Eureka is -- it would be a couple of hour, two or three hour drive. But, yeah, you can get from here to Fort Smith in about 45 minutes.
Q Okay. I had a client some years ago that was from Booneville. And I used to go up there all the time; but it's been four or five years and I've been to many other places since then and it all gets jumbled up.
Okay. Let's see. So you went to college at Fort Smith. Did you graduate with a four-year degree from there?
A Yes, I did.
Q Okay. What was your degree in?
A My degree was in history and historical interpretation.
Q Okay. That's interesting. I was a history minor. Do you have any other degrees?
A No.
Q Okay.

A No school after that.
Q You had -- what about licenses? I assume you have to have some sort of a -- are you an LCSW?
A No, no. In fact, that was -- whenever I started that was something everyone in training did.
The lady who was my supervisor at the time really emphasized to the class, she says I'm an CLSW; she say I'm a social worker, she said these folks here are social service workers. So there's a real distinction between -- between those two things.
Q And you're more social services?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And so there's no additional schooling or license or --
A No.
Q Yeah. And I don't -- I'm just trying to find out. I just want to make sure I understand. It doesn't matter to me either way. I just, you know --
A Right.
Q Okay.
And so your qualifications for this job were more experience based?
A Yes. In a -- if you have -- my understanding, whenever I applied, was that you can have a four-year degree as well as -- or if you have four years of experience -- or, you know, a year of experience can count as a year of college to apply for this position.

Q Okay. All right. And you've been at the facility since 2014 you said?

A Yes. The very end of the year of 2014.

Q Okay.

And I'm correct that you were David Cains' social services worker or social worker specifically; correct?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And my understanding is there are other folks that also do what you do at the facility, and then they have their own clients assigned to them?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And, approximately, how many clients do you service at a time?

A It has fluctuated a little bit over the years. But, right now, I've got about -- between 40 and 42. Somewhere in there.

Q Okay. And there's typically about 130 people at any given time at the facility?

A Yes, sir.

Q Roughly?

A Roughly, yes.

Q Okay. So are there three full-time social workers?

A Social services workers, yes.

Q Okay.

All right. And was David Cains with you your entire time there?

A No, he was not.

Q Okay. When did he become your client?

A I believe it was in 2017. We had -- whenever I first began, there was -- let's see.

I'm trying to remember how many of us there were. There was a lot more then. There were six, so our case load was significantly smaller at that time.

And one of our workers left, retired, one of them went to another job, and so -- so there was some reorganizing. And so I became his worker in, I believe, in 2017.

Q All right.

Kind of, if you could, give me an understanding of what your relationship was with David. Another way to say that would be kind of the level of interaction you had, you know, just -- that's kind of what I'm asking.

You know, how involved, you know, how much did y'all interact? If you could, just kind of give me an idea of that.

A Sure. We had -- there for a while, he would come to my office usually about once a week.

He -- the reason he would do that was whenever, you know, the weather was nice and we weren't dealing with COVID and stuff, the clients could -- and the traineers were all up at normal -- normal operating capacity.

Q Uh-huh.

A He would want to, you know, talk on his mom on the phone once a week, so he would swing by my office and, you know, and come in and call his mom.

Q Okay. So that was where he would call his mom. I knew he called his mom or sister once a week. That was --

A Yeah. And then that was where -- a while -- at one point, they increased his health, safety, and security plan to be on enhanced supervision so he would have staff around him closer.

And so he just called from the dorm after that was added to his health, safety, and security plan.

Q Say that again. After it was enhanced, what happened?

A He would call from the dorm.

Q Okay. When was that enhancement done?

A If you will give me just a moment, I'm going to look through my case notes and I can --

Q Okay.

A -- (inaudible) when he would call his mom.

COURT REPORTER: Mr. Murry, if you can just try to get closer to your mic, maybe, when you're speaking, I'd appreciate it.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

A Okay. I notified her on September 27th of 2018 that he was on enhanced supervision. And I do have here noted that his mother was pleased with that.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Okay. What are you looking at there?

A It's -- it's my case -- it's just whenever, you know, I would visit with -- I can hold it up here.

Q Sure. No, you don't have to hold it up.

A Okay. It's just whenever we, you know, visit with a family member or a client or something; and it's something that, you know, we just want to have a record of. We make case notes, so --

MR. GILLISPIE: Eric, do you know if those were produced to me? His case notes for David?

MR. COLLINS: I'm not sure if they were in the first batch. We just sent out another batch yesterday.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

MR. COLLINS: You've got another batch probably coming out either tomorrow or Monday, so you should be getting those.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. I think what the -- the second thing you said is just communications. But maybe that includes that.

I'll follow up with you, Eric, and see about getting those.

And, if we need to, Eric, we can -- and if we end up getting into personal information here today, I'll agree to a protective order of some sort to the extent we need to.

Of course, case notes on David himself shouldn't be an issue. But if there's PHI about other individuals in there, that sort of thing, that needs to be redacted or we can do a protective order.

MR. COLLINS: Gotcha.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q And what was the -- do you recall the circumstances, Mr. Murry, surrounding the -- did you say enhanced supervision?

A Yes, sir.

[redacted]

Q Okay. But it wasn't -- it didn't involve any behavioral issues, as far as you know?
A I mean, I don't -- it's been -- I'm trying to think. I -- I don't know, because it's been long enough ago.
I know David would have behaviors not infrequently.
Q I'm just asking about in relation to this enhanced supervision regimen from 2018. Just specifically just talking about that.
If you know the cause or the reason behind that, I'd like to know it. If you don't know, that's fine too.
A I believe it was over concern over his low blood sugar.
Q Okay.
So about how often would you interact, have interaction, with David, you know, see David? Once a week?

A Yeah.
Q Multiple times a week?
A You know, it just kind of depended. Whenever he was coming to make calls, I would see him once a week.
After he was on -- he switched to enhanced, he wouldn't come to my office. But I would see him, not infrequently.
I couldn't give you a -- I mean, I would see him, obviously, every -- in our psychiatric review. But I would see him around. You know, if I was over in the dorm, went by his room, I'd say hi.
You know, if I was -- I had to go to the training area for some reason and saw him -- but just informally like that.
Q Yeah. Do you feel like you had a pretty good relationship with him?
A Yes.
Q Okay. You guys got along well?
A Yes.
Q And was he pleasant with you most of the time?
A Yes. Yes, he was.
Q Okay. Were there ever any incidents where he was physically aggressive towards you specifically?
A No.
Q Okay. And that was -- again, you were his social worker for, was it, three years or over three years?

A I would say about three years.
Q Okay. And you encountered him, you had interaction with him at least once a week, probably more?
A Whenever he was coming in my office, it was once a week.
After that, it was -- it was, you know, more infrequent, you know, as far as eyes on.
Q Yeah.
A You know, he might would call and say I want to talk to my mom and then I would transfer him.
Q Sure. And I know that -- I don't expect you to answer any of this perfectly, for the most part.
But, you know, if you had to put a number on it, an average over those three years, how many times you personally saw him, just either said hi to him, met with him, anything, just personally walked by and saw him, what would you -- how many times a week would you say that would be on average?
A I would say it -- it would probably average out to at least once every two weeks. I mean. . .
Q Once every two weeks?
A On average, I would say.
Q Okay.
A On average. Because there might be some day -- weeks I might see him two or three times and then times that I wouldn't. So I was just thinking on average, you know.

Q Okay. So some weeks where you'd see him two or three times; and then some weeks when you wouldn't see him at all?

A Right.

Q Okay.

And he didn't come to your office to make phone calls once a week every week?

A No. Not after the enhanced supervision.

Q Okay.

A Because he -- he would need staff closer to him.

Q Okay.

A And so if they were -- you know, they needed the staff in the dorm. It would be harder to get him, them and the staff over to our office to call.

And he was -- he was content with just called from the dorm.

Q Okay. And you said he was never physically aggressive towards you.

Did you ever personally witness him being physically aggressive towards anyone else?

A I saw him, I guess what you would call, sympathetic crying. If another client was ever -- became upset, that would upset David and he would start crying.

Q I don't mean that. I mean physically aggressive. Hitting people, kicking people. Did you ever personally witness him do anything, attack somebody physically?
A No.
Q Okay.
What was he like? I never got to meet him, you know?
A He -- all of my interactions with him were most -- were good. And part of that was probably because -- well, you know, whenever they're coming to see us, you know, it's something they want to do. They're happy.
And I wasn't with him on a day-to-day basis. He was -- to say what he was like, he. . .
[redacted]
A He was -- he was very friendly whenever he was happy.
I do believe there was one time when I was leaving the door when I heard him go off, you know, having behavior. But I did not witness that.
Q Uh-huh.
A Just heard him verbally being really aggressive.
Q Again, that's not what I'm talking about. Hitting, kicking, attacking --
A I didn't witness that.

He was -- he was very friendly. I would say that, at times, he would probably need reassure -- I'm trying to think how to word this. You know, just reassurance that things were okay. You know, if he -- if he was getting worried about something.

Q What were things that typically triggered his worrying or anxiety?

A I don't know. I just remember -- and it was before my time whenever -- whenever --

Q Who would be the best person to know that? If I wanted to know what his triggers were, what kinds of settings or --

A Okay. I see --

Q -- environments or events --

A His psych --

Q -- were likely to trigger a negative response for him, who would be the best person to ask that?

A His psychological examiner.

Q Okay. And that's Mr. Albus, I think?

A (Witness moves head up and down.)

Q Okay.

You said you did -- you said you had pretty regular contact with his family as well?

A Yes.

Q And, by that, do you mean his mom and his sister or just his mom?

A Both. His mom quite a bit more by a pretty good margin. But his -- it wasn't uncommon for his sister to call and say, you know, I'm going to be sending him a birthday cake for his birthday or, you know, we're going to come get him.
So it wasn't uncommon; but me and his mom talked pretty frequently.
Q And they were pretty involved?
A Oh, absolutely. Yes, they were.
Q Okay. More so than the average family member?
A Yeah. I would say, as far as family involvement, they were probably one of the top, top ones as far as being involved with any other. They were very close to him.
Q And were you present when his plan, his individual plan, was presented and described to his family? Were you ever present for that?
A Yes.
Q And would the physical restraint, the use of physical restraints, do you recall that ever being talked about to his family --
A Yes.
Q -- or with his family?
A Yes.

Q Okay. What do you recall? What do you recall specifically?
A I remember that, with David, the -- whenever you have worked with some clients for a period of time, you start to get a sense of what their baseline is.
And, with David, we would -- you'd typically see an upswing in behaviors in the springtime. But that would seem to level off whenever -- as the year went on.
And so whenever we would have his IPP meeting, we would go over that stuff. But they -- but, again, it wasn't a sustained increase in behaviors.
It typically, with him, seemed to escalate some in the spring and then he would go back to his baseline during --
Q Why the spring?
A I -- I don't know. It was just something that I -- that was noticed with him, is that it seemed like he would have more incidents of physical aggression in the spring. But then they would level off.
Q I guess, what I'm asking is, did you yourself ever personally explain to his mom or his sister that physical restraints were being used on him or did you ever witness anybody explain that to them?
A Yes. Or I did not witness them, but they were told. I had some notes here.

Q And, again, please give those to -- when you're here, if you could, please make sure Mr. Collins gets a copy of your notes so I can get them as well.
A Okay. When I say my notes, I mean my case notes.
Q Right.
A Okay.
On May 18th of 2018, I sent what's called a marks card.
And that's something I didn't -- I just forgot to mention. But I'll tell you what that is.
You know, any mark they receive, whether it's a bruise, a hangnail, a scrape, any mark whatsoever --
Q Yeah.
A -- that is given to the social services department along with the explanation on there of what caused it and the treatment that was done. And so we will mail that, however the guardian wants to be notified, whether mail or e-mail, and notify them, excuse me, of that mark.
So on the -- on 5/18/18, I did send a marks card to his mom that said he had scrapes he received in being in personal restraints.
I talked to her on the phone on September 20 of 2018, informed her he was in chemical and personal restraints. On September --
Q When was the scrape? What was the date for the incident where he was scraped in a personal restraint?

A I sent the marks card on 5/18/18. What day it occurred, I -- I don't have the marks card in front of me, but it would be somewhere a day or two previous to the 18th.
Q And a marks card, is that -- what is a marks card?
A That was what I was talking about.
Whenever a client has a mark of any kind, you know, whether it's anything -- I mean, any mark whatsoever, from a hangnail to a bruise, a scrape.
You know, if they had razor burn from shaving, you know, any mark or injury on the body is received by social services and it has the location and the date and time of the mark along with what caused the mark and then what -- what treatment was done.
And then we either -- a lot of clients use e-mail -- or -- I'm sorry. A lot of our families get sent via e-mail. But, with Ms. Cains, I sent that in the mail.
And I put that in the mail to her on May 18th of 2018, that he received scrapes from personal restraints.
Q Okay. Do you happen to know how many other marks cards you've sent to her?
A No. Those are -- I suspect it would be a very high number; because, like I said -- not because of anything unusual.

We do, like I said, anything whatsoever. Like I said, it can be a razor burn, a hangnail.
Q Uh-huh.
A You know, absolutely anything is documented.
Q Okay.
A And so --
Q You have these marks cards?
A They would be --
Q You've got --
A They would be in our master file.
Q Okay.
A Yeah.

RECEIVED

MR. GILLISPIE: Eric, I'm going to take just a five-minute break, if y'all don't mind.

MR. COLLINS: All right.

MR. GILLISPIE: And, Caleb, if you want to try to toy with that, turning that volume up, you may try to do that. If you can't, that's fine, but --

THE WITNESS: We're completely alone, but is it okay if I had someone come in to show me how to turn the volume up while we're on break?

MR. GILLISPIE: Sure.

(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q All right.

Mr. Murry, I want to move on to injuries that David may have caused. Do you have any personal knowledge of David having caused injury to a staff member or another client at the facility?

A No.

Q You do not?

A No.

Q Okay. So, as far as you know, you've never heard about, you know, David sending someone to the hospital or anything like that?

A There was -- I don't remember what year it was. And I never saw any paperwork and I was not told --

Q Can you scoot up just a little? I'm sorry, Caleb, I --

A This computer is set kind of far off, so I'm leaning forward. Can you hear me okay?

Q Yeah, that's better.

A Okay.

I didn't know if it was a rumor or not. Again, I did -- I wouldn't be told anyway. But I had heard one time, a few years ago, that David had punched a staff member in the chest and broke his sternum.

Now, again, I did not see anything. I was not there. But it was -- so I didn't know if it was a rumor or anything like that. But that was what I heard.

But, as far as personal knowledge, that was a -- you know, again, that's hearsay. You know, I didn't know if that was a rumor or if that was just something I heard. But just to be --

Q Do you know where you heard that?

A No, sir, I don't.

Q Do you know who the person he would have punched was?

A No, sir.

Q But, other than that, you have no information on that?

A No.

Q Okay.

Do you have any personal knowledge of David's physical capabilities? I don't know that you'd be involved with that part of his treatment plan. But, just in case, I wanted to ask.

A Sure. I mean, he was -- he was a big guy. He was able bodied.

I know that -- and I don't have this in my notes or anything, but it may be pertinent. So just to tell you, I remember, it was a few years ago, his mom told me, when they had taken him to town one time, you know, to get something to eat or, you know, just do a family visit with him, she said he went nuts on them.

Now, what that included or what that entailed, I don't know. But, as far as how much damage he can actually do, you know, or how he could hurt somebody, you know, it -- I don't know.

Q You don't know?

A No, sir.

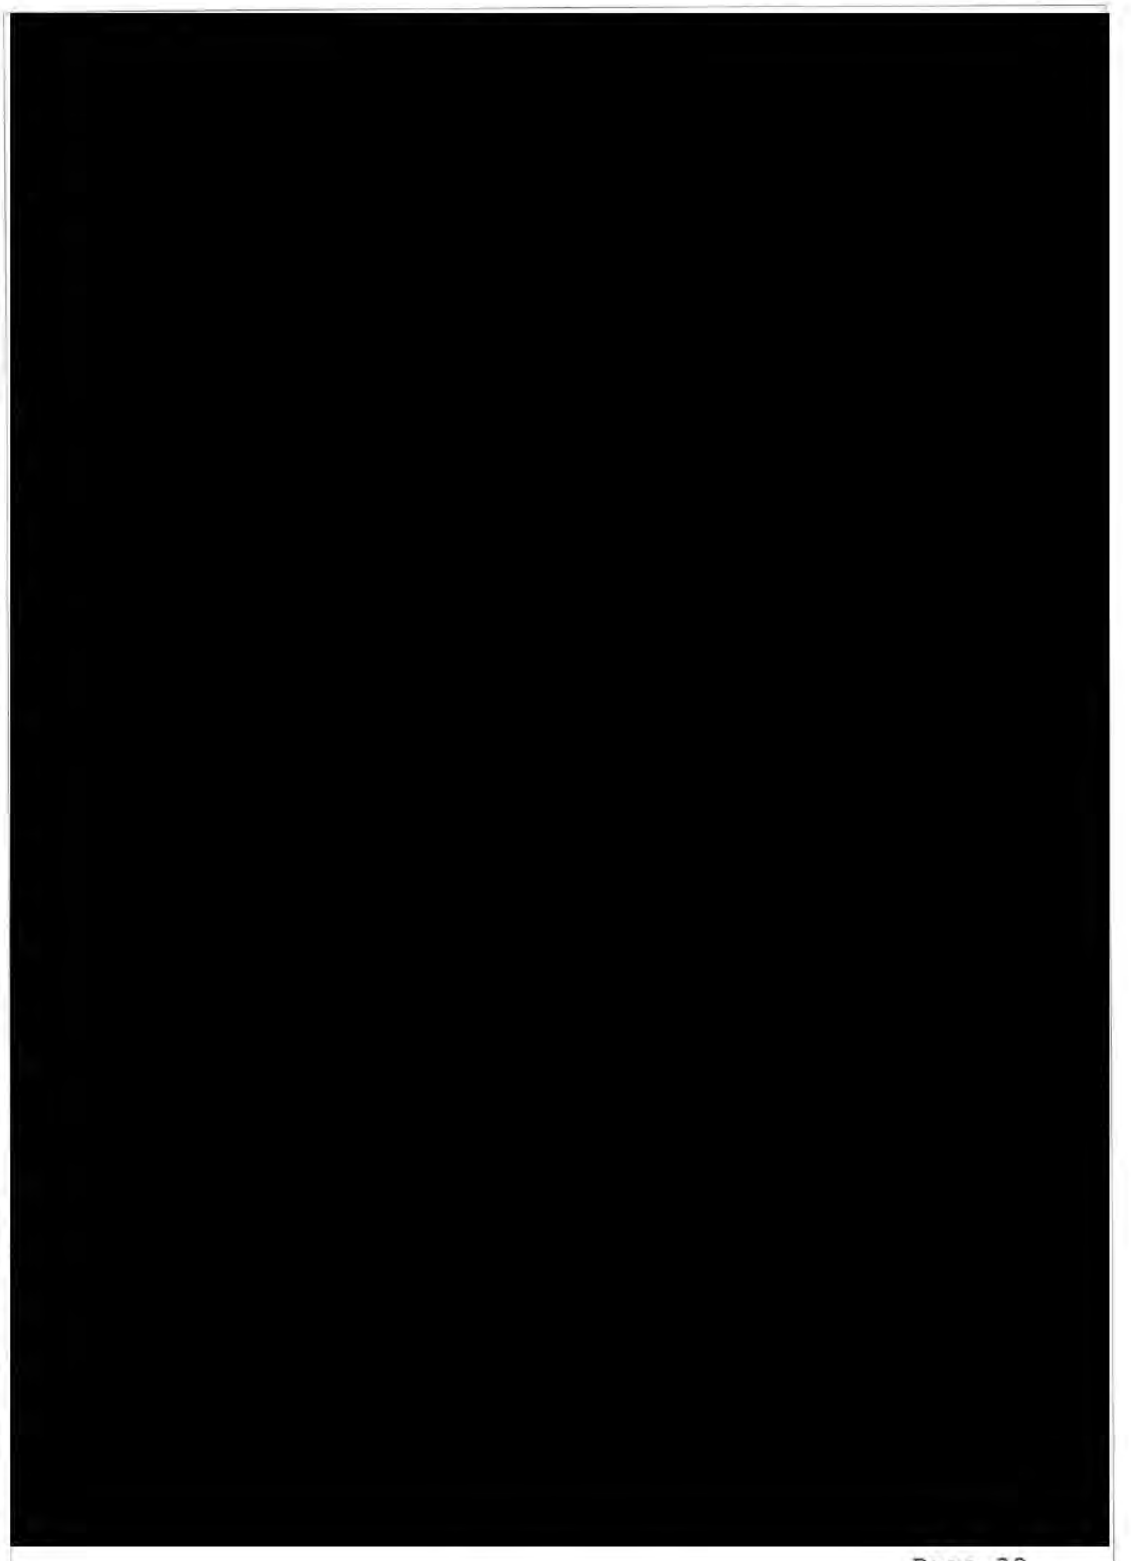
Q You've never played sports with him or seen him play sports, seen him move around?

A No. I mean, as far as moving around, when you said that, I remember one time I went by his room and he was listening to the Monkees. I mean, he was walking around his room, shaking a tambourine.

Q Uh-huh.

A I mean, so he had full -- not talking about a position. But he had full use of his, you know, arms and legs. Had no problem ambulating. You know, like I said, he was able bodied.

Q Okay. And his mental -- his age relative to his mental functioning, his sister puts it at about that of a six-year-old.



Based on your experience with him, would you say that's about right? Or do you feel differently?

A That would -- I would say -- that would -- to get a more -- a better answer, I would ask one of the psychologists.

Q Uh-huh.

A But he was -- so, you know, just that disclaimer because I'm not a psychologist.

[redacted]

Q Uh-huh.
A You know, whenever he would come by my office, I would say, did you have a good day today; he'd say, oh, yeah; and he said, but I'm tired. You know, that was what he would always say.
Something else, talking about this that came to mind when you asked that question, you said did I know of his triggers. I believe one of them would be like -- one time, we were going to have his IPP meeting. His mom usually always attend in person.
Q Yeah.
A And, if I'm not there to take him off, he would get upset. You know, so like if he would see them on campus but not be able to leave with them, that would be something that would trigger him.
Q Sure.
A But, again, to give you a better idea of that, what would be -- it would probably be best to talk to one of the psychic examiners. But, yeah, I would --
Q And did you personally witness some of those incidents where he'd get upset when his mom would leave and he can't go with her?
A No. No. Because she would always try to arrange it where, you know, she was going to be on campus and see him, then they would -- he would be able to go with them.

Q Okay.
A So, no, I never saw that.
But, again, go back to your original question --
Q Sure.
A -- how would I compare that to -- that kind of --
Q And I'm just trying -- I don't mean to -- it may be a bad question.
I'm really, honestly, just trying to -- again, I've never met him. I'm trying to go by what the family has told me, what these medical records say.
I'm just trying to get an idea of what you were dealing with, with him.
A Yeah. He was very childlike in his understanding. But, again, you know, he did have -- because he liked routine and liked things the same.
Once he fig -- you know, and whenever I became his worker, he'd been here for several years. And so his routine was well established.
So it's -- it's hard to say he was like a kindergartner or something because, you know, I saw him functioning, you know, within his environment as best he could.
Q Okay.
A And he did have, you know, an understand -- you know, he could answer questions and things like that.

This may not be pertinent but I was going to -- just to -- on his social history, whenever I -- I put in -- whenever we get our annual meeting, I was explaining to him his rights and possibilities.

Like I said, I go over the rights, responsibilities, the rules. I always, with our clients, go over what abuse and neglect is and be sure they know, you know, that -- who they can tell and stuff like that.

And what I wrote was --

Q You wrote that he has very little understanding of abuse and almost no understanding of neglect; correct?

A Yes, sir. Yeah, but he was not -- I was just finding my paragraph here.

He was not able to communicate a full understanding of his rights and needs the support of his guardian and the staff here at BHDC to ensure his rights are protected.

David was unable to provide a description of abuse and neglect. I explained to David what each means and provided examples. David stated that he would tell his staff if this were to occur.

I reminded him that all BHD staff are mandated reporters and he can tell any one of us along with his guardian.

So, you know, I think, if David thought he was being bothered, my personal opinion, he would know that he could tell staff. But, as far as being able to articulate things well, he -- he really couldn't do that.

But, again, I think, if he knew somebody was you know, like somebody was hurting me, somebody was being mean, he would know that he could tell staff to help him.

Q And he never told you about that happening, did he?

A No, he did not.

Q And do you know of him telling anybody else about something like that happening to him?

A No.

Q Okay.

I want to real quick ask about -- do you know of any physical injuries that David has caused but that -- are you personally aware of any physical injuries that other clients have caused at the facility to either staff or to other clients?

You know, the kind of physical injury that has required medical attention, are you aware of anything like that happening?

A No. And that's not to say it doesn't happen. The reason is because of HIPAA regulations and stuff.

Q I just want to know what you know. I'm not asking you to speculate. I just want to know what you know.

A No. I did run in -- I don't even know if this is relevant, but I will tell you.

I ran into a guy that used to work up here at Walmart one time. And he said that he had to leave because he was hurt at work and was on disability. I have no details on that. But that's the only thing.

Q Okay.

A Oh, and there was another one where I believe I saw a staff member who had their leg injured. It was in a cast. But, again, any details, I don't -- I don't have.

Q Okay. You don't know who would have hurt -- who, if anybody, would have hurt either of those people specifically?

A No, sir, I don't.

Q Okay.

What is your knowledge of physical restraints being used on -- and, again, I'm talking about your personal knowledge.

A Uh-huh.

Q Again, I'm also not yet asking you about the death incident.

A Sure.

Q I'm talking about before that.

What is your personal knowledge of physical restraints having been used on David Cains?

Are you aware of them having been used on him?

A Yes. Yes.

I did -- I was trying to -- I didn't know exactly what you were asking, like what --

Q Yes.

A What -- what form -- you know, that was something else we always cover in our pre-IPP meetings, before the meetings.

Q Uh-huh.

A The restraints are just -- are not for punishment. They are for the safety of the client or others. But, yes --

Q I understand. I'm just asking what your knowledge is about personal restraints; physical restraints, actually. Physical restraints.

A Yes. I was aware that David -- that that was an occurred -- a not infrequent occurrence. I had -- go ahead.

Q No, you, please, finish.

A Yes. We were talking earlier and I was looking through my notes on the restraints.

Also, yeah, on the 20th of September -- September 20th of 2018, in a phone conversation with his mom, I informed her of chemical and personal restraints.

On September 7th of 2018, I informed her that mechanical restraints were used. On June 13th of 2018, he had a behavior on the mobile van. I'm sorry. That -- there's no mention of restraints on that one.

She was notified on October 5th, 2018 it required chemical intervention. But, yes, I was aware of restraints.

Q Okay.

A And the -- I would say that the family was too.

Q Okay.

Were you required to be notified every time a physical restraint was used on David?

A No, sir. No. What every medic heard, a person would have to -- a person who was authorized to give authorization for restraints would have to be contacted. I'm not qualified to do that.

Q Okay.

A So it would be what we call a team leader, a QIDP, which is a --

Q Uh-huh.

A Or the program supervisor. Someone like that could give --

Q Is who had to be notified?

A That they had -- and they had to give authorization for restraints --

Q Right.

A -- on the (inaudible).

Q Okay. Okay. I understand that's not your role.
So why would you be charged with notifying his mom about some of these restraints and not others?
A She had requested, at one point, to be notified of his behaviors that he was having; again, because we would see an upswing in the spring.
And, whenever I would call and notify her of those behaviors, those are in my case notes. So that -- that was a request she made. And that's why --
Q When did she make that request?
A I don't know.
Q Would it have been before 2018?
A I would say, to the best of my knowledge, sometime in 2018.
Q Okay. And, if I'm hearing you right, you're saying, from that point on, you tried to make a point to personally update her and send her information on behavior incidents?
A Yes. And that is reflected in my case notes.
Q Okay. And about how many of those incidents did you notify her of?
A If you'll give me just a second, I can count some here for you.
Q And, ultimately, I just need to see them. But for --

A Sure.
Q I don't have that luxury at the moment, I'm just going to have to ask you.
And, to further clarify, I'm only interested in incidents that involved a physical restraint of some sort being used.
A Okay.
Q At least for the purposes of today.
A Okay.
I informed her of restraints on September 20th of 2018. It was chemical and personal. September --
Q Let me stop on that one, the September 18th of, you said what?
A I said September 20th of 2018.
Q Okay. What do you know about that particular behavior incident?
A I don't. It's been -- because I just noted that I had called her and notified her of that. Not the --
Q Okay.
A Yeah.
Q So you don't know what kind of physical restraint was used?
A Chemical and personal.
Q Okay. Do you know what the personal restraint consisted of?

A No.
It would probably be holding the arms or some. . .
Q Okay. How do you know that?
A I don't.
Q Why do you assume that?
A Because -- it was an assumption. If he was trying to strike somebody or hurt himself or say, for instance, bit his arm or something -- and there's an instance of that where he had bit himself.
Q Uh-huh. I think I saw that.
A So that would be why I would assume that.
Q So do you have some knowledge -- were you trained in the personal restraints?
A Yes. All of us go through -- are required to do that whenever we are in what's called our phase class.
Q Okay. Well, I wasn't expecting you to say that; so I'm going to go back.
Tell me about the training that you have received with -- and, again, I'm really only interested in the training that you have received that would pertain to behavior control. You know, restraints.
It's called the what?
A I don't -- whenever I first had it, it was called nonviolent conflict intervention.
Q Okay. NCI?

A Yes.
Q Okay. So you've been trained in NCI?
A Yes.
Q And is everybody there, everybody on staff, trained in NCI?
A I only had the phase one part of that. Phase two is more on the ground. I say on the ground; like on the -- on the floor type stuff.
Since my job was not work -- indirect here, I only completed the phase one.
Q Okay. When you say on the floor, do you mean direct care staff?
A Yes, sir.
Q Yes?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And when did you receive phase one training in NCI?
A It would have been in 2014 or 2015, right there when I started. I don't know the exact dates.
Q Okay. And how long did that training last?
A I don't remember.
Q Was it a class? Was it an online class? Did you have to go somewhere? Did you have to travel to Little Rock?
A It was -- they had an instructor come in and go over that with us.

Q And you don't have any recollection of how long the training lasted? Whether it was one day, two days, all week?
A You know, I believe it was a -- I believe it was two days. I believe, but I'm not sure.
Q Okay. And can you give me any understanding of what it is you were taught?
A How to -- really, it was how to de-escalate the situation. You know, use calming rapport. Try to get them -- get the client back -- you wanted to avoid personal restraints.
Q Uh-huh.
A You know, talking to --
Q You want to avoid physical contact if at all possible; right?
A Yeah. So it was on -- you know, I remember one of the things was calming, you know, calming rapport with them, trying to, you know, to negate anything physical happening.
Q And did you ever have an opportunity to use that with David?
A No.
Q Okay. You never had to?
A No.

Q Okay.

And then were you ever separately taught -- my understanding is that the facility had staff go through NCI training but then also allowed staff to use physical holds that were, I believe, not used by or not endorsed by NCI.

Were you ever separately trained on how to do physical restraints? Whether it be holding arms or anything like that?

A I know whenever I completed phase -- for my -- when I worked up here in the summer, we went over that. But I don't remember doing it when I came up here full time.

Q Okay. So you don't remember any kind of specific training or class that you went to or written materials that you might have received concerning specifically physical restraint, a physical restraint, of clients?

A Not other than just that general training. And I know that there was --

Q What is -- what do you mean by general training. Are you talking about the NCI?

A Yeah.

Q So you're saying NCI taught -- as far as you remember, you think NCI taught physical restraint?

A I mean, I remember -- I believe it taught personal. But it's been so long. When I went through phase, I -- I don't remember.

Q Okay. If they did teach some sort of personal restraint, you're not -- you couldn't tell me specifically what it was at this time?
A No.
Q Okay.
A And I know there was some, I guess, some updated procedures on -- that was some training available that was on -- it was updated, some training we went through.
I mean, the only thing I remember from that was when they talked about from transitioning to the ground. But that was after phase, but I don't really remember anything about that.
Q Transitioning to the ground?
A Uh-huh.
Q When was the -- you were taught transitioning to the ground?
A Well, there was a video we watched on that.
Q Okay. When was that video? Where and when did you watch that video?
A That was made available, I believe, on our share page. I -- I don't remember what date that was.
Q Okay. Let's see.
You started in 2014, you got your NCI training sometime around then. When would you have had this -- you know, so this was after that, that you had been shown this video; right?

A Yes.
Q Okay. Was it done there at the Booneville campus?
A Yes. Staff development filmed it and placed it on our web where we could access it.
Q You're saying that staff at Booneville developed a video, put it on a webpage for you to watch; and that the topic of this video was how to -- essentially how to restrain clients on the ground?
A No. It was -- my understanding it was an up -- and I may be wrong.

But my understanding, it was an updated version of -- or an updated thing. You know, if a client had to be held in personal restraints, the correct way to transition them to the ground if mechanical restraints were going to be needed.
Q Okay. And what was the correct way to do it?
A I don't know. You would have to -- I don't -- I don't know.
Q Okay. You saw the video, but it's not something that stuck with you?
A Yes.
Q Correct?
A Yes.

Q So if, today, let's say you were put in a situation where you were forced to have to transition David or somebody else to the ground, you would not be able to do it in the way that video taught because you don't remember; right?
A Right. I -- I would -- if that was -- if I was in the position where a client was a danger to themself or somebody else, I would use the radio to call for assistance and for direct care staff to come.
Q Okay. Fair enough.
So it's your understanding that Booneville does authorize restraining clients on the ground, while they're on the ground?
A They --
Q That's what you're telling me; right?
A When you say restrain them on the ground, they -- they use what's called a papoose board which --
Q Well, I'm not talk -- I know what a papoose board is and I know what a mechanical restraint is. I'm not talking about mechanical restraints, because that's not what killed David. And I'm not talking about chemical restraints.
I'm talking about personal physical restraints on the ground.
Is it your understanding that that's authorized, that that's a thing that's allowed at Booneville? To restrain a client while their on the ground?

MR. COLLINS: Josh, I'm going to object to the question. I believe it's mischaracterizing his earlier testimony. He testified that -- or he said that this was a video that showed how to transition to the ground in order to put them on mechanical restraints.

I believe you're mischaracterizing his testimony.

MR. GILLISPIE: Fair enough. Let me back up and try to rephrase it and break it down.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Let me ask it this way. Caleb, you just tell me yes or no, if possible.

Do you know, do you personally know, if there is a policy at Booneville that authorizes taking clients to the ground?

A No.

Q Okay. Do you personally know if there is a policy that authorizes restraining clients while they are on the ground?

A No.

Q Do you know if there's a policy at Booneville that allows or provides for transitioning clients to the ground?

A I believe so.
Q And do you know where that policy could be found?
A It would be -- I would assume it could be accessed on our share webpage under policies. Also, we have an employee handbook.
Q How many times do you know of David being transitioned to the ground?
A I don't know.
Q Do you know of any times, other than the time of his death, do you know of any times of David being transitioned to the ground?
A I know he was in mechanical restraints on September 7th of 2018.
Q Okay. And you feel like that would have entailed transitioning him to the ground?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And is that -- are you saying that transitioning to the ground is something that's done prior to all mechanical restraints in order to get them on the papoose board?
A I believe so, yes.
Q But you're not a hundred percent sure on that?
A No.
Q Okay.

Did you ever talk with David's mom or his sister about times David had been taken to the ground or transitioned to the ground?

A I know on the incident on the 7th of September 2018, yeah, she was informed that he was in mechanical restraints.

Q Was she informed that, prior to being put in mechanical restraints, he was taken to the ground?

A I don't know. No, I didn't say that, so. . .

Q Okay.

Any other training -- that video, do you still have that video?

A No.

Q Do you know who would have that? Who would be the best person to ask for that video?

A Staff development.

Q Okay.

Other than the phase one of NCI training, the taking to the ground video, is there any other training that you've received that pertains to restraints?

I'm not asking about the training that's more pertinent to what your actual job is. I know you're not direct care, so I'm not trying to ask you questions that are better meant for direct care.

But I do need to know if you've had any other training related to restraining clients who are having behavioral problems.

A No.
Q Okay.
Have you ever personally witnessed David being restrained in any way?
A No.
Q Okay. Have you ever personally witnessed any other client being restrained?
A Yes.
Q Have you ever personally witnessed any other client being restrained while laying down or in a horizontal position?
A Yes.
Q Okay. How many times would you say you've seen that?
A Maybe three.
Q Okay. And do you recall any -- I'm not asking you for names of people or at least not names of the clients.
Do you recall who the staff were involved in that?
A I remember one was Michelle Welch who was a team leader.
Q Okay.
A It wasn't with -- it wasn't with David. It was another client.

Q Okay. Yeah, I know. You said you've never seen it with David, so I'm talking about the other clients.

So any other staff members you recall seeing involved in any of those three restraints that you witnessed where a client was being restrained while laying down? Any other staff members you recall being involved in that?

A And it was -- it was a different incident. I believe -- no. No, I was trying to think if I'd saw somebody involved in a restraint, you know, if I could remember who it was. No.

Q Have you ever seen Tyler Mattson involved in a restraint?

A No.

Q You ever seen Amy -- do you call her Amy or Mandy Jones?

A I call her both. I know who you're talking about.

Q Okay. Have you ever seen Amy Jones involved in a restraint?

A No.

Q Okay. Have you ever seen Ryann Campos involved in a restraint?

A No.

Q Okay.

And do you know any other details or circumstances around the three restraints you think you witnessed where a client was restrained on the ground? Do you know any of the details about what had happened or the circumstances?

A No.

Q One of those things where you just happened to be walking by?

A Thinking back to the most recent -- what I said, I don't remember when it was. The one I gave you, the name Michelle Welch.

And so I believe what had happened -- and, again, I don't know. I wasn't -- I just happened to be in the general vicinity.

I don't know if this is correct, but what I believe happened was the client had either left functional control in the living area because he was upset or had become upset and was leaving.

I remember him screaming at staff what he was going to do to them and do to their mother and it was -- so I believe what happened was they were upset and had left functional control when that happened.

Q Okay.

I'm going to move on to something else.

What knowledge, if any, do you have about the what I believe now is a former policy whereby only medical personnel were allowed to call 9-1-1?

First of all, do you have any knowledge of that? Did you know that was a policy?

A Well, I know that our emergency (inaudible) --

Q Say that again.

A No, I don't.

Q Okay. So was it your under -- let me ask it a different way.

Was it your understanding, was it ever your understanding, that only medical personnel were supposed to call 9-1-1 at the facility?

A No.

Q Okay. What was your understanding regarding that?

A That we would call medical if medical assistance was needed.

Q Okay. So we may be talking about the same thing. What was your understanding of -- your understanding of the policy was that, if a medical emergency arose, you were to call the facility medical team; right?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And then they were the ones that would determine whether or not 9-1-1 was to be called; right?

A Yes.

Q And I believe it would have been -- was it your understanding then that -- you're not considered medical personnel, are you?

A No.
Q Okay.
And am I correct that, at the time of David's death, the policy was that, if you or anybody else that's not a medical personnel sees an emergency situation, you're supposed to call medical, not 9-1-1; right?
A Yes.
Q Do you know why -- do you have any idea as to why that was the policy?
A No.
Q Okay. Has a new policy been instituted since David's death?
A We all -- we notify all -- we sent out a form with our annual consent packets that has, you know, either ECI, emergency chemical intervention or emergency mechanical --
Q Let me ask that a different way.
As we sit here today, has the policy changed whereby you, as a non-medical staff member, can now dial 9-1-1 first if you feel the need to?
A No.
Q That's not changed?
A Not to my knowledge.
Q Okay. Again, you have knowledge or understanding as to the rationale behind that particular rule?

I know it's not your rule, your job to make that rule. I'm just asking, you have no understanding or --

A No.

Q -- of why that's the rule or what the reason is?

A No.

Q Okay.

Did you know Tyler Mattson?

A I know who he was. To say I knew him, no.

Q Okay. Did you witness him interacting with clients?

A Very briefly.

Q Okay. Did you ever witness him interacting with David?

A Not that I recall, no.

Q Did you ever witness or hear, even if it's a rumor, anything about Mattson acting improperly or harming a client or anything like that?

A No.

Q Okay.

Same questions but as regards to Amy Jones. I think you already told me you never witnessed Amy perform a physical restraint.

Did you ever witness Amy interact, in any way, with David Cains?

A No.

Q Do you have any knowledge, whether hearsay knowledge or whatever, about Amy's relationship with David Cains?
A No.
Q Okay. Did you ever talk to either Mattson or Amy about David Cains?
A No.
Q Okay. Did you ever talk to Ryann Campos about David Cains?
A No.
Q Did you ever see or hear about Ryann restraining David Cains?
A No.
Q Okay. Did you ever hear any rumors about any of those people, Amy Jones, Tyler Mattson, or Ryann Campos, having problems with David Cains of any kind?
A No.
Q Okay.
What is your understanding -- well, I'm moving on to the incident in question, June 13th, 2020, date of his death.
Were you on the campus that day?
A No.
Q Where were you that day?
A I was at home. It was a Saturday.
Q Okay. So, obviously, you didn't personally witness anything that happened?

A No.
Q Okay. Do you recall when the last time was that you spoke to David? I assume it would have been earlier that week, but maybe not.
A No, I -- I don't remember.
Q Okay. So you don't have any information about what his behavior or mood was like in the days leading up to his death as in whether it was different or whether he'd been acting more aggressive? Anything like that?
A No.
Q Okay.
And, as far as you know, there was nothing out of the ordinary going on in his life at the time of his death? No, you know, what we would call, stressors?
A No.
Q Okay. Other than just the things that are always stressors. I mean, like you know --
A Sure. And I don't know -- when you ask that, just to --
Q I'm really just asking like -- I'm just trying to find out if, you know, if something that I haven't heard about had been going on, is going on in his life, that was unusual that you know about.
A Well, yeah, that's what I was about to tell you.

Nothing that -- I say nothing. We -- the campus, due to COVID-19, had been closed for a few months. And he was used to having regular family contact. And so that was different. You know, that was something that was different.

Whether or not that -- I was just going to tell you that because that was something --

Q Sure.

A -- that was --

Q Sure.

A -- (inaudible) because he was used to having so much contact.

Q Sure. Yeah. I guess that's a -- in retrospective, that's kind of a dumb question when you're talking about June of 2020; because we all had a big unusual thing happening in our lives, didn't we?

I got COVID in June of 2020 and had to go live in my grandparents' Victoria carriage house in their backyard for a week. Brought me my meals on a tray at the door like a prisoner.

But, anyways, what's your understanding of the incident that caused his death? I know you weren't present. I just need to know what you know and how you know it, essentially. If anything.

A I don't -- the truth is, I don't know anything. I know that he -- he died. I -- believe he choked to death.

The reason I know that is the social worker, social service worker, excuse me, who was on call called me that Saturday to inform me that he had passed.

But, as far as any details, I don't know anything.

Q When did you first learn that there had been a restraint incident that precipitated his death?

A I don't know.

Q Well, you know about it now, I assume.

A Yes. Yes.

Q I assume you would have learned about it fairly, fairly, soon after the incident.

His mom learned about it nine days after the death. What about you?

A I'm looking at my -- the reason -- when you ask that, I was looking at the case note here from June 24th of 2020.

It says -- talking about the mom, it said she stated she was seeing the summary and was unaware that David had been in behavior and that this was different information than what she was originally told.

She stated she was originally told David had got up to use the restroom and was found on the ground. She said she did not know who told her that.

So I -- I don't know when I became aware of that.
Q Have you ever spoken to anybody about his death?
A No.
Q You've never talked to -- you've not spoken to the administrators, anybody at Booneville, about the fact that David Cains died? I would think that would have been a pretty big event, particularly in the days and weeks to follow.
A Yeah. I -- we had -- as -- I'm trying to think how to answer that.
Q The only right way is just to tell me honestly what you remember.
A Other than not knowing that he passed, when that's a tragedy; but, due to policy and stuff, I didn't -- wasn't made aware of any details or anything like that.
I do remember talking to my -- we had a new supervisor at the time. Or she's still here in social services. I remember talking to her on Monday, that David had passed away.
And we went -- me and Susan went down that Monday and met with the family at the funeral home.
Q Okay. Did you ever -- okay. And, at that point, were you aware that there'd been a restraint incident?
A I don't know.
Q Okay. Did anybody ever describe the restraint incident to you?

A No.
Q What do you know about the restraint incident as we sit here today?
A I don't know anything about it.
Q You don't know who was involved in the restraint that led to his death?
A No.
Q Okay. You've not read this lawsuit?
A No.
Q Aside from your attorney, or aside from Mr. Collins, who did you speak with in preparing for this deposition?
A Mr. Collins.
Q Just Mr. Collins?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. Well, I certainly don't want to know anything you talked about with him.
But, aside from Mr. Collins, you've not spoken with anybody else? Not Jeff Gonyea, nobody?
A No.
Q Were you questioned after his death by the police?
A No.
Q Were you questioned by Disability Rights of Arkansas?
A No.

Q Were you questioned by Sandy Evans?
A No.
Q Were you questioned by anybody or any entity about the facts surrounding his death?
A No.
Q All right.
And, as we sit here today, your testimony here is that, even now, you don't have any information as to how your client died?
A I have the coroners report; which was provided to the family.
Q Okay.
A But, as far as details, I don't -- I don't know.
Q Just tell me everything you do know about this.
A Okay. I know that he -- all I really know for sure is that he died on June 13th of 2020.
Q Uh-huh.
A I don't know any details.
Q You don't even know the cause of death?
A I would have to look at the corner's report again. I provided that to the family, but I don't recall what it said.
Q Other than what the corner's report says, you have no other information or knowledge about his cause of death?

A No.
Q Okay.
And you've never talked to Amy Jones about any of this?
A No.
Q Because, Amy, she was just in the office with you before we started this deposition. You guys didn't talk about, you know, what this is about?
A No. That all -- we -- no.
Q Okay.
So I assume you don't know anything about what Amy Jones or Tyler Mattson or Jeff Gonyea or anybody else might have said to the paramedics or any other emergency responders?
A No.
Q Okay. And you've never talked to anybody about that?
A No.
Q Never talked to David's mom or his sister about their concerns, that they weren't given all of the information right away?
A If you'll -- if you have it and you look at my case note, I can read to you the last time I spoke with his mother, which was on the 24th. I can read that to you --
Q Sure.

A -- in its entirety. And this is dated 6/24/20.

It said I was contacted by Sharleen Robinson at 1530 this afternoon. She said she received the summary and was unaware that David had been in a behavior and that this was different information than she was originally told.

She stated she was originally told David had got up to use the restroom and was found on the ground. She said she did not know who told her that.

She stated she had received the EMS report, which was approximately seven pages long. She inquired as to whether I had obtained the coroner's report; and I had informed her the -- informed her I had and had -- and placed it in the mail to her.

Ms. Robinson also asked if staff are retrained after every incident. I informed her I do not know of an investigation taking place unless it involves a client on my case load. I notified Jennifer Berry, assistant superintendent, of our call.

At approximately 1535 today, I received a call from Christine Mcauliffe, David's sister, slash, advocate. She said she did not know if I had spoke with her mother yet but the summary provided by BHDC was not good enough.

She said the family was upset and there were things in the summary that did not make sense. She mentioned the fact that David was vomiting with -- the Heimlich was also performed, did not make sense to her.

She seemed upset by the information that David was in a behavior. Christie said there were discrepancies between the EMS report and the BHDC summary. She requested we provide witness statements in details concerning the restraints used.

She said that, if BHDC could not provide this, they would seek other avenues to obtain the information. I informed her I would submit her request to administration.

I contacted Jeff Gonyea, superintendent, and relayed the information concerning my calls with the family. He instructed me to document the calls and make Jennifer Berry aware of our conversations.

Q Okay.

And what did you do after that phone -- I mean, how did you -- did you follow up on that? What was your next step then after having that interaction with them?

A I contacted the superintendent and told him I provided a copy of my case note.

Q Okay. And what did you tell him?

A That the fam -- what I just read in my case note. The family --

Q Okay. What was his response?

A I don't remember.
Q Okay. And what happened next? What did you hear about this concern next?
A I did not hear anything after that.
Q Okay. Is that the --
A Until I saw -- until I saw it in the newspaper, about the lawsuit.
Q I guess that makes me the other avenue, huh? I've been called worse. I promise.
Have you had any other communication, direct communication with Charlene, his mom, or Christie, his sister, since then?
A No. The only thing, it was -- I believe it was in Christmas of that year, his mom did send me a card, I don't have it anymore, to say, you know, thank you, I think David enjoyed working with you, thank you for working with him. You know, something just like that.
Q Did you enjoy working with David?
A Absolutely.
Q Okay. You seem like you did. You seem like a caring dude.
A Thank you.
Q We're really close to being done here.

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q Okay. Because you were part of his IPP so I guess you would -- you would have knowledge of anything in his IPP; correct?

A Yeah. I couldn't point it to you verbatim because --

Q Sure.

A -- (inaudible) like 30 pages long. But it's easily accessible.

[redacted]

Q Right. So you would learn about it because you're part of the IPP team, in other words?
A Yes.
[redacted]
Q Who's the best person to ask about that?
A I would think that the dorm supervisor would be the one to ask.
Q The who?
A The -- I'll lean in here. The dorm supervisor.
Q Okay. And that's a title I've not come across yet. What's a dorm supervisor?
A They're the supervisor over the direct care staff in the living areas.

That may be listed as an A-2 position. I'm not entirely sure what the technical -- I guess what I'm saying, dorm supervisor is probably more of an informal term.

But I believe, if I'm remembering correctly, that that's probably an A-2 position. But that would be the one that I would ask for that information.

Q Okay.

Caleb, what we're going to do now is we're going to take a five-minute break. And my associate and I are going to go through our notes and make sure we don't have anything else to follow up on; and then we're going to be done. So this is the end.

We're going to take a five-minute break, then we'll come back on and we'll either have one more question or wrap it up right then. Okay?

A Okay.

(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)

THE WITNESS: Mr. Gillispie?

MR. GILLISPIE: Yeah.

THE WITNESS: I didn't leave the room and nobody came in. I was just thinking about your question and I was going to tell you, when I said dorm supervisor and you said that's not a term you've heard before, I believe the formal tile of that is RCSS, residential care shift supervisor.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. Like Amy Jones?

THE WITNESS: Yeah. I believe that's what that is. So I -- that just -- I was thinking about that and I remembered that was -- I believe that's the correct title.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Mr. Murry, I just need to make sure I know what you have in front of you there.

A Okay.

Q What are those -- what all documents do you have in front of you there?

A Okay. This, incase I needed to write anything down. There's nothing about David on here. This is just my stuff that I need to get done for the day that I keep my --

Q Yeah, not that. I meant the stuff you've been referring to --

A Okay.

Q -- and helping you answer.

A I have his social history here. That's actually -- I'm sorry. That's -- it's his discharge summary. But it has all the information of his social history.

And I also have my case notes regarding David.

Q And the marks cards, are those part of your case notes?

A No, they are not. But they should be in -- but we -- no. No, they're not.

Q And wasn't there something else there you were referring to in addition to your case notes?

A I said -- yes. I had a list of dates. I can -- it's shuffled in here. Let me get it real quick.
All right. Here it is. Yeah, a list of dates on when I had called Ms. Robinson to tell her about David having behaviors.
Q Okay. And is that a list or is it -- is there like a note for each notification you made?
A Yeah, I made a list.
Q Can you hold it up for me?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
MR. GILLISPIE: Eric, I just want to make sure I get all of that, all of those, and then all of his case notes and all of these marks cards.
MR. COLLINS: Yeah. I'm sure most of it is in the complete medical file which we received yesterday.
It's being Bates stamped now. I've got to review it one last time to make sure nothing's in that that shouldn't be produced; and I imagine it will be in the mail tomorrow.
MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.
MR. COLLINS: At the latest, it will be Monday.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Caleb, are these things that would be in his case file?

A Yes.

Q They would be? None of this stuff is just yours?

A No, no.

Q Okay.

And I guess I cut you off before you could answer earlier, but about how many of those -- according to those records there, about how many times did you notify, did you have to notify her, his mom, about behavior incidents?

If it's going to take a real long time to figure that out, just don't worry about it. But, if you can quickly look through and give me an idea.

A Thirteen.

Q Okay.

And did you say that you did or did not know of other times that David had been transitioned or taken to the ground in a restraint?

A I would -- whenever -- I would always review the behavior reports. And that would be, you know, to keep up with the clients and see, you know, if there's anything unusual going on.

And I believe those would be -- you know, if restraints were used, they would be included in that.

But I don't have any -- I don't remember any details about that.

Q Okay. You don't remember any specific incidents whereby David was restrained on the ground?

A No.

Q But you believe it had happened in the past, you just can't recall the details?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And is that the kind of thing that, if it occurred on the ground, is that something that would be in the documents that you're referring to?

A Yes.

Q Okay.

And am I correct that his, I believe, his IPP, his -- and that stands for individual program plan? Is that right?

A Yes, sir.

Q And you're part of the team --

A Yes.

Q -- that develops his IPP; correct?

A Yes. And my main role there is to go -- review with the client and review with the family to see --

Q Okay.

A -- to be sure they're aware of their rights --
Q Okay.
A -- and to be sure that they -- you know, that I feel that he's still appropriately placed here, you know, and what his wishes and goals are and communicate with the family and see, you know, if -- what their wishes and goals are.

If they're wanting them to remain, if they're wanting them to transition to, you know, potentially a less restrictive environment, you know, move them out of the community.

Q And does this IPP indicate the types of restraints that are allowed to be used on David?
A No. I say -- I don't know. I don't believe so, but I -- I don't know for sure.
Q Okay.

Do you know of any document or any -- well, let me ask you this.

Are you aware of the types of restraints that are allowed to be utilized, that were allowed to be utilized, for David Cains at the time of his death?

Whether they be DDS category one, category two, category three, personal restraints, arm holding?

I mean, do you have any knowledge of what was allowed and what wasn't allowed? Because I know it's different for every patient.

A Right. When you're asking about DDS category one, category three, I assume you're referring to his behavior treatment program. That, I don't know.
But I do believe that the restraints that would be allowed to be -- or interventions that were allowed to be used with David would be chemical, mechanical, or personal.
Q Okay. And is it your understanding that staff was authorized to transition or take David to the ground in a restraint if necessary?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
I think that's all I have.
Did you understand my questions, Mr. Murry?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Well, I appreciate you being here today.
MR. GILLISPIE: I'll pass the witness.
MR. COLLINS: I have no further questions.
I just ask that Mr. Murry be allowed to review the testimony and either make changes or document anything that may have been mistranscribed due to the nature of this deposition.
MR. GILLISPIE: Sure.

VIDEOGRAPHER: Thank you. Will the reporter please swear the witness?

(WHEREUPON, the witness was duly sworn.)

COURT REPORTER: She's sworn.

VIDEOGRAPHER: You may proceed.

MR. ROSEN: Thank you.

WHEREUPON,

CHRISTINE McAULIFFE,

having been called for examination, and having been first duly sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q All right. You know my name. My name, as you heard, is Rich Rosen. I'm with the Arkansas Department of Human Services, and I'll be taking your deposition today. You've been sworn in, and I'm going to be asking you a series of questions. If you don't understand the question, please just let me know and I'll try to reword it. If you answer the question, I'm going to assume you understood the question. If you would, I'm going to ask you to officially state your name.

A Christine McAuliffe.

Q Christine, Ms. McAuliffe. And we're here today for the taking of your deposition in the matter before the Claims Commission. And this is a Notice of Deposition that I'm going to introduce into this case, and I'm going to show your counsel. Is that a deposition -- is that your name on the deposition?

A Yes.

MR. ROSEN: I'm going to introduce that as DHS Exhibit Number One.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number One was marked for identification.)

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Now, Ms. McAuliffe, tell me your -- where do you live?

A I live in Clinton, Vermont.

Q How long have you lived in Vermont?

A Since 2016.

COURT REPORTER: I can barely hear her.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Can you speak up a little bit?

A Sure. Since 2016.

Q Okay. And before you lived in Vermont, where did you live?

A Russellville, Arkansas.

Q So, you moved to Vermont in 2016?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And you've lived there ever since?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And what is your educational background?

A I graduated from Russellville High School, and I attended Arkansas Tech University.

Q Okay. Did you graduate?

A I have one class left actually to get my Bachelors.

Q Okay. And what -- are you employed?

A Yes.
Q And where are you employed?
A I'm a member of a Labor Union. So, I do construction work, I work for different contractors.
Q Okay. So, freelance?
A I mean, it's not freelance, but when you're in a Labor Union you get sent out to different contractors.
Q So, you work for the Union?
A Yes, I work for the Union.
Q I understand. And how long have you been doing that?
A Since 2008.
Q So, you've been doing it the whole time you've been in living in Vermont since 2016; right?
A Correct.
Q And you did it here in Arkansas before that?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And what type of work do you do for the Labor Union?
A Mainly I work the nuclear power plants. I also just recently started working in new construction. But most of my career has been working on maintenance shutdowns and the nuclear plant shutdowns for different types of work.

Q Okay. And what type of duties would you do?
A Laborers have lots of duties, but mainly I would work with scaffold builders, I would get their material. We do anything from digging ditches to cleaning bathrooms to paperwork to logging decontamination work. There's a big array of what laborers do.
Q Okay. And what was your -- when you worked here in, I guess, from 2008 until you moved to Vermont in '16, what were your hours? Let me ask it this way. Was it a shift or did you work just hours? Tell me about that.
A So, I worked at Arkansas Nuclear One, but I also traveled to other nuclear plants. So, normally when they're shut down for maintenance, they're shut down anywhere from two weeks to four to six weeks. So, you're working seven days a week, six or seven, 12 hours a day.
Q Okay. So, you didn't have a shift, so to speak, at your home, you would be sent to -- if you didn't work here in Arkansas, you would be sent to other states?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And between 2008 and 2016, how often would you be sent to other states?
A I mean, it would depend on the year, but I would say I would go to maybe two or three other states in a year.

Q Okay. And when you went to the other states, it was for several weeks?
A Yes.
Q And you would stay there and then come back?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And when you worked here in Arkansas during that time period, would you work a regular shift or would you stay at the plant for a couple of weeks and then come home?
A Sometimes my time at Arkansas Nuclear One, I was there full-time, so I would work a regular -- we always worked 12-hour shifts, almost always. But when they would shut down for maintenance, regular work during the year was a regular shift, 40 hours a week. But when they shut down for maintenance, it was seven days a week, 12-hour shifts. But sometimes they would give us a day off.
Q Oh, I guess you would be pretty tired after that?
A Yeah.
Q Okay. What was your relationship to David Cains?
A He was my older brother.
Q And when was he born? What is his birthday, do you know?
A [redacted]
Q And when were you born?

A [redacted]
Q So, there was a three-year difference?
A Three years, yes.
Q Okay. And you're the claimant in this claim, are you not?
A Yes.
Q And you're also the personal representative of the estate of David Cains; correct?
A Correct.
Q And do you have any -- who is your mother?
A Charlene Robinson.
Q And is she one of the -- well, strike that question. Was she the legal guardian of David Cains?
A Yes.
Q And what time periods was she the legal guardian?
A I wouldn't be able to answer that. I mean, she was the guardian when we were kids, and she was the guardian when he passed away.
Q All right. And do you have any siblings, or step or half-siblings?
A I have an older sister who is a step-sister.
Q What's her name?
A Her name is Shelly Keith Canulla.
Q Can you spell that last name?
A I'll try. She just got married. C-A-N-U-L-L-A.

Q Okay. What was her maiden name?
A Keith.
Q And where did she live?
A She lives in New York.
Q New York State or New York City?
A New York State. She just moved there, so I can't remember -- she lives in upstate New York.
Q Do you know what town?
A I believe Rochester, but I don't know that for a fact.
Q I take it you're not very close with her?
A We talk, but I mean --
Q Okay. And do you have any other siblings or half-siblings or step-siblings?
A My brother and I have a half-sister named Sarah Ashley Cains. She is younger than us.
Q When was she born?
A She was born [redacted]
Q Okay. And where does she live?
A She lives in Gulfport, Mississippi.
Q Are you close with her?
A Yes.
Q Are there any other siblings, step-siblings, half-siblings?
A No.

Q Do you know -- well, when David Cains passed away in June of 2020, do you know what his weight was?
A I believe it was around 250 pounds.
Q Do you know how tall he was?
A He was about 6'2".
Q So, he was a big guy?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Do you know -- and so, he was residing at the Booneville Human Development Center; right?
A Yes.

[redacted]

Q So, you had mentioned there's about a three-year difference between your age and his age, and about a seven-year, I guess, with Ashley?
A Eight years.
Q Eight years with Ashley?

A Yes.
Q Okay. So, there came a point in time when he -- well, strike that question. Did y'all grow up together in the same house?
A Me and my brother did, and since my sister has a different mother, she was around us, but she wasn't with us full-time.
Q Did she live there at all?
A Yes.
Q And where was that?
A That was in Pottsville, Arkansas.
Q And that's where you and David grew up?
A Yes. I mean, between my mother lived -- my parents were divorced. My mother lived in Russellville, my father lived in Pottsville, and we went back and forth.
Q Okay. So, when your -- what year did your parents divorce?
A I don't know. It was, I believe it was maybe 1982. It was when I was little.
Q Okay. So, from the time that -- before they were divorced, did you live with David Cains?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And how -- and so, if they got divorced -- if your parents got divorced in 1982, you were two years old, approximately; is that right?

A Two, yes.
Q Okay. So, you don't really remember that part?
A No.
Q Okay. Kind of young?
A Yes.
Q Okay. So, then, when they got divorced, which house did you go with, your father or with your mother?
A Well, from what -- my parents still lived together after they were divorced for a few years. And I don't know that he -- obviously I was a child, but -- so, we lived with both of them. At some point, my mother moved out, and we lived with her, my brother and I lived with my mom.
Q And do you know when, about what time that was, what year?
A I would say maybe when I was four or five. I mean, I remember that. So, I guess that I was four or five.
Q Okay. So, for another two years or so?
A Yes, yes.
Q Okay. And then, your mother moved out, even though they were already divorced, and you went with your mother?
A Yes.
Q Did David Cains go with your mother?
A Yes.

Q And how long did you live with -- you and David live with your mother?
A I would like to say three or four years. I believe until I was eight. If I'm remembering correctly, I was eight or nine.
Q Okay. And then, what happened?
A And then, we moved in with my father.
Q You and David Cains moved in with your father?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And approximately what year was that?
A I would like to say 1988, '89.
Q Okay. Where did -- at that time, where did your father live?
A Pottsville, Arkansas.
Q And what county is that? I don't know.
A That's Pope County.
Q Okay. And then, how long did you live with -- did you and David Cains live together with your father?
A Until 1991.
Q And then, you moved somewhere else?
A My father passed away.
Q Okay. And so, you moved with your mother?
A No. I moved in with my aunt and uncle.
Q Oh. Who are they? What's their names?
A Ron Cains, and his wife at the time, Lori Cains.

Q Okay. Where did they live?
A They lived in Germany.
Q Oh, you moved to Germany?
A I did.
Q Okay.
A My uncle was in the Army.
Q All right. And so, you went with your uncle and not with your mother?
A Yes. Because my -- there were details -- my father was murdered, so me and my brother were there, we witnessed it. So, after his death, I was sent off for my protection, and from my recollection, so was my brother.
Q Where did your brother, David Cains, go? Hold on one second.

COURT REPORTER: Wait, I'm sorry.

MR. ROSEN: We're off the record.

(WHEREUPON, a brief discussion was held off the record.)

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q All right. So, where did your -- I'm sorry. So, where did your -- in 1991 when you went to Germany, where did your brother go?
A I don't know where he went immediately after. I know that he was not with my mother. I believe he went into Friendship Community Care into an alternate housing placement.

Q And how old was he at that time?
A He was 14 and I was 11.
Q And so, your mom didn't take him?
A No. They -- me and my brother, because we were both witnesses, it's my memory that for our own safety, we got sent to different places for our own protection. So, that's why neither one of us were living with my mom, because --
Q Okay. Well, was where you went to live secret?
A Yes.
Q So, how long did you live in Germany after that?
A I lived there for, I believe -- my uncle was still stationed there for another year, and I lived with him. And then, we moved to Louisiana. He was transferred.
Q Okay. And so, did you ever live with David Cains again?
A Not full-time, no.
Q Well, you mean part-time you did?
A I mean, he would come home on the weekends, on holidays, but --
Q Okay. But he never lived there, he would visit?
A Yes.
Q Okay. That's what you mean?
A Yes.

Q Okay. So, just to make the record clear, after 1991, you never lived with David Cains again?
A Correct.
Q And how old were you then?
A I was 11.
Q And he was 14?
A Fourteen.
Q Fourteen; right?
A (Indicated yes.)
Q Sorry, I didn't mean to talk over you, and she -- because this lady has to get everything down. And so, when you lived -- did you ever testify in a court?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And when was that?
A That was in May of 1992.
Q Okay. So, it wasn't -- that was public; right?
A The trial?
Q Yes.
A I don't understand.
Q Yes. The trial, when you testified, that was public?
A Yes, yes.
Q Okay. So, did -- after 2000 -- or excuse me. In 1991, or before 1991, do you recall any behavioral problems with David Cains?

A No.
Q After 1991, or during 1991 and thereafter, were there any behavioral problems with David Cains?
A After 1991? Just for -- I don't understand.
Q Well, okay. Let me reword it. So, in 1991, from what you're telling me, David -- when your father died, David did not go to live with your mother, he went to live somewhere else?
A Correct.
Q And tell me, again, do you know where that -- who that somewhere else is?
A He went into a placement, and I believe his first placement was with a lady named [redacted]
Q Okay. So, he went to live with another family?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And they cared for him?
A Yes.
Q Okay. But he didn't go to live with your mom. And he was only 14 at the time; right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Was it she couldn't care for him?
A Because my father was just murdered, and me and my brother were both witnesses, and it was for our safety. So, they didn't allow either of us -- the local authorities didn't want me or my brother being with family that was nearby, because they were afraid for our safety.

Q And so, what authorities told you this?

A That was -- I mean, I was 11 at the time. My mother and my grandfather, her father, handled most of it. But I spoke -- that was at the time Sheriff Jay Winters.

Q Okay. So, Sheriff who?

A Jay Winters.

Q Of Pope County?

A Pope County; correct.

Q And what was your grandfather's name?

A John Riley.

Q And so, we know that you never lived with David Cains again, except for when he came to visit; right?

A Correct.

Q After 1991, did your mother ever live with David Cains again?

A No.

Q Okay. So, in 1991, do you recall any aggression or behavioral issues associated with David Cains' behavior?

A I know my brother dealt with -- he was hyper, but not -- I don't recall any behavior issues.

Q Did he ever threaten you?

A No.

Q Did he ever hurt you?
A No.
Q What about your friends?
A No.
Q Now, so, you mentioned that David Cains -- let's start again. That he went to live with the [redacted] another family, in 1991; right?
A Yes, yes.
Q And did they live in Pope County?
A From what I recall, yes.
Q Okay. And how long did he live with them?
A This will just be a guess. But from my memory, I believe maybe four or five years.
Q Okay. And during that four or five years, did you ever go visit David?
A Yes. Actually I spent a lot of time with the Greens. I would spend the night with them. They -- you know, so Davie would come home on the weekends. I actually hung out with them a lot to spend time with my brother.
Q Okay. But explain to me -- if you spent time with him in Pope County for the four or five years after 1991, you were in Germany for a year, and then you went to Louisiana; right?
A I was in Germany for a year, and then I was in Louisiana for a very short time, and then I came back to Arkansas.

Q Okay. So, when you were in Germany, did you visit David Cains at all?

A No, nobody was allowed to know I was there.

Q Okay. So, when you returned to -- when you went to Louisiana, did you visit David Cains at all?

A I believe I was only in Louisiana for maybe a couple of months.

Q Okay. And when you came back, did you visit David Cains when he was at the Greens' home?

A Yes, yes.

Q Okay. So, it wasn't a secret, then, anymore at that point in time?

A After the -- no, after the trial, it wasn't a secret anymore.

Q Okay. And did you ever spend the night over at the [redacted] house?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Tell me about their house.

A I mean, they lived in different places through those years. They had a house, they had an apartment. At some point, my brother transitioned from living with [redacted]

[redacted]

Q Okay. And were the [redacted] -- are they family members?
A No.
Q Are they good friends of the family?
A No.
Q Did you know them before David went to live with them?
A No.
Q Okay. So, after the [redacted] -- you said that he lived there four or five years, then where did he go?
A I believe he was in like an interim placement for maybe a couple of weeks. But he ended up going to live with [redacted].
Q I'm sorry. What was their last name?
A [redacted]
Q
A Yes.
Q Okay. And where was that?
A That was in Russellville.
Q Okay. And are they family members?
A No.
Q Were they close friends?
A No.
Q Did you know them before they went to live with -- before David went to live with them?

A No.
Q Okay. So, it was just another family?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And so, in about what year was that?
A I mean, this would just be a guess. I would guess maybe around 1996, '97.
Q Okay.
A I mean, I was in high school. So, like I said, that's a guess, an estimate.
Q Okay. And so, where did the [redacted] live?
A They had a house in Russellville.
Q Okay. Did they live -- how long did -- how long was David with the [redacted]?
A He was there until 2007.
Q Okay. And lived with them for 2007 -- until 2007?
A Correct.
Q And they took care of him?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And did you ever visit him at the [redacted] house?
A Yes.
Q Okay. In Pope County?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Tell me about their house.
A I mean, I don't remember a lot about their house. I mean, when I would go over there, like I would hang out with my brother in his bedroom. I mean, we would listen to music. And what do you mean, their house?

Q And well, I mean, did they -- was it in Russellville, was it in a rural area, was it an apartment?

A The house I remember was in town, yes.

Q Okay. And did you spend the night there?

A I don't believe I ever spent the night with the Robertsons, no.

Q [redacted]

A [redacted]

Q Okay. And so, he lived with them there until 2007?

A Well, at some point they moved to the Fayetteville area.

Q Oh.

A But he lived with them, just not in that house.

Q Okay. So, they all moved to Fayetteville, Arkansas?

A Or that area, yes.

Q Yes, it's in northwest Arkansas?

A Yes.

Q About when was that?

A If I had to guess, an estimate, I believe it was around when I graduated high school. So, around '98, '99.

Q So, in '98 or '99 David would have been approximately 17 or 18 years old?
A No. He would have been 21, 22.
Q What year was he born?
A 1977.
Q Oh, 1977. I'm sorry. But from 1991 when he moved out of your mom's house until this date, that had been -- that was about how many years?
A From 1991 until when?
Q Until he moved to northwest Arkansas?
A I would say seven or eight years.
Q Okay. Now, tell me about the Roberts' home in northwest Arkansas. Did you ever go there, first of all?
A Yes, we went there a lot.
Q Okay. How often?
A We would go up there to pick Davie up to bring him back to Russellville for his birthday, holidays, for just random visits, and then we would also go up there just to visit him. So --
Q Did you ever spend the night there?
A No, I never spent the night there.
Q Tell me about their home in northwest Arkansas.
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Go ahead.

A It was a house in town, like in a neighborhood. They always had a lot of dogs and they had some older children.

Q Did you ever -- okay. Did the [redacted] live in other homes or areas?

A At some point, they moved from that neighborhood to somewhere farther out in the country.

Q Okay.

A But it was still in northwest Arkansas.

Q Did you visit them there?

A I did.

Q Okay. So, you would go to pick up David Cains and to hang out in his room?

A Yes.

Q Okay.

A Or, I mean, we would take Davie into town, just to visit him, you know.

Q So, when you would go up there, tell me about -- this would be a day visit; right?

A I'm sorry?

Q You didn't spend the night there, did you?

A No.

Q So, it was during the day?

A It was either a day visit or we were going there to pick him up and bring him back to Russellville.

Q Okay. And when you would pick him up and bring him back to Russellville, was there ever any incidents or behavioral problems that you encountered?
A I mean, he dealt with, you know, behaviors.
Q Tell me about them.
A Like he would get anxious, sometimes he would cry, he would get upset. Yeah, you know, he dealt with those types of things.
Q Did he ever become violent?
A No.
Q Aggressive?
A I mean, he would get agitated.
Q Tell me what that means.
A Like he might raise his voice, he might start cussing or crying.
Q Did he ever threaten violence?
A No.
Q Did he ever spit or scream?
A He was known to spit sometimes when he was upset and he would yell, yes.
Q Did you ever notice that he would vomit at times?
A When he was upset, or just in general?
Q Anytime?
A Yeah. I mean, his whole life he dealt -- you know,

[redacted]

Q So, he would vomit often?

A I wouldn't say that he vomited often, no.

Q Okay. So, you've taken us to the point where the Roberts' moved in, I guess, in the country, in a rural area?

A Yes.

Q Do you remember when -- what year that was?

A I do not remember.

Q And did there come a point in time where he stopped living with the [redacted]

A Yes.

Q When was that?

A That was in 2007.

Q And why?

[redacted]

[redacted]

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.

THE WITNESS: Yes.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Okay. And how often, right before that happened, did you visit?

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.

THE WITNESS: I mean, it would be -- what do you mean, right before, would you rephrase, could you repeat that?

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q So, approximately, do you remember what year and month that he left the [redacted] home?

A I know it was 2007. I believe it was around February. I don't know that for a fact.

Q Well, let's talk about the, say, several months before --

A Okay.

Q -- that happened, before he left. Did you visit David?

A Yes. We visited him and he came home to Russellville.

Q Okay. And was there anything unusual or that you noticed about him, about his behaviors, his appearance, his health?

A I remember at the time they were, you know, changing up some of his medicine and he was a little more withdrawn than normal.
Q And you had gone to the -- in that month period you had gone to the [redacted] home?
A I mean, I would say, I don't know if it was a month prior, but I would say definitely in the six-months prior, in that time period, yes, I had been to see my brother.
Q Okay. About how many times?
A I mean, it would be a guess. I would say two, maybe.
Q And during those maybe one or two times during that six months prior to -- and we're talking about early 2007 when he left the [redacted] home. Did you notice anything unusual about th[redacted] home?
A Nothing about their home, no.
Q Did you notice anything unusual about David Cains's health or appearance?
A I do remember that at the end they -- the last house that I was at, I believe, was not that last house they had lived in. So, the very last house, there -- I have to -- I'm trying to remember. Towards the end of him living with the [redacted] I believe they moved and I don't believe I was at that house. The last house I remember, I don't remember anything different to either.

Q And so, approximately when did they move?

A I don't remember that. I just remember it was towards the end, because that was part of the issue, that the provider that they worked for, they didn't communicate with us about, you know, their whereabouts, about Davie.

Q Okay. And so, are you -- so, what happened to David Cains' -- so, there came a -- strike that question. So, there came a point in time in early -- sometime in early 2007 that David Cains left the [redacted] home; is that right?

A Yes.

Q Where did he go?

A He was taken to Booneville Human Development Center.

Q And why did he leave the [redacted] home?

A [redacted]

Q [redacted]

A [redacted]

Q [redacted]

[redacted]

A [redacted]

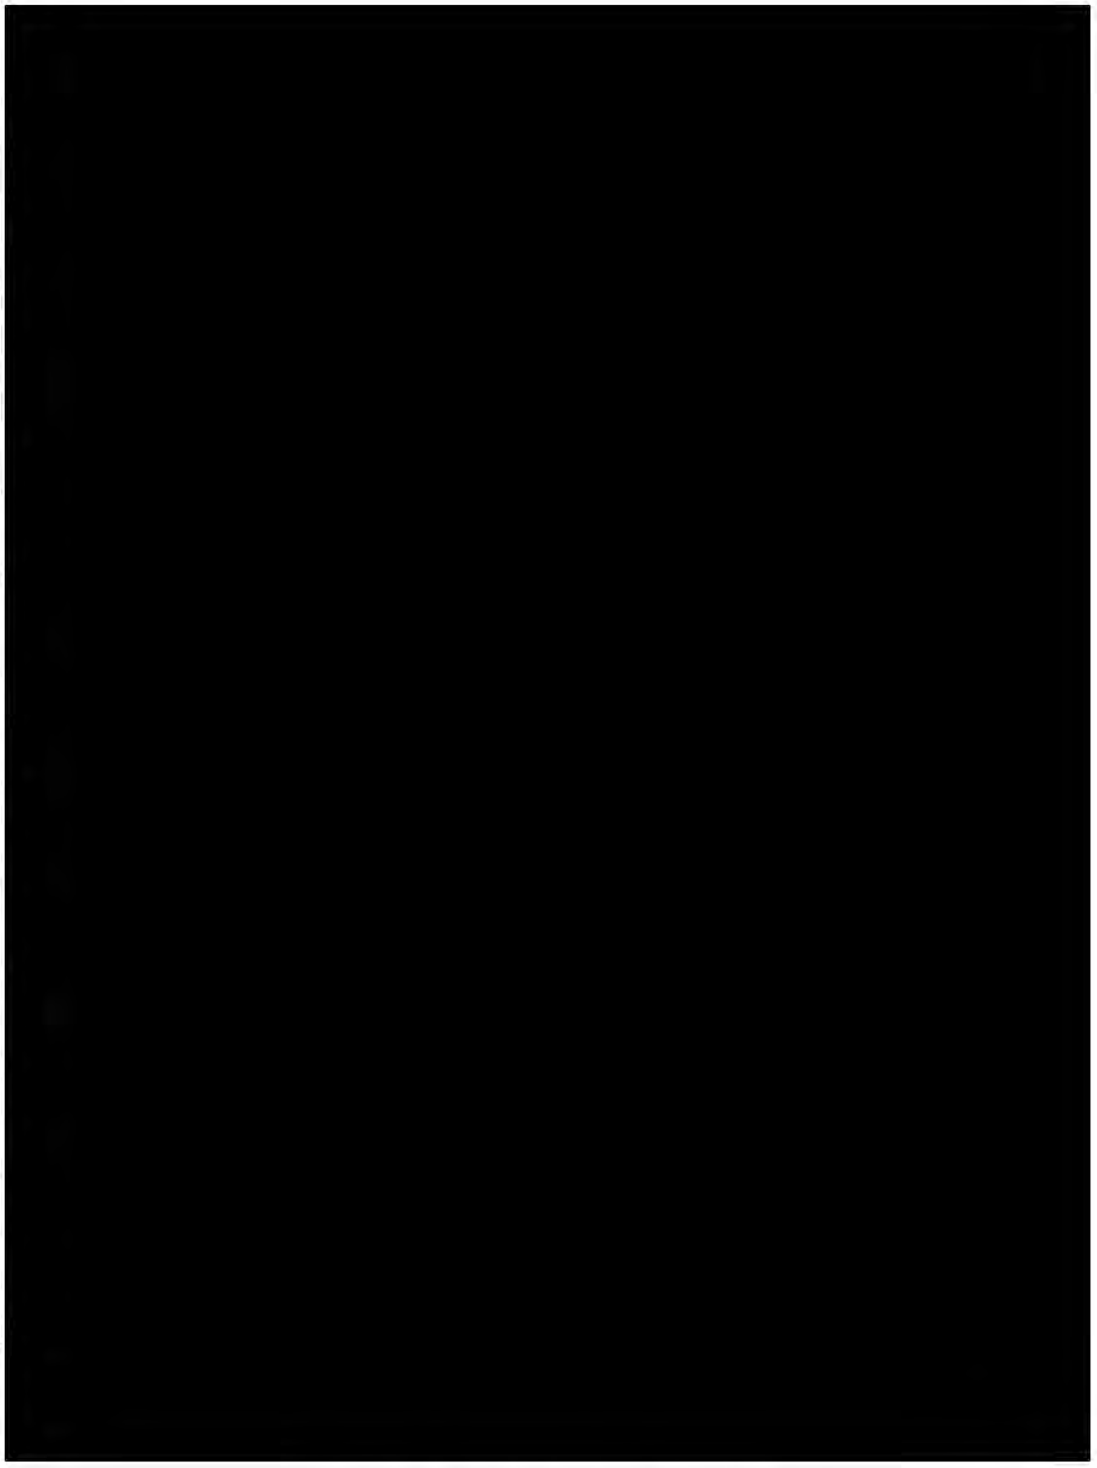
Q [redacted]

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.

THE WITNESS: From what I recall.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q [redacted]



Q Tell me what -- okay. Tell me what your --

MR. GILLISPIE: Please let her finish her answer before you ask the next question.

MR. ROSEN: Yes. There was a pause. I'm sorry.

BY MR. ROSEN:

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q Okay. But you never went to the last house that he lived in; right?

A Not that I recall.

[redacted]

[redacted]

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.

THE WITNESS: He was placed -- on an emergency basis, he was placed at Booneville Human Development Center.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Okay. And did you ever say, "Well, I'll take him in my home"?

A There was a discussion, because I had never heard of the HDC. But I remember, you know, talking with my mom, because when that happened, when he arrived there, I remember it being pretty hectic trying to figure out, "Okay. You know, what actually is going on," and it was -- since it was considered an emergency situation at the time he was there, but we didn't have an option, from what I recall, because --

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q Okay. Well, what I'm asking is, did you step forward and say, "Hey, I'll take David Cains. He can come live at my house"?

A I mean, there, through the years, especially when I got older, I always talked about what was best for him, and if that was ever a possibility.

Q And what did you find was best for him?

A I felt like once he came to the HDC and he started living there, they -- from the way it was set up, you know, I felt at that time that was good for him, because my brother was very social and outgoing, and it was like a little college campus. And I felt like that place had everything that, you know, that he deserved, you know, his own -- his independence and a job and his own friends.

Q Okay. But -- and just go back to my question. So, we're talking about in 2000 -- early 2007.

A Yes.

Q [redacted]

[redacted]

A That -- for me, that was always a conversation. But what it came down to was, you know, I worked two, three jobs. My brother needed 24-hour care. I mean, ideally, I would have loved to have done that. I love my brother, we had a good relationship, and I felt like, you know, in theory, I could have provided him a safe home. I mean, I could have provided him a safe home. But I worked multiple jobs, and since my mom -- and my brother needed 24-hour care, I wasn't capable of giving him 24-hour care.

Q Okay. So, the answer is "no", for those reasons?

A Yes, for those reasons.

Q Okay. And he also, at that time -- I think you mentioned that your mom couldn't take him, either; right?

A Correct.

Q Okay. What about your -- the other siblings, Ashley, was she able to take him?

A No.

Q Okay. And she didn't step forward and take him, or offer, did she?

A My -- our little sister, Ashley?

Q Yes.
A No.
Q Okay. And the other sibling -- and I can't remember her name right now.
A Shelly.
[redacted]
Q And why is that?
A Well, I call her my sister. She was. My father was married to her mother for maybe a year. So, she lived with us for, you know, a year or two. I continued to have a relationship with her, I talked to her now and then. But, you know, she had her own life and, you know, she wasn't as involved with us.
Q When David Cains came -- when I guess the [redacted] relationship, when he was removed from that in early 2007, did you know anything about him forcing himself to vomit?
A No.

Q Did you know anything about him throwing rocks?
A Not rocks. I've known my brother to throw things, but not rocks.
Q What type of things?
A I mean, if he was having a behavior, he may pick up, you know, something that was close to him.
Q Such as?
A Such as anything that was close to him. A piece of clothing, a cup, and whatever might have been near him.
Q Are you aware that he has also in the past been said that he threw a fire extinguisher at people?
A I am not aware of that.
Q Okay. Now, let's go back to 2007, because that's what we're talking about. Are you aware in 2007 that he took off his belt and threw it at people?
A Not that specific incident, no.
Q And during that time period, did you ever witness him to have emotional behavioral outbursts?
A I mean, he dealt with, yeah, behavioral outbursts and --
Q Tell me about that. This is back in 2007.
A In 2007? After he had come to the HDC?
Q No. Before.
A Oh, before. I mean, my brother --
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form, that's been asked and answered. Go ahead.

THE WITNESS: For a while,I mean, he dealt with behaviors for a long time. So, he would get upset, we didn't know why, he would start cussing. Sometimes he would spit, but not very -- it wasn't like every time.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q And he would throw things?

A He would throw things that were near him. He was -- yeah. And his behaviors generally lasted a short period of time. And immediately after, he would always start crying and apologize.

Q And he wasn't like that all the time, was he?

A No, he didn't have behaviors all the time, no.

Q Just but periodically?

A Periodically, yes.

Q And would he ever try to swat at people?

A He had a tendency, yeah, to swing his arms when he had a behavior, yes.

Q Now, there came a point in time, I think you had mentioned that your mother -- your mother is Charlene Robinson; right?

A Correct.

Q Okay. And she became the legal guardian of David; correct?

A Yes.
Q And do you know when that was?
A I do not know. I believe when he -- there was -- I don't know the circumstances, but she had to go to court when he came to the HDC to get guardianship, either again, or I don't know the details of that.
Q But to your -- and I think you mentioned earlier that you had discussed about his placement at the HDC and how good it was --
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q -- and how he needed that, I think your --
A He needed 24-hour care, yes.
Q Okay. And at that time, you felt that the HDC was a good placement for him; right?
A Yes.
Q Because you were working jobs, your mom was working?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Now, so, did the family -- so, the family was good with the placement at the Booneville Human Development Center?
A At that time, yes.
Q Okay. Now -- hold on one second, okay? Now, there came a point in time when David passed away.
A Yes.

Q What day was that?
A June 13th, 2020.
Q And where did you live at that time?
A I lived in Vermont.
Q Okay. And someone told you that this happened?
A My uncle called me the day that it happened.
Q And your uncle, what's his name?
A My Uncle Patrick Riley.
Q And where does he live?
A He lives in London, Arkansas.
Q Where is that?
A Right next to -- it's right next to Russellville.
Q Okay. And he was your mom's brother?
A Correct.
Q And I'm sorry. What was his name again?
A Patrick Riley.
Q Okay. And did you come back to Arkansas?
A In general, or --
Q I mean, right after -- after you heard the news, did you return?
A Oh, yes. I flew in as soon as I could get a flight.
Q Okay. And did there -- there came a point in time when you filed this particular lawsuit, which we call a claim --
A Yes.

Q -- in the Claims Commission; right?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And according to the documents, it was filed in October of 2021. Is that your recollection, approximately?
A Yes.
Q Okay. The Complaint is many pages long, and makes several allegations in there. Did you review this Complaint before it was filed?
A I read the Complaint.
Q Okay. And I'm going to show you what we're going to mark as DHS Exhibit Two.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number Two was marked for identification.)

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q And it's -- there aren't any page numbers on it, but it's the Claim Submission Signature Page of the claim and the Complaint without the exhibits, which are numerous pages. I'll ask if you can identify that?
A (Witness reviews document.)
Q Is that your signature on the front page?
A (No response.)
Q And I'm going to point, if I may approach. This under that says "Claimant Signature". Is that yours?
A (No response.)

Q And you seem to have a little difficulty recognizing it. So, let me ask it this way. Do you recognize that signature?
A Where?
Q Claimant Signature?
A I mean, I --
Q And if it's not yours it's okay. I just want to know whether that's yours or not.
A I don't recognize the initials. I know I signed something.
Q Okay. Let me see it again. So, we're going to mark this as Exhibit -- I think it has already been marked as Exhibit Number Two. Do you recognize this as the Complaint?
A Yes. I received this and I read it.
Q Okay. But you're not -- you're saying that where it says "Claimant Signature" that's not your signature?
MR. GILLISPIE: Are you asking her where I signed?
MR. ROSEN: Okay.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Oh, okay. So, is that your signature or not your signature?
A I mean, that doesn't look like CM, no.
Q Okay. All right. But you did review this with your counsel before it was filed; right?

A My counsel provided me those documents.
Q Okay. Did you go over it with your counsel?
A I mean, we went over what --
MR. GILLISPIE: Objection, I object. Don't answer that. It's privileged.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q I'm not asking about what you said, I just want to know whether you went over it with your counsel?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Now, so, you're familiar with the allegations that are in this Complaint? And I'll give you the Complaint, it's in front of you, so you can review it if you want to, because I'm going to ask you about a few things in it.
A Okay. (Witness reviews document.)
Q So, did you -- you did review it with counsel; right?
A I did review this claim, yes.
Q Okay. Now, I want to refer you to paragraph seven of the Complaint. And the Complaint doesn't have page numbers on it, it just has paragraph numbers. So, it's on -- really on the second page, second page of the Complaint, paragraph seven. Keep that one. And I'll let you read it for a second.

A (Witness reviews document.) You mean that's labeled number seven under "Factual Background"?
Q Yes.
A Okay.
Q And I'm going to ask you about the last line in that. You see where it says, "And the residents have access to limited recreation and a cafeteria for meals"? Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q In reality, Booneville Human Development Center has full access to a range of recreational activities, do they not?
A I'm not aware of all their recreational activities.
Q Well, would you call their recreational activities limited, as you did in this Complaint, or would you say that they're broader than limited?
MR. GILLISPIE: Objection. Object to the form.
THE WITNESS: I mean, I don't know what -- I would say they had some recreation.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. Tell me about the types of recreation -- well, you went -- did you go visit David at the --
A Oh, yes, all the time.
Q Okay. So, tell me about the recreation activities they had.

A I mean, I wouldn't know about all of them, because my brother -- I don't believe he involved himself in a lot of recreation. I remember in the beginning he would -- we would take him into town to go see a movie, and I know they had a pool. But other than that, I can't think of what other recreation activities they would have.
Q Did you see -- when you went to visit him, what would he be doing during the day?
A Well, he had a job that he would go to, he had a life skills class. And most of the time he was in his room watching TV, listening to music, could be talking to other residents.
Q Socializing?
A Socializing, yes.
Q Okay. Activities?
A Well, activities like watching his own TV and listening to music, yes.
Q Did they ever go on field trips?
A The only time I remember him leaving was every now and then he would go to see a movie in town.
Q Okay. Well, that would be a recreational activity, would it not?
A Yes.

Q Okay. Now, did he also have educational activities?
A I don't know of any educational activities.
Q Did he have vocational activities?
A He had a job, if that's what you're referring to as vocational.
Q Yes. So, what did he do?
A I know they had a recycling center where he would say he tore books where I believe they made things out of recycled paper.

MR. GILLISPIE: I'm sorry. Is it hot? I'm sorry. Is it too hot in here for anybody?

MR. ROSEN: I'm okay, but you can adjust it if you would like.

THE WITNESS: Would I be able to use the bathroom?

MR. ROSEN: Yes.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

VIDEOGRAPHER: We're off the record at 10:20.

(WHEREUPON, a break was taken.)

VIDEOGRAPHER: We're back on the record at 10:28.

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. During the break, did you talk to anybody about my questions to you?

A No.
Q Now, we were -- let's pick up where we left off. Well, actually, let's change the pace a little bit. When David Cains was at the Booneville Human Development Center, did he have any favorite staff members that cared for him?
A Oh, yeah.
Q Who would that be?
A Let's see. Probably his favorite was a lady named Audra DeLay.
Q Okay. And what did she do?
A I believe she was one of his bosses at his work when -- where he tore books and stuff.
Q Oh, okay. So, he liked his work?
A I don't know. I mean, he wasn't -- I don't know if he liked it. He liked the social aspect of it, you know. And he really liked Audra.
Q Did he like going to work or did he not like going to work?
A Well, it depended on the day, you know, like most people.
Q Okay. And what time period, was this at the end, at the beginning, in the middle of while he stayed at the Booneville Human Development Center?
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.

THE WITNESS: What?
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q That he liked this person?
A I believe she was there --
MR. ROSEN: Hold on.
COURT REPORTER: I'm sorry.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Let's go on.
A I believe she was there for the majority of the time, if not for the entire time that he was there. I don't know if she was in that capacity as his boss. But I mean, it has been years that he has known her.
Q Okay.
A And talked about her.
Q What about anybody else?
A There was a lady in the beginning when he first arrived. Her name was Vickie, I believe, Bradford. I can't remember her last name. And maybe the first couple of years he really liked her.
Q Was there anybody that you got to know?
A Yeah. I got to know Vickie pretty well, and his last case manager, Caleb Murray, I felt like, you know, I talked to him frequently, and I had a good relationship with him.
Q Okay. And I think in Booneville Human Development

Center, they are different cottages or houses; is that right?
A Well, they have like a dorm style. They have a couple of buildings, and they call them the dorms, and that's exactly what they look like. And I believe -- I don't know about now, but they used to have like cottage style also.
Q Okay. So, where did David live? Did he live in a cottage or a dorm?
A He lived in a dorm.
Q Okay. And did it have a name?
A Davidson House.
Q Okay. And was it -- was it a single floor, more than one floor?
A There were at least -- there were two floors for residents. And I don't know if there was a basement or anything, but I know there were two floors.
Q Okay. And which floor did he live on?
A When he first arrived there, he was on the second floor up until, I believe, around 2012, when they moved him. There was an incident with another resident, and they moved him to the first floor.
Q Incident, what, between him and another resident?
A He was actually -- he was attacked by another resident, and they -- that resident ended up, from what we were told, being removed from the facility, and they moved Davie to the first floor.

Q And your mother was the legal guardian of David Cains during the whole time that he was at the Human Development Center; right?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And as -- you're the claimant here. Is it your understanding that at any time the legal guardian could have removed -- voluntarily just removed or withdrawn David from the Human Development Center?

A Yes, I understand that.

Q Okay. And you would agree with that statement?

A Yes.

Q But neither you nor mom or any other family member chose to remove him, did they?

A No.

Q And we'll come back to the document that's in front of you, but I want to kind of move on to something. David -- do you know what an Individual Program Plan is, or IPP?

A Yes.

Q And what is it?

A It's a plan that they would do at that facility yearly that included all kinds of things about his living situation, about his -- how to respond to behaviors, his medical needs, his things that work -- just like the class, things that they wanted him to work on. It encompassed a large amount of things.

Q Okay. And it was basically his Treatment Plan; right?
A Yes, yes.
Q And it includes medical and behavioral and social and recreational activities?
A Yes.
Q And, in fact, you participated in at least one of them, did you not?
A Yes.
Q Did you participate in more than one?
A Yes.
Q Okay. What years did you participate, do you recall?
A The last one was 2019. I couldn't tell you -- I was there in person for another one, and I couldn't you what year that was.
Q Okay. But in 2019, which -- the 2019 Individual Program Plan, or IPP, you did participate in?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And your mom participated in it; correct?
A Correct.
Q As a matter of fact, it's a team effort; right?

A Correct.
Q Okay. And there's discussions; right?
A Correct.
Q And there's reports given, written or oral reports; right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. About what his needs -- what David's needs were, or are at that time, about what his health conditions were, about what his Treatment Plans were, about his behaviors, as well; right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And in the Treatment Plan, everybody signed off on it and agreed that this Treatment Plan was appropriate; correct?
A Correct.
Q Okay. Including you?
A Correct.
Q Including your mom?
A Correct.
Q And when I say "your mom" I mean as legal guardian.
A Yes.
Q Okay. So, whatever -- in that Treatment Plan, everybody agreed that was the appropriate plan for that year?
A What was in that Treatment Plan, yes.

Q And that Treatment Plan was, I think, from approximately May of '19 through -- until the new Treatment Plan was coming up in June, I think?
A It would have been -- they told me it would have been for about 11 to 12 months.
Q Yes.
A For the year.
Q Let's talk about that for a minute. Okay. I'm going to show you -- first of all, I'm going to show this to you and ask if you can identify that. Is that the Treatment Plan for 2019? And I want to note that it's Bates marked, stamped CM001453 through CM001544. Does that appear to be the Treatment Plan?
A That looks like it. Yes.
Q Okay. We're going to have this identified and marked as Exhibit Three, okay?

MR. ROSEN: And if you want to give me a sticker, I'll put it on this one.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number Three was marked for identification.)

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. Now, on -- I'll ask you to turn to page five of the plan, which is Bates stamped 1350 -- excuse me -- which is Bates stamped -- let me see what it is.

MR. GILLISPIE: 1459?

MR. ROSEN: 1450 -- yes, thank you. 1459.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q It mentions, "David's Sister, Chrissie Cains" -- that's you; correct?
A I'm -- that was my maiden name.
Q At the top.
A Yes, at the time.
Q Okay. "And his Mother/Guardian, Charlene Robinson, attended his Annual Review and an IPP will be sent to them for approval"; correct?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And y'all -- I think we've already established that y'all did approve it?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And if you look on page -- page two, which is Bates stamped 1455, your name, your signature is on there, as is your mom's; is that correct?
A Correct.
Q Okay. I'll move on. So, I'm going to ask you to turn to page four of this document, which is Bates stamped 1459 at the bottom. It starts out in 1991.
A (Witness reviews document.)
Q Do you see that part?
A Yes.
Q And says -- it talks about your father's death. And it says, "David began having problems after this and subsequently his mother sought assistance through [redacted] in Russellville as she was unable to handle him alone." Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Now, tell me about your recollection about that. Does that change anything you've said today?

A No.

Q Okay. So, in this document, which you approved, it says that your mom wasn't able to handle him alone.

A Yes, that's what it says.

Q Okay. Do you agree with that or do you disagree with that now?

A I agree, exactly what I said before, my brother needed 24-hour care, and my mom wasn't able to provide that to him.

Q Okay. All right. Now, you're aware that David had some behavioral issues while he was at the Human Development Center; right?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And what's your understanding what those behavioral issues were while he was at the Human Development Center?

A My understanding is that they were -- he would get upset, he would yell, he might cuss, he would spit sometimes, he was known to pick something up that was near him and throw it, he was known to, you know, swing his arms out, he would get -- you know, you didn't always know why, you know, but he would get upset. And he was known to do those types of things.

Q Okay. And you're aware that he -- because of that, there were certain behavioral management techniques that were required to manage those behavioral outbursts when that happened; right?

A Well, I understood that they were allowed to. I don't know if they were required. But I mean, they were allowed to be used.

Q But you understand that -- did David ever hurt himself?

A Not that I can recall.

Q Okay. Did David ever break things?

A He has broken things, yes.

Q Such as what?

A I mean, like his own things, he has broken his radio a few times.

Q TV?

A I do believe he did break his TV.

Q Glass?

A I'm trying to think of, I mean, if he ever broke glass. I do recall his TV and his radio.

Q Okay. And I'm going to -- I'm going to show you -- reference, ask you to look at page six of the IPP for 2019, which is Bates stamped 1463, and the bottom paragraph.
A (Witness complies.)
Q And if you could read, starting with, "David has demonstrated".
A Read to myself or out loud?
Q No. Out loud, because I want to ask you some questions about it.
A "David has demonstrated a history of the following behaviors: physical aggression, noncompliance, destroying personal belongings (TVs, radios, DVD players; etc.) breaking windows, shaving inappropriately causing skin irritations on his face and he appears to display aggression at times when his blood sugar becomes low."
Q Would you agree with that statement?
A Yes, I would agree with that.
Q In fact, because of his behaviors and breaking things, where was his TV in his room placed?
A It was hung on the wall.
Q Okay. And it was anchored to the wall?
A Yes.
Q And there was a plexiglass screen in front of it; right?

Arkansas
State Claims Commission
FEB 16 2023
RECEIVED

A Yes.
Q And why was that?
A I believe it was after he had broken his TV when they did that.
Q It was to keep him from breaking it again; right?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And how many times did he destroy his DVD player and radio and TV?
A I'm only aware of one time when he broke his TV. And I think maybe he broke a couple of radios. I'm not aware of the DVD player.
Q Okay. Now, when you -- during this time he was at the HDC when you would go to visit him, with him there, would you go alone or would you go with other people?
A Most of the time I would go alone. Sometimes me and my mom would go together. But, yeah, the majority I would be alone.
Q Okay. And so, when you went there, what would you do?
A Normally I would pick him up around lunchtime and I would take him out to lunch somewhere in town, in Booneville. Sometimes I might drive -- you know, we might go to Fort Smith or the next town. But generally it was in Booneville. And after we ate lunch, which was always a -- you know, he had very -- he had a routine, and the KFC or McDonald's, we would go to Wal-Mart after that where he would pick something out, a hat, a DVD, a t-shirt. Sometimes we would go to Dollar General, and we would always go to Sonic and get a shake. And then, we would usually drive around and just talk and listen usually to the Monkees.

Q Okay. And so, how long would the visit take?

A I mean, it varied. But anywhere from two hours to five. I mean, I would say on average two or three hours.

Q Okay. And how often would you do this?

A Between me, my mom, and my uncle, we tried to go monthly.

Q Okay.

A Like one of us would go up there.

Q One would go up per month?

A Yes.

Q Okay. So, it would be a couple months -- as part of the rotation --

A Right.

Q -- you would see him maybe this month, and then maybe in about three or four months, because your uncle would come, your mom would come in the other months?

A Well, we -- I mean, it's not like we did that. We didn't have an actual rotation. But, yes, we did rotate. But it would just depend on our schedule. But I personally tried to always see him within two to three months, always.

Q And what about your mom?
A Same, the same.
Q And is it Uncle Patrick?
A Uncle Patrick, yes.
Q Tell me, are you aware of any incidents that Uncle Patrick had with David Cains at McDonald's one time?
A Yes.
Q Tell me about that.
A I know my uncle went up there to -- normally he would just bring food to the dorm, but he took him off-campus and they went to McDonald's. And from what I recall, Davie got upset, for whatever reason, I don't know, agitated, and he had a cup of soda and he threw it at my uncle.
Q Okay. And that was right in the McDonald's?
A That was inside, yes.
Q And there were other customers there?
A I don't know if there were other customers there.
Q Do you know what happened next?
A I know that at some point my uncle called the HDC and asked if they would come down and get him.
Q And they did, didn't they?
A They did, yes.

Q Your uncle didn't bring him back, did he?
A No. Not that day, no.
Q There was an incident, your uncle called, and the HDC came and got him?
A Yes.

Q Okay. And tell me what your understanding is of that.
A Of the chemical?
Q Yes. What does that mean to you, emergency chemical intervention?
A From what it was explained to me is that meant if he was, you know, extremely anxious or upset and they couldn't calm him down, that they were allowed to give him medication to help calm him down.

Q And what is your understanding as to when emergency behavior management procedures or holds would be allowed to protect David from himself and to protect others? When would that be allowed?

A Could you ask that again?

Q Okay. Sure. On page -- of the IPP, on page 1471, it states that the -- among other things, that the

[redacted]

MR. GILLISPIE: Where is that on here?

MR. ROSEN: On the top of the page, page ten.

MR. GILLISPIE: 1471, you said?

MR. ROSEN: Yes. Up at the very top. It continues from the page before, but -- or the two pages before.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q So, what's your understanding as to behavior, as to when an intervention would be allowed when David was a danger to himself or to others?

A I mean, it was explained to me that in the case that someone felt that they were going -- that David was going to severely harm himself or someone else, that they would, per the physician, I understood that it was a nurse or physician had to authorize it.

Q Okay. Does it say that in here, for emergency?

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.

THE WITNESS: It said -- what you just read?

MR. ROSEN: Yes.

THE WITNESS: "Center emergency procedures", yes, it does say that.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Okay. It says "emergency". It doesn't say anything about a physician; right?

A No. I said, that's what was explained to me.

Q Now, you're aware that -- do you know what dysphagia is?

A I believe it has to do with choking. I don't have -- I don't know the definition.

Q Well, let's talk about choking. You're aware in here that each year they do a choking risk assessment; correct?

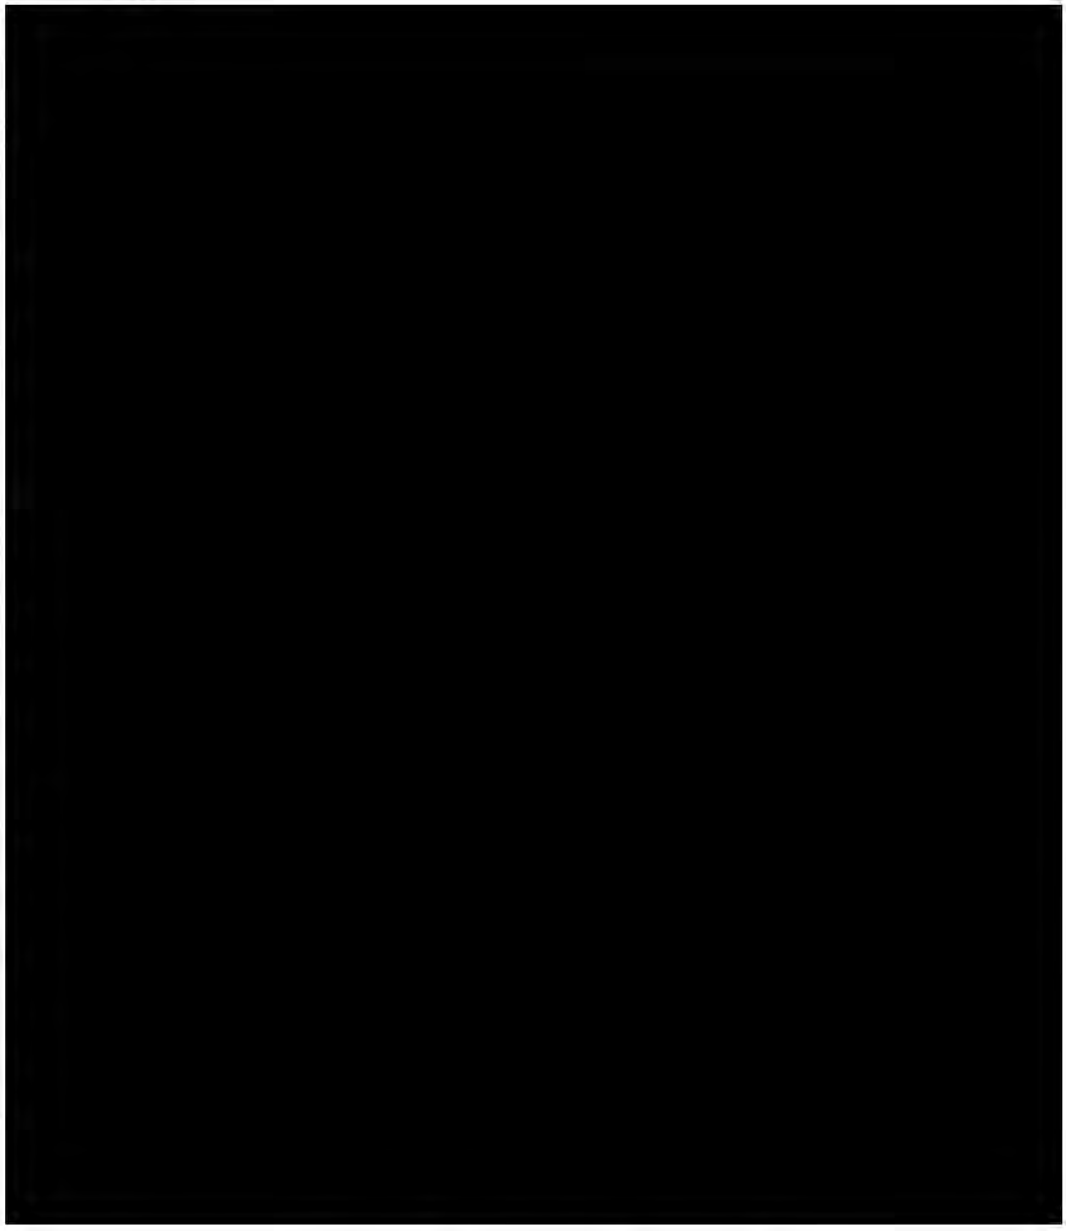
A Correct.

Q Each year?

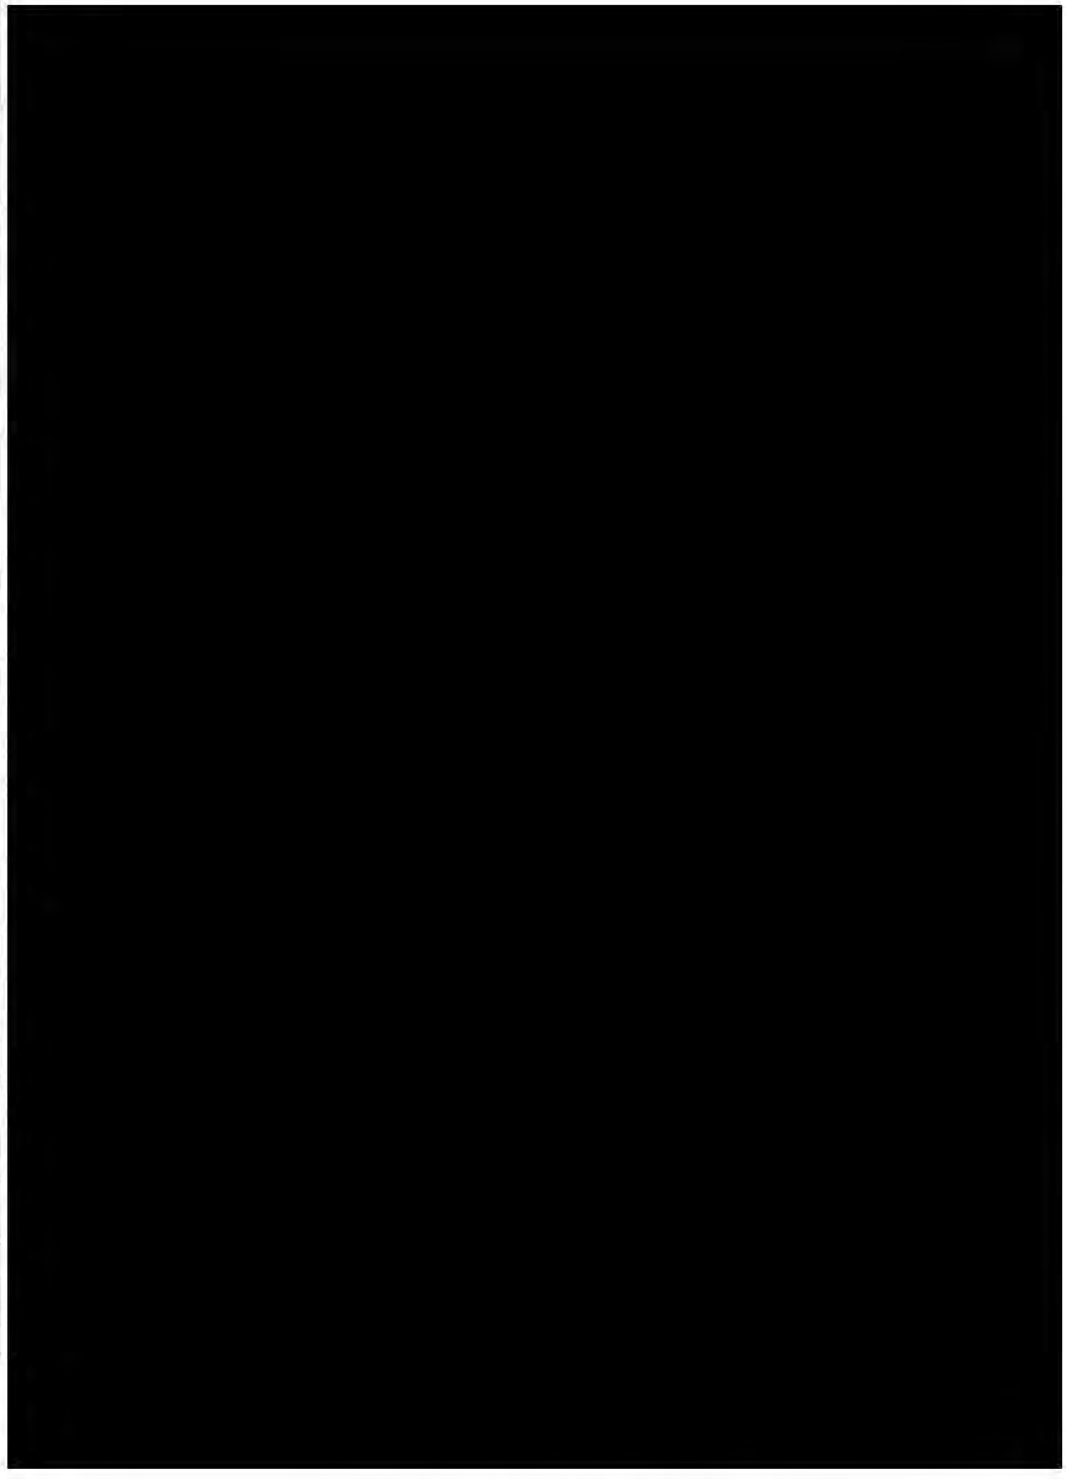
A Yes.

[redacted]

[redacted]



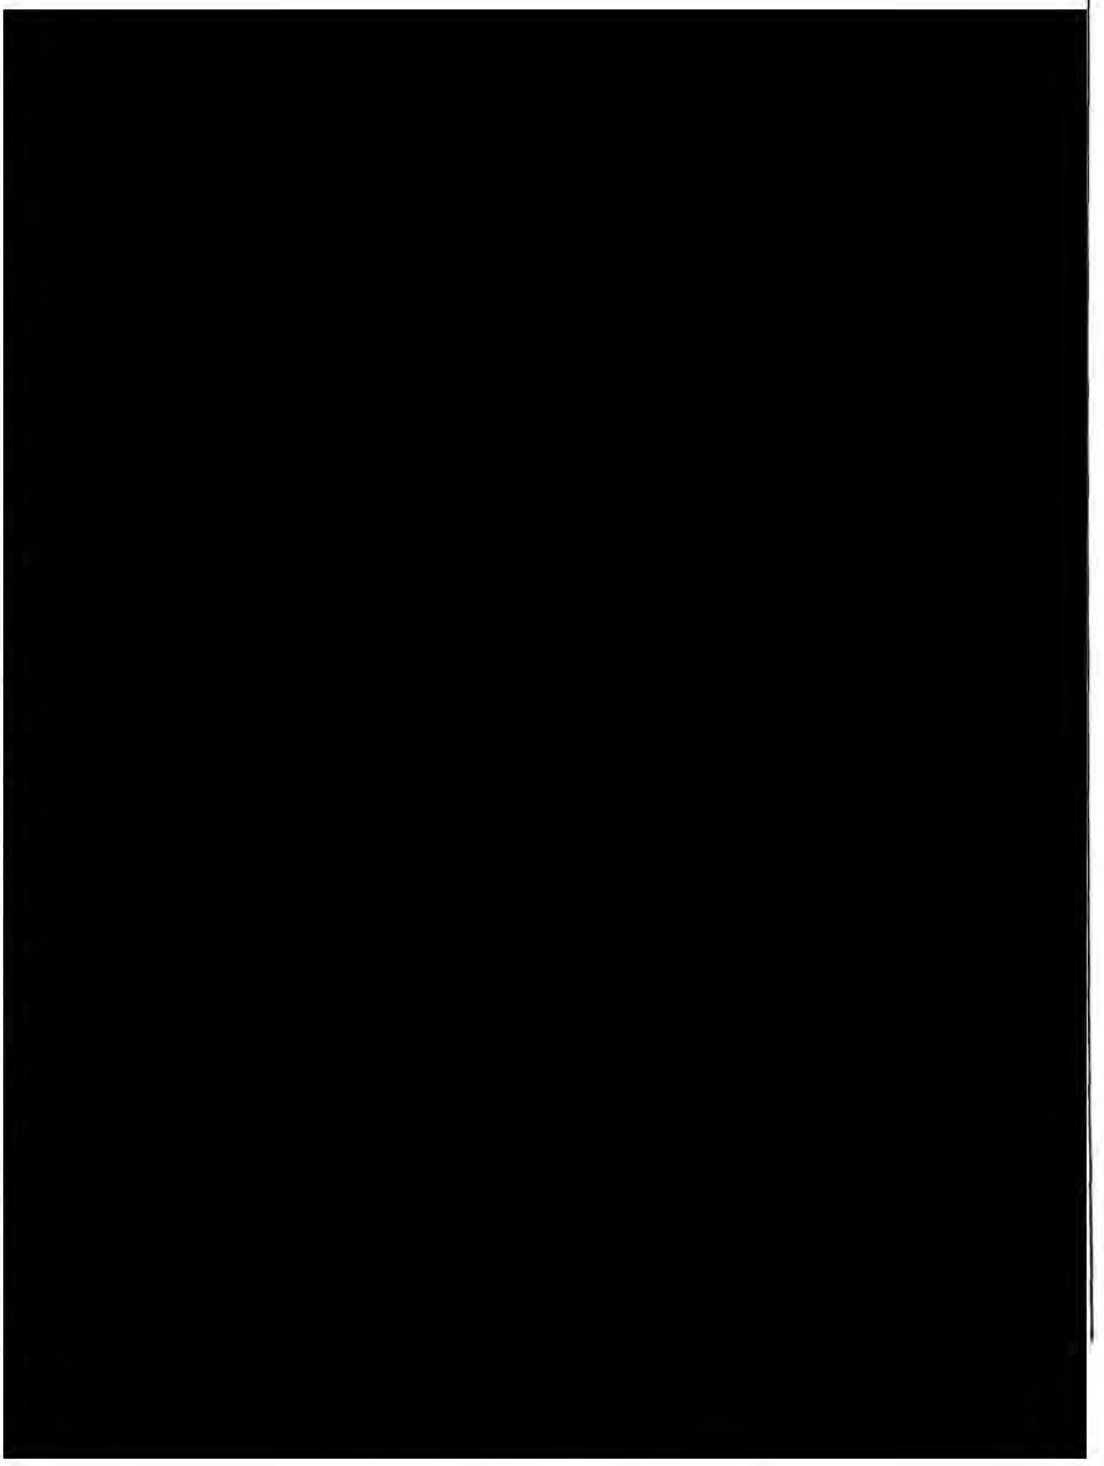
[redacted]



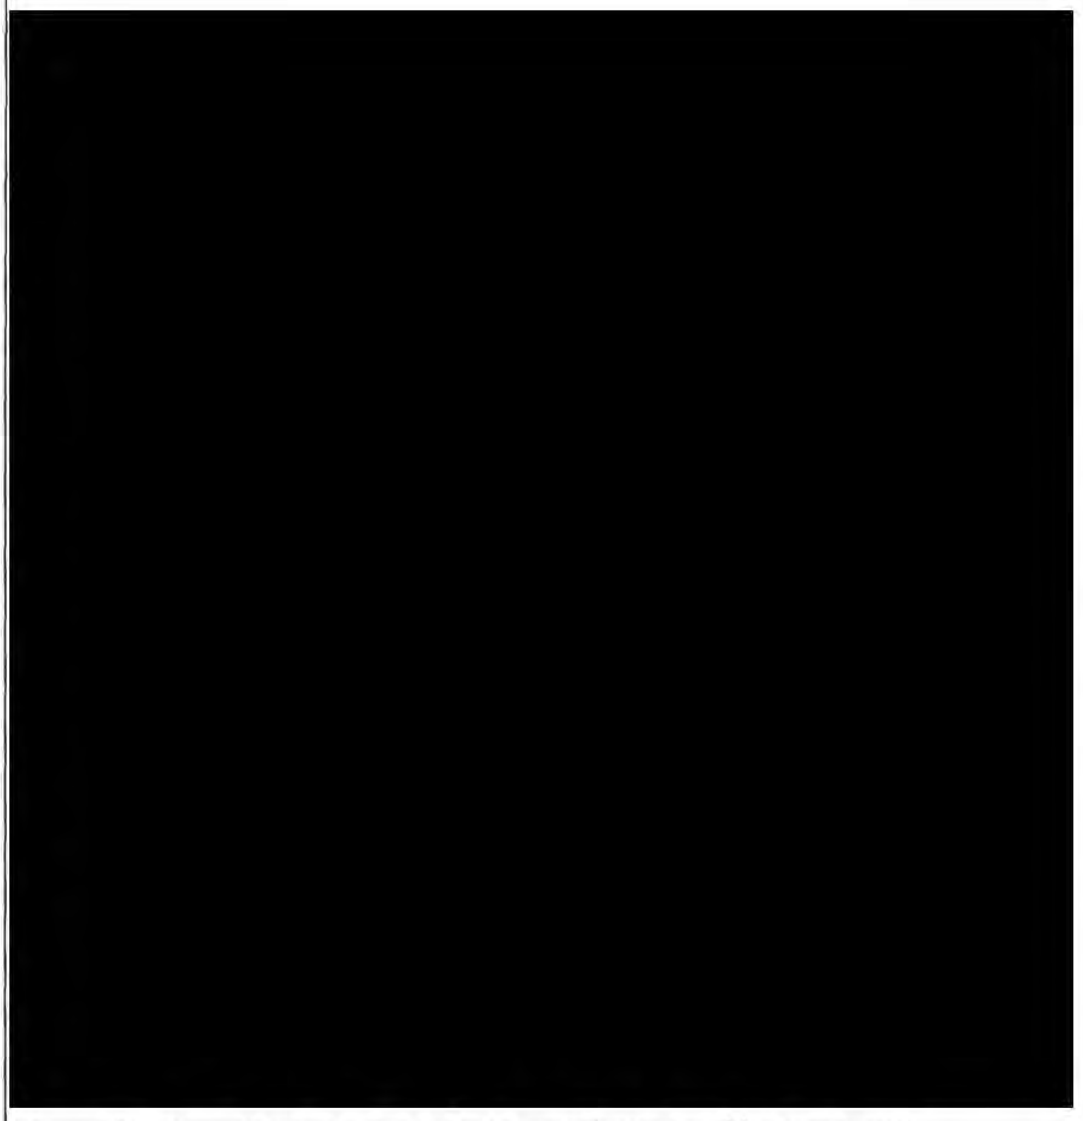
Q Okay. So, you would agree with that?
A Yes.
Q And your recollection since you attended some of these in -- well, even when you -- strike that question. Even when you didn't attend and participate as you did in this 2019 report, were you made aware of the findings here and the recommendations in the years prior?
A Yes.

[redacted]

Q Now, I'm going to ask you to turn to page Bates stamped 1525 of the 2019 IPP. And again we're talking about Exhibit Three.
A (Witness complies.)
Q Okay. Do you see that, it says "Medications"?



A Yes.
Q Okay. And there's a whole long list of medications on there; right?
A Yes.



A Yeah, according to this, yes.
Q Okay. And he had been for at least a couple of years before this, or do you know that?
A Well, I knew he dealt with it, yeah. I mean, I didn't know about every, you know, single medication, but I knew that he dealt with that, yes.

[redacted]

Q Okay. Now, so, and I'm going to direct your attention to this exhibit, the IPP from 2019, and particularly page 14 -- Bates stamped page 1483, which on the document itself, is page 16.

MR. GILLISPIE: 1483?

MR. ROSEN: Correct.

BY MR. ROSEN:

[redacted]

Q Okay. That's what is in the care plan; correct?

A Correct.

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form. Object, object to the form of that question.

MR. ROSEN: All right. I think we are done with that. Hand it to the Court Reporter so she can keep track of them.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Okay. Now, going back to the Complaint, which was marked as Exhibit Number Two, and it's in front of you, I'm going to direct your attention to paragraph eight. Do you see at the beginning line, it says -- in paragraph eight, you state that, "The BHDC has a," quote, "checkered past", unquote? Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q Yet during that time period, the family, including the court-appointed guardian, voluntarily elected to keep David Cains at the Booneville Human Development Center; did it not?

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.

THE WITNESS: I was made aware of some of their checkered past, as it's quoted right here, by my -- when I -- after my brother's death when I started looking into advocacy groups and people who would help me when I felt like my brother was killed and I was lied to. So, I became aware of investigations that I was never made aware of while he was living there.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q But you didn't see -- when you went the many times that you testified when you went to visit David, you didn't see any of that at the Booneville Human Development Center, did you?

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form, object to the form.

THE WITNESS: See what?

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Any of this, what you call -- and we'll get into what, if anything, that was quote "checkered past", unquote. Did you see that with your own eyes?

A No, I didn't personally see the things that I learned of later, no.

Q And so, your -- you cited in this Complaint somebody else's conclusions, did you not, not what you witnessed with your own eyes?

A Things that I had witnessed personally, and I brought this up to my brother's case manager, is the amount of restraints he had and maybe, you know, what were alternatives, you know. So, I had brought up with Caleb Murray, when I was made aware, when I would go over. And in this particular IPP meeting, we talked about his number of restraints the previous year and behavior incidents.

So, later, me and Caleb Murray had a discussion about that, and my concerns about him being, you know, restrained too many times.
Q Okay. But you understand that the restraints for his sake -- were for his sake and for the safety of other people; correct?
A I understand that that's the way that they are trained to make that decision.
Q Okay. And so, even though you had -- you said -- you say now you had concerns, you didn't express them in this IPP or at the meeting; did you?

MR. GILLISPIE: Object, object to the form.

THE WITNESS: I did express them to Caleb Murray, yes.

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q In the meeting?

A His case manager, we actually -- we did talk about it, because that was something that everyone at the table, you know, that was one thing they discussed was -- because they looked at numbers from the previous year, and they did bring up his amount of behavior events and restraints had risen from the previous year.

And I did talk about that at the table, because everyone as a whole talked about why -- if anybody thought that, made their opinions, and what may have been causing that, or it was really just a discussion out loud acknowledging that and being aware of that moving forward.

Q Okay. And so, when you had this discuss -- first of all, the group, including you and the legal court-appointed guardian, all agreed to continue the restraint policy that was in effect; correct?

A We agreed to continue the restraint policy as it was explained to us by Caleb Murray.

Q Okay. And you were aware that there were -- that David Cains, due to his behavior, had to be restrained numerous times the year before; correct?

A I was -- I understood that those restraints were used. I don't know if they had to be, but that was part of the discussion.

Q Well, do you know that they didn't have to be? Are you saying that?

A I'm saying that I had a discussion with Caleb Murray about it was my concern for my brother that we needed to figure out, you know, why we thought he was having so many behaviors, because as his sister and being protective over him, of course, I didn't like the idea of him being physically restrained.
So, I had a conversation with Caleb Murray about, "Okay. We have talked about, you know, previously different techniques, and we specifically talked about that the staff could use de-escalation tactics and how they were working on redirection, and they were actually working with my brother to learn how to calm himself down."
Q Okay. And as a matter of fact, on the day that your brother died, they had -- right before the incident that we'll get into, he had been calming down; correct? There was de-escalation in process?
A From what I remember of the witness statements, I remember reading that Tyler Murray spoke with him.
Q Okay. Are you -- do you know whether David Cains --
A I'm sorry. Tyler Mattson. I'm sorry.
Q Okay. Are you -- do you know whether Tyler Mattson -- well, excuse me. Do you know whether David Cains was sitting in a chair to calm down right before this happened, the outburst?

A I remember -- I mean, I read that.
Q Okay. Would that be a -- would calming in a chair be a de-escalation technique?
A I would think that if you are sitting down and you are talking to someone, that would -- that might, depending on what you are saying to them and where you are standing. You know, if you're standing over them, next to them, below them.
Q So, when David Cains was sitting in the chair calming down, do you know what happened next?
MR. GILLISPIE: Objection, object to the form.
MR. ROSEN: I don't know what the form is wrong.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q But what, if anything, do you know -- do you know if anything happened then?
A I know what I read in Tyler's original statement, and I know what I read --
MR. GILLISPIE: The form is, she never said he was sitting and calming down. She didn't say that.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Are you saying that your brother was not calmed down?

A I wasn't there.
Q Okay. So, you don't know one way or another?
A I wasn't there. All I know is what I've read by the people who were there.
Q And so, what you read was that David was in the dining room and was getting agitated and they took him to the bathroom, and then they -- when he came out of the bathroom, he sat down in the chair to calm down?
A I read that that's what Tyler said, yes.
Q Okay. Do you have any evidence that that didn't happen?
A All is know is what I read by the statement of the person who was there.
Q Okay. I'm asking you whether you have any evidence that that didn't happen.
A I mean, there's no video footage.
Q Okay. I'm not asking that. I'm asking you, do you have any evidence or information that did not happen?
A I have evidence of what the persons who was there, what they said. That's the only evidence I have, is what the persons who was there, what they wrote down and what they stated had happened.
Q Okay. So, would it be safe to say, would you agree, then, that you have no evidence that that's not the way it was?

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q It's very simple. I'm just trying to ask you --

A I mean, I feel like I've answered your question.

Q Well, not -- you haven't directly answered my question. And the question is, do you have any evidence that what Tyler Mattson said about the calming --

A What do you mean by "evidence", physical --

Q Let me -- let me ask my question, okay?

A I'm sorry. Yes.

Q I'm saying, do you disagree that your brother -- that the de-escalation techniques were utilized right before the outburst?

A Do I disagree?

Q Yes.

A So --

Q Do you agree that they were used or do you disagree that they were used?

MR. GILLISPIE: Form.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Or you don't know?

MR. GILLISPIE: Form.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Go ahead.

A I know that I read that Tyler, in his statement, said he talked to him and tried to calm him down. Yes, I do -- that's what I read.
Q Okay. I understand that's what you read.
A Okay.
Q I'm asking whether you agree or disagree with that statement?
MR. GILLISPIE: Form, asked and answered.
MR. ROSEN: She hasn't answered it yet.
THE WITNESS: I feel like I have. I mean, I wasn't there.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Do you agree -- okay. So --
A So, I only -- sorry.
MR. GILLISPIE: She's agreeing that was the statement.
MR. ROSEN: Okay. And I'm not asking whether she's agreeing that's the statement.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q I'm asking whether you agree factually that that happened, do you disagree that factually that happened, or do you not know whether that happened?
A Well, I don't know if that happened. I wasn't there.
Q Okay. All right. So, you have -- in other words, you don't have any information that it didn't happen?

A I don't have any -- no, I would say I don't have information that that didn't happen, except what I have read from Tyler, from between the deposition and the statement, his story changed and it wasn't consistent. So, it gives me questions if that happened. That's my opinion. But I don't know.
Q Okay. So, are you saying that his story, whatever that is, and you're talking about his statement to investigators, that he at some point in time said that de-escalation techniques were not used?
A I'm saying, from my own -- by me reading Tyler's witness statement and his deposition, his story about details changed. So, that makes me question what really happened if his own story changed.
Q What changed in his story?
A In my opinion, from what I read, there's a discrepancy of how my brother -- how they ended up on the ground, if Davie fell on his own, if he landed face first, if his face hit the ground, if my brother charged at him, if he initially hit him. I feel like what I read, there's multiple discrepancies.
Q Okay. Well, that's what I want to talk about, what you read and what discrepancies you're describing right now. So, let me -- I want to write it down. So, tell me, what's the first discrepancy that you're referring to?

A I question how my brother ended up on the ground initially.
Q Well, that's not a discrepancy, that's just a question you have, what the facts were --
A Well, so, there's a discrepancy because he can't say how it happened. He doesn't, from what I recall reading, he doesn't know if they tripped each other up. In one he said, "Oh, Davie fell to the ground, I fell with him, we tripped each other up." And then he said -- he himself said, "I don't know."
Q So, the first one is, you're not sure whether they toppled over or whether they fell over?
A I don't know if Tyler purposely took him to the ground, I don't know if he fell, if they toppled.
Q Well, do you have any -- what do you mean by "took him to the ground"? What do you mean by that?
A I mean, physically used a technique to take my brother to the ground himself.
Q Okay. And do you have -- so, let me tell you -- you weren't there; right?
A No, I wasn't there.
Q Okay. So, tell me what facts, what documents, what evidence do you have to show that he was, quote, "taken to the ground", unquote?

A The evidence that I've seen, the only thing I have to go by is by Tyler Mattson's own statement.
Q Okay. Did Tyler's own statement say he "took him to the ground", unquote?
A No, he didn't use those words.
Q So, then, in other words, you don't have -- what you're saying is, you don't have any factual support for what you are saying, that he may have been taken to the ground?
A No. I feel I do have support. Because -- Q Tell me what support, because I'm going to write it down. I want to --
A I feel my support is that his own story that he -- his own story changed.
Q Okay. Well, that's what we're kind of talking about, because I'm writing down here what changed. And I want to make sure that I understand what you're saying, okay?
A I'm saying that I have read --
Q Okay. So, first of all, the first is whether he was taken to the ground or they toppled to the ground; right?
A Yes.
Q That's the first one.
A Yes.

Q And you're saying that in Tyler Mattson's statement that you read that he was taken to the ground, or did you not read that from Tyler Mattson?
A No. I question that because of what I did read.
Q Okay. So, these aren't -- so, whether he was taken -- you are questioning whether he was taken to the ground, but you don't have any evidence to show that he was taken to the ground. Is that what you're saying?
A I'm saying I don't -- I'm asking that because of his own statements to me that don't seem to match up. So, that is my question.
Q Okay. And the statements that don't seem to match up is that they fell over versus they tripped and fell over?
A Well, first Davie fell to the ground, they tripped over each other, they fell together.
Q Okay. And so, you think those are discrepancies?
A I personally do, yes.
Q Okay. And what's the significance of -- even if they are discrepancies, which I'm not --
A What's the significance?
Q Yes.
A My brother is dead, that's the significance.
Q Well, but how they got to the ground, well, how is that significant?

A It's my understanding that they're not allowed to do that.
Q Okay. And if they were not allowed to do -- well, you authorized mechanical restraints in your IPP?
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form, object to the form.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Did you not?
A This was not a mechanical restraint.
Q But mechanical restraints are on the ground, are they not?
A We --
Q Yes or no?
A Mechanical restraints are on the ground?
Q Yes. So --
A But that's with a physical -- with a board. That's not taking a person to the ground and restraining them.
Q Okay. So, I want to --
MR. GILLISPIE: Let her finish her answer.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Are you finished?
MR. GILLISPIE: She wasn't finished.
MR. ROSEN: I don't know how you would know that, but --
THE WITNESS: It's my under --

MR. GILLISPIE: Because she was still talking.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Okay.

A My understanding is that a mechanical restraint involves a papoose board or a smaller type of board. And from everything I've read, there wasn't one there, they didn't intend to do that.

Q Okay.

A So, it was explained to me that they -- there was never -- this is what was explained to me. They were allowed, which we authorized personal restraint. Caleb Murray explained to me because I asked, a personal restraint was holding one or both arms to the side of the body. And I was explained -- I didn't know what a papoose board was when my brother first arrived there.

I was explained that that was a board where they would restrain him physically with a mechanical -- you know, a physical strap of some type of restraint on the ground. I was never told that they are allowed to take him physically to the ground just for the sake of holding them on the ground.

Q Okay. So, let's talk about that. And that's -- I just want to know -- I understand that you have your story and your positions, and you're entitled to that, okay? I just want to know --

MR. GILLISPIE: Have it be exactly the facts, the truth.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q I just want to know the facts upon which those opinions are based.

A I want to know the facts, too.

Q All right. Well, that's why I'm asking you. This is your deposition, and you've made allegations in this lawsuit, and I -- that's what I'm asking about. So, we were talking about the discrepancies that you believe are in Tyler Mattson's statements about whether they fell to the ground or were taken to the ground.

And I want to know, basically, what facts you're relying upon, facts, not your opinions, not -- I want to know what facts so I can write them down as to what you're relying upon when you say that he was, quote, "taken to the ground", unquote.

A I feel like I've answered that, but I'll answer it again. I feel like, by reading the statements of the staff who initiated this, that because of the discrepancies that I read, I feel that those are discrepancies, whether you can call it opinion or fact, but when a story appears to change, that's a discrepancy. So, I feel like, by reading Tyler Mattson's witness statement and deposition, that he can't pinpoint exactly how they ended up on the ground, because he changes that part of his statement.

Q Okay. And to your knowledge, have you or any of your representatives of the claimant stipulated or represented that they just toppled to the ground?

A What do you mean "stipulated"?

Q Have they -- to your knowledge, has it been represented by you or by any of your agents that the way they got to the ground was that they toppled over?

A Has it been represented in what way? I don't understand.

Q I'm just asking you whether you know that or not?

A I don't understand the question. I'm asking, I don't understand.

Q Okay. That's fine. Now, are you aware that the DRA report that's referenced in your Complaint, that the Disability Rights Arkansas is an organization that has publicly taken the position to close every human development center in the state, and they've been saying that for ten years?

A I was not aware of that in the beginning, no.

Q Okay. And so, are you -- did you know -- well, were you aware of any of the -- you mentioned a lawsuit, I believe, in your Complaint. Yes. On page -- in paragraph -- the same paragraph, the next page, it says, "The United States Department of Justice has twice sued the State of Arkansas regarding the failure to provide adequate services and care at its Human Development Centers; however, those cases were dismissed based on procedural grounds." Tell me what you know about that.

A I have a -- what I know about the cases or --

Q Yes. You've alleged them in here.

A I have -- you know, I don't know all the legal terms, but I -- when I felt like my brother was killed and I was not happy with everyone I had reached out to investigate it, I started searching for advocacy groups or any type of groups that investigate abuse and death of people with disabilities. And that's when I first even learned of Disability Rights Arkansas. And I learned of them because I found their report, a report they made around 2015, '16 about a death, and I started reading. So, my knowledge is to the extent of what I've read online that I found.

Q Okay. I'm asking you what you're alleging here about the United States Department of Justice lawsuit that you have referenced in your Complaint.

A Well, I mean, that's why I have a lawyer. I hired a lawyer to handle the legal aspect of this.

Q Okay. But you state in there, it says that these cases were dismissed based upon procedural grounds, you state in there; right?

A Well, those are legal terms that I have left up to my lawyer to interpret.
Q Oh, okay. So, you didn't know -- you don't know anything about that, then, is that what you're saying?
A Know anything about what?
Q The Department of Justice lawsuit?
A Like I have just mentioned, what I know is limited knowledge based on what I've read online when I was researching to find advocacy groups who would investigate my brother's death.
Q Well, then, when you're researching, you saw that the statement in there that they were dismissed on procedural grounds, the main lawsuit wasn't dismissed on procedural grounds, you would know that, you would know that it was -- the State of Arkansas won against the Department of Justice; right?
A What I just said, I have limited knowledge based on what I read. The terminology in this claim I left up -- I put my faith in my lawyer to handle the legal aspect of this claim.
Q So, that allegation, you don't know, is it safe to say, whether it's accurate or not?
A I wouldn't say that.

Q Well, what would you say?
A What exactly I've already said.
Q Well, I don't know what it -- so it --
MR. GILLISPIE: She doesn't know anything about these Department of Justice cases.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Is that a true statement?
A That is a true statement.
Q So, when you -- when you approved the filing of this lawsuit, you didn't have any concerns about whether that statement in there in paragraph eight was true or not?
A Like I said, I hired a lawyer, I have faith in my lawyer, and I have faith that anything that he represented in this claim is based on facts that he investigated and learned himself.
Q Okay. Do you -- do you know anything about any of these -- well, strike that question. So, do you know -- do you have any reason why -- your brother died in 2020; right?
A June 13th, 2020.
Q Okay. And so, the first DRA report that you've referenced in this claim came out in 2015 saying -- calling for the closure of the Booneville Human Development Center?
A Are you asking or are you telling me?

Q Well, that's what it says; right?
MR. GILLISPIE: Sure.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q That's what you've said in your Complaint; right?
A But if you're asking, are you asking is that in this Complaint?
Q Yes.
A Yes, it's right here.
Q Okay. And so, but in 2015, you didn't want it to be closed, did you?
A In 2015 I had no knowledge that someone had died at the facility my brother lived in because no one gave us that information, which I think they should have.
Q Well, did you go out and research it?
A What do you mean?
Q Did you do any due diligence before you continued placing your brother in the human development center each year, did you decide, "Well, maybe this isn't the best place for him"?
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to form.
THE WITNESS: I went by what I saw in person when I visited the place, when I was there in person by my brother, by his -- how he was doing, that's what I based it on.
BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Okay. Your own eyes --
A Sure.
Q -- told you that he was -- that this was the place for your brother?
A From what I could see when I was there, yes.
Q Tell me, what does the word "approximately" mean to you?
A An estimate.
Q Now, in paragraph 22 of the Complaint, do you see -- you use a few words, and I'm going to ask you about that. I'll let you turn to it. Are you there?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Now, you characterized David Cains' behavioral outbursts as a, quote, "temper tantrum", unquote?
A Correct.
Q Okay. Tell me what evidence you have it was a temper tantrum and not an aggressive or violent behavioral outburst.
A Because I had 40 years of experience with my brother, because I had been with him when he has had behavioral incidents when he -- when he, you know, swung his arm out, because of my own experience and my own knowledge.
Q You didn't see him that day, though, when this happened, did you?

A I did not.
Q So, you're characterizing it in your Complaint as a simple temper tantrum; is that correct?
A That's what -- yes.
Q Okay. Do you know what he tried to do to Tyler Mattson?
A I know that -- I know by what I've read in his statement.
Q And what was that?
A Well, that also changed. Because, I mean, he --
Q Well, first of all, tell me what it was, first, and then you can tell me what you think was changed.
A In his original witness statement, from what I recall, he said first David was trying to hit him, that he was cussing and yelling at him.
Q Did he lunge at him?
A That was never in the original statement. That came up in his deposition.
Q Okay. And so, is trying to hit or lunging or any of those things, spitting, is that a temper tantrum, in your mind?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Would you consider -- or do you consider violence and aggression to be a temper tantrum?

A In regards to what?
Q Trying to hit somebody?
A Would you ask that again?
Q Sure. Would you consider violence and trying to hit somebody to be a temper tantrum?
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to form.
THE WITNESS: I don't consider trying to hit someone violence, no.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Oh. Trying to strike at another human being is not violence?
A I don't think, with my brother's capabilities and my knowledge of my entire life, my brother didn't have the capability, because he never had done it, he had never severely injured someone, he had never hurt someone. I've been hit by my brother, I've been spit on by him. I've dealt with his behaviors, my brother has never injured me.
Q Okay. So, tell me about when he -- when did he hit you?
A I mean, there has been -- I've dealt with his behaviors my whole life. And if you happened to be in his line of fire when he swung his arms, you might get hit.
Q Okay. So, is it safe to say that it was on more than one occasion that he hit you?

A I would say on a few occasions.
Q Okay. What about when he spit at you?
A It would maybe be one or two occasions.
Q And what else has he done to you?
A I mean, I wouldn't say he did that to me. I would say he was having a behavior event, and I was there with him. So, no, it wasn't directed at me.
Q And did he ever lunge at you?
A No. My brother -- absolutely not, my brother didn't attack people. If you were in his general area when he was having a behavior event, he would swing his arms, he would pick something up and throw it. He didn't have the physical capability or strength to fight another person, to take on another person, and he never did that, to my knowledge.
Q Well, okay. Okay. But you're aware that he used to break the things in his room, such as the TV and the DVD player and mirrors; right?

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.

THE WITNESS: I'm aware that he broke his TV one time, and he broke approximately two of his radios, that I recall.

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Would that be violent, in your opinion?

A In my opinion? No.
Q Tell me exactly, as the claimant in this lawsuit, what you are alleging here that the Booneville HDC staff did wrong for which there is liability.
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q And I'm going to write it all down so I can just understand it. So, go ahead.
A Would you ask that one more time?
Q Yes. Tell me exactly what you're alleging in this lawsuit that Booneville Human Development staff did wrong for which they should be held liable.
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form. Are you asking her to read the lawsuit to you?
MR. ROSEN: No.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q I'm asking you what did they do wrong? Do you have an opinion as to what they did wrong?
A Yes, I do.
Q Tell me what that is.
A I believe that they used excessive unnecessary physical force to restrain my brother and for a behavior incident that didn't call for that. I believe that they used improper techniques once he was on the ground to continually hold him on the ground, which wasn't necessary. I believe they caused him to -- to choke and to die because of the decisions they made.

Q Well, you're not alleging they actually choked him, are you?
A I'm alleging that because of their restraint and excessive force, that they caused him to choke and die.
Q Okay. And so, was he -- in the lawsuit, you say he was pinned. Tell me what evidence you have that he was pinned to the ground. You used that term "pinned".
A Because the -- the three staff members said -- I have read their witness statements, and by their statements they all say my brother was on his side, and one -- Tyler was in the middle, another girl had his legs, another girl was at his head, and either holding his arms, his wrists, or his head. That's pinned to the ground. If you're holding someone at all three points of their body on the ground and they can't move, that's pinned to the ground.
Q How do you know he couldn't move?
A I mean, their witness statements said they were -- that was their purpose. They said that their purpose was to keep him from kicking his legs, so they held it down. Their purpose was to hold his arms so he couldn't swing. Their purpose was to hold him on the ground. They all three said that that was their purpose.

Q Okay. Anything else?
A Well, I think that that explained it all.
Q Okay.
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form of the last question, "Anything else," I object to the form of that question.
MR. ROSEN: It has already been answered.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. Some of this we've touched on. I only have a few more questions, though.
A Can I take a break?
Q Sure.
MR. ROSEN: And it's -- what time is it?
MR. GILLISPIE: 11:30.
VIDEOGRAPHER: We're off the record at 11:30.
(WHEREUPON, a break was taken.)
VIDEOGRAPHER: We're back on the record at 11:42.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. During the break, did you speak to anybody about the questions I've asked?
A No.
Q Now, I just have a few more questions about -- you're seeking money damages here; is that correct?

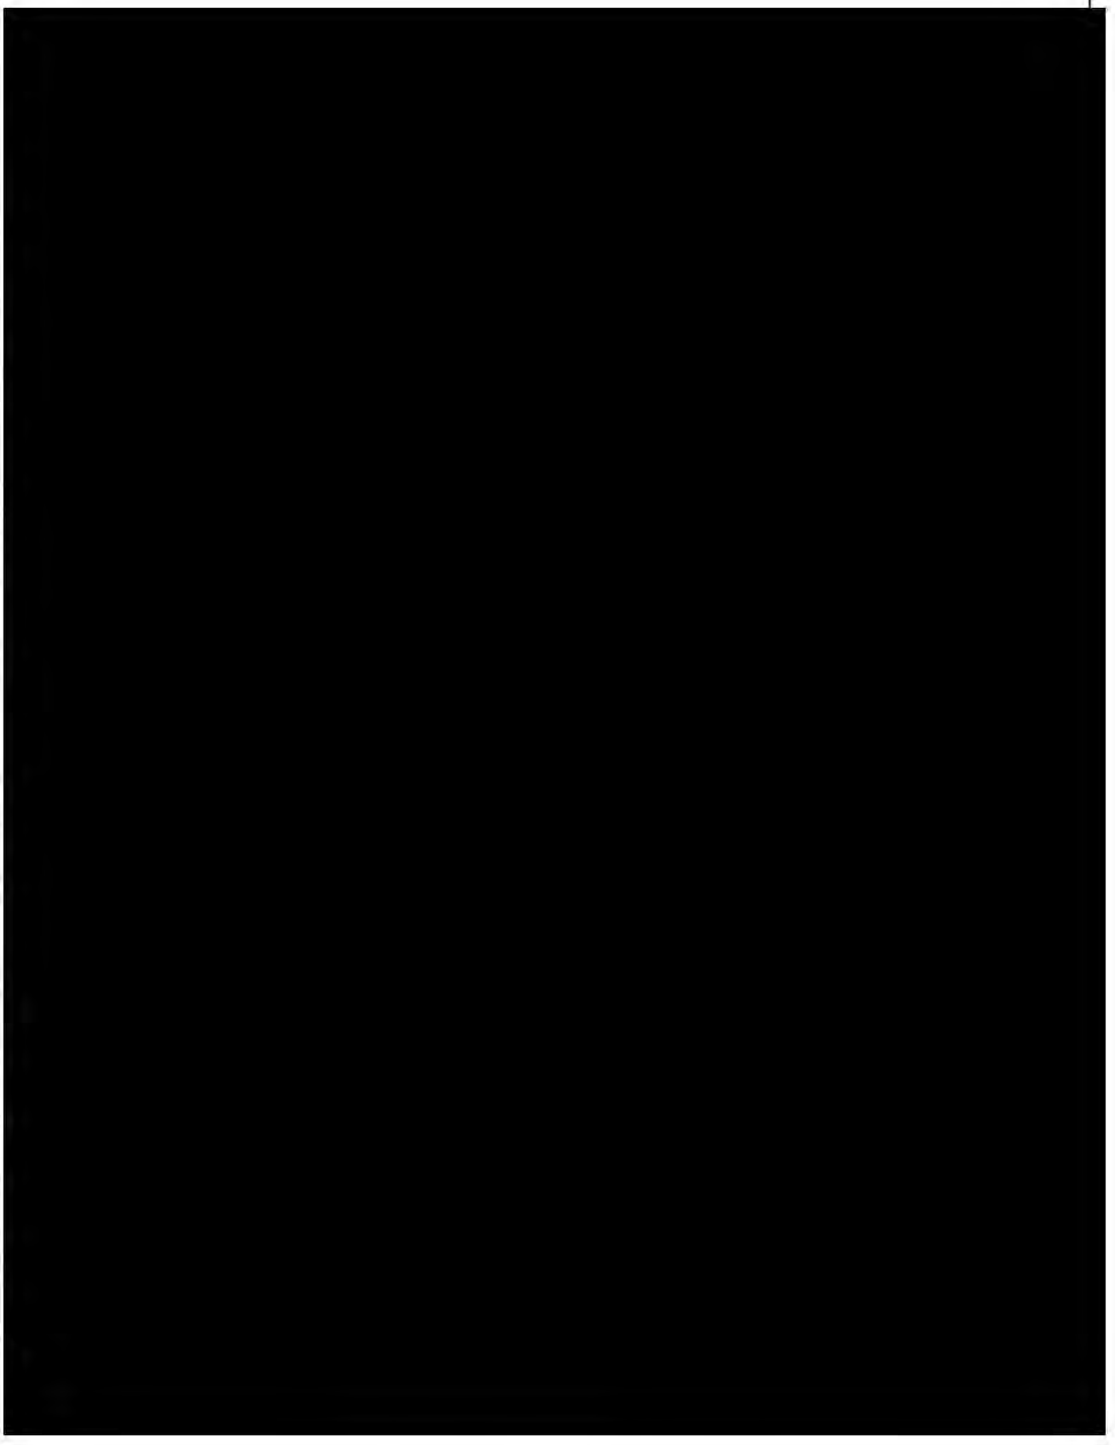
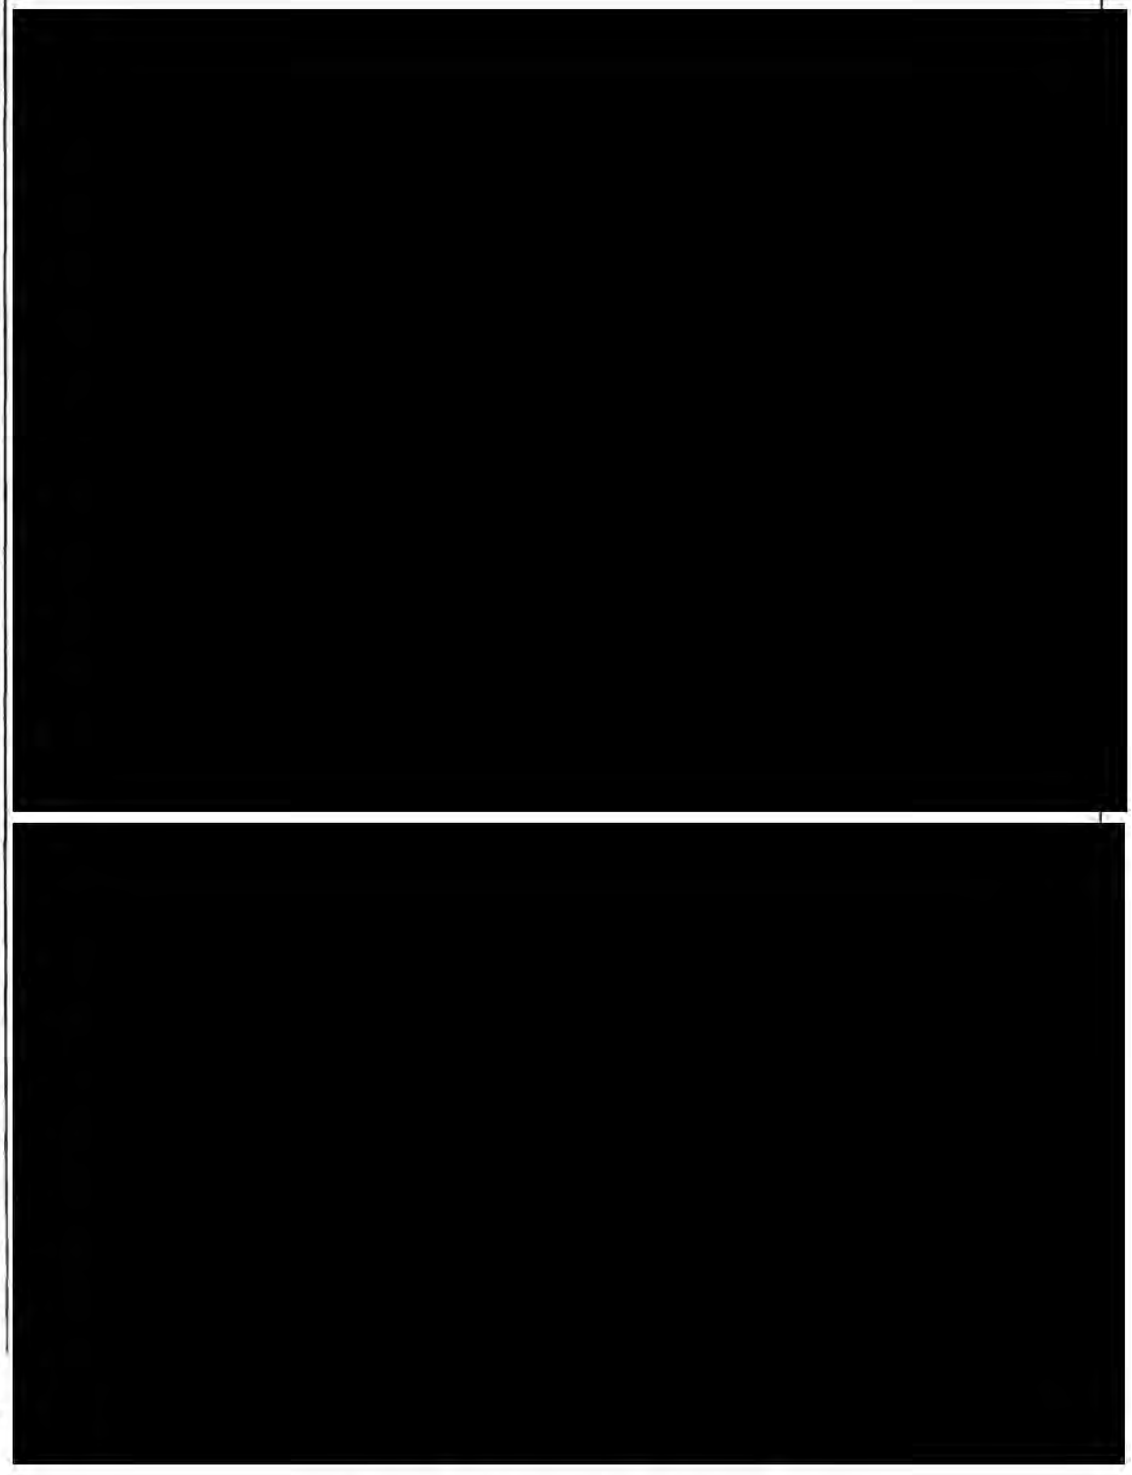
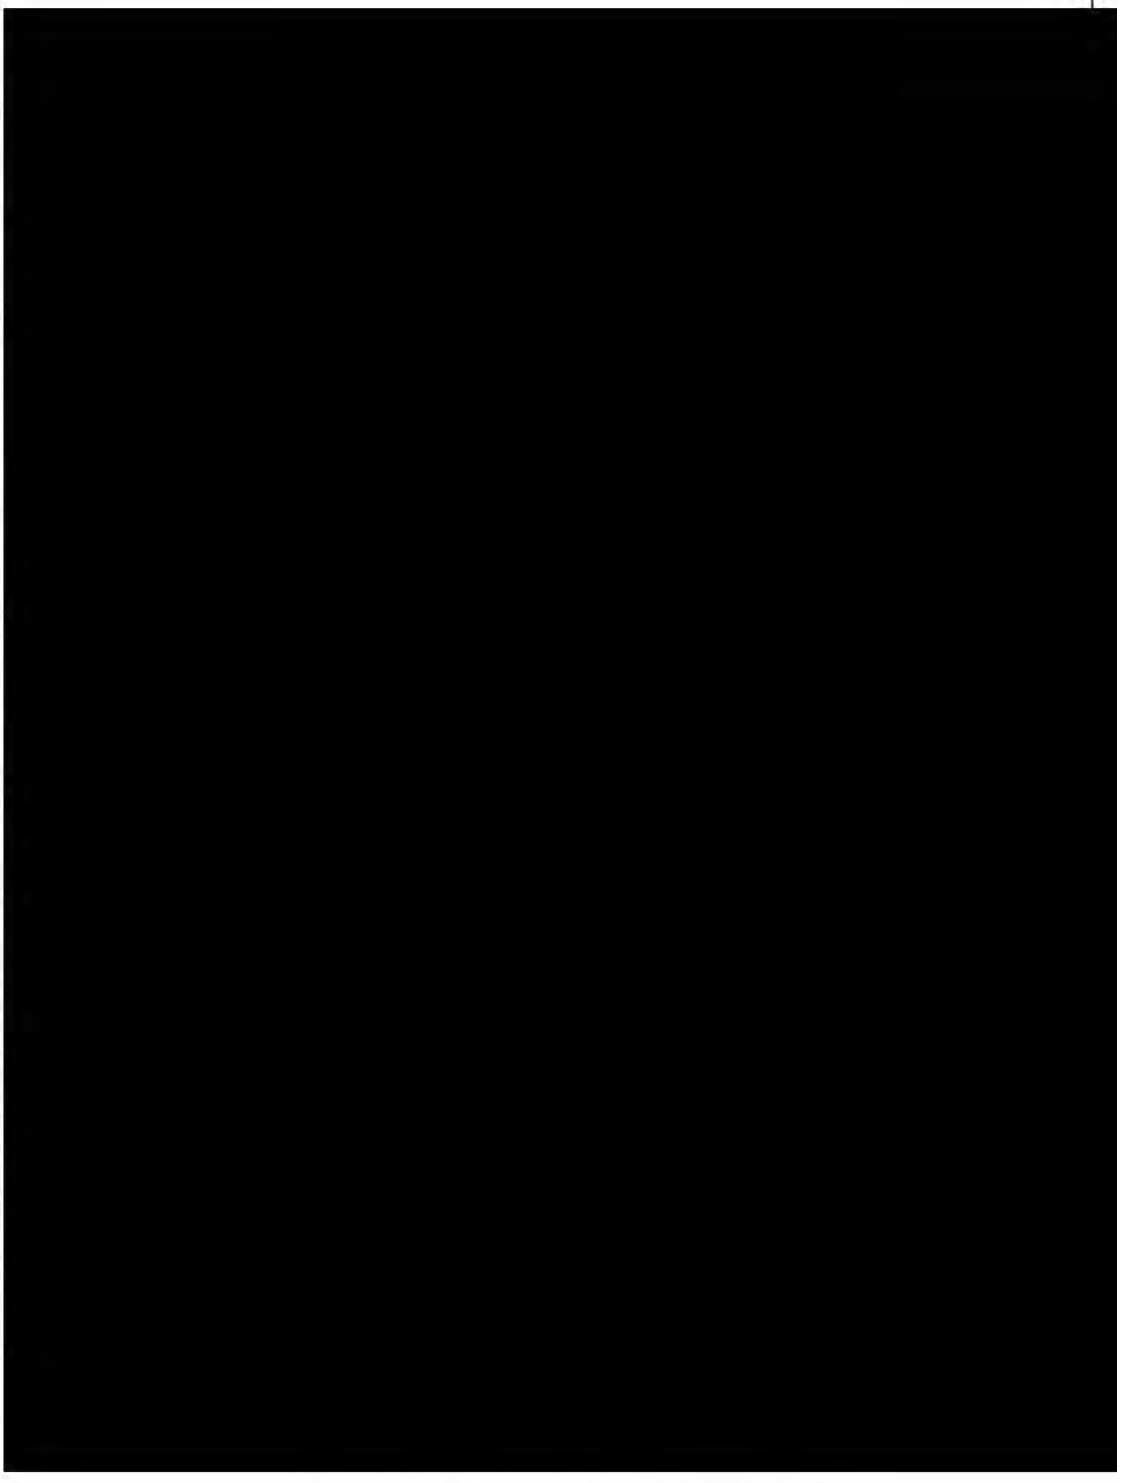
A That's part of the claim.
Q Okay. What's the other parts of the claim?
A My claim -- I mean --
Q Go ahead. I mean, what are you seeking here, is what I'm asking?
A I mean, there's a monetary amount attached to the claim, but I have left all that up to my lawyer.
Q Okay. So, your lawyer quantified it in discovery. You've left that all up to him?
A Yes.
Q Okay. So, let me talk about -- we've talked about a lot of things here today, but now I want to talk about -- kind of more about you, okay? And I know you live in Vermont.
A Yes.
Q Okay. So, your -- David Cains died in June of 2020?
A Correct.



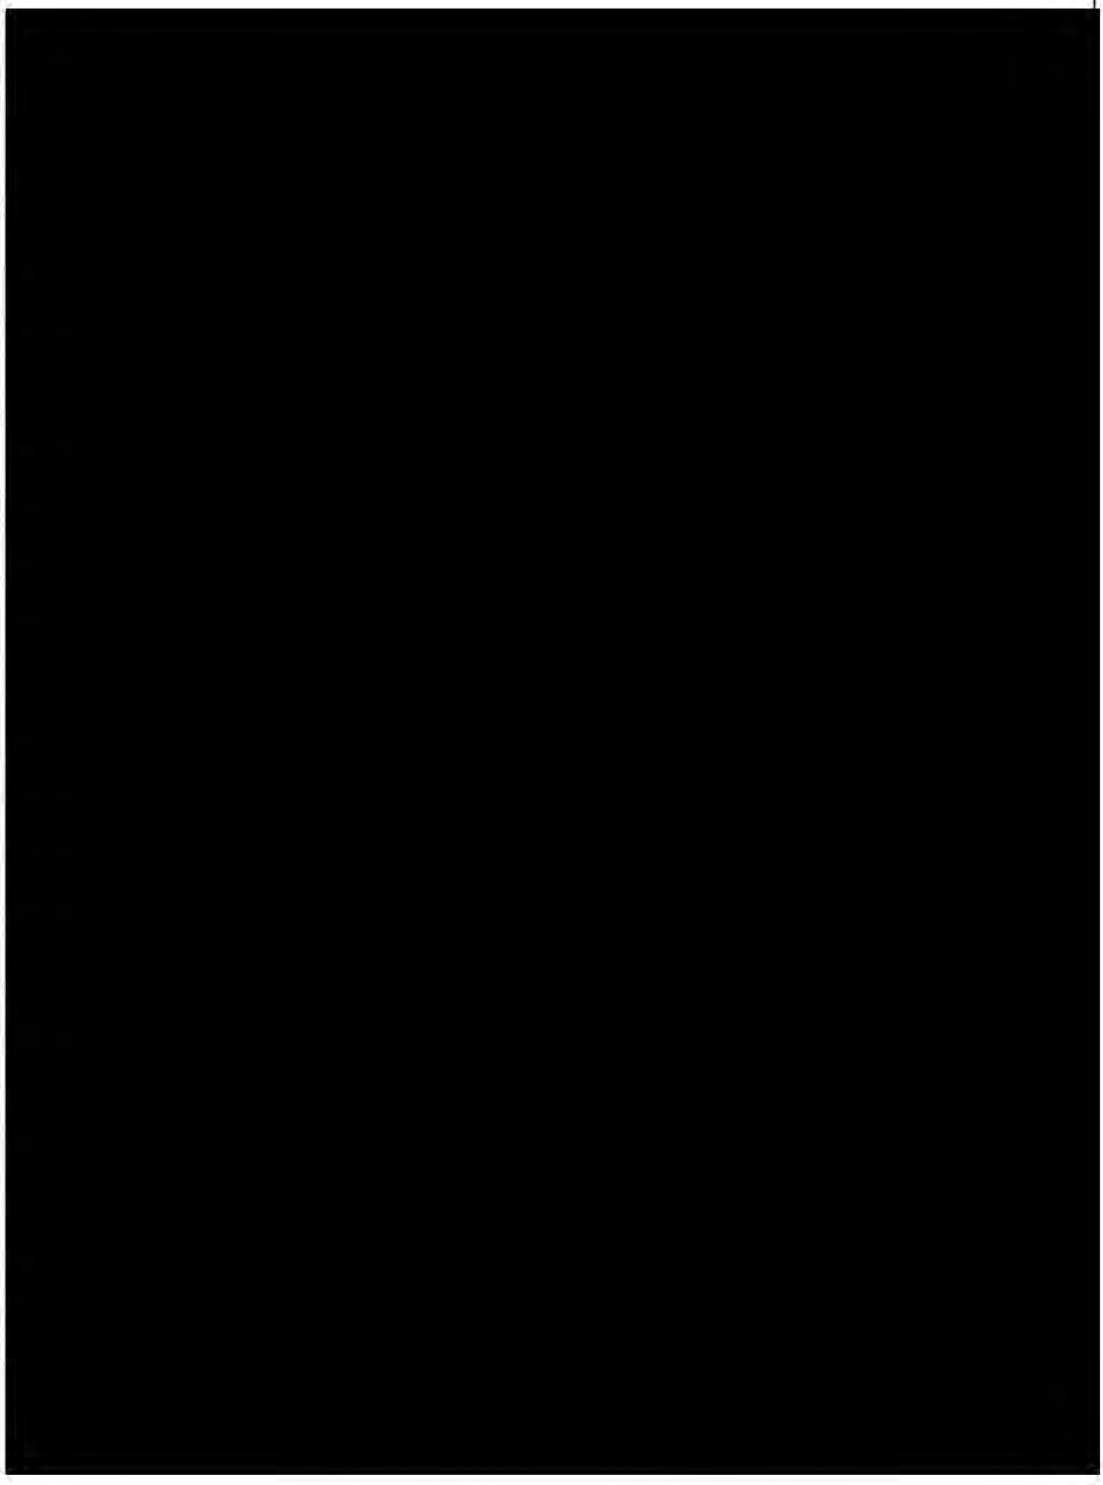
[redacted]



[redacted]



Q Okay. Then we don't have to talk about it.



A Okay.

[redacted]

[redacted]

(WHEREUPON, there was a telephone interruption.)

MR. ROSEN: We will just wait for a second.

MR. GILLISPIE: I'm sorry. It's not supposed to ring. I apologize.

MR. ROSEN: It's all right. It happens.

MR. GILLISPIE: Even though it did ring. It's bizarre.

BY MR. ROSEN:

[redacted]

[redacted]

A I mean, my whole life has changed since my brother is not here.

Q Okay. Tell me how that changed.

A I mean, my brother was three years older than me and, you know, we -- so he was literally there my whole life, and he was like my best friend. He was kind of like a kid to me. I had step-kids. I don't have my own kids. But my brother, because he was so child-like, he was like my best friend, he was like, you know, a child, I was protective of him.

But for our whole life, I mean, we were always -- we had a special bond, and he was probably the person, you know, that I was closest to in my family. Like, we just -- we have always been that close. And the months after his death, it was just -- it was hard to deal with, like losing that connection.

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q But physically, he was a man; right?
A I mean, he was tall.
Q And big?
A Yes. But he didn't have the strength of a grown man, no. I mean, you -- it's misleading to say he was a man. I mean --
Q Well, I mean, chronologically and physically he was six something feet tall; right?
A Yeah, he was 6'2".
Q 6'2" and he weighed --
A Yes.
Q -- you said 250 pounds?
A That's right. But when you said, but he didn't have the -- when you think about a man who is 6'2" and 250 pounds, you think about a strong, big man. And my brother wasn't physically strong.
Q How do you know that?
A Because I know that, because I grew up with him, because I've been on the receiving end of his punch, I've been with him when we played in the yard, when we had to do the work at home, and he couldn't do a lot of things. He didn't have the dexterity, he didn't have the capability.

Q Okay. Let me ask this, switch a little bit. And did you pay for the funeral?
A I borrowed money from two of my uncles, and so yes.
Q Okay. So, the answer is "yes", you did pay?
A Yes.
Q And how much was that?
A I believe it was around, for just the funeral, over $6,000.00, from what I recall.
Q And what type of -- and was that here in Arkansas?
A It was at the funeral home in Booneville. So, he was buried in our family cemetery in Atkins, Arkansas.
Q Okay.

MR. ROSEN: And I can't remember, counsel, have you supplied the funeral bill to us?

MR. GILLISPIE: I'm pretty sure.

MR. ROSEN: I don't remember seeing it.

MR. GILLISPIE: Yes. As far as I know, we have.

MR. ROSEN: Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: If there's something else that we're missing, let me know and I'll certainly do that.

MR. ROSEN: Okay. If -- well, I'll check, because I haven't seen it.

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Other than what you mentioned, the funeral bill, are there any other expenses that you're claiming in this lawsuit?
A What do you mean, as related to burying him or -- I don't understand.
Q I'm asking you about the expenses.
A The expenses for after his death, for his funeral, his headstone.
Q How much was his headstone?
A I believe around $1,100.00, $1,200.00.
MR. ROSEN: Have you provided that? If not, we can talk about that.
MR. GILLISPIE: I think we provided all of it.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q And who paid for that?
A I did. Well, I mean, I paid for it, but we received money -- actually, my brother, part of his money that they gave us from the HDC, because he had a job. So, after he passed away, they sent us what was left in his account.
Q Okay. How much was left?
A My mom received that check. I want to say, as an estimate, maybe around $300.00 to $500.00.

Q Okay. So, that was his money that was used -- part of it was used to pay the funeral?
A That amount. But the rest of it, I paid for.
Q Okay. So, let's change subjects a little bit, then, and just a few more questions. You had mentioned that you had spoken to Disability Rights Arkansas, or what we call DRA. When did you first speak to them, and who did you speak with?
A I left -- when I learned of who they were, and I reached out to them, I left a voice mail, and I believe it was around July 4th weekend in 2020, I received a call from his advocate. I believe it was Kris Stewart. I believe she's the only one, that initial call, and then she has like continued to speak with us.
Q And how many communications did you have with her?
A We spoke on the phone, we exchanged e-mails. I would have to make a guess, 15 or 20, approximate.
Q Approximately?
A Fifteen or 20, approximate, maybe between e-mails and speaking on the phone.
Q And did she -- during those conversations, did she ever -- well, did -- so, wait a minute. You said 15 or 20 e-mails?
A That's -- well, and phone calls, most of them.
Q Okay. Total?

A Total.
Q Okay. Between the two?
A Yes.
Q And did she e-mail anything, any documents to you, or statements to you?
A The only thing I remember that she e-mailed me, I had to sign some type of -- I don't know even what it was called. Giving information basically to investigate on my brother's behalf, from what I understood, some type. That's the only thing I remember her e-mailing to me.
Q Okay. Did she ultimately give you a report of some sort?
A Oh, she did. Yes. You're right.
Q Okay.
A She did give me her final report.
Q Okay. And so, did the final report include the witness statements that you've mentioned that you saw?
A No. It was -- I already had those.
Q Oh. Where did you get those?
A I got them from DHS. I requested them.
Q I'm talking DRA.
A Oh, from their witness?
Q Yes.
A No, I never saw their report.
MR. ROSEN: Well, I'm moving all these be introduced that we identified, all the exhibits. And at this point in time I have no other questions. Thank you very much.

CROSS EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Chrissie, while we're still kind of -- well, strike that. When you say that your brother lacked the strength and you used the word "dexterity" to do violence to another person in the same way that a person his size of normal intelligence and normal intellectual development could do, what do you mean?

A I mean, like my brother, he couldn't -- you know, he couldn't ball up his fist and aim it and land it on you and hit you. Anytime I witnessed my brother, it was just, you know, swinging his arms. And when he did hit you -- like I've been hit by my brother, it never even left a bruise. He just -- he didn't physically have that capability. Like even little tasks, picking things up and moving them, opening jars, those types of things, he didn't have the strength to do a lot of that. I would have to do it or my mom, somebody would have to do it for him, those types of tasks, you know.

Q Like opening a pickle jar?

A Like a pickle jar, because he loved pickles, actually. So, we would have these big, huge jars that we would have to open because he couldn't do it.

Q Claussen or Vlasic?
A I think he liked the Kroger brand, actually.
Q I had a roommate in college, and that was a debate, sometimes a fight. He couldn't open a pickle jar?
A Not on his own, no.
Q Okay. Well, did he have any athletic skills?
A No. Actually, it was -- I mean, we would joke about that. I mean, when we were little kids, we would play in the yard and stuff. But he was always -- he was terrible at sports. I mean, I played sports, I loved it. And we would play ball in the back yard with our dad, but he couldn't -- he would wear my dad's baseball glove on the wrong hand, he couldn't catch a ball, and he couldn't throw it and actually, you know, get it to a person.

Throughout his life he always participated in Special Olympics, and actually one of the last years that he was there, it's one of my favorite memories of him, I didn't tell him I was coming, it was at the Booneville High School. And because if I couldn't make it, I didn't want him to be upset. So, I get there and I'm in the stands, and I don't know how he saw me, but in the middle of the field, somehow he saw me and yelled, "Yeehaw," like he was taking a hat off, which he didn't have on. And he said, "There's my sister, there's my sister." He yelled it. But so, it was just really funny.

Q Did everybody turn and look at you?
A Yes. Everybody was like -- because he was loud, like you could hear it, and -- but after that, he had -- he did different events, he was never -- he got a ribbon because he participated. But that particular year is the only time I remember he actually won a race. And I have a picture of that. It's one of my favorite ones, because he came up to me afterwards and he was so proud.

And he said, "Look, did you see me, Chrissie, I ran fast as hell." And I mean, he was just -- but like I said, his whole life, he was in his 30s and he -- you know, he participated, but he never -- you know, he wasn't really good at it.
Q Is that a favorite memory of your brother?
A That's probably one of my favorite memories, just because he was so happy and so proud of himself. Because he literally never, I don't think ever, won anything.
Q Okay. And that was towards the end of his life?
A Well, no. That was towards the beginning of him moving to Booneville.
Q Okay.
A So, he was in his, probably, mid, early 30s.
Q Okay. What are some -- do you have an other -- are there any other stories about Davie that stick out in your mind as favorite?

A I mean, it would be hard to pick one, because he just -- he was a character, but --
Q Tell us about him.
A Oh. And he was really funny and outgoing. He didn't like violence. He never -- anybody that was around him would tell you he never stopped talking. I mean, even when he went to the bathroom, he never stopped talking. So, he -- I guess one of my favorite stories is, you know, me and mom were probably the two closest people to him, but we still had different relationships.

My mom was his mother, you know, I was his sister. So, he could always get, you know, extra stuff out of my mom. And he knew that I wouldn't do that. Like we would buy him dinner, and he would be at the HDC and we would take him out for the day, we would always get him dinner for later, and he would get a Big Mac meal and a Diet Coke.

Well, he would always talk her into getting him an extra cheeseburger, too. But I wouldn't do that when he was with me, but he knew he could get my mom to buy him, you know, an extra cheeseburger. But -- yes.
Q Is this at McDonald's?
A This was -- yes, this was at McDonald's, I think, when he --

Q Did he always order the Big Mac meal at McDonald's?
A He always. He was very much a creature of habit, he -- and but he was just very, you know, sweet. When he first came to the HDC, we would get him sugar-free snacks, sugar-free sodas. And they would let him keep them in his room. But he would give them away to everybody. So, he had to start -- they would put it in the hall closet and ration it out to him. He was just -- he was just funny and he was a happy guy.
Q Did he love food?
A Yeah, he loved food. That was -- when we were eating lunch, he would say, "Hey, what are we having for dinner," I mean, while we were eating lunch. That was probably -- eating was one of his favorite things.
Q And did you say that at McDonald's he would get the Big Mac meal, but then he would try to get you to get him an extra cheeseburger?
A A little cheeseburger. I would never do it, because I would tell him, "You don't need that," but he could always talk my mom, you know, into getting it -- or at Wal-Mart, like if we would go in there, I would give him a $10.00 limit. I would say, you know, "You can pick whatever you want, a hat, a CD," when they still had CDs, and stuff like that, and he knew he had that. If we would go with my mom he could always get a little extra.

So, if I tried to go to Wal-Mart with him, he would say, "No, no, you stay here," because he didn't want me to talk, you know, my mom out of it.

Q Were you his favorite person?

A I would like to think -- probably me and mom, you know. I would like to think we were definitely his two favorite people. I mean, I feel like me and him had a really special relationship that he didn't have with anybody else. And I feel like, of our childhood and, you know, we went through some pretty traumatic things together, and nobody else experienced that. I feel like that definitely bonded us, and I just -- it's hard to explain, but his disability as far as our relationship, you know, it didn't factor in as far as personality. You know, we still had that connection. And that's, you know, what I miss the most.

Q Real quick on this. You mentioned what you went through as children, are you referring to your father's murder?

A Yes.

Q And very briefly, since it was addressed earlier, do you have an understanding as to why your father was murdered?

A Yes, I do.

Q Okay. What is that?

A Well, my father had become -- I don't know all the circumstances, but he became a confidential informant for law enforcement, and he was supposed to testify on September 5th, '91 against a few men that -- it all was related to drugs and drug trafficking. And he was murdered the day before he was supposed to testify.
Q Okay. So, is it your understanding he was killed to prevent him from testifying?
A Yes.
Q And you testified earlier that you later -- years later testified against the man who killed him?
A Yes.
Q Did you come to learn that there was a connection -- did you come to learn that that man had been involved with the person or persons your father was set to testify against?
A That has never been substantiated as far as factual basis. But there were things that happened later on, other people who were arrested, that have told that story. This man still, you know, declared his innocence and he doesn't -- he has never admitted that, but there are other people who were arrested later on who had told law enforcement that he was hired to do that.
Q Okay. To prevent your father from testifying?
A Yes.

Q Okay. Against some drug dealers, is your understanding?
A Yes.
Q Okay. What are some other things that Davie loved? And actually, let me stop you there. We've been referring to him as David Cains. He was Davie to you; right?
A He was Davie to me and my family and my close friends. We never called him David.
Q Okay. And what are some other things that Davie loved besides -- aside from his sister and food?
A He just -- he loved music. Everybody that has been around him for five minutes knows he loved the Monkees, because he would listen to it 24/7 every day. That's not even an exaggeration. I'm sure the people at Booneville would tell you that. But, you know, ever since he was a little kid --
Q And how did he come to love the Monkees? Being, you know, born in the late '70s, he was -- the Monkees were around in the '60s. How did he discover the Monkees?
A Me and my brother, when we were kids, we watched Nick At Nite all the time. We didn't -- you know, that's about all we watched. So, I remember me and him, we watched things like I Love Lucy, The Monkees, Leave It To Beaver, those types of shows. And for whatever reason, he just -- he just latched onto the Monkees and the rest is -- you know, he never stopped.

Q He got himself some CDs and that was it, huh?
A Yeah. CDs, tapes, vinyl records, he had them all, DVDs.
Q Was there a particular Monkees song that he favored?
A Yeah. There were two, Not Your Stepping Stone and Last Train to Clarksville. And actually, thankfully, I have a few videos of him, he would play tambourine, and he had some maracas I had gotten him from Central America, and I actually have a few videos of him playing those, and one of my friends playing them with him, which he did all the time, you know.
Q He played the tambourine?
A I mean, he made noise. I don't know if you would call it playing. But he played the tambourine and the maracas, and -- yeah.
Q And was the tambourine something he associated with the Monkees?
A Yes, yeah.
Q I vaguely remember those reruns of that. What else did he -- what else was he into?
A He loved the Dukes of Hazzard. He probably -- we would buy him, you know, DVD sets. And he probably had 300 DVDs, but he always watched -- and he would buy them with his own money, but he always watched the same things, you know. And so, just like he listened to the Monkees on repeat, he would watch the Dukes of Hazzard on repeat, except for one season that had the cousins, Coy and Vance, which he would say, he would say, "I hate them", because they weren't going with the Dukes. So, he would watch all of the DVDs except the season that had those two on it.

Q So, Bo and Luke were the main guys?

A Yeah.

Q And then, at the end of the -- are you saying at the end of the show those main actors left and they were played by some cousins?

A That was part of the storyline somewhere in there. And he wouldn't watch those, because he said he hated them, and they weren't Bo and Luke.

Q I bet a lot of people did.

A Yeah.

Q I don't remember the show that well.

A Yeah.

Q I bet a lot of people did.

A Yeah. So, I mean, he loved music, he loved, you know, DVDs, watching TV, he loved food, he loved -- really, he loved -- he was very social. He loved making people laugh and being around people. He didn't like being alone, he didn't like silence. He just -- I don't know. He just -- he loved those things, he loved being a part of something, you know. I feel like, you know, being part of -- he had friends. I don't know how to explain it.

Q And is it fair to say that the Booneville Human Development Center provided him a lot of those things?

A I feel like overall, you know, and before -- you know, until his death, that overall he did well there. I mean, he -- he would -- like he loved -- he had his own friends, and he was friends with a lot of the staff, and I feel like, you know, they loved him, too. And he was very social. He would sit in the TV room and just talk to people. He would walk around, you know, he didn't like being, you know, still or quiet.

So, I feel like overall they gave him that. He had a job, because he was proud of that. He would talk about, "Oh, I've got to go to work Monday." Sometimes he would stay with us an extra day or something, but he was like, "Oh, got to go see my friends, I've got to get back to work," you know. So, I feel like, you know, most of the time, in general, that that place gave him all those things he deserved.

I mean, he deserved to have a -- you know, I hate to use those words, but a normal life, like he would have had independence, he had his own room, his own friends that were separate from, you know, me and my mom. And I wanted that for him, and I was happy that he seemed to excel there.

Q And as far -- are you saying that -- or is it true to say that as far as you knew, he was happy there?

A Yes. I mean, I think a lot of people that I -- you know, I've read this in their statements, like Davie, you could tell as his demeanor, I mean, he was a happy-go-lucky guy, and I feel like, you know, the majority of the time he -- yeah, he loved being there. I feel like he had two homes. He called Russellville his home, where me and, you know, where my mom was, and he called Booneville his home. So, I feel like he actually -- he enjoyed it there.

Q He was well liked there, as I understand it. Is that your understanding, as well?

A That's my understanding. Anyone we ever -- I mean, we had different relationships with different staff because, you know, they would change. But some of the people that they were there a long time, they never had anything but nice things to say about him. His laugh, his smile, how funny he was, you know, all the same things that we loved about him.

Q You mentioned Russellville was also his home. When would he come to Russellville? I mean, from the time -- during the time he -- during the years he lived at Booneville, when would he come stay with family in Russellville?
A He came home for every Thanksgiving and Christmas, he came home for his birthday every year, even if it wasn't like on his actual birthday, he came home for that purpose. He would also -- he would come for random other visits through the years. And then, also, when he wasn't -- when we didn't bring him home, we would go up there and visit him for the day, take him out. So, I mean, it was pretty often, I think.
Q Did you still, after moving to Vermont, make a point to see your brother in person?
A Yeah. I mean, that was something that was like nonnegotiable. I mean, at the time, he was my boyfriend, he's my husband now, but that was a discussion, and just for me personally, like, "Listen," I said, you know, "Financially, whatever I've got to do, I have to make sure that I can see my brother, you know, every couple months, and fly home, drive home, you know, make it work around working." That's what I did. To me, it was important, but I know it was important to Davie, too.
Q Did you actually do that, come back to Arkansas every two to three months?

A I did, yes. Once I moved to Vermont, yes, I came back to Arkansas to see Davie every two or three months. There might have been, you know, a six -- you know, a month here where I came a month later, but I made it a point to continue to do that.
Q And --
A And we also called him every week. We sent him stuff in the mail. You know, there was all kinds of forms of, you know, communication.
Q I know you and your husband both work. But you're not wealthy people?
A No.
Q Were those plane tickets -- would you drive or fly when you would come back?
A Both. I mean, it just depended. Honestly, to drive either way is 24 hours, you know, so it would take two days to get there and two days to get back. So, whether I drove or flew just had to do with work, you know, how much time I could take to drive.
Q Was it a significant financial expense for you and your husband when you would fly to Arkansas?
A I mean, I don't know if I would characterize it as significant, but, yeah, I mean, it was some -- it was significant enough that I had to budget that. And before

I moved, I made sure I started saving up money so I had money set aside to make sure that no matter what happened, I was always able to come home.

Q Okay. Yes, you were part of -- well, scratch that. Were you ever told by anyone at Booneville about specifically how they could personally restrain your brother? In other words, were you ever told specifically what techniques were allowed and what techniques you thought you were approving?

A I had a conversation, I don't know how many years ago. I didn't understand all of their restraints many years ago, and someone explained to me what they each meant. Like I wasn't aware of what the papoose board even was for, that was mechanical. The most recent is, I had -- I actually had a conversation with Caleb Murray to clarify. And it was around the time -- I wanted him to clarify again, to make sure I understood. It was around the time of his last IPP.

Q Okay. In 2019?

A In 2019. And he explained to me what a chemical, you know, restraint was, what it meant by personal restraint.

Q Did he explain to you what "personal restraint" meant?

A He told me a personal restraint meant holding one or both arms to a person's side by their arms and their wrist.

Q Were you aware of any other form of personal restraint, or was that the only personal restraint that was explained to you?

A That's the only thing that was explained to me.

Q Were you ever -- were you ever told that your brother would or could be restrained on the ground, in a personal restraint on the ground?

A No. I was only explained that a papoose board was obviously on the ground, but I was never told that there was any type of holding someone on the ground.

Q As far as you know, was your mother ever told that?

A Not as far as I know.

Q Okay. Were you ever told of the policy that was in place at the time whereby -- at Booneville whereby only medical staff could call 911?

A I was never aware of that prior to my brother's death.

Q Okay. Had you been made aware of that, would that have caused you concern?

A Yes, absolutely.

Q Had you been made aware that your brother was maybe restrained on the ground for -- held on the ground in a personal restraint, would that have caused you concern?

A It definitely would have, because when I learned of what the papoose boards were, I actually had multiple conversations. I was concerned that I didn't -- I didn't like the idea of it, and I -- that's why in the initial conversation was to explain to me why those were even used. So, I was concerned with that type of restraint. I feel like I would have been concerned with any restraint holding him to the ground.
Q Okay. I only have a couple more questions, Chrissie. But I am correct that you know how -- you know how your brother died?
A I mean --
Q Scratch that. Did your brother -- is it your understanding that your brother choked and suffocated on his own vomit?
A It's my understanding that that happened while he was being restrained, yes.
Q And is one of the things that you have discussed with your counselor, or one of the issues you had in dealing with the loss of your brother his -- what you imagined his last minutes to be like?
A Yeah, I mean --
MR. ROSEN: Objection, leading.
THE WITNESS: One of the things that actually --

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Let me rephrase that. Do you ever think about your brother's last moments?

A Yeah. I think about my brother every day, and I wouldn't say at this point, a few years later, I think about how he died every day, but I mean, especially the month, you know, the year after, I mean, it's still something -- I try not to let myself go there now, because, you know, just thinking that my brother's last moments were on the ground choking to death, I just can't imagine that there's a worse death than that, gasping for air and choking.

And then to add to it that there was three people that he presumably knew and trusted, I just can't imagine how scared he was and what that was like for him. And so, that has been a really hard part of -- I mean, it would have been hard, obviously, losing him, but knowing, it upsets me just because, you know, he's a human being, just to know that that's how his story ended, it -- I mean, it breaks my heart.

Q Why did you -- ultimately, why did you bring this suit?

A I feel like my brother shouldn't have died that day, first of all. I feel like I went through the proper chain of command, I went to get answers of, I feel like, we were purposely misled and just flat out lied to about how he died. It was withheld from us that there was even a restraint, and the behaviors. And in my experience, especially with Caleb Murray, he always told us about these before he ever had an incident report, he was always forthcoming.

Q Okay.

A So, we didn't learn about that until it was too late to get an autopsy.

Q Chrissie, what I would like for you to do, please, is, if you will, take us step by step through what you recall from the moment you got a call informing you about your brother's death up until the point you started reaching out to lawyers.

Q That Saturday, June 13th, 2020, I had gone to town to go grocery shopping. I was a couple miles from my home. My uncle called me, and I answered and he just said, "Davie died." I said, "What are you talking about?" He said, "Davie died." I said, "Davie who?" I was confused, and he just kept saying, "Davie."

He was obviously hysterical. I said, "What do you mean, my brother, Davie?" He said, "Yeah, he's dead." I said, "What are you talking about?" He said, "Your mom" -- you know, "Your mom was called today, they told her that he choked while eating his lunch, they tried to do the Heimlich, they couldn't get his throat clear, they took him, you know, to the hospital, but he was dead."

And it was -- I mean, it was pretty -- you know, wasn't the best way -- I mean, there's no best way to get that information, but, you know, my uncle was hysterical, too. So, I said, "Where's my mom?" He said, "She's hysterical right now. She can't talk on the phone. She asked me to call you." So, I hung up the phone, I was a few miles from home, I wanted to get home as fast as I could to my husband.

And, I mean, I was -- you know, I was sick to my stomach, I couldn't make any phone calls, I was crying. My husband actually talked to my uncle. I had reached out to a friend to make it to Russellville to go sit with my mom. My husband booked a ticket for me to come home. I came into town, flew to Little Rock that Monday.

Somehow we found out my brother's body was sent to the Robertson Funeral Home in Booneville. My uncle made arrangements for us all to meet there. As soon as I got into town, I met them in Russellville. On our way to the funeral home that Monday, I stopped -- we stopped at the Logan County EMS paramedics to get a copy of the report.

Q Why did you do that?

A Because my brother was -- just wasn't a choking hazard, so I was confused. I wanted to know what happened. I got that report, and that's the first thing I saw that didn't make sense. It said they were told he was found in the hall. So, we got to the funeral home. Caleb Murray --

Q Are you saying your family was told that your brother died after -- died while -- after choking on his lunch?

A Yes, that's what we were told initially.

Q Okay.

A Yeah. So, when I got that EMT report, it said they were told he was found in the hall. So, I was confused by that. Caleb Murray, his case manager, met us at the funeral home because we had asked him to bring some of Davie's clothes. And his supervisor was with him. She introduced herself. She -- I don't know her, I don't remember her name. She said she was new, she didn't even know Davie. I don't know why she was there, but she was.

We thought -- I had the report in my hand, I showed it to Caleb Murray, and said, "I don't -- why does this say he was found in the hall?" I said, "Y'all told us he choked while eating lunch. What happened?" I said, you know, "This doesn't make sense." And all he said is, "I don't know, I don't know, I wasn't there. It was Saturday, I wasn't there." I said, "Well, you know, this doesn't make sense to me."

After that, we started worrying about coming up with the money for the funeral, planning the funeral. We had the funeral that Friday. During that week, I had actually talked to Caleb Murray a few times on the phone, just trying to get answers. I said, "Listen, I don't understand." I said, "Can you walk me through this?" He told me, you know, "I don't know, I wasn't there." That's all he would say. He wouldn't answer me.

He actually showed up to the funeral with a few other staff members, Audra, the one Davie was really close to, and a few other people my mother knew but I didn't really remember. And I asked him that Friday, since it was during COVID, they had brought a lot of Davie's stuff, because we weren't allowed to go to the facility.

I asked him again, I said, "Listen, I don't -- I mean, we need someone to tell us what happened." He told me there was an investigation and it was concluded and we would get a paper in the mail so that --

Q Did you know what he was talking about?

A No. I just -- at the time I assumed because it was a state facility and my brother died, I just assumed it was probably protocol that they did some type of investigation. At that time I didn't, you know, think that was out of the ordinary. That Monday or Tuesday, my mom called me and she received the synopsis of what had happened.

And she -- all they said was, "You're not going to like this." She told -- she read it to me, and that's when we first learned that it talked about a behavior event, a restraint. That was the first time we heard anything of it.

Q That's the very first time --

A That's the very first time.

Q -- that you and your mother ever heard the word "restraint" used related to his death?

A Restraint, restraint or behavior incident.

Q And that -- your mom received that letter --

A A week --

Q -- approximately nine or ten days after his death?

A Yes.

Q And had Davie been -- had the funeral occurred, had Davie been buried at that point?

A Yes.

Q And how long had Davie been buried at that point?

A His funeral was that Friday, the 19th, and my mother received that paper that Monday or Tuesday.

Q Okay. And that was the -- again, that was the very first time you or your mother learned that there had been a restraint incident involved in his death?

A Yes.
Q What did you do then?
A I immediately called Caleb Murray, and I wasn't very nice. I said, you know, "This is ridiculous. Why did nobody tell us this?" I said, "Why is this the first we're learning of this?" All he said was, "I don't know, I wasn't" -- he just keep repeating the same thing, "I don't know, I wasn't there. I don't know." I said, "Well, somebody needs to give me some answers."
He said, you know, "I can't answer anything for you." I said, "Well, then, who do I need to talk to?" He gave me the number of Jeff Gonyea. I left multiple messages with him, he never returned my call. I finally, I think on the third try, he picked up the phone, I had a conversation with --
Q Was this over a period of days that you tried to get ahold of Mr. Gonyea?
A This was over a period of a few days. Jeff Gonyea.
Q G-O-N-Y-E-A.
A I mean, I finally spoke with Jeff Gonyea. I said all those same things. I said, "You know, this is the first we have heard about a restraint, a behavior." I said, "Why is this, why has nobody told us this?" I said, "I need to see, you know, reports, investigation, whatever you have. I want someone to explain this to me."

He said, "I can't help you or give you any of that information." I said, "Well, then, who can?" He directed me to Tammy Bimbrook, he gave me her number.

Q Mr. Gonyea gave you no explanation whatsoever?

A None, no.

Q He would answer no questions?

A He wouldn't answer any questions.

Q And he never actually called you back, you just happened to catch him on your -- on what you think was the third time you tried calling?

A Yes. So, then, I reached out to Tammy --

Q What was his -- do you recall what his demeanor was like over the phone, his tone?

A He was very short, and I considered it rude. I mean, I know I wasn't particularly nice to him. I was infuriated, you know, and he --

Q Because you felt like you had been lied to?

A Yes.

MR. ROSEN: Objection, leading.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Did you feel like you had been lied to?

MR. ROSEN: Objection, leading.

THE WITNESS: I had been lied to.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Okay.
A Yes. So, I called Tammy Bimbrook, I did get her on the phone. She told me that -- I said, "I need -- I want to see this investigation, any witness reports." And she said, "Your mother is the guardian. She'll have to request that in writing either through e-mail or a letter." My mother doesn't have e-mail, so she drafted a letter and I sent it via e-mail to Tammy Bimbrook.

I requested any witness statements, reports, everything to do with the investigation, any video footage. I requested multiple -- I requested any incident reports involving my brother going back one year, the restraint policy from the State of Arkansas, any video footage, any witness statements, the investigation. We requested that through an e-mail.

And I would say within a week DHS provided all of those things. The file was about 300 pages they provided to me. And that's when I first read the actual witness statements that Sandy Evans had taken down.
Q And so, the letter that your mom had received nine or ten days after his death, do you recall what all that said?
A It was only about five or six sentences, and it just said that David had a behavior event, he was restrained. There was obviously redacted information on it. It basically just said there was -- David had a behavior incident, he was restrained, he choked, and that 911 was called and he was transported to the hospital.

Q And that's it? It provided --

A Yes.

Q Did it provide any details about the behavior, or about the restraint, or about who was involved --

A No.

Q -- or about any details whatsoever?

A It only provided what I just mentioned. It was literally about five or six sentences long.

Q And that was the only thing that you and your family ever received from Booneville or from DHS that they voluntarily gave you?

A Yes.

Q And is it your understanding that's the only information they were ever going to give you, had you not sought it yourself?

A That was my understanding.

Q Okay. Well, let me ask it this way. Were you ever given any other details or information, either verbally or in written form or in any other form from DHS or from Booneville about your brother's death other than what you yourself requested?

A No.
Q Okay. And what are the things that you were able to learn from the documents that you finally got them to give you?
A Well, mainly, I read, you know, the three witness statements for the three people who were involved in his restraint. So, I learned what they wrote down of what happened that day.
Q Okay. And that was -- that's the very first time that you or anybody else in your family, as far as you know, learned what exactly happened or what they were saying happened, and who was involved?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
A That's the first time I learned of any of the details.
Q Okay. First time you learned about Tyler Mattson and his involvement, et cetera?
A Yes.
Q What did you do then?
A I was -- you know, I was upset, I was beyond livid, I mean, to learn those -- to read those statements was really difficult. So, after that, I started -- I called --

Q How long after --
MR. ROSEN: Let her finish. Let her finish her statement.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q How long after his funeral --
MR. ROSEN: She was saying something.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Okay. You're done, aren't you? How long after your brother's funeral did you get those documents?
A I would say within a week or two.
Q Okay.
A I mean, once he --
Q So, about how long was it, then, from the time of his death until receiving those documents and learning the first details you ever learned about how he died?
A I would have to estimate two to three weeks.
Q Okay. All right. Keep going about --
MR. ROSEN: There's no question pending.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q What did you do next after getting those documents?
A After I received those documents, I called, I reached out to Office of Long Term Care to, you know, request an investigation. I waited to receive -- you know, they told me it would be about a week. So, I waited until I received notification from them, and I received just an e-mail that said, you know, they found no grounds for maltreatment. After that, because I -- after reading the details, I was just shocked that nobody, you know, had -- you know, that this even happened.

So, next I just started googling and looking up advocacy groups and people who investigate abuse of people with disabilities. And that's when I found the -- actually a report from Disability Rights Arkansas from 2015. I read it, and I went to their website. That's when I first contacted them. So, that's when I -- you know, I started with an advocate or talking to them, explaining to them what happened.

Q Okay.

A And so, for the next however long it took them, a few months, I believe, as an estimate, to do their investigation. So, they did their investigation, that's when I -- actually I felt like my brother shouldn't have died that day, and I felt like nobody -- the people I had talked to with the State, I didn't feel like any of them were taking this seriously. So, after they completed their investigation, I started reaching out to legislators.

I don't -- and especially since I didn't actually live in Arkansas any more, I wasn't up-to-date on who those were. So, I just started -- I went on the Arkansas State website and started looking up who would have been over Pope County or Logan County. I sent e-mails, I left voice mails. Nobody -- a lot of them never responded.

So, the last -- a few of the senators explained to me they were over federal entities, so they directed me to my local representative. I sent an e-mail to Joe Cloud, who was a representative from Russellville. I told him everything I've told y'all, that, you know, I felt I was lied to, you know, I felt like it wasn't investigated properly. He told me he would look into it. He requested some documents, I believe, from DHS.

He sent those to me, but they were documents I already had. I thanked him for that, but I said, you know -- I actually in the e-mail explained to him, you know, why I felt like my brother shouldn't have died, why I felt like, you know, this wasn't investigated properly.

And I actually talked to him about my concerns, what I thought, you know, what I felt that I have learned since his death that needed to be changed, and I wanted to speak to someone about it, the staff not being able to call 911, the type of restraints that they used. And his response to me was, "You can reach out to another person with DHS or you can obtain a lawyer." So, that's when I started looking for a lawyer.

Q Okay. And did -- I think you already testified to this. But did -- did DRA draft a report at the end of their investigation into your brother's death?

A Yes.

Q And are you able to describe what their -- what their findings were?

A I mean, I know it was seven pages long, I did read it, it has been awhile. But the thing that I -- that stuck out to me, basically their concerns were a lot of the same concerns I had, that staff weren't able -- you know, they weren't allowed to call 911 themselves. The main thing that stuck out to me is that one of their findings was that the restraint either directly or indirectly related to my brother's death. And that's what I remember the most about it.

MR. GILLISPIE: Let's go off the record real quick.

VIDEOGRAPHER: We're off the record at 12:38.

(WHEREUPON, a brief discussion was held off the record.)

MR. GILLISPIE: Let's go back on the record.

VIDEOGRAPHER: We're back on the record at 12:42.

MR. GILLISPIE: What exhibit number will this be for the deposition?

MR. ROSEN: Why don't you put Claimant's One? That way we'll make these DHS One and Three -- One through Three.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. I'm fine with doing that. Eric and I always just did it consecutively.

MR. ROSEN: It makes it a little confusing, but I don't care.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. I don't care about it being consistent, it doesn't matter to me. Claimant's One. I'm showing you what we'll mark here as Claimant's One.

(WHEREUPON, Claimant's Exhibit Number One was marked for identification.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Do you recognize that to be the report that DRA authored after conducting the investigation into your brother's death?

A Yes.

Q Okay. If you would, just read for us, starting at "Findings", the Findings section. It starts at the bottom of Bates stamped 4527 and continues through the top of 4528.

MR. ROSEN: And I'm going to say, if she's going to read, please read it slow so the Court Reporter can get it.

MR. GILLISPIE: Yes, please read it --

MR. ROSEN: I mean, it's already in the record, though. Okay.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Please read it clearly and slowly, Chrissie.

[redacted] Instead of releasing David when he was lying down on the floor, David was restrained on the hard floor by three BHDC staff after finishing his lunch. Prior to the restraint, Staff failed to use other less intrusive interventions such as NCI/CPI, for which they are trained. Staff failed to leave him on the floor, unrestrained, until he was calm. Subjecting an [redacted]

"This restraint likely either directly or indirectly led to David's death. The facility failed to properly communicate the circumstances of this incident to EMS.

We found no evidence that the facility properly communicated the circumstances of this incident to the Arkansas State Police, the Logan County Sheriff's Office, or any other law enforcement agency."

Q And do you agree with the findings of DRA?

A Yes.

MR. GILLISPIE: Claimant's Exhibit One. Give me just a moment, folks.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Chrissie, let me get you to authenticate some photos, showing you what will be Claimant's Exhibit Two. Is that a photograph of your brother?

A Yes.

Q I would like you to please hold that up for the camera. And I want the camera to get a good shot of this, as well, of this photo.

A (Witness complies.)

Q And is that -- was that taken on your brother's 42nd birthday?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And so, when would this have been taken?

A If it wasn't exactly on [redacted] it was around that date.

Q Okay. This was his last birthday?

A It was his last birthday we celebrated.

Q Okay. And I see he's wearing a Monkees shirt.
A Yes.
Q Where was this photo taken?
A At my mom's apartment.
Q Okay. Is that, as far as -- is that pretty close to what he looked like physically at the time of his death?
A Yes, it's pretty close. He might have gained a few pounds in that last year. But that's pretty close.
Q Okay.
MR. ROSEN: Did you put the exhibit on it?
MR. GILLISPIE: Not yet.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q What about that one? What is that a picture of?
A Well, he was a big Razorback fan, and he loved music, like I said. So, for one of his -- I believe this was one of his previous birthdays or Christmas, I had gotten him a big bluetooth speaker and some bluetooth headphones. So, that's -- he was sitting in my mom's room just listening to the Monkees.
Q Okay. Hold that up for us, please.
A (Witness complies.)
Q Did you say that picture was taken at your mom's house?
A That was at her house, also.

Q Could you give an approximate age for him in that picture?
A This -- just because he weighed a little less here, I think that would have been maybe three or four years before that other picture.
Q Okay. And two more. What about that picture?
A That was at --
Q You can look at it.
A He always did this squinty thing, really happy.
Q Is that you and Davie?
A Yes. That was in downtown Russellville. He wanted to go see the Christmas tree.
Q And about when -- what year would this have been?
A I believe this was 2018, Christmas.
Q Okay. And where did they -- where do you -- where do they place the Christmas tree in Russellville?
A It's right on Main Street, kind of almost across from the courthouse.
Q Is that something y'all would do every Christmas?
A Yes.
Q You would get --
A We would drive around and look at lights ever since we were kids, and he always wanted to get out and stand in front of the Christmas tree.
Q Did that make him happy?

A Yes. Christmas was one of his, other than his birthday, probably his favorite time of year.
Q Okay. And the last photo. Is that Davie as a child?
A Yes.
Q Do you know how old he might have been in that photo?
A I believe he was around four or five.
Q Okay.

(WHEREUPON, Claimant's Exhibit Numbers Two, Three, Four and Five were marked for identification.)

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. I don't believe I have any more questions for you. Thank you, Chrissie.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

MR. ROSEN: Okay. I have a few more.

MR. GILLISPIE: I have smaller copies of these that I'll -- I'll just e-mail them around. Do you want copies? You have copies of this given through discovery.

MR. ROSEN: If you send them -- if you are e-mailing them to us --

MR. GILLISPIE: Yes.

MR. ROSEN: -- include me in the e-mail.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. Sure.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q So, I just want to --

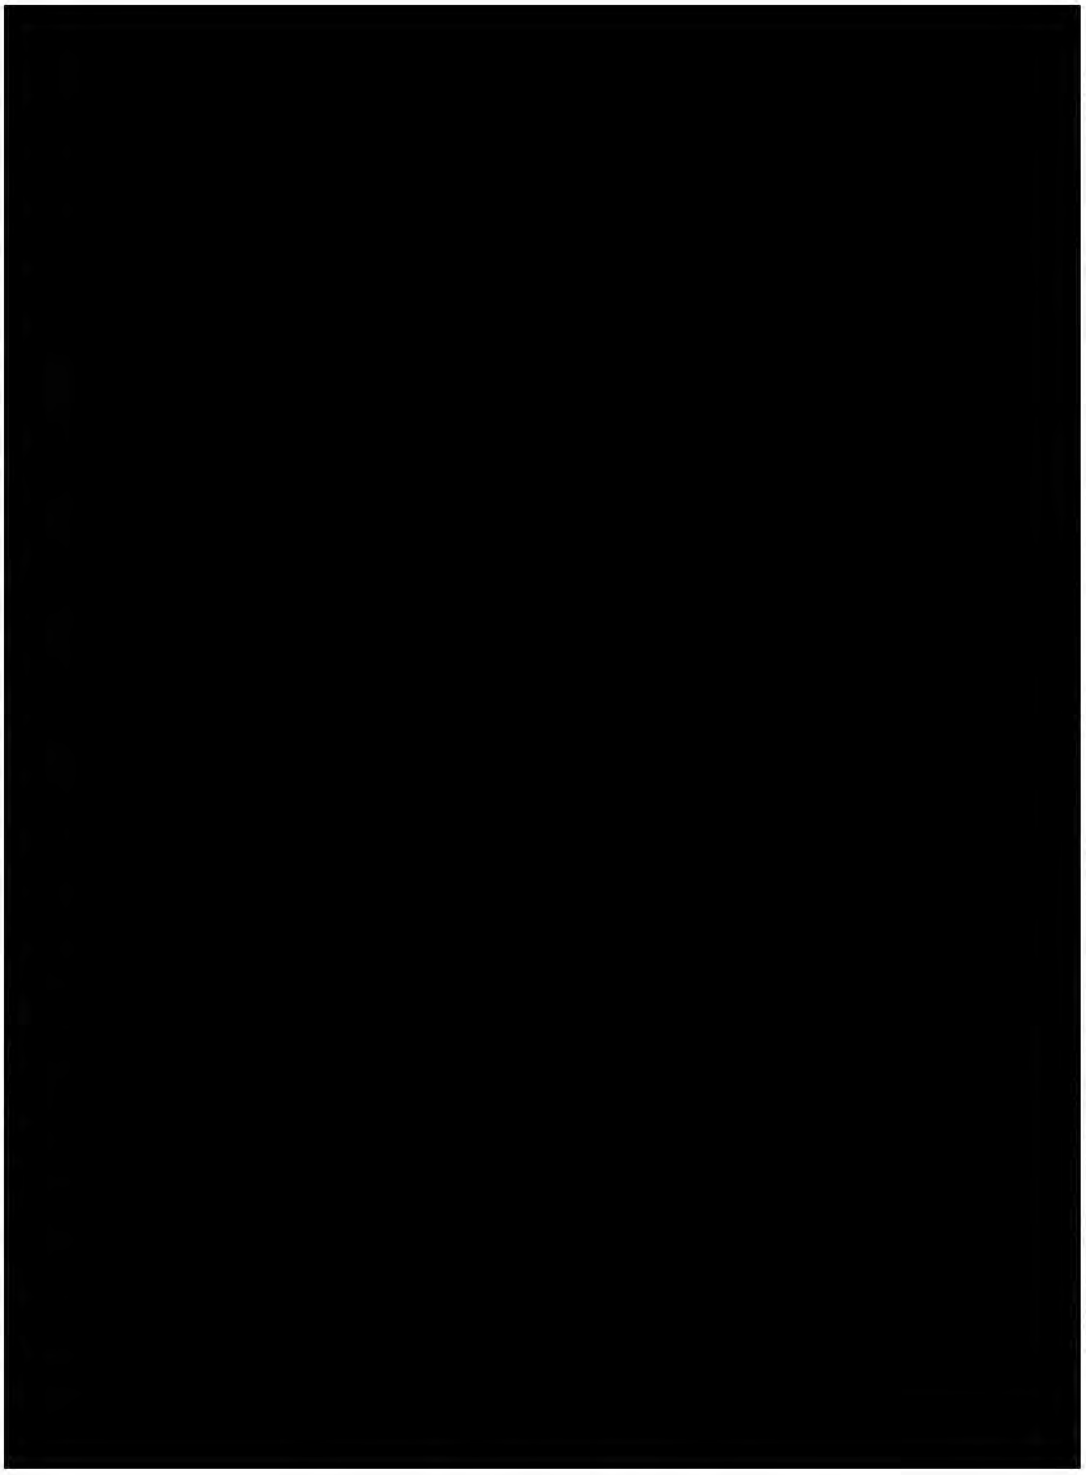
MR. ROSEN: If you could hand me the exhibit of the DRA report, Claimant's Exhibit Number One.

MR. GILLISPIE: Sure.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q This report was issued in October of 2020; is that correct?

A Yes, correct.



Q Okay. And if you want to see the report again, that's fine. So, you had mentioned -- let me -- and I made a note of it here, so let me just get to my note. You had mentioned, in the DRA report, just stated that the DRA report said they had concerns because one hour after eating, that --

MR. GILLISPIE: Let's actually look at what the report says.

MR. ROSEN: Okay. That's the best.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Yes. In the Findings that you read, you stated and you read this, that, [redacted]

[redacted]

MR. GILLISPIE: Object. I'm going to object, as the physician's order is different than that.

MR. ROSEN: Well --

MR. GILLISPIE: [redacted]

[redacted] We were provided two different copies by DHS, this original --

MR. ROSEN: That might be your statement. I understand.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q But what I'm asking you is, that doesn't jibe with the "elevate head of the bed" from the treatment team, does it, what the DRA stated?

A I think the -- it's my understanding, what I just said is, that does jibe with what that said.

Q So, does that say, [redacted] Is that what DRA found?

A It says --

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form. There is more in place than that.

MR. ROSEN: I'm not asking you for testimony, counsel. I'm asking the witness, who is the Claimant, what it says.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

THE WITNESS: It says right here, [redacted]

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Okay. And that's what DRA says?

A Yes.

Q Okay. But that's not what the treatment -- the IPP says, is it?

MR. GILLISPIE: It is what it says, and that's why I keep interrupting you. Okay. You are going to let me show it to you.

MR. ROSEN: Okay. Okay. I really object to counsel testifying. This is the -- and you can recross if you want.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. Well --

MR. ROSEN: Or introduce other documents. But I'm asking the Claimant, and for you to try to influence the Claimant's testimony is inappropriate. I'm just asking questions as to what the DRA's recommendations were and what the actual IPP states.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q So, would you agree that they state two different things?

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.

MR. ROSEN: Okay. Go ahead.

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.

THE WITNESS: It's my understanding that those two say the same thing, that he needed to be upright for an hour after --

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Okay. That's what the Findings in the DRA state?
MR. GILLISPIE: Rich, the IPP in a different place does say what she is saying.
MR. ROSEN: Counsel, I'm not cross examine -- if you want to, I can cross examine you in a second. But I'm not. We're here for fact, and this is the Claimant, you're not the Claimant.
MR. GILLISPIE: So, I was trying to save time.
MR. ROSEN: I really --
MR. GILLISPIE: But okay.
MR. ROSEN: We're not here to save time, we're here to get the facts.
MR. GILLISPIE: Well, you're asking questions based on --
MR. ROSEN: Now I'm referring to what has been introduced --
MR. GILLISPIE: -- false information.
MR. ROSEN: It's not false information. This is what it says. I'm going to ask her. You can ask her other questions, if you want.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Exhibit Three, that was introduced and we already know that this was the 2019 Treatment IPP; correct?

A Correct.
Q Okay. And here is the -- on page 1483 of the Bates stamp, which is page 16 of the report, what does it say?
A Do you want me to read it out loud?
Q Yes.
[redacted]
Q Thank you. Now, so, tell me, what does the word -- what is an investigation, to you? What does it mean, to you?
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.
THE WITNESS: In reference to what, just in general?
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Yes. What does an investigation mean?
A An investigation means looking into something to the best of your ability, taking every avenue you can to try to come to a conclusion. When you have a question, you are trying to study and -- I'm trying to find a word, you know, other than looking into the -- to find the facts of something to come to a conclusion.
Q Okay. And we don't know, at the beginning of the investigation, where that conclusion is going to go, do we?

A No, I don't think you know when you start.
Q Okay. That's the purpose of an investigation?
A Right, right.
Q I mean, we all agree on that; right?
A Uh-huh.
Q Is that "yes" or "no"?
A Yes, yes.
Q This lady is taking it down. So, and investigations would take a little bit of time at least; right?
A Yes.
Q As a matter of fact, the DRA, their findings from their own investigation wasn't issued until October, four or five months -- four months after David Cains passed away; right?
A Correct.
Q Okay. So, you wouldn't expect an investigation to take a day, would you?
A No.
Q It would be reasonable for it to take a week or two, would it not?
A I would think, if you're referring to in my brother's case, in something like this, I would expect it to be -- if it was done thoroughly, to take a good amount -- I wouldn't expect it to be done in three or four days, no.

Q Okay. All right. I just wanted to clarify that. Thank you. Now, so, there was the Booneville Human Development Center investigation, right, that you talked about?
A Yes.
Q And I understand you had concerns about it?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Then, there was the -- you mentioned the State of Arkansas, Office of Long Term Care investigation; correct?
A Correct.
Q And did you have concerns about that, too?
A Well, I was never -- the only thing I ever received was an e-mail saying that their investigation was concluded and there was no maltreatment. I requested the details or whatever I was allowed to get of that actual investigation. And they -- I was not -- I didn't receive it, because they told me I wasn't allowed to, that my mother wasn't allowed to, because her guardianship no longer applied.
Q Now, did you -- are you talking about -- you're talking about a maltreatment investigation?
A When I called, after my brother's death, after I received this -- the synopsis from Booneville, I called the Office of Long Term Care and I told them exactly what had happened with my brother and what I was concerned about, and I asked them to investigate. And they said -- and they told me that they would look into it.

Q Okay. Are you aware that Office of -- the State of Arkansas, Office of Long Term Care is a dually certified state and federal investigative -- investigators at the long-term care facilities?

A I mean, I --

Q Are you aware of that?

A I wasn't aware about federal.

Q Okay. Are you aware that the Long Term Care -- State of Arkansas, Long Term Care investigators are federally trained, as well as state trained?

A I don't know the details of their credentials, no.

Q Okay. Were you aware, or are you aware that they are -- have to be licensed, or certified maybe -- I don't remember whether it's licensed or certified, are you aware of that?

A I'm not aware of any of that.

Q And so, were you aware that they investigated this and found it to be unfounded, or unsubstantiated, whatever it's called?

A All I received was an e-mail that said they found no maltreatment. And I wanted the details of that investigation, and I never received them.

Q Okay. Now, so, then, you went -- when that -- and when was that? When did you -- what timeframe was this?
A That was probably -- it was after I received -- my mother received the synopsis from Booneville. And I would assume it would have been within a few days.
Q Okay. So, as I recall, it was about a week later or nine days later or so, approximately, that you got the Booneville investigation. And then, when did you inquire into the Office of Long Term Care for their investigation?
A I would say within a few days.
Q Of what?
A Of receiving -- well, after we received the synopsis, and I reached out to Jeff Gonyea, he directed me to Tammy Bimbrook. I received -- my mother and I requested all the information as pertains to their investigation. So, I would say within a few days of reading all those witness statements of what they said happened that day, I reached out to the Office of Long Term Care.
Q Okay. So, you reached out to them. And then, when did you -- after you reached out, how long did it take to get what you said was their e-mail or a conversation from them?
A I mean, it -- I would guess that if it didn't take a long time, maybe I received that e-mail within a week or two of reaching out to them.

Q Okay. Did you know who you spoke to?
A I do not.
Q Now, and so, you weren't satisfied with that investigation, either; right?
A Well, I don't know what the -- all I got was that they found no maltreatment. I wanted the details of why, how they came to that conclusion, and I was never given that.
Q Okay. Now, do you know whether a survey was taken to see if there was any failed facility practices at the Booneville Human Development Center related to David Cains, that episode on June 13th, 2020?
A A survey by who?
Q By the federal surveyors, the state and federal surveyors?
A I don't -- I'm not aware of what that is.
Q Okay. Well, then, you're not aware that it was unfounded and unsubstantiated?
A I've never heard of that.
Q Okay. So, then, you reached out to -- when you were dissatisfied with that, with those surveys and those investigations, you reached out to DRA; right?
A Correct.

Q Okay. I just wanted to get the sequence. Okay. And you initially reached out to them approximately what month?
A I received the first call from them around July 4th weekend.
Q Okay. So, then, it took them all that time until October to issue the report that was introduced as Claimant's Exhibit One; right?
A Correct.
Q And so, you were -- it sounds like -- so, you were dissatisfied with the Booneville investigation, you were dissatisfied with the State of Arkansas, Office of Long Term Care investigation, too; is that correct?
A Correct.
Q Okay. So, you searched out to find an organization that you would be satisfied with; right?
A No. I went through all the proper channels through -- that was offered to me and suggested through the State of Arkansas, and I wanted to find a -- find someone to investigate who was not -- who I felt was impartial, who was not associated with the State of Arkansas.
Q So, you felt that DRA was impartial?
A I know that they're a nonprofit and they're not -- they're not a government agency.

Q Well, they get their money from the government.
A They're a nonprofit.
Q And so, but you weren't aware that they're against all human development centers' operations?
A I was not aware of that when I reached out to them.
Q So, knowing that, does that skew your belief in the credibility of their investigation at all?
A No.
Q Now, just moving on to a different subject. So, I think that -- you had mentioned something about -- to counsel's questions about the 911 or the EMT's arrival at Booneville. And they arrived, as I recall, at 11:50 that day, and they left at 12:10. They were there 20 minutes. Does that -- do you agree with that?
A I mean, that sounds --

[redacted]

[redacted]

A I do have concerns. I have many concerns about what happened once my brother left that bathroom.
Q Okay. Now, so -- and you're aware that Booneville HDC has a medical team that responded within one or two minutes of David's stopping breathing; right?
A I'm aware that they had a medical team that responded.
Q Okay. And are you aware -- do you know who the EMTs, when they arrived, who they spoke with?
A No, I don't know who they spoke with.
Q Okay. But did you know that -- or do you know whether or not that when they arrived, it was the nurses who were providing assistance to David Cains?
A I've read that in their statements.
Q And you know that, from their statements, then, that they arrived about one or two minutes after David Cains stopped breathing; right?
A I know that's their statement.
Q Okay. Do you disagree with that statement?
A I don't agree or disagree. I just know that I read it. I don't know how long it took them to get there.
Q Okay. But you don't have any evidence that it took longer or less, do you?

A I don't know. All I can go by is what they said. I've been to that facility, I mean, I've been on that campus, but I don't -- I wasn't there.
Q So, you know that what we call Judge Hills, where the nurses are, is right down by --
A Yes.
Q So, it wouldn't take long to get there, would it, by car?
A I don't know how long it would take. I know that they're in close proximity to each other.
Q All right. Fair enough. Now, did you find any discrepancies in the EMT statements as to what he claims was said and what he told the emergency room physician about where they found David Cains?
A I'm not aware of what, I don't recall what he told the emergency, other than he choked while eating lunch.
Q Okay. Now, when you -- changing to another area, when you would -- right after you moved to Vermont, and I think you testified that you would either drive or fly, depending on your schedule and the amount of time, when you would come down to visit David. How long would you be in Arkansas, typically?
A Anywhere from one to two weeks.
Q Okay. And so, would you stay at your mom's?

A Yes.
Q Okay. So, you were here to visit family, as well?
A No. I was here -- I wouldn't have come that often if it wasn't for my brother.
Q So, did you spend one or two weeks with David Cains?
A I would go up there and see him, and I would usually bring him home for the weekend, you know, at least Friday to Sunday. Sometimes if he -- we would go by his, you know, how he felt, if he would stay longer.
Q So, sometimes he wanted to go back to the Booneville HDC?
A Sometimes he wanted to go to work, or see his friends, you know. But I was -- my time at home, I would go see him, you know, as often as I could.
Q Because -- yes. Because he felt -- Booneville was his home; right?
A Right.

MR. ROSEN: I don't have any other questions. Thank you.

MR. GILLISPIE: Let's go off the record just a second.

VIDEOGRAPHER: We're off the record at 1:07.

(WHEREUPON, a brief discussion was held off the record.)

VIDEOGRAPHER: We're back on the record at 1:17.

RECROSS EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

[redacted]For the record, this is the IPP introduced by the State as State's Exhibit Three, or Respondent's Exhibit Three. And page 15 -- or Bates marked page 1525 of that exhibit I'm showing you here, I would like for you to, if you can, read for me what it says there at the bottom right-hand page numbers.

A Page one of two. Page -- is that what you're talking about?

Q Does it appear that somebody marked out the printed word two and handwrote in the number one?

A It says, what it looks like is there is ink marked over the number.

COURT REPORTER: I'm sorry. I can't hear you.

THE WITNESS: Okay. And yes, it does look like that there is ink marked over the numbers, the printed number.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. And I will represent that -- and I don't think anybody --

MR. ROSEN: I don't want any representations. You can ask questions.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Would you disagree with me that there is no -- in the exhibit introduced by the State, there is no page two?

A Right.

Q Would you agree with that?

A Right, yes.

Q You have looked through this exhibit?

A Yes.

Q Okay. There is no page two in the IPP introduced by the State; correct --

A Correct.

Q -- here today. Please hold that up for the camera.

MR. GILLISPIE: And, John, I would like for you to zoom in on this document, and particularly zoom in on the bottom right-hand corner where that two is marked out and replaced with a handwritten one.

VIDEOGRAPHER: (Complies.)

MR. GILLISPIE: Got it? All right.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q And again, this was Bates marked page 1525 of Respondent's Exhibit Three. Bates marked page 1526 of Respondent's Exhibit Three, is this -- Chrissie, does that say Bates marked 1526?

A Yes.

Q Does 1526 come after 1525?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Please hold that up for the camera.

A (Witness complies.)

MR. GILLISPIE: Have you got that page number, John?

VIDEOGRAPHER: One moment. I've got a stamp at the bottom and --

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. And again, this is Bates marked 1526 of Respondent's Exhibit Three, which again, is the version of the IPP that the State introduced today.

(WHEREUPON, Claimant's Exhibit Six was marked for identification.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q And your brother died on June 13th, 2020?
A Correct.
Q Okay. Now, I'll represent that this was produced to us by Respondent as indicated by the Bates mark at the bottom, and what is the Bates number on that document?
A 1327.
Q Okay. And how many pages is that exhibit?
A It says page one of two.
Q Okay. And has it been marked out -- is anything marked out and replaced with handwriting?
A No.
Q Okay. Well, hold that up for the camera, please.
A (Witness complies.)

MR. GILLISPIE: And, John, if you could, make sure you get the whole thing real close.

VIDEOGRAPHER: (Complies.) It is.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Okay. And, now, is there a page two to this exhibit?
A Yes.

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q Okay. Hold that up for the camera, please.

A (Witness complies.)

MR. GILLISPIE: So that he can zoom in on the highlighted portion, and then also the dates at the top.

VIDEOGRAPHER: (Complies.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

[redacted]

MR. ROSEN: Objection. The document speaks for itself. So, I don't know what you're clearly trying to represent. She just testified.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

[redacted]

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. Got it? That's all I have. Thank you.

MR. ROSEN: I would like the document, please, because I have questions.

MR. GILLISPIE: I gave you a copy of it.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

A (Witness complies.)

Q So, the questions that I'm going to ask, this is part of this -- what we were talking about was the existing IPP for 2019, which was the one that was in effect when your brother died; isn't that correct?

A Correct.

Q This was prepared for the next year, for 2020, and it was going to be his IPP, if that's what the treatment team agreed to; isn't that correct?

A I don't -- I mean, if that's what you're telling me.

Q Well, I'm asking the questions.

A I mean, for the date, is this -- what are you asking?

Q Okay. So, this is the one that was in effect in -- that we talked about in the IPP that governed his -- that governed David Cains' treatment for the time period that we're talking about; right?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And the one that you introduced is for -- wasn't even printed until after he passed away; right?
A That's what it says up here.
Q Yes. And he was about to -- you were about to all meet, and they were preparing all the documents for the new IPP for 2020 at the time that, right before -- right after -- well, they were preparing for it at the time that your brother passed away; right?
A Correct.
Q Okay. So --

MR. ROSEN: All right. I have no other questions. Thank you.

MR. GILLISPIE: I don't think I do. Give me one second.

VIDEOGRAPHER: We're off the record at 1:27.

BEFORE THE ARKANSAS CLAIMS COMMISSION

Christine McAuliffe, as Special Administrator of the Estate of David Cains — CLAIMANT

V. Claim No. 220374

THE ARKANSAS DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES (BOONEVILLE HUMAN DEVELOPMENT CENTER) — RESPONDENT

COMPLAINT

COMES NOW the Claimant, Christine McAuliffe, as Special Administrator of the Estate of David Cains, by and through her attorney, Joshua D. Gillispie, and for her causes of action against the above-named Respondent, states the following:

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

1. This claim is brought pursuant to the Arkansas Claims Commission's jurisdiction over claims for monetary damages brought against an agency of the State of Arkansas, pursuant to A.C.A. § 19-10-204.

2. Venue is proper pursuant to A.C.A. § 19-10-201, et seq. The incident complained of herein occurred in Arkansas, in Logan County.

PARTIES AND SERVICE

3. Claimant hereby incorporates by reference all previous paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

4. Claimant Christine McAuliffe (hereafter "Claimant"), Special Administrator of the estate of her brother, David Cains, brings this cause of action for survival on behalf of the Estate of David Cains; and for the wrongful death of David Cains, on behalf of the following statutory beneficiaries: Charlene Robinson, mother of the deceased; and herself, as sister of the deceased. Claimant's Letters of Administration and the Order of Appointment are attached hereto, respectively, as Exhibit 5 and Exhibit 6.

5. At all times relevant to this cause of action, and at the time of the incident described further herein, Respondent, the Department of Human Services (hereafter "DHS"), was at all relevant times an Arkansas state agency. DHS, through its Division of Developmental Disability Services (hereafter "DDS"), operated five Human Development Centers throughout the state, including the Booneville Human Development Center (hereafter "BHDC"), which is where David Cains lived for 13 years and where he died. All tortious acts alleged herein occurred at the BHDC. David Cains' Death Certificate, as well as his health insurance identification cards, are attached hereto, respectively, as Exhibit 7 and Exhibit 8.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

6. Claimant hereby incorporates by reference all previous paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

7. The Booneville Human Development Center (BHDC) is a state facility established to provide care for people with developmental disabilities. It is located on the grounds of the former Arkansas Tuberculosis Sanatorium, which originally opened in 1910. The Sanatorium closed for tuberculosis patients in 1973. The BHDC can house up to approximately 150 people with disabilities, and the residents have access to limited recreation, and a cafeteria for meals.

8. The BHDC has a checkered past, and a serious history of abuse against some of the most vulnerable in our community. The facility has demonstrated indifference to improving the training of staff to provide safe services for those with disabilities. The United States Department of Justice has twice sued the State of Arkansas regarding the failure to provide adequate services and care at its Human Development Centers; however, those cases were dismissed based on procedural grounds.

9. In 2010, a resident choked to death because staff were not providing adequate supervision to ensure the safety of a young man with known disabilities related to his ability to eat. In February of 2015, a young woman died after being regularly and improperly restrained without regard to her known seizure issues, which led to her choking to death.

10. Disability Rights Arkansas (hereafter "DRA") issued a scathing report recommending the closure of the BHDC in January of 2015, which is attached hereto as Exhibit 1. The title of this report was "A New Approach to Care in Arkansas: Why the Time Has Come to Close the Booneville Human Development Center." Disability Rights Arkansas (DRA) is the designated federal Protection and Advocacy System for individuals with disabilities in Arkansas. One of DRA's core functions is to investigate the deaths of persons with developmental disabilities in facilities that provide services to them. DRA has authority under federal law to thoroughly investigate deaths occurring in any public or private entity that provides care, services, treatment, or habilitation to individuals with disabilities.

11. One year later, the DRA issued another report criticizing the lack of improvement at the BHDC titled "The Excessive Use of Restraint at Booneville Human Development Center," attached hereto as Exhibit 2. DRA concluded that the restraint practices at the Booneville HDC are contrary to recognized best practices and put residents and staff at risk of physical and emotional harm. The DRA report notes that restraints should only be used on individuals who repetitively engage in dangerously aggressive behavior, and less restrictive methods of addressing the person's behavior should first be tried and documented. Restraints should be a method of last resort. The BHDC uses a significantly higher rate of restraints on residents than the other Human Development Centers in Arkansas. Additiona ly, according to the DRA report, the BHDC uses restraints often as a first option to handle a "problem" resident, instead of using less restrictive methods. Restraints are used on residents for not complying with requests even when there is no danger of imminent violent behavior from the resident.

12. The Booneville HDC has not improved since the 2016 investigation and rep ort by the DRA. Improper and abusive restraining techniques were used in 2019, which caused a disabled resident to suffer a broken arm. And, just last year the improper rest aint of David Cains led to his death from choking on his own vomit. As further stated herein, the employees at BHDC did not disclose that Cains had been restrained to emergency medical services, the coroner, or any other government officials. The cover-up of the use of restrain ts on David Cains is troubling; it further demonstrates the lack of professionalism and proper care at the Booneville HDC.

13. David Cains, bor[redacted]as admitted as a fulltime resident to BHDC on May 1, 2007. He lived there for 13 years, until his death on June 13, 2020. He liked watching the Dukes of Hazard, loved the band the Monkees, and he didn't like to be alone. Most of all, he loved being with friends and family. His mother and sister (Claimant) were very active in David's life, regularly visiting him and taking him on outings. David always spent the major holidays at home with his family.

[redacted]

[redacted]

15. Disability Rights Arkansas (DRA) performed an investigation into David's death and issued a written report on October 22, 2020, attached hereto as Exhibit 3. DRA concluded, as further stated herein, that policy failures at BHDC and the conduct of BHDC staff resulting from those policy failures, including the use of an excessive restraint, failure to follow David's GERD precautions, and failure to call 911 when David stopped breathing – caused David Cains' death, "either directly or indirectly."

16. Based on the written statements of BHDC staff, interviews conducted by DRA with BHDC staff, EMS and medical records, and various reports issued by DHS personnel, the following facts are currently known about David Cains' death:

17. David had an egg salad sandwich for lunch on the day he died. He had his lunch at the cafeteria in the BHDC Commons Building, sometime before 11:30am. After lunch David was accompanied to a nearby restroom by staff member Tyler Mattson. According to Mattson, David became irritated after exiting the restroom, began screaming, ripping paper off the wall, and attempting to hit Mattson. Mattson immediately applied physical restraints, referred to by BHDC as "personal restraints," beginning at approximately 11:30am, according to Mattson. Mattson states he grabbed David's arms, causing David to fall over and land on his face. Mattson then rolled David onto his left side where he continued to physically restrain David, who Mattson says was still resisting. Another BHDC staff member, Amy "Mandy" Jones, arrived on the scene and joined in restraining David by holding his head in place. A third BHDC staff member, Ryann Campos, then arrived and participated in the physical restraint by holding David's ankles. According to Campos, she noticed shortly after arriving that David had defecated. At some point they saw food coming out of David's mouth, that his face was purple, and that he was not breathing. Though their participation in the physical restraint began at different times, both Mattson and Jones claim the physical restraint on the ground lasted one minute, stopping only when they realized he was no longer breathing. These conflicting statements have not been resolved or explained by Respondent.

18. None of the three staff members called 911, even though they knew David had stopped breathing. BHDC Policy IV-B-10 specifically prohibits all non-medical staff from calling 911 in response to a medical emergency. Instead, Ryann Campos called staff LPN Deborah Noah, who was present on campus at the Judge Hill Building, informing her of what was happening and that David Cains was not breathing. According to Deborah Noah, it was approximately 11:33am when Ryann Campos called her. Rather than dialing 911 right then, Noah instead relayed Ryann's message to staff LPNs Amanda Schmidt and Kelly King. Rather than dialing 911 right then, Schmidt and King instead drove by car from the Judge Hill Building to the Commons Building across campus. LPNs Schmidt and King then entered the Commons Building, located the scene, observed David, and only then did they instruct another staff member to dial 911.

19. It is of concern that all BHDC staff members, including the LPNs, claim in their written statements that Ryan Campos called medical staff at 11:33am and that 911 was called at 11:34am. In order for this to be true, it would mean LPN Noah received the call from Ryann Campos, then relayed that message to LPNs Schmidt and King, who then walked (or ran) to a parked car, drove the car across campus to the Commons Building, walked (or ran) inside, located the scene, observed David on the floor not breathing, then instructed a staff member to call 911, which that staff member then did, all in the span of 60 seconds. That is simply not possible.

20. Furthermore, Logan County EMS records reflect the 911 call was placed, not at 11:34am, but at 11:37am, which means that a minimum of four precious minutes elapsed between the time staff realized David had stopped breathing and the time 911 was called. The Logan County Coroner's report also identifies 11:37am as the time 911 was called. At least 4 minutes, and quite possibly more, given there were no visible clocks in the area where the restraint occurred, elapsed from the time staff noticed David was not breathing to the time 911 was called.

23. At the time of David's death, BHDC was the only Human Development Center in Arkansas that did not have cameras in place to monitor the facility.

24. BHDC staff misled EMS responders as to how David died. BHDC told Logan County EMS that David simply began choking on his lunch, aspirated, and stopped breathing, intentionally omitting all mention of the physical restraint. This misinformation was then relied upon by Mercy Hospital and ultimately the Logan County Deputy Coroner, who, after later learning the true circumstances of David's death, stated that an autopsy likely should have been performed.

25. The true circumstances of David's death were also kept from his family. BHDC told David's mother only that he had choked on his lunch and that they would need to contact Mercy Hospital if they wanted additional information. It was not until nine days after David's death, the Monday after his funeral, that his mother learned of the physical restraint. His mother and sister (Claimant) had requested additional details from BHDC, and on this Monday after David's funeral they received in the mail a letter from BHDC containing a "Final Synopsis" of the incident, attached hereto as Exhibit 4. This final synopsis, signed by Jeff Gonyea, the Superintendent of BHDC, not only contained the first mention of the physical restraint David's family had heard, but stated there was insufficient evidence to corroborate maltreatment and that, in fact, "[a]ll staff conducted themselves in an appropriate manner." Prior to this letter nine days after David's death, his family was not even aware a maltreatment incident was being investigated. At this point, David had been buried three days and it was too late to request an autopsy.

26. The BHDC conducted an internal maltreatment investigation into David's death. That investigation, upon information and belief, was led by Sandy Evans, a DHS Residential Services Director and Adult Maltreatment Investigator who, upon information and belief, was herself employed by the BHDC. Upon information and belief, she worked alongside the very people she was supposed to be investigating. This BHDC investigation, which, according to DRA, suppressed or omitted crucial facts, concluded that no individual involved in the incident did anything wrong. It was endorsed by Jeff Gonyea, who, as Superintendent of BHDC, was ultimately responsible for the actions of the employees being investigated.

27. The Division of Provider Services and Quality Assurance (DPSQA) also investigated the circumstances surrounding David's death. According to DRA, very little could be gleaned from this investigative report. This investigation basically concurred with the BHDC investigation, while providing no independent reasoning, no description of the events, and no statements from witnesses.

28. BHDC's policy failures, given its extensive history of problems with excessive use of physical restraints, can fairly be described as willful. BHDC was fully aware that the overuse of physical restraints greatly increased the risk of physical harm and death to its disabled patients yet did nothing to change policy or practice. As previously stated, one patient was killed during a physical restraint in 2015, another suffered a broken arm in 2019, and the problem was so bad that DRA was calling for the facility to be permanently closed. Despite all this foreknowledge, BHDC did nothing, and this failure by omission directly caused David Cains' death.

29. BHDC explicitly acknowledges, in writing, the extreme risk to disabled patients caused by physical restraints. The BHDC's "Restraint Incident Debriefing Form," which was provided to staff and used to document physical restraints prior to Cains' death, states the following in bold lettering: "The Booneville Human Development Center is dedicated to the reduction of restraint use at the facility. The use of restraints is proven to be dangerous for both staff and clients, with the occurrence of injuries dramatically increasing when restraint is used. All efforts must be made to deescalate behavioral situations so that they do not result in restraint. All restraint at the facility is to be for emergency use only (even when part of a behavior treatment program), when a very real risk of personal injury or severe property damage is imminent."

30. Despite knowing, and even memorializing in its internal documents, that physical restraints "dramatically" increased the risk of injury to disabled patients, BHDC did nothing to enforce a policy reflective of this dramatic risk. In fact, according to BHDC records, staff used physical restraints on David Cains at least 16 times in the one year preceding his death. One of these was a mechanical restraint, whereby David was bound to a chair or bed with straps on each wrist and three straps across his body. Despite knowing of safe and effective alternatives, BHDC did nothing to enforce the use of these safer alternatives. In this case, there is no evidence Mattson or any other staff member ever attempted to use any form of non-physical intervention on David Cains before taking him to the ground.

31. According to the most recent DRA report, BHDC, in April of 2012, participated in a training survey with H & W Independent Solutions to evaluate and improve the quality of care to the residents. During the evaluation, H & W found that significant improvement was needed due to, in part, the BHDC staff's reliance on emergency restraint. This is further evidence of the foreseeability of David's death on the part of BHDC.

32. Despite the fact that BHDC claims to certify its staff in the use of NCI/CPI crisis intervention (which are non-violent), BHDC also trains and allows its staff to restrain residents using methods that require no certification and are not evidence-based, such as the physical restraint used on David Cains. The most recent DRA report states that it "is concerning that BHDC staff are then left to choose between non-violent crisis intervention and physically/emotionally traumatizing physical restraint," which in this case led to David's death.

COUNT ONE: NEGLIGENCE

33. Claimant hereby incorporates by reference all previous paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

34. The Respondent Arkansas state agency, DHS, at all times relevant to this action controlled and operated BHDC. Respondent, at all times relevant to this action, owed David Cains a duty of ordinary care. In agreeing to accept the custody, care, and control of David, Respondent expressly assumed a duty of care for David Cains. The relationship between Respondent and Cains imposed a duty in this case. Duty can be assumed or created through actions, and "where a person undertakes to act, they must do so carefully or they will be liable for negligence." Yanmar Co., Ltd. v. Slater, 2012 Ark. 36, 16, 386 S.W.3d 439, 449 (2012). The moment Respondent agreed to take care, custody, and control of David, a duty was created.

35. Respondent breached its duty and proximately caused Claimant's damages in at least the following ways:

(a) By failing to set policies reflective of its knowledge that physical restraints are unreasonably dangerous to patients;

(b) By failing to train and require BHDC staff to use non-violent methods of deescalation, despite knowing the unreasonable risks of physical restraints;

(c) By using an excessive and unreasonable physical restraint on David Cains;

(d) By using this physical restraint without first even attempting to deescalate in a non-violent way;

(e) By regularly physically restraining clients in unreasonably dangerous and violent ways, such as by pinning them to the floor, which is what happened here;

(f) By allowing staff to take clients to the floor during physical restraints and engage in other means of physical restraints not based on any specific training or guidelines, but rather just the judgment of its poorly trained staff;

(g [redacted]

(h) By ignoring known choking and seizure precautions necessary for Cains' safety;

(i) By failing to set policy allowing non-medical staff to call 911 in emergency medical situations;

(j) By failing to call 911 the moment David Cains stopped breathing, if not before;

(k) By failing to have cameras in place to monitor how residents are treated;

(l) By failing to honestly communicate the circumstances of David's death to emergency responders, law enforcement, and David's family;

(m)By failing to exercise ordinary care for David's safety;

(n) By engaging in conduct that BHDC knew or should have known would endanger the life life and safety of David Cains;

(o) By failing to train, oversee, supervise and otherwise equip its staff;

(m) By failing to anticipate the danger to Cains, given the circumstances, and failing to use commensurate care to prevent the harm; and

(o) By failing to maintain and adhere to safety policies, protocols, and procedures that meet the heightened risks and vulnerabilities of the disabled residents at the BHDC.

36. All of the foregoing acts and omissions on the part of DHS (and BHDC), taken separately and/or collectively, constitute a direct and proximate cause of the injuries and damages suffered by Claimant, as set forth herein.

37. The negligence or tortious conduct of known and unknown employees and staff of DHS, DDS, and BHDC is imputed to DHS, as these staff were all acting within the scope of their employment.

DAMAGES

38. Claimant hereby incorporates by reference all previous paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

39. As a direct and proximate result of the occurrence made the basis of this lawsuit, Claimant, on behalf of the estate of David Cains, claims the following damages:

a. Loss of life of David Cains, commencing at death and ending at life expectancy;

b. Conscious pain and suffering of David Cains prior to death;

c. Medical care and expenses incurred as a result of David Cains' death; and

d. Funeral expenses incurred as a result of David Cains' death.

40. As a direct and proximate result of the occurrence made the basis of this lawsuit, David Cains' statutory beneficiaries sustained injuries, and Claimant claims the following damages on their behalf:

a. Mental anguish and emotional distress, including grief and despair, suffered up to the present time; and

b. Mental anguish and emotional distress, including grief and despair, that will continue well into the future.

PUNITIVE DAMAGES

41. Plaintiff hereby incorporates by reference all previous paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

42. Arkansas Supreme Court decisions permit the recovery of punitive damages in a wrongful death case. Vickery v. Ballentine, 293 Ark. 54, 732 S.W.2d 160 (1987); Fields v. Huff, 510 F. Supp. 238 (E.D. Ark. 1981). See also Comment, The Arkansas Wrongful Death Statute, 35 Ark. L. Rev. 294, 306 (1981).

43. When viewed from the standpoint of Respondent, at the time of the acts and omissions, their conduct involved an intentional and reckless disregard of the known risks and dangers to disabled individuals in their care, given the occurrence of recent similar injuries and the BHDC's known history of excessive restraints.

44. Respondent had actual subjective awareness of the risks and dangers to David Cains and other disabled individuals at BHDC. Respondent intentionally and recklessly disregarded known prior similar acts and events, placing Cains at unreasonable risk of harm.

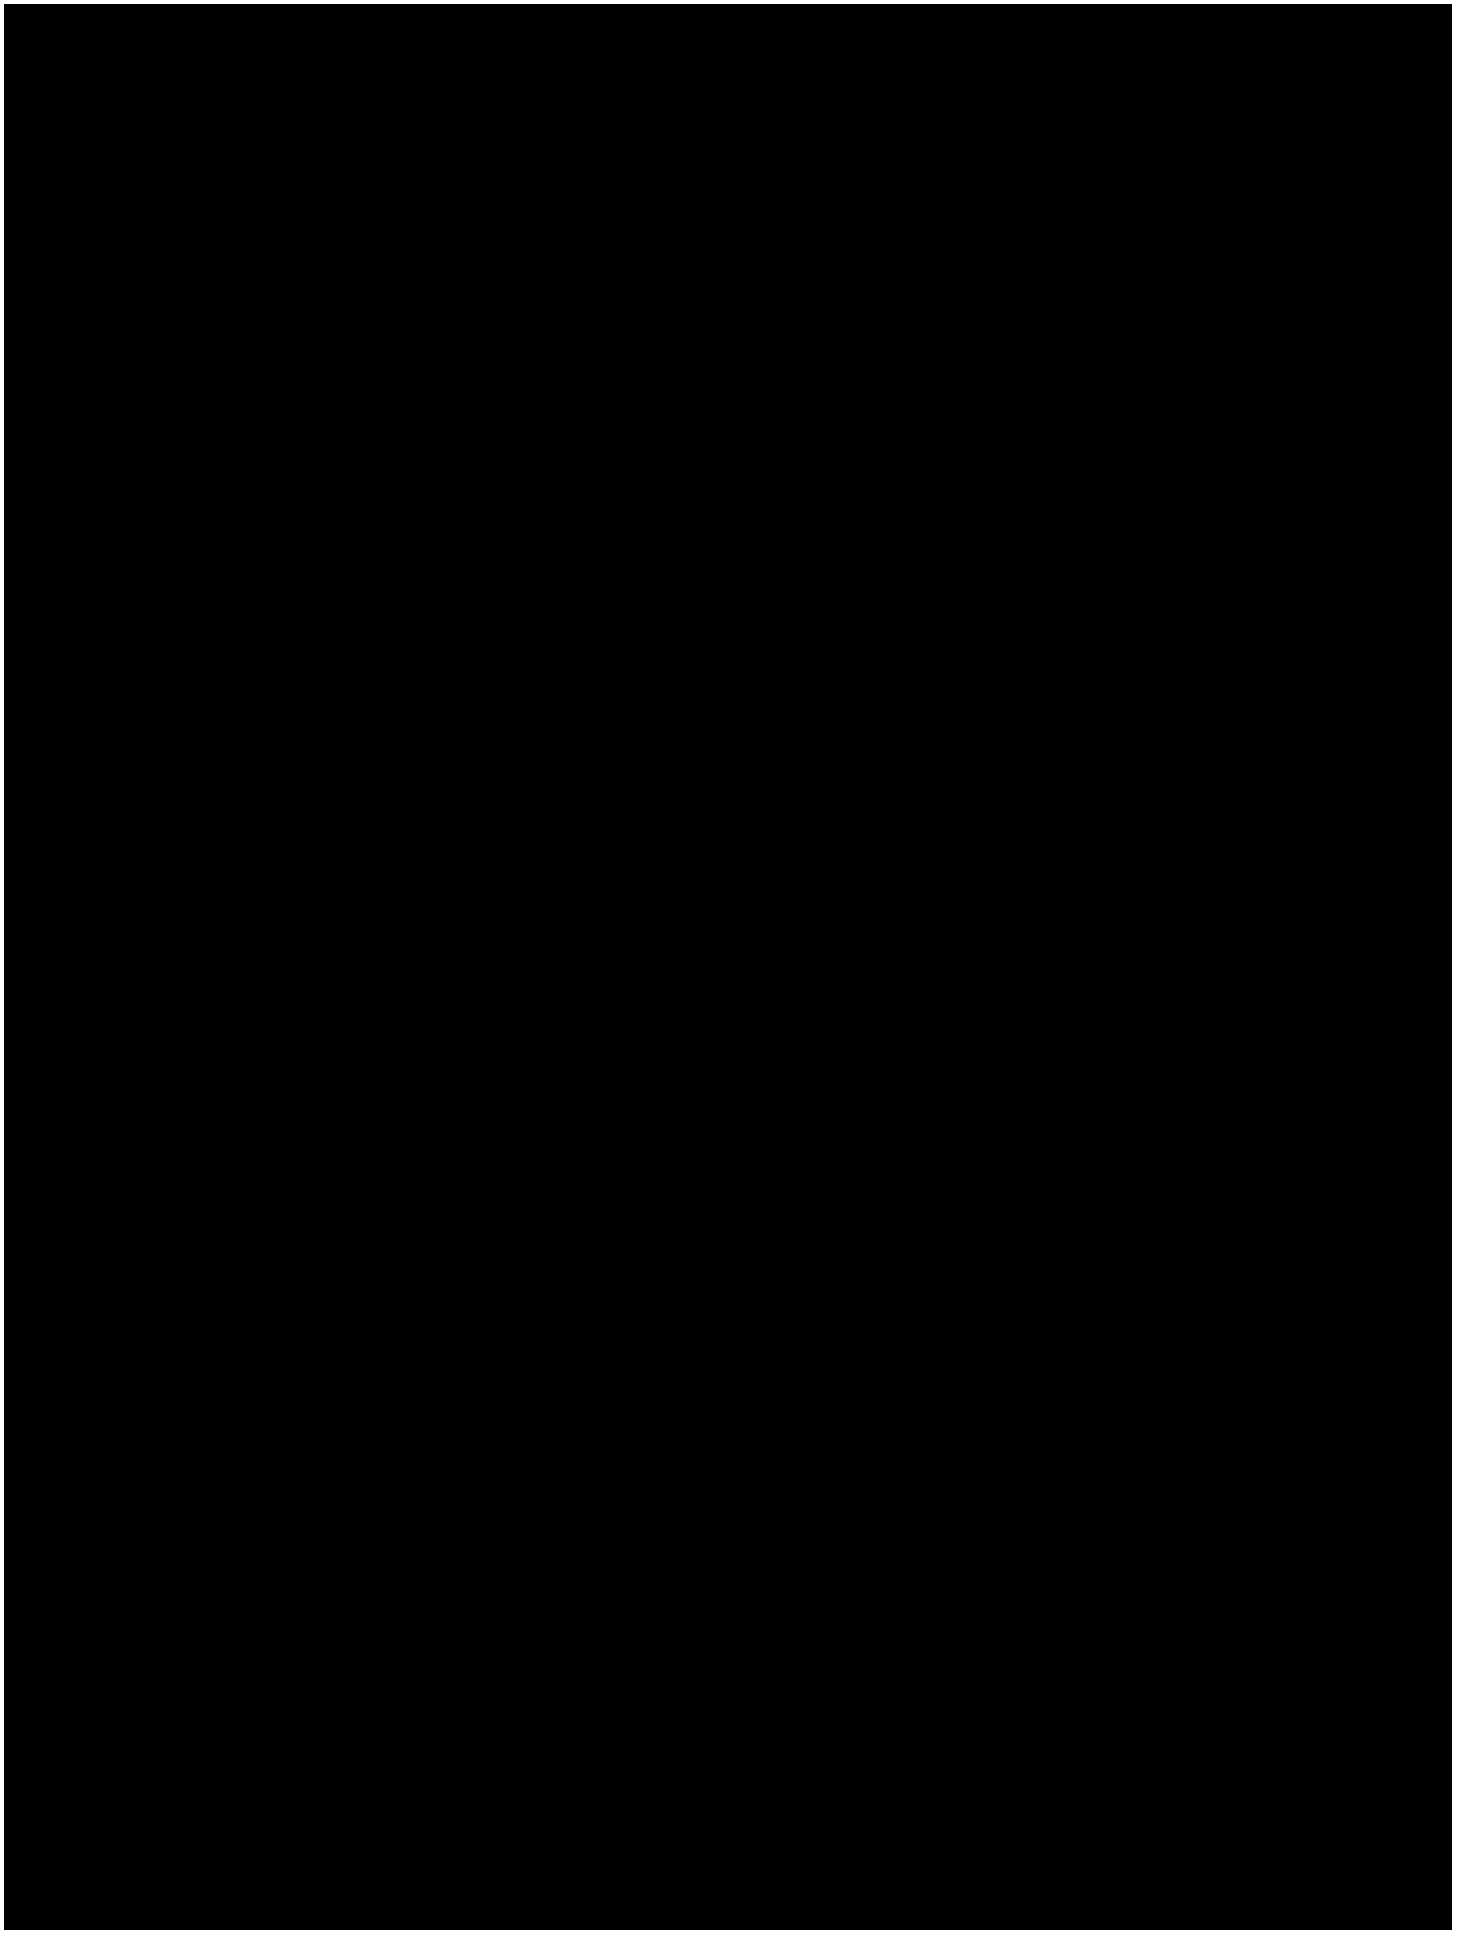
45. DHS intentionally and recklessly failed to assess the risk of this foreseeable event, failed warn of the risk, and failed to maintain adequate safety and prevention measures.

46. Respondent's conduct displayed a conscious indifference to the rights, safety, and welfare of David Cains and other disabled people in Cains' position.

47. Claimant seeks punitive damages, in an amount deemed appropriate by the Commission, to punish Respondent, and to deter further such conduct.

RELIEF SOUGHT

48. Claimant hereby incorporates by reference all previous paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.



49. Claimant seeks damages in the amount of $7,000,000.00. Neither Claimant, nor any beneficiary, has received any prior payment on account of this claim.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, by and through her attorney, Joshua D. Gillispie, respectfully requests recovery for all damages previously pled herein, and for compensatory damages for the reasons previously pled and in an amount previously prayed for and/or allowed by common law or by statute, in an amount left to the sound discretion of this Commission, for punitive damages, for her attorney fees and all costs herein expended, and for all other relief to which Claimant is justifiably entitled.

Disability Rights Arkansas

Dignity. Respect. Advocacy.

Tom Masseau, Executive Director

October 22, 2020

Director Melissa Stone
Division of Developmental Disabilities
Arkansas Department of Human Services
700 Main Street
Little Rock, AR 72203-1437

Director Stone:

Disability Rights Arkansas (DRA) is the designated federal Protection and Advocacy System ("P&A") for individuals with disabilities in Arkansas. One of DRA's core functions is to investigate the deaths of persons with developmental disabilities in facilities that provide services to people with developmental disabilities. DRA has authority under federal law to thoroughly investigate deaths occurring in any public or private entity that provides care, services, treatment, or habilitation to individuals with disabilities.

As you are aware, resident David Cains of Booneville Human Development Center (BHDC) died on June 13, 2020. His death occurred while three BHDC staff restrained David on the floor outside of the cafeteria. David's family contacted DRA and requested we investigate his death and the circumstances surrounding it.

DRA completed an extensive investigation into David's death. Our investigation involved reviewing the Adult Maltreatment Investigation Report, all witness statements, the DPSQA Complaint Investigation Report, the EMS report, hospital records, and the Coroner's report. Our office interviewed BHDC staff, including Tyler Mattson, Amy (Mandy) Jones, and Ryann Campos, the individuals who restrained David; Sandy Evans, the Adult Maltreatment Investigator; Jeff Gonyea, the Superintendent; and Mark Hines the NCI instructor. Our office also interviewed the Emergency Medical Services provider, Samuel Scow, who provided emergency services that day, as well as Michael Chrisman, the Deputy Coroner who was assigned to David's case.

Summary

[redacted]

According to the BHDC Staff written statements and interviews with DRA staff:

Claimants 1

On June 13, 2020, David ate his lunch in the cafeteria at the Commons Building. After finishing his meal, David put his tray away, asked to go to the restroom, and was accompanied to do so by Tyler. According to Tyler, David seemed irritated, asked to sit in the lobby to calm down after exiting the restroom, and then began screaming, ripping paper off the wall, and attempting to hit Tyler.

Tyler stated that he, "applied personals[1] by grabbing [David's] arms and ended up falling over."[2] David landed on his face and Tyler then rolled him to his side.[3] Tyler believes that this restraint began at 11:30 a.m., although all times are estimates as there are not any visible clocks in the area where the restraint occurred, according to all staff interviewed. Mandy Jones arrived shortly after David was brought to the ground and assisted in the restraint. According to all written witness statements, David was resisting the restraint at that time. Ryann Campos arrived sometime later and began holding David's legs. Within seconds of arriving Ryann noticed that David had defecated on himself and she

From EMS Report and BHDC Staff written statements:

[redacted]

This entire event took place on the floor while three people were holding David by his legs, torso, and head. A fact that was omitted in reports to EMS, the hospital, the Coroner, and the family.

During our investigation, we noted several unresolved discrepancies between written statements, subsequent interviews, and investigative conclusions:

1) There is not a consensus between the employees involved regarding the positioning and

[7] BHDC Policy IV-B-10 states that on-site medical should be the first call and that "medical will assess the situation and call an ambulance if appropriate." All persons interviewed, including Superintendent Gonyea, interpreted the policy to prohibit non-medical staff from calling 911 in response to a medical emergency and confirmed that as the BHDC practice.

actions of each employee, information pertinent to identifying not only potential wrongdoing, but also possible missteps to be avoided in the future.

a. Ryann's written statement and subsequent interview by DRA staff were consistent with one another. She states that when she arrived David was on the ground on his left side, Tyler was on his knees facing David and holding his wrists, and David's hands were by his sides. Mandy "came to assist to position David's head so he wouldn't spit"[11] and then Ryann attempted to assist by holding David's ankles when he began to kick.

b. Mandy stated that when she arrived, "David was on his left side with his arms held up with his elbows bent slightly."[12] She states she assisted by holding David's hands so that he could not strike Tyler, who was positioned behind David. Mandy denied ever holding David's head during the restraint.

c. According to Tyler's written statement he was "squatted over him, not putting [his] weight on him during any of this, holding his shoulder and sides,"[13] Mandy assisted by "grabbing his hands," and Ryann held his legs down. During our interview, Tyler deviated from his written statement, stating "she [Mandy] was on his side behind him, holding his head on the side, keeping close to ground but not pushing on it"[14] because David was trying to bite. He also clarified his positioning as being behind David, who was laying on his left side and "spread out T-style"[15] with his left arm on the ground. Tyler was holding his right arm (not Mandy) and trying to get it to the ground. David's arms were never above his head.

d. Adult Maltreatment Investigation Report #5-2020, completed by Sandy Evans, fails to resolve discrepancies regarding the placement of David's hands and whether a staff member was holding his head in place during the restraint.

e. Cameras at the facility would have been immeasurably helpful in resolving the discrepancies and ultimately understanding the circumstances surrounding David's death.

2) A timeline of events included in two separate documents we received completely omits any reference to a restraint having occurred.
   a. The DHS Incident Report includes a timeline of events provided by Stacy Weinbrenner, RN/DON, who does not appear to have been at the scene of the incident at any time.
      i. According to the timeline at "11:30 a.m. – Immediately after lunch, David Cains headed to common area kicking, yelling, and biting. Tyler and Mandy attempted to settle client. Suddenly started vomiting and turning cyanotic."
         1. Tyler and Mandy's written statements and interviews with DRA indicate that Mandy did not arrive until Mr. Cains was already on the ground and being restrained by Tyler, in conflict with the assertion here.
         2. There is no evidence of either staff member attempting to "settle" David.
   b. A similar statement is included in a "Timeline of Events" that appears to be a word document included in David's medical file. The statement is not attributed to anyone in this document.

When DRA interviewed Emergency Services Worker, Samuel Scow, he stated BHDC staff never informed them that David had been in a personal restraint prior to or during this incident. Samuel stated that they were told that David was found in the hallway, unconscious, and staff attempted abdominal thrusts prior to CPR. They were told that he had choked on his lunch. EMS relayed the same information to the ER staff at Mercy Hospital in Booneville.

[redacted]

The same misinformation was passed on to the investigating coroner, Deputy Coroner Michael Chrisman, leading him to list the cause of death as respiratory arrest, due to food aspiration, and cardiac arrest. Mr. Chrisman stated:

[redacted]

When our office interviewed Mr. Chrisman, he stated he had no knowledge that David was restrained prior to or during this incident. He confirmed that his office would have further investigated had they received that information and would likely have requested an autopsy.

When BHDC staff contacted David's mother, they told her that David choked on his lunch and that the family would need to contact the hospital for any additional information. When the family called Mercy Hospital, they were informed David was deceased. David's family did not find out about the personal restraint until June 22nd – nine days after David passed away and three days after David's funeral. By the time the family learned of the circumstances surrounding his death it was too late for them to request an autopsy.

This was a tragic event. Any time an individual passes away while in the custody and care of the state a meaningful, critical evaluation of the policies and practices that led to that incident should be required. In this case, that evaluation included: (1) an investigation by an individual who is employed by the BHDC, working alongside those who she is charged to investigate; (2) a review and endorsement of that investigation by the superintendent who hired or who is ultimately responsible for the actions of those employees investigated; (3) the suppression or omission of relevant, if not crucial facts from agencies who would further investigate the circumstances of this gentleman's death.

The BHDC review of this death, endorsed by Superintendent Gonyea, concluded that no individual involved in this incident did anything wrong; therefore, nothing could have been done differently to prevent it and nothing can be learned from it. To date, we have not been informed whether BHDC has reviewed or revised their restraint policies or practices following this event.

At some time after the internal investigation concluded the Division of Provider Services and Quality Assurance (DPSQA) investigated David's death and the circumstances surrounding it. Very little information could be gleaned from the DPSQA Complaint Investigation Report reviewed by DRA. Despite the ability to attach narratives of staff interviews, none were found or made available upon our request. Ultimately, the DPSQA investigation concluded similarly to the internal investigation conducted by BHDC with no description of the events or statements from witnesses.

Practice of Restraints at BHDC

In 2012, DDS retained H&W Independent Solutions, who are self-described "skilled trainers and workshop facilitators on a wide range of topics pertinent to organizations supporting people with disabilities." In April of 2012, BHDC participated in a training survey with H&W to evaluate and improve the quality of care to the residents. During the evaluation of BHDC, H&W found that significant improvement was needed due to, in part, the BHDC staff's reliance on emergency restraint.

Nearly four years later, in January 2016, our office issued a report regarding the use of restraint at BHDC. We warned that risks associated with restraint include physical injuries, significant trauma, and death. We pointed out that the overuse of restraint could cause physical and emotional trauma to both the residents and the staff at BHDC. We recommended that BHDC retain an independent expert to implement evidence-based alternatives aimed to reduce or eliminate the use of restraint at BHDC.

NCI/CPI trains staff to respond to crisis by intervening in non-violent ways to prevent escalation and offers programs to certify staff in this skill. At the same time BHDC certifies its staff in the use of NCI/CPI, BHDC also trains its staff to restrain residents using methods that require no certification, are not evidence-based, and, when practiced, conflict with NCI/CPI training. It is concerning that BHDC staff are then left to choose between non-violent crisis intervention and physically/emotionally traumatizing physical restraint.

Findings

- [redacted]
- Instead of releasing David when he was lying down on the floor, David was restrained on the hard floor by three BHDC staff after finishing his lunch.
- Prior to the restraint, Staff failed to use other less intrusive interventions such as NCI/CPI, for which they are trained.
- Staff failed to leave him on the floor, unrestrained, until he was calm.
- [redacted]
- This restraint likely either directly or indirectly led to David's death.
- The facility failed to properly communicate the circumstances of this incident to EMS.
- We found no evidence that the facility properly communicated the circumstances of this incident to the Arkansas State Police, the Logan County Sheriff's Office, or any other law enforcement agency.

- BHDC's investigation failed to resolve discrepancies in statements from witnesses.
- It is not the policy or practice of BHDC to permit direct care staff to call 911 in an emergency.
- NCI/CPI does not endorse or instruct any maneuver that involves physically restraining an individual on the floor.
- During interviews, BHDC direct care staff reported that they, "take people to the floor often."
- BHDC could not articulate what kind of "restraint technique" is being taught to staff.
- The conclusion from Superintendent Gonyea failed to find that anyone violated any policy or procedure and inexplicably failed to find that any policy or procedure might need review or modification.
- No corrective actions were made or recommended by BHDC or DHS - Division of Provider Services and Quality Assurance.
- BHDC failed to adequately inform David's family of the circumstances surrounding his death.

Recommendations

1. Install video cameras on campus. Video cameras on campus would greatly assist investigators in determining whether maltreatment has occurred. Presently, we have differing statements from individuals regarding a restraint on the floor that led to an individual's death.
2. Retrain all staff in NCI/CPI. NCI/CPI does not endorse the use of restraint while an individual is lying down on the floor. The very fact that NCI/CPI is touted as the intervention strategy implemented by BHDC, and yet this individual was restrained on the floor long enough to aspirate and die means that NCI/CPI was either ignored or forgotten.
3. Reevaluate the use of restraint in all forms and employ evidence-based, nonviolent methods of crisis intervention. A greater problem that exists is the overall reliance on restraint at BHDC. It is a culture of compliance that we see often in prisons. When individuals are not compliant, they are made to comply. If DHS does not address restraint and physical, mechanical, and chemical intervention as a system-wide problem, the culture cannot be meaningfully changed. Further, the physical restraints BHDC employs are not based on any professional training or sanctioned method.
4. Clarify or Modify policy to permit staff to contact 911 in response to emergency medical situations. Staff must have permission to identify and respond in an emergency. BHDC is a large campus in a rural area of the state. While it is comforting that nursing staff is available to respond to medical issues, the current policy forces staff to ignore what many first aid/CPR certification programs insist is the first step in responding to a crisis – calling 911.
5. Engage qualified, independent investigators to complete thorough, meaningful investigations on ALL deaths.

a. Utilize investigators that are completely independent of the Human Development Centers they investigate. While it is important that BHDC review incidents internally for quality improvement and staff oversight, there must be a truly independent investigation by a disinterested third party. At one time, DDS employed an attorney whose role was to investigate deaths at any HDC. We are unaware whether or why such a position no longer exists. Anyone DDS authorizes to investigate serious incidents should have no connection to the Human Development Centers they investigate. Investigators should be informed regarding the requesting of an autopsy and empowered to make such a request when warranted.

b. Ensure all investigations are reflective of the gravity of the circumstances investigated. Death investigations must be both thorough and critical. Investigations that lack specificity in their investigative processes and findings, do not include interviews of all involved parties, and by design can only substantiate maltreatment or declare nothing could have been done differently undermine confidence in the process. When a family is left to gradually learn new information regarding the death of their loved one, including that the coroner was not accurately informed of the circumstances surrounding the death, what else are they to be left with other than suspicion and anger? Instead, the trauma surrounding the death is amplified and revisited with each new fact they learn. That is not closure; that is not justice.

DRA requests a response, delivered electronically, to this letter by October 31, 2020.

Sincerely,

Kris Stewart, Advocate

ARKANSAS DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES
DIVISION OF DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITIES SERVICES
DDS DIRECTOR'S OFFICE POLICY MANUAL

Policy Type	Subject of Policy	Policy No.
Service	Behavior Management	3011-D

1. Purpose. This policy is intended to provide guidelines for managing challenging behaviors of individuals residing in DDS operated programs (Human Development Centers).

2. Scope. This policy applies to all DDS operated programs (Human Development Centers) and their employees/volunteers. All such programs will include a review of this policy as part of the employee orientation process.

3. Definition of Terms

Behavior management, as covered by this policy, serves as a guide to ensure that an individual's actions that are aggressive, disruptive and/or present a danger to the individual or to others are managed with the least restrictive method. Behavior management is not a substitute for other forms of active treatment and is incorporated into program plans, based on individual needs.

Qualified Mental Retardation Professional (QMRP) or QMRP designee is used in this policy as a person designated to monitor, supervise, and make decisions regarding specific behavioral situations. QMRP/designee will be assigned by the administrator of the DDS program in which he/she works. Criteria for selection will involve prior training, experience, and demonstrated ability in the area of behavioral management. The QMRP/designee must be in a position that is on a level involving supervisory or decision-making responsibilities. The QMRP designee is authorized to perform any of the duties of the QMRP as outlined by regulations or policy.

Interdisciplinary Team (IDT) is defined as a group of persons (professionals, paraprofessionals and non-professionals) who develop an individual's program plan and whose participation is required in order to identify the needs of the individual and to devise ways to meet those needs. The IDT includes the individual and may also include those persons who have worked or will work most closely with the individual, those persons who provide needed assessments or services, and the individual's family, guardian, or advocate. In general, the IDT includes persons professionally qualified in such fields as health care, education, psychology, and social work.

Licensed nurse is defined as a registered nurse or licensed practical nurse. The agency may use a physician, in lieu of a licensed nurse, but this is not required.

Replacement: This policy replaces DDS Commissioner's Policy 3011-D, dated January 28, 1981, March 13, 1981, and DDS Director's Policy dated October 1, 1991; December 1, 1993; and January 30, 1998.

Reviewed: Arkansas Legislative Council Rules and Regulations Subcommittee _____, 2003

4. Policy

NOTE: It is the philosophy of the agency to utilize all positive approaches to behavior management prior to and in conjunction with more restrictive programmatic techniques. Positive approaches may include, but are not limited to: positive reinforcement, gentle teaching, redirection, graduated guidance, and modeling of appropriate behaviors. Measures to address positive behavior should be incorporated into formal program efforts to the extent feasible.

Efforts at positive programming prove to be successful with the majority of maladaptive behaviors. All Human Development Centers will maintain policies and procedures for positive programming. The use of behavioral programming other than positive is designed for the individuals who repetitively engage in dangerously aggressive behavior and for whom other interventions have not been effective. All behavior programs developed in accordance with this policy will be designed to reduce or eliminate the target behavior(s) within a specified time frame, will be supported by documentation that positive, less restrictive methods have been systematically attempted and failed, will be monitored regularly by the individual's QMRP and Interdisciplinary Team (IDT), and will be revised if proved to be ineffective. The potential harmful effects of each procedure will be weighed carefully against the harmful effects of the targeted behavior and the IDT will determine if the harmful effects of the behavior outweigh the potentially harmful effects of the procedure.

Category I:

Category I procedures are those which may be used without prior approval of the Human Rights Committee or psychology staff. To ensure consistency, they should be addressed by the IDT. Frequent use (as determined by IDT) of these procedures with an individual indicates the need for consideration of the development of a behavior plan by the individual's IDT.

The individual must be supervised during these procedures. With the exception of verbal intervention, any use of Category I procedures, whether part of a formal behavior program or not, requires documentation on a Behavior Incident Report, Data Sheet, or other locally used behavior documentation system.

A. Verbal Intervention: Verbal intervention is utilized to stop an inappropriate behavior in progress and involves telling the individual "no" or "stop", identifying the behavior, and redirecting to an appropriate activity. The command is given in a firm but normal tone of voice. Threats, screaming, yelling or issuing repetitive or multiple sets of commands are not considered verbal correction and are inappropriate.

B. Separation From Activity Up to 30 Minutes: The individual is prevented from engaging in a reinforcing activity in which he/she has displayed inappropriate behavior. Separation is maintained within the same room or outdoor area where the activity is conducted. This is considered a Category I procedure if compliance by the individual can be accomplished through verbal prompting/physical prompting without requiring personal restraint (holding).

C. Separation From Setting Up to 30 Minutes: The individual is removed from the area where the reinforcing activity is taking place. Separation must occur under observation either outdoors or in a living or training area (bathrooms, storage rooms and closets do not constitute living/training area). This is considered a Category I procedure if compliance by the individual can be accomplished through verbal prompting/physical prompting without requiring personal restraint (holding).

Note: Separation to Allow Calming (STAC) – Also available is the positive procedure of STAC whereby the person is encouraged to move to an area away from the person or situation that upset them. At the same time, they are assisted in directing their attention to talking about the problem, listening to music, talking about family, relaxing quietly, going for a walk, etc. The activity should be chosen by the person in need of calming. When sufficiently calm, staff will assist the person in resuming normal activities.

D. Assignment of Additional Chores: The individual is assigned additional chores as a consequence for inappropriate behavior. Additional chores may be assigned only if such chores are already a part of the Individual Program Plan (IPP) and are not designed to replace work assignments of housekeeping personnel.

E. Restitution: The individual is cued to restore any property damaged, stolen or defaced. If appropriate to the individual's level of functioning, he/she may be cued to offer a verbal apology to the offended person. If appropriate to the individual's ability to comprehend, monetary reimbursement for the value of the damaged or stolen property may be required if this is a part of the IPP. In lieu of full value, a symbolic portion of the value may be required. Monetary reimbursement requires Human Rights Committee approval and Guardian consent.

Note: The individual is not degraded nor put on display while restoring damage. The individual is given the same equipment and protection to complete the restitution as would normally be given to a person not responsible for the damage.

F. Withholding Privileges: The individual loses a particular privilege following the occurrence of an inappropriate behavior. Privileges include such things as special planned community activities. However, trips off grounds are special and should only be curtailed if problem behavior is anticipated during that trip. Examples of situations where problem behaviors may be anticipated include a problem behavior having already occurred and the person is not fully calm, or, a problem behavior has not yet occurred, but there are indications that a problem behavior is likely. The curtailing of trips off grounds should be done after consultation with psychology staff, or with supervisory staff if psychology staff is not available. Privileges do not include basic living activities, such as meals, habilitation activities, or basic rights afforded all individuals.

G. Personal Property Removal (less than one hour): Removal of an individual's personal item that is being used in an inappropriate or unsafe manner or location. For example, if an individual disturbs others in a common TV room by playing his radio too loudly and will not reduce the volume when instructed, the radio may be removed from that individual for a time not to exceed one hour. The item will be held in a secure area and will be returned to the individual's room or to the individual directly, as appropriate (See Section 6, Page 8 of 9).

Category II:

Category II procedures may only be used as part of a formal behavior program designed by the individual's IDT, written by a licensed psychological professional, and approved by a licensed psychologist, physician, Human Rights Committee, and the facility administrator. Behavior program approval will include receipt of a signed consent from the individual and/or guardian.

A. Response Cost: The individual loses reinforcers previously earned in a behavior management system, (i.e., Token Economy Program)

B. Overcorrection - includes the following procedures:
   1) Restitutional Overcorrection: Requires the individual to restore the environment to a state that is better than it was before the occurrence of the inappropriate behavior.

   2) Positive Practice Overcorrection: Requires the individual to engage in an intensive practice period in which the alternative appropriate behavior is practiced.

C. Contingent Personal Property Removal (up to 24 hours maximum): Immediate removal of an individual's personal belongings contingent on the occurrence of a targeted behavior. Confiscated property will be held in a secure area and will be returned to the individual's room or individual directly, as appropriate. This procedure is considered Category II if the individual voluntarily (without duress or coercion) surrenders the property upon request.

Category III:

Category III procedures may only be used as part of a formal behavior program designed by the individual's IDT, written by a licensed psychological professional, and approved by a licensed psychologist, physician, other professionals, as indicated by the nature of the program, Human Rights Committee, and the facility administrator. Behavior program approval will include receipt of a signed consent from the individual and/or guardian. The individual's record documents the IDT's conclusion that the potential harmful effects of each restrictive procedure (restraint, etc.) are clearly outweighed by the harmful effects of the targeted behavior.

Policy Type	Subject of Policy	Policy No.
Service	Behavior Management	3011-D

A. Separation Time Out (Activity or Setting): Placement of an individual in a quiet area away from reinforcing activities or persons as a result of an inappropriate behavior occurring. The individual will be visually monitored during the time out. Further conditions include either:

1) Separation lasting for over 30 minutes to one (1) hour maximum.

2) Separation (any length of time) requiring physical intervention/personal restraint to ensure compliance.

B. Contingent Personal Property Removal (up to 24 hours maximum): Immediate removal of an individual's personal belongings contingent on the occurrence of a targeted behavior. Confiscated property will be held in a secure area and will be returned to the individual's room or to the individual directly, as appropriate. This procedure is considered Category III if the individual does not voluntarily surrender the property upon request, and it must be physically removed.

C. Sensory Deprivation: Involves the temporary impeding of one of the individual's senses for a period of time, contingent upon the occurrence of the target behavior. Most often, this procedure includes only the use of a blindfold or cloth placed over the individual's eyes when it has been shown to facilitate calming. The individual must be visually supervised during the use of this procedure, which may be used in combination with other Category III procedures, as designated in the individual program. It could also include lessening auditory input by covering the individual's ears, or covering a body part (usually the hands) to limit tactile stimulation, hand in mouth, or biting.

D. Restraint: When utilizing restraint as a programmatic option, a hierarchy of lesser restrictive procedures will be attempted prior to restraint, except in limited cases where this is clearly clinically contraindicated. IDT consideration will be given to parent/guardian notification of the use of restraint and address it in the behavior program.

1) Personal Restraint: In order to prevent personal injury or serious property damage, the individual or a portion of an individual's body is immobilized by another person or persons in order to prevent personal injury or serious property damage. Approved methods of intervention must be in the individual's behavior program. This is planned personal restraint, contingent upon occurrence of a target behavior. When available, a licensed nurse should monitor the personal restraint and/or check the individual's physical condition as soon as possible following restraint.

Excluded as personal restraint are: physical assistance, prompting of graduated physical guidance to assist individuals during such procedures as toothbrushing and feeding, or to control random head or arm movements during such procedures as haircutting, or the use of physical assistance in escorting, redirecting, or in manual guidance techniques are not considered personal restraint and do not require documentation as personal restraint. Also excluded as programmed personal restraint is the use of personal restraint in an emergency situation (Section 6, Page 8 of 9*) or during a necessary medical or dental procedure.

In the event of personal restraint, the QMRP/designee of the area must be notified as soon as possible. Programmed personal restraint will occur until the individual is calm and will not exceed fifteen (15) minutes. The IDT will define what constitutes calm behavior for this individual when used in a behavior program.

2) Mechanical Restraint: In order to prevent personal injury or serious property damage, the individual or a portion of the individual's body is immobilized until calm by an approved device or devices which may also prevent normal functioning, as described in section C, above. Restraints must be checked for safety and integrity prior to use. The device's use will not exceed 15 minutes without an extension of time approved and documented by the QMRP/designee, preferably, after face-to-face attention. Unless otherwise determined by the IDT, QMRP/designee extensions will be obtained every 15 minutes until the individual is calm. The IDT should define what constitutes calm behavior for this individual when used in a behavior program. Unless determined clinically contraindicated by the QMRP/designee, should the time in restraint reach 55 minutes, the individual must be released for five minutes for motion, liquid intake, or toileting.

Should time in restraint reach 1 hour and 50 minutes, the individual must be released for at least 10 minutes–for motion, liquid intake, or toileting. If this 10-minute release is judged to be a danger to the individual and/others, additional staff should be called to ensure safety for all concerned. In addition, the individual will be checked, face to face, at least every 15 minutes for safety, well being, and integrity of the restraint. Constant observation is required.

Note: On-site monitoring by the QMRP/designee is recommended. When available, a licensed nurse should monitor the mechanical restraint. If unavailable to monitor, a licensed nurse shall check the individual's physical condition as soon as possible following restraint, but in no case later than thirty minutes after the initiation of the restraint.

Excluded as programmed mechanical restraint is the use of restraints in an emergency situation (Section 6, Page 8 of 9), during a necessary medical or dental procedure, or to promote healing following a medical procedure or injury. Devices such as a helmet which are not prescribed for the purpose of restricting an individual's movement and/or normal functioning, but rather for their safety and protection are not considered a mechanical restraint.

Note: For medical management, please refer to local site Policy on drugs to manage behavior (Behavior Management/Psychiatric Interventions).

5. Conditions for Use of Behavior Programs.

A. A formal behavior program will be developed by the IDT, written by a licensed psychological professional, and approved by a psychologist. It will include the following elements:

1) Description of the behavior to be modified;
2) Functional Analysis;
3) Thorough description of each step of the program to include duration and intensity of specific procedures, the methods of monitoring and analyzing the process, and special precautions that will be taken;
4) Description of any alternatives to the specific procedures;

B. The Individual Program Plan or behavior program will include:
1) Description of all procedures already attempted;
2) Side effects and risks, if any, of the intervention, in comparison with those of allowing the maladaptive behavior to continue; and
3) Behavioral objectives.

C. Behavior Management Procedures should be used in order of least restrictive, unless clinically contraindicated. Exceptions to this order must be fully documented and substantiated as to why more restrictive procedures are advisable before less restrictive ones.

D. All persons administering Category II and III procedures must have been trained in the administration of those specific procedures and have personally experienced those particular procedures, unless medically contraindicated for that person.

E. The Human Rights Committee will review all Category II and III programs at least every 6 months.

F. IDT consideration will be given to seeking consultation from outside expertise when IDT staff resources have been exhausted, as evidenced by the use of Category III procedures for over one (1) year without significant progress. If an outside consultant has been used without success, the agency should continue to access this or other outside expertise until an effective strategy is realized.

An outside consultant is defined as a professional of any discipline and who is not a member of the IDT. For instance, the outside consultant may be a member of the HDC staff not on the identified IDT, the agency staff, or a professional not affiliated with the agency.

6. Emergency Procedures. Nothing in this policy prohibits the use of emergency restraint (mechanical or personal), confiscation of any item used in a threatening manner, or removal from the environment for the purpose of protecting the individual and others around him/her. This includes the use of restraint procedures in the course of an established program, when the individual becomes a danger to him/herself or others, prior to staff being able to implement a lesser restrictive hierarchy. However, it is emphasized that emergency procedures may not be used at frequent intervals, becoming a routine method of intervention. If emergency procedures are utilized three times in a six-month period, the IDT will meet to conduct a functional analysis and develop an appropriate plan of action. The emergency use of restraint must conform to ICF/MR regulations and must be reported immediately to the facility administrator or designee.

7. Prohibitions: These activities are expressly prohibited.

   A. Corporal punishment - refers to the application of painful stimuli to the body as a penalty for certain behavior, and includes, but is not limited to, hitting, pinching, the use of electrical shock or other infliction of pain, whether or not applied as part of a systematic behavior intervention program.

   B. Individuals who receive services from the agency disciplining other individuals unless involved in an organized and approved self-governing program. Individuals will not participate in the actual administration of discipline.

   C. Seclusion of an individual alone in a room or other area from which entry/exit is prevented. This does not include placement in a time-out area for brief, programmed time segments, as part of a behavior program that meets all applicable standards.

   D. Unless specifically requested by family/guardian, any procedure that denies visitation or communication with family members.

   E. Any procedure that denies sleep, shelter, bedding, food, drink, or use of bathroom facilities.

   F. Inappropriate vocalizations, maltreatment, neglect, or forced exercise.

8. Informed Consent. The individual served and/or guardian, as appropriate, will be provided a copy of the behavior program which utilizes Category II and III procedures. Informed consent will be obtained PRIOR to the implementation of the program, with the following procedures:

A. Persons 18 years of age or older who have no legally appointed guardian may give informed consent for their behavior program. If there is a question about the individual's ability to give informed consent and no guardian can be located, appropriate legal action must be pursued to have someone appointed who can give consent.

B. Consent by the legal guardian(s) is required if guardianship has been established.

C. The legally adequate consent will:
1) Specify, in terms that are easily understood, the restrictive or intrusive procedure(s) involved;
2) Inform the person(s) giving consent of any potentially harmful effects of the procedure(s);
3) Be time-limited, not to exceed one year; and
4) State that consent may be withdrawn at any time.

9. Uncategorized Procedures. In the event a proposed procedure does not readily fit in one of the prescribed categories, it may be utilized on an emergency basis, if necessary, at the discretion of the administrator or designee until the appropriate category is determined.

NOTE: Behavior Management Policy 3011-D does not preclude the use of other restrictive/intrusive procedures that would prevent serious bodily harm and/or destruction of property or death. These procedures can only be considered when lesser restrictive procedures have been proven ineffective or their implementation are determined to be clinically contraindicated. Approvals required are the same as those for Category III procedures. Additional approvals may be required as deemed necessary by the facility administrator.

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Okay. Ms. Jones, how are you today?

A I'm okay.

Q Where are you? Where are you right now?

A I'm in Jennifer Berry's office.

Q Okay. Is there a -- what are you speaking into?

A The computer mic.

Q It's just a computer mic and it --

A I'm trying to move it closer.

Q Maybe you need to ask Ms. Berry, but is there a way -- we can barely hear you. I can barely hear you.

A Okay. Is that any better?

Q Yes.

A Okay.

Q That's better.

Okay. And, if you don't mind, swing that camera around the office so I know nobody else is in there. Okay. What's to your left?

A A wall.

Q Just a wall? Okay. All right. Let's see.
All right. Ms. Jones, state your full name for me.
A Amy Amanda Jones.
Q Amy Amanda Jones. Okay. And how old are you, Ms. Jones?
A I'm 37.
Q Thirty-seven? And where do you live?
A [redacted]
Q
A
Q Are you from the area?
A Yes.
Q Did you grow up there and go to high school there?
A Yes.
Q All right. Did you attend college?
A No.
Q Okay. When did you graduate high school?
A I went back and got my GED in 2012.
Q Okay. What year did you drop out of high school?
A 2000.
Q And what grade was that?
A Ninth.
Q Okay. You dropped out of high school in ninth grade?
A Yes.

Q Okay. And why did you do that?
A I homeschooled for a while. And I got married young.
Q Okay. How old were you when you got married?
A Seventeen.
Q Seventeen? Okay. So you dropped out of high school in ninth grade because you were going to do homeschool?
A Yes.
Q But then you ended up not getting any credit for that homeschool?
A No.
Q Okay. Why is that?
A Because I didn't -- I just didn't do it.
Q What does that mean?
A I mean, I -- I was young and I ended up getting married.
Q Did you live with your mom and dad? Did you live with your parents?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Did they -- were they okay with you dropping out of high school?
A No.
Q Did you get into trouble? Did you have problems at school? What --
A I was having problems at school.

Q What kind of problems?
A With teachers and other kids and --
Q Tell me a little about that.
A I had -- I had trouble making friends as a kid.
Q Okay.
A A loner.
Q Were your grades suffering?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And so that was 2000, you said?
A Roundabout, yes.
Q And did you start working after you dropped out of high school in ninth grade?
A No.
Q And you got married at age 17?
A Yes.
Q Who did you marry?
A Benjamin Karo.
Q Are y'all still married?
A No.
Q Did you have children with Benjamin?
A No.
Q Okay. When did you divorce?
A It was four years later, so around --
Q At 20?
A -- 21.

Q Okay. What were you doing at 21?
A I came to work up here for a while. And then I left to take care of my mom. She was sick.
Q What did you do -- so you came to work at Booneville when you were 21? And that was -- is that right?
A Yes.
Q And that's before you got your GED?
A Yes.
Q And what did you do at Booneville at that point?
A I was a -- I believe it was called LST, at the time, life skills trainer or --
Q A life skills trainer?
A Yes.
Q What does a life skills trainer do?
A Helping our individuals learn every day life skills, so that they may be able to live in the community.
Q And where were you living at the time when you were 21?
A I was living in Booneville, actually, with my parents at the time.
Q Okay. So, at that time, you were living with your parents, you had dropped out of high school in ninth grade. And you'd not gotten your GED, and you were working as a life care -- life skills coach?
A Yes.

Q For the Booneville Human Development Center?
A Yes.
Q How long did you keep that job?
A Around three months. My mom got sick and I quit to take care of her.
Q Uh-huh. So you quit your job or you were fired?
A I quit.
Q Did you have any disciplinary issues at Booneville during that three-month stint?
A No.
Q Okay. So you quit, what did you do after that, other than take care of your mom?
A I stayed at home with her.
Q You didn't work?
A No.
Q Okay. So you lived at home, how long did this go on?
A A couple of years.
Q Okay. Then what happened?
A I started work for Cargill Meat Solutions.
Q Cargill Meat Solutions?
A Yes.
Q Like meat, like you eat meat, solutions?
A It's a processing plant.
Q Okay. I probably don't want to know what that means.

All right. So you worked there for two years?

A I work -- yeah.

Q Okay. And did you quit that job?

A Actually, it burned while I was still employed there.

Q Okay. What did you do after that job?

A I had my daughter. And I stayed home with her for a while.

Q Oh, okay. When did you get remarried?

A I didn't.

Q Okay. Who did you have your daughter with?

A Joseph Jones.

Q Okay. How many children did you have with Joseph Jones?

A One.

Q Okay. And what year was that?

A 2008.

Q And were you still living at home with your mom then?

A No. I had moved in with him.

Q Okay. Do you still live with him?

A No.

Q Did you ever get married to him?

A No.

Q Okay. And what were you doing -- you weren't working then while your daughter was young?
A No. I took some time off.
Q Okay. When did you next work?
A She was around two.
Q Okay. Where did you go to work then?
A Rockline Industries.
Q Say that again.
A Rockline Industries.
Q Okay. And what did you do there? What is that?
A It -- they make paper products, like wet wipes and cleaning products. I was a packer, palletizer, and I did some QA work with them.
Q And how long did you work there?
A About two years.
Q Okay.
Did you have any more children?
A Yes, I had one more. And I had gotten pregnant with her when I was working at Rockline.
Q Okay. Same father, Joseph Jones?
A No. It's Timothy Walls.
Q Okay. And did you get married to him?
A No.
Q Okay. Do you have any other children?
A No.

Q So you have two daughters?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Did you work after your second child was born?
A No. I actually moved to Fayetteville for a while. And I was working for Lifestyles and I was going to cosmetology school.
Q Okay. Did you finish cosmetology school?
A No. I had a knee injury and they made me resign because I was on crutches.
Q Okay. What did you do then?
A I moved back to Booneville and pretty much started all over again and came back --
Q What year -- what year are we at now that you moved back to Booneville?
A 2016.
Q Okay. What did you do for work then?
A I came back to work here in 2017.
Q Okay. So you came back to work at the Booneville Human Development Center in -- around 2017?
A Yes, in the kitchen.
Q Okay. And so you've only -- and you also work there now; right?
A Yes.
Q And you've worked there since 2017?

A Yes. I had to take -- well, that was two -- that was 2016 when I went to work in the kitchen.

I had to resign for a while because I had -- I had to have surgery on my knee. And I didn't have enough time for FMLA.

And then when I got -- my knee got better, I came back to work here in 2017 as an aid. And I've been here since.

Q You came back in -- so you started in 2017, then you had to leave for a little while, and then you came back in 2017?

A I came back in 2016 and then had to leave for a while and then I came back in 2017.

Q Okay. I see. But then, before that, you'd worked there briefly in the 2000s?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Tell me again what that first job -- life skills what? That first job you had?

A Life skills trainer.

Q Life skills trainer. And then what was your job title when you came back in 2016?

A I was a cook.

Q Okay. How long did you stay a cook? The whole time you were there until you had to leave for FMLA or for injury purposes?

A Yes.
Q Okay. And, when you came back in 2017, were you still a cook?
A No. I came back as residential care technician.
Q Residential care technician. And that was in 2017?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
How old are your daughters?
A [redacted]
Q Okay. And do they live with you?
A Yes.
Q And does anybody -- you said you're not currently married?
A No.
Q Okay. Does anybody else live with you?
A No.
Q Okay.
So since 2017 -- you came back in 2017 as an RCT, residential care tech. And you've either done that job or I think you became a supervisor, but you've worked in direct care since then; right?
A Yes.
Q Do you want me to repeat that?
A Yes. No. I -- no. I said yes. Sorry.
Q Oh, okay. I couldn't hear you. Yeah, it's not your fault. It's just the -- do you think Jennifer Berry knows how to fix it?

A I can ask her if you need me to.

Q Why don't -- just in -- yeah. Why don't we just take two minutes just to let her come in and see if she can fix it. And then we'll have to have her leave again.

MR. GILLISPIE: We'll go off the record for a couple minutes.

(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Okay. And, Amy, do you go by Mandy?

A Yes.

Q Yes?

A Yeah.

Q Okay. And part of this is my fault because I forgot to instruct you on verbalizing yes or no. It's just something I'm supposed to tell everybody I depose beforehand.

But, instead of doing this or that, like in normal conversation, or uh-huh, hu-uh, because she has to type it in and make a record of it, in depositions, people have to clearly say yes and no.

So -- but that's my fault because I didn't tell you that.

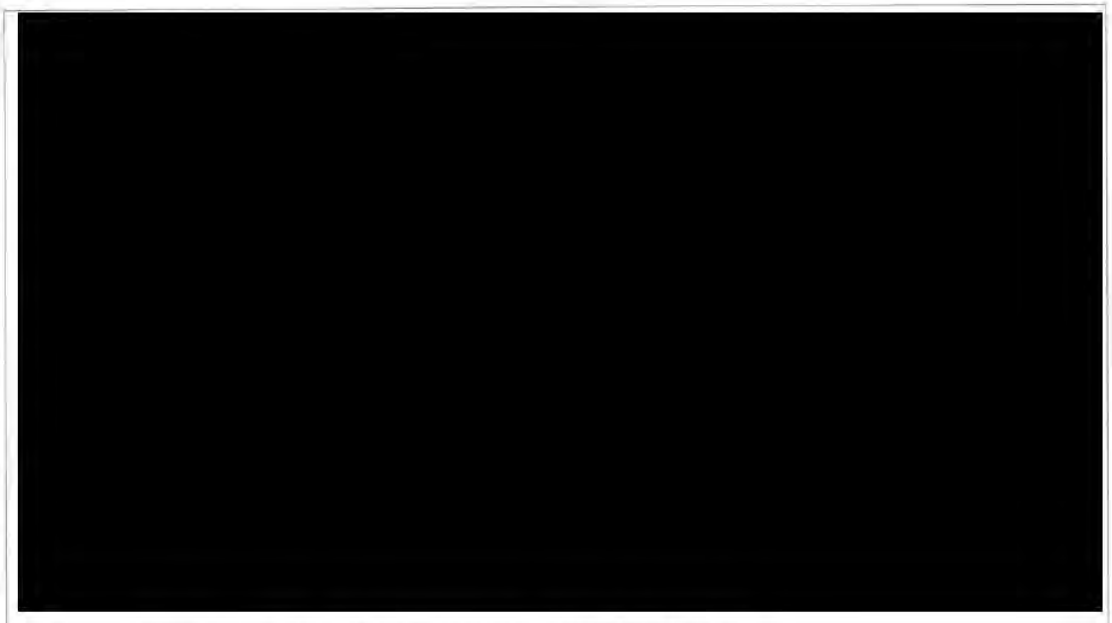
So, since you've been back, since you've been back in your role as a direct care provider at Booneville, have you received any disciplinary -- have you been disciplined for anything? Obviously, you've not been terminated, but have you been disciplined for anything?

A No.

Q Received any sort of flags, like anything like that?

A No.

Q Okay.



Did you undergo a criminal background check prior to coming back to Booneville --

A Yes.

Q -- in 2016?

A Yes.

[redacted]

Q Okay. Any misdemeanor convictions?
A No.
Q Okay. Obviously no felony convictions?
A No.
Q Okay. Have you ever been investigated for either child or adult maltreatment?
A No.
Q And you're not on any maltreatment registry with the state?
A No.
Q Okay.
And what is your current title at Booneville?
A Residential operations manager.
Q Okay. What was your title at the time of David Cains death --

A I --
Q -- which was in June of 2020?
A Care shift supervisor.
Q Care shift supervisor?
A Yes.
Q And when did you first become care shift supervisor?
A Actually, a couple of weeks prior to that happening.
Q Okay. And what had you been -- what had been your title or role prior to that?
A Residential care supervisor.
Q Residential care supervisor?
A Yes. There was residential care shift supervisor. It was an upgrade from the residential care supervisor.
Q Okay. So you were promoted from residential care supervisor to residential care shift supervisor?
A Yes.
Q And the shift supervisor position is an upgrade from what you had been?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And, in this new role, I guess it was new at the time of David's death, the shift supervisor role, what was -- what were your duties?
A I was stationed out of the Kelly Building. And I was overseeing like transportation and medical appointments and making sure all those were kept up.

Q Uh-huh.
A And pretty much every -- anything that they needed me to help with, as far as going out, marking coverage in the areas.
Q Let's see. I need a little bit more detail than that. Kind of, what was your average workday like in that role in June of 2020?
A Well, that's about the time we started with the COVID stuff too, so it was a bit of a mess, but --
Q I'm just trying to get a sense of what your job duties were, duties to residents and clients, just kind of get a general sense of what you did as a --
A The current --
Q -- under that role.
A -- position wasn't in any of the living areas. It was in our Kelly Building.

And I would go pull all the medical appointments and make sure that they were all kept up and that our transporter had the paperwork she needed for those appointments.

And I would make sure our mobile driver was doing the job she was supposed to be doing. And mostly filing at that point. I had just started training for it.
Q Okay. So your job consisted of making sure appointments were kept and that the mobile vehicle was up and running?

A Yes. And I also filled in for the program supervisor when they couldn't be here.
Q Okay. And who was the program supervisor?
A It was -- well, the one we had had just retired. So we were having Ashley Craigbaum fill in at that time.
Q And who was your direct supervisor at this time in June of 2020?
A Sandy Evans.
Q And she was the direct --
A Coordinator.
Q Director of Residential Services?
A (Witness moves head up and down.)
Q Yes?
A Yes.
Q And -- okay. So she was your direct supervisor in June of 2020? Sandy Evans?
A Yes.
Q There was nobody in between you and Sandy Evans?
A Our -- we didn't have a program supervisor assigned at that time; so, yes, it was Sandy Evans.
Q But, normally, if there'd been a program supervisor, the program supervisor would be above you --
A Yes.
Q -- and then above her, Sandy?

A Yes.
Q Okay. What was your -- what were your duties with respect to just the direct care of the clients in this role?
A Making sure that their program needs were being met and that staff was following their programs.
Making sure they got to lunch and to schedule when they were supposed to and. . .
Q Okay. And did this job -- was this mainly work you did from the confines of your office or was this a job that required you to be up, moving around, and overseeing the direct care personally?
A Most of the time, at that point, I was working coverage in the areas.
Q You were -- say that again.
A We were very short staffed at that time, so I spent a lot of time at that point working coverage in the areas.
Q You were very short staffed in June of 2020, at the time of David's death?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Tell me about that.
A COVID had just started hitting up here and we had a lot of staff off at that point in time. So I was --
Q Which made everybody's jobs a little more difficult?

A Yes.
Q Or a lot more difficult?
A A lot more.
Q Okay. Where did you notice these staffing shortages the most?
A Probably -- it was in every area in direct care.
Q So there just simply -- at this time, there just weren't enough direct caregivers to meet the needs of the number of clients you had?
A It was bare minimum. I mean, we had enough, but we didn't have any extra at all at that point.
Q But it was a lot less than you're normally comfortable operating with?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And so who would you supervise specifically? And I'm sorry if that's a stupid question; but I just -- you know, I don't know what any of these titles mean and I'm just trying to get a feel for it.
A Direct care staff and supervisors.
Q Okay.
So somebody like Tyler Mattson, is that somebody just directly below you that you would be supervising?
A Yes.
Q And Ryann Campos as well?
A Yes.

Q And did you also supervise the LPNs?
A No.
Q Okay. Who supervised them?
A Our nursing director.
Q Okay.
A Stacy Weinbernner.
Q Do you happen to have -- do you have any idea -- and it's okay if you don't.
But do you know how many direct care staff were under you at the time of the death?
A No.
Q Could you guess?
A We have to have at least 20 -- I think it was 23 at that point. So there would have had to have been at least 23 people here in direct care.
Q Okay. But you're not -- but you don't know if that's the case or not? You're not sure?
A We're not allowed to run without the adequate amount of coverage, so. . .
Q What would you do in a situation where you didn't have the adequate amount of coverage?
A Someone would have to work over from a shift, the previous shift, or we would have to call people to come in.
Q Had there ever been a time where you had to run a little while with less than whatever that minimum number of people is?

A Not when I've been up there, no.
Q Okay. Oh, I was going -- I meant to ask you, do you have any other kinds of licenses? Like have you done CNA training?
A Yes.
Q You are a CNA?
A Yes.
Q When did you get your CNA license?
A Last year.
Q In 2021?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And isn't it true that all direct care providers are supposed to have an LPN?
A Excuse me?
Q Aren't all direct -- weren't all direct care providers supposed to have LPN credentials?
A No.
Q You're saying that's not a -- that was not the policy?
A That we're all supposed to be LPNs?
Q Right.
A No. No.
Q So, as you sit here today, your understanding of Booneville policy is that direct care staff are not required to be LPNs?

A No.
Q Okay. What prompted you to get your CNA in 2021?
A The -- our facility requires it of all direct care staff now.
Q Wait, what?
A Our facility --
Q Am I going crazy here? I thought you just said they didn't.
A No, they do. They require it for all direct care staff.
You said LPN. We're all required to have CNA training but not LPN training.
Q I'm sorry. CNA training. Okay.
So what did you get in 2021?
A My CNA.
Q Okay. You're not an LPN?
A No.
Q Okay. All direct care -- that's -- this is my fault. I apologize. Too many acronyms.
But I am correct that all direct care staff are required to have CNA training?
A Yes.
Q And that was the case when David died too; right?

A No.
Q It wasn't?
A No.
Q When did that change?
A It was awhile after that. I'm not sure exactly how long.
Q I assume because of his death.
A I -- I don't know.
Q You weren't ever told?
A No.
Q Okay.
And CNA training, that's like a four-week course? Six-week course?
A Three.
Q Three week? It's a three-week course?
A Yes.
Q Three-week course.
But your testimony here today is that, in June of 2020, direct care staff were not required to have CNA training?
A No.
Q And do you know when exactly that changed?
A No.
Q But it was after David died?
A Yes.

Q And do you have any other licenses or certifications?
A No.
Q Okay.
Do you enjoy your job?
A Most of the time.
Q What's the hardest part of your job?
A Actually, directing staff.
Q Directing staff how? What do you mean?
A I mean, it can be difficult sometimes.
Q Okay. Some staff are -- give you problems? Some don't, I imagine.
A Yeah.
Q All right.
I need to know about the training that you received upon your rehire in -- well, the training you received upon being hired as a direct care, as a member of the direct care staff.
Tell me, if you can, what kind of training you were given when you came back, I believe in 2017, to do direct care.
A You go through a two-week phase class where we learned --
Q Is that the NCI, nonviolent --
A Crisis intervention.

Q -- crisis intervention class?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And that was a two-week course?
A It's part of it. That's not the whole class.
Q Okay. Well, how long does the -- well, how long did the NCI course take?
A A day.
Q One day?
A Yes.
Q And I understand it's phase -- there's phases, phases one, phase two. How many did you go through?
A I went through phase two. But phase two is later on. It's about six months after phase one.
Q Oh, okay. And how long did phase two take?
A I think it was a week.
Q Okay. And what kind of things are you taught in both of those phases?
A The phases --
Q Those NCI phases.
A Learning how to properly help people with developmental disabilities and their training and everyday life skills.
Q Well, it's called nonviolent crisis intervention. So I assume it's mainly involved -- mainly --
A That's just for that particular part of the class.

Q Okay. Well, tell me about what you're taught with regards to nonviolent crisis intervention.
A How to intervene when a client is having a behavior that could possibly hurt themselves or someone else.
Q Okay. And how did they teach you to intervene in NCI?
A They teach you techniques to put them in personal restraints without causing harm.
Q Okay. They taught you personal physical restraints in NCI?
A Yes.
Q Okay. What did they -- what are those techniques that they taught you?
A It's how to maneuver someone to a position where they're not going to hurt themselves or anyone else without causing harm to that individual.
Q Okay. Give me an example.
A Okay. So, if someone was to swing to hit you, they teach you how to grab that person's hand or arm and maneuver it to where they're not able to hit you or hurt themselves.
Q Okay. And tell me how you do that.
A How I do that?
Q Yeah.
A By grabbing their arm and pushing it back away from their body.

Q Okay. Where do you grab them on the arm? I mean, where on the arm?
A Usually the wrist.
Q You believe the wrist?
A No, it's the wrist.
Q It's the wrist?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And that's the only part of the body they teach you to grab?
A No. I mean, they teach you how to interlock your legs in front of the individuals so that they can't kick you in other situations. It depends on the situation.
Q Okay. Tell me about interlocking your legs on them. Tell me about that.
A Well, if they're kicking -- and you would have to do it with two -- two people.
Q Uh-huh. Describe it for me in great detail, please.
A Each person would get -- one person would get on one side and one person would get on the other. And they would have their wrists, like I showed you.
And you'd put one foot in front of their -- the client's foot, like around the front of the client's foot on each side, so that they can't kick.
Q Okay. And is the client standing in this scenario?

A Yes.
Q Okay. And so this involves two staff members?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
So you're staff member one, John Doe's staff member two. What do you do? You grab one wrist and he grabs the other wrist?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And then you intertwined your legs with the client?
A Not intertwine, really. You put your leg in front of the client's to keep them from being able to kick.
Q Okay. And what's the other guy do then? Who's got the other wrist?
A No, it's a two people helping. You have the wrist and putting -- you put your -- the inner leg in front of the client's leg.
Q You said -- I thought you said you have one wrist and then the other guy would have -- the other staff member would have the other wrist. No?
A Yes.
Q Okay. So you're using -- presumably, they teach you to use -- you'd use one hand to grab a wrist, the other staff member would use one hand to grab the other wrist.
And then what does the other guy with his legs to restrain the client?

A You both put your inner leg, the leg closest to the client, in front of the client's leg.
But you use both hands to hold their arms. You hold one -- one holds the wrist and the other at the elbow --
Q Okay.
A -- and the arm in front of you.
Q Okay. And what's that called? That maneuver.
A I don't remember.
Q Okay. So we have that maneuver. Back up to the first maneuver you told me about which was the -- and that's where you grab them by both wrists or just one wrist?
A The one -- if you have two people, you grab them by one. Each person grabs a wrist (inaudible).
Q Okay.
Let's talk about a scenario where it's just you. I'm talking about what you were taught here in this -- again, we're talking about things you were taught in NCI training; correct?
A Yes.
Q These are all things you were taught in NCI; right?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
Let's say it's just you and a client's having a temper tantrum and you think he's going to hit you. Are you taught to grab both -- are you taught at any point to use both of your hands to grab both the client's arms?

A No. If you're by yourself you -- we're taught techniques to maneuver away from that client so the client can't hit us.
Q Oh, Okay. Tell me about that.
A So like, if a client went to swing at you, they show you how to push a client's hand away and move around the side of him.
Q So that you don't have to grab onto both the client's wrists at the same time?
A Yes.
Q Because you're not supposed to do that, I guess?
A No.
Q Okay. Because that could lead to the client -- it could lead to more injury, I presume?
A Yes. For the client and the staff.
Q Okay. So you grab one wrist and you kind of just -- they teach you how to basically sort of --
A I mean, you don't grab. You just --
Q -- sweep away from -- kind of just like a matador? It's like kind of get out of the way of the client but control their exertion with holding one wrist so they don't hurt themselves; but you just kind of get out of the way so they can't harm you too; right?

A Yes.
Q And is it fair to describe it as sort of like sidestepping?
A Yes.
Q Okay. So the one hand side step maneuver. And I don't mean to put you on the spot here. This isn't a memory test. I just need to know what you remember.
So are there any NCI maneuvers like that that you can recall?
A Not that I can recall right off hand.
Q Okay.
A There are (inaudible), I just can't --
Q Does -- NCI does not teach anything about restraining clients while they're on the ground, does it?
A No.
Q Okay.
A Just has to put the clients in the safest position possible. We're not taught to put a client on the ground, no.
Q Okay. And, in fact, you're expressly prohibited from doing that, aren't you?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
MR. GILLISPIE: I need to take a quick bathroom break. Can we take five minutes, y'all?

MR. COLLINS: Yeah, sounds good.

MR. GILLISPIE: Thanks.

(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Okay.

Amy, we were talking about NCI training and you couldn't think of any other -- at this time, you can't recall any other specifics of what you would have learned at that, those two NCI trainings phases; right?

A They teach you how to move someone to a chair, to a sitting position.

Q Uh-huh.

A And we do have the from standing to ground position if we're having to use a papoose board. And that's the only time I've ever --

Q And is that taught in NC -- that couldn't have been taught at NCI because they wouldn't ever say use a papoose board; right?

A If we have to use one, yes, they do teach that to us.

Q NCI does?

A Well, it's part of phase class.
Q Okay.
I know that you have other training other than the NCI. It's just that my understanding of NCI was that they're firmly against anything like that.
A It's the last measure we use. We only use it --
Q Okay.
A -- if it cannot be helped.
Q Other than NCI training -- you said you had other training when you came back in 2017.
What other training did you have that would relate in any way to restraints used on clients? I'm not concerned about your administrative training or training that has to do with all of the other supervised, you know, the higher-level stuff you were doing with appointments and that.
I mean training that pertains directly to or has something to do with restraining clients.
A We go over chemical intervention. We go over how to de-escalate situations.
Q Tell me about that. Like what are the things that you're taught, whether it be from NCI or from anyone else, about de-escalation techniques that do not involve physical contact.
A A lot of times it's -- it depends on how you talk to the individual.

Q Okay.
A How you hold yourself, your stature.
Q Okay. I think I know what you're -- I think I've seen what you're talking about.
Are you referring to the avoiding, diffusing violent behaviors training?
A Yes.
Q Such as, you know, keeping your hands at your sides with palms open?
A Yes.
Q Do you remember learning that?
A Yes.
Q Speaking in a reassuring voice, not raising your voice, not making -- trying to keep a neutral face?
A Yes.
Q Are those all things you recall?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And are those things that -- and I know this because I got it from the annual training documents that y'all produced to me. Not you but that DHS produced to me. But those are things you were trained in.
I'm going to -- this is difficult by Zoom, but what I'm going to do is I need to make an exhibit. And we're going to call this Plaintiff's 1. But can you -- hell, that doesn't work at all. Can you -- well, does it look right when I hold it up to you?

A Yes.
Q It looks backward. Okay.
A It's okay.
Q So just take a look at this. Let me know when you want me to move it up.
I just want you to briefly kind of scan over it and then I'm just going to kind of ask you if you recognize this type of training.
A Okay. You can move it up.
Q Okay. Tell me when. Take your time though.
A Go ahead.
Q Okay.
A Okay.
Q So what I just showed you, I'm going to mark this as Exhibit 1.

(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 1 and is attached hereto.)

MR. GILLISPIE: This is from the annual training documents dated 2020. This one is dated 2020. It's Bates stamped at 2716. Again, marked as Exhibit 1.

And, I guess, Cris, at the end of the deposition, I should just e-mail everything to you and Eric?

COURT REPORTER: Yes, please.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. All right.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Okay.

So, Ms. Jones, you had a chance to look at this. And you recognize this type of training as training you were given?

A Yes.

Q And would this also be training that Tyler Mattson and Ryann Campos would have been given as well?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And so, while this document appears to be from 2020 training, it's identical to what you would have been taught in recent years, '17, 2017, 2018, and 2019, I assume?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And some of these things are, you know, know the person you're dealing with, listen, try to appear calm and relaxed?

A Yes.

Q You recognize those as techniques?

A Yes.

Q We talked about keeping your hands at your sides with palms open in a reassuring stance.

A Yes.
Q Judge the distance you keep, if you feel like you need to, and allow space and room to escape.
Are those things you were taught?
A Yes.
Q If an upset client is standing, you should stand. If an upset client is sitting, you should sit.
Is that something you were taught?
A Yes.
Q Why is that? If you know.
A To make them more comfortable.
Q Okay. So if a client's sitting and upset, if you have -- if you also sit, am I correct that that would make you appear less threatening to the client rather than standing over them, I guess?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And then, of course, just, you know, generally be calm and polite and reassuring, I suppose; right?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
(Brief Discussion off the Record)
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Okay.

Was there any other specific training that you were provided about physical restraints?

And, honestly, I'm not really that interested in mechanical restraints, you know, the papoose board type stuff. And I'm not really that interested in chemical restraints.

I'm really just asking about the physical restraints because that was what was used in the incident in question.

So any other training you can tell me about that relates to the use of physical restraints on a client who's acting out?

A Not -- no.

Q Okay. Did you receive any sort of certification from NCI or through any of these other training programs you might have undergone?

A No.

Q And you were never taught to physically restrain clients on the floor, were you?

A We're taught that transitioning to the ground.

Q Who teaches that?

A Mark Hise.

Q Who?

A Mark Hise.

Q How do you spell that?

A H-a-i-s. Or H-i-s-e. Sorry.
Q And who is he?
A He is our staff development. He trains all of our new staff.
Q Okay. And he trains how to, what you call, transitioning clients to the ground?
A Yes.
Q And what would be the purpose of transitioning a client to the ground?
A If we're going to have to put them in mechanical restraints.
Q Is there any other scenario where you would need to transition a client to the ground or be allowed to do so?
A No.
Q Okay. And how do you transition a client to the ground?
A It -- you don't do it unless you have more than one person.
Q Okay.
A And it's better with three so somebody can hold their back and kind of lay them --
Q How do you do it if you have the right number of people?
A One on each side. And, rather than having your feet in front of the client's legs, you put them behind, like

I was saying earlier, and you just lay them back.

Their arms, you put them up. You've got their wrist and their elbow on each side. One person's at each side.

Q Okay.

A And you lay them back on the third person and so that you can --

Q And --

A -- get to the ground.

Q -- are you taught to get them to the ground just long enough to apply the mechanical restraint or are you also taught to literally restrain them on the ground for a period of time?

A Just for the chemical restraint.

Q Okay. So there's no training that you're given for restraining them for other purposes on the ground?

A No.

Q Okay.

And, in fact, you're not authorized -- as far as you know, you're authorized to do that, are you?

A Not unless it can't be helped.

In a lot of cases, our clients, if they are in conflict and they're -- they became violent, a lot of times, they go to the ground. Like they put themselves in -- onto the floor.

Q And you're saying, in that scenario, you're authorized to then keep them kind of pinned to the ground like that?

A Well, no. We usually transition them to the papoose board if we can't get them to calm down.
Q But you're certainly not authorized to keep them pinned to the ground for any period of time if you're not going to the papoose board; right?
A No. Just long enough to get them to the papoose board if one's available.
Q Okay. But if one -- but are you saying that you've been taught or told -- I guess, let me ask it this way.
Where were you instructed that there are -- how were you instructed and from whom were you instructed that you can restrain clients on the ground in certain situations?
A If they are hurting them -- causing harm to themselves or anyone else.
Q And in that --
A I mean, it's --
Q And, in that scenario, you're saying you can restrain them on the ground regardless of whether you're putting them in a papoose board or not?
A Long enough to get them to a different position, yes.
Q And how long is that? As long as it takes?
A As long as it's safe for the client.

Q And how long might that be? I mean, how long -- what's the longest you've done that?
A Maybe a minute.
Q And where in your policies, in the written policies that I've been provided, would I find something authorizing that?
A I don't know.
Q And what if I told you that there's nothing in your written policies that specifically authorizes that?
A I can't recite the policy. I don't know.
Q Do you know what the policies are with regards to physical restraints?
A Not off the top of my head, no.
Q Off the top of your head, you can't tell me what circumstances have to be present before you transition a client to the ground?
A I can't recite the policy, no.
Q I'm not asking to recite verbatim.
I'm just asking you to tell me in your own words what you understand the policy to be about when it's okay to transition a client to the ground.
A When the client is a harm to themselves or someone else.
Q Okay.
A And all other means have been used.

Q Like what other means?
A Like any other means other than -- any other restraints other than taking them to the ground.
Q And what those other means be? Other techniques other -- like what should you -- what are the things that should be exhausted before you ever do something like that?
A Well, first, you should try to de-escalate the situation before you even put them in restraints, any kind of restraints.
Q All right. And how would you go about doing that?
A Talking calmly to the client, offering other choices.
Q Uh-huh.
A Direction.
Q What was your relationship with David Cains? Did you know him well?
A Not well.
Q Okay. You know, how often would you come in contact with him?
A Not often at all. It would be every once in a while in his training area, usually.
Q In his what?
A His training area.
Q What's that mean?

A Where he worked.
Q Okay.
A Our recycling department.
Q So you wouldn't see him every day?
A No.
Q Would you see him at least once a week?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Typically more than once a week?
A Maybe once or twice.
Q Okay. And, more often than not, that was in his vocational setting?
A Yes.
Q What did he do for work there? I can't remember.
A I believe he shredded paper --
Q Okay.
A -- and he would tear books.
Q Do you have any distinct -- other than the date of his death, do you have any distinct memories of David or fond memories of him or bad memories of him?
Or did you just not know him that -- just not know him well enough to have such things?
A There were times when I worked coverage in that area, not many, maybe two or three times in all.
Q Uh-huh.
A And I do remember sitting with him and talking to him about music.

Q Yeah. What did he have to say about music?
A He would tell me the bands he liked. I liked them too. And he would -- he'd play the music and --
Q Was that the -- I know he liked the Monkees. Is that what he played for you?
A Yeah. He liked the Monkees.
Q Any other band that you recall?
A It was usually the Monkees he was playing.
Q Okay. Did you consider David to be a particularly dangerous or violent client?
A In his training area, his vocational training area, he would become violent and he didn't -- he didn't like being there. He didn't like going to training. He wanted to be back in living area --
Q Yeah.
A -- and he would become violent.
Q Did you ever personally witness him being violent prior to the date of his death?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Tell me about that.
A I remember him breaking a window at his training area. I remember him throwing things such as books and trying to hit his training staff.
Q Uh-huh.

A I was never involved with any of that. When I went to his training area, I was with a one-to-one client, so --
Q Okay. You were with another client?
A Yes.
Q Yeah. And, again, I'm really only interested in things that you saw with your own eyes at this point. If I want to know what you heard from somebody else, I'll specifically ask you.
So, as far as things you actually saw about him, you know, being violent, that's what I'm asking about. And you saw him throw books and break a window. Anything else that you saw?
A I have seen him on a couple of different occasions throw up and --
Q Vomit?
A Yes.
Q Okay. I don't really mean that. I mean -- I'm talking about violence, so --
A Mostly, it's just throwing books. And I seen him break a window --
Q Okay.
A -- and try to hit his training stuff.
Q Okay. You've never seen him, you know, cause an injury to someone?

A No.
Q Okay.
Have you ever heard of him causing an injury to someone that required medical attention?
A I believe she -- there was a girl that had worked with him that was pregnant that he had pushed down and hit.
Q Okay. When did that happen?
A It would have been around 2018.
Q Okay. And how did you learn about this?
A She told me. I don't know if she had any medical attention over it or not.
Q She told you?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Is there documentation concerning this somewhere?
A I don't know.
Q Okay. If there is --
MR. GILLISPIE: I guess, Eric, if there is, that would be in what you've already sent me?
MR. COLLINS: I believe it should be within the behavioral reports, but there is documentation for that.
MR. GILLISPIE: All right.

MR. COLLINS: I have not seen it personally with my own eyes, but I would imagine it would be in there.

MR. GILLISPIE: Garrett, you went through all those, did you see anything like that?

MR. GILLISPIE: Well, it's not in what we got, so --

MR. COLLINS: I'll inquire about it.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Without telling me, do you know the name of this person that he supposed did this to, Amy?

A Yes.

Q Okay. She's still a resident there?

A Staff? No.

Q Oh, she's a staff member?

A Yes. She recently quit.

Q Okay. And you're saying that you heard he pushed her down and -- but you're not -- you have no idea whether it required medical attention?

A No. I don't know.

Q Okay. Anything else like that?

A He would -- there was a few times that he throw his tray at the lunch room. I do remember that. I wasn't working with him at the time.

Q Yeah. And, again, I'm talking about like things, you know, that could cause somebody an injury.

Pushing them down, that counts. Throwing a lunch tray, I'm not sure it does, unless you're saying you saw him hit somebody in the head was a lunch tray.

A No. I -- well, I haven't seen him hit anybody with them. But he would throw them.

Q Oh, that's right. You said you haven't seen anything. These are just things you heard about.

So you heard about him throwing a lunch tray. Did you hear that the lunch tray caused somebody an injury?

A No. I saw him throw the lunch tray.

Q Okay. And did that cause anybody injury?

A No.

Q Okay. So, other than the staff member who he may or may not have pushed, is there any other potentially injury causing violence that you've heard of David committing?

A Not that I'm aware of.

Q Okay. You said you saw him throw a lunch tray in the cafeteria. What kind of interventions were used in that occasion? On that occasion.

A Staff was able to talk him into going out of the lunch room.

Q Okay. So there was no physical restraint used in that?

A No.
Q Have you ever seen -- I think you said you -- other than the day of his death, you'd never personally taken part in a restraint on David?
A No.
Q Had you personally witnessed a physical restraint used on David?
A No.
Q You never have? Okay. No?
A No.
Q Okay. Just making sure you.
Do you know, do you have information that you've heard about past physical restraints used on him?
A No.
Q You don't? Okay. Nobody ever came up to you and said, hey, you know, did you hear David had to be put on the board again? Nothing like that?
A No.
Q Okay. Do you know of any other clients, not David, but other clients, who have ever caused a serious injury to a staff member at the facility?
A Yes. But that's irrelevant. I can't really talk about that.
Q Well, you don't have to give me the names, but I do

-- you do have to tell me about it though.

I'm just trying to -- so how many of those injuries do you -- how many incidents that fit that description do you know of personally?

A Clients hurt staff?

Q Yeah. Where a client has actually caused an injury to a staff that, you know, an injury, injury that has required, you know, medical treatment.

A It happened -- it has happened a lot.

Q Okay. Well, you've been there the last few years. About how many times has that happened?

A I've had to go to the doctor twice because of injuries.

Q I'm sorry?

A I've had -- I've had to have medical treatment twice because of injuries.

Q Okay. Again, I'm not asking you to tell me who the client is, but just tell me about both of those incidents.

A My finger -- I got my fingers bit. And --

Q I'm sorry, Amy. Could you maybe speak up just a little bit or get a little closer?

A I got two of my fingertips bit.

Q Bit?

A Bit.

Q Okay.
A And I had a client fall into me. That was when he went to hit me and I moved out of the way.
He lost balance and fell over on me and fell on knee. I had to go get x-rays.
Q Okay. So you personally experienced two such incidents then?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
All right. But, of course, never with David?
A No.
Q Okay. Is your knee doing okay now?
A Yeah.
Q Those things can be bugaboos --
A Yeah.
Q -- lasting a long time. Other than the incident where David was throwing a tray in the cafeteria and he was successfully de-escalated through verbal mean, do you know -- do you have any knowledge -- have you heard or witnessed any other -- I think you said you've never seen a restraint incident with David, physical restraint incident with David, so you've already answered that.
But have you ever heard of another physical restraint incident with David where he had to be, you know, grabbed or physically restrained?

A No.
Q Okay. Do you know of any other incidents where David was taken to the floor?
A No.
Q Did you ever have any contact directly with David's family? His mother or sister?
A No.
Q Okay.
Am I correct that the policy regarding -- the 9-1-1 policy at Booneville at the time of David's death, am I correct that the policy was that only medical staff were supposed to call 9-1-1? Everyone else was supposed to call medical staff?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Is that still the policy?
A I -- I believe so.
Q Okay. Do you know why that is the policy? I know it's not your job to make that policy or probably even to know the answer to this, but I'm just asking.
A No, I don't.
Q Okay. Does it make sense to you?
A It makes sense that our medical staff could get there before EMS could. But I don't -- it don't really make sense that we couldn't call them and then call 9-1-1 as well.

Q Right. I agree. I agree.

MR. GILLISPIE: I am only going to have like four exhibits, but this is the next one. I wanted to call it 2. I'm going to call it 2 because it is 2. It is the second one.

(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 2 and is attached hereto.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q I'm showing you here what I've marked as Exhibit 2. It's been Bates stamped in this case as 4423, Booneville HDC policy, Roman numeral IV-B-10, first aid guidelines.

If you can, you see where this says -- the second paragraph. I just want you to read that. If you can, just read that second paragraph for me.

Let me know if I need to move the paper. I'm sorry. Read it out loud, Amy. I apologize. I meant for you to read it -- I didn't say that.

A First-aid guidelines have been approved by the staff position for the Booneville HDC. In all cases in which a serious medical injury or illness is suspected, either to a client or staff, a call to the medical department should be made.

This should be the first call to medical staff, so -- this being the first call to medical staff so they can respond immediately to the situation.

A call to medical at 1422 should be made and the following information should be given; caller's name and title, victim's name, location, situation, and condition of the victim. Okay. You can go up.

Q Oh.

A Medical will assess the situation and call an ambulance if appropriate.

All staff members are trained in first aid, CPR, and abdominal thrusts for choking so that, if necessary, emergency rescue measures can be initiated before medical staff arrives.

Choking is a serious and potentially life-threatening situation and the following guidelines should be followed. Staff --

Q So you can -- that's good.

A Okay.

Q Thanks. I just meant for paragraph two.

A Oh, I'm sorry.

Q Okay.

What you just read, does that -- do you recognize that as, in fact, the policy that was in place at the time of David's death?

A Yes.

Q Okay.

Do you know if -- actually, I think this was a discovery, written discovery response. But do you know whether Mattson, Tyler Mattson, had CNA training at this time?

A No, he did not.

Q Okay. What about the Ryann Campos?

A No.

Q No?

A No, they didn't.

Q No? But all of you were given some form of CPR --

A Yes.

Q -- Heimlich maneuver training?

A Yes.

Q Yes?

A Yes.

Q When were you given that training?

A In our phase one before -- before we're allowed to work on the floor.

Q Okay. So you would have gotten that training back in 2017?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And how many weeks was that training?

A Two.

Q Two weeks?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And so, during that two weeks, the training was solely focused on CPR and lifesaving training?
A Yes. The whole phase class was two weeks --
Q Okay. No, I'm --
A -- and first-aid --
Q I'm sorry.
A -- is a day.
Q Yeah, first-aid. How long was the first-aid training?
A It was first-aid and CPR, and it was done in one day.
Q It was one day?
A Yes.
Q Were you ever given that same training again as a refresher?
A Yes.
Q How often?
A I believe it's once a year.
Q Okay. So you think it's one day a year you go, you do the same training?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Where is that done?
A At our staff development.
Q And who's in charge of that?
A Mark Hise and Vanessa Wyrick.

Q Mark Hise. And who? Vanessa what?
A Wyrick.
Q But she works under Mark?
A I believe they're the same position.
Q Okay. But you seem to have a better memory of Mark doing your training than Vanessa?
A Yes. He's -- he's been in there longer.
Q Okay.
When did Tyler Mattson begin working there?
A I'm not sure.
Q Was it after you came back in 2017?
A No.
Q Or he might have already been there?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And you were his boss?
A Yeah.
Q Or supervisor? How long were you his supervisor before David died?
A A couple of weeks.
Q Just a couple of weeks?
A Yes.
Q Before that, were you his peer or -- meaning, were you, you know, just basically coworkers?
A Yes. But we never worked in the same area.
Q Did you know him well?

A No.
Q Have you ever had any issues with him?
A No.
Q Have you ever seen him mistreat a client or go overboard with a restraint?
A No.
Q Have you ever heard of him doing such a thing?
A No.
Q Have you ever heard of him getting in trouble at work for any reason?
A No.
Q Being disciplined for any reason at work?
A No.
Q Have you ever heard of -- have you ever heard any clients complain about him in any way?
A No.
Q Okay. Same questions but about Ryann Campos.
A No.
Q Okay.
All right. Moving on. Should be able to wrap up in about 30 minutes, hopefully. So I want to move on now to the date of the incident itself, June 13th, 2020.
I think that was a Saturday; is that right?
A Yes, I believe so.
Q And, obviously, you were working that day; right?

A Yes.
Q What is your normal shift?
A Eight to four.
Q 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.?
A Yes.
Q Okay. I'm sorry. Speak up just a little bit. I can barely hear you.
A Yes.
Q And, on this day in question, my understanding, correct me if I'm wrong, but my understanding is -- well, did you have any interaction -- let me ask it this way.
Did you have any interaction with David Cains on this day prior to the restraint itself?
A No.
Q You didn't see him in the cafeteria, nothing like that?
A No.
Q Okay. What was happening at the very first moment you laid eyes on David Cains on June 13th, 2020? What did you see?
A I went into the lobby out of the dining room and David was on his left side and Tyler was behind him trying to gain control.
Q But you did not see how he got to the ground?
A No.

Q He was already on the ground when you walked in; right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Did Tyler later tell you how he got to the ground?
A No.
Q Okay. Tyler never told you how he got him to that -- and do you know now, do you have any understanding now of how he got to the ground?
A No.
Q Okay.
So Tyler was behind him. David's on his left side, is Tyler on his knees?
A Yes.
Q Okay. What is Tyler doing exactly?
A He's trying to gain control of David's arms because David was reaching behind him trying to hit Tyler.
Q So you're saying David was laying on his side on the floor, Tyler's behind him, but you're saying David was still --
A Behind --
Q -- trying to hit Tyler?
A Yes.
Q And so what exactly was Tyler doing to try to control him?

A He was holding onto his shoulder and his waist.
Q So he's holding on, so you're saying Tyler had one hand on his shoulder, one hand on his waist?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And what was Tyler saying?
A Tyler wasn't saying anything. David was yelling that he was -- he wanted to kill Tyler.
Q Okay. But, again, David was on his side with his back to Tyler, so how exactly would David have hit Tyler?
A He wasn't hitting him. He was hitting at him. He was trying to hit him.
Q Okay. Well, why didn't Tyler just back up and give him some space since he's already neutralized on the ground?
A I don't know.
Q Okay. So you walk in, does anybody say anything to you? Do you say anything to anybody?
A No.
Q Had you heard a commotion? Is that why you walked in?
A Yes.
Q What had you heard?
A I heard yelling coming from the lobby of the dining room.
Q And you believe that yelling to be David yelling?

A Yes.
Q Okay. Do you know what he was yelling?
A When I opened the door, he was yelling, he -- I'm going to kill you, Tyler.
Q Okay. What was he yelling before you opened the door?
A I don't know.
Q You just heard some excitable vocalization and you went to check it out?
A Yes.
Q All right.
So you opened the door, you told me what you saw, and nobody says anything to you?
A No.
Q Tyler doesn't ask for your help?
A No.
Q Okay. What do you do next?
A I walked up to them and I got David -- I held David's arms, held them down in front of him with his elbows slightly bent.
Q Okay. So you -- where on his arms did you grab him?
A Right above his wrists.
Q Okay. Above both of his wrists?
A Yes.
Q But he's on his side, his arms are in front of him.

His arms are in front of him when you go to do this?
A Yes. I put his arms in front of him.
Q Okay. And you hold them down there, what, kind of like -- kind of like this?
A Yes. But more up by his face.
Q Up by his face?
A Yes.
Q Were his hands in a praying motion like this?
A Yes.
Q They were? The whole time?
A I don't -- I don't know about the --
Q But, either way, you're -- you got him here and here?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
Does anybody say anything to you then?
A No.
Q Do you say anything to anybody?
A I told David he should calm -- I asked David to calm down.
Q Okay. And what did he -- how did he react to that?
A He didn't react to me. He told -- he kept telling Tyler he was going to kill him.
Q Okay. Is he crying?
A No.

Q He wasn't crying?
A No.
Q How's his coloring at this point?
A It was a bit red. He was very agitated.
Q His face is red?
A Yes.
Q Is his breathing labored at this point?
A No.
Q Okay.
So his face is red, he's not crying. His breathing is not labored at this point; correct?
A Correct.
Q But he's still on his left side; correct?
A Yes.
Q And Tyler is still behind him; correct?
A Yes.
Q And Tyler's on his knees still; correct?
A Yes.
Q And Tyler still has his left hand on David's shoulder and his right hand on David's waist still?
A Yes.
Q Pressing down on him?
A I don't know.
Q But the purpose of him -- he's trying to control him from moving; right?

A Yes.
Q And you're only -- and you're only holding his wrists; right?
A Yes.
Q And you're in front of him; right?
A Yes. I'm to the front and the head -- his -- like the top of his head.
Q Oh, okay. So are you on your knees or are you standing?
A On my knees.
Q You were on your knees. But I think what you're saying is you're in front of him but also kind of --
A Back behind his head.
Q -- behind his head kind of --
A Yes.
Q -- is how you're angled?
And so you're actually -- grab his arm, his hand -- you're grabbing his wrist from above his head, I guess, is what you're saying then?
A Yes.
Q Okay. If that make sense. I mean, I -- okay.
And how long does this -- how long is this the status of things? This exact scenario you've just described, how long does this happen?
A Well --

Q I know Ryann -- I know that somebody else shows up. But, before that, how long does this last?
A Maybe 15 or 20 seconds before Ryann came in.
Q And about how many seconds -- about how many seconds would you say there were between when you first heard screaming while you were still in the cafeteria and between the time you -- I'm sorry. Let me rephrase.
Between the time you first heard screaming in the cafeteria and the time that you got down there to help Tyler, and you started helping Tyler, how much time, how many seconds elapsed, seconds or minutes?
A Twenty seconds, maybe.
Q Okay. So you think it took about 20 seconds to get from the cafeteria into the lobby, see what's going on, and then place yourself on your knees and then help by holding his wrists; right?
A Yes.
Q And then you think you guys stood in that position for maybe 15 or 20 more seconds?
A Before Ryann came through the door, yes.
Q Okay. So the next thing that changes then is -- is it Ryan?
A Ryann.
Q Ryann. The next thing that changes in the setting or in the environment is that Ryann comes through the door?

A Yes.
Q Where had she been?
A She was coming into our dining for lunch to help monitor clients.
Q Well, I guess what I'm asking is, did she also hear a commotion? Is that why she came in or did she just happen to be coming through the lobby?
A Happened to be coming through the lobby.
Q Okay. So she happens to be coming through the lobby. She walks in the lobby, sees y'all, what does she do?
A She bends down to hold David's legs because he was still kicking and. . .
Q Okay. Did she say anything to anybody, that you recall?
A I don't recall.
Q Do you recall if you or Tyler said anything to her?
A No.
Q Do you recall if David Cains said anything to Ryann?
A No.
Q Okay.
So, at this point, Tyler Mattson is on his knees behind David. David is on his left side. Tyler's hands are on David's shoulder and waist.

You're on your knees kind of above his head, but in front, more in front of him, in front of him kind of behind his head, and you're controlling his arms by holding his wrists; right?
A Yes.
Q And, at this point in time, Ryann is grabbed -- has him by the ankles; right?
A Yes.
Q Is she kneeling or standing?
A Kneeling.
Q Is she in front of him or behind him?
A Behind, I believe.
Q Or is she just, you know -- or just directly facing the bottoms of his feet?
A I'm not sure.
Q Okay. But somewhere down there where she can -- she's kneeling, grabbing his ankles?
A Yes.
Q So we know she's somewhere down there; right?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
And, at this point, has his face changed from red to any other color?
A No.
Q At this point, has anybody noticed any trouble with his breathing?

A No.
Q At this point, has he defecated on himself?
A No.
Q At this point, is he crying or saying anything?
A No.
Q Is he doing anything? What's he doing?
A He was -- he kept moving his head and looking back at Tyler.
Q Uh-huh.
A And it wasn't a few -- probably ten to 15 seconds after Ryann was holding his legs that he started -- vomit started coming out of his mouth.
Q Okay. And is that the first sign of serious trouble that anybody noticed?
A Yes.
Q The vomit coming out of his mouth?
A Yes.
Q It wasn't that he'd gone to the bathroom on himself?
A No.
Q Okay. And it wasn't that his face had turned purple? The first thing that happened was he started vomiting?
A He -- he started vomiting, yes.
Q Okay. And you think that happened about 20 seconds after Ryann started holding his ankles?

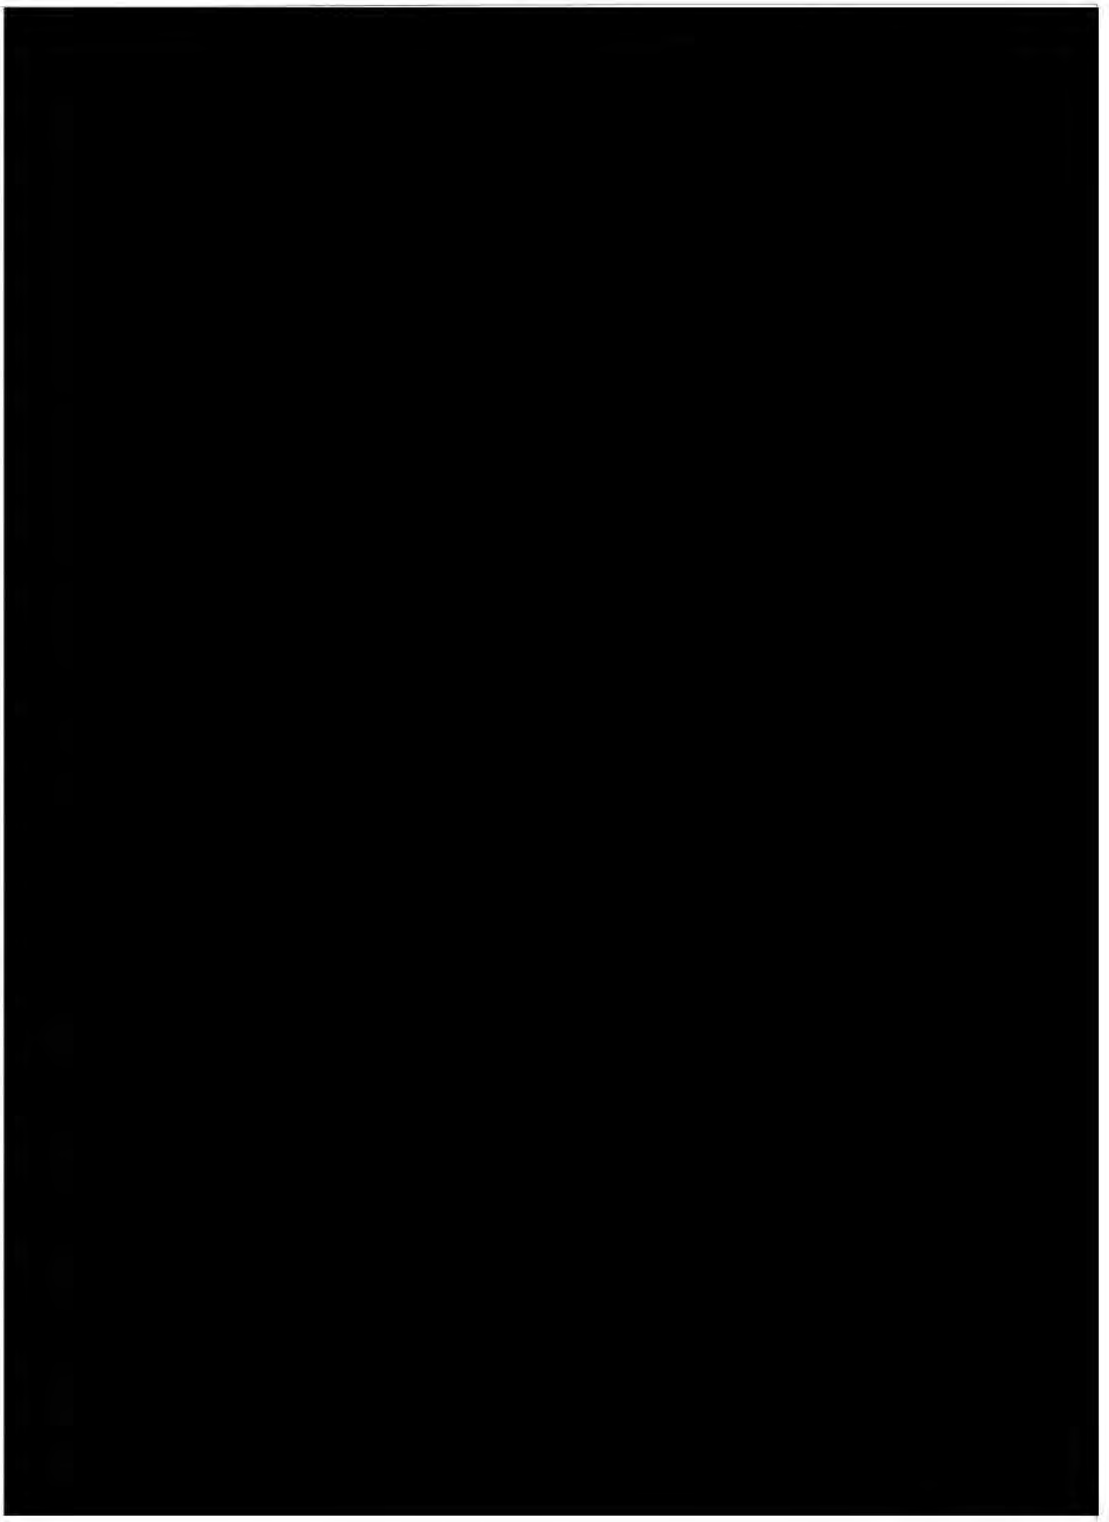
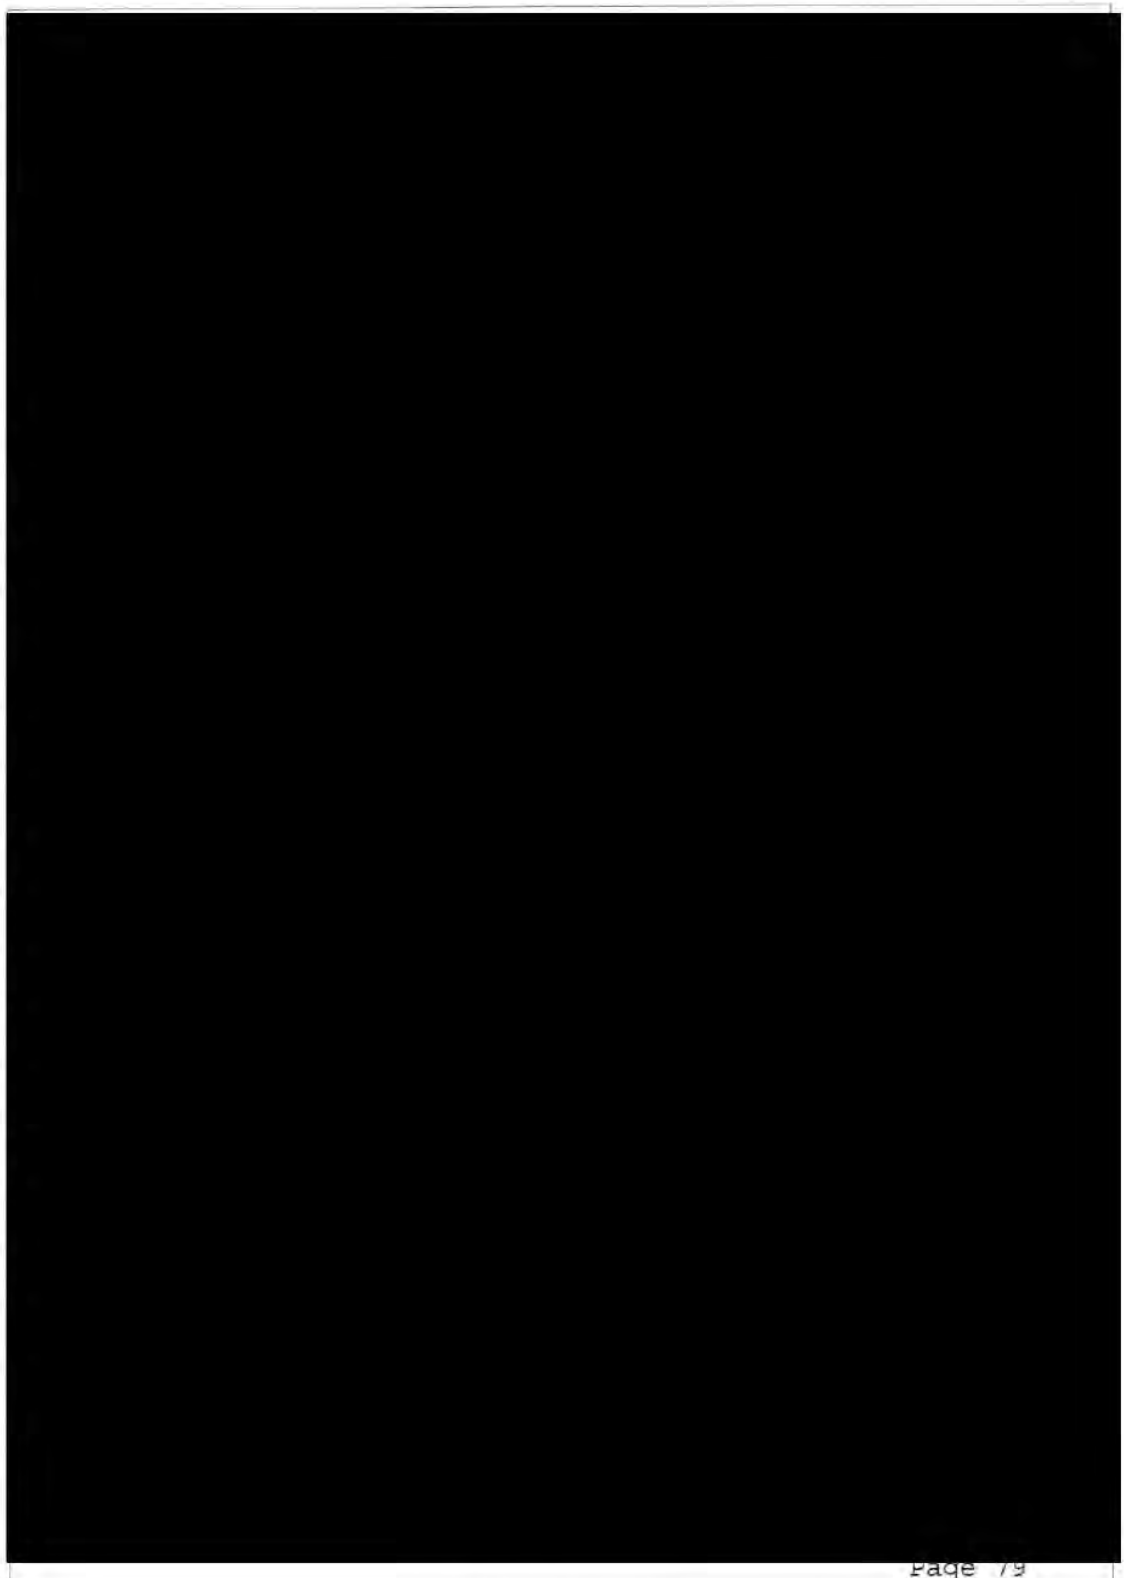
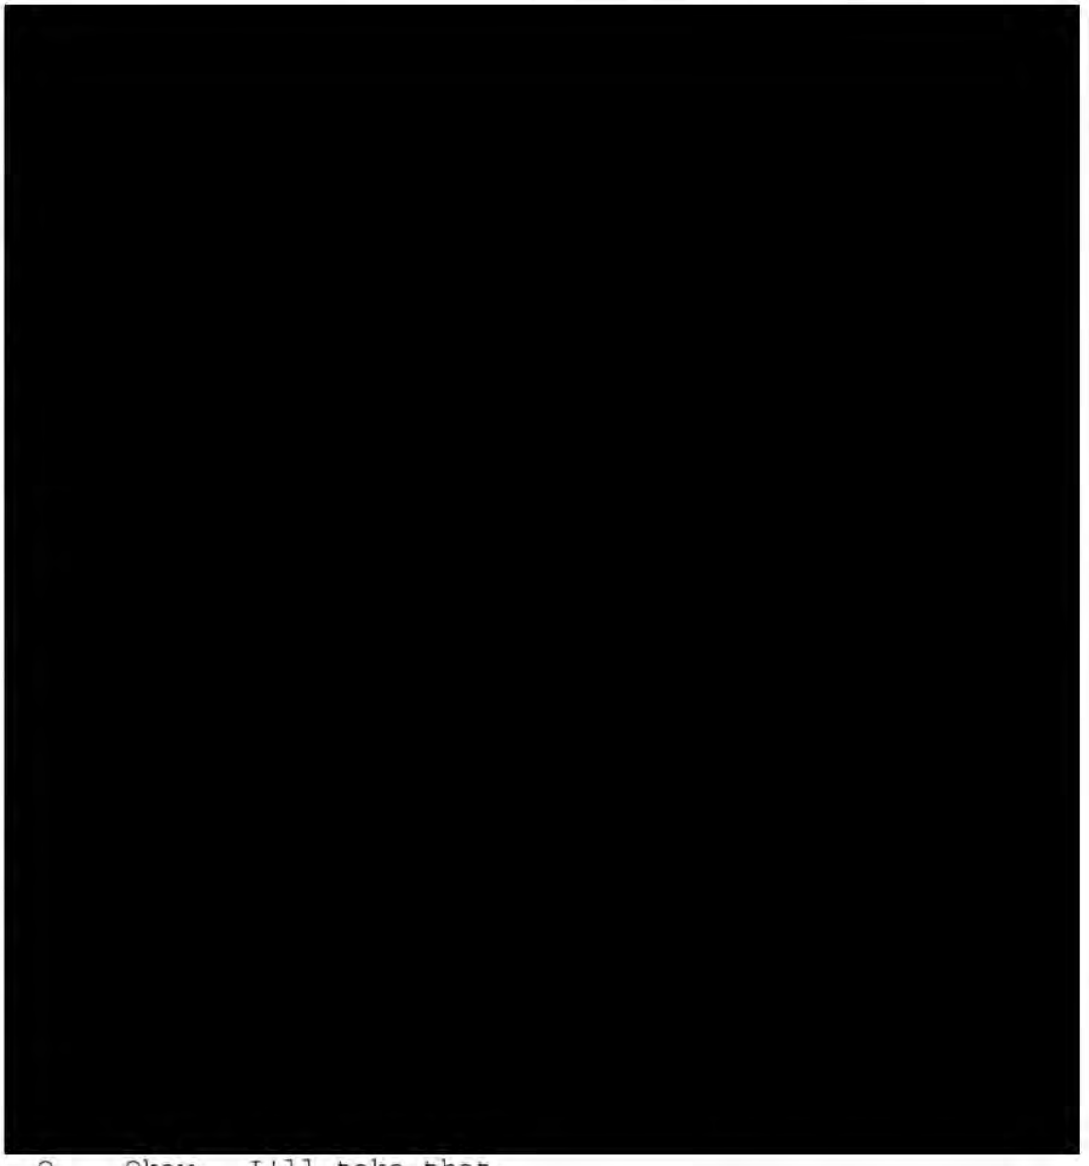
A Yes.



Q Okay. What happens next?



A I --



[redacted]

Q Okay. I'll take that.

So did you know -- at what point did you realize -- I mean, I understand the point where you realized he's vomiting and probably not breathing.

At what point did you know that he was choking also, that this was a choking matter?

A I didn't know that he was choking. He was vomiting. And, while vomiting, he stopped breathing.

[redacted]

A He tried --

MR. COLLINS: Objection. I'm going to object to that. That's very --

MR. GILLISPIE: I'll rephrase.

MR. COLLINS: -- (inaudible) to the earlier testimony.

MR. GILLISPIE: Understood.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

[redacted]

Q Okay.

All right. So then at this point -- is the next thing that happens that one of you calls medical?

A Yes. I instructed Ryann to call medical.

Q Okay. And about how much time elapsed between the time that he starts vomiting and when you instruct Ryann to do medical? Call medical.

A When we -- as soon as we figured out or assumed that he was choking, when he couldn't breathe --
Q Uh-huh.
A -- when we realized that he couldn't breathe.
Q Uh-huh. Okay. So about how much time -- you said it took you a while to figure out he was choking. You didn't know he was choking, you said. So you just knew he was having trouble breathing.
You're saying you didn't call medical until you realized it was a choking problem?
A Yes.
Q So how long did that take? Two minutes?
A No. It didn't take two minutes.

[redacted]

Q Okay. And does she use a cell phone or a phone -- a wall phone? What does she use?
A I don't know.
Q Okay. You had other things to --
A Yes.
Q -- concern yourself with. That makes sense.
So she calls, do you know who she talks to?
A No.

Q Do you know anything about the conversation between her and medical?
A No.
Q Okay.
Did it had to have popped into your head that, hey, I wish I could call 9-1-1; right?
A At that point, all I was thinking about was trying to help him.
Q Right. I believe that. I believe that. But, if it was me, I'd be thinking, damn, I wish I could call 9-1-1. That never occurred to you?
A No. I honestly was thinking about helping him.

Q Okay. And any idea how long -- do you have any idea -- what time was it when you first entered into this fray?
What time was it when you first started helping control David?
A 11:20, maybe. I don't -- I don't remember the exact time.

Q Well, according to the --
A (Inaudible.)
Q According to the documents I was provided, the nurse -- medical says it received the call at 11:33.
Do you have any reason to think that that's wrong?
A It's probably pretty close.
Q Okay.
A I don't remember the exact time. But I'd --
Q Sure.
A -- just gotten up to do the lunch room.

[redacted]

Q Okay. And so you're not sure exactly when -- thank you.

You're not sure exactly when Ryann called medical but you -- and this would make sense if this would be what you know because it's you.

But you do feel like you had done at least three sets of 30 of that by the time medical got there; right?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And medical was -- the people that showed up were two LPNs, King and Schmidt; is that right?

A Yes, I believe so.

Q Anybody else? Was anybody else present that I haven't named?

A Those are the --

Q Let me ask it this way.

A -- only two I remember.

Q Let me ask it this way.

Before medical got there, did anybody else show up to the scene that you recall?

A I don't know.

Q Okay. So, as far as you know, the next people that showed up at the scene were medical; meaning, Nurses Schmidt and Nurse King?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And, at that point, you, Ryann, and Tyler, I assumed you guys backed off and let them do their thing; right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And what did they -- can you tell me what they did?
A No.
Q Okay. I'm sure you're upset at this point; right?
A Yes.
Q It had to be traumatizing, I'm sure.
So you weren't really paying close attention to the kind of medical techniques they were using to try to save his life?
A No.
Q Okay. And it's okay if you can't. I just want to make sure.
Basically, the point of this is, this whole thing, this deposition, Amy, is I just need to know what you know because I need to know what you're going to say at trial.
And I don't care what you tell me here, as long as you tell me everything. And the only problem we're going to have is if you try to say something at trial that I gave you an opportunity to say here and you didn't say here.

So if you -- it's okay not to know. I just need to know what you know. I just don't want to get in trial and then you suddenly recall some, you know, well, they did A, B, and C.

You don't know what these nurses did?

A No.

Q Okay.

Who called 9-1-1?

A I don't know.

Q Do you know which nurse authorized someone to call 9-1-1?

A No.

Q Okay. Do you know -- do you recall the paramedics getting there?

A I remember seeing them pull up and come in through the front doors, yes.

That's all I remember seeing.

But I went back into the dining room because, at that point, I was responsible for monitoring several other staff and clients inside of the dining room.

Q Okay.

A I was trying to get them through lunch and get them out so that they wouldn't see the paramedics and --

Q Freak out, sure.

A Yes.

Q Okay. And did you re-enter the scene after that?

A I walked out once and paramedics was out there with him.

[redacted]

Q Uh-huh.

A I don't know what it was.

Q Were the police there?

A No.

Q Did the police ever show up that you saw?

A Not -- not that I saw.

Q Were you ever questioned by the paramedics?

A No.

Q You never gave any statement whatsoever to the paramedics?

A No.
Q Okay. Do you know who did give a statement to the paramedics? Do you know who it was that did provide the paramedics with the story of why they were there?
A No.
Q No idea?
A No idea.
Q Okay. Who would be the best person to ask if I wanted to find that out?
A Jennifer Berry.
Q Okay. Who is she? I know I've seen her, but what is she again? What's her role?
A Assistant superintendent.
Q Assistant superintendent?
A Yes.
Q So she's directly under Jeff Gonyea?
A Gonyea, yes.
Q Gonyea? She is?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
I can see you're getting tired and I promise you this is not going to be too much longer. We're through the worst of it.
Did you ever give any statement to law enforcement?
A No.

Q Okay. You were never questioned by law enforcement? Never said anything to them about this; correct?
A Correct.
Q I assume you would have never given a statement to the coroner or any hospital staff either; correct?
A No.
Q Okay.
Did you know at that point, when they -- by the time they carted him off, did you know he was dead or going to die at that point?
A No. Sandy Evans, our director at the time, let me know before I went home that day.
Q What was your reaction?
A I was upset.
Q How did it make you feel?
A It made me feel sad.
Q Did you talk with anybody about it? Did you ever -- did you talk to Ryann or Tyler? Did y'all talk?
A No.
Q Have you talked to either of them about the incident since?
A No. I don't know either one of them, really.
Q Really? Y'all have never gotten together and -- I mean, it's kind of a big deal. You guys --
A No. We work in different areas. I think Tyler's on my Facebook. That's about it.

Q Yeah. I mean, you're probably going to go through the rest of your life and never experience anything like this again, hopefully.
You guys never -- you never powwowed about it at all?
A No.
Q Okay.
A I don't know if they did or not, but --
Q Okay. Well, fair enough. No, fair enough. I believe you. I'm just -- I totally believe you. I'm just making sure.
MR. GILLISPIE: Let's take another five, please, and then we'll try to wrap up.
(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q All right.
Ms. Jones, I know you didn't see it, but do you happen to know if Tyler had attempted any nonphysical interventions prior to you arriving on the scene?
A I don't know.
Q Okay. At some point, did you hold David by his head while he was on the ground?

A No.
Q You never did that?
A No.
Q Okay. So, you know, the reason I'm asking is because Ryann says that you were holding him by the head in her written statement to the Office of Longterm Care.
A No. I was --
Q And then --
A -- leaning over his head. Like I had my arms up, but I never touched his head.
Q So she's just mistaken?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And then Ryan -- I mean, Tyler told -- according to Disability Rights, Tyler specifically said the same thing to them in his recorded statement, that you were holding him by the head.
A No. The only time I touched his head was when I went to clear his mouth.
Q Okay. So both Ryann and Tyler would just be mistaken about the same thing?
A They -- it might have looked like I was, the way I was holding his hands, because I had my arms over his head. But I was not touching his head.
Q Were you trying to control his head like with the insides of your arms?

A No.
Q Like kind of in like a vice, you were doing that?
A No.
Q You were not doing that?
A No. I didn't do that.
Q But it might have looked like that to them, is what you're saying?
A It might have looked like my arms were touching his head at some point, but they -- they wasn't. I was holding his hands.

My elbows and my arms were above his head.

Q So I'm just going to read from Ryann's statement. This is the written statement Ryann gave to the Office of Longterm Care.

I, Ryann Campos, arrived at commons for lunch. I noticed David Cains on his left side fighting Tyler in the lobby, comma, Tyler on his left side holding both wrists, period.

I saw David Cains look up at Tyler and spit, period. Mandy Jones came to assist to position David's head so he wouldn't spit, period. Then I seen David Cains' legs start to kick. I then stepped in to assist by holding both ankles.

Within a couple of seconds, I could smell that David Cains had a bowel movement. I then told Mandy and Tyler.

I then told Mandy and Tyler.

I then looked up and seen food coming out of David Cains' mouth. Mandy Jones then told me to call medical. I then called Judge Hill and spoke with Debbie Noah.

After I hung up with Debbie, I called Amanda, comma, LPN; Lacey, LPN; Joanna Miller, LPN.

[redacted]

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. So we'll make this Exhibit 3. This is the Ryann Campos OLTC witness statement.

MR. COLLINS: Josh, let me interrupt you real quick. Is that Bates numbered?

MR. GILLISPIE: No. That was in the -- David's medical -- or the file that DHS produced to David's family.

MR. COLLINS: Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: It's not Bates numbered. You may have sent me a copy of it with Bates numbers, but I didn't see it.

MR. COLLINS: I appreciate it. Thank you.

MR. GILLISPIE: Yeah.

(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 3 and is attached hereto.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q So some of what she's saying matches what you're saying and some doesn't. Obviously, the part about whether or not you had his head held is a big difference.

Again, you think she must have just been mistaken about what she saw?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Is there anything else in that statement that you heard me read that you disagree with?

A It's -- I believe she stated that she was in there helping Tyler or observing or whatever and then I came in, which is not true --

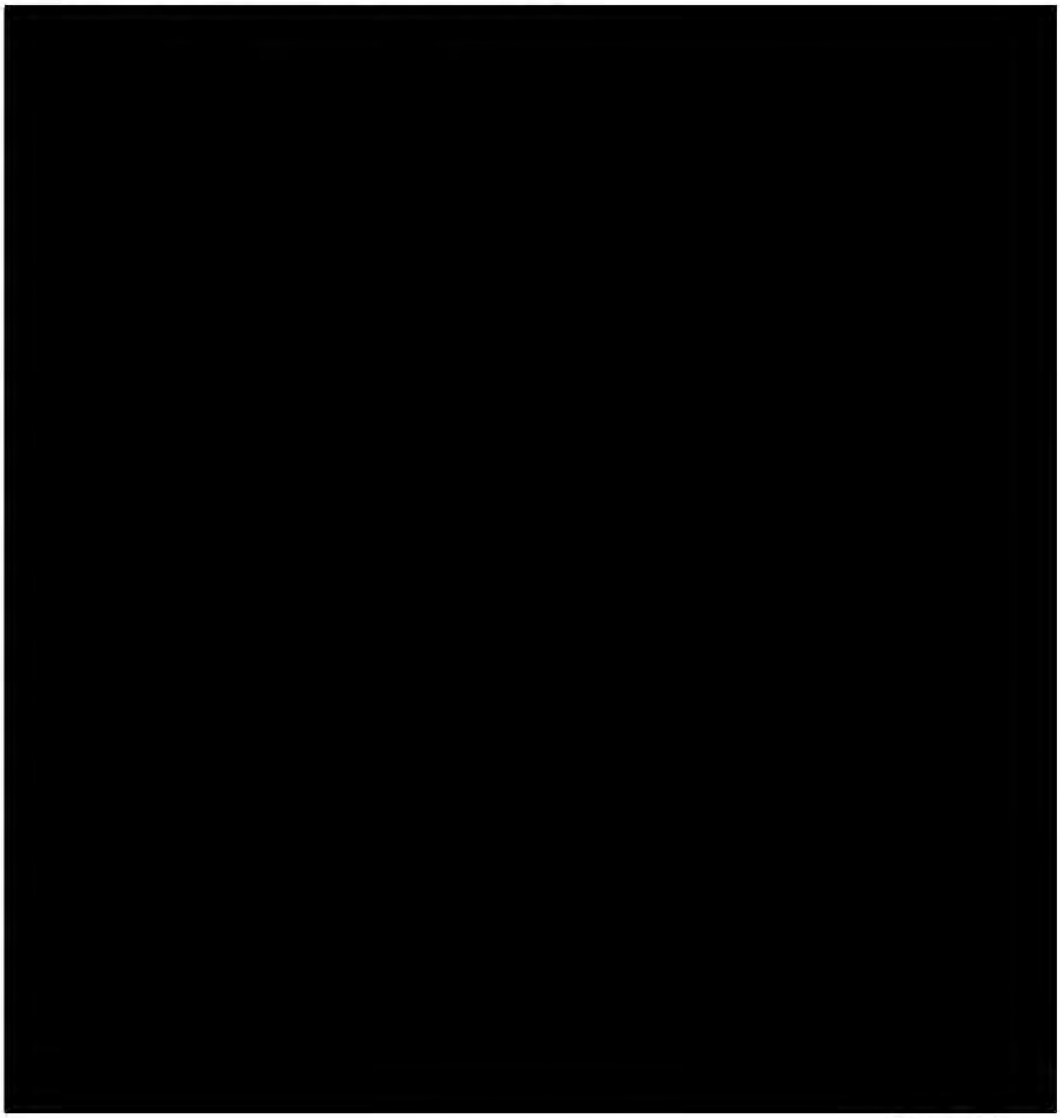
Q Okay.

A -- because we -- me and Tyler were in there before she even --

Q Yeah.

A -- (inaudible).

Q You're right. It did sort of suggest -- or it suggested that it's not clear who got there first. Yeah.



She says that you told her to call medical. Does that sound right?

A Yes.
Q Okay.
Okay. Moving on. Your statement, your OLTC statement, I'm going to read that as well. This is dated 6/13/20.
I sat down -- I sat down in the dining room at commons to do meal head checks and I heard screaming coming from the lobby.
When I went out to see what was happening, David Cains was in behavior and was hitting staff Tyler Mattson. I went to help -- although he couldn't have been hitting him if he -- in that position, could he have?
A He was hitting behind him at Tyler.
Q At Tyler, but he wasn't actually hitting Tyler?
A I didn't see him make direct contact, no.
Q I mean, I'm a pretty athletic guy, but I don't think I could even do that laying on my side with my damn arm under me hitting a man behind me. That's just not realistic.
I went to help and held David's hands. He was on his left side with his arms held up with his elbows bent slightly. Tyler Mattson was holding his shoulder and his side.

Ryann Campos came in through the front door and held his legs as he was trying to kick Tyler. We held David in personal restraints for about one minute. Does that sound about right?

A Yeah, roundabout.

Q He then started vomiting. We released him from personal restraints immediately.

[redacted]

But you told me you don't really know how long it took them to get there because you're not even sure exactly when you would have told Ryann to call them; right?

A I was guessing about how long it was when I said one to two minutes.

Q Okay.

A I didn't give an exact time.

Q And you would have told her to make the call?

Based on this, it sounds like you told Ryann to make the call to medical after you realized he was choking, which was about a minute after he started vomiting? Does that sound about right?

A No.

Q Okay. What's wrong there? What do I have wrong?

A A minute after he -- it wasn't a minute after he started vomiting. It was a lot quicker than that.

Q Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: This is your statement. We're going to make that Exhibit 4.

(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 4 and is attached hereto.)

MR. COLLINS: Jeff, before we move on, I need to check on something. Can you give us about a five-minute break?

MR. GILLISPIE: Sure.

MR. COLLINS: Okay. Thank you.

(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Amy, did either you or Ryann, either of you, attempt any nonphysical methods prior to joining in on the ground restraint?

A No.

Q Neither of you tried any verbal techniques or anything like that prior to joining in?

A I did ask him to calm down when I knelt down and I had his arms, his wrists.

Q You did? So you did speak to him then?

A I --

Q Because I asked you that specifically earlier and you said, no, you -- you didn't say anything.

A I told you that I asked him to calm down.

Q Okay.

And you said that to him as you have hold of his wrist though; right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. But, prior to grabbing hold of him and joining on that ground restraint, you didn't try anything like that, did you?
A No. It had already escalated before I even went in.
Q Escalated to what? He's on the ground.
A He was trying to hit Tyler.
Q He was trying to hit a man behind him with one arm and that was a big danger?
A Behind him -- no. But could have hurt hisself as well.
Q We'll address that later.
Do you know, do you have any information, about a client having his arm broken in a restraint at Booneville in 2019?
A I do remember hearing about that.
Q Okay. What staff members were involved in that?
A I don't know. That's HIPAA.
Q Not the staff members, it ain't. What do you know about that incident?
[redacted]
Q Okay. What do you know about the event? What were the circumstances?

A I know that -- I heard that he grabbed the client and pulled his arm and broke his arm.
[redacted]
Q Okay. What about another choking death --
MR. COLLINS: Hold on.
Before we move on real quick, Amy, maybe I misunderstood. Did you say that [redacted] was the name of the client or the staff?
THE WITNESS: The staff.
MR. COLLINS: Okay.
MR. GILLISPIE: That's how I understood it as well.
MR. COLLINS: That's fine. Go ahead.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q What about another choking death in 2015? Do you have a -- that was before -- you weren't there then --
A No.
Q -- but do you have any knowledge of that?
A I remember hearing about the client. Like I knew her -- I know of her name, but I don't know --
Q Okay.
A -- what really happened with that.
Q Do you have any idea -- and I know Eric is going to

--

MR. GILLISPIE: I'll say this with a caveat, Eric, that I know you don't concede that the event was misrepresented to the authorities. But, for the purpose of this question to Amy --

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Amy, my question is, do you have any idea -- I know you didn't give any statements to authorities and I know you have no direct involvement in this, per your testimony.

But do you have any knowledge or understanding as to why the event was misreported to authorities? Assuming it was.

A No. I wasn't aware that it had been.

Q Okay. And did I ask you already who is most likely going to have the most information about what was said to the paramedics?

A Actually, it would probably be Sandy Evans because she was our director at that point in time. She's the person who had us write out our statements.

Q Who was the most senior staff member that you personally saw at the scene? Arrive at the scene at any point.

A I -- the only ones I even remember is Ryann and the nurses. I don't remember anyone else coming in.

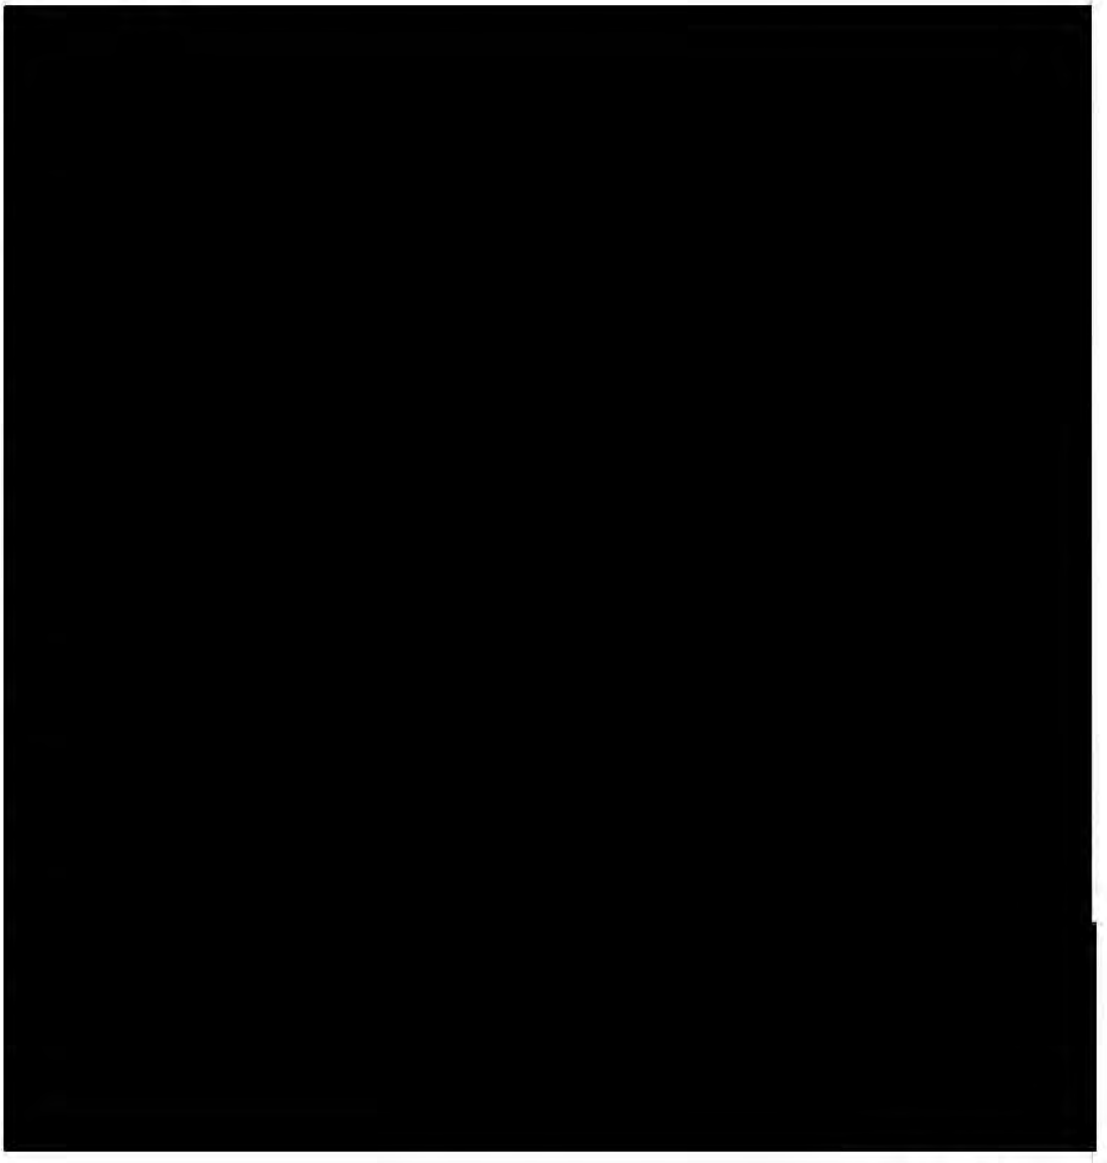
Q Well, how do you know Sandy Evans talked to anybody then?
A I don't. I -- you asked me who I thought would have the most information, and it would be her.
Q But you don't recall seeing her at the scene?
A No.
Q And you don't recall seeing anybody above the nurses or above -- Jennifer wasn't -- didn't show up? Nobody?
A No. Sandy came and took my statement after it had happened, very shortly after the incident.
Q Okay. I should clarify.
And, at this point, when I say the scene, I'm talking about, you know, as the paramedics are there or even as they're taking David to the hospital, you know, shortly thereafter.
Who showed up and -- who showed up shortly thereafter? Sandy?
A I don't know. Not -- Sandy didn't show up at the cafeteria. I had -- she instructed me to go back to the Kelly Building and start my statement; and she came in while I was doing it. Her and Jennifer Bancroft.
Q Okay.
A Jennifer came in to take my place.
Q Did you witness anybody speaking to the paramedics?



A No.
Q But, again, the only people that you know were there at the same time as the paramedics were yourself, Ryann, Tyler, and Nurses Schmidt and King?
A Yes, in the lobby. There were other people in the dining room.
Q Okay.
Were you aware at the time of David Cains's GERD precautions?
A No.
Q Okay. Okay. Well, as the shift supervisor, why -- you know, isn't that something you would need to be aware of?
A Yes. We have 120 clients. We do have quick looks for all of them that we can go to for reference, if we need to.
I didn't work with David often at all. I didn't work in his area but a few times ever, so I'm not as familiar with the clients in his area as I am with the clients that I worked more directly with.
Q But, on this particular day, you were the residential shift supervisor for David?
A I had just -- I had been doing that job for approximately five minutes when that incident happened.
Q Five minutes?

A Yes.
Q Okay. Five minutes?
A Yes.
Q I thought you had --
A It was --
Q -- said two weeks earlier?
A There was -- I was working coverage that day at another living area. The person that was --
Q You'd been a shift supervisor for two weeks though?
A Yes. But I was pulling coverage in one of the areas that morning.

I came to relieve the person that was the program supervisor that day.

Q Well, surely there's a system for transferring important information about the clients to new shift supervisors so everybody has all the necessary information, isn't there?
A We have a quick look book if we have any question over any of the clients we can go to. And it has their -- any information that we need to know about them in it.
Q Quick looks?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And is that a computer program?
A No. I mean, we do have that information on the computer as well, but it's books that are placed in every area with all of the clients on -- or in this facility.

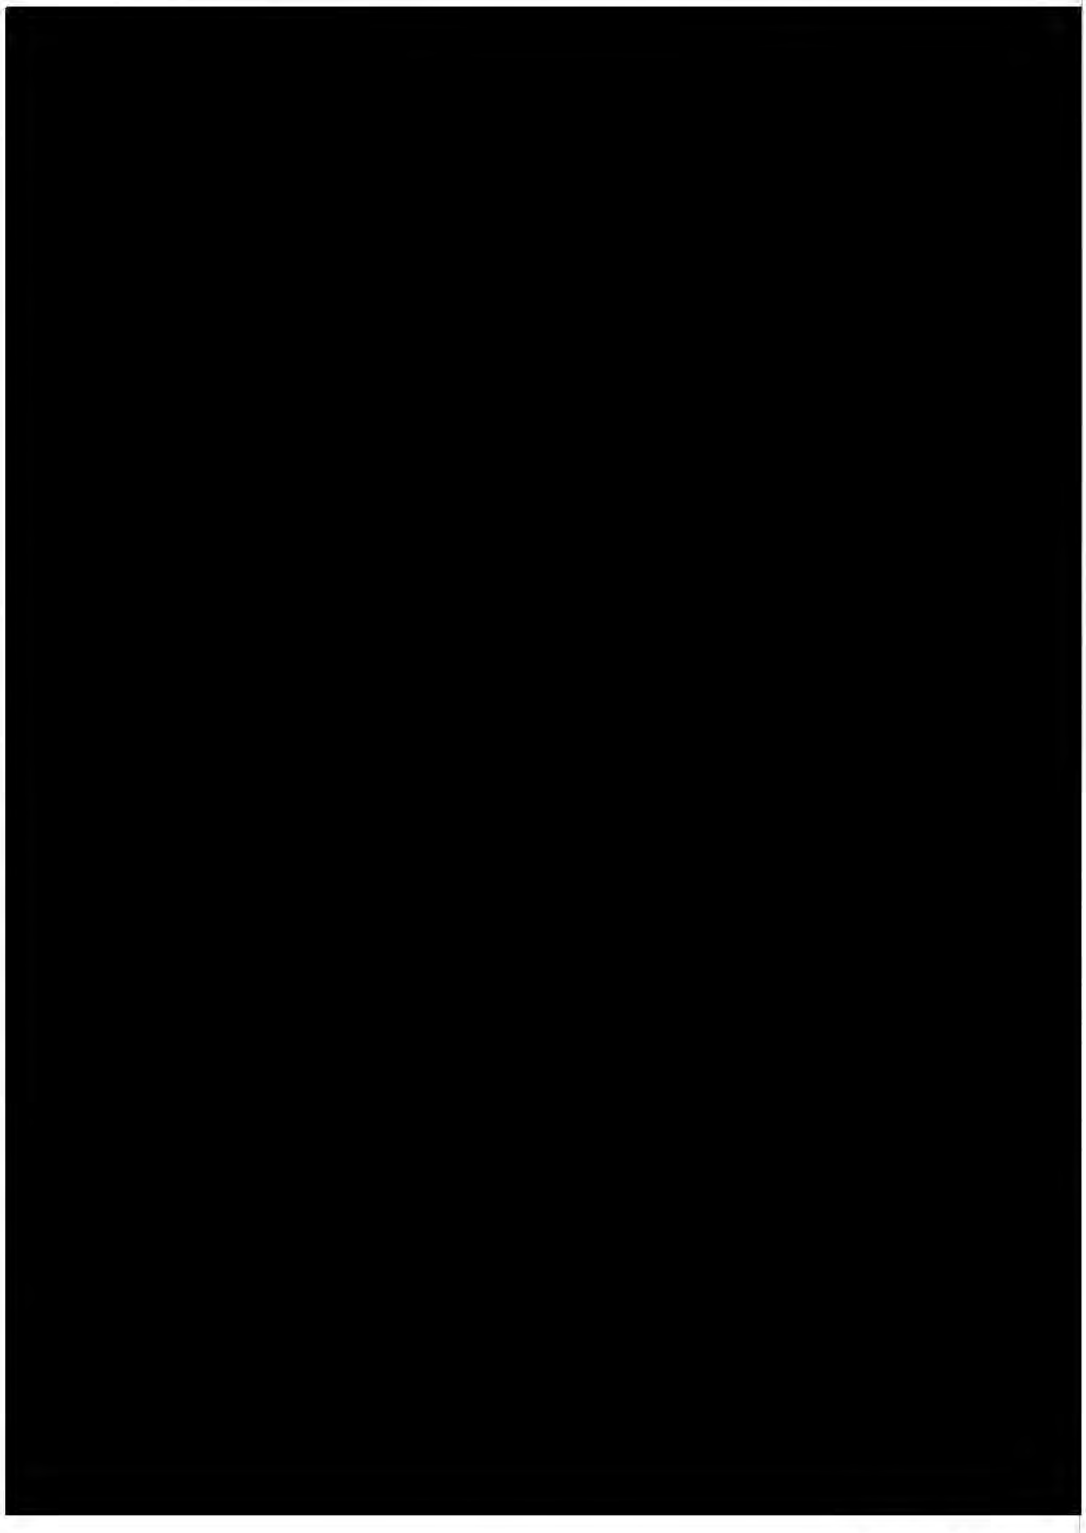
Q Okay. So there was -- on this day, there was a book that you guys refer to as a quick look --
A Yes.
Q -- that would've contained this kind of information?
A Yes.

[redacted]



Q And so prior to this, on this day, you were supposed to have reviewed that stuff prior to this shift?
A I have reviewed it. But, at the same time, we have 120 clients that's --
Q And you said you're also short staffed at this time too; right?
A Yes.
Q Which makes all of this probably more difficult for you; right?
A Yes.
Q Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: One more exhibit here. This is a list of physician orders. This is Bates stamped 1327. We'll make this Exhibit 5.

(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 5 and is attached hereto.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q Well, I haven't heard that you tried.

Nowhere in any of this, nowhere in anything you've said, has it been suggested that any of you attempted just to get him back on his feet at any point before he started choking.

A He hadn't calmed down at any point until he started choking.

Q Okay. And you made the determination then that the threat of him spitting or the threat of him slapping behind himself at Tyler was a greater risk than his [redacted] That was the decision y'all made?

A We didn't make that decision. It --

Q But you did. You did make that decision. And he's dead.

A We made the decision to try to keep from harming himself or someone else. No one asked for what happened. No one wanted that --
Q He didn't harm himself. He didn't harm himself. You three harmed him.
A Had he gotten up -- we did not harm him. We -- we did not harm him.
Q All right.
We've just got some exhibits here and then we'll be done.
(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 6 and is attached hereto.)
MR. GILLISPIE: I have here what I'm marking as Exhibit 6. This is DDS Policy Number 3011-D. I don't know why there's not a -- I got this myself off of -- you did produce this, but I printed off my own version of it. Well, not my own version of it but a copy directly from the DHS website. But you did produce it. It's the same thing, 3011-D, Eric.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Just a moment.
So I'm going to show you this. Have you ever seen this policy, 3011-D? Does this look familiar?

A Yes.
Q Okay. If you can, just read that highlighted part for me.
A Behavior management, as covered by this policy serves as a guide to ensure that the individual's actions that are aggressive, disruptive and/or present and danger -- present a danger to the individual or to others are managed with the least restrictive method.
Behavior management is not a substitute for forms of active treatment and is incorporated into program plans based on the individual's needs.
Q Okay. The least restrictive method possible. And you would agree that you're always required to utilize the least restrictive method possible when managing a client's behavior; correct?
A Yes. Yes.
Q Okay. And then the last thing I have for you, is the -- this is a Booneville policy. Booneville Policy Roman Numeral I-D-4, Documentation and Response to Maladaptive Behaviors. And this is Bates marked 4348.
If you could, at the -- read that the bottom for me in the highlighted part.
A Emergency restraint is defined as the use of the least restrictive procedure and for the least time necessarily, necessary, to control a severely aggressive or disruptive behavior.

The use of emergency restraint will comply with all relevant standards and regulations.

Q Okay. Least restrictive procedure for the least time necessary to control severely aggressive or destructive behaviors. That's what Booneville's own policy says, severely aggressive or destructive behaviors.

Is that your under -- are you aware that was the policy at the time of his death?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And do you recall how that had been communicated to you? That policy?

A It was gone over in phase class and those policies are posted in every area.

MR. GILLISPIE: And this will be Exhibit 7.

(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 7 and is attached hereto.)

MR. GILLISPIE: Let me take one minute to make sure I don't have anything else, but I think we're done.

Just go off for one minute, Cris.

(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Amy, as you sit here today, thinking back on all this, talking to me, if you had it all to do over again, would you have done anything differently? And, if so, what?

A I would've maybe made Tyler let go and leave him there and let me try to calm him down; called 9-1-1 one myself. I don't -- I don't know.

Q Because it's possible, you know, that could have worked. Tyler, right, Tyler could have -- you could have made Tyler let him go and see if he calmed down. Could have at least tried that; right?

A Could have. And he may have hurt himself in that case too. I don't -- I don't know.

Q Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: I'll pass the witness.

MR. COLLINS: I have no questions for her at this time.

But we would, as with the previous one, like an opportunity to review the testimony in a written form to verify the accuracy.

MR. GILLISPIE: Sure.

Thanks, everybody.

AVOIDING / DEFUSING VIOLENT BEHAVIORS

Employees are reminded that we must continue to strive to calm upset individuals without injury or damage. The following steps may help defuse or avoid violent behaviors:

1. Know the individual.
2. Breathe slowly and deeply to relax
3. Try to appear calm and relaxed before intervening- even if you are not.
4. Speak slowly and softly, keeping voice low at all times.
5. Listen.
6. Keep hands at sides with palms open in a reassuring stance. Do not trap or corner the angry person. Do not double your fist, point your finger, cross your arms, put your hands on your hips, in your pockets, or behind your back.
7. Judge the distance you keep by your knowledge of the individual and your rapport with him/her; allow both of you space and room to escape.
8. Stand if he/she stands; sit if he/she sits. Squat or sit down if the individual is in a wheelchair.
9. Do not ask "Why." Do not argue, threaten, raise your voice, or become judgmental.
10. Listen.
11. Let the individual know you are there to help in any way you can, but do not make promises you cannot keep.
12. Keep your face passive and neutral – do not frown, scowl, or laugh.
13. Reassure the individual that you are there to help and you will wait with him/her until he/she works through whatever is bothering them. Let them express his/her fears, frustrations, and accusations without censor.
14. Stay relaxed, keep a monitor on your voice tone, body stance, muscle tension, and breathing so that you present yourself as a source of stability and model of how to remain calm.
15. Listen.

NONVIOLENT CRISIS INTERVENTION TRAINING PROGRAM OBJECTIVES (NCI)

Identify behavior levels that contribute to the development of a crisis and choose appropriate staff intervention for each level. This program is used to provide guidance to the acting out individual and the employees that are dealing with de-escalating the behavior.

When writing a Behavior Report, be careful not to include any of your personal feelings (opinions) about the incident or behavior. Instead, always rely on the Five 'Ws'- Who, What, Where, When, and Why.

PREVENTION / REPORTING OF MALTREATMENT

BHDC strictly prohibits the maltreatment of clients residing at this facility. Maltreatment is defined as:

- Physical abuse or assault.
- Psychological abuse.
- Verbal abuse.
- Negligence.
- Failure to provide necessary care.
- Exploitation or sexual abuse.
- Misappropriation of personal property or moving furniture or belongings without permission.

FIRST AID GUIDELINES

POLICY STATEMENT: First Aid Guidelines are available for use in each of the Aide Stations in each living area. This will permit appropriate and immediate attention to medical conditions of sudden onset, including injuries and choking.

PROCEDURES:

1. The First Aid Guidelines have been approved by the staff physician for the Booneville HDC.

2. In all cases in which a serious medical injury or illness is suspected, either to clients or staff, a call to the Medical Department should be made. This should be the first call so Medical staff can respond immediately to the situation.

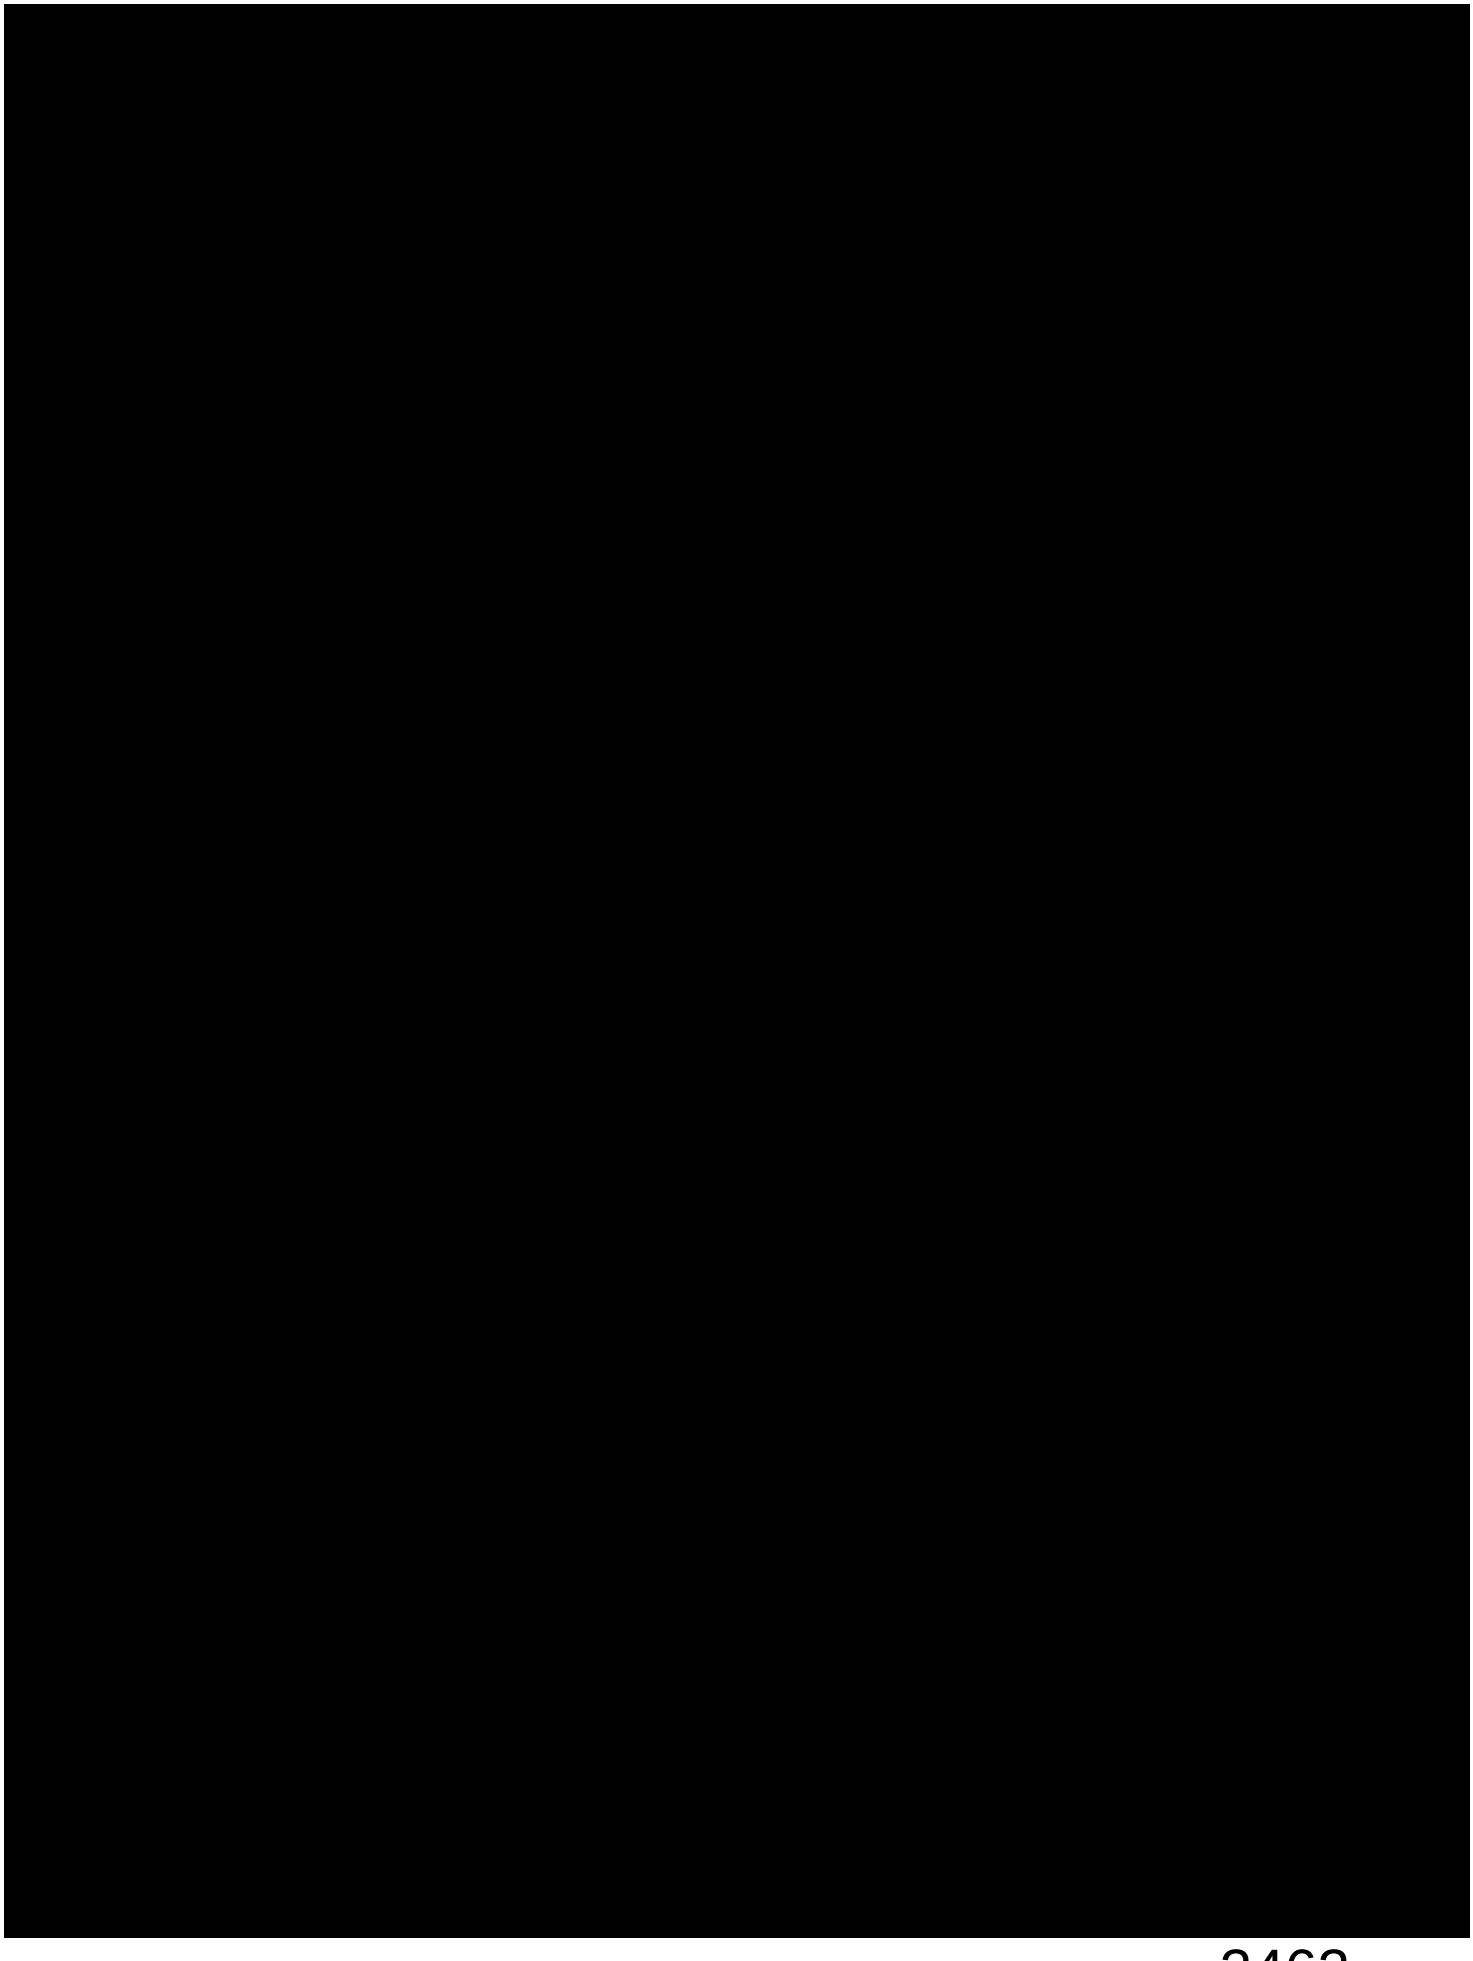
   A call to Medical at 1422 should be made and the following information should be given:

   1. Caller's name and title
   2. Victim's name, location, situation and condition of the victim (alert, unconscious, etc.)
   3. Medical will assess the situation and call an ambulance if appropriate.

3. All staff members are trained in first aid, CPR, and abdominal thrust for choking so, that if necessary, emergency rescue measures can be initiated before Medical staff arrives.

4. Choking is a serious and potentially life-threatening situation and the following guidelines should be followed:

   a. Staff will supervise clients during meal times and nursing staff will be available by phone at all times;
   b. emergency equipment including oxygen and suction machine will be kept in the dining room for use as needed;
   c. All staff will receive annual training in abdominal thrust and choking precautions.



5. First Aid kits, disaster kits, and first aid guidelines will be kept in all areas. Medical will do monthly inspections on first aid kits, and every 6 month inspections on disaster kits, and refill appropriately. If living area staff notice supplies are low, Medical is to be notified and supplies will be replenished.

ARKANSAS DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES
DIVISION OF DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITIES SERVICES
DDS DIRECTOR'S OFFICE POLICY MANUAL

Policy Type	Subject of Policy	Policy No.
Service	Behavior Management	3011-D

1. Purpose. This policy is intended to provide guidelines for managing challenging behaviors of individuals residing in DDS operated programs (Human Development Centers).

2. Scope. This policy applies to all DDS operated programs (Human Development Centers) and their employees/volunteers. All such programs will include a review of this policy as part of the employee orientation process.

3. Definition of Terms

Behavior management, as covered by this policy, serves as a guide to ensure that an individual's actions that are aggressive, disruptive and/or present a danger to the individual or to others are managed with the least restrictive method. Behavior management is not a substitute for other forms of active treatment and is incorporated into program plans, based on individual needs.

Qualified Mental Retardation Professional (QMRP) or QMRP designee is used in this policy as a person designated to monitor, supervise, and make decisions regarding specific behavioral situations. QMRP/designee will be assigned by the administrator of the DDS program in which he/she works. Criteria for selection will involve prior training, experience, and demonstrated ability in the area of behavioral management. The QMRP/designee must be in a position that is on a level involving supervisory or decision-making responsibilities. The QMRP designee is authorized to perform any of the duties of the QMRP as outlined by regulations or policy.

Interdisciplinary Team (IDT) is defined as a group of persons (professionals, paraprofessionals and non-professionals) who develop an individual's program plan and whose participation is required in order to identify the needs of the individual and to devise ways to meet those needs. The IDT includes the individual and may also include those persons who have worked or will work most closely with the individual, those persons who provide needed assessments or services, and the individual's family, guardian, or advocate. In general, the IDT includes persons professionally qualified in such fields as health care, education, psychology, and social work.

Licensed nurse is defined as a registered nurse or licensed practical nurse. The agency may use a physician, in lieu of a licensed nurse, but this is not required.

Replacement: This policy replaces DDS Commissioner's Policy 3011-D, dated January 28, 1981, March 13, 1981, and DDS Director's Policy dated October 1, 1991; December 1, 1993; and January 30, 1998.

Policy Type	Subject of Policy	Policy No.

4. Policy

NOTE: It is the philosophy of the agency to utilize all positive approaches to behavior management prior to and in conjunction with more restrictive programmatic techniques. Positive approaches may include, but are not limited to: positive reinforcement, gentle teaching, redirection, graduated guidance, and modeling of appropriate behaviors. Measures to address positive behavior should be incorporated into formal program efforts to the extent feasible.

Efforts at positive programming prove to be successful with the majority of maladaptive behaviors. All Human Development Centers will maintain policies and procedures for positive programming. The use of behavioral programming other than positive is designed for the individuals who repetitively engage in dangerously aggressive behavior and for whom other interventions have not been effective. All behavior programs developed in accordance with this policy will be designed to reduce or eliminate the target behavior(s) within a specified time frame, will be supported by documentation that positive, less restrictive methods have been systematically attempted and failed, will be monitored regularly by the individual's QMRP and Interdisciplinary Team (IDT), and will be revised if proved to be ineffective. The potential harmful effects of each procedure will be weighed carefully against the harmful effects of the targeted behavior and the IDT will determine if the harmful effects of the behavior outweigh the potentially harmful effects of the procedure.

Category I:

Category I procedures are those which may be used without prior approval of the Human Rights Committee or psychology staff. To ensure consistency, they should be addressed by the IDT. Frequent use (as determined by IDT) of these procedures with an individual indicates the need for consideration of the development of a behavior plan by the individual's IDT.

The individual must be supervised during these procedures. With the exception of verbal intervention, any use of Category I procedures, whether part of a formal behavior program or not, requires documentation on a Behavior Incident Report, Data Sheet, or other locally used behavior documentation system.

A. Verbal Intervention: Verbal intervention is utilized to stop an inappropriate behavior in progress and involves telling the individual "no" or "stop", identifying the behavior, and redirecting to an appropriate activity. The command is given in a firm but normal tone of voice. Threats, screaming, yelling or issuing repetitive or multiple sets of commands are not considered verbal correction and are inappropriate.

B. Separation From Activity Up to 30 Minutes: The individual is prevented from engaging in a reinforcing activity in which he/she has displayed inappropriate behavior. Separation is maintained within the same room or outdoor area where the activity is conducted. This is considered a Category I procedure if compliance by the individual can be accomplished through verbal prompting/physical prompting without requiring personal restraint (holding).

C. Separation From Setting Up to 30 Minutes: The individual is removed from the area where the reinforcing activity is taking place. Separation must occur under observation either outdoors or in a living or training area (bathrooms, storage rooms and closets do not constitute living/training area). This is considered a Category I procedure if compliance by the individual can be accomplished through verbal prompting/physical prompting without requiring personal restraint (holding).

Note: Separation to Allow Calming (STAC) – Also available is the positive procedure of STAC whereby the person is encouraged to move to an area away from the person or situation that upset them. At the same time, they are assisted in directing their attention to talking about the problem, listening to music, talking about family, relaxing quietly, going for a walk, etc. The activity should be chosen by the person in need of calming. When sufficiently calm, staff will assist the person in resuming normal activities.

D. Assignment of Additional Chores: The individual is assigned additional chores as a consequence for inappropriate behavior. Additional chores may be assigned only if such chores are already a part of the Individual Program Plan (IPP) and are not designed to replace work assignments of housekeeping personnel.

E. Restitution: The individual is cued to restore any property damaged, stolen or defaced. If appropriate to the individual's level of functioning, he/she may be cued to offer a verbal apology to the offended person. If appropriate to the individual's ability to comprehend, monetary reimbursement for the value of the damaged or stolen property may be required if this is a part of the IPP. In lieu of full value, a symbolic portion of the value may be required. Monetary reimbursement requires Human Rights Committee approval and Guardian consent.

Note: The individual is not degraded nor put on display while restoring damage. The individual is given the same equipment and protection to complete the restitution as would normally be given to a person not responsible for the damage.

F. Withholding Privileges: The individual loses a particular privilege following the occurrence of an inappropriate behavior. Privileges include such things as special planned community activities. However, trips off grounds are special and should only be curtailed if problem behavior is anticipated during that trip. Examples of situations where problem behaviors may be anticipated include a problem behavior having already occurred and the person is not fully calm, or, a problem behavior has not yet occurred, but there are indications that a problem behavior is likely. The curtailing of trips off grounds should be done after consultation with psychology staff, or with supervisory staff if psychology staff is not available. Privileges do not include basic living activities, such as meals, habilitation activities, or basic rights afforded all individuals.

G. Personal Property Removal (less than one hour): Removal of an individual's personal item that is being used in an inappropriate or unsafe manner or location. For example, if an individual disturbs others in a common TV room by playing his radio too loudly and will not reduce the volume when instructed, the radio may be removed from that individual for a time not to exceed one hour. The item will be held in a secure area and will be returned to the individual's room or to the individual directly, as appropriate (See Section 6, Page 8 of 9).

Category II:

Category II procedures may only be used as part of a formal behavior program designed by the individual's IDT, written by a licensed psychological professional, and approved by a licensed psychologist, physician, Human Rights Committee, and the facility administrator. Behavior program approval will include receipt of a signed consent from the individual and/or guardian.

A. Response Cost: The individual loses reinforcers previously earned in a behavior management system, (i.e., Token Economy Program)

B. Overcorrection - includes the following procedures:
   1) Restitutional Overcorrection: Requires the individual to restore the environment to a state that is better than it was before the occurrence of the inappropriate behavior.

   2) Positive Practice Overcorrection: Requires the individual to engage in an intensive practice period in which the alternative appropriate behavior is practiced.

C. Contingent Personal Property Removal (up to 24 hours maximum): Immediate removal of an individual's personal belongings contingent on the occurrence of a targeted behavior. Confiscated property will be held in a secure area and will be returned to the individual's room or individual directly, as appropriate. This procedure is considered Category II if the individual voluntarily (without duress or coercion) surrenders the property upon request.

Category III:

Category III procedures may only be used as part of a formal behavior program designed by the individual's IDT, written by a licensed psychological professional, and approved by a licensed psychologist, physician, other professionals, as indicated by the nature of the program, Human Rights Committee, and the facility administrator. Behavior program approval will include receipt of a signed consent from the individual and/or guardian. The individual's record documents the IDT's conclusion that the potential harmful effects of each restrictive procedure (restraint, etc.) are clearly outweighed by the harmful effects of the targeted behavior.

A. Separation Time Out (Activity or Setting): Placement of an individual in a quiet area away from reinforcing activities or persons as a result of an inappropriate behavior occurring. The individual will be visually monitored during the time out. Further conditions include either:

1) Separation lasting for over 30 minutes to one (1) hour maximum.

2) Separation (any length of time) requiring physical intervention/personal restraint to ensure compliance.

B. Contingent Personal Property Removal (up to 24 hours maximum): Immediate removal of an individual's personal belongings contingent on the occurrence of a targeted behavior. Confiscated property will be held in a secure area and will be returned to the individual's room or to the individual directly, as appropriate. This procedure is considered Category III if the individual does not voluntarily surrender the property upon request, and it must be physically removed.

C. Sensory Deprivation: Involves the temporary impeding of one of the individual's senses for a period of time, contingent upon the occurrence of the target behavior. Most often, this procedure includes only the use of a blindfold or cloth placed over the individual's eyes when it has been shown to facilitate calming. The individual must be visually supervised during the use of this procedure, which may be used in combination with other Category III procedures, as designated in the individual program. It could also include lessening auditory input by covering the individual's ears, or covering a body part (usually the hands) to limit tactile stimulation, hand in mouth, or biting.

D. Restraint: When utilizing restraint as a programmatic option, a hierarchy of lesser restrictive procedures will be attempted prior to restraint, except in limited cases where this is clearly clinically contraindicated. IDT consideration will be given to parent/guardian notification of the use of restraint and address it in the behavior program.

1) Personal Restraint: In order to prevent personal injury or serious property damage, the individual or a portion of an individual's body is immobilized by another person or persons in order to prevent personal injury or serious property damage. Approved methods of intervention must be in the individual's behavior program. This is planned personal restraint, contingent upon occurrence of a target behavior. When available, a licensed nurse should monitor the personal restraint and/or check the individual's physical condition as soon as possible following restraint.

Excluded as personal restraint are: physical assistance, prompting of graduated physical guidance to assist individuals during such procedures as toothbrushing and feeding, or to control random head or arm movements during such procedures as haircutting, or the use of physical assistance in escorting, redirecting, or in manual guidance techniques are not considered personal restraint and do not require documentation as personal restraint. Also excluded as programmed personal restraint is the use of personal restraint in an emergency situation (Section 6, Page 8 of 9*) or during a necessary medical or dental procedure.

In the event of personal restraint, the QMRP/designee of the area must be notified as soon as possible. Programmed personal restraint will occur until the individual is calm and will not exceed fifteen (15) minutes. The IDT will define what constitutes calm behavior for this individual when used in a behavior program.

2) Mechanical Restraint: In order to prevent personal injury or serious property damage, the individual or a portion of the individual's body is immobilized until calm by an approved device or devices which may also prevent normal functioning, as described in section C, above. Restraints must be checked for safety and integrity prior to use. The device's use will not exceed 15 minutes without an extension of time approved and documented by the QMRP/designee, preferably, after face-to-face attention. Unless otherwise determined by the IDT, QMRP/designee extensions will be obtained every 15 minutes until the individual is calm. The IDT should define what constitutes calm behavior for this individual when used in a behavior program. Unless determined clinically contraindicated by the QMRP/designee, should the time in restraint reach 55 minutes, the individual must be released for five minutes for motion, liquid intake, or toileting.

Should time in restraint reach 1 hour and 50 minutes, the individual must be released for at least 10 minutes–for motion, liquid intake, or toileting. If this 10-minute release is judged to be a danger to the individual and/others, additional staff should be called to ensure safety for all concerned. In addition, the individual will be checked, face to face, at least every 15 minutes for safety, well being, and integrity of the restraint. Constant observation is required.

Note: On-site monitoring by the QMRP/designee is recommended. When available, a licensed nurse should monitor the mechanical restraint. If unavailable to monitor, a licensed nurse shall check the individual's physical condition as soon as possible following restraint, but in no case later than thirty minutes after the initiation of the restraint.

Excluded as programmed mechanical restraint is the use of restraints in an emergency situation (Section 6, Page 8 of 9), during a necessary medical or dental procedure, or to promote healing following a medical procedure or injury. Devices such as a helmet which are not prescribed for the purpose of restricting an individual's movement and/or normal functioning, but rather for their safety and protection are not considered a mechanical restraint.

Service	Behavior Management	3011-D

Note: For medical management, please refer to local site Policy on drugs to manage behavior (Behavior Management/Psychiatric Interventions).

5. Conditions for Use of Behavior Programs.

A. A formal behavior program will be developed by the IDT, written by a licensed psychological professional, and approved by a psychologist. It will include the following elements:

1) Description of the behavior to be modified;
2) Functional Analysis;
3) Thorough description of each step of the program to include duration and intensity of specific procedures, the methods of monitoring and analyzing the process, and special precautions that will be taken;
4) Description of any alternatives to the specific procedures;

B. The Individual Program Plan or behavior program will include:
1) Description of all procedures already attempted;
2) Side effects and risks, if any, of the intervention, in comparison with those of allowing the maladaptive behavior to continue; and
3) Behavioral objectives.

C. Behavior Management Procedures should be used in order of least restrictive, unless clinically contraindicated. Exceptions to this order must be fully documented and substantiated as to why more restrictive procedures are advisable before less restrictive ones.

D. All persons administering Category II and III procedures must have been trained in the administration of those specific procedures and have personally experienced those particular procedures, unless medically contraindicated for that person.

E. The Human Rights Committee will review all Category II and III programs at least every 6 months.

F. IDT consideration will be given to seeking consultation from outside expertise when IDT staff resources have been exhausted, as evidenced by the use of Category III procedures for over one (1) year without significant progress. If an outside consultant has been used without success, the agency should continue to access this or other outside expertise until an effective strategy is realized.

An outside consultant is defined as a professional of any discipline and who is not a member of the IDT. For instance, the outside consultant may be a member of the HDC staff not on the identified IDT, the agency staff, or a professional not affiliated with the agency.

6. Emergency Procedures. Nothing in this policy prohibits the use of emergency restraint (mechanical or personal), confiscation of any item used in a threatening manner, or removal from the environment for the purpose of protecting the individual and others around him/her. This includes the use of restraint procedures in the course of an established program, when the individual becomes a danger to him/herself or others, prior to staff being able to implement a lesser restrictive hierarchy. However, it is emphasized that emergency procedures may not be used at frequent intervals, becoming a routine method of intervention. If emergency procedures are utilized three times in a six-month period, the IDT will meet to conduct a functional analysis and develop an appropriate plan of action. The emergency use of restraint must conform to ICF/MR regulations and must be reported immediately to the facility administrator or designee.

7. Prohibitions: These activities are expressly prohibited.

   A. Corporal punishment - refers to the application of painful stimuli to the body as a penalty for certain behavior, and includes, but is not limited to, hitting, pinching, the use of electrical shock or other infliction of pain, whether or not applied as part of a systematic behavior intervention program.

   B. Individuals who receive services from the agency disciplining other individuals unless involved in an organized and approved self-governing program. Individuals will not participate in the actual administration of discipline.

   C. Seclusion of an individual alone in a room or other area from which entry/exit is prevented. This does not include placement in a time-out area for brief, programmed time segments, as part of a behavior program that meets all applicable standards.

   D. Unless specifically requested by family/guardian, any procedure that denies visitation or communication with family members.

   E. Any procedure that denies sleep, shelter, bedding, food, drink, or use of bathroom facilities.

   F. Inappropriate vocalizations, maltreatment, neglect, or forced exercise.

8. Informed Consent. The individual served and/or guardian, as appropriate, will be provided a copy of the behavior program which utilizes Category II and III procedures. Informed consent will be obtained PRIOR to the implementation of the program, with the following procedures:

Policy Type	Subject of Policy	Policy No.
Service	Behavior Management	3011-D

A. Persons 18 years of age or older who have no legally appointed guardian may give informed consent for their behavior program. If there is a question about the individual's ability to give informed consent and no guardian can be located, appropriate legal action must be pursued to have someone appointed who can give consent.

B. Consent by the legal guardian(s) is required if guardianship has been established.

C. The legally adequate consent will:
1) Specify, in terms that are easily understood, the restrictive or intrusive procedure(s) involved;
2) Inform the person(s) giving consent of any potentially harmful effects of the procedure(s);
3) Be time-limited, not to exceed one year; and
4) State that consent may be withdrawn at any time.

9. Uncategorized Procedures. In the event a proposed procedure does not readily fit in one of the prescribed categories, it may be utilized on an emergency basis, if necessary, at the discretion of the administrator or designee until the appropriate category is determined.

NOTE: Behavior Management Policy 3011-D does not preclude the use of other restrictive/intrusive procedures that would prevent serious bodily harm and/or destruction of property or death. These procedures can only be considered when lesser restrictive procedures have been proven ineffective or their implementation are determined to be clinically contraindicated. Approvals required are the same as those for Category III procedures. Additional approvals may be required as deemed necessary by the facility administrator.

DOCUMENTATION OF AND RESPONSE TO MALADAPTIVE BEHAVIORS

POLICY STATEMENT: Maladaptive behaviors must be documented on a Behavior Report (BR), a Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint (also called the Restraint Log), or other authorized data keeping device. Personal or mechanical restraint for maladaptive behaviors is to be used only as an emergency measure. Maladaptive behaviors include, but are not limited to, behaviors that result in, or have the potential to result in, injury to self or others, or the destruction of property. Nothing in this policy removes or alters requirements as stated in other policies of verbal notification of incidents to the Superintendent and/or other staff.

PROCEDURES:

1. REQUIRED DOCUMENTATION

   a. When indicated, a BR must be completed following the maladaptive behavior. Incidents that are to be documented on the BR are the following:

      i. Behaviors that pose a threat to the physical or mental well being of the client or others.
      ii. Behaviors that have a direct negative impact on the client's programming.
      iii. Behaviors that directly contribute to the client remaining in a setting requiring a greater degree of supervision rather than a less restrictive one.
      iv. Target Behaviors identified by the Psychology Department and the Interdisciplinary Team.
      v. An incident requiring personal restraint (also requires notification of a QIDP). See Attachment #1.

   b. If the incident requires emergency mechanical restraint, a Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint must be completed. Such behaviors are defined as those emergency situations in which behaviors may result in, or have the potential to result in, injury to self or others, or the destruction of property and cannot be controlled through the use of less restrictive measures.

   c. The rules of confidentiality will be followed when documenting these incidents. Any reference to a client other than the identified client in an incident report must be by initial only. Reference to other staff members involved will include their full name and title. All corrections must be made by a single line through the incorrect entry and the writer's initials. The Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint must include the signature of the QIDP or other staff member authorizing the restraint.

2. EMERGENCY USE OF RESTRAINT

   a. Emergency restraint is defined as the use of the least restrictive procedure and for the least time necessary to control severely aggressive or destructive behaviors. The use of emergency restraint will comply with all relevant standards and regulations. Restraint will not be used as punishment or for the convenience of staff in lieu of adequate programming.

EXHIBIT 7

b. Seclusion will not be used as either an emergency or programmatic procedure.

c. A QIDP must be notified when personal restraint is used and it must be documented on a Behavior Report.

d. Personal restraint of a client is used when the behavior is such that verbal control has been lost and other less restrictive measures have failed to control the behavior.

e. Personal restraint will be implemented by staff who have been trained in the use of approved methods. Personal restraint must not exceed 10 minutes. During the period of personal restraint if the client becomes calm no further restraint procedures are to be implemented. If the client shows no indication of calming and becomes violent, staff will proceed as indicated in Paragraph f. below.

f. The request for the emergency use of mechanical restraint will be based on need as exhibited by the client who is so aggressive that restraint is necessary to prevent imminent physical harm to themselves, others, or property. Mechanical restraint may be used only when all other means of controlling the behavior have been exhausted. Staff will proceed in the following manner:

   i. A Restraint Incident Leader will be identified. The attending staff will immediately implement emergency mechanical restraint. As soon as possible staff will notify the on duty Program Supervisor who will contact a QIDP or other authorized staff for authorization for the use of emergency mechanical restraint.
   ii. The authorization for the mechanical restraints must not exceed 15 minutes. Continued use of mechanical restraint must be re-authorized every 15 minutes.
   iii. Immediately after emergency mechanical restraint has been applied, staff must contact the nurse on duty. The nurse will examine the client to ensure the restraint is applied in a pain free and harmless manner and present no physical danger to the client. The nurse will make a notation of the examination on the Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint.
   iv. A client in emergency mechanical restraint must be:

      1. Kept under constant visual observation. This observation will be for the client's physical condition (e.g., distressed breathing, bleeding, adequate blood flow to the head and extremities) as well as for signs of calming.
      2. Checked for security of restraint, current behavior and general status. A synopsis will be documented every 15 minutes.
      3. Released for 5 minutes every hour for motion and exercise.
      4. Given the opportunity for fluid intake, meals, baths and toileting. These needs will be addressed and documented as the need arises.

5. Released from emergency mechanical restraint as soon as possible. This is defined to mean as soon as the client is calm and no longer a danger to self or others. Verbal outbursts do not necessarily mean a person is still out of control or that restraint should continue.

v. After release from emergency mechanical restraint, using the Restraint Incident Debriefing Form, the Restraint Incident Leader will conduct and document a debriefing discussion with the other staff members involved in the restraint and the client that must include the following:

1. The behavior which resulted in the use of the personal or emergency mechanical restraint.
2. Any environmental factors involved in the incident.
3. The antecedents to the behavior including interactions with peers or staff
4. Any action by staff that might have kept the incident from escalating to restraint.
5. The client's reaction to the use of restraint.
6. Any changes to the client's programming which might have prevented the incident.
7. Options that the client could have used to avoid the use of restraint.

3. COMPLETION OF DOCUMENTATION

a. The person authorizing the use of emergency mechanical restraint must sign the authorization. During deviant hours authorization may be obtained by telephone. Attending staff will note on the Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint that such authorization was obtained by telephone.

b. The on duty Program Supervisor will be responsible for ensuring that the appropriate reports are completed in a timely and accurate manner.

c. Completed Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint and Restraint Incident Debriefing Form will be filed in the client's Master File "Behavior Incident File".

4. REVIEW AND DISTRIBUTION OF THE COMPLETED DOCUMENTS

a. Upon completion of the report it will be sent to the appropriate Team Office.

b. The Team Leader will review all reports for content, accuracy and appropriateness and sign in the appropriate place. If corrections are required the Team Leader will contact the writer of the report and ensure corrections are made. As soon as possible the report will be given to Quality Assurance to be scanned, copied, and distributed to appropriate staff. The original report will be sent to the Record Center Operator and filed in each client's file within five days.

c. The Record Center Operator will review Behavior Report, Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint, and Restraint Incident Debriefing Form for completeness and errors. The originator will be notified to correct errors found by the Record Center Operator.

d. The QIDP and Psychology staff member will review copies of all reports for programmatic issues, patterns of use, and the appropriate follow-up.

e. The authorized data keeping device (i.e., Behavior Report, Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint, and Restraint Incident Debriefing Form) will be forwarded to the Psychology Department depending on the program requirement.

5. FUNCTIONAL AND ENVIRONMENTAL ANALYSES OF BEHAVIORS

a. The purposes of conducting functional and environmental analyses are to determine:

1. The pragmatic utility of a behavior for a client, i.e., what the behavior "does" for the client.
2. What role the environment may have played in the causation of the behavior.

These analyses assume aberrant behavior does serve a functional purpose, but that a functionally equivalent (appropriate) communicative response can be taught, and will serve to substitute for the aberrant behavior. Further, the aberrant behavior will reduce in frequency as the more appropriate response becomes systematically reinforced.

b. These analyses will provide the data needed to formulate programmatic responses to teach and reinforce appropriate behaviors to replace aberrant behaviors and inappropriate behaviors.

6. APPROVED RESTRAINT PROCEDURES, TECHNIQUES, AND DEVICES

a. Personal Restraint, an emergency procedure limiting movement by the holding of a hand or limb.

b. Chemical Intervention ordered by the Physician.

c. Protective Helmet.

d. Papoose Board, a Mechanical Restraint device limiting movement and range of motion.

f. Wrist Restraint, a Mechanical Restraint device limiting movement and range of motion.

7. AT BHDC ONLY ICF/IID QUALIFIED QIDP's SHALL BE APPROVED TO AUTHORIZE THE USE OF RESTRAINT

The Program Coordinator/QIDP is the first choice person to authorize restraint for clients on their caseload. After hours and on weekends the Team Leaders or other qualified QIDPs may be notified.

The following positions are recognized as being qualified QIDPs:

Program Coordinators/QIDPS, Team Leaders, Director of Residential Services, Superintendent, Assistant Superintendent, Director of Quality Assurance; Chief Psychologist, Psychological Examiners, Registered Nurses, and Staff Physician.

Current work telephone numbers for these persons can be obtained from DHS/BHDC Share.

THE STAFF PHYSICIAN MUST REVIEW, BY SIGNATURE, THE USE OF ALL EMERGENCY MECHANICAL RESTRAINT.

WHEREUPON,

CARRIE JOHNSON-MILLER,

Having been first duly sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ma'am, your last name is hyphenated. It's Johnson-Miller; is that right?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Carrie Johnson-Miller. And you were a residential services manager at the Booneville Human Development Center at the time of David Cains' death; is that correct?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And my understanding is that your direct supervisor would have been the residential services director, who at that time was Sandy Evans; is that correct?

A Yes.

Q All right. How long did you work at Booneville?

A I was hired in 2011.

Q Okay. What did you do starting out there?

A I was a Q, and then I was promoted in 2014 to the manager.

Q Okay. To residential services manager?
A Yes.
Q And you held that role until you left Booneville?
A Yes.
Q When did you leave employment there?
A I retired December 1st, '21.
Q Okay. And as residential services manager, was there any other level of supervisor between you and the direct care staff?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And what was the name of that position?
A Okay. The positions change. Let's see. There was an RCT and an RC -- I can't remember. RCT and RCA, I believe.
Q I assume you know Tyler Mattson?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And was he a direct care under your -- under you in 2020 at the time of David Cains' death?
A I believe so. And then there were his direct supervisors that actually were in the dorm.
Q And who would those have been?
A Let's see. Tracy Lloyd, Kim Ross. I think at the time David was upstairs, so it would have been Tracy Lloyd, and then Kim Ross would have been over managing or supervising Tracy at the time. I believe I have that correct.

Q Okay. So it would have been -- to my understanding, Tyler was an RCT, is that right, or was he an RCA? I get it confused as well.
A I think at the time -- I told you wrong about their titles, about Tracy Lloyd and Kim Ross' titles. I believe he had been promoted to an RCT.
Q But would he have still -- as an RCT, would there still have been a supervisor there in Davidson house?
A Yes.
Q And you think that --
A And the prog- -- I'm sorry. The program supervisor runs the hill. That means they put staff where needed and they sort of oversee a supervisory thing with the -- I can't remember the title. I can't remember Kim Ross' and Tracy Lloyd's title at the time. But anyway, they would have overseen in some manner as far as who is assigned where for the day and how many staff is where.
Q So I see that there -- I'm sorry. So Sandra Evans was the residential services director. You would have been one of three residential services managers, and I believe you were the Team White leader. Does that sound familiar?
A Yes.

Q Okay. And then directly under you there was a level of supervisor and you think that -- you're not sure what that was called, but you think it was Tracy Lloyd and Kim something?
A Yeah.
Q Tell me Kim's name one more time.
A Kim Ross.
Q Okay. They're the ones -- at this time, again, we're talking about 2020. They're the ones who would have more directly monitored or supervised what a staff member like Tyler Mattson was doing?
A For the day, yes.
Q For the day.
A And in addition to the program supervisor or the PS.
Q Okay. Who is the program supervisor? Where does the program supervisor fit into the hierarchy?
A They are assigned at the Kelly Building. They are responsible for transportation. They are responsible for the staffing ratio for the day and they alert team leaders and/or the director if there's issues.
Q And when you say "team leader," you were -- team leader is another word for what you were?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And so the program director -- do you have any idea who the program director -- did it change every day?

A It could have, yes.
Q Do you have any idea who served as program directors in June of 2020?
A I can't remember. I mean, I'm sorry. I can't remember.
Q Okay. That's okay. Ms. Johnson-Miller, did you attend phase training?
A Yes. When I was first employed, yes.
Q And do you recall who taught your phase training? Was it Mark Hise?
A No, not at that time. Mark Hise, at the time, he may have been -- he may have been the program supervisor at the time. A James Harbison taught the program and his brother assisted him.
Q Okay. And you're talking about your phase training?
A Yes.
Q Do you recall the part of phase training where you're taught about the forms of personal restraints or personal holds that can be used on clients?
A My phase training didn't go into that initially. That was something -- no, I didn't -- usually at that time phase was two weeks and I think I spent a week and then I went to, you know, being a Q at the time after one week.

Q Okay. Do you recall ever receiving any training on acceptable forms of physical restraint or personal holds on clients?

A Yes.

Q When did you receive that training if you can recall?

A I think maybe that was a yearly thing that we did.

Q And do you recall that the forms of personal holds or physical restraints that you are taught could be applied in emergency situations?

A Well, your holds are the emergency situation and then -- yeah. Yes.

Q Well, specifically what are the holds that staff are authorized to use in emergency situations?

A Well, you don't shut off their airway. You don't -- I can't remember. I mean, you know about their airway. You know how to place people in different restraints.

Q I assume you were never trained or taught to restrain clients on the ground, were you?

A We were taught, but I never had to actually take anyone down.

Q Were you taught that for -- were you taught to do that -- my understanding is you may have been taught to do that for purposes of transitioning into mechanical restraint; is that correct?

A Yes.
Q Were you taught that for any other reason, meaning you weren't taught to restrain them on the ground as a form of a personal hold that does not intend to transition to a mechanical restraint, did you?
A As far as on the ground or on the floor, it depends on what the situation is at the time. It depends on the severity of their violence at the time and keeping them safe and other clients safe and yourself safe.
Q So are there situations where you were involved with physical restraints of clients on the ground?
A I never did hands-on.
Q What does that mean?
A I never took them down first.
Q Okay. But you witnessed?
A I would witness. At times, I would be there and I would witness it. You know, sometimes the staff are just out on their -- I mean, they're in a situation they have to react on their own.
Q What are some -- about how many times would you say you've either witnessed or know of staff taking clients to the ground? Was it fairly common?

A No. That's not something you want to do. You redirect. It depends on their behavior treatment program and staff are trained on the behavior treatment program.
Q Why is it that you would not want to take anyone down to the ground?
A Well, unless your being hurt or the client is out of control and they're going to hurt themselves, that's when you have to react. Otherwise, you're redirecting. You're -- you know, you're trying to do everything to redirect them and get out of that environment.
Q You said that taking a client to the ground is something that you wouldn't want to do or that you want to try to avoid. I was just wondering if you could tell me what you meant. Why is it something that you would want to avoid or not do?
A Because everyone -- I mean, staff and -- you know, you realize that hands-on is not something you want to do.
Q Because it's more likely to lead to injury, to be dangerous for everybody involved?
A Yes. Number one, safety of the client and the other clients. Your safety. I mean, it depends on the situation, but we weren't taught just to take people down because we -- they were upset or we tried -- you know, we tried to do --

Q Right. So when were you taught or what were you taught about when you can take them to the ground?

A If they're out of control, if they're going to hurt themselves, if, you know, other clients -- you've got to get the safety of the other clients. I mean, if you go between two clients that have become aggressive with each other or sometimes clients, when they go off, their body parts are flailing and you have to secure things. You have to secure those limbs to keep them from being hurt, including their head.

Q And so in those situations, it might require taking them to the ground?

A If that's all you can do. If that's your last resort, yes.

Q And, again, we're not talking about -- you understand that I'm not asking about mechanical restraints or transitioning to mechanical restraints, right?

A Right.

Q I'm just asking about personal holds on the ground separate and apart from taking them to the ground for purposes of transition. I'm not interested in the latter. You understand that?

Arkansas
State Claims Commission
FEB 16 2023
RECEIVED

A Yes. When they're out of control, sometimes their head is going back and forth. Their arms will be going back and forth. They're kicking you. They're kicking walls. They're hitting walls. And it's very difficult at times to provide safety for someone like that.
Q Okay. And so describe for me then -- I guess in that situation, you might have to -- or you might need to take the client to the ground in that situation if there's no other option?
A If you can't get them to stop, yes. I mean, if you can't get a hold of their arms and just get them calm, you may have to.
Q And if you had to, how would you do it?
A Well, there's different holds that people are -- the staff were taught that they could do to just keep their limbs from moving. And a lot of times, if some of those clients can just feel a closeness, not a tightness -- I mean, sometimes just a touch, a feel will just get their energy to go down, not all the time. You're doing the best you can to keep that client safe.
Q My question, Ms. Carrie, was, how would you -- in that situation where you had to take a client to the ground, how would you do it? How was it to be done?
A Hopefully there's other staff that can help you just -- you can hug. Sometimes a hug.

Q How would hugging and -- you would hug them and then wrestle them to the ground?
A No. If they're not that out of control, you could just give compressions. Just a touch sometimes will . . .
Q Ms. Johnson-Miller, I'm asking can you -- if you can't tell say that, that's fine. I'm just asking you, you were a residential services manager for roughly seven years and these staff members who had to do these things were under your supervision as well as under Ms. Evans' supervision and I just want to know, do you know specifically the way that these staff members took clients to the ground? Physically how did they do it and how were they supposed to do it?
A Well, like I say, there's different holds were taught and I don't know all of the holds and I don't remember all the different holds that they use.
Q Well, is there a hold you were taught specifically for taking clients to the ground?
A You can hold them on each shoulder. You can hold their arm. You can take them down. If their legs are flailing, you would need other staff probably to help assist with the legs. And then you just lower them to the ground as gingerly as you can.

Q And then what do you do? Then what do you do once they're on the ground?
A Hopefully by then they have -- you've been able to have a quiet place. You let them chill out. They're able to calm and then you may not have to go to mechanical restraint. You might -- there may be a doctor's order that you call a nurse and ask for a chemical.
Q And how many times did you see this done?
A Maybe eight. Seven, eight maybe.
Q Did you ever see it done to David Cains?
A I didn't see them doing him, but I went over and observed him in mechanical restraints. You know, at that time he was already on the board and he would calm down.
Q Well, remember, Ms. Carrie, I'm not really asking about mechanical restraints. I'm asking about personal holds or physical restraints used on clients on the ground to, you know, get them to calm down, kind of like what was happening on the day of David's death, you know, where there's no papoose board, where there's no Joey Board, where there's no mechanical restraint that they're intending to use but, rather, just a ground restraint for the purpose of intervening in an emergency situation. Do you understand?

A Yes.
Q So getting that clarified, when would -- you know, have you ever heard of this happening to David Cains?
A Yes. He could be quite violent.
Q Okay. Tell me about that.
A The one time that stands out in my mind is I was a Q and I was at the dorm observing the client at the time. And David and I had -- David had been at the nurses' station or at the station and we had been talking about Razorbacks and The Monkees and that's something he always enjoyed talking about. He was in a good mood. He had his Razorback shirt on. There's nothing going on on the hall. He walked down to his room. He was fine. He was walking back up the hall and he wasn't -- his arms were at his side. There was nothing going on. And I noticed a staff member coming up and walking beside him. The staff member said nothing to him, you know. It was early morning and staff were going about their work and his fist came out at his side and he plowed -- he took his fist and he plowed that staff member into the wall, and I thought, oh, my, we will have to peel him off the wall.
Q Where did David's fist strike the staff member?
A His head.
Q His head?

A Yes.
Q And who was the staff member?
A Oh, I don't know. I don't remember.
Q Do you remember, did an ambulance have to come? Was there an injury?
A I remember the staff was pretty well shook up. I think probably -- I don't recall an ambulance.
Q You don't recall the staff requiring any medical care?
A No. Well, I'm sure he filled out a workers' comp form probably.
Q Why do you say -- you don't know who it is, so you're just guessing at that, aren't you?
A I'm guessing it because that's protocol when you're hurt on the job.
Q But you don't know if he was hurt. You don't know if he needed medical attention or if he just shook it off and went about his day, do you?
A No, because at that time, I was a Q and I was in a supervisor observation. And I can remember just -- that was one of the first times I had seen David, and it was so violent. I thought, oh, dear. So that really stands out.
Q Are there other instances of -- so you would describe David Cains as having been a violent patient?

A He certainly could have been.
Q Do you have any other memories of David harming anyone physically?
A Not that I can remember, no.
Q That one memory is the only memory you have of David specifically physically harming someone?
A David could be -- yes. David could be violent and just because I don't remember, like I say.
Q Well, you've given me one example. Can you specifically give me any other examples of instances where David was violent?
A Yes. His family member came up on campus to take him out to lunch, and I believe it was at McDonald's. And we got a phone call that there was -- he was aggressive with his family at McDonald's, so we got some staff to get in a van, go after David, and get him out of that situation.
Q Okay. Is that it?
A When I talked to the -- who were the guys that went and got him? I believe Justin was one of the other Qs that went and got him. I asked him how it was, and he said, well, he could tell that there had been some -- the uncle -- I believe it was his uncle was -- Q Ma'am, let me ask it this way: Do you have any -- you personally, do you personally have any -- did you personally ever witness David cause physical harm to anybody other than the staff member who you said he punched him in the head?

A No.

Q And you've not even heard of any other situations other than this situation that happened with his family on campus at McDonald's, correct?

A Right. That our staff had to go intervene, yes.

Q But you don't know any specifics about exactly what happened there, do you?

A No. We weren't there, but we --

Q Other than those two things you told me about, are there any other recollections or things you've been told about that you can describe to me involving David being violent?

A David, his IPP and his other document should support this.

Q No, ma'am. No, ma'am. I'm asking --

A No.

Q I'm asking what you know. I have his records. I know how to read records. I'm asking what you know.

A All right. Well, as his Q at the time and as his team leader, he was prone to be violent without any warning.

Q Okay. But your personal knowledge of that is limited to one incident of him striking as staff member in the head; is that correct?
A At the time I saw it, actually witnessed it, yes.
Q Okay. And after he struck that staff member in the head, was he restrained?
A I don't recall because, like I say, at the time I was a Q and he had been able to talk him down.
Q And, again, you don't know what year this happened or who the staff member was, do you?
A I just remember I was a Q and I hadn't been here very long.
Q Okay. And you have no personal knowledge of -- when I say "personal knowledge," I mean, things that you know, things that you saw or things that you have, you know, read or truly know. You have no personal knowledge of whether or not this staff member was injured, meaning required medical care?
A No.
Q And therefore, you cannot yourself identify any single incident involving David Cains where he caused an actual injury to somebody necessitating medical care, correct?
A Correct.
Q And when you started to tell me about David being violent, it was in response to a question that I have asked about whether you witnessed David being taken to the ground. So back to that. Have you ever witnessed David being taken to the ground?

A I don't believe so or not that I can remember, one.

Q Okay. Have you ever been told about David being taken to the ground that you can recall?

A I can't recall it, but, like I say, as a Q or a team leader, I would have known at the time.

Q But it is your testimony as you sit here today that staff were authorized to take clients to the ground in emergency situations in order to restrain them there on the ground, correct?

A Yes, for their safety of the clients and the other clients.

Q Who specifically told you that that was allowed?

A Well, that was, to my knowledge, part of your training. I mean, you have -- no matter where you're at, you have to keep the client safe.

Q Well, Mark Hise, who does the training now, says that -- and he was doing training at the time of David's death as well. Mark Hise says it's not allowed and that it's not trained. So I'm trying to figure out where you got the idea that it was an authorized form of restraint. So where did you get the idea that this was an authorized form of restraint?

A That's what I'm remembering as part of the training.
Q That's it?
A Yeah.
Q I mean, there's no other -- you know, Sandy Evans never came to you and said or anybody else ever said, okay, this is allowed, this is allowed, this is allowed as far as restraints?
A We reviewed restraints all the time, but as far -- okay. What are you calling a takedown?
Q Just the restraining of a client on the ground where the client is being restrained or put in a personal hold, Carrie, put in a personal hold while on the ground. That's what I'm talking about.
A Maybe not while on the ground, but they may -- I mean, it may go to the ground.
Q I'm not following you. I'm sorry.
A If you've got someone in a personal hold and they decide to get on their -- go to the ground because they get on their knees or they get -- I mean, you don't necessarily -- you do the best you can to keep off the ground, but you may wind up on the ground.
Q Okay. But you said you were also taught and authorized to take them to the ground if necessary, right?

A Well, as part of it. That may be where you land. It may not be initially where you start.
Q But you were taught then that once on the ground that if you need to, you can hold them there on the ground in a personal hold, right?
A If it requires it. I mean . . .
Q What I'm asking is I just want to know every reason you believe that that was a proper way to restrain clients at Booneville.
A If you're holding someone, it doesn't mean you're taking them to the ground. It may mean you end up on the ground and you're there.
Q And then once you're on the ground, you may need to stay on the ground and hold him on the ground longer to -- if the situation requires it, right?
A Well, yes.
Q But then also there are times where -- you said there were also times where I believe you described situations where a client is flailing where taking them to the ground is the only option, right?
A Okay. What I meant was you may not be intentionally taking them to the ground. That may be where the -- where it winds up.

Q You specifically said you were taught to take them to the ground and that you had to do that sometimes. Are you saying that's not the case now?
A Well, that's some of it, yes, but initially you're not going to just slam somebody on the ground.
Q Sure. I'm not suggesting that it would be done for no reason. I'm just trying to get to the bottom of why staff members -- some staff members understood that that was not allowed and other staff members thought it was totally allowed. I'm trying to figure that out. I was wondering if you --
A Well, it's not a -- it's not where you start and that's not where the restraint would start. But you may have to go because the client may take you there.
Q So is it your understanding that -- from your seven years at Booneville, was it always your understanding that the type of personal hold used on a client may differ from situation to situation and that ultimately the staff member has to make a choice about the best way to do it in each given situation?
A They start with verbal trying to redirect them, do anything they can to stop the situation or get them -- sometimes getting them out of the situation. They always go to the least restrictive before they put hands on.

Q But if a situation required it, a staff member may have to restrain a client on the ground, correct?
A They wouldn't start on the ground. They're not going to slam somebody on the ground. They're not going to do that. But sometimes you are in a situation where the aggressiveness of a client will take you to the ground.
Q And once you get to the ground, are you supposed to continue holding them on the ground?
A You've already called for help. You hopefully have backup that will maybe find another staff that he is or she is more friendly with or have a history with. You call the nurse. You ask for a chemical.
Q Ms. Johnson-Miller, are you now saying that initiating taking a client to the ground was not allowed, that it was only something that could be done if going to the ground sort of occurred naturally in a struggle?
A Yes. And sometimes that -- most of the time that helps.
Q Before you said that sometimes you could initiate taking the client to the ground to restrain them if the situation required it, in a situation where you said where they might be flailing or kicking. You can take them to the ground purposefully to restrain them on the ground.

A Yes.
Q Are you now saying that that is not the case?
A No, and I never intended for that to sound like that either. I mean, you might -- you're going to do least restrictive. You're going to get help. You're going to do everything you can, and if it takes you there, then you're going.
Q So now your testimony is that you can only restrain a client on the ground if you accidentally end up on the ground with your client?
A But yes, you're not going to slam somebody to the ground.
Q And are you now saying that you're not even going to transition them to the ground in a way that was taught to you?
A Well, you may have to.
Q Right. Yeah. You may have to do that.
A You may have to do that. You're there. I mean, they're -- you're trying to keep yourself and the client safe, so you're going to do the best you can.
Q And in your mind, what would be a situation -- what would be client behavior that would require doing something like that? Like if the client swings at a staff member, is that enough of an emergency to do this?

A They swing after you step back.
Q What if they move towards you after you step back?
A You go back.
Q What if you can't keep going back?
A Hopefully by then, you've got extra help or you've got extra staff there or you've been able to contact the nurse.
Q And what if you don't have any of that? What if you don't have extra help? What are you taught to do? What are you taught to do in that situation?
A If you're being hurt or another client is being hurt because a lot of times, you've got clients behind you that you've got to worry about their safety, too. You just try to watch your body posture, keep out of their way. You know, sometimes if they're butting their heads against the wall, you may have to get them and back them up from the wall.
Q Do you recall there being an issue with bed bugs at the Davidson House?
A Yes.
Q All right. Tell me about that.
A Well, we had bed bugs and we had -- we set protocol in place for checking the mattresses, checking the rooms. We trained staff for bed bugs, to look for bed bugs. When they found a bug, they were supposed to put the bug on a piece of paper and send it to -- I believe it was the infection control nurse.

Q How long did the bed bug problem at the Davidson House persist?

A I don't remember a specific timeframe.

Q Ryann Campos testified that she actually quit her job there because of the bed bugs at Davidson House. She said it was so bad that they would be crawling on clients during the night and that she actually brought bed bugs home to her home and it infected her home and then she quit for that reason. Were you aware of that?

A Not of -- I don't believe I was aware of her quitting. We did have staff that quit, yes.

Q Because of bed bugs?

A Yes.

Q What other staff quit because of bed bugs?

A I don't remember their names and I don't remember how many, but yes, we had some.

Q So it was a pretty terrible bed bug problem, I take it?

A Well, you know, I don't know if you've ever been around bed bugs, but they --

Q No, ma'am.

A You know, they're from Hades, let me assure you.

Q Was this problem still going on when you retired?
A No. I don't remember it going on, no.
Q Do you recall bed bugs ever being on -- do you recall bed bugs being on both floors at Davidson House?
A I believe both were infested, yes.
Q Would this have been for a period of years, months? Do you recall?
A I don't recall.
Q Do you feel like everything that possibly could have been done was done to get rid of the bed bugs?
A Yes. We had protocols set in place for when clients returned from visits. Everything went in a hot dryer for so many minutes after that. We had an exterminator. Our housekeeping department or custodial department was trained. We had chemicals. We had cleaning. We had staff trained. We were always monitoring the beds and the living areas for bed bugs. We moved people to keep them safe. We did extra cleaning.
Q Do you recall specifically if David Cains' room was infested?
A I don't remember if his room was or not.
Q Okay. And you're saying there were multiple staff members who quit because of bed bugs?
A I wouldn't say multiple, but we had some staff quit.

Q More than one?
A I don't remember, but yes, there were staff that quit. I don't remember the number.
Q Okay. But multiple just means more than one.
A Well, I don't -- you know, when you go from one, are you going to 30 or are you going to -- what number are you going to?
Q I'm just asking -- multiple just means more than one. And we know Ryann Campos quit for this reason.
A Probably more than one.
Q Okay. Because you know of at least one other than Ryann that quit for this reason, it sounds like?
A I believe I do, yes.
Q Okay. Did you ever -- did you work closely with Mr. Tyler Mattson?
A Somewhat. I wasn't in the dorm as a supervisor -- as his immediate supervisor, but I was in the dorm. I knew him and yes.
Q Did you have a positive impression of him as a direct care staff?
A Yes. He came a long way. He worked hard to learn.
Q Did he have some struggles at the beginning?
A Yes, but just because of the setting that --

Q What are some of the struggles that he had at the beginning that he learned to overcome?

A Well, it was the formality of the job. It was the -- you know, that's a learning process that staff have, anybody has when they come to a unit like this. To keep you safe, there's things in place that must be done and just the paperwork he learned. You know, he did learn.

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q Is that something that typically -- how long was he on your team? I know he was on your team at the time of David's death. And I think he started -- I want to say he started working there about 2017. Does that sound right to you?

A Probably, yes.

Q How many other team members would there have been on Team White that you supervised or managed?

A Well, like I say, Tracy Lloyd, Kim Ross.

Q I understand, yeah. They were the next level of supervision, but you were the manager of that team. I'm just asking how many staff members typically were there on Team White.

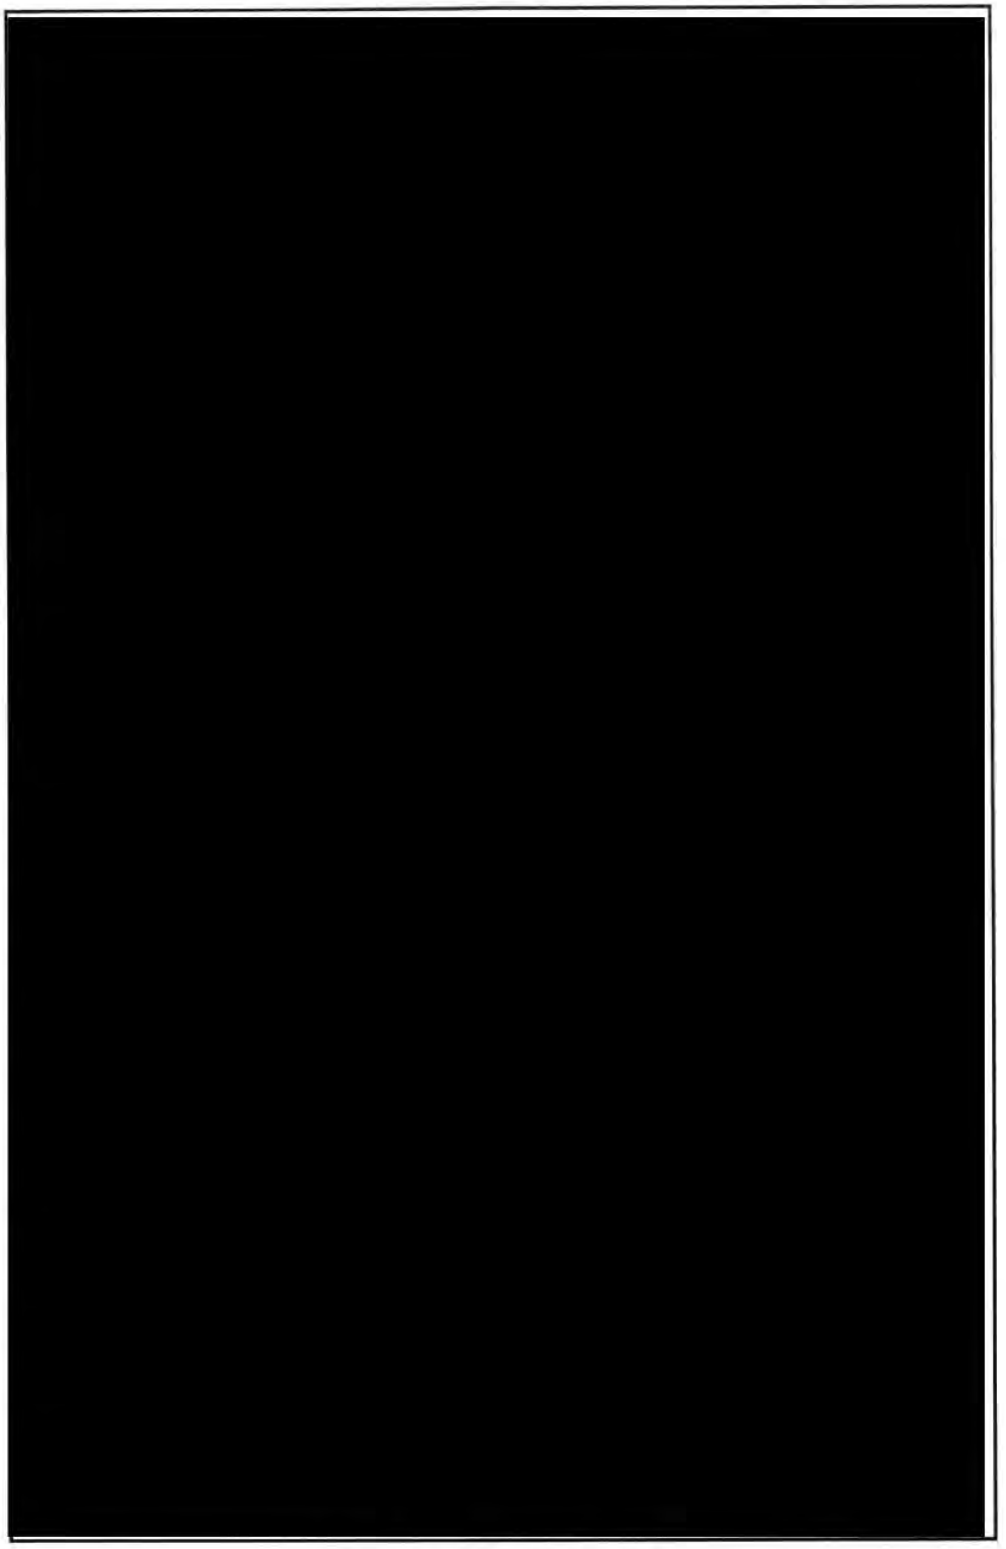
A You mean the staff at Davidson House, the number of staff at Davidson House?

Q No, the number of staff Team White. There's Team White, Team Red, and Team Blue. You're the residential services manager in charge of Team White, according to what I'm looking at and what you told me earlier.

A Yes.

Q How many direct care staff are part of Team White? That's all I'm asking.

A Okay. I have no idea. Those -- yeah.



Q You have no idea how many staff members were on the team you were the manager of?
A The program supervisor was responsible on a daily basis for the ratio of the clients at the dorm.
Q So you're telling me you don't know how many staff members were on the team you were supposed to be the manager of?
A The team changed. I had three shifts, two staff at each nurses' station on a day probably, two or three at a station depending on how many clients we had.
Q What would have been the -- let's say that a staff member -- well, let me back that up.

Q Let's say -- and I don't mean him specifically, but let's say there's a staff member who is using excessive force in restraining clients. What is the oversight process in place that would prevent that type of bad behavior from persisting?
A You have your supervisors in the dorm. You have your PS. The PS went to the dorm at different times during the day. I was over there at different times of the day. It would be brought to our attention from mine or the director's.

Q Okay. And what's a PS again?
A Program supervisor.
Q Was that person under you?
A No. They were under the director.
Q So they're a separate department; they're not residential services?
A Yes, they are.
Q They're just not in the hierarchy of Sandy, you, et cetera?
A The director of residential services would have supervised the PS's.
Q Okay. And so was the PS above you?
A No. I mean, no, they -- no, not on hierarchy, but . . .
Q I'm just trying to figure out who was in charge, who would have been in charge on the day of David's death, June 13, 2020. Tyler Mattson was the direct care staff working with him that day. The incident in question happened at the Commons Building, but of course David lives at the Davidson House. I know you were the residential services manager. I understand that Amy Jones, I believe, was a -- had just been promoted to some form of supervisor and she was Tyler's, I guess, most immediate supervisor. Does that ring a bell to you?

A She may have been the PS for the day, yes. I don't remember who the PS was.
Q Okay. I wanted to go back to something that you had said earlier. So if a staff member was mistreating clients, it would be reported to -- it would be witnessed and then reported up the chain; is that right?
A Yes.
Q All right. Do you recall that ever happening?
[redacted]
Q About any staff member.
A I don't remember specifics, but yes, that would have been reported.
Q I mean, do you remember specifically any incident or any -- I should say anytime where it was reported to you that a staff member was mistreating clients?
A Yes. As long as I was there, yes. I'm sure there would have been something reported to me, yes, about disciplinary or some kind of action.
[redacted]

[redacted]

Q Okay. We deposed Mr. Mattson a few months ago, and in his deposition, page 25 of his deposition, he described his job as a glorified babysitter. Do you agree with that description of his role at Booneville?

A No.

Q You would agree that that's kind of a crass way to describe what y'all do there?

A Yes.

Q Do you agree that that statement does not suggest that the person making the statement took what they did very seriously?

A Well, that statement, you know, is not -- is certainly questionable as to what in the world he was thinking.

Q Is that the kind of things he would say? Do you recall? Was that kind of his attitude as an employee there? He said several things like that in his deposition. Was that kind of your impression of him or does that statement fit with your impression of him?

A He could say things like that, I believe, not directly to me.

Q And another place in his deposition, page 26 of his deposition, he testified that on the day of David's death that he and one other RCT were responsible for approximately 10 clients. Does that ratio sound about right to you?

A Yes.

Q What is the correct ratio supposed to be?

A Oh, God. Okay. Ten -- okay. I'm remembering -- it's been a while.

Q I understand. Just do your best. It's not a test. If you don't remember, it's okay.

A Less than 10, but -- because that was on day shift, right?

Q Yes, ma'am. It was a day shift. It was a Saturday.

A Okay. Maybe it was eight. I can't remember.

Q You think eight may have been the minimum number of clients that two RCTs should have been responsible for?

A I'm recalling eight.
Q And, again, when you say "eight," you're talking about the number of clients that two RCTs would typically be responsible for?
A Yes.
Q And does it differ on the weekends or would it be the same on a Thursday day shift as what a Saturday day shift?
A It would go differently on the 12 to eight. It decreases. And I'm not even going to give you a number because I can't remember.
Q What do you mean 12 to eight?
A The shift.
Q Oh, okay. I see what you're saying. But it doesn't differ from a weekday to a weekend day?
A No.
Q Just differed night shift to day shift?
A Right.

[redacted]

Q Okay.
MR. GILLISPIE: Can we take five, Eric?

MR. COLLINS: Yeah, that is fine.

(WHEREUPON, after a break was taken, the proceedings resumed as follows:)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. Johnson-Miller, Tyler testified -- I'm referring to page 55 of his deposition transcript. He described the use of physical restraints or personal holds on a client as a pick your own battle, pick your battle kind of thing that could be -- and that he would use physical restraints on an as-needed basis if the circumstances require. Do you agree with that description of when to use physical restraints on a client, that it was on an as-needed basis, that it's up to the particular staff member to use their discretion?

A His wording I don't agree with, but the staff are using their judgment based on their training, yes.

Q So a physical restraint might occur -- might need to be used even if the situation is not an absolute emergency; is that correct?

A An emergency to me says the safety of the other clients or the client is involved.

Q Would a staff member ever -- should a staff member ever use a personal hold on a client where there's not an emergency?

A No.

Q So laying hands on the client should only occur in an emergency situation; is that correct?
A As a last resort.
Q As a last resort in an emergency situation?
A They're the same. They can be the same.
Q Okay. But I'm asking about an emergency situation. What's the same?
A What are you calling an emergency?
Q Well, you tell me. What's an emergency? How was an emergency situation defined at Booneville?
A If the client was out of control and they were going to get hurt. The safety of the client or the safety of the other client.
Q And is that the only situation where you were allowed to lay hands on the client or to put them in a personal hold?
A Yes. You're not taught to put hands on.
Q And as you sit here today, you cannot say specifically which holds were allowed and which holds were not?
A I cannot specifically give you the guidebook of the holds and sit here and name them all and tell you, no.
Q But also, as you sit here today, it's your understanding that if a situation called for it, taking a client to the ground was authorized, correct?

A Authorized is questionable. If the client takes you there and you're found there on the ground, then you've still got to provide a level of safety to that client.
Q And so if you end up on the ground with a client, it's your testimony that you're authorized to continue holding that client on the ground?
A If you have no other choice. If that's where the client is and you can't lift them back up to a standing position, you're there.
Q And that was a thing that occurred fairly regularly during your years there?
A Regularly? I don't know if that's the term to use or not, but that's something that with the type of clients that we serve that was a reality at times, yes.
Q And you were never taught that having a client on the ground increased the danger of the personal hold or that it was particularly dangerous. You were never taught that it was particularly dangerous to the client to have them on the ground?
A A personal hold is dangerous if you are the client period wherever you're at. That's why you use the least restrictive method you can that's available to you at the time.

Q So you'd agree that staff is only allowed to use the least restrictive intervention for the least amount of time possible in any situation?
A Right.
Q And have you discussed the restraint that led to David's death with anybody?
A No.
Q Do you know anything about it?
A No.
Q Have you discussed it with anybody?
A No.
Q You've never spoken to Sandy Evans about it?
A Sandy did the investigation. It was -- you know, I knew it happened at Commons. I knew he was transported to the hospital, and as they're -- you know, he passed away. We do a need-to-know basis. That's about all I knew about it. I knew she did the investigation. It was taken care of and . . .
Q What do you mean "it was taken care of"?
A The process, the investigation was taken care of and completed by her. And as far as -- you know, he had passed away at the time, so I didn't need to know any of that.
Q Do you have any recollection of David Cains having problems with -- having choking problems?

A I can't -- he may have been a choking risk. I don't remember if he was or not.
Q No, all I want to know is if you specifically have any knowledge about that.
A Well, like I say, I don't know if medical had deemed him a choking risk or not. I can't remember.
Q Again, I don't want you to speculate about what may be in his medical records. I just want to know from your personal experience. So given that, what would be your answer?
A I don't remember.
Q Okay. Do you have any -- and, again, I'm asking about your personal experience. Do you have any memory or recollection of David having issues with vomiting?
A He could vomit at will.
Q Okay. Have you witnessed that?
A There have been times I've seen him regurgitate, yeah.
Q At will?
A If he got upset, he could, yes.
Q So you're saying he would vomit after getting upset. He would vomit intentionally when he was upset. Is that what you're saying?
A Yes, and sometimes he has kept it in. You know, he would put it in his mouth and spit maybe, but yes, there was an issue with that.

Q Okay. Could you put a number on how many times you saw him do that yourself?
A No, I couldn't.
Q Can you think of one single time you ever saw him do that yourself?
A Actually being there and witness it, no, but he did have the history of this.
Q How do you he had the history of it if you've never witnessed it or were never there?
A Well, you depend on other staff, your supervisors, your medical team.
Q Okay. So your knowledge -- you can't think of a time of it ever happening. You just sort of --
A I do not remember the times that I was told it had happened. It was, yes, he does have that history.
Q Ms. Carrie, can you see this document here? It's a behavior report.
A It's before me. This is one of my triggers for the issue I was telling you about. So, again, I could be -- I'm having trouble visually.
Q Oh, okay.
MR. GILLISPIE: Eric, you can see it?
MR. COLLINS: I just see the folder. I don't actually see the document.

MR. GILLISPIE: Oh, okay. I had this problem last time. Hold on a second.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. Carrie, I know you're having a medical issue, so can you see this?

A I can visualize some of it, yes.

Q Okay. Will it help if I get it closer to you or do you need it to be further away?

A That's not the issue. The issue is the brightness and the . . .

Q Okay. Well, Eric can see it, so I'm going to do my best to try to view. This is a behavior report involving David from May 29, 2020, describing an incident in which Tyler Mattson used a personal restraint on David for one minute. And then at the bottom here, it has your name. It says "If personal restraint was used, QIDP notified" and then it has your name, Carrie Johnson-Miller, and then it has your initials, reviewed by. Does that mean that you were the supervisor who approved this use of restraint?

A I could have been, yes.

Q If it has your name there at the bottom, does that mean it was you?

A I was notified. Personals don't have to have a prior approval like we do with mechanicals.

Q Okay. So you were notified of it and then you reviewed it because it says "reviewed by CJM." That's you, right?
A Yeah.
Q And what does it mean that you reviewed it?
A I read the behavior report. I think at the time we were presenting them to the other department heads and we had a discussion during that meeting with possibly psychology, medical. The QA person would have been in attendance, but I think at that time, we were -- we were --
Q There's several of these where you reviewed -- that you were the person notified and you reviewed them. I'm just asking when you put your initials on there saying you reviewed it, what would you have done specifically prior to signing off on it?
A I would have been told. I would have read it. If there had been questions in my mind about what was written, I would have gotten in contact with staff.
Q Okay. And so if you had had a fear that something -- that a client was -- that a restraint was used unnecessarily, you would have done what?
A I would have got with the client -- or not the client, but the staff member and possibly the director depending on what it was.

Q Do you recall ever doing that for any of these? Do you recall specifically anytime where you were asked to review a behavior report and it caused you to notify someone up the chain about the possible use of unnecessary restraints?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And do you remember who the staff member was?

A No, because that was just part of my job description. That's something I just did.

[redacted]

Q So in this incident, I'm going to read -- this is his description of it. In this incident, Tyler describes being called to help get David out of the mobile. And then it says, "We got inside. He began screaming and tried to pull the fire alarm. I removed him from that area. When he got into the blue, he began screaming and attempted to smack me. I put him in personal hold for one minute. He seemed to calm down and went to his room." Then signed Tyler Mattson.

So in this incident, Tyler Mattson used personal restraints on David he says for one minute in response to David trying to pull a fire alarm and attempting to smack him. Do you recall reviewing this incident?

A I don't recall it, but I did, I'm sure, because I've got my signature on it.

Q Do you recall testifying earlier today that personal restraints can only be used in emergency situations?

A Yes. And I guess at the time him trying to smack him was he was out of control and that's what --

Q Well, it doesn't say he was out of control. It just says he attempted to smack him.

A Well --

Q Let's not add facts that aren't there. Just going by this, it says, "He began screaming, tried to pull a fire alarm, began screaming and attempted to smack me."

MR. COLLINS: Hey, Josh, I'm going to object right here. If we're not going to allow her to add facts, I don't think we should allow you to omit facts. This statement right here clearly says that he had already hit one staff member. You left that out. I think it should be told to her if you're asking her to opine on it.

MR. GILLISPIE: I'll just read the whole thing.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Do you see, "Arrived from schedule OA mobile crying and screaming. TA Rick Libby told me he, for no reason, slapped him. I went outside to get him after mobile called saying they needed help. I went outside and asked him to come in to take a shower, relax. DC complied, but when we got inside, he began screaming and tried to pull the fire alarm. I removed him from that area. When he got into the blue, he began screaming" -- I think it says "at me" -- and attempted to smack me. I put him in personals for one minute."

So my question is, Ms. Carrie, does that meet the definition of an emergency situation to you?

A At the time, it could have. I don't recall all the facts of that.

Q Well, you've reviewed it and signed off on it, so if it -- I'm assuming that means that you found it to be an emergency situation; is that correct?

A Yes, or it was escalating. But yes. And like I say yes, you're right.

Q So just based on what I read there, if this was all you knew about a situation, that could meet the standard for an emergency in your mind?

A Yes, because he had already escalated at the other place and he had transitioned to another place and he was still fighting them, so, you know -- yes, it could have been interpreted as an emergency situation at that time.

Q Okay. Moving on to the next one. This is the same day. This is also a May 29, 2020, different time of day, but Tyler Mattson put David in a personal restraint for three minutes during this one. This one was also -- you were also the staff member notified and then you were also the staff member who reviewed it. Your initials are here at the bottom. And this one says -- the description is, "The nurse, Kelly King, called for meds. David Cains went down there. Soon after, he began screaming at the nurse threatening to throw a thermometer at her. I ran down there as I was in the aid station because I was the only one on the floor. When I got down to her, I immediately put him in personals for about three minutes."

A He was probably giving him time to chill out.

Q And, again, you testified earlier, and you testified correctly because it is the rule, that personal holds can only be used in emergency situations.

A And that could be deemed as an emergency, you know.

Q Tell me how this could be deemed as an emergency. He's screaming and threatening to throw a thermometer?
A Because he's escalating. He may have been escalating at the time.
Q Screaming and threatening to throw something could meet the definition of an emergency necessitating physical force, yes or no?
A No.
Q Okay. So did you report Tyler for improperly using a physical restraint for this incident?
A At that time, it was not deemed improper.
Q What does that mean?
A At that time, it was an acceptable -- evidently an acceptable thing that we did. What date was that anyway?
Q It was May 29th of 2020, two weeks before David was killed. You're saying the rules were different -- what are you saying? Are you saying the rules changed?
A No. I'm saying there's probably information in that narrative that was not written down.
Q Are you alone in the room you're in now?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Go ahead. You were saying there was probably information not written down. How do you know what?

A I may have talked to him at the time. I may have learned more information about it. I don't remember.
Q Okay. Hypothetically, let's take Tyler at his word and say that this is all it was. If this is all it was, was that sufficient to meet the definition of an emergency necessitating physical force?
A No.
Q As far as you recall, you did not flag this as a bad act by Tyler?
A No. I do not remember flagging it at the time, no.
Q If this is all that had happened -- and, again, we have no indication that there was anything else other than this. If this is all that it was, should you have flagged him?
A Yes.
Q Okay. I'm moving to an April 28th of 2020 behavior report. This is obviously David Cains. Rhonda Harris is the staff member directly involved in the personal restraint here. Again, it's April 28, 2020. You are the supervisor who was notified and once again, you were the supervisor who reviewed it. Well, actually you and -- it looks like maybe Randy McLemore also reviewed it or somebody else also reviewed it. See, your initials are there at the bottom here.

A Yes.
Q So this one says, "DC arrived at work. Sat down, finished drinking his soda, got up and throw it away, walked back to chair, picked it up and threw it at staff. Tried to going to window with his fist up, but staff prevented him from getting to window. Staff held him in personals for approximately three minutes."
Do you recall this incident?
A No.
Q So in this incident -- and this is Rhonda Harris who wrote this -- DC or David picked up a chair and threw it at staff and tried to going to window with his fist up. They held him in personals here. Is this an emergency situation?
A I would say yes, because as many clients as we had at that work area.
Q Okay. How are you as the supervisor reviewing these documents supposed to know what kind of personal restraint was used? It just said "personal restraint" in most of them. It doesn't always say exactly what happened or meaning it doesn't always say how they restrained them. How are you supposed to know that if it's not on the form?
A Well, there's a definition of personal restraint.
Q There is, and that definition, I'll represent to you, because I've read that definition in lots of these depositions and it's restriction of a client's -- well, let's pull it up. I don't want to -- just one second.

MR. GILLISPIE: Actually, let's take another five minute break and then we'll be able to wrap up when I come back, Eric.

MR. COLLINS: Okay.

(WHEREUPON, after a break was taken, the proceedings resumed as follows:)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q So I wanted to find the definition for us, Ms. Carrie. And Booneville policy, Booneville HDC policy roman number i(d)(4) defines personal restraint as "an emergency procedure limiting movement by the holding of a hand or a limb." You'd agree with that?

A Yes.

Q And it defines emergency restraint as "the use of the least restrictive procedure and for the least time necessary to control severely aggressive or destructive behaviors." Then it goes on to say "the use of emergency restraint will comply with all relative standards and regulations."

Would you agree with that as well?

A Yeah.

Q Can y'all see this behavior report dated 3/2020?

A I can see it somewhat.

MR. GILLISPIE: Eric, can you see it?

MR. COLLINS: Yeah, I can see it.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q And this is the last of these reports I'm going to be asking you about, but this one involves Tyler Mattson applying personal restraints to David Cains this time for four minutes. And it has your initials for some reason by the four minute where it says -- there's an X by personal restraint, four minute. Then it has your initials there, CJM. And then at the bottom, of course, it says you're the QIDP that was notified and then reviewed by you, CJM. Can you see that?

A I can.

Q Why would you have initialed up here as well by the four minutes?

A Because I wrote four minutes. He failed to complete out the form so I would have gotten with him and asked him what it was.

Q Did you write the description as well?

A No.

Q He wrote that?

A Yes.

Q What do you mean he failed to complete the form?

A There was some -- he forgot part of the form, and so I went and evidently found him and he would have verbally told me four minutes.

Q Okay. So it looks like he filled out most of it and just left this part off. Is that probably what happened?

A He left off that and it looks like up above. I can't visualize what that says, but . . .

Q Laundry basket. It indicates he was kicking his laundry basket.

A Okay. That looks like my writing, so I went to him and he told me what it was.

Q Okay. So let's read his description of this one. "I was walking through the hall and heard banging. I went to see what it was and it was David Cains kicking his laundry basket. I walked in and asked him what was wrong and he needed to relax. He said no, bitch, and tried to spit and swing on me. I applied personals to him and he continued to fight and resist calling me a bitch. I continued personals. He began to apologize and say he was calm. I told him to relax and let him up. He apologized and behavior ended."

Then it goes on. Then he signs it, dates it, and writes there "four minutes of personals, time of behavior 1550." This is Tyler describing using a personal -- he says he let him up. Do you recall this incident?

A No, but go up above and let me see what else he -- there was something else.
Q Up here?
A Doesn't that say biting?
Q It says that he bit his own right and left hand, I think. Yes, it says that David bit himself in the hand, bit his own hand.
A He was trying to protect him from hurting himself, number one, and --
Q Well, that's not what it says in this description. It says, "I walked in and asked him what was wrong," because he'd heard him kicking his laundry basket, so Tyler walked into his room, asked him what was wrong, told him to relax. David said, no, bitch, and then tried to spit and swing on Tyler, so Tyler then, according to this, put him in restraints on the ground for four minutes.
A I don't know about on the ground, but he was fighting himself and he was probably trying to protect him.
Q Well, it says here that he let him up. What else could that mean other than let him up off the ground?
A David may have gone on his knees.

Q Well, this says "let him up." This is Tyler saying he was restraining him and then Tyler let him up. So you tell me, is that a proper form of personal restraint?

A As far as let him up, I'm not for sure exactly what happened.

Q Well, then why did you approve it? Why did you review it?

A When I approved it, I probably knew exactly what happened and it made sense to me. Right now, I don't know.

Q Well, based on this, just based on what he wrote here, right, just based on what's right in front of us, and I read it exactly as it's written. Based on that, you would agree with me that this is describing a situation where Tyler heard David kicking something. It ended up being his laundry basket. So Tyler enters David's room, tells him to relax. David says, no, bitch, and then tried to spit and swing on Tyler. Taken that alone as it's written here, is that right there -- does that meet the definition of an emergency restraint -- or does that meet the definition of an emergency situation where there is severely aggressive and destructive behaviors?

A Right now I could not tell you that.

Q Well, let's say that's all it was. Let's say all it was is that David called him a bitch and then tried to spit and swing.
A And he was biting.
Q Well, may have been biting himself, but Tyler didn't think that was a big enough deal to even add to his narrative.
A It was in the report, though.
Q All right. Well, in the scenario that Tyler described where David calls Tyler a bitch, tries to spit and swing on him, that in and of itself, does that meet the threshold for an emergency situation necessitating physical restraint?
A If you want to leave out biting, yes, and being harm to himself, yes.
Q Okay. Let's say there's no biting. Same question, no biting. Does that necessitate physical force?
A There was biting. He was providing safety for that client from his biting.
Q Well, why does it not say that in his narrative?
A It's in the report.
Q Is that your handwriting or his handwriting?
A No, that's his.
Q And did he put that there originally or did you have to ask him to go back and add it?

A It looks like it was there originally.
Q So if a client is biting their hand, that is an emergency that would necessitate holding them on the ground or holding them down for four minutes?
A It would require an intervention because the severity of the biting could be very detrimental to that client, yes.
Q And that biting combined with him trying to spit at Tyler calling him a bitch and swinging on Tyler, that, to you, justifies taking him down and holding him down there for four minutes in personals?
A It could.
Q It could. And, again, we talked about the definition of personals. A procedure limiting movement by the holding of a hand or limb. Nowhere does it say anything about taking clients down, does it?
A I don't know if he had him down.
Q Well, yes, you do. Yes, you do because it says, "He was calm. I told him to relax and let him up." What else -- you know, we all speak English. That's what that means, ma'am.

MR. COLLINS: I'm going to object to this. You're getting argumentative and you're badgering her. She's answered that question and she's given you an alternative, which could be reasonably read into that as well. You're just badgering her at this point.

MR. GILLISPIE: No. There is no other reasonable --

MR. COLLINS: I can think of four off the top of my head, Josh. He could let him up out of a chair, let him off his bed, let him off her knees as she stated. You're badgering her.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. Carrie, the fact that he wrote "let him up," that indicates that he had him down on something, whether it be the ground, the bed, on his knees, something, right? You'd at least agree with me on that?

A No.

Q You would not. Why?

A He may have gone down on his own.

Q Well, if he went down on his own, why would he need to be let up? Why would Tyler need to be the one that lets him get up he you went down on his own?

A He may have helped him up.

Q But this says "he let him up." You don't know one way or another what happened here?

A Today I do not remember.
Q If the situation had been where Tyler told you that he restrained him on the ground for four minutes, let's say that's what happened here. He restrained him on the ground for four minutes, which is clearly what happened. Would you have had any issue in reviewing that? Would you have felt the need to flag that or would that have been something that you would have -- A Flagged it.
Q You would have flagged it? That's a yes, you would have flagged that?
A Yes.
Q Okay. So if this had indicated that he had him on the ground restraining him, you would have flagged that?
A Yes, depending on how he got to the ground.
Q Depending on how he got to the ground. How would it depend on how he got to the ground?
A Client will go to the ground on their own.
Q So if the client had gone to the ground on his own and then Tyler had restrained him there on the ground for four minutes, that would have been okay?
A If there was no other way, yes. I mean, he didn't start -- he was protecting that client from biting himself.

Q That's your story and sticking to it on this one, huh?
A Yes.
Q I may be done here. Give me just a moment, please.
Ms. Carrie, do you know of any definition of personal restraints other than the one that I read to you and we talked about?
A It should list -- on that form you're looking at, it should list the different types.
Q Well, it says, "Approved restraints: A, personal restraints, which is an emergency limiting movement by the holding of a hand or limb." That's all it says about personal restraints. And then the list then says "chemical, protective helmet, papoose board wrist restraint," different things. But for personal restraints, the entirety of the definition is an emergency procedure limiting movement by the holding of a hand or limb. I'll represent to you that Ms. Evans, Ms. Sandy Evans testified that that was the only definition of personal restraints that she knew of, page 40 of her deposition. Do you agree with that? Is that the only definition of personal restraint that you were aware of?

A At this moment, yes. From what I remember.
Q Do you remember there being some other definition that lists taking clients to the ground or getting on the ground or being on the ground and holding clients on the ground for personal restraints? Is there something that you can remember seeing like that?
A I don't believe so.
Q You've never seen any written policy that you can recall that states ground restraints are allowed?
A It's been a while since I looked at those definitions, but --
Q As you sit here today.
A That's what I'm recalling today, yes.
Q Okay. So you cannot recall any policy that authorizes ground restraints. You cannot recall any written policy that authorizes ground restraints, correct?
A Well, mechanical, you're going to be, but not for personal, no, I don't believe so.
Q That's all I was asking. Thank you. I think that's all I have, Ms. Carrie. I appreciate your time today.

EXAMINATION

BY MR. COLLINS:

Q Ms. Carrie, before you go, I'm just going to ask you a few questions.

A Okay.
Q Real quickly, you were speaking about Justin having to pick up David Cains at McDonald's. Can you elaborate on that just a little bit for me?
A His uncle had taken him out to McDonald's. He called us for assistance. The uncle called us for assistance. We got a van. We got two trained people that David had a good relationship with and we -- they went to McDonald's and they got him and brought him back to the campus. And when I discussed it with the other Q that went, one of them, Justin, he said -- Justin said -- I asked him, I said "Well, how was it?" And he said, "Well, he was visibly" -- the uncle was visibly shook up. I think he alluded to the fact that there were some scratches or some facial thing that had happened to the uncle.
Q And do you by chance remember the uncle's name?
A No, I don't.
Q When you were looking at these behavioral reports, you get them from, I guess, one of the staff members, correct? They send them to you?
A Yes. They're sent over to the team members, yes, and then we go to a conference with the rest of the staff or the department heads.

Q When you get those behavior reports, do you discuss them with the team members sending them to you?
A When I review them, if I have any questions, I pull them. I go to the dorm. I find the staff member, and I have a discussion with them. And I would always try to find the supervisor and maybe have a discussion with them. And if I had a question about my thoughts, I would go to the director.
Q How often do you think that you discussed these with the staff member or the supervisors? I know you probably don't have an exact number or percentage, but just about how often?
A It was something I did often. It wasn't a rare occurrence because I always had questions about -- in my mind, I wanted to know what I was reading was correct, yeah. I mean, that was just something -- that was just part of what I did on a daily basis.

[redacted]

Q Thank you. I have nothing further.

FURTHER EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Just one follow-up question, not about any of that but about the behavior reports. We went and collected all of the behavior reports that you signed off on involving David Cains between 2016 and 2020, Ms. Carrie. And on a lot of those, the times that personal restrains are used on a lot of those it's David swung or tried to hit. And my question is, does a client attempting to strike with his hand a staff member in and of itself justify an emergency personal restraint?

A It depends on the environment you're in. I mean, how many clients are around you when he's swinging?

Q Well, let's think of it in a vacuum where in and of itself, a one-on-one situation, let's say. One-on-one situation, whether it be in David's room or some other room, one-on-one situation where David or any other client takes a swing at the staff member. In and of itself, can that meet the definition of an emergency situation that necessitates physical force?
A You're taught to step back.
Q You're taught to step back. Are you taught anything else that might prevent having to use physical force on a client other than stepping back?
A Watch your posture. Sometimes your posture tells whether or not -- what you're ready for.
Q You mean your posture because the client takes cues from your posture. Is that what you mean?
A Yes.
Q But other than stepping back and making sure that your posture isn't threatening to the client, is there any other technique that you were taught that you can think of to use in that situation prior to actually laying hands on the client?
A Redirect. If you think a client is escalating and you know his warning signs or her warning signs, you're taught to get extra staff, call for assistance, call a nurse, can you redirect him.

Q So all of those things should be done before you lay a hand on a client who took a swing?

A Yes. That is what we would strive to do, yes.

Q Thank you, Ms. Johnson-Miller. That's all I have. Thank you very much.

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Mr. Jobb, I've got a few more questions for you today following up on the first time we spoke.

I wanted to start by asking you about whether the use of personal restraints are ever addressed during the -- addressed with the family during the IPP annual meetings.

So in this case, it would have been there were two IPP -- we established that you were his Q and did the IPP for 2018 and 2019, so the last two that were done.

And so my question is -- and I know the mother attends those and the sister has attended them as well as part of the -- that the mother was part of the core team, as you explained to me.

A Uh-huh.

Q Are the personal restraints ever addressed amongst the team and in those annual reviews, annual meetings?

A They are. Some of the clients that we serve do not utilize -- or we don't utilize any form of restraint.

It's just not required.
Q Uh-huh.
A But, in his case, it was required periodically, so, yes.
Q And I think you told me before that you're the Q is not the person or the department that dictates what those restraints are; correct? That comes from psychology?
A That's correct.
Q And so that would be the behavior treatment program?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. And, in David's case, I believe that the most recent one was dated August 20th of 2018.
Are the contents of that behavior treatment program included anywhere in the IPP?
A A portion of the I -- I mean, a portion of the behavior treatment program will be included, yes.
I don't in -- I don't copy and paste the entire thing. But I do try to hit the high points on it.
Q So I'm going to pull up David's treatment program here on a new tool that I've learned called share screen that Cris taught me last week. It'll make all this easier for us.
A Okay.
Q Do y'all see it?
A Yes.

Q Behavior treatment program.
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. I'm going to just scroll slowly so you can just familiarize yourself with this.
A Okay.
Q Kind of, to me, the high points here would be that the program employs category one procedures as defined by DDS 3011-D.
A Right.
Q Do you see that?
A Yes, sir.
Q That is in the IPP somewhere, isn't it?
A I believe it is, yes.
Q Okay.
A (Inaudible) --
Q But --
A Go ahead.
Q Go ahead.
A Well, I was just -- right there where you're at, with the primary symptoms, I usually include those as well.
Q Okay.
A Also the reinforcement menu that you have right above that, those are some of the things I like to include.

Q Okay. And what I'm getting at is, do you recall anybody ever explaining to David's mother or sister the types of personal restraints that were authorized to be used on David?

A I don't recall that specifically, no.

Q Do you recall anyone ever, in the 2018 and 2019 meetings for which you were the Q, do you recall anyone ever addressing with the mother and sister that David might be restrained on the ground?

A No.

Q Okay. And I'm correct, aren't I, that staff development is responsible for training the direct care staff in the use of personal restraints; correct?

A That is correct, yes.

Q Okay. But staff development is not responsible for then enforcing what they train, are they?

A Well, they -- they do --

Q Meaning they're not the ones, the staff development is not, at least I wouldn't think, tell me if I'm wrong, staff development is not the department at Booneville that would be responsible for monitoring how staff are performing their jobs and monitoring staff to make sure that they are only using personal restraints that comply with authorized training?

A No. They -- they do the training. And then there's a point where they do a retraining.

Q Okay.
And so my question would be, who would be responsible, most responsible, on a day-to-day basis for enforcing the rules concerning how to use personal restraints?
A Well, the training takes place. And then, once the staff have that training, it's on that particular staff to -- to conduct that training in a proper manner.
Q Okay. I would agree with that. But are you saying that there's no supervision of staff by anybody to make sure that they're not using improper restraints?
A Well, they have -- supervisors are assigned, but they're certainly not everywhere at all times.
These restraints have to be approved by a Q, a program coordinator, or another -- nurses can also approve the restraints.
Q Right.
A They call the program supervisor, would largely be one that you could put in the category that you're speaking of.
They call the program supervisor, who is essentially a person that is responsible for that shift hill-wide training. And so they would be called and notified.
And then the Q is then notified. And they have to make the -- the approval or -- or a nurse, like I said, could make the approval.

Now, once they're in restraints, they have to have reauthorization.

Q But you're talking about -- you're talking about mechanical restraints now, aren't you?

A Yes.

Q Okay. I'm not really concerned with mechanical restraints, because that's not the type of restraint that led to David's death.

It was a personal restraint by three staff members on the ground. And it's a restraint that Mark Hise told me yesterday was not taught and not authorized by NCI training that's conducted in Phase One.

Were you aware that these types of restraints were being used on clients, these types of restraining clients on the ground?

And, not for the purpose of transitioning to a mechanical restraint, were you aware that was going on?

A No.

Q And you'd agree with me, you'd agree with Mark, I assume, that that that's not a proper way to restrain clients?

A That's correct.

Q Okay.

And so knowing that then, I'm assuming that, you know, nobody would have ever explained to David's mom or David's sister that that was a type of restraint that might be used on David --

A Well --

Q -- correct?

A I don't -- the thing is, when these restraints take place, it -- it could end up on the ground. It could end up over a desk. It could end up -- you know, I mean, it just -- you can't -- there's not a textbook that every behavior is dealt with this -- I mean --

Q There actually is. I mean, there actually is.

I mean, that's not what I'm asking you about, but there -- you know, there is an NCI textbook.

A I'm just saying --

MR. COLLINS: I'm going to object right here, Josh. He was answering the question. I'm going to ask that you allow him to answer the question thoroughly before you interrupt him and tell him that wrong.

You can ask a further question if you want to, but let's let him finish his answer.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. Well, I don't think he was -- I think he was answering a question that I didn't ask and --

BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q You know, my only question really about this is -- well, first, do you recall ground restrains ever being discussed at any time with David's mom or David's sister?
A No.
Q Okay.
And so my next question is, if a direct care staff, if an RCT, was utilizing improper restraints or had forgotten his or her training and were just having difficulty in general following the rules as it relates to personal restraints, who would be the person that is supposed to catch that and then try to, you know, get them some more training or correct their behavior?
You know, who would be the person that would be responsible for, you know, making sure that an RCT is not just kind of running wild and doing things improperly?
A Every staff member up here is a mandated reporter of abuse. So if it was not conducted in an appropriate manner --
Q Uh-huh.
A -- any one of those staff could report that and it would be investigated.
Q Okay.
A (Inaudible.)
Q But there's nobody that you know of responsible for supervising how staff conduct or implement personal restraints?

A No. There's not going to be an on-site person making a call.
It's going to be the staff that have taken the initiative to handle that emergency and to use appropriate discretion.
Q So there's no -- there's absolutely no mechanism for knowing how a staff member, how an RCT, is treating the clients?
A Well, they're trained.
Q Okay. But, other than that, I mean, every job I've ever had, I've had a supervisor that's supervised. Maybe not 24/7, but, you know --
A That's not --
Q -- there's always a --
A Well, you made the point yourself, that 24/7 doesn't happen. There are times --
Q Right.
A There's are times where a supervisor would be on the scene and would, if saw anything inappropriate, they would correct it on site.
But, like you said, there's not always going to be supervision 24/7.
Q Okay. Sure. But --

A They're trying to handle emergency situations. And that's the way they use appropriate discretion when doing so.

Q Let me ask it -- I hear what you're saying. And I'm not trying to trip you up. So let me ask it this way.

In a scenario where a staff member gets their training, they finish Phase Two but then they use their discretion poorly and start regularly implementing things like ground restraints, which, you know, Tyler Mattson said that was the thing that he was allowed to do; which is not the case.

Is there not a safety mechanism in place to catch that so that that doesn't continue to go on?

A Well, it would have to be reported.

If anything was witnessed or observed that was inappropriate, we have -- everybody on campus is a mandated reporter. And it should be reported to our superintendent.

And our superintendent would determine what type of investigation needs to transpire.

Q Okay. So you're saying that any type of ground restraint like I'm describing would constitute maltreatment that needs to be reported?

A Not necessarily, no.

Q Okay. Well, then if it's not maltreatment, but still improper, against policy, dangerous and, you know, you found out it was going on, what would you do?

A Well, anything that I deemed inappropriate or abusive, I would report it.
Q Okay. Despite whether it constitutes maltreatment or not?
A Well, it's not for me to determine. Our superintendent would make that determination.
Q Okay.
A We do have maltreatment investigations and we have administrative reviews for both investigations --
Q Okay.
A -- but that's not my call.
Q Okay.
Are you able, as David's Q, as the person that drafts his plan, his IPP and is responsible for implementing his plan, are you able to articulate to me what, if any, supervisory, supervision techniques or safety mechanisms are in place to ensure that RCTs are not regularly using improper personal restraints?
Or is it simply there's no system in place, it's just, if somebody sees something, they report it?
A Well, they are trained.
Q We've covered that.
A And we count on them doing the correct procedure, correct job. And, if anything is not carried out properly, we are counting on other staff to report it.

Q Okay.
A And then there's --
Q And who typically would that be? Who would that typically -- who's the staff member in the best position to observe how an RCT is using restraints and then report it if necessary?
Who is in the best position to do that?
A It could be a fellow RCT.
Q Okay. Who else could it be?
A It could be anybody.
Q Okay. But who?
A Any staff member.
Q Okay. There's not a senior staff member? There's not a -- it's not the residential services director?
A That's going to -- I don't know what your question is. I'm sorry. You lost me there.
Q My question is, is there a staff member that is in the best position to monitor and, if necessary, take action, when an RCT is not following the rules with respect to personal restraints?
A No. There would be times where there would be supervisors on site and there'll be times where they're not.

Q Okay. So there's no formal system of supervision for the RCTs?
A I'm sorry?
Q There's no formal system, no formal plan of supervision, for the RCTs?
A Well, they have their supervisors. But, like I said, there'll be times where the supervisor is not present.
Q Okay. And there's -- but there's no --
A The (inaudible) is who you have to answer to. There's always -- there's a chain of command, certainly.
Q Okay. And are you able to articulate what that chain of command is?
A For the RCT?
Q Correct.
A Well, they -- they would have their -- you know, the titles have all changed now.
But they would -- they would have their dorm supervisor.
Q What --
A Go ahead.
Q What would -- I'm talking about in June of 2020. What would the chain of command been?
A Well -- well, an RCT, then they have the -- their -- and I don't remember the titles. They've changed so often.

But it would be a shift supervisor and then a dorm supervisor, a team leader, and then the residential services director. It'd be something pretty close to that.

Q Okay. So three or four levels with residential services director on top?

A That'd be pretty close, yes.

Q Okay.

And are you able to articulate any formal plan or policy used for supervising the RCTs?

For instance, supervisor has to be present for this many, you know, this many times a week for this long --

A No.

Q -- that sort of thing.

A No. That would not have been in my job capacity.

Q That would what?

A That would not be in my job capacity at that time. I -- I think --

Q It would not be in your job capacity to know if a system for supervising the staff existed or it would not be in your job capacity to be that supervisor?

A Well, even to put that in place; because the -- my position at that time was not a supervisory role and did not give any directives.

Q Okay. I under -- okay. Understood.
A So we could encourage and -- and try to put forth some guidelines to be followed.
It's very difficult to enforce each and everything when you're not the one giving directives or doing the training themselves.
Q And the person giving the directives to these RCTs would ultimately be the residential services director?
A That person -- yes. It would certainly be more on the line of the person you need to talk to about those -- those sorts of things.
Q Okay. But, as far as you know, as far as you're aware, personally, in June of 2020 -- and I get that it's not your job, but I'm just asking if you're aware anyways.
In June of 2020, are you aware of there being any sort of formal system, formal policy in place for the purpose of supervising RCTs?
A No. That's not in my capacity. I mean --
Q I understand that. I'm just asking you, are you aware if there was a system or not?
A Well, they have a system that they have a direct supervisor. They have a chain of command.
Q Okay. And it's not a -- I just want to know if you know if there was a system, if you know what it was.

And, if you just don't know, that's fine. Just tell me that too. I just need to know.

A My answer is that they have direct supervisors to answer to and a chain of command to adhere to.

I mean, I don't know how more I can answer that question for you. We all have someone to answer to all the way up to the top.

Q Okay. But a chain of command, I understand that exists. That's different than a formal plan for supervising RCTs isn't it?

A Well --

Q It's not the same plan.

A -- I mean, if you look at it as a plan, they -- the RCTs have direct supervisors.

Q Uh-huh.

A Those direct supervisors are not going to be present 24/7.

Q Uh-huh.

A There will be times that they are present, but there's times that they're not.

Q Do you know how often direct supervisors are required to be present?

A No, I do not.

Q Okay. Do you know if there is a requirement about direct supervisors being present --

A No.
Q -- to supervise RCTs?
A No, sir.
Q Okay. And your answer would be the same for June of 2020?
A That's correct.
Q Okay. Thank you.
So every time Mr. Cains, a personal restraint was used on Mr. Cains, you would be notified of that? At least during the time you were his Q; right?
A I -- not always immediately. But I would become aware of it at some point, yes.
Q Okay. And what was your responsibility at that point after you -- they were required to make you aware; right?
A Well, not always at the moment.
Like the restraint of the day of the incident, I did not authorize that restraint. I was not aware of it.
I eventually became aware of it. Not all the details because there was obviously an investigation. And those detail, I was not privy to those details, because -- as far as him being restrained.
We did monitor the numbers. And we were taking some proactive stances to assist him in reducing those numbers.

Q Okay. Like what?
A Well, we were having our medical staff go on site.
Anytime that Mr. Cains' was demonstrating any kind of verbal aggression or physical or just seemed anxious, they would go check his blood level to see if -- because he was, I'm sure you know, he was diabetic.
And to see if that might have been a contributing factor.
Q Uh-huh.
A That maybe he had low blood sugar or high. I don't really have a medical background, but that was something we had in place.
Q And is that when they noticed that they were -- that he was having more behavior issues shortly after lunch --
A I can't --
Q -- or after eating?
A I don't really recall what led to it. It was just, we -- we, as a team, get together and we try to be proactive and -- and see what we can put in place.
And, actually, his year leading into that annual review that never took place, the numbers were reduced over that year.
Q The number of personal restraints used on him?
A Of personal, mechanical, chemical, everything was reduced. And also his non-compliance was reduced. His physical aggression had been cut in half -- I don't have the numbers in front of me.

But I did see some of those numbers come in from the psychiatric or psychology evaluation. That was a report that was leading into the meeting that I never got to take, that never took place.

So I got to look at those numbers and compare them. So --

Q Do you know what that psychology department document was called? I want to see if I have it.

A Should be a psychology evaluation. Let me -- I don't know if I have it. Yeah, psychological evaluation.

Q Are you able to email that to Eric, by chance, so he can send --

A I don't have --

Q -- it to me?

A No, sir, I can't. I mean, I -- I can at a later date, but not -- not as we speak.

Q Okay. And, real quick, give me the title, just the title of it real quick, so I can add it to a list.

A Yes. It's a psychological evaluation.

Q What's the date?

A 6/16/20.

Q Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: And, Eric, I don't think

I've seen this. It doesn't mean I don't have it. I'll double check first, but --

MR. COLLINS: I can double check. I imagine, since we pulled his entire medical file, I can't see a reason that wouldn't be in it, be in there.

MR. GILLISPIE: It probably is.

A It might be relevant, Mike Alvis and -- and he was the psychological examiner. He -- he wrote that.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Yes, sir. Yeah, I've met Mike or I -- we've --

A You may have covered it, because I know you're covering a lot. But you -- you've likely seen this document that I speak of.

Q Okay. But, basically, it reflects progress though?

A Progress in every department, yeah.

I mean, he -- well, he had a good year leading in to that meeting, as far as -- I mean, those are the kind of things we look to do, is reduce any form of restraint and reduce his target symptoms of non-compliance and physical aggression.

We saw improvement in every area, which is pretty rare. I mean --

Q Uh-huh.

A -- so we do see it. It goes ups and downs. It depends on who we're dealing with; but, in this case, some of the things we had in place appeared to be working.

[redacted]

Q I hear you.

A (Inaudible) from medical.
Q I hear you.
Mr. Jobb, did you ever -- so you're now, I think, generally familiar with the type of the restraint incident on the day of his death.
Previous to that, had you ever received any report or notification of that type of a ground restraint being used on David in the past?
A No, I don't. No.
Q And --
A As far as -- I know very little about the incident itself. They kept a good lid on that. It was investigated. So as far as that particular -- go ahead.
Q I was going to ask you, what is your understanding, as you sit here today, what is your understanding of what that restraint was on that day?
A I don't know. I -- I don't know what the emergency was. I don't know the details. I'm just -- Q Well, we don't need to get into an extensive --
A No. See, that was ones -- things like that, not just anything -- when things are investigated, they keep a lid on that.
Q Okay.
A It's --
Q Well, I'll just tell you the --

A -- (inaudible) --
Q -- I'll just tell you the bare bones basics of what happened.

There were three staff members, Tyler Mattson and Mandy Jones and then Ryann Campos. And there was a behavior incident that -- it ended up with Tyler and David on the ground.

And then Tyler restrained David on the ground. David was on his left side and Tyler was kneeling behind him with his hands on him, restraining him on the ground.

And Mandy arrived at the scene, you know, a couple minutes later. She holds him by the arms or by the head, depending on who you're asking.

And then, a couple minutes later, Ms. Campos arrives at the scene. And she assists those two by grabbing his legs.

So the three of them are restraining him on the ground for, depending on who you're asking and when, you know, anywhere from, you know, four to seven minutes, probably, before he starts vomiting and before he aspirates and starts choking on his own vomit.

So I understand you weren't there. I understand you don't have the same information that Eric and I have. You haven't been to these depositions.

But, for the purposes of my questioning, assuming what I told you just there is accurate for the purposes of these questions, what would be your thoughts on that? Would you --

MR. COLLINS: I'm going to object for the limited period that I do not think that recall is accurate. I think looking at all the facts that led to, even if you disagree with them, what those individuals thought created the emergency situation.

So you can answer, obviously, but I just wanted to put that --

MR. GILLISPIE: I understood --

MR. COLLINS: -- (inaudible).

MR. GILLISPIE: -- noted. I understand.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q But for purposes of my questions, assume that what I'm telling you is true.

And, based on that, would you agree with Mr. Hise that that was an improper restraint procedure?

A It's certainly not ideal.

Q Okay. Would you be able to expound on that a little?

A Well, I -- I can. I mean, it's -- when you've had to restrain individuals -- and I don't know, you know, what led to, what the emergency was.

But there's times where they might knock you to the ground. You might get tripped over a chair or table. It's -- we teach a technique.

But, you know, in the real world with -- with clients, you know, that can be very violent and strong and twisting and turning and -- and knocking people over, there have been times, you know, obviously you end up on the ground.

Q Well, respectfully, that wasn't my -- that's not an answer to the question that I asked in any way.

A Well, without more details, I wouldn't be comfortable answering. I don't -- I mean --

Q Well, were you aware -- were you aware that ground restraints are not allowed, except for this specific purpose, narrow purpose, of transitioning a client to a papoose board? Were you aware of that?

A Well, they had to be released. I mean, there would be a time where you'd end up in that position, but then they --

Q Again --

A -- (inaudible) --

Q Again, and I'm not going to just let you just talk in a way that doesn't answer my question at all, sir. We'll be here all day.

Are you or not -- are you or are you not aware that ground restraints of clients are prohibited, not allowed, unless for the specific purpose of transitioning to a mechanical restraint?

Are you aware of that rule or not?

A That's correct, yes.

Q You are aware of that rule?

A Yes.

Q And you were aware of that rule when David was alive?

A Yes.

Q Okay.

And my next question is, were you ever informed or notified of such an improper restraint being used on David other than on the date of his death?

A No.

Q Okay. Had you been made aware of that, what would you have done?

Had you been made aware that that was going on with David or any other client, what would you have done?

A I would have reported that to the superintendent.

Q Okay. As part of your duties as a mandated reporter to report maltreatment?

A Well, it's -- it's possible. It's not my -- it's not for me to decide.

But anything that would be questionable needs to be turned in. And then --

Q Well, I guess --
A -- superintendent makes that decision.
Q For mandated reporting purposes, you hotline that. You don't -- that doesn't go to the superintendent, does it?
A Yes, it does. Reporting?
Q Yeah. Like mandated for maltreatment purposes, you're a mandated reporter for maltreatment.
If you saw were aware or had suspicion of -- reasonable suspicion of maltreatment and you had to report it, per your requirements as a mandated reporter, who do you make that report to?
A To the superintendent.
Q Okay. Well, I know --
A Or the acting -- whoever may be the acting superintendent, in case he's out of town or whatever, but --
Q Okay. There's not a hotline that you make that report to in Little Rock like there is for child maltreatment?
A Not for me, no. No. Our superintendent may need to make those. But we report it to our superintendent. That's our job.
Q Are you saying that, when maltreatment is suspected at Booneville, you report that to the superintendent and no one else?

A That would -- now, I'm not saying other people aren't notified, but not by me.
Q Okay.
A My job is to notify or other mandated reporters to notify our superintendent.
And then I'm sure a number of people will be notified after that. But that's not my -- that's not my capacity either.
Q You're not the one that's supposed to make the actual hotline report to Little Rock?
A That's correct.
Q You're just supposed to tell the superintendent and then he decides whether something gets hot lined?
A I don't want to speak for him, what he does afterwards. But, yes, it's reported. That's our -- Q But you don't --
A -- (inaudible) superintendent.
Q You don't know what he does after you report it to him?
A That's right.
Q So you don't know if suspected maltreatment ever even ends up being officially reported to the hotline? You said you don't know what he does with it.

A I'm not sure who all he relays that -- I -- I'm certain he doesn't just keep it to himself. I'm sure he notifies the appropriate people.
Q But you're not made privy to what Mr. Gonyea does or doesn't do at that point?
A That's correct.
Q You're just assuming; right?
A That's correct.
Q And do you happen to know if that's in a written policy somewhere?
A I'm sure it is. I don't have that policy offhand. But I'd be comfortable saying that it was policy, yes.
Q Really? Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: Take five minutes if you guys don't mind.

MR. COLLINS: Okay.

(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q All right. Mr. Jobb, so just a couple more questions here.

So, one more time, you would agree with me that David's IPP that was in place at the time of his death did not contain anything about the use of physical restraints or personal holds on the ground; correct?

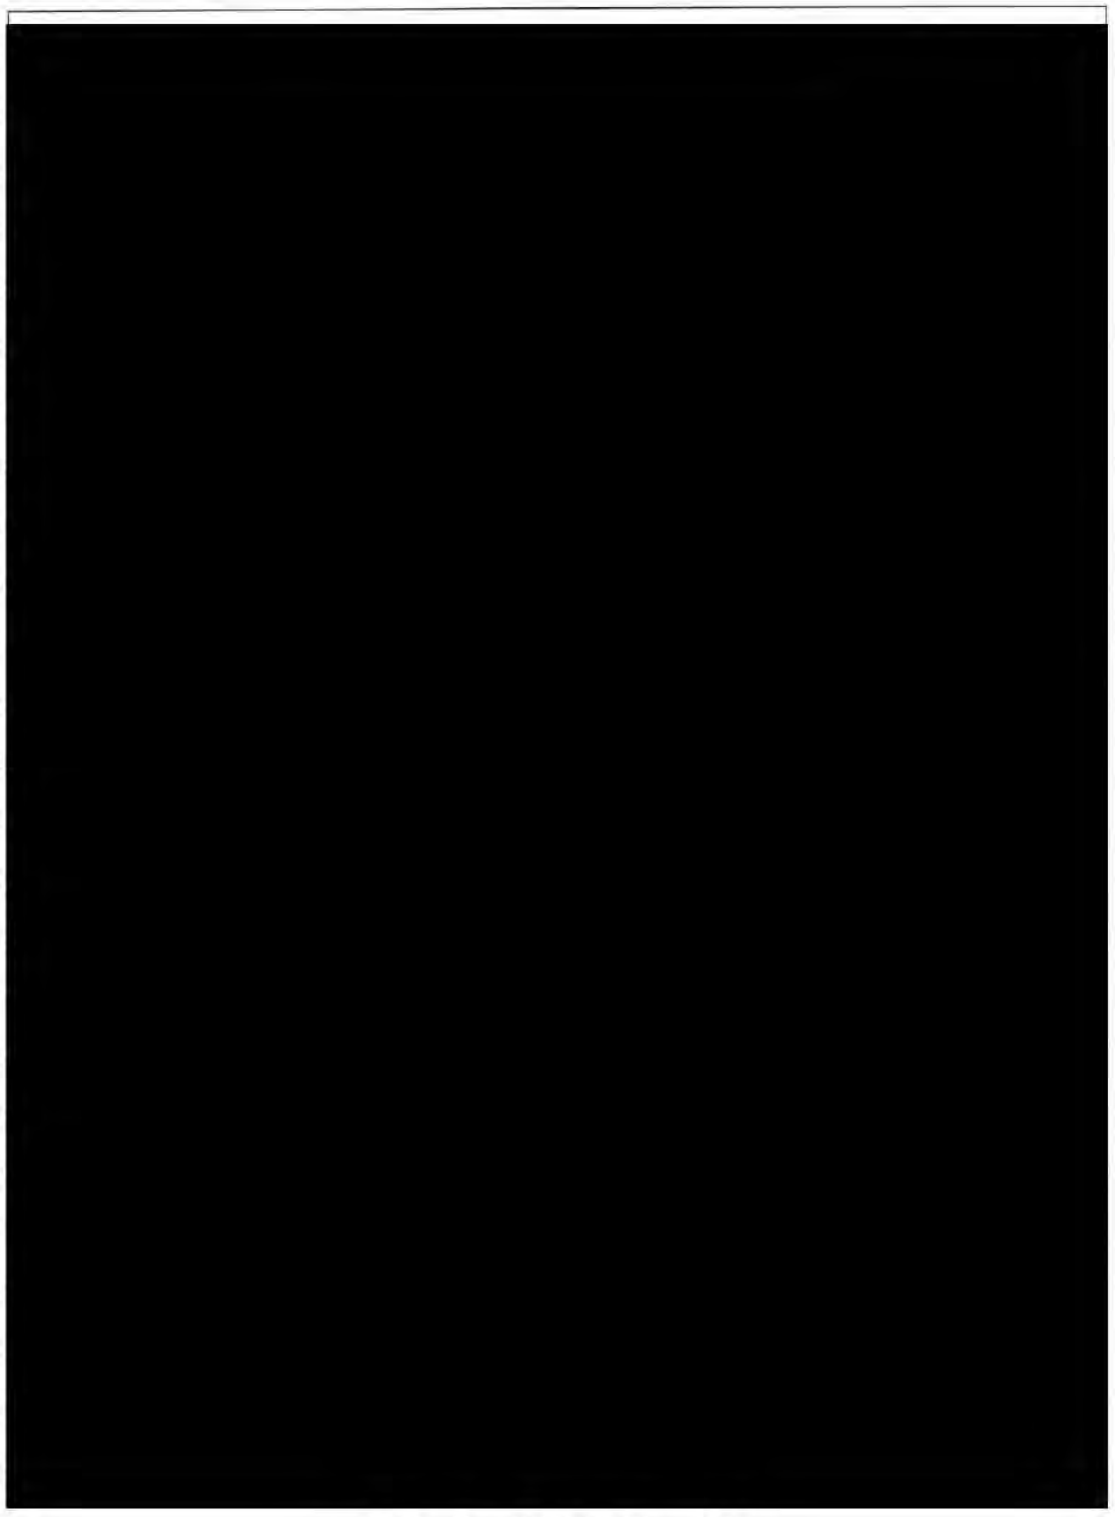
A Correct.
Q Were you on the incident review committee for David's death?
A No.
Q Okay. Were you questioned by any investigators or anybody following his death?
A I don't recall. I don't recall that --
Q I know --
A -- specifically. Sorry, I don't.
Q I know Sandy Evans conducted the maltreatment investigation for the facility --
A If any --
Q -- did she speak to you?
A If anybody did, it was her. But I would just be guessing. She may have asked me some questions, but I don't recall.
Q Okay. Nothing you recall specifically?
A I -- I just know that she conducted that investigation.
Q I understand that David Cains was not in counseling or therapy and I don't think had been in quite some time.
Is that something that was ever considered or discussed and addressed in any way in the creation of his treatment plans?

A I recall that we -- we do have some pet therapy in place. And our psychology department would have to answer that.

He may have been a candidate for pet therapy, but I'm not certain.

Q Well, would Mr. Alvis be the right person to ask about that?



A Yes.

Q Okay. And he, Mr. Alvis, told me in his deposition that he didn't think David would be a good candidate for therapy, didn't think, you know, talk therapy or counseling, didn't think that it would be effective on him.

Do you recall ever discussing that with Mr. Alvis or anybody else during the planning of his treatment?

A I do not recall that.

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q So David had been at Booneville for 13 years. Is that an unusually long amount of time for a client to remain at the facility?

A No, that's not unusual. I mean, we are an intermediate facility.

But sometimes families are comfortable with their loved ones staying with us. And they ultimately had that decision of bringing them here, even if it's against the team recommendation.

So sometimes they're -- they're here for long periods of time. Sometimes it's short. It just varies.

Q Yeah. And, with David, was there ever a time that you recall where anybody on the team ever broached the suggestion that maybe he be transitioned into a less restrictive environment in the community?

A Well, we bring it up at every meeting.
Q Yeah.
A But I don't remember specifically anyone wanting him to be transferred or -- I don't recall that, no. But we do have that discussion.
Q Do you discuss with the family what the, you know, what options would be for outside placement --
A I'm not --
Q -- meaning outside of the facility?
A I don't specifically. But our social services department does.
Q That's who would say, okay, hey, Charlene, if you want to move him out of here, these are some options, and he'd kind of go through with her?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. But you don't recall -- and that's Caleb Murray. You don't recall Caleb ever, you know, any specific back and forth or discussion on the matter between Caleb and David's family?
A During the meeting or prior?
Q Anytime.
A No, I don't recall that. No.
Q I'm just trying to find out, you know, was it ever an -- was it ever a realistic option for David to transition to a less restrictive environment?

A Certainly.
Q I'm sorry?
A Yes, sir. It would be.
Q It was? Okay.
A Yes, sir.
Q And I understand that, as far as I know, you know, his mother and sister never, I don't think, ever specifically asked that he be moved, did they?
A No. They didn't ask me, no.
Q Okay.
A If you'd give me a moment, I want to look at my IPP.
Q Okay.
A Okay. You can look on Page 5. I don't know if you have my IPP in front of you.
Q Yeah.
A Okay. On Page 5, somewhere in the middle, it says, team transition plan --
Q Yeah.
A -- recommendation. That's where the so -- says Social Services Department did advise David, as well as his guardian, of the services available to him in Arkansas. That kind of -- so I documented that.
These are some -- Caleb, in this case, I believe he was the worker. He has a pre-IPP meeting with David or any other individual we serve to ask some of those things.

Q Yeah.
A Now, if you look in the next --
Q In a community setting?
A Yes, sir.
Q Oh, and by --
MR. GILLISPIE: Hey, Cris, this was an exhibit. This is already an exhibit to Mr. Jobb's deposition. I think it's Exhibit 2, but this is the 2019 IPP.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q But, yeah, in a community setting.
Go ahead, Justin.
A Well, that's just if -- you know, you were talk -- you were asking if -- if he would ever be feasible, or I can't remember what the word used, suitable for --
Q Yeah.
A -- going to another -- these were some of the things we would have to put in place.
He would have certainly needed 24-hour supervision --
Q Yeah, I see all this.
A -- environment. So, yes, I mean, there's like a group home setting. Even an apartment.

But he certainly could not have lived by himself. He would've needed appropriate supervision --

Q Yeah.

A -- so --

Q Well, and I see --

A -- (inaudible) -- go ahead.

Q I see where, you know, y'all did a good job of laying out what would be required.

He would need 24-hour supervision seven days a week, protected environment, semi-competitive employment, assistance with meal planning, meal preparation, budgeting, shopping, assistance with medical care and medications, assistance with transportation, attending and participating in activities and accessing community services. So, I mean, that's a pretty good description of the needs.

Are there places that exist that could have met those needs --

A Yes.

Q -- for somebody in David's condition?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And I'm not suggesting that that should have been done or shouldn't have been done. I'm honestly just trying to figure out whether the team thought that that was ever -- ever considered that a realistic possibility.

And, if so, why? And, if not, why not?
A Well, and that's just -- the thing is. . .
Q And, again, I'm not -- I'm not suggesting that you're wrong --
A Right.
Q -- in either way. I'm just asking if it --
A I just want to remind you that, at any point, if his mother or guardian requested that, she didn't have to wait for the meeting. She could --
Q Right.
A -- request it any day of the week. And that ball has to go in motion.

Doesn't mean he's going to get accepted somewhere else.
Q Right.
A But, certainly, our social services department would certainly assist in trying to find an appropriate place for him.
Q Okay. But she -- she would have the complete say on that.

The team would simply just make a recommendation. It's not a mandation. I think a lot of people get confused with that. We -- we make a lot of recommendations, but we don't make mandations.
Q Yeah. You told me before, you were clear that his mom could have taken him out of there whenever she wanted. I get that.

And, as far as who would have explained what the possibilities were, the options for a different setting, that would have been the social services worker?

A Yeah. That would be Caleb Murray in this --

Q Okay.

A In this instance.

Q Okay. Okay.

I think you told me that you typically have about -- I think you said you typically have about 20 or 21 clients who you serve as Q for; is that right?

A Well, that number varies. I think the lowest I've had is probably around 20. And the most I've had is probably about 38. So it would be somewhere in between there.

Q Okay.

A That number changes all the time.

Q And approximately what percentage of your clients do you think have been at Booneville or stay there for longer than one year?

A Oh, it'd be a high percentage. I -- I can't -- I'd be guessing. But I would say it'd be a high percent.

Stay here more than one year?

Q Right.

A Yes.
Q Is that almost all of them?
A I would say pretty -- yes.
Q And what about more than five years?
A I'd -- I'd be speculating. I don't have those numbers in front of me.
Q Okay. Are you able to -- well, what would be your best -- I get that you're speculating, but -- and that, you know, I'm asking you to speculate, which is objectionable. But this is a deposition and not a courtroom.

So what would be your -- and I get that you're speculating, you don't have the numbers in front of you. But, you know, gun to head, best guess on how long the average client typically remains at Booneville, based on your experience?
A I would say we probably -- geez. I don't know how to answer that.

In my caseload, I'd say the majority of them stay probably more than five years.
Q Okay. Are there clients that stayed forever?

You know, in the event had David not died, you know, would it have been unusual for him to just live the rest of his life out there, you know, living to be --
A Well, it's --

Q -- 60, 70?
A It depends -- it depends on how medically fragile they get.
Q Uh-huh.
A We're not -- we can't -- we're not equipped for individuals to be in wheelchairs or on breathing machines and are tube fed, that sort of thing. So it just depends.
Q Uh-huh.
A Honestly, I'd -- I'd rather medical address that. But those are some of the things that we're not equipped for on this campus.

So, no, it's not a stay -- it's not a retirement facility.

Q Right. So, like I said, David had been there for over 13 years or about 13 years.

And you said it's not unusual for clients to be there for that length of time?

A It's -- it's not unusual. Because there's -- there's cases where sometimes individuals just seem happier or better behaved under our care and their -- their families become real comfortable and they want them to remain here.
Q Okay. All right.

And, over the last, let's just say the last year, the last 12 months, how many of your clients have transitioned out of the BHDC?

A I would be guessing, but let me see. I don't have an exact number because a lot of -- several of my clients have moved to different areas on campus, so they're no longer on my caseload.
Q Can you specifically think of a single client who has transitioned into off of the campus into a less restrictive environment in the last 12 months?
A Give me a moment. I think -- I know we have one getting ready to transition. He's having his meeting today.
Q Okay.
A Yes, I can think of one.
Q Okay. Can you --
A I -- I can take another one. And I have one that's having his meeting today.
Q Okay.
A You actually got me out of that meeting so, (inaudible).
Q So -- okay.
A (Inaudible.)
Q So at least three over the last 12 months then?
A I would say so. And we do have -- I am guessing. I can think of -- now, that one might have been in the last two years.

I can't remember exactly when he left, but I do remember him leaving, moved to the Fort Smith area. We have another one looking to go to Jonesboro.

Oh, I did have another one that ended up going to -- he got medically fragile and he went to a nursing home type facility.

Q Uh-huh.

A So, yeah, I -- I -- probably three or four, I'd say, in the last couple of years. I -- I am speculating.

Q Okay.

A But, yes, it does happen. And -- go ahead. It does happen.

Q Okay. Just writing something out real quick.

A Uh-huh.

Q Okay.

Let's see. We're going to make this -- do you see this document, behavior treatment program?

A Yes, sir.

Q All right. We already talked about this. This is the one that was in effect at time of his death.

It states that the program employs Category One procedures for David, as defined by DDS Behavior Management Policy 3011-D; correct?

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. And that basic information would have been contained in the IPP you said; right?
A I believe it is, yes.
Q Okay.
MR. GILLISPIE: We'll make this Exhibit 4, Cris.
(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 4 and is attached hereto.)
A I'm looking as we speak.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Okay. And then --
A Yes, that is. It's on Page 9.
Q Okay. Thank you very much.
All right. You see this one, this is policy 3011-D.
A Okay.
Q Is it showing up on your screen?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. Under behavior management --
A Okay.
Q Behavior management is covered by this policy, serves as a guide to ensure that individuals actions that are aggressive, disruptive, or present a danger to the individual or to others are managed with the least restrictive method. Did I read that accurately?

A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. And you would agree that BHDC is required to comply with this DDS policy, obviously; right?
A We are, yes.
Q Okay. And that that means that only the least restrictive method available can be used for a behavioral intervention; correct?
A That's correct.
Q Is that a yes?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. Thank you.
All right. You should see -- okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: And that last one there will be -- or 3011-D will be Exhibit 5, Cris.

(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 5 and is attached hereto.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Okay. And then I'm showing you here Booneville HDC policy I-D-4 documentation of and response to maladaptive behaviors. You see that?
A I do.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. And this will be Exhibit 6.

(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 6 and is attached hereto.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q So, down here on the bottom, so this Booneville policy reiterates that broader DDS policy.

But this says Paragraph 2, emergency use of restraint. Emergency restraint is defined as the use of the least restrictive procedure and for the least time necessary to control severely aggressive or destructive behaviors.

The use of emergency restraint will comply with all relative standards and regulations.

Do you agree that I read that correctly?

A Yes.

Q Would you agree that that is a BHDC policy?

A Yes.

Q Okay.

All right. Go to the last page here. Number six, approved restraint procedures, techniques and devices under A, personal restraint; an emergency procedure limiting movement by the holding of a hand or limb.

Do you see that?

A I do.

Q Okay. And you'd agree that this part of the policy defines what authorized personal restraint is for Booneville; correct?

A Yes.
Q Okay.
MR. GILLISPIE: Make that Exhibit 6.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Okay. This will be -- okay.
You should be seeing Booneville HDC Policy, Roman numeral III-A -- yeah. Roman numeral III-A-8. You see that?
A I do.
Q All right. Qualified intellectual disability professional process. Are you familiar with this?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
Paragraph 2 states that the program coordinator/QIDP monitors the implementation of training objectives and the delivery of services for clients on their assigned caseload, as determined in each client's IPP.
They do on-site observations, in parentheses, tracking for each of their clients in the living areas and training areas at least once a month. They may also observe their clients in other areas.
Did I read that correctly?
A Yes, you did.
Q Okay. And you'd agree that that's an accurate or that is, in fact, a BHDC policy describing what a QIDP -- or one of the things a QIDP does?

A That is accurate, yes.

Q Training objective, as used in this paragraph, what is that referring to?

A The training objectives is a variety of things. It could be personal care skills, domestic management, social skills, medication training.

Q But it's solely related to training given to the client as opposed to training given to the staff?

A That's correct. Yes.

Q Okay.

A Now, if you look in my IPP, starting on Page 18 all the way through 22, those are some examples of the training objectives that David was working on.

Q Okay. I got it. I got it. And I don't have any -- I don't see any need to really ask you about those or get into that.

But I just wanted to make sure that I was understanding this correct. I thought that's what it meant, but I just wanted to make sure.

Okay. Then it's next paragraph, program coordinator/QIDP also reviews monthly progress notes and other documentation relative to each client. And then they submit monthly plan reviews to summarize information from their observations and their record reviews.

So these are submitted on monthly basis. Who are they submitted to?
A They are submitted to the QA director.
Q Quality Assurance Director?
A Yes, sir.
Q Okay. So, among the things that you would review monthly, would those include behavior incident reports and documentation on the times David was placed in restraints?
A No. That -- that would only be -- not necessarily that, no. That would -- mainly the things we're looking at is the objectives that I just laid forth.
Q Uh-huh.
A Also monitor his weight. I do --
Q So --
A I do monitor the amount of behavior reports that were written that particular month, but not always the specifics.
Q So you don't track -- you don't have to specifically cover the types of restraints and how often they were used in a given month?
A Well, there is -- if individuals are -- have mechanical restraints for three months in a row, then we would have to have a special team meeting.

So it's monitored. But, in his case, I think he only had one for the whole year.

Q Okay. Are mechanical restraints -- if David was given a mechanical restraint in a given month, is that information that you would be provided?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Would it be part of your monthly progress notes?

A It -- it could be. I mean, it's not required --

Q It doesn't have to be?

A No.

Q Okay.

Same questions; but, instead of mechanical restraints, personal restraints or physical restraints.

Let's just, you know, for a given month, let's say David's put in personal or physical restraints three times for that particular month. Are you required to document that in your monthly progress notes?

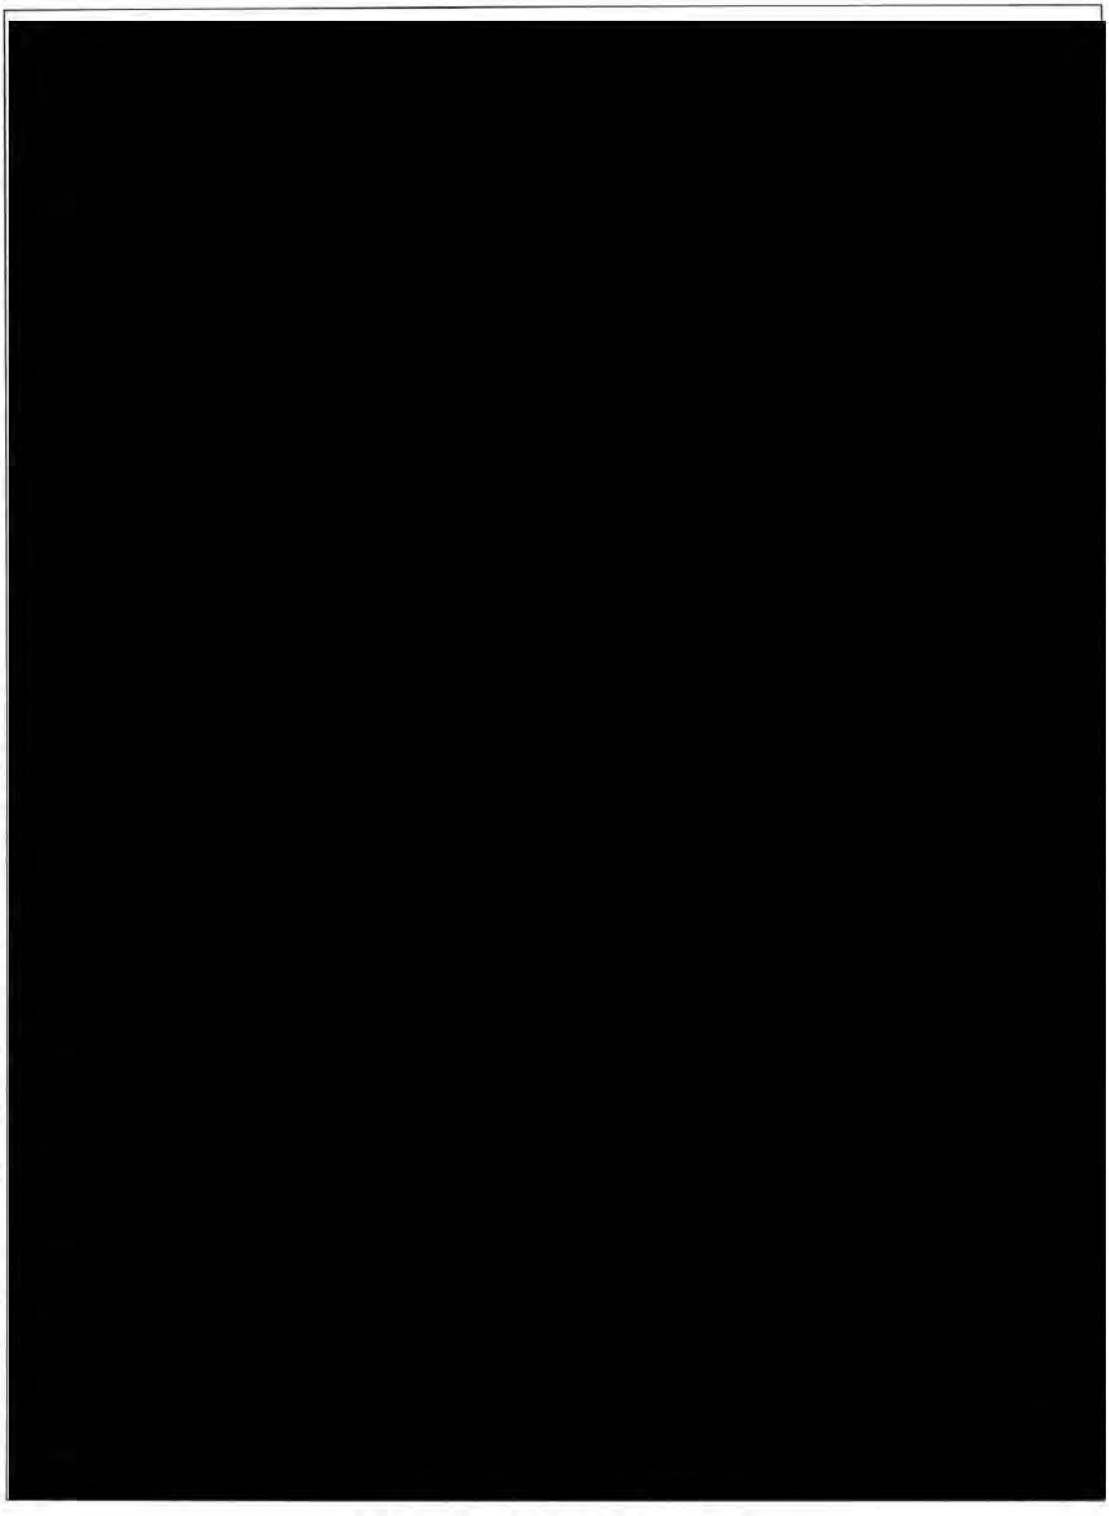
A It's -- it's optional. I mean --

Q It's optional?

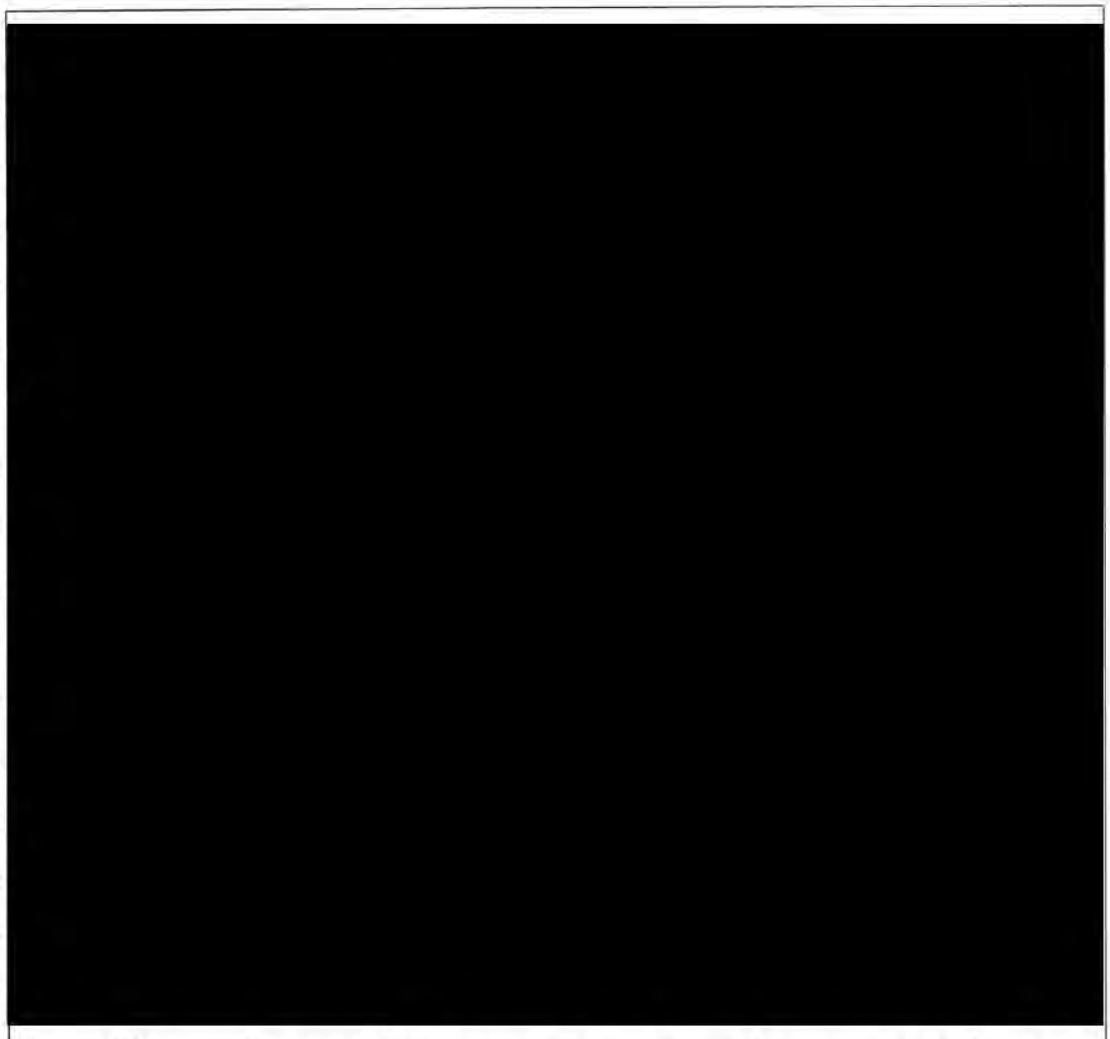
A Yeah.

Q Is it something you would typically do?

A It depends on the individual.



Q For David? David?



A I don't recall documenting his personals. I kept track through --

Q Who --
A -- other methods.
Q Who does keep -- okay. What other methods did you use to keep track of that?
A Well, our central records department keeps good track of that and they're -- Q And how -- how does that work?
A Well, that's their job. But I just go and ask for numbers and they -- they give them to me.
So you'd have to ask them how they monitor that, but it's through quality assurance.
Q But a Q does not have to sign off on behavior reports?
A No.
Q And the Q is not even required to receive behavior reports?
A Well, they are -- they are posted on Share, on our computer, and you read them.
Q But they're not specifically meant for the Q?
A No.
Q Okay. So anybody that works there can --
A Yes.
Q -- access Share; right?
A Well, what they -- well, not everybody.

Q Sure.
A You have to have permission. But --
Q Yeah.
A -- the technique we do is we have a morning meeting.
And, actually, in my new capacity now, as a team leader, I read the behavior reports every morning, well, Monday through Friday, to a QA panel. And everybody does.
So we read them and we address anything as issues come up, so -- and I think that was also taking place at that time too. I just was not in that capacity at the time.
Q At the time of his death, when you were his Q, were you required to keep up with the number of restraints being used on David or keep up with any information relating to him being restrained?
A I -- just mechanicals, emergency mechanicals.

[redacted]

Q Okay. So quality assurance is -- keeps records on all restraints?
A Yes.
Q Okay. But those won't -- those aren't necessarily going to be in your monthly progress notes though?
A Only if I felt -- if it deemed necessary. I mean, if I felt it was pertinent information, but --
Q Okay. Was it --

A In his --
Q -- to be in there?
A In his case, we were seeing such an improvement. So I might even have included it for that reason, you know --
Q Okay.
A -- so -- we wanted to show progress.
Q Right.
A So there might have been an opportunity that I -- I may have mentioned that. I don't know.

But when you have that opportunity to -- it's not all negative. We want to show positive things, progressive things.

And he was actually doing well in that department.
Q Okay. Under 2, 2A, this -- the program coordinator QIDP functions as an advocate for the client by assuring he/she receives the maximum benefit of active treatment.

Did I read that correctly?
A Yes. Yes.
Q Okay. And so this is saying that you were David Cains' advocate at the time of his death tasked with assuring that he received the maximum benefit of his active treatment?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And you'd agree with that?

A Yes.
Q Okay.
The program coordinator/QIDP observes actual delivery of services by randomly visiting the living areas as well as the training areas, work areas each month to observe each client and his caseload.
These observations, along with any problems noted are documented by the monthly plan review.
Did I read that correctly?
A Yes, you did.
Q And would you do that on behalf of David? Randomly visit his living areas monthly?
A Yes, I did.
Q Okay. And so you're required to do that at least once a month; right?
A Right. And it's documented.
Q Okay. I'm sure it is.
A (Inaudible) --
Q I just want to make sure I understand what your role is.
A Yes.
Q So random visitation, you know, visiting him in the living area randomly.
And would you go to all those areas each on a monthly basis? So the living areas, his training areas, and his work areas, you'd go to all three once a month?

A Yes. Well, his training area is his work area.
Q Okay. So you'd go to -- but you'd go to both of them once a month?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And did you ever have occasion to witness David being restrained in any way?
A I don't recall a specific time, no.
Q Okay.
A It's likely that I did. But I cannot -- I don't have a --
Q I'm assuming --
A -- date and time.
Q I'm assuming you never witnessed him being restrained on the ground.
A Right.
Q Okay. Had you observed -- you think, had you had walked in on a restraint incident, is that -- do you think you would have -- would that likely have made it to your monthly report?
A Oh, yeah. It would have, I'm sure.
Q Okay.
A It'd been up to me, but, you know --
Q Okay.
A -- if I happen to be -- because like you said, it's once a month.

If I happened to be there and he was in restraints, I'd be kind of -- you know, because I usually document what -- you know, if they are well dressed, what they --

Q Uh-huh.

A -- were actually working on what they were doing.

Sometimes I'll even mention what movie they're watching in their bedroom. So if he -- it's very likely, if he was in any form of restraints, I would have included that, yes.

Q Uh-huh.

A But, a lot of times, I remember specifically with him, he'd be listening and dancing and singing to the Monkees --

Q Yeah.

A -- in his bedroom. So you'll probably see a lot of that in my progress notes, because that happened a lot.

Q I've seen a lot of mention of the Monkees everywhere.

A It was a big part of his life, yes.

Q Yeah.

And finally, G, the program coordinator/QIDP must guide the interdisciplinary team and assure that team decisions comply with established policies as well as ICF regulations; correct?

A Yes.
Q Okay.
MR. GILLISPIE: Will this be Exhibit 7, I think?
COURT REPORTER: Correct.
MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.
(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 7 and is attached hereto.)
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Can you hear me, sir?
A Yes, sir.
Q I lost you on the video there for a second. Okay.
Did you, at any point, ever or do you recall at any point, ever following up on behavior incidents requiring restraint on David Cains that you learned of?
And, when I say follow up, I mean, you know, have a conversation with the, for instance, the direct care staff involved in the restraint to find out, you know, kind of what happened, how it happened, you know, what could have been done differently, that sort of thing?
Or even their supervisor or the residential services director, do you recall ever specifically doing any follow-up of that nature?
A Not specifically. I do recall the, you know, having

[redacted]

And -- but I don't remember any specific conversations. But it is very common, because I do -- I'm in a position where I authorize restraints. And I don't just do them in the blind. I want to know what's going on.

Q Uh-huh.

A If I have the time, in many cases, I'll go on site to visit and just to make an observation. And then you can ask questions.

But I don't remember any specifics with Mr. Cains.

Q Uh-huh. Okay. Just a moment. There's, you know, hundreds of them. And I haven't isolated every single one of the behavior incident reports that you either signed off on or it's noted somewhere in there that it was reported to you as the Q.

But your name is mentioned on the document in several of them. I don't know how many, but in several of them.

And, again, these are restraints that -- incident reports for behavior incidents, oftentimes resulting in the use of different kinds of restraints.

And, you know, when you would have to -- am I saying that right? That you would have to sign off, after the fact, sign off on the appropriateness of the use? Is that a correct characterization?

A Well, I would sign off that I authorized the restraints. That I was notified and that I authorized.

And then personal holds, anything over a minute has to be authorized.

Q Uh-huh.

A And then, in mechanic -- emergency mechanicals, it has to be reauthorized every 15 minutes.

So they would call me back and I would have to -- once I seen the document, it might be a day or two later, I'd have to go sign my name and initial (inaudible).

Q And what would you do before signing off on it? I mean, what kind of things would you need to know before you gave it your stamp of approval?

A Well, that I -- you know, I try to recall. Because, like I said, it's not always same day. So I want to make sure I was indeed the one that authorized it and try to recall that phone call --

Q Yeah.

A You know, it's so many of them. So sometimes they all mix together. But just want to make sure it's accurate.

And then, sometimes, we have to send back these documents that -- requesting more information about the incident itself. Sometimes --

Q So --
A -- it's just too vague.
Q -- every time David would have been held in a personal restraint for longer than one minute, you're saying you would have had to been notified after that one minute?
A Yes.
Q Do you recall --
A Well me --
Q -- that ever happening?
A -- or somebody that can -- is in a position to authorize.
Q Sure.
A It's not -- you don't always -- sometimes I authorize clients that's not even on my caseload and vice versa. It's just --
Q Somebody at this level of seniority that's allowed to do that. Sure.
Do you recall that ever happening for you, where you had to authorize, you were asked to authorize a personal restraint that was beyond one minute for Cains? Do you have any specific recollection of that?
A I do not.

Q Okay.
A I'm probably certain it happened, but I --
Q Sure.
A -- do not.
Q Yeah. And it did. I just -- I didn't pull them all.

But would you inquire about what led to having to use the personal restraint? You know, would you question -- would you sort of -- I guess what I'm asking is, to what extent would you sort of conduct an audit of the event?

In other words, to what extent would you try to find out, okay, why did this happen, what could have been done, what could have been done differently to prevent the use of physical contact? What was the environment, what was the trigger that started the behavior?

You know, to what extent would you do things like that?

A Well, usually, the phone call I'd received would be from one of the program supervisors. And I would usually have a conversation with them about the incident; because they're privy to the incident and they might even been on site. It just depends.

But they could give me the clear picture; because, you know, it's something you can't take lightly. You know, you're -- authorizing restraints is, you know, you have to take it very seriously and you want to make sure it's appropriate.

Q Right. Because the goal is not to have to lay hands on them, period?

A Right.

Q Right?

A Right. Well, you -- ideally, you'd like to verbally redirect.

Q Right. Right.

And so am I correct that part of the reason or part of your job, as the Q, would be to keep up, you know, try to determine if there's some common factor that is causing a behavior incident? And, if so, you know --

A Yes.

Q -- try to remove that factor? Things of that nature so that progress can be made?

A That's correct. And makes sure that behavior reports are accurate and --

Q Uh-huh.

A -- and documented accordingly. Because a lot of medical changes, medication changes, are made by viewing a lot of this documentation.

So that's essential, that they document as much and not be vague, give a real clear picture of what's going on so you can try to determine the fact that -- common denominator.

Q Can you recall any time where you felt like a restraint could have been avoided on David?

A No. I don't recall.

Q Okay. Out of all of the ones that at least -- nothing comes to mind?

You can't think of a single time where you felt like maybe some other non physical de-escalation could have been attempted prior to the physical restraint?

A Are we talking about David specifically?

Q Yes.

A No, I do not recall.

Q Okay.

And how long were you his Q?

A I don't think we ever nailed that down.

Q Well, we know it was at least 2018 and 2019 and --

A I'll just say several years.

Q Okay.

A Several years.

Q Okay. So, out of all those years, there was not a single incident that caused you to be suspicious?

A No.

Q I mean, when I say incident, a single restraint incident that raised your eyebrows or gave you concern?

A Well, the thing -- no. And the thing is, a lot of times, it's a day or two after the fact or I get a phone call sometimes.

But I don't see the documentation for sometimes a couple of days later, you know, so --

Q Uh-huh. But same question then, as regard -- just no matter when you learned of it, was there any documentation that you saw a couple days later that caused you concern --

A No.

Q -- that you can think of?

A No.

Q No? Okay.

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q I'm familiar with all that.
A -- on that as well. We try to --
Q Okay.
A -- put those things in many places to --
Q Yeah.
A -- work.
Q Yeah.
A Not just (inaudible) staff, but sometimes you have staff that's working in from different areas. And we want to make sure that information is out there.
Q Yeah. Obviously, it's critical that every direct care staff, every RCT, be aware of a client's medical precautions; right?
A Yes, sir.
Q And I assume you'd also agree that it's critical that every RCT have a crystal clear understanding of the rules and the policies regarding physical restraints; correct?
A Yes.
Q And my last question, I think we basically are in agreement here, but I just want to make sure, because we kind of danced around it for a while. And it's my very last question here.

So I think we definitely agreed that staff development is -- with regards to physical restraints and personal restraints, staff development is responsible for training the direct care staff in that, training the RCTs in that; correct?

A Correct.

Q And then it would mainly fall on the shoulders of the, I think you said, the direct care chain of command, all the way up to the residential services director to enforce those, that training, to ensure -- in other words, to ensure that the RCTs and other direct care staff are following the rules with regards to physical restraints; correct?

A Yes.

Q Yes?

A Yes.

Q Okay.

All right. Well, I thank you for your time.

A Thank you.

MR. GILLISPIE: You're on mute, Eric.

THE WITNESS: Good to go?

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Hey, Mr. Jobb. Did you have any -- is there anything you need clarification on? Were there any questions you didn't understand?

A No. I think you did a good job.

Q Thank you. You did a good job too. I appreciate

you.

(Brief discussion off the record.)

MR. GILLISPIE: Go ahead.

MR. COLLINS: I was muted for some reason and it wasn't letting me unmute, so I had to reconnect real quick.

I only have two quick follow-up questions, Cris, if we could get those done real quick.

CROSS EXAMINATION

BY MR. COLLINS:

Q Justin, real quick, you reviewed the IPP and you guys discussed what the Category One procedures were on, I think you said, Page 9; is that correct?

A I believe -- let me double check, please. Page 9 of my IPP?

Q Yep. You referenced that as having Category One procedures?

A Yes.

Q I don't know if it's on that page or the next page. Sorry, I don't it in front of me --

A It's on Page 9.

Q Okay. Does that paragraph or that section also include emergency procedures? It may be on the next page.

A Let me see. Yes, it's on the next page.

Q Okay. And what emergency procedures are those referring to?
A Well, anything that constituted an emergency.
Q Okay. Does that include emergency restraints?
A Yes.
Q Okay.

MR. COLLINS: Okay. I have nothing further then.

MR. GILLISPIE: I don't have anything else.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

COURT REPORTER: All right. Thank you, guys.

MR. COLLINS: Thank you very much.

MR. GILLISPIE: Thanks.

ARKANSAS DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES
DIVISION OF DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITIES SERVICES
DDS DIRECTOR'S OFFICE POLICY MANUAL

Policy Type	Subject of Policy	Policy No.
Service	Behavior Management	3011-D

1. Purpose. This policy is intended to provide guidelines for managing challenging behaviors of individuals residing in DDS operated programs (Human Development Centers).

2. Scope. This policy applies to all DDS operated programs (Human Development Centers) and their employees/volunteers. All such programs will include a review of this policy as part of the employee orientation process.

3. Definition of Terms

Behavior management, as covered by this policy, serves as a guide to ensure that an individual's actions that are aggressive, disruptive and/or present a danger to the individual or to others are managed with the least restrictive method. Behavior management is not a substitute for other forms of active treatment and is incorporated into program plans, based on individual needs.

Qualified Mental Retardation Professional (QMRP) or QMRP designee is used in this policy as a person designated to monitor, supervise, and make decisions regarding specific behavioral situations. QMRP/designee will be assigned by the administrator of the DDS program in which he/she works. Criteria for selection will involve prior training, experience, and demonstrated ability in the area of behavioral management. The QMRP/designee must be in a position that is on a level involving supervisory or decision-making responsibilities. The QMRP designee is authorized to perform any of the duties of the QMRP as outlined by regulations or policy.

Interdisciplinary Team (IDT) is defined as a group of persons (professionals, paraprofessionals and non-professionals) who develop an individual's program plan and whose participation is required in order to identify the needs of the individual and to devise ways to meet those needs. The IDT includes the individual and may also include those persons who have worked or will work most closely with the individual, those persons who provide needed assessments or services, and the individual's family, guardian, or advocate. In general, the IDT includes persons professionally qualified in such fields as health care, education, psychology, and social work.

Licensed nurse is defined as a registered nurse or licensed practical nurse. The agency may use a physician, in lieu of a licensed nurse, but this is not required.

Replacement: This policy replaces DDS Commissioner's Policy 3011-D, dated January 28, 1981, March 13, 1981, and DDS Director's Policy dated October 1, 1991; December 1, 1993; and January 30, 1998.

DIVISION OF DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITIES SERVICES
DDS DIRECTOR'S OFFICE POLICY MANUAL

Policy Type	Subject of Policy	Policy No.
Service	Behavior Management	3011-D

4. Policy

NOTE: It is the philosophy of the agency to utilize all positive approaches to behavior management prior to and in conjunction with more restrictive programmatic techniques. Positive approaches may include, but are not limited to: positive reinforcement, gentle teaching, redirection, graduated guidance, and modeling of appropriate behaviors. Measures to address positive behavior should be incorporated into formal program efforts to the extent feasible.

Efforts at positive programming prove to be successful with the majority of maladaptive behaviors. All Human Development Centers will maintain policies and procedures for positive programming. The use of behavioral programming other than positive is designed for the individuals who repetitively engage in dangerously aggressive behavior and for whom other interventions have not been effective. All behavior programs developed in accordance with this policy will be designed to reduce or eliminate the target behavior(s) within a specified time frame, will be supported by documentation that positive, less restrictive methods have been systematically attempted and failed, will be monitored regularly by the individual's QMRP and Interdisciplinary Team (IDT), and will be revised if proved to be ineffective. The potential harmful effects of each procedure will be weighed carefully against the harmful effects of the targeted behavior and the IDT will determine if the harmful effects of the behavior outweigh the potentially harmful effects of the procedure.

Category I:

Category I procedures are those which may be used without prior approval of the Human Rights Committee or psychology staff. To ensure consistency, they should be addressed by the IDT. Frequent use (as determined by IDT) of these procedures with an individual indicates the need for consideration of the development of a behavior plan by the individual's IDT.

The individual must be supervised during these procedures. With the exception of verbal intervention, any use of Category I procedures, whether part of a formal behavior program or not, requires documentation on a Behavior Incident Report, Data Sheet, or other locally used behavior documentation system.

A. Verbal Intervention: Verbal intervention is utilized to stop an inappropriate behavior in progress and involves telling the individual "no" or "stop", identifying the behavior, and redirecting to an appropriate activity. The command is given in a firm but normal tone of voice. Threats, screaming, yelling or issuing repetitive or multiple sets of commands are not considered verbal correction and are inappropriate.

B. Separation From Activity Up to 30 Minutes: The individual is prevented from engaging in a reinforcing activity in which he/she has displayed inappropriate behavior. Separation is maintained within the same room or outdoor area where the activity is conducted. This is considered a Category I procedure if compliance by the individual can be accomplished through verbal prompting/physical prompting without requiring personal restraint (holding).

C. Separation From Setting Up to 30 Minutes: The individual is removed from the area where the reinforcing activity is taking place. Separation must occur under observation either outdoors or in a living or training area (bathrooms, storage rooms and closets do not constitute living/training area). This is considered a Category I procedure if compliance by the individual can be accomplished through verbal prompting/physical prompting without requiring personal restraint (holding).

Note: Separation to Allow Calming (STAC) – Also available is the positive procedure of STAC whereby the person is encouraged to move to an area away from the person or situation that upset them. At the same time, they are assisted in directing their attention to talking about the problem, listening to music, talking about family, relaxing quietly, going for a walk, etc. The activity should be chosen by the person in need of calming. When sufficiently calm, staff will assist the person in resuming normal activities.

D. Assignment of Additional Chores: The individual is assigned additional chores as a consequence for inappropriate behavior. Additional chores may be assigned only if such chores are already a part of the Individual Program Plan (IPP) and are not designed to replace work assignments of housekeeping personnel.

E. Restitution: The individual is cued to restore any property damaged, stolen or defaced. If appropriate to the individual's level of functioning, he/she may be cued to offer a verbal apology to the offended person. If appropriate to the individual's ability to comprehend, monetary reimbursement for the value of the damaged or stolen property may be required if this is a part of the IPP. In lieu of full value, a symbolic portion of the value may be required. Monetary reimbursement requires Human Rights Committee approval and Guardian consent.

Note: The individual is not degraded nor put on display while restoring damage. The individual is given the same equipment and protection to complete the restitution as would normally be given to a person not responsible for the damage.

F. Withholding Privileges: The individual loses a particular privilege following the occurrence of an inappropriate behavior. Privileges include such things as special planned community activities. However, trips off grounds are special and should only be curtailed if problem behavior is anticipated during that trip. Examples of situations where problem behaviors may be anticipated include a problem behavior having already occurred and the person is not fully calm, or, a problem behavior has not yet occurred, but there are indications that a problem behavior is likely. The curtailing of trips off grounds should be done after consultation with psychology staff, or with supervisory staff if psychology staff is not available. Privileges do not include basic living activities, such as meals, habilitation activities, or basic rights afforded all individuals.

G. Personal Property Removal (less than one hour): Removal of an individual's personal item that is being used in an inappropriate or unsafe manner or location. For example, if an individual disturbs others in a common TV room by playing his radio too loudly and will not reduce the volume when instructed, the radio may be removed from that individual for a time not to exceed one hour. The item will be held in a secure area and will be returned to the individual's room or to the individual directly, as appropriate (See Section 6, Page 8 of 9).

Category II:

Category II procedures may only be used as part of a formal behavior program designed by the individual's IDT, written by a licensed psychological professional, and approved by a licensed psychologist, physician, Human Rights Committee, and the facility administrator. Behavior program approval will include receipt of a signed consent from the individual and/or guardian.

A. Response Cost: The individual loses reinforcers previously earned in a behavior management system, (i.e., Token Economy Program)

B. Overcorrection - includes the following procedures:
   1) Restitutional Overcorrection: Requires the individual to restore the environment to a state that is better than it was before the occurrence of the inappropriate behavior.

   2) Positive Practice Overcorrection: Requires the individual to engage in an intensive practice period in which the alternative appropriate behavior is practiced.

C. Contingent Personal Property Removal (up to 24 hours maximum): Immediate removal of an individual's personal belongings contingent on the occurrence of a targeted behavior. Confiscated property will be held in a secure area and will be returned to the individual's room or individual directly, as appropriate. This procedure is considered Category II if the individual voluntarily (without duress or coercion) surrenders the property upon request.

Category III:

Category III procedures may only be used as part of a formal behavior program designed by the individual's IDT, written by a licensed psychological professional, and approved by a licensed psychologist, physician, other professionals, as indicated by the nature of the program, Human Rights Committee, and the facility administrator. Behavior program approval will include receipt of a signed consent from the individual and/or guardian. The individual's record documents the IDT's conclusion that the potential harmful effects of each restrictive procedure (restraint, etc.) are clearly outweighed by the harmful effects of the targeted behavior.

Policy Type	Subject of Policy	Policy No.
Service	Behavior Management	3011-D

A. Separation Time Out (Activity or Setting): Placement of an individual in a quiet area away from reinforcing activities or persons as a result of an inappropriate behavior occurring. The individual will be visually monitored during the time out. Further conditions include either:

1) Separation lasting for over 30 minutes to one (1) hour maximum.

2) Separation (any length of time) requiring physical intervention/personal restraint to ensure compliance.

B. Contingent Personal Property Removal (up to 24 hours maximum): Immediate removal of an individual's personal belongings contingent on the occurrence of a targeted behavior. Confiscated property will be held in a secure area and will be returned to the individual's room or to the individual directly, as appropriate. This procedure is considered Category III if the individual does not voluntarily surrender the property upon request, and it must be physically removed.

C. Sensory Deprivation: Involves the temporary impeding of one of the individual's senses for a period of time, contingent upon the occurrence of the target behavior. Most often, this procedure includes only the use of a blindfold or cloth placed over the individual's eyes when it has been shown to facilitate calming. The individual must be visually supervised during the use of this procedure, which may be used in combination with other Category III procedures, as designated in the individual program. It could also include lessening auditory input by covering the individual's ears, or covering a body part (usually the hands) to limit tactile stimulation, hand in mouth, or biting.

D. Restraint: When utilizing restraint as a programmatic option, a hierarchy of lesser restrictive procedures will be attempted prior to restraint, except in limited cases where this is clearly clinically contraindicated. IDT consideration will be given to parent/guardian notification of the use of restraint and address it in the behavior program.

1) Personal Restraint: In order to prevent personal injury or serious property damage, the individual or a portion of an individual's body is immobilized by another person or persons in order to prevent personal injury or serious property damage. Approved methods of intervention must be in the individual's behavior program. This is planned personal restraint, contingent upon occurrence of a target behavior. When available, a licensed nurse should monitor the personal restraint and/or check the individual's physical condition as soon as possible following restraint.

Excluded as personal restraint are: physical assistance, prompting of graduated physical guidance to assist individuals during such procedures as toothbrushing and feeding, or to control random head or arm movements during such procedures as haircutting, or the use of physical assistance in escorting, redirecting, or in manual guidance techniques are not considered personal restraint and do not require documentation as personal restraint. Also excluded as programmed personal restraint is the use of personal restraint in an emergency situation (Section 6, Page 8 of 9*) or during a necessary medical or dental procedure.

In the event of personal restraint, the QMRP/designee of the area must be notified as soon as possible. Programmed personal restraint will occur until the individual is calm and will not exceed fifteen (15) minutes. The IDT will define what constitutes calm behavior for this individual when used in a behavior program.

2) Mechanical Restraint: In order to prevent personal injury or serious property damage, the individual or a portion of the individual's body is immobilized until calm by an approved device or devices which may also prevent normal functioning, as described in section C, above. Restraints must be checked for safety and integrity prior to use. The device's use will not exceed 15 minutes without an extension of time approved and documented by the QMRP/designee, preferably, after face-to-face attention. Unless otherwise determined by the IDT, QMRP/designee extensions will be obtained every 15 minutes until the individual is calm. The IDT should define what constitutes calm behavior for this individual when used in a behavior program. Unless determined clinically contraindicated by the QMRP/designee, should the time in restraint reach 55 minutes, the individual must be released for five minutes for motion, liquid intake, or toileting.

Should time in restraint reach 1 hour and 50 minutes, the individual must be released for at least 10 minutes–for motion, liquid intake, or toileting. If this 10-minute release is judged to be a danger to the individual and/others, additional staff should be called to ensure safety for all concerned. In addition, the individual will be checked, face to face, at least every 15 minutes for safety, well being, and integrity of the restraint. Constant observation is required.

Note: On-site monitoring by the QMRP/designee is recommended. When available, a licensed nurse should monitor the mechanical restraint. If unavailable to monitor, a licensed nurse shall check the individual's physical condition as soon as possible following restraint, but in no case later than thirty minutes after the initiation of the restraint.

Excluded as programmed mechanical restraint is the use of restraints in an emergency situation (Section 6, Page 8 of 9), during a necessary medical or dental procedure, or to promote healing following a medical procedure or injury. Devices such as a helmet which are not prescribed for the purpose of restricting an individual's movement and/or normal functioning, but rather for their safety and protection are not considered a mechanical restraint.

Note: For medical management, please refer to local site Policy on drugs to manage behavior (Behavior Management/Psychiatric Interventions).

5. Conditions for Use of Behavior Programs.

A. A formal behavior program will be developed by the IDT, written by a licensed psychological professional, and approved by a psychologist. It will include the following elements:

1) Description of the behavior to be modified:
2) Functional Analysis:
3) Thorough description of each step of the program to include duration and intensity of specific procedures, the methods of monitoring and analyzing the process, and special precautions that will be taken:
4) Description of any alternatives to the specific procedures;

B. The Individual Program Plan or behavior program will include:
1) Description of all procedures already attempted:
2) Side effects and risks, if any, of the intervention, in comparison with those of allowing the maladaptive behavior to continue; and
3) Behavioral objectives.

C. Behavior Management Procedures should be used in order of least restrictive, unless clinically contraindicated. Exceptions to this order must be fully documented and substantiated as to why more restrictive procedures are advisable before less restrictive ones.

D. All persons administering Category II and III procedures must have been trained in the administration of those specific procedures and have personally experienced those particular procedures, unless medically contraindicated for that person.

E. The Human Rights Committee will review all Category II and III programs at least every 6 months.

F. IDT consideration will be given to seeking consultation from outside expertise when IDT staff resources have been exhausted, as evidenced by the use of Category III procedures for over one (1) year without significant progress. If an outside consultant has been used without success, the agency should continue to access this or other outside expertise until an effective strategy is realized.

An outside consultant is defined as a professional of any discipline and who is not a member of the IDT. For instance, the outside consultant may be a member of the HDC staff not on the identified IDT, the agency staff, or a professional not affiliated with the agency.

6. Emergency Procedures. Nothing in this policy prohibits the use of emergency restraint (mechanical or personal), confiscation of any item used in a threatening manner, or removal from the environment for the purpose of protecting the individual and others around him/her. This includes the use of restraint procedures in the course of an established program, when the individual becomes a danger to him/herself or others, prior to staff being able to implement a lesser restrictive hierarchy. However, it is emphasized that emergency procedures may not be used at frequent intervals, becoming a routine method of intervention. If emergency procedures are utilized three times in a six-month period, the IDT will meet to conduct a functional analysis and develop an appropriate plan of action. The emergency use of restraint must conform to ICF/MR regulations and must be reported immediately to the facility administrator or designee.

7. Prohibitions: These activities are expressly prohibited.

   A. Corporal punishment - refers to the application of painful stimuli to the body as a penalty for certain behavior, and includes, but is not limited to, hitting, pinching, the use of electrical shock or other infliction of pain, whether or not applied as part of a systematic behavior intervention program.

   B. Individuals who receive services from the agency disciplining other individuals unless involved in an organized and approved self-governing program. Individuals will not participate in the actual administration of discipline.

   C. Seclusion of an individual alone in a room or other area from which entry/exit is prevented. This does not include placement in a time-out area for brief, programmed time segments, as part of a behavior program that meets all applicable standards.

   D. Unless specifically requested by family/guardian, any procedure that denies visitation or communication with family members.

   E. Any procedure that denies sleep, shelter, bedding, food, drink, or use of bathroom facilities.

   F. Inappropriate vocalizations, maltreatment, neglect, or forced exercise.

8. Informed Consent. The individual served and/or guardian, as appropriate, will be provided a copy of the behavior program which utilizes Category II and III procedures. Informed consent will be obtained PRIOR to the implementation of the program, with the following procedures:

Policy Type	Subject of Policy	Policy No.
Service	Behavior Management	3011-D

A. Persons 18 years of age or older who have no legally appointed guardian may give informed consent for their behavior program. If there is a question about the individual's ability to give informed consent and no guardian can be located, appropriate legal action must be pursued to have someone appointed who can give consent.

B. Consent by the legal guardian(s) is required if guardianship has been established.

C. The legally adequate consent will:
1) Specify, in terms that are easily understood, the restrictive or intrusive procedure(s) involved;
2) Inform the person(s) giving consent of any potentially harmful effects of the procedure(s);
3) Be time-limited, not to exceed one year; and
4) State that consent may be withdrawn at any time.

9. Uncategorized Procedures. In the event a proposed procedure does not readily fit in one of the prescribed categories, it may be utilized on an emergency basis, if necessary, at the discretion of the administrator or designee until the appropriate category is determined.

NOTE: Behavior Management Policy 3011-D does not preclude the use of other restrictive/intrusive procedures that would prevent serious bodily harm and/or destruction of property or death. These procedures can only be considered when lesser restrictive procedures have been proven ineffective or their implementation are determined to be clinically contraindicated. Approvals required are the same as those for Category III procedures. Additional approvals may be required as deemed necessary by the facility administrator.

DOCUMENTATION OF AND RESPONSE TO MALADAPTIVE BEHAVIORS

POLICY STATEMENT: Maladaptive behaviors must be documented on a Behavior Report (BR), a Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint (also called the Restraint Log), or other authorized data keeping device. Personal or mechanical restraint for maladaptive behaviors is to be used only as an emergency measure. Maladaptive behaviors include, but are not limited to, behaviors that result in, or have the potential to result in, injury to self or others, or the destruction of property. Nothing in this policy removes or alters requirements as stated in other policies of verbal notification of incidents to the Superintendent and/or other staff.

PROCEDURES:

1. REQUIRED DOCUMENTATION

   a. When indicated, a BR must be completed following the maladaptive behavior. Incidents that are to be documented on the BR are the following:

      i. Behaviors that pose a threat to the physical or mental well being of the client or others.
      ii. Behaviors that have a direct negative impact on the client's programming.
      iii. Behaviors that directly contribute to the client remaining in a setting requiring a greater degree of supervision rather than a less restrictive one.
      iv. Target Behaviors identified by the Psychology Department and the Interdisciplinary Team.
      v. An incident requiring personal restraint (also requires notification of a QIDP). See Attachment #1.

   b. If the incident requires emergency mechanical restraint, a Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint must be completed. Such behaviors are defined as those emergency situations in which behaviors may result in, or have the potential to result in, injury to self or others, or the destruction of property and cannot be controlled through the use of less restrictive measures.

   c. The rules of confidentiality will be followed when documenting these incidents. Any reference to a client other than the identified client in an incident report must be by initial only. Reference to other staff members involved will include their full name and title. All corrections must be made by a single line through the incorrect entry and the writer's initials. The Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint must include the signature of the QIDP or other staff member authorizing the restraint.

2. EMERGENCY USE OF RESTRAINT

   a. Emergency restraint is defined as the use of the least restrictive procedure and for the least time necessary to control severely aggressive or destructive behaviors. The use of emergency restraint will comply with all relevant standards and regulations. Restraint will not be used as punishment or for the convenience of staff in lieu of adequate programming.

PLAINTIFF'S EXHIBIT 3

b. Seclusion will not be used as either an emergency or programmatic procedure.

c. A QIDP must be notified when personal restraint is used and it must be documented on a Behavior Report.

d. Personal restraint of a client is used when the behavior is such that verbal control has been lost and other less restrictive measures have failed to control the behavior.

e. Personal restraint will be implemented by staff who have been trained in the use of approved methods. Personal restraint must not exceed 10 minutes. During the period of personal restraint if the client becomes calm no further restraint procedures are to be implemented. If the client shows no indication of calming and becomes violent, staff will proceed as indicated in Paragraph f. below.

f. The request for the emergency use of mechanical restraint will be based on need as exhibited by the client who is so aggressive that restraint is necessary to prevent imminent physical harm to themselves, others, or property. Mechanical restraint may be used only when all other means of controlling the behavior have been exhausted. Staff will proceed in the following manner:

   i. A Restraint Incident Leader will be identified. The attending staff will immediately implement emergency mechanical restraint. As soon as possible staff will notify the on duty Program Supervisor who will contact a QIDP or other authorized staff for authorization for the use of emergency mechanical restraint.
   ii. The authorization for the mechanical restraints must not exceed 15 minutes. Continued use of mechanical restraint must be re-authorized every 15 minutes.
   iii. Immediately after emergency mechanical restraint has been applied, staff must contact the nurse on duty. The nurse will examine the client to ensure the restraint is applied in a pain free and harmless manner and present no physical danger to the client. The nurse will make a notation of the examination on the Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint.
   iv. A client in emergency mechanical restraint must be:

      1. Kept under constant visual observation. This observation will be for the client's physical condition (e.g., distressed breathing, bleeding, adequate blood flow to the head and extremities) as well as for signs of calming.
      2. Checked for security of restraint, current behavior and general status. A synopsis will be documented every 15 minutes.
      3. Released for 5 minutes every hour for motion and exercise.
      4. Given the opportunity for fluid intake, meals, baths and toileting. These needs will be addressed and documented as the need arises.

5. Released from emergency mechanical restraint as soon as possible. This is defined to mean as soon as the client is calm and no longer a danger to self or others. Verbal outbursts do not necessarily mean a person is still out of control or that restraint should continue.

v. After release from emergency mechanical restraint, using the Restraint Incident Debriefing Form, the Restraint Incident Leader will conduct and document a debriefing discussion with the other staff members involved in the restraint and the client that must include the following:

1. The behavior which resulted in the use of the personal or emergency mechanical restraint.
2. Any environmental factors involved in the incident.
3. The antecedents to the behavior including interactions with peers or staff
4. Any action by staff that might have kept the incident from escalating to restraint.
5. The client's reaction to the use of restraint.
6. Any changes to the client's programming which might have prevented the incident.
7. Options that the client could have used to avoid the use of restraint.

3. COMPLETION OF DOCUMENTATION

a. The person authorizing the use of emergency mechanical restraint must sign the authorization. During deviant hours authorization may be obtained by telephone. Attending staff will note on the Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint that such authorization was obtained by telephone.

b. The on duty Program Supervisor will be responsible for ensuring that the appropriate reports are completed in a timely and accurate manner.

c. Completed Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint and Restraint Incident Debriefing Form will be filed in the client's Master File "Behavior Incident File".

4. REVIEW AND DISTRIBUTION OF THE COMPLETED DOCUMENTS

a. Upon completion of the report it will be sent to the appropriate Team Office.

b. The Team Leader will review all reports for content, accuracy and appropriateness and sign in the appropriate place. If corrections are required the Team Leader will contact the writer of the report and ensure corrections are made. As soon as possible the report will be given to Quality Assurance to be scanned, copied, and distributed to appropriate staff. The original report will be sent to the Record Center Operator and filed in each client's file within five days.

c. The Record Center Operator will review Behavior Report, Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint, and Restraint Incident Debriefing Form for completeness and errors. The originator will be notified to correct errors found by the Record Center Operator.

d. The QIDP and Psychology staff member will review copies of all reports for programmatic issues, patterns of use, and the appropriate follow-up.

e. The authorized data keeping device (i.e., Behavior Report, Behavior Report Documenting Emergency Restraint, and Restraint Incident Debriefing Form) will be forwarded to the Psychology Department depending on the program requirement.

5. FUNCTIONAL AND ENVIRONMENTAL ANALYSES OF BEHAVIORS

a. The purposes of conducting functional and environmental analyses are to determine:

1. The pragmatic utility of a behavior for a client, i.e., what the behavior "does" for the client.
2. What role the environment may have played in the causation of the behavior.

These analyses assume aberrant behavior does serve a functional purpose, but that a functionally equivalent (appropriate) communicative response can be taught, and will serve to substitute for the aberrant behavior. Further, the aberrant behavior will reduce in frequency as the more appropriate response becomes systematically reinforced.

b. These analyses will provide the data needed to formulate programmatic responses to teach and reinforce appropriate behaviors to replace aberrant behaviors and inappropriate behaviors.

6. APPROVED RESTRAINT PROCEDURES, TECHNIQUES, AND DEVICES

a. Personal Restraint, an emergency procedure limiting movement by the holding of a hand or limb.

b. Chemical Intervention ordered by the Physician.

c. Protective Helmet.

d. Papoose Board, a Mechanical Restraint device limiting movement and range of motion.

f. Wrist Restraint, a Mechanical Restraint device limiting movement and range of motion.

7. AT BHDC ONLY ICF/IID QUALIFIED QIDP's SHALL BE APPROVED TO AUTHORIZE THE USE OF RESTRAINT

The Program Coordinator/QIDP is the first choice person to authorize restraint for clients on their caseload. After hours and on weekends the Team Leaders or other qualified QIDPs may be notified.

The following positions are recognized as being qualified QIDPs:

Program Coordinators/QIDPS, Team Leaders, Director of Residential Services, Superintendent, Assistant Superintendent, Director of Quality Assurance; Chief Psychologist, Psychological Examiners, Registered Nurses, and Staff Physician.

Current work telephone numbers for these persons can be obtained from DHS/BHDC Share.

THE STAFF PHYSICIAN MUST REVIEW, BY SIGNATURE, THE USE OF ALL EMERGENCY MECHANICAL RESTRAINT.

QUALIFIED INTELLECTUAL DISABILITY PROFESSIONAL PROCESS

POLICY STATEMENT: Every client will have an assigned QIDP (Qualified Intellectual Disability Professional), as defined in ICF/ID Regulation 483.430. The Program Coordinator/QIDP has an assigned caseload. They are responsible for chairing the interdisciplinary team and completing Individual Program Plans for clients on their respective caseload.

The Program Coordinator/QIDP monitors the implementation of training objectives and the delivery of services for clients on their assigned caseloads, as determined in each client's IPP. They do on-site observations (tracking) for each of their clients in the living areas and training areas at least once a month. They may also observe their clients in other areas.

The Program Coordinator QIDP also reviews Monthly Progress Notes and other documentation relevant to each client. They submit Monthly Plan Reviews to summarize information from their observations and their record reviews. Monthly Plan Reviews document monthly observations tracking and are submitted on a monthly basis. The original Monthly Plan Reviews are filed in the client's master file.

PROCEDURES:

1. PROGRAM COORDINATOR/QIDP ASSIGNMENTS

   a. Each Program Coordinator/QIDP works with an assigned caseload or group of clients. A master list of Program Coordinator/QIDP caseload assignments is maintained on the secure drive.

   b. Each client is assigned a Program Coordinator/QIDP when he/she is admitted to BHDC. Changes in Program Coordinator/QIDP caseload assignments are generally made if a client moves to a different living area, but may be appropriate for other reasons. Team Leaders are responsible for making the caseload assignments.

2. DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF PROGRAM COORDINATOR/QIDP

   a. The Program Coordinator/QIDP functions as advocate for the client by assuring he/she receives the maximum benefit of active treatment.

   b. The Program Coordinator/QIDP is chairman of the client's interdisciplinary team. As chairman he/she is responsible for scheduling and conducting 30-day reviews and annual reviews, and for conducting special meetings to discuss various problems or concerns that may occur throughout the year. IPPs are to be completed by the 15th working day after a given 30-day review or annual review. However, an additional requirement is that 30-day IPP's must be completed and distributed within 30 days after admission. Annual review IPP's must be completed and distributed within 365 days after the previous annual review and by the 15th working day following an annual review.

e. The Program Coordinator/QIDP observes actual delivery of services by randomly visiting the living areas, as well as the training areas or work areas each month to observe each client on his/her caseload. These observations, along with any problems noted, are documented on the Monthly Plan Review.

d. If a change of caseload assignment is made, the current Program Coordinator/QIDP completes the documentation for the current month and then forwards that client's file to the new Program Coordinator/QIDP. The majority of the file is available on the secure drive. File information includes the client's IPP and their activity schedule, as well as other information pertaining to that client.

e. The Program Coordinator/QIDP reviews Progress Notes and data posted on the secure drive, monitors progress on objectives, and works with service providers to make any necessary modifications in training objectives and service objectives.

f. The Program Coordinator/QIDP completes the Monthly Plan Reviews, as outlined in the BHDC policy. These reports include documentation of their monthly observations (tracking), follow-up, and/or other significant information. Monthly Plan Reviews for each client are to be completed monthly and are due by the 15th working day after the end of the month.

g. The Program Coordinator/QIDP must guide the interdisciplinary team and assure that team decisions comply with established policies, as well as ICF regulations.

3 INTERNAL REVIEW OF INDIVIDUAL PROGRAM PLANS

Every IPP will be reviewed by Residential Services managerial staff prior to publication/distribution. The reviewer will complete an IPP Proofing Sheet and will include any questions they have, or any corrections that are needed by the Program Coordinator/QIDP. The Program Coordinator/QIDP will make any necessary corrections, post the IPP to the secure drive, and send the original IPP to the master file. A copy with signatures is sent to Social Services for the guardian, with a request for guardian approval or input.

Q Okay. And is that what you do?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And did you do that with the Booneville Human Development Center in Booneville, Arkansas on or about June of 2020?
A Yes.
Q And about how many surveys do you think that you have performed in your capacity as a surveyor with the Arkansas Department of Human Services?
A Probably close to 700.
Q And before you worked for the Arkansas Department of Human Services, Office of Long Term Care, did you work for any other state as a surveyor?

A I did. I worked in Oklahoma.
Q And actually, when I say "state", you actually -- are you a state employee or a federal employee?
A I am a state employee. We are contracted -- the state is contracted through the CMS.
Q Okay. And CMS is the federal government?
A Yes. Centers for Medicare and Medicaid.
Q And before you are allowed to survey, do you have to meet any qualifications or tests or go through any training whatsoever?
A Yes. You have to be what is SMQT certified, which is the State Minimum Qualification Testing. And that is put out by CMS.
Q Okay. And so, is this a national test?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And do you also receive -- do you receive training in any particular category or nursing home, or long term care facility?
A Yes. You do -- you have to be certified as far as the nursing home, and then you have to be certified to be able to survey in the ICF/IIDs.
Q You mentioned survey, and I have mentioned survey. What is a survey?
A That's where you -- you go in and you do regular reviews and observations and interviews and -- just to make sure that they are following all of the regulations.

Q So, it's a compliance issue?

A Yes.

Q Is it, for lack of a better word, an inspection of some sort?

A Yes.

Q Now, how long have you been certified by CMS, you call them the SMQT, Surveyor Minimum Qualification Training certification?

A Since 2001.

Q How long have you been trained by -- are you trained by CMS for ICF/IIDs, as well?

A Yes.

Q And how long have you been trained for that one?

A Since 2011.

Q And this training by CMS, is this classroom, is it a test? What is it? Can you just give us a few words on that?

A When I did my training, it was a -- I had to go to Mississippi. CMS actually put on the training, and then we also went into the field. After that was over, then you have to have a certain amount of going into the field under supervision in order to finish your certification.

Q Okay. So, you are watched by a more experienced surveyor?
A Yes.
Q And how many types of surveys for ICF/IIDs are there?
A There is just the annual surveys, which is the recertifications, and then there are complaint surveys.
Q And in each survey, what are you looking for?
A Once again, to make sure that they have done everything that they were -- the facility is doing what they are supposed to do, following all of the regulations.
Q Okay. And the regulations are -- what are the regulations called?
A Appendix Q -- or Appendix J, rather.
Q Appendix J. And that's the State Operations Manual?
A Yes. I'm sorry. Yes.
Q And that's for what type of facility?
A This one is for the ICFs.
Q Okay. And so, you are there -- and that's what you do for -- do you survey all types of facilities or just the ICF/IIDs?

A I do the ICF/IIDs, and then also we do PRTFs.
Q Okay. Well, we are going to concentrate on the ICF/IIDs.
A Okay.
Q So, how many of those do you think that you have done over the past in your -- since 2001, or at least since 2011 when you were certified in ICF/IIDs?
A Probably 400 or 500.
Q Okay. And so, an annual survey kind of speaks for itself. I assume it's done once a year?
A Yes.
Q And what is a complaint survey?
A That is where either the facility has reported that something has happened, or if a family or anonymous caller comes in and says -- you know, complains about something regarding the facility, then we go out and we investigate it.
Q And when you investigate it, you investigate and apply what standards?
A I'm not sure --
Q When you investigate, I assume that there is a factual investigation and you apply it to --
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form, leading.
MR. ROSEN: Let me reword it.

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q When you go out to the facility, I think you had said earlier, you are looking for compliance?
A Yes.
Q Compliance with what?
A The CMS regulations.
Q And that would be Appendix J?
A Yes.
Q And so, during the course of your -- well, tell me what a complaint investigation would consist of, who would you talk to and what would you do?
A When we first go in, it's depending on what the complaint is about. If it's something that needs to -- like observations, if it is something that, say, the staff are doing wrong, or there is something wrong with the building, or something like that, once we enter and let the administrator know that we are there, we will immediately go out and make observations.
Q Okay. So, basically you come in there and you speak to the administrator first?
A Yes.
Q Or whoever is in charge?
A Yes. To let them know we are on his campus.
Q Okay. And then, you said you make observations?

A (Indicated yes.)
Q What else do you do?
A We would do record reviews and we interview any people that we think are relative to the complaint.
Q Okay.
A And that can include the residents themselves.
Q And so, you would also look at, I think you said a record review. What records would you look at?
A We would look at their medical records, we would look at anything that would have to do with the complaint, we would look at what they call the master record, which is basically their care plan type things, and then we also would look at medical records. We would -- if it's something that is like hospital or something, we would also read the hospital records.
Q Okay. And if the complaint was self-reported and not reported by somebody else, would that -- what does that mean, actually, to you?
A Really, I mean, even if it's something that is self-reported, I would investigate it the same way.
Q Okay. All right. And the purpose of the investigation is to determine compliance?
A Yes.
Q And then, when you leave the facility when you are done with your investigation, what, if anything, happens?

A Once we are done with the investigation, then it's just a matter of writing up the reports and the 2567, which is --

Q What is a 2567?

A A Statement of Deficiencies, if there is any.

Q So, in a 2567, what are the possible outcomes?

A Well, it could be unsubstantiated, it could be -- or the complaint could be substantiated or unsubstantiated.

Q Let's talk about those terms.

A Okay.

Q What does "unsubstantiated" mean?

A "Unsubstantiated" means that the event could have happened but at the time of the event and how the facility responded there was not any deficient practices that were identified.

Q Okay. And what does "substantiated" mean, then?

A It means that the way the facility responded or what happened, that the event happened and that there were -- they were not in compliance with the federal regulations.

Q And again, that's Appendix J?

A Yes.

Q All right. And so, the form that you use, that is called a 2567?
A Yes.
Q Now, I'm going to ask you -- I'm going to show you a document, see if you recognize this document.
A (Witness reviews document.)
Q And if so, what is it?
A This is the 2567 that the facilities get sent.
Q I'm sorry. What?

MR. GILLISPIE: I'm sorry. What? I'm sorry. I didn't understand.

THE WITNESS: Oh, that's all right. This is a copy of the 2567 which the facilities get sent, either from annual or complaint surveys, expressing our findings.

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. So, this is a -- what is the date that this survey was completed?
A 6-30-20.
Q Okay. And have you seen this before?
A I saw the back page.
Q Do you know what this is a survey of?
A Yes. This is -- we did an infection control survey for COVID, and this is also a complaint survey.

Q And the complaints are identified on the back page; correct?
A Yes.
Q So, that's what you were talking about you have seen before?
A Yes. This page, yes. (Indicating.)
Q So, did you do the survey?
A I did.
Q And so, there are three complaints there. All three are what -- what is the outcome of all three of them?
A They were unsubstantiated.
Q Okay. Now, do you know which ones -- let me ask it this way. What if any of these complaint numbers on here were related to David Cains?
A 26043.
Q I don't see a 26 -- oh, I see.
A On the very last one, yes.
Q Okay. So, that was David Cains?
A Yes.
Q Were any of the other ones, or were they unrelated to David Cains?
A They are unrelated.
Q Now, you were looking at something when you said that. What were you looking at?

A This is a complaint investigation report that we complete.
Q Okay. So, let's mark the 2567 as DHS Exhibit One.
(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number One was marked for identification.)
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q So, this doesn't mention David Cains on it, does it?
A No, it doesn't have any names.
Q Would a 2567 ever have names on it?
A No.
Q And in this case, whatever you were investigating on that day with regard to David Cains, was there compliance with the CMS State Operations Manual, Appendix J, or was there noncompliance found?
MR. GILLISPIE: Objection. Objection, lack of foundation.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Well, let me ask you this. Office of Long Term, do you determine whether there were any deficiencies found based upon your investigation?
A Yes.
Q And what was the outcome of that determination?
A That there was no deficient practices.

Q Okay. And that's what unsubstantiated says?
A Yes.
Q And I understand this happened a long time ago.
A A long time ago, yes.
Q Okay. But you also have -- I'm going to show you a document and ask if you can identify this?
A (Witness reviews document.)
MR. ROSEN: And we are going to mark that document as Exhibit Two.
(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number Two was marked for identification.)
THE WITNESS: Yes. This is my Complaint Investigation Report.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q And tell me -- walk us through this document. What is the date of this?
A 6-30-20. Well, actually, 6-30-20 is the date that I did the complaint. And so, I typed -- actually completed the report on 7-1-20.
Q Okay. And so, this is for the Booneville Human Development Center; correct?
A Yes.
Q And it has the exit date and time, which was what?
A 6-30-20 at 3:07 p.m.

Q And is that the time you finished your investigation and left that day?
A Yes.
MR. GILLISPIE: Objection, leading.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q What was the time that you finished your investigation that day?
A 3:07 p.m.
Q And you have here, it says "Resident/Client's Identifier Number: Number Three". What does that mean?
A That when we do a complaint or an annual, we have a client list, which would be client number one, number two, and number three. And so, he evidently was number three.
Q Okay. And in going to the second page of Exhibit Number Two, under Section 4, it lists "Records Reviews". Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q And did you review all those documents?
A I did.
Q And were there any interviews conducted?
A There was.
Q Okay. Do you recall who you interviewed?
A I interviewed three of the staff members, I believe they called them RCTs, three of them that was involved in the incident, and then also an LPN who responded to the incident.

Q Actually, that's noted on page three, isn't it, in the middle, Staff Interviews, number three?

A Yes.

MR. GILLISPIE: Objection, leading.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q And under Staff Interviews, item number three, what is marked as who you interviewed -- what types of people you interviewed?

A One LPN and then three RCTs.

Q Okay. And do you have -- do you recall -- well, strike that question.

And so, in Section 5 on page three of Exhibit Number Two, it states "Guidance". Do you see that section?

A I do.

Q And it says -- what box is marked?

A Regulations.

Q And then, there are some letters and numbers. What are those?

A Those are the regulations that I looked at that we have concerning this investigation.

Q Okay. And so, the first one is W127. Is that a regulation?

A It is.
Q And is that a reference to the State Operations Manual?
MR. GILLISPIE: Objection, leading.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q What is it a reference to?
A It is the federal regulations in Appendix J.
Q I'm going to show you a document. (Indicating.) It's a rather thick document. Have you seen that before?
A I have.
Q What does it say it is?
A It says "State Operations Manual, Appendix J - Guidance to Surveyors: Intermediate Care Facilities for Individuals with Intellectual Disabilities".
Q So, these are the standards we discussed earlier; right?
A Yes.
Q Now, just to kind of -- so, you looked at section -- what section did you first look at?
A I looked at Regulation 127.
Q Okay. And so, there are a lot of regulations in this manual; correct?
A Yes, sir.

Q So, you are looking for certain things that are relevant to what?
A To the investigation.
Q Okay. To what the complaint was?
A Yes.
Q And so, in this instance, with regard to David Cains, the first one you mention here is W127?
A Yes.
Q So, in the State Operations Manual, Appendix J -- can you turn to 127?
A (Witness complies.) Yes.
Q You might want to mark the pages so we can come back to it.
A Okay.
Q And so, that's the first -- and what is 127?
A "To ensure that clients are not subjected to physical, verbal, sexual, or psychological abuse or punishment."
Q Okay. And so, that was what you were determining in your investigation as to whether the facility, Booneville Human Development Center, complied with?
A Yes.
Q And what did you find?
A I found they were in compliance with this regulation.

Q And what about -- you also stated -- the next one is what, what section?
A W128.
Q Okay. And W128 says what?
A "Ensure that clients are free from unnecessary drugs and physical restraints and are provided active treatment to reduce dependency on drugs and physical restraints."
Q Okay. And so, you know that during the course of this incident with regard to David Cains that you were investigating there was a restraint utilized; correct?
A Yes.
Q Now, under this and from Office of Long Term Care policy, are restraints allowed?
A Yes.
Q Okay. So, you are checking to see if it was an unnecessary physical restraint. Is that what this is about?
A Yes.
MR. GILLISPIE: Objection, leading.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q What were you looking for in this 128?
A To make sure that there was adequate reason to apply physical restraint.

Q Okay. With regard to this particular regulation, W128, what was your determination as to whether the facility complied?
A They were in compliance with this regulation.
Q So, the next one is W153; correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And what does 153 require?
A (Witness reviews document.)
Q Actually, it might be out of order.
A Okay. 153 is the notification of the administrator.
Q Okay. So, what does that require?
A Administrator -- any kind of incidents that happen, the administrator is to be notified immediately.
Q So, this would be that there was an incident with David Cains and whether --
MR. GILLISPIE: Objection, leading.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. In relation to David Cains, what would compliance with W153 provide?
A To make sure that the necessary -- that the required notifications were made.
Q Okay. And what about W154?

A That is, "The facility must have evidence that all alleged violations are thoroughly investigated."
Q And were you able to determine whether the facility itself investigated?
A Yes.
Q And how do you know that?
A I looked at their investigative report.
Q And did that include anything? What was in the investigative report?
A That includes what they -- the incident that happened, who was involved, when it happened. Also, it would -- it includes what the facility did to immediately protect any of the clients, any of the other clients that may have been in the facility and also that client. It also, they look and make sure that their staff and the facility -- well, that the facility actually -- that the staff responded correctly and that the facility was in compliance with the regulations.
Q All right. Now, the next one is?
A 285.
Q W285. If you would turn to that, please.
A (Witness complies.)
Q Are you there?
A Yes.

Q And what does W285 provide, generally?
A Okay. It is to make sure that everything was done correctly to try to ensure that there was no harm to the client.
Q Okay. And so, harm sometimes arises, does it not? It's just whether that the -- to ensure that it was not inappropriate?
MR. GILLISPIE: Objection, leading.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q What, if any -- let's re-word it a little bit. So, under W285, interventions are allowed to manage inappropriate client activity; correct?
A Yes.
Q And behaviors; correct?
A Yes.
Q And they have to be employed with sufficient safeguards --
MR. GILLISPIE: Objection, leading.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q -- are they not?
MR. GILLISPIE: Objection, leading.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Well, what does it say?
A It says, "Interventions to manage inappropriate client behavior must be employed with sufficient safeguards and supervision to ensure that the safety, welfare and civil and human rights of clients are adequately protected."

Q And so, were you able to -- based upon your investigation, observations, and interviews, were you able to determine whether there was compliance with that section?

A I was.

Q Okay. Was there?

A Yes.

Q The next section is W286. And what is that?

A No intervention was -- physical restraint cannot be applied for disciplinary actions.

Q Okay. During the course of your investigation with regard to the complaint with regard to the death of David Cains, were you able to determine whether the physical restraint applied prior to the incident was for disciplinary purposes?

A It was not.

Q What was it for?

A It was a safety for the client and for the staff.

Q And so, were you able to determine whether the facility complied, based upon your investigation and your interviews and observations and review, with

W286?
A They were.
Q Okay. They were compliant?
A Yes.
Q And so, the last one is W331. Let's turn to that one.
A (Witness complies.)
Q And what is the requirement there?
A "The facility must provide clients with nursing services in accordance with their needs."
Q And were you able to ascertain whether the Booneville Human Development Center provided David Cains services in accordance with his needs?
A Yes.
Q And was that based upon your investigation?
A Yes.
Q And what, if anything -- as a result of your investigation, what if any determination did you make as to whether the facility complied with W331?
A I determined that they were in compliance with it.
Q And so, those determinations are reflected on DHS Exhibit One, are they not?
A Yes.
Q And that's the 2567?

A Yes.

MR. ROSEN: I have no other questions. Thank you.

MR. GILLISPIE: Let's take a five minute break.

(WHEREUPON, a break was taken.)

MR. ROSEN: We're back on the record.

CROSS EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Okay. Ms. Elliott, my name is Josh Gillispie. And I'm just going to ask you some questions here today about this case. You testified earlier that you are employed by the Arkansas Department of Human Services; is that correct?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Are you from Arkansas originally?

A No. Are you talking about where I was born or --

Q How long have you lived in Arkansas?

A Oh, gosh. Well, I lived in Arkansas from the time that I was in third grade until I was like 24 or so, and then I moved to Tulsa, and then I have been back to Arkansas for 12 years.

Q Okay. Do you have family in Arkansas?

A I do.

Q Do your children live in Arkansas?
A No.
Q What part of Arkansas do you currently live in?
A Paris.
Q Okay. Is that -- how far is that from Booneville?
A It's approximately maybe 20, 25 miles.
Q Okay.
A It takes about 30 minutes to drive it.
Q Okay. What documents did you look at prior to today's deposition?
A I looked at my notes, I looked at a copy of the 2567, and I looked at the complaint report, and I also looked at the client's IPP.
Q Okay. Tell me about your notes that you reviewed.
A (No response.)
Q You said you looked at your notes?
A Yes.
Q What are those?
A It's just where I document who I interviewed, what they said, what I see.
Q Okay. Do you have those with you here today?
A No.
Q Are those handwritten notes?

A Yes.
Q Were those produced, or provided to the Office of Long Term Care or to the department?
A I'm not sure I understand. When we finish our investigation, everything goes on -- goes into a U-drive, and that's where -- Q Including your handwritten notes?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Because I have not seen those. That's why I was curious about those. But you have reviewed those handwritten notes to prepare for today?
A Yes.
Q And did that allow you to refresh your memory about the death of Mr. Cains?
A About what I -- it helped refresh my memory on what I had done during that investigation on that, yes.
Q Okay. Fair enough. And how many days did your investigation take place?
A As far as being at the facility, one day.
Q One day. Do you know approximately how long you were at the facility that day?
A From 8:40 in the morning until 3:07 in the evening.
Q Okay. And that was the only time that you spent at the facility in regards to Mr. Cains?

A Yes.
Q All right. And did you speak with Mr. Rosen prior to this deposition?
THE WITNESS: Is that you?
(Indicating.)
MR. ROSEN: That's me.
THE WITNESS: Oh, yes.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q And what did you discuss with Mr. Rosen?
A Just basically what he asked me during the first part of this. It was what I did, my qualifications, asked me where I had -- you know, he asked me about the State Operations Manual. And basically, that was about it, I think.
Q Did he provide you with any documents to review?
A No.
Q Exhibit "A", which I believe was the 2567 report, are you there?
A Yes, sir.
Q And is that your signature there at the bottom?
A No.
Q Okay. Whose signature is that?
A That's the superintendent of the facility.
Q Okay. And is that supposed to be where the superintendent signs?

A Yes. I'm pretty sure, yes.
Q Why does the superintendent sign there, and not you?
A I don't know. I don't know the answer to that. This is not something that I produce.
Q Okay.
A This is something the office produces after I do my investigation.
Q Oh, okay. And on the second page of this document, it shows three separate complaints that were all unsubstantiated; correct?
A Yes.
Q And which one of these involved the death of David Cains?
A I believe it was the 26 -- yes, 26043.
Q And is that the only complaint related to David Cains?
A As far as I can recall.
Q Is there any reason that there would have been more than one complaint related to this same incident that you would have investigated?
A Well, yes. The facility could have -- when they sent in their report on what happened, and then if somebody else, another person had called in, such as like family or a staff member or somebody like that --

Q Okay.
A -- they would have taken those as two different complaints.
Q Complaint 26043, how was that complaint initiated? Meaning was it initiated by the facility itself or was it initiated by a third-party complainant, such as a family member as you described?
A I don't recall.
Q I believe Exhibit Two --
A Okay. I'm sorry. Go ahead.
Q Oh, no. Go ahead. Did you have something to say?
A I was just going to say that it looks like APS might have called in a complaint or something. I don't know.
Q Okay. What are you looking at?
A On page three.
Q Of what document?
A Of Exhibit Two.
Q Okay. Page three of Exhibit Two.
A Oh, never mind. I was wrong.
Q Okay.

A I was reading something that was not -- it looks like it may have called the complaint. So, it looks like somebody must have called it in.
Q So, we are looking -- again, we are looking at page three of the Complaint Investigation Report --
A Yes.
Q -- for complaint number 26043; correct?
A Yes.
Q And the -- go ahead and have some water.
A I have allergies, and they like to hit at the wrong time.

MR. ROSEN: If you want to take a break, that's okay, for one minute.

(WHEREUPON, a break was taken.)

MR. ROSEN: All right. Let's go back on the record.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Okay. So, we were looking at page three of the Complaint Investigation Report for complaint number 26043, and you were looking at number two. So, I will take you to that number two where it says "Resident/Client/Resident Representative/Family Interviews". And then, it says, "How many were interviewed that were named in the complaint intake?" And what did you indicate there?

A One.
Q What does that mean?
A That somebody was named in it and I interviewed them.
Q Okay. Who?
A I don't remember. And it may just -- I'm thinking -- because I remember doing the staff.
Q I don't believe you ever spoke with David's mother or sister, did you?
A Evidently, I talked -- I don't know. Whoever called in the complaint, I evidently talked to them, but I don't remember who that was, and we do not name them. But, no, I don't recall talking to them.
Q Okay. I wasn't aware that you had if you had. So, I just wanted to make sure that you don't have some memory of speaking to --
A Not that I recall, no.
Q You cannot recall speaking to David's -- any members of David's family?
A No.
Q And obviously you couldn't have spoken with David, either?
A No, sir.
Q All right. So, given that it wasn't a family member and it wasn't David, what would you -- who would you assume that it was?

A It was maybe somebody who was named in the complaint.
Q Who typically -- who are named in the complaints?
A Usually, it is like the client or the staff that was involved.
Q Okay.
A I have no idea.
MR. ROSEN: I just want to look at the document itself.
THE WITNESS: (Complies.)
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Ms. Elliott, have you ever spoken with a Doctor Theodore Kastner?
A No, not that I recall.
Q Other than this document that we are talking about here, this Complaint Investigation Report, complaint number 26043, do you know of any other documents or written materials of any kind pertaining to -- well, I'm sorry. Withdraw that.
Other than this document, Complaint Investigation Report 26043, and other than the 2567, and other than your handwritten notes, do you know of any other documents or written materials that would pertain to your involvement in the Cains' case?

A Are you talking about during my investigation what I would have looked at?
Q I'm talking about any other documents that would have been produced as a result of your investigation?
A Oh, as a result, no.
Q Okay. I'm not talking about the documents that you have reviewed from the facility --
A Okay.
Q -- in doing your investigation.
A Okay.
Q I'm talking about do you know of any other documents that would have been produced as a result of your investigation other than Complaint Investigation Report 26043, perhaps your handwritten notes, and perhaps this 2567?
A No.
Q Okay. Going back to the Exhibit Two, which is this, (Indicating), I want to take you to the first page of this, under Section 2, Allegation of Noncompliance Categories. And what category is listed here?
A "Quality of Care/Treatment".
Q Okay. What are other categories of noncompliance? What are some other ones that --

MR. ROSEN: Hold on a second. I have a different document.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

MR. ROSEN: Do you want to go off the record for a second?

(WHEREUPON, a discussion was held off the record.)

MR. GILLISPIE: So, Exhibit Two is not complaint 26043, then.

MR. ROSEN: Say that again.

MR. GREEN: Yes, it is.

THE WITNESS: Yeah, it is.

MR. GREEN: That's what he just handed her.

MR. ROSEN: Okay.

MR. GREEN: I think he is making that Exhibit Number Three.

MR. ROSEN: I will. Do you want me to do that now or do you want to just wait?

MR. GREEN: Let him make that Exhibit Three.

MR. GILLISPIE: Yes, it's fine.

MR. ROSEN: Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: So, you are going to make complaint 25996 Exhibit Three?

MR. ROSEN: Yes, I will. I'm going to ask you to identify this. And I know we are out of order.

MR. GILLISPIE: That's fine. Go ahead.

MR. ROSEN: Make it easier. Do you see that document?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

MR. ROSEN: And what is that?

THE WITNESS: That is a Complaint Investigation Report.

MR. ROSEN: For what complaint number?

THE WITNESS: 25996.

MR. ROSEN: So, going back. So, there were two complaints related to David Cains; right?

THE WITNESS: Evidently, yes.

MR. ROSEN: All right. We will move to introduce it now. I will turn it back over to Mr. Gillispie.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number Three was marked for identification.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q So, looking at Exhibit Two, Ms. Elliott, which is complaint number 26043, Allegation of Noncompliance Categories, this one states "Quality of Care/Treatment"; is that correct?

A Yes.
Q Well, first of all, what does Quality of Care/Treatment encompass? What does that category of noncompliance encompass?
A It would encompass client care, nursing services, basically, yes.
Q Okay. Anything more specific than that, perhaps?
A I'm not sure what you are -- I'm not sure of the question. I mean, it has to do with -- quality of care would have to do with client care, that would be such as personal care --
Q Okay.
A -- and things like that. Nursing services would be like --
Q Treatment?
A -- treatment, doctors, following doctors' orders, that sort of thing.
Q So, the treatment part of this category would pertain to medical treatment received from doctors or nurses or that sort of thing?
A It could, yes.
Q Okay. Anything else that the treatment part would typically pertain to as a noncompliance category?

A It could also include how the staff in the facility treat the clients.
Q Okay.
A Physically, mentally, socially, that sort of thing, yes.
Q Okay. So, things like abuse would fall under quality of care and treatment?
A It could, yes.
Q Okay.
A It could.
Q What do you mean, it could?
A There is also a category that we use that is specifically abuse and neglect.
Q Oh, okay. So, there is a specific category for abuse and neglect?
A Yes.
Q But that was not one of the categories that was used for this complaint?
A I would say "no".
Q Well, do you see any other categories listed here other than Quality of Care/Treatment?
A No.
Q So, the only category for this complaint was quality of care and treatment; correct?

A Yes.
Q But there is also a separate noncompliance category for abuse and neglect?
A Yes.
Q And would unnecessary restraints fall under abuse and neglect?
A It could.
Q Okay. Why do you say it could?
A Because there could also be a category that could list as restraints.
Q So, there is also a specific noncompliance category for restraints?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And do you know why restraints -- the noncompliance categories such as restraint or abuse and neglect were not categories that you looked at for noncompliance in this case?
A No.
Q Okay.
A But it would all come under -- it would come under that, I mean. It could encompass a lot of things. And I don't make the categories that they are listed under.
Q But you choose which -- meaning you don't create the categories as options; right? You don't come up with what category -- the list -- I'm assuming there is a list of different categories; right?

A I'm sure there is.
Q And you don't come up with that list?
A No.
Q But you choose which categories to focus on in these complaint investigations when you do your investigation; right?
A I do not say that the category has to be quality of care or treatment. Whatever the complaint is, I will investigate whatever it is. If it could have been that there possibly could have been some abuse or something, I would have investigated that, also. So I don't just stick with these categories. This is just something that the office lists them under.
Q So, somebody else wrote this category -- somebody else helped you write this document?
A No, nobody else helped me write the document.
Q You are the one that would have written, "Quality of Care/Treatment" here under categories?
A No. Well, I type it in there, but it is off of a complaint report that the office generated. They chose the category. I did not choose the category that is listed there.
Q Would that suggest that there was no complaint related to restraint usage?

A No, that's not what that suggests. What it is, is that they put it underneath that category. When I investigate it, I look at the whole complaint. And because it had to do with a restraint, I also looked at that, also.
Q Okay. And what did the complaint say? What was the substance of the complaint in this case, of complaint 26043? Because I have not gotten to see that complaint.
A I believe that it was that he got up from the dining room table and went to the bathroom and started -- and had physical aggression, and they put him in a physical hold, and then he passed away, that he died.
Q Okay.
A I believe. You are asking me two and a half years ago, you know. I believe that that is not word for word what it was. But looking at what I have done, that's --
Q Do you know what kind of physical restraint and/or hold was being used when he died?
A Well, when he died, he was not in a restraint.
Q Okay. Tell me what your -- tell me what your knowledge is about that.

A That he had been restrained. He was restrained on his either left or right side, and then during, you know, that he vomited. They turned him loose and sat him up, [redacted]

Q And do you know what kind of physical hold or physical restraint was being used on him around this time that he died?

A I'm not sure how to answer that question. I know that it was just a hold to keep him from hurting himself.

Q And I'm just asking if you --

A Like I said, he was on -- from documentation, they had him on his side. (Indicating.)

Q Okay.

A So, I was not there to actually look at exactly what they did. And there is really not a name for it. I know that they use the techniques of CPI, which is Crisis Prevention Intervention.

Q All right. Let's turn to the next page of the same exhibit.

MR. ROSEN: What exhibit are you on?

MR. GILLISPIE: Still Two, which is complaint 26043.

MR. GREEN: I'm not sure she is on the right one, Charlie.

MR. GILLISPIE: Let me look. Yes. You are on the right one. I'm sorry. My partner thought maybe you were on the wrong one.

MR. GREEN: I'm sorry, I couldn't keep it straight over here.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Under Section 3, Opening Remarks, kind of the fourth bullet point, "How many residents or clients were chosen for the sample?" You marked one here.

A Uh-huh. (Indicated yes.)

Q Explain to me what that passage means.

A I'm not sure I understand.

Q Do you see the question that says, "How many residents or clients were chosen for the sample?"

A Yes.

Q And you marked one?

A Yes.

Q What client was chosen?

A David -- was his last name Cains? Yes, David

Cains.
Q So, that's just indicating David Cains is the one?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And then, the sixth bullet point, third box, you marked that the, "Complaint was done in conjunction with additional complaints, 52772, 25772." Do those additional complaints also pertain to David Cains?
A I don't know.
Q Typically, what would you list here? How do you define -- withdraw that.
How do you define when a complaint is done in conjunction with another complaint? What does that mean?
A It just means that I had not one, but maybe two or three different complaints.
Q Okay. So, this would mean that on this same day, June 30th of 2020, you investigated at least two other complaints in addition to David's?
A Yes.
Q All in that same day; right?
A Yes.
Q From 8:40 a.m. to, I believe you said --
A If I'm not mistaken, I believe that -- I don't know that. Never mind.

Q Do you want to --
A I can't recall whether there -- you know, if they were also something that had to do with him or what. So, yes, it's possible that I investigated those others. I did investigate those two complaints, also.
Q Okay.
A Because that's the reason they are listed there.
Q Okay. Going back to Exhibit One, page two, where it lists -- again, this is the 2567. It lists three complaints that were unsubstantiated, 26043, the one that we are discussing now, 25996, which we know also involved David Cains, and then 25772.
A I may have typed one of those wrong, typed it in there wrong or something. I don't know. I can't answer what the other one was. I don't know.
Q Do you have any reason to suspect that either 52772 or 25772 as listed on page two of Exhibit Two were David Cains-related?
A I can't make speculation of that. I don't know.
Q When you reviewed your notes in preparation for today, did you come across these complaint numbers?
A No. Complaint numbers wouldn't have been written on there.

Q Okay. And other than your notes, what did you review for today?
A Just my notes and his IPP, which was his program -- individual program.
Q Okay. Did you review the complaints themselves?
A No.
Q Do you have access to those complaints?
A I could, if I -- yes, if -- somebody would have to pull them up for me and print them off.
Q But the bottom line is, you did as many as three -- according to this, at least, according to Section 3 that we are talking about, you did three investigations that same day?
A Yes.
Q At least one of which was involving David Cains?
A Yes.
Q Section 4 of Exhibit Two, you marked records that you reviewed?
A (Indicated yes.)
Q And I'm going to read off the ones that you marked. "Ambulance Records, Clinical Record, Facility In-Service Records, Facility Investigative Reports, Hospital Records, Incident Records or Critical Incident Reports, Nurses Notes, Personnel Records/Background Check, et cetera, Physician Orders, Physician Progress Notes, Roster Matrix/Resident, Client Census, Staff Training," and then also you marked his "IPP and Speech/Language Evaluation". Did I read that correctly?

A Yes.

Q All right. So, that means that that's -- so, that's everything that you would have reviewed as far as records for purposes of this investigation?

A Yes.

Q And over to the next page. Up at the top, "Was the complainant notified?" You marked "Yes". And under that, "Were they interviewed for further details?" You also marked "Yes". So, who would the complainant have been that you are referring to here?

A I don't know. I can't remember. It could have been APS, it could have been -- I don't know. It could have been the staff that called it in. I have no idea.

Q And then, under that, it gives a date and time for when the complainant was notified; right?

A Yes.

Q And so, you notified the complainant on June 30th, the day you were there, at 11:06 a.m.?

A Yes.

Q Okay. What would you have been notifying them of?

A We just come in and I tell them who I am, and I'm with the Office of Long Term Care, and that I am investigating the complaint.
Q That's what you would say to the facility; right?
A No. That's what I say to the people that I call.
Q Okay. I see.
A Whoever the complainant was, that they -- if they want us to notify them when we are doing the investigation, then that's who I call.
Q You call them. And this would have been about halfway through your day there at the facility on June 30th. And tell me, again, what you would have said?
A I would have introduced myself and let them know that I was at Booneville HDC to work to investigate their complaint.
Q Okay.
A Then, you know, if they volunteer some more -- you know, if they have any more information, they usually tell me.
Q And again, as you sit here today, you have no idea who you would have been notifying that day?

A I have no idea.
Q And that's not in your notes, that's not anywhere?
A No.
Q And below that, "How many were interviewed that were named in the complaint," again you put one. Is it still your testimony that you have no knowledge of who that person was that was involved in the complaint that you also interviewed?
A I have no idea.
Q That's not anywhere in your notes?
A Because that would have been staff.
Q Okay.
A Now it might have been family interviewed. It could have been that I interviewed -- maybe that's who the complainant was, and I put one, when I notified them and talked to them. It's possible.
Q So, it's possible it was a staff member?
A No. It's possible that it could have been the family member or whoever it was, APS, the family member, the staff member, whoever it was who called in the complaint is who I could have put that I talked to and note -- and put that number one there.
Q So, if APS had been the one that made the complaint, they could have been the one -- they would have been considered a named party to the complaint?

A They would not have been involved in the complaint -- I mean, in the incident that happened. I mean, I'm not sure what that one is. I'm speculating. So, I do not know.
Q Well, maybe this -- I just noticed that the heading here at number two, it actually says "Resident(s)/Client/Resident Representative/Family Interviews". So, that forecloses on the idea that it would have been anyone other than someone from -- that one was either the resident, the client, resident representative, or family interview. Given that, does that allow you to surmise who it might have been?
A I have no idea who it was.
Q You would agree, though, that it must have been somebody from one of these four categories?
A Yes.
Q And that those categories are resident, client, resident representative, and family?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And then, Staff Interviews below that. This indicates you spoke with one LPN; is that right?
A Yes.
Q And do you know who that LPN was?

A I don't remember her name, no.
Q That wasn't in your notes?
A It could have been, but I don't remember the name. I know that she was involved in the incident.
Q Okay.
A She was one of the nurses that responded.
Q Okay. Fair enough. Tell me about your notes. What do your notes consist of?
A It's just my observations, interviews, documentation of maybe records that I looked at, like client's records, what I would have found in the client record or something. Yes. Anybody that I would have interviewed or something like that.
Q In reviewing your notes, does anything stick out to you as particularly relevant to this case that you wanted to tell one of us?
A Just that as far as the staff was concerned, they responded the way they needed to. It showed, even, that they were not able to -- they tried, were what is the word? But when he vomited, when he got into a serious situation, the staff and facility, they all responded the way it needed to respond.

[redacted]

Q Okay. And you base that off of your -- the documents that we have already gone over that you reviewed in --
A The documents that I reviewed, and as my experience and expertise of being an RN for over 32 years.
Q And the interviews that you did with staff, you interviewed three RCTs?
A Yes.
Q Were those the three RCTs involved in the restraint?
A Yes.
Q So, other than the one LPN and the three RCTs, you did not conduct interviews with any other employees of the Booneville facility?
A No.
Q Under Section 5, Complaint Investigation Guidance, Regulations, and Mr. Rosen took you through these, the federal regulation tag numbers 127, 128, 153, 154, 285, 286, and 331, those were the specific CMS regulations that you looked at as part of your investigation; correct?
A Yes.
Q You did not use any other CMS regulations, other than what is listed here; correct?

A I can't really say -- no, that would probably not be correct, because I kind of -- I encompass all of the regulations that are in Appendix J, that those were specific ones to this complaint. So, I would have looked at --

Q Let me ask it this way.

A I would have thought of all of the regulations.

Q Let me ask it this way. Other than these that you have listed on page three of Exhibit Two, were there any other regulations that, as you said, you felt specifically related to the incident with David Cains that you were surveying?

A No. These would have been the specific regulations that I was looking at. There could have been others. I'm not sure. But as far as the ones specific to the complaint, I would have -- those are the ones that I really, I guess, concentrated on.

Q If there had been another one that you concentrated on, certainly, you would have listed that; right?

A I should have, yes.

Q Okay. These staff interviews that you did, did you do those in person?

A Yes.

Q All right. Would those have been one-on-one interviews?

A Yes.
Q Any recollection about -- as to how long your interview with each of those staff members might have taken?
A No.
Q Moving on to the final page of this exhibit. This is a continuation of Section 5. And again, Section 5 is Complaint Investigation Guidance. And then, "A" is Guidance, which we just discussed as being the federal regulation tag. But section 5B is Care Areas/CE Pathways. Did I read that correctly?
A Yes.
Q What are CE Pathways?
A Critical elements that -- that is more to do with the nursing home side. We both use these forms.
Q And what are Care Areas?
A Care Areas are just as it says here, different areas that have to do with client care.
Q Okay. And for purposes of this investigation, which client care areas were part of your survey?
A The abuse, neglect, and restraints.
Q Okay. And again, tell me what this means, Care Areas. How do you determine -- for a particular survey, how do you determine what care area to check the box of?

A It depends on what the complaint is about, what it encompasses. And then, I would go from there. Like this one had -- of course, had to do with restraints. So, that would have been one of the areas.
Q And I notice that you did not mark "Death". Mr. Cains died during this incident. So, is there a reason you would not have selected "Death" as a care area in this particular case?
A I may have overlooked it. But, no, I mean, it -- you know, but I looked at the -- I looked at the circumstances around his death.
Q You would agree that death is -- that his death was certainly an important subject matter to your survey?
A Yes.
Q And again, Restraint and Abuse, I think you said earlier, are separate categories of noncompliance themselves; correct?
A Yes.
Q You do not list those as categories of noncompliance that you were investigating on page one, Section 2?
A I do not make those categories. That's something the office generates.

Q The office generates which noncompliance category you are required to list under Section 2?
A Yes.
Q Section 6, "Surveyor investigation findings for this complaint are documented on separate surveyor notes." Are those separate surveyor notes the handwritten notes that you have told me about?
A That's some of them, yes.
Q You said "some of them". Where are the others?
A Whatever there is that is in regards to this investigation that I looked at -- or I felt -- like the survey, my personal notes all go on the U-drive. And then, they go into a doctor share program.
Q And what about "Program specific forms/worksheets," what are those?
A Oh, okay. That's sort of like where we -- that's where we list our clients and who we looked at. It would be where we list the names of the employees and how we identified them, if we wrote a citation on the 2567. It is also their facility census, their key personnel.
Q And what is the "Aspen Complaint Tracking System"?
A That is what the office uses to log all the complaints that come in. And that's their -- I don't have access to none of that. That's their system.

Q Okay.
A How they keep track of all that.
Q And you didn't look at any of those things in preparation for today?
A No.
Q Am I correct that you did not review any previous restraints used on David Cains by the three staff members directly involved?
A I may have looked at them but -- I may have looked at them, because sometimes I do that. Usually, I will do that. When it involves a restraint, I will look back and make sure that all the restraints have followed CMS regulations in how it was applied, when it was applied. I would have looked -- I usually do that.
Q I asked you earlier if -- we went over the Section 4 of the Complaint Investigation Report, which lists all the documents you reviewed.
A Uh-huh. (Indicated yes.)
Q And I asked you earlier if these were all the documents that you reviewed in relation to this, and you said they would have been. So, are you now saying that that's not the case, that you might have reviewed prior --

A No, that's not what I'm saying.
Q Help me understand what you are saying.
A I'm saying that I might have looked at other restraint things. But as far as looking at what I said I reviewed, I did not look at anything else.
Q Meaning as far as what you marked here as having reviewed, this does not -- at least, this document does not indicate that you reviewed any prior restraints that had been used on David by these three staff members?
A It does not.
Q Okay. And would I be correct in assuming that you also did not review previous allegations of maltreatment that had been lodged against any of these three staff members unrelated to the incident you were investigating?
A I would have -- I would not have known had -- have any access to any kind of thing like allegations before that.
Q And I agree with you. I didn't think there would be any reason that you would have, I just wanted to make sure.
A Okay.
Q So, your answer is, no, you would not have reviewed prior allegations of maltreatment against the staff who were involved in this restraint?

A Not if I was not aware of them, no.
Q Do you recall having been made aware?
A No.
Q You do not recall having been made aware of any prior allegations of maltreatment against the three RCTs involved in this restraint?
A No.
Q All right. Let's look at Exhibit Three real quick.
A (Witness complies.)
Q I appreciate your patience today, Ms. Elliott. Before we get into this. These -- Appendix J, the CMS regulations that you use, you use those to determine if a facility is in compliance with -- you use Appendix J to determine whether a facility is in compliance with federal regulations; correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And you would also use those same Appendix J guidelines to determine if the staff members of the facility are in compliance with federal regulations?
A I don't really -- this, I do not -- I do not investigate -- what I do is, I determine whether the facility is in compliance with all the regulations.

Q And if a staff member of the facility were to violate those regulations, would that not be a violation of the facility?
A It would be on the facility, yes.
Q Okay. And so, in that sense, the Appendix J applies to the actions of the facility staff?
A It applies to -- it applies to the facility -- it applies to if the facility is in compliance, because they are responsible for their staff's behaviors and actions.
Q A facility is an abstract -- or a nonliving, breathing thing is a facility. You would agree with me that a facility is made up of administrators and staff?
A Uh-huh. (Indicated yes.)
Q Right? And for a facility to be either in compliance or not in compliance, that would have to be based on what the people working there do or do not do?
A Yes.
Q Okay. At just the most basic level?
A (Indicated yes.)
Q And you already said that if a staff member does something in violation of the federal regulations, then that violation is attributed to the facility?

A We cite the facility.
Q Okay.
A But it is the facility's responsibility to take the appropriate actions to ensure that the staff -- that that doesn't happen again. And we look at that, too.
Q Right. So, for instance, let's just take the most basic of -- the most basic federal regulation, tag 127, which is the first one that you have listed. That's the one that says that a facility must -- I will let you get there.
A (Witness complies.)
Q And this is going to sound like a really stupid question, Ms. Elliott, but just bear with me.
A Okay.
Q And it's my stupid question, so just humor me. Are you at 127?
A I am.
Q Essentially, what this regulation is saying is that it would be a violation for a facility to subject a client to physical, verbal, sexual, or psychological abuse or punishment?
A Yes.
Q Is that fair to say?

A (Indicated yes.)
Q And so, bear with me. But if a staff member, let's say an RTC, were to subject a client to physical abuse or punishment, that would be a violation of this regulation; correct?
A Yes. And --
Q Okay.
MR. ROSEN: I think she was about to continue her statement.
THE WITNESS: Yes. And if the facility -- but the facility -- the facility or the administrative higher-ups, once they are aware of anything that is abuse or neglect, then they have to take the appropriate steps --
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Sure.
A -- to ensure that that doesn't happen again --
Q Sure.
A -- such as protecting a client or doing an investigation --
Q Okay.
A -- to make the staff be held accountable. But we would hold the facility accountable --
Q Right.

A -- because they should have done -- they do background checks, they do training.
Q That makes sense.
A Okay.
Q Thank you. That makes total sense. I appreciate that. But the -- again, back to the dumb question part. W127, this is a regulation that says that clients cannot be subjected to physical, verbal, sexual, or psychological abuse or punishment?
MR. ROSEN: Objection. That's not what it says.
MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.
MR. ROSEN: You should read what it says and answer the question.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Well, Ms. Elliott, take a look at W127 for me.
A (Witness reviews document.)
Q Do you take this to mean that a facility such as Booneville must ensure that clients are not subjected to physical, verbal, sexual, or psychological abuse or punishment?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And would you agree with me that the facility's staff members must comply with this rule, that the facility's staff members are required not to subject clients to physical, verbal, sexual, or psychological abuse or punishment?

A Yes. They cannot do that.
Q Because these regulations -- these Appendix J regulations, of course, apply to the facility's staff, that's how the staff's behavior are measured for terms of whether or not they are in compliance with the federal regulations; right?
A If the staff were to commit physical or verbal, sexual, psychological abuse, the facility is -- what this says is that the facility must take steps to ensure that the clients are protected, that that staff doesn't do it again, because these underneath here, in the guidance, that is what CMS says we look at to determine whether they have met this regulation. Okay?
Q Uh-huh.
A And as it says, "The facility must implement, through policies, oversight and training, safeguards to ensure that clients are not subjected to abuse by anyone."
Q Uh-huh.
A Okay? And the facility must take whatever actions necessary to protect the clients residing there. So, the staff member may have done that. But then, we look at when that happened, did the facility take all the steps that it needed to take to protect the clients and to investigate this and make sure that if -- because there's a lot of allegations that are not true. But if they determine or we determine that that actually happened, what did the facility do. Because I don't regulate as far as staff, I regulate the facilities.

Q When a complaint is made alleging abuse or neglect or sexual abuse or what have you, that complaint is not a complaint -- that complaint is going to involve a specific staff member, assuming it's a complaint that a staff member abused or sexually abused or neglected a client; right?

A Yes.

Q And so, I think what I'm hearing you say is what you do, then, in that situation, or any of these situations, is you look at that staff member's behavior and that staff member's actions to determine whether the facility is in compliance with the regulations. Is that fair to say?

A I look at the staff's -- I look at the staff's actions, and then I look at the response the facility took related to the staff's actions.

Q Okay. But you also looked at the staff's actions?

A Absolutely.
Q For instance, here I know you have testified that you thought that staff did the things that they needed to do; right?
A Yes.
Q So, you look at staff actions?
A Yes.
Q And when you say that a staff member, for instance, here when you say that a staff member did what you think they needed to do, you are measuring that against what Appendix J says they are supposed to do; right?
A Appendix J is not going to say that the staff members should have given CPR, should have tried to suction the client, should have tried to do the Heimlich.
Q Are you saying --
A Appendix J is not going to tell you that.
Q Are you saying Appendix J doesn't have anything to do with what a -- excuse me. Are you saying that Appendix J doesn't pertain at all to how a staff member is supposed to treat a client?
A I'm not saying that.
Q So, Appendix J does pertain to how a staff member is supposed to treat a client?

A In certain areas, yes.
Q Including areas such as restraints?
A Yes.
Q Are you aware of any other written documents, other than Appendix J, other than perhaps the facility's own written policies, or perhaps DDS' and DHS' own policies, that might pertain to how a staff member is supposed to treat a client with regards to restraints? And I can -- take your time. And let me know if you didn't understand.
A Like how they are supposed to be applied, is that what you are saying? How you would do a restraint, how you would actually apply a restraint, or apply a hold?
Q I'm talking a little more broadly. So, let me withdraw that question. You just testified that Appendix J does pertain to how staff in a facility are required to treat a client, specifically with regards to restraint, and -- let me withdraw that and back up and make this a little simpler. Appendix J is the only set of policies that you, in your capacity as the surveyor, use to determine compliance at a facility; is that correct?
A Yes.

Q Okay. And you would agree with me that Appendix J covers restraint use? That's one of the subject matters in Appendix J?

A It covers -- yes, it addresses it.

Q Okay. And you would agree with me that Appendix J addresses -- I will withdraw that and kind of get back to the question I'm trying to ask you, which is, are you aware of any other written policies, other than Appendix J, that would potentially dictate or control the actions of staff towards clients of a facility like Booneville?

MR. ROSEN: I'm going to object and say that this has been asked and answered a couple of times. You have asked her what she relied upon or what she uses to make her determinations.

MR. GILLISPIE: From time to time you will hear us objecting. And unless he tells you not to answer, you can kind of let it go in one ear and out the other and answer.

MR. ROSEN: That's not the way to take an objection. But you can answer the question, which I think you have already answered a couple of times here. But counsel has asked it again. So, the question ultimately is, what did you use to make the determination.

MR. GILLISPIE: If you don't mind, I will create my own questions. And I have not exactly asked this question, so please just humor me. Objection noted.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. Elliott, I'm going to ask that last question again.

A Okay.

Q Are you aware of any other written policies, other than Appendix J, that would dictate or control how staff at the Booneville Human Development Center are to treat clients?

A To include their own policies.

Q Okay. Also the facility policies?

A Yes.

Q Other than that, are you aware of anything else?

A No.

Q Okay. So, the only written policies that you are aware of that staff at Booneville would have to comply with are Appendix J and the facility's own written policies?

MR. ROSEN: I'm going to object. I mean, this is the CMS -- Ms. Elliott is a surveyor here, and you are getting in way beyond the survey, because we already know the survey results. So, it would not be relevant or lead to admissible evidence. If you want to talk about the survey in which she did, that's one thing, but you are steering away from the survey. So, I object.

MR. GILLISPIE: Speaking objection noted. Please go ahead and answer.

THE WITNESS: I don't think I remember the question.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Are there any other written policies that the staff -- that you know of, that the staff would be required to comply with, other than Appendix J, and as you said, the written policies of the facility itself?

A No.

MR. GILLISPIE: Let's take a break.

(WHEREUPON, a break was taken.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Hopefully not too much longer. I'm going to move down to Exhibit Three. That was an additional complaint that was apparently related to David's death. You should be looking at the Complaint Investigation Report for complaint number 25996. Is that what you have?

A Yes.
Q And what Allegation of Noncompliance Category did you look at for this one?
A Well, what the office listed the noncompliance category as was "Accidents/Supervision". But I look at any categories that I think would be included in the investigation. That is the office listing.
Q And what office are you referring to?
A Office of Long Term Care.
Q Okay. And given that this was a death of a client that occurred during or around the time of a restraint, are you surprised that "Restraint" is not one of the categories that they chose to look at?
A Not really. I don't know how they determine what categories to put it under.
Q Okay.
A This is not necessarily what I look -- you know, just the category that I would look at.
Q Why --
A Theirs is a whole different thing than what I do.
Q Who is "they"?

A The Office of Long Term Care, the people up there that determines this category.
Q I thought you were with the Office of Long Term Care.
A I am with the Office of Long Term Care. But whoever the intake people, complaint people, they determine that -- what to list the category as.
Q So, this document comes to you -- when this document comes to you -- or when the assignment, rather, comes to you, it has already been determined what category -- what the category is?
A Yes. For them, yes.
Q And you are not allowed to -- you are not allowed to add additional categories?
A I do not type the additional categories. This is strictly what is off the intake that is given to me. I look at whatever categories I deem necessary for the complaint allegation.
Q You just may not list those categories under Section 2?
A I don't list these categories.
Q Somebody in the Office of Long Term Care lists these for you?
A When the intake comes to me, it is listed under the -- it will say -- okay. It will say "Accidents/Supervision". Then, it will have the complaint allegation underneath it. So, that doesn't say that I only look at that category. That's just their interpretation.

Q Do you complete this first page of this document?

A I do.

Q Are you the one that types in "Accidents/Supervision"?

A I typed that in off of -- in accordance to the intake form that the office has provided me.

Q Would you have been within your rights to type in an additional category had you wanted to?

A No.

Q Okay. Why a second Complaint Investigation Report -- or maybe this one was the first and that one was the second. I don't know.

A I don't know.

Q But why multiple ones?

A Because evidently -- I have no idea. It may be because -- well, I don't remember. But it could be because the facility sent in their -- what we call Incident/Accident Report to the office, and then somebody, a staff, a family, somebody, could have called and made that same complaint. So, it would be -- there would be one intake for what the facility had sent in and there would be one intake for whoever happened to call in the same complaint.

Q Are you assuming that's the explanation here?

A I can't assume anything at this point. I don't know. But since it is the same -- it is the same client --

Q Right.

A -- I would say that's what happened.

Q And you know it's the same client because of this ID number, number three?

A Yes.

Q All right. Take a look at page two for me. Just look closely at it for me and tell me when you are done looking at page two closely.

A (Witness reviews document.) Okay.

Q Does anything appear to be different on this report from the previous report we discussed, Exhibit Two?

MR. ROSEN: I just want to note for the record that the document -- she doesn't have the Exhibit Two in front of her that she is looking at.

MR. GILLISPIE: Yes. Feel free to pull up Exhibit Two.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q And the purpose of my question, Dian, is just to figure out if they are different, how they are different, and why.
A Well, "Explain why this sample was chosen" is different.
Q Okay. What is different?
A I put "Named in complaint" and then "No other deaths".
Q All right. The difference being "No other deaths"?
A Uh-huh. (Indicated yes.)
Q And why would you put that there and not on the other one?
A I can't answer that question. I don't know.
Q What does "No other deaths" mean? In this context, what does it mean?
A It would mean that the facility had no other deaths --
Q Okay.
A -- that I could have looked at to ensure, you know, that they did the right thing.
Q All right. Let's turn to the next page.
MR. ROSEN: We are talking about Exhibit Three; right?

MR. GILLISPIE: Yes, Exhibit Three.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q And if you want to pull up the corresponding page to Exhibit Two, feel free.
A What am I looking at? Oh, page two. Okay.
Q Now, I notice on this one the complainant was not notified and the complainant was not interviewed for further details. What does that signify?
A Well, this probably -- I am assuming, since I don't have all my stuff, you know, that I was looking at, I'm assuming this was where -- this probably was where the facility sent in their I&A form. And so -- and this was whoever called it in, I would assume.
MR. ROSEN: Are you referring -- just for clarification, because you are saying "this", and the record can't say which.
THE WITNESS: Oh, I'm sorry.
MR. ROSEN: Which documents are you referring to for "this".
THE WITNESS: Okay.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q You are saying Exhibit Three indicates that the facility called this one in; right?
A Yes.
Q Yes.

A Because it says "IRIS Generated Complaint".
Q All right. So, that would mean that the other one must have been generated from a complaint by a family member or representative of the deceased?
A Or it could have been a staff member or it could have been some outside person. Just somebody called it in.
Q Well, I thought we established that it had to have been -- if you look at number two here, that it had to have been -- and I could be wrong, but I thought that it would have been a resident, or the client, or a representative of one of them, or a family member.
A This isn't necessarily -- number two doesn't necessarily mean that it was a complainant.
Q It is just talking about if you interviewed them or not?
A Number one is. The first one is, yes.
Q Okay. I got you. Got it. Okay. And then, under Staff Interviews, again, you interviewed one LPN and three RCTs?
MR. ROSEN: Are you referring to --
MR. GILLISPIE: Exhibit Three.
MR. ROSEN: Three. What page, again?
MR. GILLISPIE: Page three of Exhibit

Three, Section 3.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q So, Section 3, page three, Exhibit Three, where you describe what staff interviews you did, am I correct that this indicates you interviewed one LPN and then three RCTs; is that right?
A Yes.
Q And I assume those would have been the same RCTs and the same LPN?
A Probably, yes.
Q Okay. And then, we will skip down to Regulations. Again on the same Exhibit Three, under Section 5, these same federal regulation tags. These are the same exact federal regulation tags listed in Exhibit Two; correct?
A (Witness reviews document.)
Q Feel free to compare, but I believe they are.
A Yes.
Q Okay. Why is the category -- I understand that they were -- these complaints were most likely initiated by -- in different ways. But why would the category for this one be Accidents and Supervision whereas the other one is Quality of Care and Treatment?
A I don't know. I can't answer that. I don't decide the categories that go in there.

Q Okay. On page four of Exhibit Three. And again, Exhibit Three is Complaint Investigation Report 25996. Presumably the investigation that was done after being initiated by an IRIS report. This one lists Care Areas and CE pathways. Am I correct that the Care Areas that you indicated were studied or reviewed were "Abuse, Mood/Behavior, Neglect, and Restraints"?
A Yes.
Q Not "Care Plan"?
A Not what?
Q Not "Care Plan"?
A Well, they don't have Care Plans, they have IPPs, Individual Program Plans.
Q Okay. Not "Death"?
A Well, I mean, I looked at the "Death". But, no, I probably -- I do not mark that.
Q You didn't -- and is that because it --
A It was just probably overlooked on my part.
Q And then, Section 7, the last sentence in bold, would you read that for me?
A On number three?
Q Yes. Exhibit Three, page four, Section 7, the last sentence under Section 7, in bold, starting with "Accidents".

A "Based on record review and the Code of Federal Regulations, this allegation was unsubstantiated due to the facility's ability to demonstrate they were in compliance with regulations related to Accidents/Supervision."
Q Okay. Am I correct that this sentence does not say that they were in compliance with regulations related to restraint use?
A No, it doesn't, because that's not the category that the office had listed on the complaint.
Q Okay. And going back to Exhibit Two, that same Section 7 on Exhibit Two, read that for me.
A "Based on record review and interview and the Federal Code of Regulations, this allegation was unsubstantiated due to the facility's ability to demonstrate they were in compliance with regulations related to Quality of Care/Treatment."
Q And you would agree with me that that does not say that the facility was able to demonstrate they were in compliance with regulations related to restraint use?
MR. ROSEN: The actual wording?
MR. GILLISPIE: Yes.
MR. ROSEN: The wording, I didn't hear that in her statement as to what the actual wording is.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q I asked you to read that statement, you read it correctly. You would agree with me -- it's a stupid question, but humor me. You would agree with me that this says that, "This allegation was unsubstantiated due to the facility's ability to demonstrate they were in compliance with regulations related to Quality of Care/Treatment." But it does not specifically say that they were in compliance with regulations related to restraint use; is that correct?

A That's correct, because that is not the category that the office listed. Though restraints were -- the restraint categories was looked at on both of them. But when we write our -- under Decision-Making and Closing Remarks, we use the category that the office decided to put on the intake form.

Q Okay. But to be clear, there is literally a separate noncompliance category for restraint use?

A I really don't know what all their categories are. I can't answer that.

Q Well, you testified multiple times earlier that there was.

A Well, there may be, yes. Can I say absolutely for sure, no.
Q Where would the categories of noncompliance be listed?
A I don't know. I don't know where they get those -- where they get that from. But that is -- the Complaint Department generates the intakes.
Q Okay. When we first started, you testified that there were categories for abuse and neglect, and then also categories for restraint use. Are you now changing your testimony?

MR. ROSEN: I'm going to object to this. Anything that she said earlier is what she said earlier. There is no need to -- unless she wants to change something.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q I just want to make sure you are not changing.
A No, I'm not changing anything. It could be, yes.
Q Okay. You are not changing your previous testimony?
A No.
Q Okay.
A Because there are many categories.
Q Okay. If you want to go to page three of either one of those exhibits, either one of Two or Three, I'm going to -- I want to talk to you a little bit about the regulations that you looked at.

MR. ROSEN: Off the record.

(WHEREUPON, a brief discussion was held off the record.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q You have your copy of the Appendix J that he gave you?

A Yes.

Q If you would, turn to tag 127.

MR. GILLISPIE: And is the copy you gave her Bates numbered?

MR. ROSEN: No.

MR. GILLISPIE: I printed off copies of each of them to make it easier for her.

THE WITNESS: I have them marked.

MR. ROSEN: She has it.

MR. GILLISPIE: You have them marked?

MR. ROSEN: We already discussed it. And we already discussed -- are we going to go over 127 again?

MR. GILLISPIE: We are.

MR. ROSEN: We already discussed it in your cross examination. I want to make a note in the record.

MR. GILLISPIE: We discussed it where?

MR. ROSEN: You've already asked her about W127. Now we are going to go over it again?

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. Elliott, my question -- you testified when Mr. Rosen was questioning you that you determined that the facility and staff did not violate 127; correct?

A I determined that the facility did not violate 127.

Q Okay. Do you think perhaps individual staff members abused Mr. Cains?

A Not according to the investigation that I did.

Q Okay. And specifically, what is the basis for your opinion that staff members did not physically abuse Mr. Cains?

A Because during my investigation I could not -- I did not determine that there was any abuse or neglect by the staff.

Q Would you agree with me that unnecessary -- unnecessary physical restraint is a form of abuse?

A Unnecessary?

Q Unnecessary.

A Yes.
Q Look at 128, tag 128.
A (Witness complies.)
Q What does this regulation require?
A That there is a reason to place a client in a physical restraint or give them drugs that would alter their mental status.
Q Okay. This is a prohibition on unnecessary physical restraint; correct?
A It's a regulation on unnecessary physical restraint.
Q Right. Saying you can't do that?
A That's right.
Q And under Guidance here, you would agree with me that it says that, "The facility must implement an aggressive active treatment program, which includes appropriate replacement behaviors, to address the reduction/elimination of physical restraints and drugs to manage behaviors"?
A Yes.
Q Skipping 153 and go to 154. This is federal regulation tag, or Appendix J tag 154.
A (Witness complies.) Okay.
Q You went over this with Mr. Rosen. And this involves -- this regulation requires that there be evidence that all the alleged violations are thoroughly investigated; correct?

A Yes.
Q And in this case, what specifically -- if you can say, what specifically did you base your opinion on that Mr. Cains' death and the incident surrounding his death were thoroughly investigated?
A By the facility, it is from their internal investigative reports that they do.
Q You looked at the maltreatment investigative report done by the maltreatment investigator; right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And do you recall who that maltreatment investigator was?
A I have no -- I don't know. I don't know.
Q Did you speak to the maltreatment investigator, as far as you recall?
A No.
Q Okay. But that would have been a document, I assume -- that investigative report would have been a document that I assume that you would have relied upon in your own investigation?
A No.
Q No?
A I would -- the only reason that I would look at that is to ensure that they did their investigation and that they sent it all back -- everything was done according to the regulations, which is reporting it to us, to Office of Long Term Care, to doing their investigation, to sending in their findings or whatever in their five-day report within the time limit. That's the only reason I look at that.

Q Well, understood. But this also says that the investigation has to be thorough. What does that mean to you, "thorough"? What makes an investigation sufficiently thorough?

A That they have done their interviews and looked at all the records, you know, documentation theirself. If there have been any videos, because a lot of places have video cameras, that they have looked at the video of the incident, that they talked to the residents, that they made sure that the rest of the residents were protected during the investigation, that they put monitoring in place while their investigation was going on to ensure that the residents are being taken care of appropriately.

Q Would you have looked at the manner in which the maltreatment investigator conducted his or her interviews with witnesses or staff that might have been involved?

A No. I just make sure that they have done them.
Q You just make sure that the interviews were done?
A I make sure -- yes, I make sure. Because I do my own investigation. I don't rely on anything that they have done.
Q Okay.
A Because they may find that one way, you know, and I determine by federal regulations, I determine myself whether they are in compliance with it. So, I do not rely on their investigation, I completely do my own from step one.
Q And I understand that. But I'm more -- I was asking simply about what you look at in determining whether or not their -- the facility's investigation was thorough.
A Yeah. And like I said, it's -- you know, I look at -- I look and make sure that they have done everything that I named before.
Q Right. And I don't mean for your overall determination, but for your determination as to whether or not specifically 154 is complied with. Am I correct in hearing -- am I hearing you correctly that you looked to see if the facility conducted all of the interviews that they should have conducted, but not necessarily -- you are not necessarily looking at how that person -- or how that investigator handled those interviews, or conducted those interviews?

MR. ROSEN: I don't know what you just asked. Can you repeat that? I don't know what you just said. I don't know what your question is.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Do you understand what I'm asking, Ms. Elliott?

MR. ROSEN: I don't. Can you repeat it so that we can understand it? It doesn't make any sense.

THE WITNESS: I'm not real sure.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q You looked to see if -- with regards to compliance with 154, you looked to see if the facility's maltreatment investigation included interviews with witnesses and staff that were involved; correct?

A Yes.

Q Okay. The fact that they conducted those is evidence of compliance?

A It's part of it, yes.

Q Okay. I'm asking -- I guess what I'm asking is, you said you didn't speak to the maltreatment investigator in this case.
A Huh-uh. (Indicated no.)
Q So, you would not have asked that maltreatment investigator to describe for you how he or she went about interviewing the staff?
A Oh, no.
Q Okay. Move to 276.
A (Witness complies.) Is this one of --
Q No, 276 is not one of the ones you had listed. Let me know when you are there. This is federal regulation, Appendix J tag 276.
A Okay.
Q Are you there?
A Uh-huh. (Indicated yes.)
Q All right. Am I correct that this regulation requires that a facility's approved interventions to manage inappropriate client behavior be specified?
A It kind of goes from 274 all the way down. So, I'm kind of reviewing, because that's their policy and procedure.
Q I will withdraw that question and then let you -- I'm going to withdraw that question and let you kind of take a -- go back and take a look at 275, and then I'll ask it a little bit -- in a little bit different way.

A (Witness reviews document.)

Q Let me know when you are ready.

A Any time.

Q Okay. So, looking at -- what we are looking at here -- we are using tag numbers, but what we are looking at here is regulation Section 483.450, little (b)(1); is that correct?

MR. ROSEN: Well, there are several here. So, let's be specific as to what you are asking her a question about.

MR. GILLISPIE: Everything I'm about to ask her here is 483.450(b)(1). And if there is a little (i) -- if there is an additional subpart, I will specify.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q All right. And so, my question is, would you agree that this, starting at right above W275, where it says, "These policies and procedures must be."

A Uh-huh.

Q Withdraw that. Let me back up.

You are on the right page, 274. Ms. Elliott, read for me that regulation there where it says

Section 483.450(b)(1).

MR. ROSEN: I'm going to object. I mean, we have been going for quite a while. This is not even a regulation that was directly implemented. But to the extent that you want to ask her about it, just ask her a question instead of having her read it. I mean, it's not a test of her reading ability.

MR. GILLISPIE: Nevertheless --

MR. ROSEN: Just ask her a question.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Nevertheless, Ms. Elliott --

MR. ROSEN: It's getting to be abusive to this witness to ask her to read things into the record when it's all in front of us and in the documents, and just ask her a question about it. We know what W274 is. Just ask her a question, counsel.

MR. GILLISPIE: I'm happy to try to do that. I just want to --

MR. ROSEN: Just ask her the question.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. Elliott, would you agree that it is a -- that the facility is required to develop and implement written policies and procedures that govern the management of inappropriate client behavior?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And then, under Guidance there, would you agree with me that says that, "At a minimum, the facility must have written policies and procedures regarding the management of maladaptive behaviors addressing the following"? And then it says, "The use of a functional behavior assessment in the development of behavior management programs; a hierarchy of least to most intrusive measures; and incorporation of behavior management programs into the IPP"?

A Yes.

Q All right.

MR. ROSEN: Is there a question other than now you are asking her whether you are reading it accurately? I mean, just ask her a question about it if we are going to explore this issue. We can read.

MR. GILLISPIE: Respectfully, I'm not doing this for my health. I have a purpose here.

MR. ROSEN: Right.

MR. GILLISPIE: So, if you will just allow me to --

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q So, you don't have to read it. To make it easier for you, I'm doing this, because I certainly don't want to appear abusive, or read to you, or make you do things that are unnecessary. But we are going to go through these.

MR. ROSEN: Well, you can go through it all you want. Why don't we just introduce them into evidence so nobody has to read it, you can just ask her the question?

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. Elliott, would you agree with me, based on your knowledge and reading of 274, 275, and 276, that a facility's policies and procedures must be consistent with the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section?

A (Witness reviews document.)

Q I will withdraw that. Essentially, Ms. Elliott, what I'm asking is, would you agree with me that the procedures of a facility must specify all facility-approved interventions to manage inappropriate client behavior, as stated under the 276 tag?

MR. ROSEN: 276?

THE WITNESS: Yes.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Yes, you would agree with me, Ms. Elliott?
A Will you repeat that question?
Q Yes. Would you agree with me that a facility's policies and procedures must specify all facility-approved interventions to manage inappropriate client behavior?
A Yes, that's what it says.
Q Okay. I know it's what it says. But that's also your understanding of how it's supposed to work?
MR. ROSEN: I think the question -- I object. She just said, "That's what it says." You asked her, "Is that what it says," she said what it says, now you are asking her what it says. I'm not following, counsel. Whatever it says, and you have asked her a couple of times what it says, and then you asked her -- to ask her again what it says. Let's ask her a question about it.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q All right. Ms. Elliott, I'm still on tag number 276.
A Okay.

Q Under Guidance.
A Yes.
Q Do you see where it says Guidance Section 483.450(b)(1)(i)?
A Yes.
Q All interventions -- I'm going to read this. "All interventions for the management of inappropriate client behaviors which are approved for use in the facility are clearly stated and described in its policy." Did I read that correctly?
A Yes.

MR. ROSEN: I'm going to object to the reading test here. Counsel, just ask her a question. If you want to introduce this into evidence -- this is getting abusive of the witness. Just introduce this document and then we don't have to read it.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q And, Ms. Elliott, would you agree that -- would you agree that all -- in your -- you said you have been doing this job for 12 years?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And you have conducted hundreds of these surveys using this Appendix J; right?
A Yes.

Q And would you agree that all interventions for the management of inappropriate client behaviors which are approved for use in a -- which are approved for use in a facility have to be stated and described in its policy?

MR. ROSEN: I'm going to say, that's what it says in the Guidance for that section.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Then, it should be easy for you to answer, Ms. Elliott.

A Yes.

Q Moving to 277 on the same page.

MR. ROSEN: I'm going to object again on the relevance of all these. I mean, there is no question to this witness as to whether the facility violated this and there's no -- the facility didn't violate these. So, I don't know why you are asking her about it. I mean, it's not relevant and we are just spending hours on this.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Would you agree that -- take a second to look at 277 for me. And look at the Guidance, as well, and let me know when you are done.

A (Witness reviews document.) Okay.
Q Would you agree that this Appendix J regulation requires that a facility's policies and procedures define the entire hierarchy of possible interventions that can be used with a client?
A Yes.
Q Would you also agree that this Appendix J -- this Appendix J regulation --
MR. ROSEN: Which regulation is counsel referring to?
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Requires --
MR. GILLISPIE: We are at tag 277.
MR. ROSEN: 277. Okay.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Ms. Elliott, would you agree that this same regulation requires that a facility specifically identify the specific techniques that can be used for behavioral intervention in a client's IPP?
MR. ROSEN: I'm going to object. Are you reading from something? I don't see that in here. And so, I want to know what are you asking her? This is a regulation that is not in the --
BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. Elliott, please answer the question.

MR. ROSEN: No. Hold on. Hold on, counsel. Because we've been here, you've been going for hours and hours, and you are asking her to read stuff, and you are reading stuff into this. Show her where it says that. Why don't we just go ahead and introduce this document into evidence, because then it says whatever it says?

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Would you like me to rephrase the question, Ms. Elliott?

MR. ROSEN: Yes. Yes.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. Elliott, would you like me to rephrase the question?

A Yes.

Q Let's look at the last sentence of this paragraph, the second from the top -- the last big paragraph there where it says, "Individual plans should specify the specific techniques that have been determined through assessment to be least restrictive for each client." Do you see that?

A I do.

Q Did I read that correctly?

A Yes.
Q Okay. Do you -- in your capacity as a surveyor who uses these regulations, do you take that to mean, or would you agree with me that that means that a client's individual plan should specify the specific techniques for behavioral intervention that should be used on that client?
A According to this, it says that, "The specific techniques that have been determined through assessment to be least restrictive for each client." So, it isn't -- and I think I understand your question, I'm not real sure. But it isn't that it needs to list every single one, but it needs to list what they need to do before they go on to possibly a restraint or something like that.
Q Okay. And there is further guidance on this one stating that, "The facility policy for unexpected behavioral incidents must provide direction for the staff in the utilization of the hierarchy. For clients not on a behavior plan, staff must apply the appropriate level of intervention per the established hierarchy, including emergency measures to prevent harm to self or others"; is that correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And you would not agree with me that the types of restraints that can be used on a client must be identified in the client's IPP?

MR. ROSEN: I'm going to object. You've already asked her that. That's why you are asking it again. Her testimony is whatever her testimony was a few minutes ago. Now you are asking if you wouldn't agree with me. I don't know what your statement is, you know. But she has already answered that question, counsel. So, I object, asked and answered.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q My question, Ms. Elliott, is do the potential physical restraints that can be used on a client have to be contained within the client's IPP -- described within the client's IPP?

A No.

Q They do not?

A They do not have to be described in the IPP. The instruction in the training that the staff get explain the physical restraints to the staff and how to utilize them. Most of them -- most of the IPPs are going to state if behavior starts, you, you know, don't say "no", to like back away, or to like try to talk to them, or try to get them to go over here and do something that they like to do.

Q But it's your testimony --
A They are not going to specifically say, "You restrain them this way."
Q Okay. So, it's your testimony, as you sit here today, that the type of physical -- the types of physical restraint are not required to be contained in a client's IPP?
A They are not going to -- it depends. It's not a "yes" or "no" question. I mean, there are some -- are you asking me to --
Q Let me tell you exactly what I'm asking you.
A Okay.
MR. ROSEN: Yes, please.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q I'm asking you, are the types of physical -- are the types of restraints that can be used on a particular client -- are the types -- withdraw that.
Are the types of restraints that could potentially be used on a particular client required to be described in the client's IPP?
A I still have to say "no" --
Q Okay. Let's take a look --
A -- because --
MR. ROSEN: Well, look. We are here on a specific matter within this surveyor's knowledge, and you are going through --

MR. GILLISPIE: Are you saying she doesn't have knowledge of everything in Appendix J?

MR. ROSEN: No. The document speaks for itself. You are asking her and you are twisting a little bit of the language here and there and asking her to comment on this. Why don't you just introduce the document? You can argue it for whatever it means. We don't need this witness -- this witness is here to testify as to what she did in this investigation, and she has. And now you are asking her about some other issues that who knows what, and you are only -- and you are selectively pulling out certain things. So, why don't we just introduce this document and you can argue it?

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q We are going to move to tag 295.

MR. ROSEN: Is that one of the ones that she cleared the facility on, 295, or is that something different, counsel? That's a question to you. No, it's not. Well, I strike that. I will withdraw that. Go ahead.

THE WITNESS: (Reviews document.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Let me know when you get there.

A Okay. I'm there.

Q So, we have now -- this is 483.450, section (d), which applies to physical restraints; correct?

A Yes.

Q Okay. I want to move down to, on the next page, Guidance. Let me know when you are there. Do you see where it says Guidance 483.450(d)(1)?

A Yes.

Q Roman Numeral I?

A Yes.

Q Now, take a moment and look at that. But does this not say that the use of physical restraint must be specified within the IPP, and specifically that the plan must address the type of physical restraint, seen there at number four?

MR. ROSEN: Counsel, the document speaks for itself. And you are selectively going through certain parts to make a point that is unknown to all of us. But I don't know what the relevance of your question to the surveyor is and what she did in the survey. She made certain findings. Okay? So, you may disagree with those findings, and you can ask her about her findings. But this is not -- you are just going through a several hundred page document word for word that was not part of her specific findings. So, why don't you ask her if it was included in her findings and then we can go through this? But I certainly object, because this is abusive of the witness and I'm going to make a point of it to the Claims Commission.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Go ahead, Ms. Elliott.

A It does say type of physical restraint. But you asked me, does it not have to describe the types, or how you -- I took it as how you do them, no. Because that -- and it will say -- the IPP will give you -- it gives you less restrictive measures, such as talking them -- trying to talk them down, trying to -- they might say, you can put in a physical hold. Now, if there is something in a physical hold that will trigger them worse, that may be included in the IPP. Like they are not -- you are not allowed to maybe take them to the floor. (Indicating.)

Q Okay.
A You are not allowed to -- bear hugging them is going to be worse than taking them to the floor. So, don't, you know, do that. (Indicating.) But every facility has very strict protocols that they use. And that is CPI, which is one type of restraint protocol, and all of them have to be instructed on that. Okay? So, the type of physical restraint -- a physical restraint is a physical restraint, it's not a --
Q You are not suggesting that staff could use any form of physical restraint that they want, are you?
A Absolutely not. Because there is a difference in what they have been instructed and have been taught and that's acceptable for them to use. I am not saying they can use any type, no. I don't know how else to say it.
Q Staff can't use methods that aren't approved by the facility, can they?
A No.
Q They can't use methods that aren't taught to them by the facility, can they?
A No.
Q Those would be violations of Appendix J, wouldn't they?

A Yes.

MR. GILLISPIE: Let's take five minutes.

(WHEREUPON, a break was taken.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Okay. Ms. Elliott, going back to what is or isn't required to be described in a facility's policies and procedures regarding physical restraint, is it your testimony that -- let me back up. Ultimately, there was a -- I think there was a little confusion about where you landed on whether or not physical restraint has to be -- the types of physical restraint to be used has to be specified within a client's IPP. Are you saying that it does not or it does, and if it does, how?

MR. ROSEN: Counsel, you are -- objection. You are misquoting what the Guidance says on W295. It says the use of physical restraint is specified within the IPP, and then it talks about the specific type of behavior. It doesn't say the specific type --

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. Elliott, on that same Guidance, and this is on 295, it says, "The plan must address," and then it lists six things. The fourth thing is, "The type of physical restraint." So, based on this, would you now agree with me that the plan must address the type of physical restraint that could be used?

A If it's not -- if it's -- yes. But there are emergency restraints that may come up, you know, something that -- if this client has never been physically aggressive or violent before, and a physical restraint may have to have been used. So, in that case, it's not going to be in the IPP. Okay? And it may be a one-time thing. But I'm not -- so, a physical restraint, usually the IPP will say, you know, to use it -- the physical restraint is the very last thing that they ever want to use. Okay? Or that we want to see used. We don't want to just see them have physical aggression and the first thing they do is grab them and throw them on the ground or whatever. What I'm saying is, there is no way to specify -- they can say the type of physical restraint, but that's usually -- you are not going to have -- there is not all kinds of physical restraints, you know. You are not going to grab them by the neck, you know. That is -- you know --

Q You are not saying that in an emergency situation staff can use any form of physical restraint that they want, are you?

A Absolutely not. But I am saying it has to go according to their training --
Q Right.
A -- and their instruction.
Q Right. And you are aware that at Booneville all physical restraint is done for emergency?
MR. ROSEN: Is that a fact or is that a statement -- an opinion of yours, counsel?
MR. GILLISPIE: That's what Mr. Gonyea testified to, the only physical restraint at Booneville is done for emergency purposes.
MR. ROSEN: So, this is a --
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Is that your understanding, as well?
MR. ROSEN: Stop, stop, stop. Hold on. Let me make my objection. Because we have gone far afield from a surveyor determination and investigation as to compliance. Now, you are getting into the minutia of detail that would not be relevant for this witness. And it seems to be an abuse of time and the witness for you to keep asking her about these things, unless she knows about them specifically and it is applicable to this case. Because you are talking about some speculative -- we don't know that there wasn't, we don't know about this.

MR. GILLISPIE: I'm talking about the specific state regulations.

MR. ROSEN: I am asking you to be relevant to what this witness has knowledge of and knows. And tell me, if you have facts, then -- strike that part of it. But there are -- you are making insinuations here that have no reference to facts. And we are going to be here all day. And this is going to be over in a little bit, because we have not had lunch yet and it is now 3:05 and we have been going on for over three hours for your cross examination.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q I want to move back to tag 280, Ms. Elliott. And I don't have too much longer. If you will take a look at that and I will ask you a couple of questions.

A (Witness reviews document.)

Q Let me know when you are done.

A Okay.

Q Would you agree with me that based on this, a facility's policies and procedures must address the types of physical restraint that are allowed in the facility?
A Yes.
Q Okay. For example, if a facility allowed clients to be physically restrained in a seated position, you would agree that would need to be addressed in that facility's policies and procedures?
A No. Because -- and the reason that I'm saying that is because CPI encompasses certain kinds of restraint, holds that are taught.
Q Okay.
A There is other forms of teaching of these forms of restraint that are not CPI, by other names, and those are different. Okay? So, as far as types of restraint that can apply, that would be, to me, can they apply a physical restraint, can they apply a mechanical restraint. Okay? Not specifically you are going to just -- because if you try -- if that was all in the policy, if all the teaching of a CPI was in the policy, which is two-person standing, two-person sitting, two or three persons -- you know, I mean -- so, the type of restraint, to me, means either like you can do a physical restraint or you can do a mechanical restraint. Mechanical is totally different than a physical restraint. So, it can say absolutely you are not -- you will never apply a mechanical restraint, you will never use seclusion, you will never -- you know. So, when you are speaking types, you are trying to get into just specifically standing, sitting, two-person, one-person, on the sides, you know. They would not be -- when you look at this and when you go to like the IPPs or something, in each instance it's going to be different, depending on the client's behavior, what is happening, you know. So, you can --

Q But the staff still can only do --

MR. ROSEN: Let her finish, counsel. Hold on. Let her finish.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q They still can only use the methods that they are taught?

A Only the methods that they are taught, yes.

Q But you don't believe that the methods that are taught have to be stated in the policies and procedures?

A Not individually. Okay? Not like two-person standing, two-person sitting, one-person hold, two-person hold. You know, I mean -- no. "According to CPI instructions" would be on there, or whatever their program is that they use, because there are different types of programs. But, no, I would not say that they have to just specifically say, "You can only use these," because that would set them up for failure, because all behaviors are different, all restraints are different. They are according to the type they are taught. Okay?

Q Okay.

A But you can't say that you are only going to use two-person -- you know. Okay. Take them down to the floor and hold them, you can't say that. Because if you -- because there may be an easier way of doing that, and that is maybe because they hug them like this for a minute and they calm down. (Indicating.) They only take them to the floor if that's the least restrictive and they will calm down that way. So, when you get into specifics, that's a whole different thing. So, according to the type -- like the CPI, you can -- you know, according to their policy, you know, according to CPI techniques and instructions or something like that, it would be okay, too --

Q Okay.

A -- because we know -- because you can get those instructions and you can look at them. I've gotten an instruction book before. So, that -- but if that's what they are taught, that's what they have to do, okay, within those boundaries or that teaching instruction.

Q So, if CPI is what they are taught to do, that at least broadly should be stated in the policies and procedures?

A Yeah.

Q Okay. But you didn't specifically use this tag 280 in your survey of the David Cains matter; correct?

A I looked at it. I'm sure I looked at their policy and their procedure on the physical restraints.

Q Okay.

A If I'm doing an investigation on a restraint, I'm going to look at their policy and procedure.

Q And where did you -- did you see anywhere in their policies and procedures that it described the type of ground restraint that was used on David?

MR. ROSEN: I'm going to object. What do you mean by "ground restraint"? I don't know what that means.

MR. GILLISPIE: The restraint whereby the three staff members restrained him while he was on the ground on his left side.

MR. ROSEN: You mean, when he fell to the ground? What do you mean?

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Did you see that anywhere?

MR. ROSEN: Is counsel not going to respond to that and clarify?

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Go ahead, Ms. Elliott.

MR. ROSEN: I guess not. Okay. To the best of your knowledge, go ahead.

THE WITNESS: Honestly, to tell you that I remember seeing that in there, I cannot tell you that. It has been two and a half years ago.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Okay.

A So, I don't know. It could have been in there. It may not have been.

Q And you never spoke to Mark Hise, the staff development coordinator that does the NCI training, did you?

A The CPI training?

Q He does the restraint training for the facility, including the -- yes, the CPI training.

A Did I talk to him? No, I don't recall talking to him.
Q Okay.
A I would have spoken with him had I found -- saw something in the documentation of the restraint that I thought was not what they were taught.
Q Had you -- hypothetically, had you learned that the restraint that was used on David, the restraint on the ground was not taught and not authorized by the facility, would that have changed the outcome, or could that have changed the outcome of your survey?
MR. ROSEN: I'm going to object to the hypothetical, because she did certain things. But go ahead.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Again, I'm asking if you had learned -- if you had learned in your investigation, or been --
A Uh-huh.
Q If you had learned in your investigation that the restraint that the three staff members used on David on the ground was not taught and was not CPI and was not authorized by the facility, could that have changed your --
MR. ROSEN: Objection.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Could that have changed the outcome of your survey?
A (No response.)
Q In other words, if you learned this was an unauthorized restraint?
MR. ROSEN: Is this a fact or is this a hypothetical that counsel is referring to? Because I need to know whether it's a hypothetical or not. Counsel, is it a hypothetical question?
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q If you can answer that question, Ms. Elliott.
MR. ROSEN: Is it a hypothetical question or is it a fact question? Please identify.
MR. GILLISPIE: (No response.)
MR. ROSEN: Are you going to ignore me, counsel?
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Go ahead, Ms. Elliott.
MR. ROSEN: I'm going to tell the witness not to answer until counsel clarifies, is he stating a hypothetical or is he stating a fact.
MR. GILLISPIE: We can call it a hypothetical for now.

MR. ROSEN: Okay.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Hypothetically, if you had learned in your investigation that this was an unauthorized restraint that was used on David on the ground, could that have changed the outcome of your survey?

A It's possible that it could have as far as the use of an unauthorized restraint, yes. As far as the facility being responsible for his death, probably not. Because he had [redacted] I do not know. According to the documentation that I looked at, food could have even gotten into the airway, you know.

Q Okay. Thank you. Now, we are going to look at 278. Take a look at 278, and let me know when you are done.

A (Witness reviews document.)

MR. ROSEN: Is there a question?

MR. GILLISPIE: She is going to let me know when she is done taking a look at 278.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q All right. This has to do with the least restrictive techniques. I assume you are fully aware that only the least restrictive form of physical restraint that is available can be used in any situation?

A Uh-huh. (Indicated yes.)

Q Least restrictive available?

A You would like, yes. Yes.

Q Least restrictive option that is available?

A That is appropriate for the situation, yes.

Q All right. And under Guidance, the last paragraph for this particular tag, tag 278, which is -- the regulation is Section 483.450(b)(1)(iii). That last sentence there, "In emergency situations where an unanticipated behavior requires immediate protection of the client or others, the technique chosen is the least restrictive appropriate technique possible." Did I read that correctly?

A Yes.

Q And you would agree with me that in a situation that a staff member determines is an emergency situation, that staff member can only use the least restrictive appropriate technique possible?

A Can only use it, no.
MR. ROSEN: Hold on. Let me get my objection out.
THE WITNESS: I'm sorry.
MR. ROSEN: That's not what this says that you just read. You asked if you read it correctly, and now you have twisted it. So, transparency is important.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Well, Ms. Elliott, can a staff member use something that's not the least restrictive technique possible?
MR. ROSEN: Oh, go ahead.
THE WITNESS: Yeah, depending on -- it depends on the situation. I mean, it depends on the situation. Because it may not be possible to get them in the least restrictive hold at first. It may not -- it may be such a violent episode that the least restrictive is not going to prevent them from harming theirself or others. There is -- I mean, you are --
BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Least restrictive is a scale; right?

MR. ROSEN: Ask a question. Don't argue with the witness, please.

THE WITNESS: Is a scale?

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Every situation is different?

A Uh-huh. (Indicated yes.)

Q Is that fair to say?

A Yes.

Q And in every situation -- how do you define -- how do you define "least restrictive appropriate technique possible"?

A How do I define that? I would define that as the least restrictive restraint that can be used at that moment in time in that situation.

Q Right. So, my question is simply, in an emergency situation at Booneville -- any given emergency situation at Booneville, is a staff member -- is a staff member required to use the least restrictive technique that is possible for that situation?

MR. ROSEN: I'm going to object because you asked -- a few minutes ago you read something into the record with regard to W278 that said in an emergency situation that the technique chosen is the least restrictive appropriate technique possible. That's what you read into the record and asked the witness if she agreed with that. Now you are saying something different, you are asking her about something different. In an emergency situation, the technique chosen is the least restrictive, according to CMS. So, I object to the extent that your question is something other than you have already established in this record.

MR. GILLISPIE: When he is done, let me know.

MR. ROSEN: I'm done.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Did you understand my question?

A What was your question, again? I'm sorry.

Q That's okay.

A There has been a lot of questions thrown at me today. So, I'm sorry, I apologize. But if you can repeat the question, please.

Q Are staff required to use the -- let me withdraw that. Well, that sentence that I read there, "In emergency situations where an unanticipated behavior requires immediate protection of the client or others, the technique chosen is the least restrictive appropriate technique possible." What does that mean to you?

A That means according to whatever the behavior or the -- whatever the situation, the behavior, the -- you know -- did they use the least. There is not a hierarchy for that. I mean, it's like -- because if he has a knife, or something to that effect, or is just -- has already hurt, you know, a couple of clients and they have tried -- you know, "least restrictive" means appropriate for the situation that they are in. So, I can't say what would be a least restrictive in any situation, actually.

Q No, I'm not asking you to speculate on what would be --

A Okay.

Q -- what would be the least restrictive technique in any situation.

A Okay.

Q I'm just simply asking -- basically, at this point I'm asking if you agree with what this is saying?

A Yes.

MR. ROSEN: So, take a look --

THE WITNESS: I'm sorry. Yes.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q You do?
A Sure.
Q Okay.
A I mean, because it says that's appropriate, you know, chosen as the least restrictive appropriate technique possible.
Q Okay.
A So, yes --
Q Even in an emergency, it has to be the least restrictive appropriate technique possible?

MR. ROSEN: Counsel, that is not what you asked -- you read into the record and asked her to agree to it, and that's not what it says. So, I don't know why you keep going back to switching it a little bit. But why don't we read it again and ask -- because it speaks for itself. It is unethical for you to ask her about something different than what you read to her by switching the words. Just this has been established and it was established by you, that the technique chosen is, in fact, the least restrictive appropriate technique possible in an emergency situation where protection of client or others is necessary. So, I don't understand why we are spending time on this, counsel. You established that.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Well, Ms. Elliott, you are not testifying that in an emergency situation whatever technique the staff member chooses is the least restrictive because they chose that, are you?

MR. ROSEN: Objection. If we read what the guidance is, it answers your question. And we have gone through this millions of times. I know you don't like the answer, but that is what CMS has told us. So, that has been established, and it was established by you, counsel.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q So, the same question that hasn't been answered yet, Ms. Elliott. Are staff, in emergency situations, required to choose the least restrictive technique possible?

MR. ROSEN: Counsel, it says that the -- in emergency -- I'm going to read it now because this is part of my objection, because I want the Claims Commission to know what is going on here. It says, quote, "In emergency situations where an unanticipated behavior requires immediate protection of the client or others, the technique chosen is the least restrictive appropriate technique possible." They have designated that, CMS did. So, why are you asking her for something different when you have established this?

MR. GILLISPIE: What that is saying is that the technique must be the least restrictive.

MR. ROSEN: It doesn't say that.

MR. GILLISPIE: Well, that's what it means.

MR. ROSEN: Oh. It doesn't --

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q And I just want to make sure that you understand -- that you agree with that?

MR. ROSEN: Hold on, counsel. That's not what it says. It doesn't say that they have to choose. It says the technique chosen is the least restrictive. We can read. Ms. Elliott can read, I can read, and I know, counsel, you can read because you have read it into the record. So, I find it unethical and problematic that you are looking not at the clear language.

MR. GILLISPIE: Objection noted, objection noted. So, this is a separate question.

MR. ROSEN: Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: This is a separate question, regardless of whatever is stated here in 278.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q So, listen to this question and answer this question, please. Are staff required, in emergency situations, to choose the least restrictive technique possible?

MR. ROSEN: And your question is caveat to the extent it varies from the CMS guidance?

MR. GILLISPIE: Not at all. This is an independent question.

MR. ROSEN: I'm going to object.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

MR. ROSEN: And we -- this is really getting to be problematic, because you are asking for her to opine on something that you have established in the record in this deposition.

MR. GILLISPIE: I understand you don't want her to answer this question.

MR. ROSEN: No. You are twisting language. It says the technique -- this is CMS. This is not her, it's not me. And she actually has to enforce CMS. So, it tells her that, "In an emergency situation where an unanticipated behavior requires immediate protection of the client or others, the technique chosen" -- meaning the technique chosen by the person, the staff -- "is the least restrictive appropriate technique possible." That's what it says. So, to the extent that you are asking her to vary from that, or you are substituting words and giving new meaning to it, I object, because that is what it says, you can put it in the record, you have established that.

MR. GILLISPIE: I think your objection is noted and in the record.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. Elliott, please answer.

MR. ROSEN: What is the question so that the Claims Commission knows exactly how to address this issue?

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Are staff required to choose the least restrictive technique available or possible in responding to emergency behavioral situations with clients?

MR. ROSEN: Same objection. But go ahead.

THE WITNESS: Because every situation is different, if you are asking me if they have to use the very least restrictive technique that is available to them, no, because the very least restrictive technique may not be appropriate for that behavior or for that situation. So, it all depends on the situation and the behavior that's being exhibited by the client. So, I can't say they have to use the least available to them, no, because it may not be appropriate in that situation.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Do they have to use the least restrictive available to them that would be effective in that situation?

MR. ROSEN: Objection. Same objection. We know what the requirement is by CMS. But go ahead.

THE WITNESS: Yes.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q And do you check for that when you do your surveys that involve restraint use?

A I investigate -- yes, I investigate the restraint and make sure -- and see if it's appropriate for the behavior that is documented as exhibited. And of course, I am not there when the behavior is going on. So I don't know what was -- so, I can't say that the choice they made was not a right one unless it's just something really outrageous and pops out at me. I don't know if that makes sense to you. But if they went over and banged on the table and somebody took them to the ground, that would not be appropriate without, you know -- because (Indicating) is not a reason for restriction -- for a restraint. But if they are ripping things off the wall, they are attacking -- trying to attack other clients, they are trying to attack staff, they are hurting theirself, which they do, and pound their heads up against the wall or something, then the least restrictive is not going to work in that situation. I mean, every situation is different. So, I don't --

Q Well, every --

A I don't want to just say "yeah" -- I don't want to say, "Yeah, they have to use the least restrictive, start with that," because I cannot say that.

Q Well, every situation is going to have its own -- every situation is going to have its own least restrictive -- its own least restrictive option, meaning --

MR. ROSEN: Are you talking, counsel, in an emergency situation, or are you talking in a program situation? What are you talking about here, because we already know the answer to all these questions, we know it from about 20 minutes ago.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q I just want to make sure I understand what you are saying.

MR. ROSEN: Well, whether you understand it or not is a different matter. If you can read the manual, she has told it to you about three or four, five, six times now. And the fact that you are trying to switch words here is not appropriate questioning. You established what the standard is.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q What is least restrictive in one situation -- the least restrictive potentially effective option in one situation may be different than the least restrictive potentially effective option in another situation; right?

MR. ROSEN: Are you talking hypothetically, or with David Cains?

MR. GILLISPIE: I'm talking hypothetically.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Would you agree with that?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And the least restrictive -- and so, if I'm hearing you right, what you are saying is -- or how you interpret the regulation is that they would be required to use the least restrictive technique that could work for any given situation? Does that make sense?

A They have to use the least restrictive technique that would be appropriate for that behavior or situation that is happening at that time, yes.

Q Okay. Thank you. And hypothetically, if the adult maltreatment investigator who investigated this incident with David Cains for the facility were to admit to you that the restraint used by the staff was not the least restrictive method that could have been used there, could that have possibly changed the outcome of your survey?

A I --

MR. ROSEN: Hold on. Objection. Because we are going back now, it has been about 30 minutes, and it says that in an emergency situation, and your hypothetical was an emergency situation, counsel, because if it was, CMS tells us that the technique chosen is the least restrictive. So, it's not something that is -- whatever the -- in an emergency situation, whatever the staff does is the least restrictive.

MR. GILLISPIE: You are saying that anything they choose to do in response to an emergency is the least restrictive?

MR. ROSEN: That's what CMS says. It says, "In an emergency situation where an unanticipated behavior requires immediate protection of the client or others, the technique chosen is the least restrictive appropriate technique possible." That is not me, counsel.

MR. GILLISPIE: That is an interesting reading of that. But we'll move on.

MR. ROSEN: That is what it says. And we know that because a half an hour ago you established that by asking her if you read it correctly. And your interpretation of that, it's clear. So, let's move on and agree to disagree.

MR. GILLISPIE: I look forward to you making that argument.

MR. ROSEN: I'm not making an argument, counsel. That's what it says.

MR. GILLISPIE: Just a moment, Ms. Elliott, and we will wrap up here.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q I understand that you did not interview Sandy Evans, who was the adult maltreatment investigator for this matter; correct?

A Yes.

Q If you had and if Sandy Evans had admitted to you that the restraint used on David on this occasion was not the least restrictive option available, would that have made a difference in the outcome of your survey, or could it have made a difference in the outcome of your survey?

MR. ROSEN: Objection. Same objection. Look at W278 that you established in the record here, which is true in what it says. So, to the extent that you are asking her something that we know has already been determined by CMS, I object.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Go ahead, Ms. Elliott.

A I do my own investigation. So, if she -- even if she told me something like that, I would have to investigate and see what I found out, because I do my independent investigation. I do not go by what their facility has investigated.

Q Okay. Would that have been useful information to you?

A Not until after -- that might have been something -- if I had decided in my investigation that that was an inappropriate restraint and it was not the least restrictive or whatever, then what we would do is, then I would go to the CPI person, trainer, and I would ask -- I would ask him questions.

Q Okay.
A So, if he told me -- then at that point, if he looked at me and I would have said, "Was that the least restrictive that they could have used," and he looked at me and said, "No," that would have been in my investigation, that's part of my evidence. So, it would have been after I did my investigation if I would have asked her that. But she is just the investigator. I would go to the CPI person.
Q And if the CPI person told you that the restraint used was something he did not teach, something that was not part of CPI, and not the least restrictive option, that would have been a big deal to you?
A That would --
MR. ROSEN: I'm going to object because of W278 guidance.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q That would have been a big deal to you?
A I would have considered that strongly in my investigation, yes.
Q Thank you.
A But like I said, that would have been after I investigated.
MR. ROSEN: Stop. There is no question pending.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. If you will give me just a moment to make sure I don't have anything else.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. Elliott, what if one of the three staff members involved in the restraint on David Cains on this day also told you that the restraint used was not the least restrictive option available, would that have been important information to your survey?

MR. ROSEN: Objection. W278 Guidance tells us what the least restrictive is in an emergency situation.

THE WITNESS: I would have had to decide myself whether the least restrictive was used, because staff will say whatever about other staff if they don't like them. So, I use my evidence.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Okay.

A Okay. I ask them what happened, how they responded, and then I make my own decision.

Q Ms. Elliott, is it your testimony, as you sit here today, that in response to an emergency situation staff are allowed to use any technique that they want?

A Oh, no.
Q Is it your testimony, as you sit here today, that in an emergency situation anything that staff does in response is, by definition, the least restrictive possible?
A Anything they do in response would be the least restrictive? No.
Q Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: Thank you, Ms. Elliott. That's all I have for you.

THE WITNESS: Thank you.

MR. ROSEN: I only have one question. So, it will be real quick. And you can refer to it.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q But under W296, which counsel, I believe, asked you about earlier, are restraints allowed as an emergency measure to protect the client from harm or others from harm or injury?
A Yes.

MR. ROSEN: No other questions. Thank you very much.

MR. GILLISPIE: Thank you, Ms. Elliott.

THE WITNESS: Thank you.

MR. ROSEN: Thank you. I know you have a long drive.

Re: Review and Analysis of Documents and Expert Opinion Regarding Restraint use in the Matter of the Estate of David Cains v. Arkansas Department of Human Services (AR DHS) (Booneville Human Development Center)

Dear Attorney Gillispie:

At the request of your office, I was retained as an expert who has worked nationally and internationally with publicly-funded and private service settings such as psychiatric facilities, general hospitals, developmental centers, correctional facilities, residential programs, juvenile justice programs, and schools serving people with various disabilities and different ages in reducing and preventing the use of restraint and seclusion.

I was asked to review documents regarding the death of David Cains (DC) including but not limited to: the pleadings, the witness deposition transcripts, Booneville Human Development Center (BHDC) policies and procedures, portions of DC's medical record, DC's individual treatment plan (IPP), behavior reports, restraint data, ambulance and emergency room records, the Adult Maltreatment Report, DHS Incident Report, Disability Rights Arkansas Investigative Report, OLTC Witness Statements, etc. Based upon this document review, I have rendered my professional opinion regarding the use of restraint with DC at BHDC.

My opinions, based upon my expertise and the document review process, are:

1) The physical restraint used on DC proximal to his death fell below the standard of care established by recognized standard setting entities. In addition, the physical restraint used on DC fell below the standard of care established by BHDC.

2) The BHDC emergency response policy, whereby direct care staff were prohibited from calling 911, fell below the standard of care and created a dangerous situation for DC and other clients and resulted in a delay in emergency service response and intervention.

These opinions are provisional. If additional information or documents are produced by the Respondent and submitted for review, the opinions may be modified, the report may be amended, and a revised report may be issued if necessary.

My opinions will be addressed in the order above. Deposition transcript citations/Bates Stamp numbers (where identified or applicable), standard setting citations (e.g., United Nations, World Health Organization, Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, AR Developmental Disability Services (DDS), other state DDS services, and BHDC Policies & Procedures) and professional literature references will be provided to support the opinion as necessary. The reference section will follow the American Psychological Association, sixth edition, formatting requirements. The facility, Booneville Human Development Center, will be referred to as BHDC. The patient may be referred to as: patient, resident, person-served, DC, he, or his. For purposes of this review, DC's history will not be restated but relevant elements of his history may be identified and cited as indicated.

Opinion One: The physical restraint used on DC proximal to his death fell below the standard of care, including BHDC's standard of care.

Standard of Care

The standard of care required the Respondent to comply with federal CMS/ICF Regulations found at 42 C.F.R. § 483.00 et seq.; Arkansas DDS policies and procedures; and BHDC's own policies and procedures. These policies establish that: a) only the least restrictive approved form of physical restraint can be used, b) for only the least amount of time necessary, c) only to prevent imminent and serious harm in emergency situations, d) only as a last resort after nonviolent techniques have been exhausted, e) the form of physical restraint used must be an authorized method clearly stated in the client's IPP, f) the form of physical restraint must be clearly identified in the facility's policies, and g) the authorized form of physical restraint must be taught to staff. The Respondent failed to meet the standard of care in this case.

Specifically, the Respondent failed in the following ways:

- The physical restraint was not necessary or justified and violated DC's right to be free from abuse and restraint;
- The physical restraint was not implemented in response to a life-threatening emergency or behavior that presented a risk of serious injury/harm;
- The physical restraint was not the least restrictive option;
- The physical restraint did not follow a reasonable effort at nonviolent de-escalation;
- [redacted]
- The physical restraint method used by staff was not an approved, authorized or instructed technique recognized by BHDC or documented in DC's IPP.

Right to be Free from Abuse and Restraint

The Respondent's use of restraint in this case was a violation of patient/resident rights and a violation of the facility's obligation to uphold the patient's right to be free from abuse and restraint use. Physical restraint is defined by the federal government (Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services [CMS]) as: Any manual method, physical or mechanical device, material, or equipment that immobilizes or reduces the ability of a patient to move his or her arms, legs, body, or head freely 42 C.F.R. § 482.13 and C.F.R. § 483.420. Physical restraint is a potentially lethal procedure of last resort which is used in an emergency circumstance in the event of imminent danger when alternatives have been attempted and/or ruled out (42 C.F.R. § 483.450). Patients/residents in health care settings have a right to be free from restraint. To affirm this position and prevent the risk of serious harm associated with restraint use, standard setting organizations such as the United Nations(UN) (2006), World Health Organization (WHO) (2019), and the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS 483.12; CMS 483.420) mandate that patients/residents of facilities have the right to be free from abuse and neglect including but not limited to …any physical or chemical restraint … (emphasis added) imposed for purposes of discipline or convenience. When physical restraints are used, the facility is obligated to use the least restrictive alternative for the least amount of time and ensure that staff have and demonstrate needed competencies to effectively and appropriately interact with clients; monitor and take immediate action to address circumstances where possible abuse, neglect or mistreatment has occurred and prevent reoccurrence of abuse (CMS 483.12; Halverson et al., 2023; Huckshorn et al., 2021; AR DDS 3011-D; UN, 2006; & WHO, 2019).

Threshold for Restraint use was not Met

In health care settings, physical restraint is an emergency procedure of last resort and should only be used in the event of imminent danger to the patient/resident or others (Deposition testimony of BHDC Residential Services Director, S. Evans, 2022; Halverson et al., 2023; Huckshorn et al., 2021). BHDC staff documented and described DC's behavior as:

1. "yelling" (Jones, deposition testimony, p. 67); "screaming" (Jones OLTC Witness statement, labeled exhibit 4, p. 1)
2. "slightly agitated …became aggressive in common area" (IRIS report)
3. "irritated…screaming and cussing…ripped paper off the wall… jumped up … spitting and attempting to hit…" (Mattson, OLTC Witness statement, labeled exhibit 9, p. 1-2)

The behavior described above (# 1-3) is not lethal or life threatening, nor does it pose a risk of serious injury. The behavior described above does not require the use of force or a hands-on containment procedure. The antecedent actions described in the various documents do not meet the BHDC threshold of imminent danger requiring the implementation of physical restraint (BATES: 4348: Booneville policy, Policy I-D-4, Documentation and Response to Maladaptive Behaviors; Booneville Behavior Management policy) or accepted health care or restraint standards of practice (Halverson et al., 2023; Huckshorn et al., 2021; Huckshorn & LeBel, 2015; Ridley & Leitch, 2019).

In addition, it does not appear that DC initiated physical contact with staff or physically harmed anyone (emphasis added). Per Mattson's OLTC Witness Statement (labeled exhibit 9, p. 2), he (Mattson) initiated physical contact with DC ("I applied personal by grabbing his arms"). Mattson grabbed DC's arms. Mattson activated an autonomic, defensive physical response from DC referred to as the "Withdrawal Reflex" (Clarke & Harris, 2004). Mattson initiated the physical interaction with DC; he did so without first utilizing required supported stance and blocking techniques or any other form of nonviolent de-escalation required to be exhausted prior to physical restraint.

No Reasonable Effort at Least Restrictive Intervention and Non-violent De-escalation Intervention

The documentation provided does not identify any reasonable effort to de-escalate DC's distress. The most basic de-escalation strategies (time and physical space) were not apparent in the direct care staff OLTC witness statements (Campos & Jones). Mattson appears to be the only staff member with DC at the time the problem started. Mattson's written OLTC witness statement (p. 1-2) regarding the sequence of actions is disjointed. Mattson describes DC as: 'sitting, then screaming and cussing, then ripping paper off the wall to throw'. It is unclear how ripping paper off a wall occurs in a seated position. Mattson says DC then "jumped up … spitting and attempting to hit me." If DC was holding paper and attempting to throw it, one of DC's arms was likely elevated and rotated. It is not clear how quickly DC could rise to a standing position and attempt to hit Mattson. DC's physical actions were likely to have been slow, given his physical limitations. Mattson offers no detail about any verbal attempts he made to aid in calming DC, redirecting him, asking him to stop, offering DC any form of support, or utilizing the "supported stance" training.

Use of Restraint Violated BHDC Attending Physician's Order

The use of restraint violated BHDC's treatment plan (IPP) for DC. [redacted]

[redacted]

125; Campos, 66, 67) and medical risk associated with restraint use is covered "pretty intensely" in staff training (Hise, 40). Staff could have and should have taken DC's medical risks into consideration (Evans, 58) and used another approach to help DC manage his distress. Moreover, Dr. Hamid did not approve of the use of floor/ground restraint for DC (77) nor was any restraint method identified in the IPP (483.450(d)(1)(i); Evans, 29, 35). Given the medical risk of restraint use with DC, BHDC could have put DC on their Do Not Restrain List but did not.

Use of Restraint Violated Policy Standards

The use of restraint was not consistent with BHDC policies (BATES: 4342). According to the deposition testimony of S. Evans, Residential Services Director, restraint is to be used, "Only as an emergency measure but only if absolutely necessary to protect client or others from injury*" (p.30)*; per ICF/CMS regulation 483.450(d)(5) and Evans (2022, p.32), "restraints must be designed and used so as not to cause physical injury to the client" (emphasis added) and implementation of behavior management policy and practices is done when an individual's actions are aggressive, disruptive, and/or present a danger to the individual or others, are managed with the least restrictive method (emphasis added)." In this case, less restrictive interventions were not documented and the client (DC) was not protected. The client (DC) was fatally injured as a result of unwarranted restraint. No injury to staff was documented and no threat of serious injury was documented. Furthermore, the unwarranted restraint used was not described, addressed or documented in the facility's policies or in DC's IPP, as required by federal regulation (483.450(b)(1)(IV)); it was, in fact, unauthorized. This use of restraint was not justified per BHDC policy.

Use of Restraint Violated BHDC Staff Training and Practice Standards

DC died as a result of being physically restrained by staff on the floor/ground. According to the deposition of BHDC Staff Development Coordinator and Non-Violent Crisis Intervention Restraint Trainer (Hise, 2022):

- (p. 21, 18-20): "The only reason that they would use the transition to the ground is putting a resident in mechanical restraint."
- (p. 22, 8-9): "I do not teach staff to hold a resident on the ground."
- (p. 22,19-21): "The training that we teach in NCI is a standing personal hold and a seated personal hold. There is no on-the-ground personal hold."
- (p. 24, 20+): "... use verbal strategies to de-escalate and redirection also teach blocking, stepping back..."
- (p. 25): "In the supported stance, if a resident was coming at you, you would put your hands up and deflect and step away."
- (p. 28, 6) "No, sir; do not restrain by yourself, use a supported stance to prevent falling over, if restraint on the ground, then prepare for mechanical restraint."
- (p. 34*) So Booneville Human Development Center does not authorize the use or train staff in the use of restraining clients on the ground except when doing so for the specific purpose of transitioning to a mechanical restraint; correct? Hise's Answer: "Correct."*

BHDC Staff Development Coordinator and Restraint Trainer Mark Hise affirms that the fatal restraint used on DC was not authorized, that the facility did not adhere to relevant restraint-related policies, and BHDC direct care staff did not follow the training they were provided.

There are several steps the Respondent should have taken to prevent this situation including but not limited to:

1) Adhering to international, federal, state, and facility standards identified above,
2) Adhering to AR DDS policy 311-D,
3) Adhering to BDHC relevant policies,
4) Using only BHDC approved and taught restraint methods,
5) [redacted]
6) Not laying hands on and grabbing DC's arms,
7) Attempting non-violent de-escalation techniques, both before initiating the restraint and after DC was taken to the ground, when staff could have simply given DC space as opposed to forcefully holding him on the ground,
8) Per Hise (2022), following BHDC restraint training and NCI protocol and using supportive stance blocking and/or a pivoting technique, particularly if there was a location/position concern,
9) Adopting an organized approach to preventing the use of restraint such as the Six Core Strategies© or Ukeru which was developed with a DD population,
10) Allocating resources to train, retrain, and support/maintain staff competence in restraint prevention and establishing a culture of non-violence,

11) Teaching staff to not restrain any patient with a comorbidity that compromises digestion, respiration, cardiac functioning, etc.,

12) Obtaining external consultation to more effectively respond to DC's distress without hands-on procedures, e.g., considered safety circles, Ukeru approach (blocking pads and ensuring soft items in the environment), etc.,

13) Ensuring patients with [redacted] are put on the Do Not Restrain List,

14) Ensuring physician's orders are known and followed by staff,

15) [redacted]

16) Emphasizing restraint prevention and implementing effective alternatives to restraint use such as sensory-based approaches and other methods for staff to support clients in distress without hands-on procedures,

17) Ensuring greater medical oversight of the use of restraint including nursing presence for initiating, monitoring, and determination of earliest possible release,

18) Explicitly prohibiting ground restraint unless medically contraindicated,

19) Developing an organizational action plan of restraint prevention/reduction with a committee representing leadership, staff and families/persons-served.

In short, the Respondent should know the standard of care is rising. In an era of evidenced-based practice, accountability to the persons-served and others is owed. Exemplar programs and organizations serving a similar population have done significant work in creating low/no restraint services for people with developmental disabilities. This information should have compelled the organization to action to change their use of restraint with persons-served creating a safer environment of care for staff and patients alike.

Opinion Two: The respondent facility's emergency response policy fell below the standard of care.

Standard of Care

The Respondent facility's policy, which prevented non-medical staff from calling 911, created an unnecessary obstacle to emergency response and life-saving intervention. The artificial layer of on-site communication created a dangerous circumstance for DC and all residents and likely contributed to DC's death. This approach to emergency intervention no longer occurs in other DDS state systems, such as Massachusetts, New Jersey, and Washington. Massachusetts DDS policies have required staff working in DDS settings to report events that they have reason to believe are harmful, including calling 911, since 1999 (#1999-4). New Jersey DDS enacted Danielle's Law in 2003 requiring staff working in services for people with intellectual/developmental or traumatic brain injury to call 911 when there is a life-threatening emergency to prevent delayed medical response Division of Developmental Disabilities | Danielle's Law (nj.gov). Washington state encourages staff and caretakers serving people with developmental disabilities to dial 911 and reach out online in the event of emergency circumstances (Report Concerns Involving Vulnerable Adults | DSHS (wa.gov)).

Recognizing the importance of unimpeded 911 access, broad federal legislation (Kari's Law) enacted in 2020 establishes that employers have a duty of care and a legal responsibility to help protect anyone using their phone system. When an emergency call takes place from within an organizations' network and the caller cannot connect to 9-1-1, or if dispatchers cannot pinpoint the caller's location, the employer can be liable in the event of an unfavorable outcome due to a delayed response. New legislation has also introduced penalties for any business or organization that does not comply.

The opinions contained in this report are based on my professional opinion and are within a reasonable degree of certainty within my field of practice. In the previous 20 years I have not testified as an expert at trial or by deposition. I hope these opinions are useful to you. If a more detailed analysis is desired, I would be happy to continue to review the documents provided or other materials made available to you. In the meantime, thank you for the opportunity to provide this expert opinion regarding the use of restraint with DC.

restraint, seclusion, prevention initiative for the past 20-plus years, and also lead an interagency effort that was endorsed by the Executive Office of Health and Human Services for seven state agencies in the Commonwealth who use restraint and seclusion to lead an initiative to reduce the use of restraint seclusion across our different treatment settings.

Q All right. Thank you, Dr. LeBel.

And if you could, if you don't mind talking a little bit about your background and how you got -- how you came to have this specialization and -- or a career in restraint reduction.

A My career and focus on restraint reduction started early on in my professional life.

As a student, I worked in inpatient settings and witnessed my first restraint and was asked to participate in it and thought it was just patently wrong. It was horrifying to watch. It was horrifying to participate in and there was no need for it.

I took that response and reaction to this untoward event with me in my professional career as I move from inpatient settings where restraint was used sparingly on occasion into my role at the Department of Mental Health where I have a statewide purview.

And, in that role, every person who uses restraint in a facility that is contracted or licensed by the Department of Mental Health must report on every episode of restraint that's used on every person every month.

And, more than 20 years ago, as I assumed, my more administrative role was receiving box loads of restraints on a monthly basis and started to read the restraint forms.

And the patient comment forms became abundantly clear to my colleague in the licensing division and I, that restraint was being used as a primary intervention. It was not being used as an emergency response in the event of imminent harm.

And we started to launch a period of investigation, and this was a 1999, looking for low, no restraint programs, looking for better and best practices, looking to study, learn, visit, and bring back what we could to be able to use our role in the Commonwealth, the Department of Mental Health has the statutory authority as a State Mental Health Authority to set the clinical standards.

And so our decision was to bring back the best practice that we could find. And we launched with our commissioners support, who then became the Secretary of Health and Human Services, an initiative that has continued to this day to really transform care.

So, whether it's inpatient care, residential care, if you're laying hands on in a health and human service setting, we are going to help people to develop the skill set.

So it was really that early experience participating in restraint and then seeing how much it was being used in our state, and then looking for better practice that led to appreciating what we could do differently.

It also led to being -- my being tapped by the federal government in a SAMSA supported effort to look for best practice and be able to come up with teaching and training.

Because there was a national expose by the Hartford Current in 1998 that led to congressional response and national uproar.

It was a series of six articles that really got Congress's attention and lead to funding to SAMSA, which found its way to NASMHPD, the National Association of State Mental Health Program Directors, to come up with solutions for the country; because state mental health authorities across the country were asking for support and learning how to do things differently.

So my colleagues and I, who had already been doing this work, were asked by the federal government to come and participate in a series of experts meetings, which we did, with about a dozen other people, including persons served, who had experienced restraint and seclusion in systems of care or in individual treatment settings.

And what we found by really looking at what we had each done separately was a set of six core common strategies that had been used to reduce, prevent, and sustain reduced use of restraints seclusion over time.

So we developed a training curriculum based on these six core strategies to prevent conflict and violence in treatment settings. We got national funding to roll it out and done many, many trainings, have gone to all 50 states.

This training has then gone to other countries as well, and had been picked up and adopted by Australia, New South Wales. It is their template for inpatient care. It has been used in Canada, in multiple facilities in Finland and Germany and Turkey and England and Ireland, Australia and New Zealand.

So the framework was studied by the federal government and determined to be an evidence-based practice, and was included in the National Registry of evidence based programs and practices in 2012; which means it was studied in more than 42 settings in which restraint was used.

The curriculum was applied and researched and reductions were seen.

And the litmus test for inclusion recognized that significant reductions, episodes and duration of restraint, were in fact bona fide using this curriculum. So it was incorporated as an evidence based practice. And, since that, we've continued to teach and train and publish and report out.

I should also say that my expertise, and I'm humbled by this, led to being asked by Congress to come in and do a congressional briefing on the use of restraint and seclusion and prevention efforts that could be gained.

It also led to my being asked by SAMSA to write a white paper on restraint, seclusion, prevention, and the benefits associated with restraint seclusion reduction efforts, which I did and was published.

I was then asked to write several issue briefs on best practices associated with restraint and seclusion reduction. I've been asked to present many times across the country and internationally.

I have been a keynote speaker at several conferences, including two of CPI's international conferences in 2016 and then in 2019, in Bristol and Birmingham in the UK. I've about also have been a keynote speaker for the Wyoming Developmental Disability Services back in 2006.

I have been asked to study, as part of my white paper work, a facility in Virginia run by Grafton Integrated Health Network, in which they had substantial reductions. They reported out on their cost benefit analysis. And I studied their work and published on it and included their findings in my white paper analysis and also the issue brief.

This led to my being asked to do teaching and training with Kim Sanders who went on to develop the Ukeru curriculum, which is broadly based on the six core strategies. And Ukeru was specifically designed with a developmental disability population in mind.

Their organization, Grafton Integrated Health Network, operates just about all levels of services where people with developmental disability services across all ages, they operate in multiple states and also had services in Australia as well.

I have done teaching and training with Kim Sanders, the developer of Ekeru. We have consulted and trained at developmental disability centers in California together and also with the State of Maryland who picked up the core strategy framework in adopting this in their developmental disability services.

So I've been afforded one -- many wonderful opportunities to learn about best practice from people who have done this work and continue to do this work.

I have also done significant research. I'm the only author that I know of that has done a time-cost analysis on the mechanics of restraint use and the benefit of restraint reduction. I have authored several chapters in textbooks. I'm the editor of a book on transforming residential interventions.

I have published many journal articles. I am on the professional review board of more than a dozen journals. I've been asked to be an expert witness in 12 cases so far and two with the Federal Department of Justice.

So I will pause here.

Q Well, thank you. Thank you.

Couple follow-ups. Is it fair to say, that in your 39 years of experience with the Department of Mental Health of Massachusetts, that restraint reduction has been your key focus of both research and application?

A It has been a key focus. I incorporate that knowledge into the work that I do overseeing facilities and take that knowledge into advancing the practice standards for the facilities I oversee.

So it's not just the knowledge of restraint and seclusion reduction and prevention and affording the training to the staff, but it's also pushing our practice standards within the services that we contract for and oversee.

Q Could you talk a little bit, if you would, about how the -- how your research and how the six core strategies and how what you've done in Massachusetts is applicable to the developmental disability population?
A Certainly. The work that we started in Massachusetts that informed the development of the six core strategies is really not population bound or dependent; which is why our Secretary of Health and Human Services asked us to go beyond mental health and include juvenile justice, developmental disabilities, Department of Public Health, early elementary care, which is the licensing agency, child welfare, and also the public elementary and secondary education, the schools.

So any place that used restraint and seclusion was asked and tapped to be part of this initiative. Because the six core strategy framework is not population bound. It is intended to be an organizational framework for leaders.

Ultimately, the use of restraint and seclusion falls on leadership. And it is their responsibility to create the conditions and support staff to give them the skills to set policy teaching, training standards, and including the voice of those that we serve in prevention efforts.

So it is an organizational framework that has been applied to prison settings and nursing homes. It's been used in preschool, day schools.

It's been applied in juvenile justice settings. It's been applied in nursing home settings.

Again, this is an approach for leaders, managers to take to understand how to address a problem of conflict violence and how to learn how to move upstream and prevent it from occurring in the first place. So that's why it -- it doesn't require that this be exclusively residing within a mental pop -- health population.

Q And in your experience and in your studies, why is it important to reduce restraints? What's harmful about it that would necessitate reducing the use of restraints?

A Restraint and seclusion use is a devastating impact. It has untold consequences when used with persons served.

These moments are akin to hand-to-hand combat. These are acts of violence that have, according to Charlie Curie who is the head of SAMSA, the national leader and spokesperson, these are disgraceful practices that have no place in the human service setting that serves people with disabilities, with mental illness, who are seeking care from us.

These are aggressive, violent acts, that are extraordinarily harmful. They're harmful to the person served, they're harmful to staff.

And then there is secondary trauma to those who hear, witness, observe. Wherever that restraint is happening, you get vicarious trauma as well to those who are aware that it's going on. It conflicts with treatment and recovery settings because this is not treatment.

It has no place, as Charlie said, in a treatment service that's focused on helping people to be able to recover and improve their circumstance.

It is extraordinarily harmful to the body, physically. It has a traumatic effect on the homeostasis of the body. For people who are experiencing restraint, there is traumatic, emotional effect that lasts for years.

If you wouldn't mind by giving you an example of this.

Q Sure.

A I had the opportunity to present in Texas, for the Hogg Foundation, for a statewide conference with people representing a range of different types of treatment settings.

And I participated in a panel presentation with a gentleman who identified himself as having been in an inpatient setting almost 20 years earlier. He said his name was Rick Hansen. And, since he was in a treatment setting where he'd experienced physical restraint, he had left that treatment experience, gone on, graduated from college, obtained a job, gotten married, had two children. He said, I even have a home, I have a mortgage; by all accounts in life, I am a successful human being. But I still remember that episode of being restrained like it was yesterday. It stings so bad. So I take that, that testimony, very much to heart.

I studied children in our own inpatient treatment setting at Cambridge Health Alliances Pediatric Inpatient Service that serves children aged six to 12. This was our first inpatient setting in Massachusetts that stopped using restraint and seclusion.

And they interviewed the children after a restraint had occurred. And this was interviewing them, probably three to four weeks later after the event. The vast majority of their hands-on procedure is almost 70 percent were less than one minute.

When they asked the children about their experience of that less than one minute hands-on intervention, their memory that came back was one that they felt wounded, harmed, scared, frightened. Their sense of time was grossly distorted.

All of them thought it lasted anywhere from ten minutes to over an hour. That memory lingers. Just because it is over for the staff, administrators who process paperwork, and think it's resolved through discussion, it is not. It lives on in the body, in the mind, in the memory of those that we serve.

I take that very much to heart as part of my ethical responsibility, as a Board Certified psychologist, and as a steward of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the resources that we deploy for serving the Commonwealth citizens to give the very best that we can.

You can't walk away from that knowledge and just, well, hope it really wasn't a bad situation, hope they get over it. They don't.

Q Are there physiological things that happen during a restraint that make it such a profound experience for those on the other side of it or on the receiving side of it?

A Yes. For people who experience restraint, there is, as I said, it's akin to hand-to-hand combat.

This is a physical, violent interchange between human beings. So what you see is a rise in the heart rate. You see respiratory compromise, you see a heightened -- you see an increase in blood pressure. You can see people who can lose control of themselves.

You can see vomiting, you can see defecation. You can see any number of physical traumatic impacts on the body. And this is well taught in CPI and NCI's curriculum about the physiologic response.

There is also something that happens when people are repeatedly exposed to this kind of circumstance called catecholamine rush or a cortisol flood. And catecholamines and cortisol, they're called a stress hormone.

And after minutes of, really, agitation and extreme physical exertion, you see a flood of the stress hormone, which then exacerbates the cardiac function. You see cardiac instability. You see respiratory compromise. You can see air hunger. And you can see a collapse of the body.

What you see also over time, with people who've been repeatedly exposed to this kind of traumatic stress, is an allostatic load. It is an over -- it is an abuse of the physiologic system where people's physiology really starts to become seriously compromised because of this traumatic load on the body, particularly if it's repeated over time.

So there is absolutely a physiologic response. People get injured, you see broken bones, broken teeth. You see contusions, you see abrasions, cuts, and you can also see -- see people rendered comatose. And sadly, as in David's circumstance, he died. He died.

Q And so a person can become habituated, so to speak, to being restrained?
A I don't think people become habituated to being restrained. I think every restraint is like the first time.
Q Okay.
A I don't think people get comfortable being restrained.

I think there is an emergent, physiologic response that happens each time somebody is restrained. And, when people have been repeatedly restrained, the body is significantly compromised.

You know, I think we only have to look at our federal government. And we look at people, look at our soldiers coming back from conflict, violence, and war. We don't see people with just, you know, a general anxiety. You see people with post traumatic stress disorder.

This has an extraordinary effect on the body, on the mind and behavior.
Q Okay.

Moving back to the six core strategies, could you describe -- take the -- and we'll get into the specifics of what happened with Davie more as we move through your deposition.

But I would like to hear from you how the six core strategies, which, as you've said in Massachusetts and other states have applied, could have been utilized in Davie's case. What that would have looked like, so to speak, so that we can get a better understanding of, you know, kind of what the six core strategies, what they do.

A Well, the six core strategies, as I said earlier, it's an organizational framework to address a problem.

In this case, it's the problem of conflict and violence that leads to the use of restraint. What the six core strategies could have afforded Booneville and could have afforded David and anybody else that's restrained is an organized approach; meaning, that first and foremost, leaders would have recognized that restraint is an extraordinarily damaging procedure that should only be used in an emergency circumstance or a last resort.

And leadership, which is the number one core strategy, would have adopted the imperative that we will do whatever it takes.

One of my colleagues, Dr. Maggie Bennington Davis, medical director of an inpatient service in Oregon that stopped using restraint and seclusion, under her leadership said, quite simply, you have to, as a leader of a health care service, adopt the perspective that every episode is a big damn deal. That's her language, not mine.

So when leaders adopt that every event of a hands-on procedure is a sentinel event, then you do whatever it takes.

In this case, the leadership should have organized a multidisciplinary cross-discipline approach to having all levels of staff who, who participate in, witness a restraint or a seclusion, participate as part of an action committee to address it.

They should have adopted basic core strategies as a place to start. The second most important place to start is in workforce development. So an organized committee would have looked at what are we teaching staff, what are we training staff.

They would have looked at when restraint is occurring, under what circumstances. They would have been using their data to look at the frequency of restraint use, when it was occurring, what shift, what staff are involved.

What staff need, more training, support or what staff, as my colleague in Tennessee who's done my teaching and training with me, when you have to say to staff, take their gifts and graces to other places because they can't learn how to take a reflective pause, keep their hands off, and do something else.

Another core strategy is the use of prevention tools; which is a perfect fit for developmental disability center like Booneville. Because this is where you give your staff the tools to be able to assess what is happening and to be able to use alternatives to hands on.

In this case, they should have been using sensory integration, sensory modulation. These are perfect tools for people with developmental disabilities who may have expressive or receptive language challenge.

In this case, we go right to sensory experience, sound, music, olfactory intervention. We look for other ways to be able to help people calm and soothe. So prevention tools is another important strategy.

Debriefing is another core strategy in which it's the only tertiary prevention strategy that's used in this framework. But this is acknowledging it happened, we don't want it to happen again.

Leadership commits to this and so leaders conduct a debriefing. Executive leaders assume the responsibility for reviewing each and every occurrence like it was a heart attack. As I said, as Maggie Bennington Davis calls it a big damn deal.

And I can tell you that debriefing is so much of an important core strategy that it's been adopted by the Pennsylvania State System of Care. Their state hospital system has been doing this work longer than any other state with extraordinary outcomes. They've used and published on their use of the six core strategies.

But they've eliminated mechanical restraint in their hospital settings that do serve people with developmental disabilities. There is no seclusion use. There is no unscheduled forced medication use.

There is physical restraint use in their settings, but it is standing only. No one goes to the ground. And the maximum order is three minutes --

Q Uh-huh.

A -- standing. That's it. And they -- they served 2600 patients. And so they have done an extraordinary work.

But the reason I tie into debriefing is they hold it as a leadership responsibility to understand why this big damn deal, sentinel event, occurred in the first place. What we can do to learn about it, what does staff need to know, what competencies do they need to have to be able to prevent this from occurring again.

So we have exemplar states, we have exemplar programs that have taken the six core strategy frameworks, but the essential number one core strategy is leadership.

So leadership could have organized and had a strategic action committee. They would have been focused on workforce development. They would have studied, applied, used their data. They would have involved persons served, those that they serve, the families involved, involve them in -- in understanding what happened, why and what they could do differently next time if -- if it did, in fact, happen.

So that's the core strategy framework in a nutshell. If you'd like more information.

Q All right.

A But I think it could have served them very well if they had made restraint, prevention, and reduction a priority. And it clearly wasn't.

Q On a more micro level, in an incident or in an event where there is aggression, would the six core strategies -- I think you referred to some tools.

Are there any tools you can give me as an example that could be used that would not require laying hands on a patient?

A The six core strategies is not a restraint technology. It does not teach any kind of hands-on procedure whatsoever. They teach alternatives to restraint and the prevention tools, core strategy. And these tools are many.

One is -- you start with the fundamental assessment of the person served and their history, their needs, what they respond to, what they don't respond to. And you take that information and you use that to continually update something that we would call like an individual crisis prevention plan.

I didn't see evidence of an individual crisis prevention plan for, for David. But it's a fundamental plan that supports staff and persons served, to know what to do if things are getting difficult. So it's a teaching of the staff what to do in the alternative.

So some of those alternatives could be time, space. When I say sensory integration, sensory modulation, that's using sensory experience.

Sound, you know, I'm aware that, that, David, liked the Monkees. If I was working on that unit and I know he liked the Monkees, you bet, if he's -- if he's upset and agitated, I might be trying to think what kind of Monkee song was going to work right then.

Q Uh-huh.

A You know, I might be using something like he likes certain taste items and foods. That can be used under certain conditions, not when someone's extremely agitated. But there's a whole host of actions that can be used.

Movement can be done. We -- we teach, and in most of my services, we have gliders, rocking chairs or gliders. The gliders promote the vestibular sway, which is considered the single most efficient method of calming down. That's why you see airports full of rocking chairs and gliders, to help people calm down.

So I would have been looking for any kind of physical opportunity to create a possibility of calming the body down.

And there -- there other methods as well. It really depends. What you have to do is match the intervention to the level of distress. You don't use all interventions at all times. Some interventions are just not going to work and shouldn't be attempted. But there are a number of interventions that can be used.

Q And, if a patient has been at the same facility for 12, 13 years, presumably the facility should know that patient well enough to know what works, what doesn't, what triggers are, what triggers -- what his triggers are and so forth?

A Presumably. If someone's been at facility 12, 13 years, they should be very well known by the facility.

Q You talked about some benefits that states that have adopted this hands-off approach, the six core strategies, have found.

Have there been -- has the State of Massachusetts, for example, have there been benefits to the State of Massachusetts since adopting the six core strategies?

A When we started this work, back in -- the study period was in 1999 and we launched in 2000. And I studied in my own state, particular inpatient service and their use of restraint. And then we looked at the reduction.

And then we looked at all of the hidden benefits that people weren't explicitly focused on. I'm not only a psychologist, I'm an administrator, so I care where the dollar goes.

So, when we did the time motion task analysis and realized that something like what would be considered like a one-hour episode from start to finish actually claimed more than 13 hours of staff time. There was so much hidden time attached to every event that you realize you were quickly draining your staff resource away from the reason that they're there, which is to provide care and treatment to persons served at an exponential number.

So when we studied the time benefit analysis, we found that a person served got better faster. We found shorter lengths of stay. We saw significant reduction in injuries to staff and to persons served. We saw significant reductions on the order of workers compensation claims and injuries and case-made claims.

And we also saw that there was a significant benefit to staff retention. There was an 86 percent reduction in staff turnover, which was extraordinary. So people were happier on the job. They weren't getting hurt. They felt more competent and confident in what they were doing. People were getting better.

The culture of care became much more peaceful. And people felt connected again to the reason they went into health care environment.

So that work was published in Psychiatric Services. It helped to fuel our interagency effort. And it was our director, our Secretary of Health and Human Services, who said we've got to branch this beyond mental health into all of Health and Human Services wherever restraint is occurring.

So that was the fuel, was understanding the hidden benefits that people don't focus on; because they're so busy counting the number of episodes, maybe the duration, but they're not seeing the negative impact of restraint and how it ripples in a toxic way across the organization.

Q And, again, to be clear, the -- Massachusetts has saved money since doing this?

A Massachusetts has saved money.
Q Okay. And this program and the work that you've done has been applied to developmental disability, intellectual disability populations --
A Yes.
Q -- as well in Massachusetts?
A Correct.
Q Okay. All right.

MR. GILLISPIE: Let's take just a three or four minute break here.

(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q All right.

Dr. LeBel, if you don't mind, I'd like to kind of move into the standard of care that was in place here in Arkansas that applied to the facility at the time of David's death and what your opinions are with regards to whether that standard of care was met in the case of David's death.
A As I had the opportunity to review the policies, the procedures, the state's regulations, as well as the CMS standards, it would appear that there was a reasonable standard of care conceptually in place, but it was not adhered to.

At a very basic level, the standard of care was breached. When you look at international standards from the United Nations and the Convention on Rights of Persons with Disabilities, the World Health Organization, in 2019, put out a fantastic quality rights training that is explicitly for people with mental disabilities, cognitive impairments, mental health issues.

And it is an elaborate training that really bespeaks the need to attend to people to be able to avoid the use of restraint and seclusion.

So, internationally, the standards have been set, resources have been provided. We look at the federal government and their ICF/IDD standards. CMS has made it abundantly clear, you know, this is a treatment service. People have the fundamental right to be free from abuse and unnecessary restraint use. They have the right to be protected by the facility, that these rights be upheld.

They have the right for at least restrictive interventions to be used for the least amount of time. And if they're used, for release to happen as soon as possible and as soon as the person has calmed.

These procedures should be designed to not cause injury. They should have and use a hierarchy of interventions from least intrusive, most positive to most intrusive, least positive.

They should identify the type of physical restraints that are allowed. They must specify which approved physical restraint can be used and document that in the client's IPP. It should be an emergency measure, if absolutely necessary, to protect the client and others from injury. It's used only when the client is exhibiting behavior that the client has not exhibited before.

It's identified in the FBA, the Functional Behavioral Analysis, or the client is in the act of harming other people or themselves. CMS goes further than that. And I appreciate that those are really helpful standards that, in theory, Booneville applied and adopted.

However, CMS goes that much further by declaring the use of restraint that leads to serious injury or death as a never event. CMS has declared that this is something that is a shockingly medical error and should never occur in a treatment healthcare setting.

They identified this back in 2002, came up with a list of procedures that are considered never events, and have actually started doing the physical clawback and refusing to pay for care in which a never event occurs.

So, while CMS has set a standard, they've also declared and gone further, that if there is serious injury or death that occurs as a result of restraint, it is a never event, it should never have happened. So they set a clear bar.

And I appreciate that the Arkansas Developmental Disability Services followed, you know, the CMS standards set. And they require that the, through their regulations, that the CMS IDD standards must be upheld.

And they uphold that client actions must be aggressive, disruptive and/or present a danger to the individuals or others and manage with the least restrictive method.

They acknowledge that there must be imminent danger to health and safety in which death or severe bodily injury could reasonably be expected to occur without intervention. That's a very clear bar.

Q Uh-huh.

A Imminent danger in which death or serious bodily harm could be expected. They also --

Q So any form of restraint used, absent the presence or absence of imminent danger, defined as death or severe --

A Severe --

Q -- bodily harm --

A -- bodily injury.

Q -- would be a violation of the standard of care?
A That's my understanding.
Q And any restraint used that's not the least restrictive approach possible would be a violation, a violation of the standard of care, according to CMS?
A According to CMS and also developmental disability regulations who adopt the CMS IDD standards.
Q Can you --
A What I also appreciate was that they identified -- the DDS regulations also said that restraint may not become routine method of intervention. And, if you used three times in six months, that there should be an IDD conducted with another FBA and a plan of action.
Q Uh-huh.
A And I don't know if that occurred. I didn't see evidence of it.
Q Okay. You saw no evidence that that occurred in anything --
A No.
Q -- that you reviewed?
A But I also see, you know, there are a levels of layers here.

We've got an international standard. We've got a federal standard. We've got a state standard. And then we get right to the facility and Booneville's policy.

Clearly, they are not following the CMS standards. They're not following the DDS policies.

They did not use least restrictive intervention. They did not use it for the least amount of time. There was no imminent danger. There was no emergency.

The type of restraint that was used was not approved. It was not part of the CPI or NCI teaching and training. It was not in his individual IPP. It is a violation of the physician orders regarding his problem with GERD.

It was not an approved technique where he was restrained on the ground. That is not consistent with CPI and NCI. CPI has their own standards and practice standards. And that is not part of their teaching and training. It is seated or standing only.

As I read the Booneville policy, it's the only -- there use is -- the only approved personal restraint is holding a hand or limb. I read one and a.

Q Uh-huh.

A A hand or limb. Not both.

Q Right.

A It's only used as an emergency measure to control severely aggressive behavior. So I read multiple levels of failure there.

I also read in the behavior treatment plan that was authored by Mike Alvis, that the -- all the medical orders would supersede anything and everything and would take precedent over all forms of personal restraint or interventions.

So I see multiple levels of a lack of adherence to a framework, which on paper would be reasonable, if they in fact adopted it and practiced it. But there were multiple failures there.

And I have to say, though you didn't ask this question, I'm really shocked. But looking at the investigation findings, the mortality review findings, looking at the timeline that was provided, the events, the timeline makes no reference to the restraint event.

And the mortality review done by the Department of Developmental Disability Services has no recommendations and felt they met the standard of care. Well, they just flew in the face of CMS, who said this is a never event, it does not happen.

Q Uh-huh.

A So how you can say that this met the standard of care. Death is not part of standard care, period.

Q Uh-huh.

A So I -- I really am terribly disappointed and shocked that this would be an outcome and a finding.

This is a tragedy that should have been used as a teaching experience for the facility, for staff, to make sure this never ever happened again. This ultimately is a failure of leadership at multiple levels.

Q Okay. Well, and let's get into how, how these violations of standard of care were applied in this particular case. Or how what happened, how the incident, the restraint incident that caused Davie's death was a violation of the standard of care.

We've talked about -- or you've talked about that the restraint use wasn't in his IPP. It wasn't in the Booneville policies and procedures. It wasn't a form of restraint that was taught or authorized by the facility or by NCI which the facility uses, wasn't the least restrictive method. There was no emergency.

If you could, just get into how, why it's your opinion that there was no emergency and why it's your opinion that it wasn't the least restrictive option available.

A As I read the description that was written by Tyler Mattson in his OLTC witness statement, I didn't see the criteria that would warrant laying hands on.

He talked about screaming and cussing. He talked about ripping paper off a wall and throwing the paper. That is not imminent harm standard. There is no reason to activate a hands-on procedure.

I found his statements confusing because they conflicted with one another. It's hard to get a clear narrative.

But, looking at his very first statement, which is most recent to the event, the criteria for touching someone against their will --

Q And he also says that David tried to hit him; right?

A He said spitting and attempting to hit.

Q Right.

A So I don't read that contact was made.

As I read in the deposition, that he did not hit, that he did not have a history of being harmed by David. And I read that Mattson said that he applied personals by grabbing his arms and he, David, ended up falling over.

Mattson says I did not land on him. Well, I guess it's a tumble, for one. And I don't know if Mattson lowered his body down. It's hard to really discern from his description.

But spitting, tearing papers, screaming, cussing, absolutely not, does not require a hands-on procedure. What Mattson did is he activated a behavioral sequence by touching him against his will.

He activated what's been called the withdrawal reflex, which is where a noxious stimuli, like a hand on an arm is placed on someone with pressure. You're going to see that sensory experience lead to a withdrawal by the person of their hand and activation of the other half of the body. So this is a procedure that is well known that -- that he has activated by starting the behavioral conflict.

David's behavior, as its described, once he's on the floor, he's attempting to squirm. Of course he is. He is trying to flee and escape a noxious situation. His behavior makes sense.

Mattson's behavior does not make sense. Given the restraint on the ground was not taught by CPI/NCI. What Mattson should have done is released him, backed away, given him time, given him space.

There was no reason in the first description that he should ever have touched him. He should have been quiet and observed and assessed and tried to provide him with some of the, the sensory interventions that they said he liked.

So he liked staff attention. He liked staff support. He liked music. He was, you know, someone who was described as someone like a four-year-old. So you give that four-year-old time and space. I didn't see any of that in what I read.

Q And understanding that that there was no -- there was no testimony or evidence that David did hit or make contact with Mattson, hypothetically, if David had attempted to hit Mattson or looked like he was going to hit Mattson or looked like he was going to grab Mattson, would your opinion change at all?

A Well, if it looked like he was actually going to make contact, if he was actually going to land a blow, you know, NCI teaches a supported stance and a pivot response for staff to be able to use to escape that circumstance so they don't get hit. As I read --

Q Is that the blocking technique described by Mark Hise in his deposition?

A Correct. I think Mark Hise did a nice job describing the techniques that they teach to staff to avoid having the situation of being hit, you know, and if there is a lack of distance between them and how to physically shift your body, your weight.

How to block a blow, he described a sweeping like a matador to be able to block that blow and to not incur injury. So it appeared that staff are well taught, reasonably taught. Mark Hise's testimony was very clear about what Mattson did was not taught, not approved, not something that comes from the approved curriculum at Booneville, that what he did and what the -- his colleagues did, Mandy and Ryann, also were not taught and not approved.

So that restraint on the ground was not part of the Booneville policy. If they had adhered to their policy, you know, we wouldn't be talking now.

Q And so that's a standard of care violation at its most basic level; right? A violation of the facility's own policies?

A Correct. The staff did not follow the facility policy or their teaching and training.

Q Okay.

Are you able to speak to the sort of inherent danger of restraining a person on the ground?

A Well, I will be clear that I'm not a physician. But I've been doing this work for more than 20 years.

And I have participated in other legal proceedings in which people have died. And I have been teaching and training on the medical risks associated with restraint use. This is part of a curriculum that's been developed with physician practitioners. And I have written and published with medical experts on the physical implications of restraint use.

So I believe I previously said, that when someone is physically restrained, it is an aggressive interchange between people. So you're going to see physical agitation that's going to lead to an elevation in the heart rate, an elevation in respiration, an elevation in blood pressure.

You're also going to see -- likely, you're going to see the cortisol flood, catecholamine rush. It takes a physical toll on the body.

And I should say this isn't just, you know, my teaching and training. This also comes right out of the CPI/NCI training manual. You know, they also identified the medical risks associated with restraint use.

And, sadly, they also profile what the likelihood is of restraint death, and the profile of people, which I think David met most of the criteria. Males, overweight, people with mental health or developmental disabilities.

So they -- they did a profile of those most at risk. And, sadly, David met most of those criteria.

So this isn't just my teaching and training but this is also what occurs in the teaching and training that's been afforded the staff at Booneville.

Q Have you found over the years that any population that's particularly vulnerable to the harmful effects of restraints?

A This is very sad. In my experience in the teaching and the training through the core strategy framework, we teach a module on the traumatic effects of restraint and seclusion.

And we talk about the experiences of different populations and the history of trauma, that in -- of those who are served in Human Services is extraordinary. But people with intellectual and developmental disabilities are considered most at risk for abuse and the use of restraint and the traumatic effect of restraint.

And, why is that, because they have expressive and receptive language challenge. They are not seen as credible reporters. They are at risk for being victimized by people who know they can take full advantage of them.

So they are particularly at risk for being traumatized in care settings, being abused and neglected in care settings. And I'm happy to send our literature citations. There are several who have published on the risk associated with people with intellectual and developmental disabilities simply by virtue of being in care, their risk of being abused, neglected, or traumatized is quantumly increased.

And that would include the use of restraints seclusion. They are, as a population, horribly victimized by virtue of their impairments.

Q Okay. Thank you.

And, based on your experience and training and expertise in this field and also based on your review of the different levels of regulation, you mentioned international, federal, state, and facility level regulations and policies that Booneville was bound by, based on all that, what is your understanding of the -- what is your understanding of what would, in fact, meet the criteria of an emergency situation, that, pursuant to the NCI training given at Booneville, authorized at Booneville, would allow a staff member to place hands on a client?

What would be that level of -- what would meet that standard of emergency?

A Well, the standard of the emergency, you know, would have to be something in which there was severe aggression, the risk of serious harm and danger, that you would see a level of lethality attached to it. Like somebody has a weapon --

Q Uh-huh.

A -- and they are threatening to severely hurt someone. By weapon, I'm not talking about a piece of paper. I'm not talking about throw on a chair. That can happen in any home in America at any day. I am talking about something that could seriously hurt someone.

So we're looking at how to prevent the likelihood of serious, serious bodily harm. So anything that speaks inherently dangerous, lethal consequence is when we would use restraint.

That's the intent of restraint. The intent of restraint, is to save a life when a life is threatened. It has a purpose. It was --

Q And what was the -- and what would you say the intent of the restraint was in this case? Based on your review of everything.

A It would appear, based on my reading of what Tyler Mattson did, is he's attempting to control David physically.

Q Behavior control?

A Behavior control.

Q And based on your -- and I understand you also reviewed -- you reviewed David's prior restraint incidents. And they were, you know, hundreds over the years.

But, specifically, you reviewed the ones that occurred most recent, most proximate to his death; is that correct?

A That's correct.

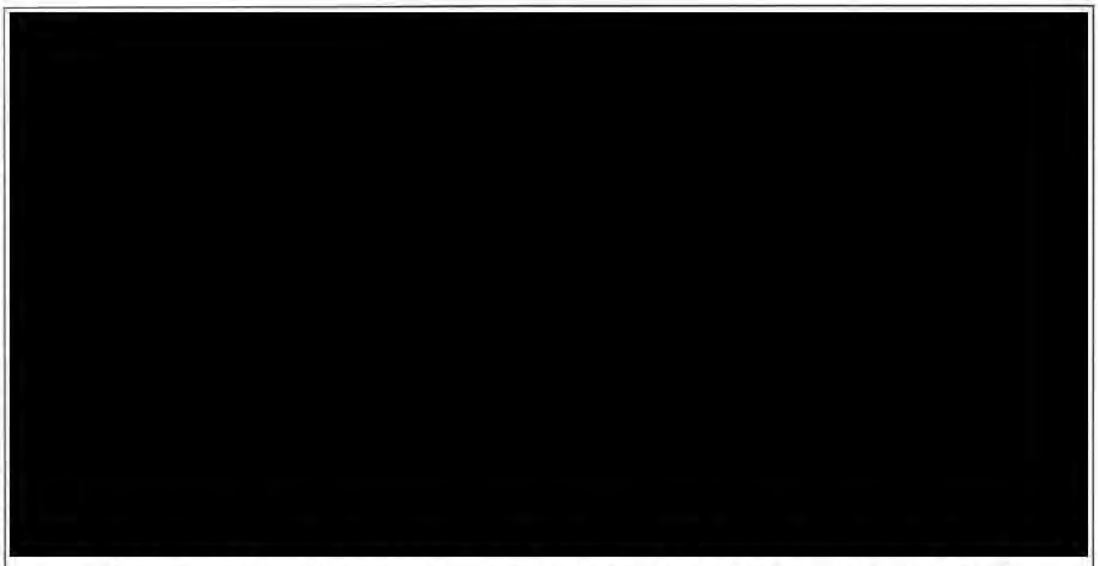
Q And I believe three of those, perhaps maybe the three most -- the three restraints that occurred just prior to his death were by Tyler Mattson.

And what did your review of those indicate to you?

A Well, my review of those events in which Tyler

Mattson was directly involved, just before the restraint that led to David's death, is that Tyler Mattson uses restraint as a primary intervention. That there is no attempt to de-escalate, to calm, to support.

There may have been one comment about, you know, calm down; but, otherwise, he -- and, in one case, went directly into hands-on procedure. He's using it as a first level of response repeatedly.



Q And the fact that he's doing this and getting away with it, what does that indicate to you about the facility --

A The fact that --

Q -- and/or the leadership?

A The fact that he's doing this repeatedly really bespeaks a serious leadership problem. It bespeaks a lack of supervision. It bespeaks a culture of care that allows for restraint to be conducted and to continue.

[redacted]

Because any person, and this is where, as I said earlier, leadership assumes the responsibility of looking at these debriefings and treating it like a big deal. While I gave you the example of what Pennsylvania does by seeing your leaderships, that's the CEO, the CMO, the Director of Nursing, they look at these events on a daily basis. They start their morning rounds this way.

They then go take responsibility and do the debriefing. So when an organization is committed to a culture of care that is nurturing, kind, and supportive to both persons served on staff, you take these events seriously. And you read through the statements and you ask what could have been done differently.

And that's not just that you're doing this and you're listening. The authority and responsibility vested by leadership is then to take that information and do something with it.

[redacted]

Q And, in the three restraints that Mattson applied to David just prior to his death, I believe there were two in May and one in March, two on the same day in May and one in March, I believe, two of those, if not all three of them, were also clear violations of the standard of care, clear violations of protocol. Am I correct in that?

A Correct. Correct.

Q All right.

A There -- there was no effort made, at least restrictive, no imminent danger, laying hands on. No, there was -- there's nothing that bespoke of conformance with the facility policy and procedures.

There was no severe aggression. There was no emergency circumstance.

Q For instance, he -- Tyler testified to this, but it's also in the incident report itself, that he restrained David simply because David -- he thought David was threatening to throw a thermometer. Do you recall that?
A I do recall that. No, threats, screams, these are not reasons to lay hands on.
Q And had this been flagged and properly addressed by leadership, that could have saved David's life?
MR. ROSEN: Objection; speculation.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Would you agree with that, Dr. LeBel? That had, you know, the restraint that Tyler performed on March 29th, you know, roughly two weeks before David's death, had that, the improper nature of that restraint and the rule violations that occurred within that restraint been properly addressed by the facility, either through discipline or through retraining, that could have at least increased the likelihood that David would still be here?
MR. ROSEN: Objection. Same objection, but also foundation as to whether this witness is qualified to make such a medical determination.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q You -- go ahead, Dr. LeBel.
A Could you restate the question, please?
Q Sure. Do you feel like that, had Booneville had leadership properly address the rule violations that occurred in those restraints done by Mattson on David just prior to his death, had those properly been addressed -- well, should those have been addressed differently? Let me ask it that way.
A Should those violations have been addressed, absolutely.
Q Should Tyler have still been -- should the facility have required him to, at a bare minimum, undergo retraining prior to putting him back on the floor?
A At a bare minimum, when a staff member does not use restraint training correctly, they should automatically go through retraining. They should automatically go through increased supervision.

And, as I have seen with other facilities where there's been great concern about a staff person's capacity to understand when to use restraint, they don't allow staff who they are worried about use restraint inappropriately. They don't allow them to restrain.

So they may be trained, they may be on the floor, but they are prohibited from using restraint when they have abused their training and knowledge about when restraint is used. If they don't have the capacity to use it, I have seen facilities not allow staff to participate in restraint.

Q Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: I want to take another five minute break here.

MR. ROSEN: Okay.

(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Hey, Dr. LeBel, don't have too much more for you. If you would, could you -- I may have asked you this already. But, if you don't mind, could you kind of describe a little bit more what happens physiologically to a person when they're restrained?

A I'd be happy to. Appreciating that I am a psychologist, I'm not a medical personnel. However, I have been studying and working with physicians who have published on restraint --

MR. ROSEN: I'm sorry, Dr. LeBel. Let me just interrupt with an objection as to the foundation because she is not a physician and not medically trained.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Well, let me ask you this, Dr. LeBel. What are you basing this opinion on that you're about to give?
A My opinion is based on my reading, my research, my teaching, my training, my consultation, and my work with physicians, including pathologists, who have published on restraint related physical impact on the body, which we've incorporated their work into our core strategy framework, and teach the medical risks associated with restraint use.
Q And even though you're not a physician, why would you need to know these things? Why would you need to research these things?
A Well, when you're trying to prevent the use of restraint, you want to make sure that the staff that you are trying to reach, whether it's direct care staff, managers or leaders, understand the high risk nature and the lethal potential for the use of restraint.
So you need to have an understanding, as just CPI and NCI does. And they're teaching their technology, you want to make sure that people understand the significant danger and lethality attached to using these emergency procedures of last resort.
Q And you are a psychologist, a Ph.D. psychologist?

A That's correct.
Q Okay. And what is your Ph.D. in specifically?
A I have a dual concentration doctorate in psychology and administration.
Q The administration side of it, what is that?
A The administration side was focused on running health care organizations.
Q Okay. And, in your training as a psychologist, are you -- well, in your training as a psychologist and in psychology is -- I would assume that brain function and neuro responses are within the purview of --
THE WITNESS: Josh is frozen.
(Audio/Video Interference)
(Brief Discussion off the record)
(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Okay.
Dr. LeBel, so I was -- basically, I was asking you how it is you're able to give an opinion about kind of what happens to a person during a restraint.
What is your basis of knowledge on that?
A Well, my -- my basis of knowledge about understanding what happens to the body during a restraint comes from my research. It comes from my writing on restraint use and writing with Dr. Wanda Moore and Dr. Ron O'Halloran.

Dr. Moore is an advanced practice psychiatric nurse. And, with her husband Dr. Brian Moore, a cardiologist, along with Ted Pettit, wrote the first article on the adverse effects, physical effects, of restraint on the body and published that. And then they later published with Dr. Ron O'Halloran from California, a pathologist, on the physical effect of restraint use.

So I have published with Dr. O'Halloran. I have published with Wanda -- I have -- and Ron. I have read their material. I have done teaching and training with physicians on the medical risks associated with restraint use.

So, while I am not a physician, I have read and studied; and, in my own doctoral program, took neuro anatomy and have been studying the neurobiological and psychological effects of trauma.

I work closely with Dr. Glen Sacks, a psychiatrist, who has published on this and provided -- whoops. I'm getting a pop-up message here. Sorry.

And provided a foundational module that we use in the core strategy training on the neurobiological and psychological effects of trauma on the body.

So, while I'm not a medical practitioner, I have done much more reading, research than most on the issue of restraint and its impact on the physical body.

Q Okay. And what is that? Based on your research, what is that impact on the physical body?

A Well, the physical body takes a terrible toll when it is engaged in --

MR. ROSEN: Just let me interject an objection. I'm sorry. I was on mute so I couldn't get it out quicker.

But objection on the basis and grounds as before, the found -- lack of foundation.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. Noted.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q And, Janice, that's -- you still go ahead and answer. He's just making a record there.

So my question was, and noting Counsel's -- I asked this while noting Counsel's objection, but please state what your understanding is of what happens to a person when they're restrained.

A As I said, I have studied, taught, written, learned from a number of medical experts in this arena and incorporated their knowledge into our own teaching and training.

And my understanding from this work is that restraint takes a terrible toll on the physical body. It can lead to elevated heart rate, elevated respiration, elevated blood pressure, elevated in cortisol, which is a stress hormone. It can create cardiac instability. It can create respiratory compromise.

Particularly, if you're restraining somebody on the ground where you've got any kind of compression against a hard surface, you are limiting the bellows action of the lungs. The lungs want to expand in either direction. And when they're compromised, you are limiting respiration.

You're also creating a level of serious emotional distress. You create the risk of people -- of regurgitating the contents of their stomach, which is a particular risk for people who are prescribed psychiatric medications, many of which produce hyper salivation.

[redacted]

[redacted]

You know, repeated exposure to restraint, as I said earlier, can create an allostatic load, which just compromises the physical health and integrity of the body. So there's also that possibility as well.

So it's an -- I'm sorry.

Q Go ahead.

A So it's an extremely high risk procedure to be used. And that's why it should only be used in the face of imminent danger to save a life; because it can kill.

Q And a physical restraint can, in fact, in your experience and studies, induce or trigger vomiting?

A In my experience, yes. In my experience.

And I have reviewed and I have presented on many case reports in the media that cite children, adolescents, adults who have vomited, who have lost control of their physical functions in the course of restraint and have died.

It's one of the very sad parts of the core strategy training that we do, where we give real examples as reported so that people are aware of how risky these procedures are and how quickly someone can be seriously injured or die as a result of restraint use.

Q And thank you for that. And, in your experience consulting on -- let me back up.

In your career, have you had occasion to either consult on or learn about other instances of improper restraint usage leading to serious harm to a patient?

A Yes, I have. I am aware of, I've consulted on other circumstances where there have been restraint related serious harm or death.

Q Including in facilities similar to the Booneville facility?

A Yes.

Q And, in your experience, have you noticed any commonalities amongst, or any commonalities with respect to the explanations given by the facilities or the staff at those facilities?

A When I've worked with facilities that have had serious sequela from restraint use, serious harm, death or have excessive use and been sanctioned by regulatory bodies, licensors, funding entities, what we typically see is a lack of leadership attention to the use of restraint within the organization.

What we typically see is a blaming of the victim in which it's the patient's fault that the restraint occurred. And we typically see a -- what I would call a perverse special argument. And, by that, I mean, in the work that I have done with many organizations, more than 70, all different types of organizations, doesn't matter if you're a prison, if you're a nursing home, you're an elementary school, people typically justify their use of restraint because they are treating a special population.

Special, to me, is proxy for we're not interested in doing this work, we're not about to commit to the extra work it takes to learning different approaches to not lay hands on.

It becomes an excuse in which people look to, as I said, blame the victim, attribute the problem to the person served. And, when that typically happens, as I look at the restraint documentation, you see a restraint recipe that is paraphrased over and over and over again, and what some of my colleagues have called awfulization, which there's an exaggeration, a distortion, an amplification of the behavior, rather than an accurate description.

I find that many staff don't have the skill to accurately describe what is happening and will often use an exaggeration of language to justify what they've done; which is typically the inappropriate use of restraint.

Q Okay.

Did you mention fight or flight? Is fight or flight something you've found to be a reaction that a person has upon being restrained?

MR. ROSEN: I'm going to object because I don't see anything in Dr. LeBel's opinions that were provided to us, only about a week ago or so, that mentioned anything about fight or flight. So that'd be something new that we were not advised about.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Yeah, Dr. LeBel, go ahead and -- Dr. LeBel, you can go ahead and answer.

MR. GILLISPIE: And your objection is noted, Rich.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q But my question is, is fight or flight something else that is -- is that a fair way to describe what happens to a person when they're being restrained?

A Fight or flight is a natural response to the body under stress and threat.

Fight or flight, I did just use earlier as we were speaking. And I described it when I talked about the withdrawal reflex, which was in my written report.

The withdrawal respect, reflex, is in fact a flight or fight response in which Tyler Mattson, in this case, activated the fight or flight response in David Cains.

Q Okay.

A So, in this case, it was the application of his hands, by grabbing him with his hands, he set off a defensive response by David, which is a physiological response that has been well documented.

You can even go to Google it and see something on YouTube when they do this with, in fact, with infants who will try to escape a noxious stimulus.

So, in this case, the noxious stimulus is the application of the hand, touching the body against the will in which you will then generate a motor response from the person who's being subjected to this unwanted touch. So fight or flight is part of a restraint process.

Q And can a person who's restrained often get used to being restrained such that they don't have this type of response to it?

A In my experience, no. It is not possible to habituate to hand-to-hand combat.

Otherwise, the federal government would not be investing millions of dollars in attending to soldiers coming back from war with PTSD. This is not something that becomes habituated, routine. These are individual circumstances.

And certainly, in the case of David, given his [redacted] every time is like the first time for him. One doesn't expect it. And his body would be responding to the stress and the threat of being physically contained against his will.

As Tyler Mattson describes the restraint scenario, David's behavior, particularly when he is on the ground, makes perfect sense to me. He is physically trying to move away from having the level of pressure from Tyler, whether it's his shoulder, his side, his testimony jumps around a little bit, it's hard to follow, but he is being contained against his will.

And it's likely a painful circumstance that is leading to a physiologic agitation. He's described as having been short of breath, turning red. This man is in physical distress. He is not comfortable. This is not routine. This was something he was subjected to. And he was absolutely demonstrating fight or flight.

It's not clear to me why Mr. Mattson would do that when all he had to do was stand up, take his hands off David, and stop the interchange.

Q Okay. Thank you very much.

Real quick, I wanted to go back to something from the beginning of your testimony. You mentioned that, at one point, I think earlier, much earlier in your career at the department, you were receiving boxes of these restraint incident debriefings.

First of all, when in -- what was your role in the department at this time when you were receiving these boxes of restraint incident debriefings?

A My role at the time was the director of program management. So I had a statewide purview over the contracted services within the Department of Mental Health Central office.

So I was receiving restraint reports from facilities that are contracted or licensed by the Department of Mental Health; which, by virtue of our statutory authority, anyone practicing restraint in a behavioral health setting would have to report and have to send that to the central office.

Q And you were the person who got these reports and had to sift through them or were you receiving these for purposes of your research to find a better way?

A I received the reports, along with my colleagues in the licensing division, and our offices were colocated right across the hall from each other. So we both received and reviewed the restraint reports.

Q And that was part of your job duties, to review these restraint reports and determine the efficacy of what was going on at these facilities --

A That's correct.

Q -- with regard to restraint?

A That's correct.

Q And it was in -- was this around the same time that you determined that -- that you began your research into an alternative method that could be used at places like this that might reduce or eliminate restraints?

A That's correct.

In particular, you know, my -- my focus had been on children, adolescents and young adults, that we saw this inverse relationship.

You know, the younger, the smaller the person served, the more likely they were to be restrained. And we had great disparity in our state that every child in certain settings had anywhere from four to 17 times higher rate of restraint or seclusion than every adult setting. So it was extremely compelling information.

And then, when you looked at the restraint documentation of a person served at any age, you could see that people were being restrained for the very behavior that had been admitted in the first place. So it made no sense to us and it was clear that this was being used as a primary intervention, as a method to stop the behavior, but it only stopped and solved the problem for staff. It did nothing in terms of a positive treatment effect.

So it was very compelling to see that, to see the disparity, and then to appreciate that not all facilities had high use and that there were some that had lower use of restraint.

So it was compelling to start understanding and studying that what are the elements of a service that has low or no use of restraint.

Q And, in doing this, you also -- it would have been -- in order to do this properly, in order to achieve this goal of eliminating or reducing restraints in facilities, would it have been necessary for you to have a precise understanding of the harm caused by restraints and the adverse impacts on both physical and mental health of restraints?

A Well, it was essential to have that knowledge that people could be harmed.

And, the year or two before I arrived in my role in Boston with the statewide purview, there was a restraint related death. And my predecessor decided the best course of action was to teach people how to do restraint more safely.

Q Yeah.

A And my orientation was how do we teach people to not do it in the first place.

Q Right.

A It is never going to be a safe procedure. That's why it's considered an emergency procedure of last resort.

Nothing will ever make it safe. Any form of restraint is high risk. But it was understanding that. And then, basically, it was having that knowledge teaching that.

But I needed inherent credibility. I had been working in hospitals. I had participated in some restraint. I saw where -- and felt it was patently wrong. I didn't have the skill set.

So my colleagues and I went looking out of state and visited other programs. In fact, we went to Bellevue in New York City and watched for a long weekend as staff intervened without the use of restraint and seclusion in a child serving program. And we watched problems unfold and the staff took time and space and kindness to be able to stop an aggressive interchange.

And I saw things happen that could easily, in my state, have led to an immediate hands-on procedure. And staff knew how to weather the behavioral storm. They took that time, they gave space. And we did not see restraint use.

And, in fact, their top three nursing leaders with a combined tenure of over a hundred years had not used restraint in many, many years in that setting. And I had to go see to believe.

So I needed inherent credibility to bring it back to my state. Not just knowledge based on textbook reading and study, but I needed to see it, because I had to be able to help staff understand that there was someone who understands the challenges of their role and that it was possible.

So, when I went on my road trip to New York City, I brought residential direct care staff with me. I wanted them to see what I had seen on an earlier trip. So I made two trips, one with my colleagues, and then two with direct care staff, nursing staff, a social worker came; because I wanted them to see that it was possible to do this work. They came back and they were able to sell it and that's when we launched our statewide initiative.

So it was really important to have credibility in multiple ways to be able to help all of our facilities. Our initiative was statewide, it was all facilities.

So simply telling people to do things differently was not enough. We had to be able to give them resources, tools, teaching, training, and support.

And, frankly, that's what I saw was missing at Booneville. I just didn't see it.

Q And did you also form an -- did you also form an opinion based on the sheer number of restraints used on Davie over the years as to whether -- as to whether restraints were being used only in emergency situations?

MR. ROSEN: Objection. I didn't read that in her opinions that was provided to us either. So that would -- foundationally, I don't think she's qualified to do that. And I don't know what records you see.

But, more importantly and more significantly, that was an opinion that was required to be disclosed to us and to date hasn't been.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Dr. LeBel, you looked at -- you reviewed and saw that there were many, many, hundreds, in fact, physical restraints used on David Cains over the years of Booneville; correct?

A Yes, I saw several -- I saw several written reports of restraint use.

Q And I'll make this simpler. If you just speak to your understanding of based on everything reviewed, speak to your understanding of what the culture was at Booneville?

MR. GILLISPIE: Rich, your objection's noted.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q But speak to what your -- what's your understanding of what the culture was at Booneville with regards to, with regards to whether restraints were being used strictly on emergency basis or more often for some other reason.

MR. ROSEN: I'm going to also interpose an objection to that question, because I don't know, that foundationally, that she's done the investigation as to what the culture was that at Booneville, talking to people, interviews --

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

MR. ROSEN: -- that whole one thing. So I don't know that she's qualified to make such an opinion that hasn't been disclosed to us before either.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

A My response to that question, frankly, is you don't have to walk a talk and meet with all the staff and all the leaders.

But, when you look at the number of incidents that were reported -- and I did see aggregate restraint data at that facility over several years duration that told me that restraint is accepted as part of a culture. It's part of the routine of the service there. It is an accepted practice. So that tells me the culture allows it, the culture supports it.

I also represent -- you know, read Mark Hise's deposition. And I was really impressed with the work that he does and how he represented their use of NCI and what he teaches. Very clear to me that he's teaching on not taking people to the ground.

And I'm reading that people are taking people to the ground. So I see a profound disconnect. We see as, again, somebody has -- setting reasonably the training and the expectation. And the culture allows, permits to taking people to the ground and not following policy.

So the volume of episodes tells me that this is, in fact, an accepted practice within the facility.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Thank you.

MR. GILLISPIE: Let's just take two minutes and then, Rich, I think I'm done. Let me just go back through my notes and I'll pass the witness, I think, when we come back.

MR. ROSEN: Okay.

(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Just two more questions, Dr. LeBel.

A Uh-huh.
Q Your first expert opinion was that the response -- that the facility's -- that the use of the restraint in this case fell below the standard of care. And we've talked at great length about why that is. One thing that we didn't cover with regards to that, and then I'm going to move into your second opinion, though. But one thing that we didn't quite cover with regards to your first opinion was, Did you form an opinion in your review of the materials about Davie himself, about what kind of patient or client he was?
A You know, based on the reading that I did from his treatment notes, as well as the deposition statements from the people involved in David's last restraint, my opinion is that -- I won't use their words. He was fun. He never harmed anyone. He was sweet. He was funny. He was easily redirectable. He liked attention. You could engage him in a conversation about Mr. Potato Head or the Monkees and that he never intended to hurt anybody. And to their knowledge never did hurt anyone. So the opinion I had that this was a lovely gentleman, with some serious, you know, cognitive challenge and intellectual challenge, who was likely easily read directable when someone would just pay attention to him, give him time and space to calm down. And likely, he's very easily redirected with the things that he likes. And there were many. And it seemed as though he had some good relationships with some staff. So my opinion of David is that he was, you know, a lovely human and had, you know, a disposition and a personality that should not have led to the use of a hands-on procedure. And if his behavior was in distress and he was dysregulated, there were any number of strategies that one could use to help him calm and soothe and settle down.

Q Thank you. And then my last question is: If you could, just get a little testimony about your -- the second written opinion in your report with regards to the facility's emergency response -- emergency response system.

A As I read the policy, it appeared that the emergency response system created an untoward obstacle for staff in the activation of emergent medical response; that in a rural area and a multi-building campus, that you're creating an untoward circumstance by preventing direct care staff from activating 9-1-1 and possibly shortening the emergent response timeframe by having outside support personnel called earlier. I haven't seen that in my work with my facilities. I don't know why that obstacle and barrier would exist to involving emergency response personnel. In my own State Department Developmental Disability Services require that staff call 9-1-1. They don't want staff second guessing if emergent response is needed. They don't want an untoward delay imposed on a medical circumstance like this. So it's not something that I'm familiar with. And it created an obstacle that was unnecessary.

Q And in your -- I believe you said 39 years of experience as an administrator in the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health. Based on that experience and based on your experience working with other facilities, both in Massachusetts and, I think, internationally and in other states, is a policy such as this emergency response policy at Bonneville below the standard of care?

A Well, it's a policy I was not familiar with. So I went researching and then I found the New Jersey requirement and law that requires staff employed in DDS contracted or operated services to call 9-1-1. I consulted with colleagues who work for international human service work and found out if they were familiar or aware of any kind of limitation on a 9-1-1 response. I've spoken with national colleagues who have multi-state services and no one was familiar with that kind of layered of emergent response. So it's not something I was familiar with and nor my colleagues, so it seemed --

Q You never -- in other words, in your 40 years, you've never seen anything like this?
A In my timeframe, no.
Q And neither have the colleagues you've consulted with?
A No, neither had they.
Q Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: Pass the witness. Thank you, Dr. LeBel.

THE WITNESS: Thank you.

MR. GILLISPIE: I'll pass the witness.

CROSS EXAMINATION

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q All right. Thank you, Doctor.
I don't think I was introduced, but my name is Rich Rosen and I represent the Department of Human Services.
So let me ask you just a few things. Are you a neurologist?
A I'm a psychologist.
Q Well, are you a neurologist as well?
A No.
Q Okay. Are you a pathologist?
A No.
Q Are you a medical doctor?
A No.

Q Are you a medical examiner?
A No.
Q Are you a physician of any sort? A medical doctor, a doctor of osteopathy or any of the order --
MR. GILLISPIE: Objection; asked and answered.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Are you a physician of any sort?
A No.
MR. GILLISPIE: Same objection.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. Now, in looking at your CV, and you've mentioned it here, you have -- you state you have a dual doctorate in what areas?
A In psychology and administration.
Q Okay. Now, I noticed on your writings, you identify yourself as a doctor of education.
A The program I was admitted to was first located in the department of education and then moved to the department of counseling psychology. So the Ed.D. program became a Ph.D. program.
Q Okay. So all right. So, Massachusetts, you can call yourself a phycologist?
A I am a licensed psychologist practitioner; which, yes, I am a licensed psychologist.

I'm also considered a health service provider. I'm also registered by the National Board of Psychology.
Q Okay. So the opinions that you've expressed today in this deposition, when asked by Mr. Gillispie, and any of the opinions that you're giving, going to give in response to my inquiries, those are not to a reasonable degree of medical certainty, are they?
MR. GILLISPIE: Object. Objection. Object to form.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Well, let me ask you -- I'll rephrase it just to make it clearer.
None of your opinions today are to a reasonable degree of medical certainty, are they?
A My opinions are based on a reasonable degree of expertise in the arena of restraint reduction and prevention.
I'm considered a national and international expert. So my opinion is offered within that context. I am a licensed board certified psychologist.
Q Okay. But, again, just so the record is clear, and I certainly understand your high opinion of yourself, but none of your opinions today are to a reasonable degree of medical certainty, are they?
A I don't know how you define a reasonable degree of medical certainty.

Q Well, you're not a physician, so it can't be to a reasonable degree of medical certainty, can they?
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.
A I'm expressing my opinions based on a reasonable degree of certainty within my expertise, which is in restraint reduction and prevention and an inappropriate use of restraint. So I consider myself an expert.
I am not a medical expert. I am not a physician.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. So none of your opinions are to a reasonable degree of medical certainty? It's a simple question.
MR. GILLISPIE: Same objection. I'm not sure she understands the question.
But you can answer it, if you know how to, Dr. LeBel.
A I believe I've answered the question.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. Well, it's really a yes -- would you agree that none of your opinions that you're expressing here today are to a reasonable degree of medical certainty?
Would that be a yes or would you disagree with that?
MR. GILLISPIE: Same objection.
Answer if you can.
A My opinions are based with a great degree of certainty based on my expertise which is relevant to this case which is regarding restraint use.

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay.
A So I would say I am a restraint reduction prevention expert.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay.
Now, so let's go back to your formal education because I'm not familiar with what people say a dual degree is.
So you have -- what does your diploma grant you? Or what did your diploma from Northeastern University grant you? What degree?
A A doctorate in counseling psychology.
Q Okay. So that's what's on the certificate itself?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And what college was that?
A Northeastern University in Boston.
Q Well, that's the university, but there's a separate college, I assume, that awards the degree.
A It's the Boston Bouve College of Health Sciences.
Q And so what college awarded you the doctorate in education?
A Northeastern University gave me the doctorate.

Q Okay. But what college within Northeastern University gave you the doctorate --
A Boston --
Q -- in education?
A -- Bouve College.
Q What's that?
A Boston Bouve.
Q Can you spell that?
A B-o-s-t-o-n B-o-u-v-e.
Q And what does that teach?
A It's a college within Northeastern University. It is their Health Science Division.
Q Okay.
Is there any reason that you, in your writings, the numerous ones that I saw, that you identify yourself as a doctorate in education only?
A No.
Q But you do have an actual doctorate in psychology?
A I have an actual doctorate in psychology. I am board certified in psychology.
Q And --
A By the American Board of Professional Psychology.
Q Okay.
A My credentials have been vetted within every level of the trade.

Q I just asked you what degree you were awarded.
I see from your CV that you identify as an instructor at the University of Massachusetts Medical School.
A That's correct.
Q Are you currently an instructor?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And you've been so since 2008?
A Correct.
Q Okay. That's about 14 years as an instructor; right?
A Correct.
Q Okay. Is this full time or part time?
A This is adjunct work.
Q Okay. So you're hired to teach courses?
A I'm given the title of Instructor of Psychiatry as part of the role that I have within the department of mental health in my role with the UMass Medical School and the services that they provide.
Q So this is part of your job within the department of mental health within Massachusetts?
A Yes. I oversee programs that have been delivered by the University of Massachusetts and their medical school.
Q And so, in the medical school, in your part as an instructor, you're not on a tenured path there, are you?

A No, I'm not.
Q Okay. So instructor is the lowest level of teaching in a university system; correct?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And, above that, there's assistant professor, association professor, and then a full professor; right?
A Correct.
Q Okay.
I also saw on your CV that you're a member of the Board of Professional Psychology that certified you in counseling psychology.
A Correct.
Q Does that mean that you're an individual, that you give individual therapy or counseling to people?
A I'm licensed and credentialed to do that. And I have been accepted to deliver that kind of service by several health insurance companies.
So I'm qualified, but I do not practice at the independent level.
Q So you don't do clinical psychology?
A I don't do that now.
Q Okay. Have you done it recently?
A I did that several years ago.
Q Okay. When did you stop?
A I'd say about 1990.

Q Okay.
Have you ever been to the Booneville Human Development Center?
A No.
Q Have you ever been to Arkansas?
A No.
Q Have you ever been to Logan County, Arkansas?
A No.

MR. GILLISPIE: Objection; asked and answered. She's never been to Arkansas.

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Do you know what city the Booneville Human Development Center is in?
A Presumably Booneville.
Q Okay. But you don't know?
A I've never been there.
Q Okay. Are you aware whether Booneville is in a urban or rural setting?
A Based on the information that I've read, it's been described as a rural environment.
Q Okay. And so do you know how many ambulances Logan County Arkansas had or had in 2020?
A No, I don't.
Q And do you know, did you do any research or do you know what the typical response time for Logan County EMS is to respond to calls at the Booneville Human Development Center?

A No, I don't.
Q Are you aware that it can sometimes take 45 to 60 minutes after a 9-1-1 call for EMS to respond?
A No, I'm not.
Q Are you aware that Booneville Human Development Center has a team of nurses on the premises at all times?
A Based on the documentation that I've reviewed and received, it appears that there are nurses that were on site.
Q Did you know, that in David Cains' case, it took EMS 13 minutes to arrive at the facility after the call to 9-1-1 was made?
A That's what I read.
Q Okay. Do you know how long it took the Booneville Human Development Center nurse team to arrive at the Commons building where the incident happened once they were called?
A I saw a divergence of opinion between the two nurses who were deposed about the amount of time that it took. And, because there was no accurate time reporting, it's impossible to know.
Q Okay. Well, they said it was between one to two minutes; right?

MR. GILLISPIE: Objection. Assumes evidence not in the record.

MR. ROSEN: Well, it is in the record, in their deposition.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q But I'm asking you, did you read that it was one to two minutes?

MR. GILLISPIE: Same objection.

A I read divergence of time and estimations between the two nurses.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q And so what was the estimation of time that you read? And which nurses?

A Am I allowed to look at my notes?

Q If you look at your notes, you're going to have to show me your notes.

A I'm sorry?

Q If you look at notes, I want to see the notes.

A Then I'll rely on my memory.

Q Rely on your memory. You're here to testify and you seem to have testified to counsel's questions, so now I'm asking you my questions.

A More than a minute, less than two minutes --

Q Okay.

A -- is my memory.

Q So under two minutes, you would agree; right?
MR. GILLISPIE: Same objection. Assumes evidence not in the record.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q That's what you read, that's what the response time was that you read from the nurses; right? One to two minutes; correct?
A Approximate time.
Q Okay.
Tell me, do you have any medical training to determine the cause of death?
A No.
Q Have you previously been allowed by any court of law to opine on an individual's cause of death?
A No.
Q Have you previously been allowed by any court to opine on any factors, whether directly or indirectly, contributing to a cause of death?
A No.
Q Have you ever testified in court before?
A No.
Q In your report to Mr. Gillispie, it was December 28th, 2022, you identify yourself as Dr. Janice LeBel. And, just for clarification, the doctor is due to your Ph.D., not because of any medical training; correct?

MR. GILLISPIE: Objection; asked and answered.

A Correct.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q And so you also stated, and I think you mentioned earlier, you stated in your December 28th, 2022 report to counsel, that you're board certified; and I think you stated that you are board cert -- what are you board certified in?

A Counseling psychology.

Q Okay. Counseling phycology, and what is that?

A That is the practice of psychology within a counseling framework.

Q Okay. So when you say counseling, you're talking giving individual group therapy type counseling; right?

A Well, actually, I was board certified within the rubric of counseling psychology; but, within that, administration as well.

So it's a knowledge of counseling psychology, techniques, methods of diagnosis and treatment, but in the delivery with an administrative management framework; so understanding how the intersection of clinical treatment dovetails with the oversight and the operation of clinical services whether they be practice-based in the community or facility-based.

Q Okay.

Now, I mean, I'm just looking at your CV, under education, and you talk about the ABPP, that's your board certification in counseling psychology?

A That's correct.

Q Okay. And that's all that you're board certified in; correct?

A Board certification takes years to obtain. It's based on experience, expertise.

The American Board of Psychology is the largest governing body for board certification in the practice and discipline of psychology.

Q Okay. Well, let me ask you this. Does that board have different certifications for psychologists? Or is it just counseling psychology?

A There are different divisions within the American Board of Professional Psychology that people can get specialized certification.

Q And yours is in counseling psychology?

A In counseling psychology and administration and management.

Q Well, I didn't see that in there. I just saw counseling psychology. That's what it's called; right? That's what you put on your CV.

A That's the division. And, within that, my certification was at a specialty track and administration in management.

Q And so they certify you in administration as well?

A They certified me within a counseling psychology.

Q Okay.

And I think you've said you gave up counseling psychology many years ago; is that correct?

A That's correct.

Q Okay.

Now, do you claim you -- do you profess to be an expert in restraint policy?

A I believe I have substantial experience in reading restraint policy and recognizing when there is reasonable policy, when there's policy that require improvement or enhancement.

So I would say that I am very familiar, in my expertise, at reviewing policy and recognizing where policies are reasonable and where policies fall short.

Q Okay. Nice. But the question is, do you profess or do you claim to be an expert in restraint policy?

A I don't know what the qualifications would be for being an expert in restraint policy, per se.

As someone who has expertise in the reduction and prevention of restraint use, I am aware when policy is consistent with restraint reduction prevention and when it is written in a way that supports or promotes the kind of practice to be able to avoid the use of restraint and to be able to put into place practices that help mitigate a use of hands-on procedures.

Q Okay. Well, I know you mentioned it earlier, but have you ever restrained anyone for their safety or the safety of others, including yourself?

A I've participated in restraints when I was employed as a direct care staff member at a general hospital and a state hospital.

Q And what year was that?

A This was in 1983, 1984.

Q Okay. And, when you say you participated, was the individual -- was that done for the safety of the individual or the safety of the staff around him or her or others?

A In my opinion, then, as a brand-new staff person and in my opinion now, the first restraint that I was asked to participate in and directed to participate in was entirely necessary.

Q I didn't ask that. What I asked you, was it done for the safety of the individual or the safety of others?

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form. She just answer that question, Rich.

MR. ROSEN: She didn't answer the question. She answered a different question that I didn't ask, but that's okay.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q So I'm asking it again. Have you ever participated in the restraint of someone that was done for the safety of the individual or the safety of other individuals?

A I participated in a restraint. And the reference that I made to that first restraint was allegedly for the safety of others.

But, in this case, there was no safety breach or any others. There was no need for the restraint.

Q Okay.

A I participated and was directed to participate in other restraints where I also felt the same circumstance to be true, that it was unnecessary and unwarranted.

Q So how many restraints do you think you participated in back in 1983 and 1984?

A I participated and was directed to participate in about a dozen restraints.

Q Okay. And, in your opinion, none of those were really for the safety of the individual or the safety of others; is that correct?

A It was one restraint that I would say was for the safety of the individual.

Q Okay. So you've done about a dozen of them in the 40 years ago, almost, late 38, 39 years ago, would you -- well, strike that.

Based upon the fact that you did about a dozen restraints, 11 of which you fundamentally disagreed with, do you consider yourself to be an expert in restraint use?

A I consider myself to be an expert in restraint reduction and prevention. I teach people to not use restraint.

Q So you're against restraint use at all?

A I'm against restraint use when it is used inappropriately, when it is used when there is no emergency circumstance, when it's used with no imminent harm or imminent danger. Restraint has its place as a life-saving method of last resort.

Q Okay.

A I have seen it used most often and most circumstances, that in circumstances that do not meet that, that standard.

Q Okay.

So let's just briefly, and we'll talk about it a little later, but since you mentioned it, the standard. So do you know what the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services is?

A Yes.

Q We often refer to it as CMS, do we not?
A Yes.
Q But you know what I'm talking about?
A Yes.
Q And you're familiar with -- do you know what the Code of Federal Regulations are?
A Yes.
Q And can we also call them CFRs; right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And so CMS issues a promulgated state operations manual regarding many things, but it includes restraint use; correct?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And so that CMS manual, those code of regulations promulgated, those are the standards that facilities such as the Booneville Human Development Center comply with; is that right?
A Conceptually, they should be applied.
Q Okay. Well, I don't know about conceptually. Are they the standard or are they not the standard?
A They're the standard. Whether or not they're adhered to, one doesn't know until you --
Q Okay.
A -- review how they're implemented.
Q Okay. Well, in looking at the -- so I think we all can agree then that the Code of Federal Regulations governing restraint use, CMS's state operations manual governing restraint use, those are the standard by which the Booneville Human Development Center had to comply with in its restraint of David Cains; correct?

A They're the standards that they had to comply with in order to get funding and reimbursement for the level of care and service that they were operating.

But my view on standards of care is that they're minimal standards. They're not aspirational.

Q Well --

A These are always standards that start as the foundation, the platform, and nothing prevents any organization from exceeding the standards. They are a minimal threshold.

Q Okay. But I'm just saying this is what the standard of care for restraint is in the United States in what we call an intermediate care facility for individuals with intellectual disabilities, which is what Booneville Human Development Center is licensed as; correct?

A Correct.

Q And those are the standards that they had to follow, at least the minimal standards?

A Correct.

Q Okay.

So I think what you're saying here today is, notwithstanding CMS and the Code of Federal Regulation, in your opinion, there should be, at least aspirationally, a higher standard?

A There's nothing that prevents an organization from adopting aspirational standards, as we've seen other states and other facilities do.

The testimony that I gave earlier was that the Pennsylvania State Hospital System, that far surpasses the CMS standards.

Q Okay. But they're not required to do so to meet the standard level of care; correct?

A They're not required to do it to meet the standard level of care but they do from a quality and treatment perspective.

Q Let me ask you -- well, that's what I want to ask you to clarify. Because if the CMS state operations manual and the promulgated Code of Federal Regulations is the standard, then that's all that needs to be met legally; correct?

A All that needs to be met legally. But, in Booneville's case, they failed to meet that standard.

Q Well, we're going to talk about that in a few minutes. Because I'm a little confused by the standards; because, in your report and here today, you're talking about the standard set by the World Health Organization, standards set by international -- other countries' standards set by the United Nations.

But those aren't the standards applied in this country now or in June of 2020, were they?

A The standard that Booneville had to follow was the standard that was imposed through their own DDS regulations which rolled up into the federal standards imposed by CMS.

Q Okay. Well --

A The UN (inaudible) convention on the rights and the World Health Organizations are international perspectives that are informed by many people from the United States as another platform for preferred practice.

Q Okay. But, just to make it clear, because I don't want the Claims Commission to be confused, the standard of care for restraint use is the Code of Federal Regulations governing restraint use for intermediate care facilities for individuals with intellectual disabilities and the CMS state operations manual that enforces that against such licensed facilities; correct?

A Correct.

Q Okay.

Now, did you know David Cains?

A No.

Q Do you know how tall he was?
A No.
Q Do you know how much he weighed?
A I believe I read that he weighed about 250 pounds.
Q Okay. Do you know whether he was a big guy or not?
A I believe he was a big guy.
Q Okay. Was David Cains a physically aggressive individual?
A It is difficult to answer that question. And let me just explain why.

My dissertation was on aggression in children. Aggression can sometimes be in the eye of the beholder. And this is one of the points that I was trying to make earlier in my testimony, that one person can describe a level of behavior that might be called aggression when, in fact, it's not aggressive.

The United Nation spent more than 75 years trying to define what aggression is and failed and gave up on trying to define aggression.

So when you ask me if he's aggressive, I know the verbiage that's been used. And I also juxtapose that with the descriptions that the staff have also used to describe him as lovable, likable, a nice guy, wouldn't hurt anybody, never hurt anybody. If he gets frustrated, he flapped his hands.

So I don't know how to interpret and answer your question, whether or not he's aggressive. I didn't meet him, I didn't see him.

I read language that says one thing and behavior that came out something different by description.

Q Do you know what an interdisciplinary team is?

A Yes.

Q What is that?

A It's a team of professionals from different disciplines who come together to typically form a treatment plan or a plan of care and review and weigh in and oversee that plan.

Q I see that you, in your written report, that you were provided with a -- at least one interdisciplinary team plan which we call a individual program plan or an IPP. Did you read that?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And so was -- were you provided the one for 2019 that was in effect at the time that he passed away?

A I believe so.

Q Okay. Now, so then you saw in there that the -- in the IPP, on Page Six of that IPP, that under background information, that David demonstrated a history of the following behaviors. And it included physical aggression, destroying personal property, TV, radios, DVD player, breaking windows. Did you see that?

A Yes.
Q Do you believe that?
A If the rep -- if it wants to believe the written documentation, then, yes, I would believe it.
Q Okay. Now, this was created by the interdisciplinary team and -- right? I mean, you saw that?
A Correct.
Q And that included David's mother and legal guardian, did it not?
A I believe so.
Q And it included his sister, Christine Cains McAuliffe, who is the -- a claimant in this case; right?
A I believe so.
Q And that's on Page Two of the IPP. You saw that; right?
A I answered that question already.
Q Okay.
And so they determined that he had a history -- and the team agreed that he had a demonstrated history of physical aggression.
Now, as a psychologist, people who are physically aggressive aren't necessarily physically aggressive 100 percent of the time, are they?

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.
A Presumably not.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. So you could be a nice, lovable person, and still have a darker side that causes you to be physically aggressive at times; correct?
MR. GILLISPIE: Object. Object to form. Calls for speculation.
MR. ROSEN: Well, I'm asking her opinion on that based on her experience as a clinical psychologist.
MR. GILLISPIE: I object to the broadness of the question as well, as well as it calling for speculation.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Well, let me ask it this way, Doctor.
Have you experienced, in your clinical psychology or in your training as a psychologist, a person who can be lovable and kind at one moment and destructive, violent, and physically aggressive in another moment?
A I have seen people from -- go from calm to disruptive or destructive. I've seen that, yes.
Q As a matter of fact, we know here from Tyler Moore's deposition, Tyler Mattson's deposition, that David Cain went from being -- from calming down in a chair to jumping up and lunging at him; right?

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.

A It's difficult to know what happened because I saw no reference to lunging when I read the OLTC statement from Tyler Mattson; which is the most recent testimony to the event itself.

There's no reference to lunging --

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Okay. Did you --

A -- so I don't know how to, how to understand how lunging then came into the play when it was not discussed.

When he was interviewed by Disability Rights, there was no reference to a lunge.

So, somewhere along the line in his thinking and testimony, lunging appeared. It wasn't; so, when we looked at his response to what he said most quickly, after the event, there's no lunge.

Q Okay. So you're --

A I don't know if he actually lunged or not.

Q Okay.

A But, by Taylor's, Tyler's description, there was no lunge.

Q Okay. By Tyler's description, even counsel said that he tried to -- that David Cain tried to hit Tyler

Mattson. Do you disagree with that?
A I saw the language attempting to hit. That's not hitting.
Q Okay.
A We might see anything from flailing to arm movement. We have no way of knowing what was actually happening.
Q Okay. And so you don't know what actually happened then; right? You admit that?
A I admit that.
Q Okay.
Now, are you aware that the testimony that Tyler Mattson gives at his deposition, which was more detailed, was in response to prompting from counsel from the claimant Mr. Gillispie? He asked more detailed questions.

MR. GILLISPIE: Objection. Object to the form.

If you want to take her through that, do you have his -- I mean, can you --

MR. ROSEN: No. I --

MR. GILLISPIE: -- make it an exhibit if you're going to ask her --

MR. ROSEN: No. I don't -- I don't need to. I'm asking her. She's rendering an opinion so I want to know what it's based upon.

And she made a statement and I'm just following up on that.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q So let me be clear. Okay?

Did you read the deposition testimony of Tyler Mattson and the questioning by counsel for the claimant Mr. Gillispie?

A Yes.

Q Okay. So then you saw that Tyler Mattson, when asked more details about what happened, stated more details about what happened; correct?

A I read details that didn't exist in his OLTC statement. I read detail that didn't exist at the Disability Rights Arkansas report.

References to a lunge and lunging appeared two years later in Mr. Mattson's testimony. So I find it difficult to understand. And only Mr. Mattson and David would know what happened.

Q Okay. So, in your opinions here today and in your report, you didn't mention David, excuse me, Tyler Mattson's deposition testimony, did you?

A I believe I did reference that I reviewed depositions when I talked about the documents that I had reviewed.

Q Yeah, but you didn't mention -- you didn't cite to Tyler Mattson's statements under oath in his deposition, did you?

A I believe I did cite Mr. Mattson's descriptions about David Cains' behavior. Screaming, cussing.
Q Okay.
A And his rationale for the use of hands on.
Q Okay. But you didn't mention anything about the lunging or attacking, did you, in your report or earlier today in your testimony?
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to -- objection.
MR. ROSEN: I don't know what the objection would be. I'm just asking whether she referred to it or not.
MR. GILLISPIE: I believe it was addressed. But it doesn't matter.
Answer if you can, Dr. LeBel.
A I believe I referenced the lunging with respect to the testimony earlier about the techniques that Mark Hise described could be used to help intervene in that circumstance; which was the pivot, the sweeping motion like a matador, the blocking, the supported stance.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. Well, I'm not asking you about that though. I'm asking you simply about -- you said you read Tyler Mattson's testimony. And I'm asking you, that in your testimony earlier today and in your report, you didn't mention anything about Tyler Mattson's stating in response to Mr. Gillespie's questions under oath about the lunging or the attack, did you?

MR. GILLISPIE: Same objection.

A Sir, I'm getting lost in your question. Can you simplify it for me?

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Well, I -- it's a very simple question, Doctor.

Did you or did you not cite in your report and your testimony earlier today that Tyler Mattson testified under oath in his deposition that David Cains jumped up from the seat, words to this effect, lunged at him and tried to hit him and then made physical contact?

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.

MR. ROSEN: I don't know what form. This is cross examination.

MR. GILLISPIE: I don't even understand the question. I don't even understand the question.

MR. ROSEN: Yeah, you do. And so does the doctor.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q So let's just be simple because I've asked this every time, Doctor.

Did you, in your -- let's break it down. In your report, did mention anything in your report that Tyler Mattson testified under oath in response to Mr. Gillispie's questions that David Cains lunged at him and made contact? Did you say that in your report?

A I believe my report extracted quotes from Mr. Mattson and his attribution of David's behavior.

I believe I cited that as not meeting the facility's emergency standard.

Q Okay. I'm just asking --

A And I didn't reference --

Q Go ahead.

A I did not reference, in my report, the exchange between Mr. Gillispie and Mr. Mattson and the degree of questioning.

Q Okay. And you didn't reference any, the physical contact or the lunging of David Cains from a seated position towards Tyler Mattson, did you?

MR. GILLISPIE: Same objection. Why don't you get a --

MR. ROSEN: Well, counsel, I'd like to know what your objection is.

MR. GILLISPIE: Why don't you --

MR. ROSEN: I'd like to know.

MR. GILLISPIE: If you --

MR. ROSEN: Don't tell me how to practice.
MR. GILLISPIE: The report speaks for itself.
MR. ROSEN: I'm asking you for your objection. What is the basis for your objection on cross examination about what was or what was not in her report and in her testimony?
Tell me what your objection is so I can respond to it.
MR. GILLISPIE: Repeat the question one more time.
MR. ROSEN: This is very simple. I don't understand why the doctor can't seem to answer.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Let's go through your report.
In your report, does it mention anything about Tyler Mattson's deposition testimony under oath to Mr. Gillespie's questions that talks about lunging or making contact, David Cains lunging at and making contact with Tyler Mattson from a seated position? Yes or no?

A No.

Q Okay. And so -- but you saw that in his deposition when you reviewed it; correct?

A I saw the inconsistency between --

Q I didn't ask you that. I asked you --
A -- that --
Q -- whether you saw it.
MR. GILLISPIE: Let her finish her question, please. Let her finish her answer, please.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Did you see it or did you not see it?
A I saw the description of David seated. And, from the seated position, starting to tear paper from a wall.
I did not see, in the description, the shift of how he got up and then the lunge suddenly appeared. I could not put those pieces together. It was not --
Q So you didn't see that in Tyler --
A -- in the --
Q I'm sorry. You did not see that in Tyler Mattson's deposition under oath?
A I did not see what? I'm sorry.
Q You did not see that Tyler Mattson said words to the effect that David Cains was in a seated position and got up and lunged at him and made contact? You didn't see that?
A I saw that he made a statement that David had lunged at him in his deposition.
Q Okay. Great. That's all I was asking.

Now, you chose to be selective in the facts that you stated in your opinion; correct?

MR. GILLISPIE: Objection. Objection.

MR. ROSEN: What is the objection, Counsel? Just because you disagree with the question doesn't make it objectionable.

This is cross examination. I want to know why it's not in the report.

MR. GILLISPIE: You're wanting to know why what's not in the report?

MR. ROSEN: Tyler Mattson's statements about the lunging and the contact.

So what is your objection, Counsel?

MR. GILLISPIE: Well, first of all, I'm not sure that it's not accounted for, to some degree, in the report.

MR. ROSEN: I didn't see it.

MR. GILLISPIE: It looked to me like it was. Well, use the report. Use it as an exhibit and ask it that way. We've gone through this, we've had this problem before in depositions.

MR. ROSEN: I'm simply asking -- she's here -- Doctor?

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Dr. LeBel, do you understand what I'm asking --
MR. GILLISPIE: Show her the report. Show her the report --
MR. ROSEN: I'm not showing her --
MR. GILLISPIE: -- and let her look at it --
MR. ROSEN: She your witness.
MR. GILLISPIE: -- so she can answer it clearly.
MR. ROSEN: She is your witness. Okay? She wrote the report. She testified here today.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q I'm simply asking whether you selected certain facts that you saw in the deposition that you chose not to put in the report including the lunging and physical contact by David Cains towards Tyler Mattson. Simple.
A I chose to use Mr. Mattson's description based on his OLTC statement because it is part of the recency effect.
This gentleman had just provided his current experience with very little time lapse, with very little opportunity to be part of a process that would start to conflate his thinking, confuse his thinking, distort his thinking.

The human memory, it's grossly fallible. So the closer we get to looking at real-time testimony to what happened is the soonest account that we have.

The more time that lapses, the more discussions that go on, the more we try to convince ourselves that something else happened, the more our descriptions start to shift. And that's what we see here.

So what was very interested and focused --

Q And (inaudible) --

A Let me speak.

On Tyler's first words and first words that he was documenting with, I believe, some support and supervision from Sandy Evans and the completing of this, so I was very interested in how he characterized what occurred, how he described it. I was interested in the level of risk that he was describing that would warrant his grabbing David's arms.

As I read his description, he described David as requesting to go to the bathroom. That testimony changed later. He -- he said that David asked to sit down and he said that that was fine and then David started to scream and cuss and rip paper off the wall and then he jumped up.

I don't read any descriptor in there that would justify the use of restraint. So I relied very heavily on Mr. Mattson and his experience and his recounting his experience, particularly the closest to the event as possible, so I could get purity of thought and best understanding of what happened.

Because, in truth, none of us will know what actually happened to this gentleman. But what we do know is that David was killed.

COURT REPORTER: You're on you mute.

Rich, you're on mute.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q So it's your testimony that David Cains was killed? And you're not a medical doctor to render a medical opinion. Is that your testimony?

You just said that, and is that your testimony that you're sticking by?

A My testimony --

Q I asked you, yes or no. This is very important.

A You asked if that's my --

Q You used the word killed --

A -- testimony and I am saying that my testimony is that David Cains was alive, he was functional until that restraint occurred. Now he's dead.

Q Do you know why he vomited? Medically, why he vomited, can you testify to that, Dr. LeBel?

A The statements that have been --

MR. GILLISPIE: Hold on. Objection.

Rich, I'm not going to let you harass my witness. You need to --

MR. ROSEN: I'm not harassing her.

MR. GILLISPIE: You need to tone it down.

MR. ROSEN: I'm asking her questions based upon what she has just testified to.

MR. GILLISPIE: You need to be respectful.

MR. ROSEN: I am respectful.

MR. GILLISPIE: You need to be respectful, sir. You're not being respectful.

MR. ROSEN: She used -- she's using medical terms, legal terms, criminal terms, and yet she can't seem to justify them --

MR. GILLISPIE: Just take it down a notch, Rich.

MR. ROSEN: -- and she's not even a doctor.

MR. GILLISPIE: Take it down a notch. Be respectful.

MR. ROSEN: I am respectful. And there's nothing -- I'm not leveling it up. I'm responding to Dr. LeBel's statement. And I want to know, we've determined she's not a pathologist, she's not a medical examiner, she's not a doctor.

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q And I guess I have to ask, Dr. LeBel, are you a prosecutor?
A No.
Q Are you a lawyer?
A No.
Q Uh-huh. Okay. Do you stand by your word that he was killed on that day?
MR. GILLISPIE: Asked and answered, Rich. She testified to it.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Do you stand by that?
MR. ROSEN: Giving her a chance to retract it.
A David Cains is dead.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. I didn't ask you that. You used the word killed.
A Perhaps the language was harsh. But, when you're the family of David Cains and your son or brother is alive one day and dead the next, what do you think they think?
Q Okay. Well, I don't -- I didn't ask you --
A I'm saying that David Cains was alive and functional and relatively healthy --

Q Okay.
A -- until that restraint occurred.
Q Okay. But there are other factors that happened. He vomited; correct?
A Correct.
Q Okay. So do you -- just so the record is clear, you're retracting your characterization of that David Cains was killed; right?
A It's a descriptive term that describes a loss of life.
Q Okay. So you --
A It is not meant to be incendiary or provocative. But we had a gentleman in a care institution receiving care and treatment who went from being alive to dead because a restraint was inflicted on him. A restraint --
Q Well --
A -- that ensued that he did not cause.
Q Okay. So you're not saying that he was choked by any of these people, are you?
A I'm not saying that he was choked by these people.
Q Okay. So we all can agree, that while he was being restrained, he vomited and choked; correct?
A I have no way of knowing if he aspirated. I know, based on the statements of the staff who participated and provided their OLTC reports, that they say that he vomited. He regurgitated his lunch which he ate minutes before.

Q Do you have any reason to believe that's not what happened?

A I believe he did vomit.

Q Okay.

A I believe he did aspirate. I believe he did have clogging of his airway.

Q Okay. Now, we kind of got off track.

So under the IPP -- and let's go back to the IPP. You're aware that it defined -- when it used the term that David was physically aggressive, it also defined on Page Nine of that report, the IPP, what physical aggression meant; correct?

A I don't have the IPP in front of me, so I'll rely on your statement.

Q Well, no, I'll read it to you.

Physical aggression, PA, defined as the attempted or actually striking, hitting, or kicking or other -- or kicking other people or objects with the intent to cause injury or damage.

MR. GILLISPIE: What's the question?

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Were you aware that that defined physical aggression

as hitting, striking, or attempting to hit or strike or kick?
A I was aware that it did define aggression that way. But, particularly, attempting.
Q Okay. Now, you are aware that the IPP, on Page Ten, allowed center emergency procedures when necessary; correct? To protect -- A Again, I don't have --
Q -- the patient --
A -- the document in front of me. I will rely on your statement.
Q Okay. But you saw that? You reading something to that effect rings a bell; right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. So all right. Hold on.
Now, I think we all can agree you were not there on June 30th, 2020, to see David's behavior incident or the response, were you?
A Correct.
Q Okay. Now, we were talking earlier before we were kind of sidetracked, and you were talking about, you know, David being what you described as a lovable, nice person; but, in your experience, you know that people can also be violent and aggressive at other times; right?
A No. What I described was a statement of staff.

Again, I never met David Cains, so I rely on the statement of staff who described him as lovable, fun, funny, easy to work with, and that he never harmed them or anyone that they were aware of.

So I'm not relying on my personal knowledge. I'm relying on the statement of staff at Booneville who described him that way.

Q Okay. Well, did you read the staff statements about where he bit a staff member twice?

A No.

Q Did you read the statements from the Booneville -- the depositions, were you given the depositions where the staff member described how David used to open up the door to the fire extinguisher and throw it at people?

A I read about an incident that he opened the door.

Q But he --

A I read about the incident of throwing a fire extinguisher, but not with the intent of harming.

Q Okay. Well, how do you know what his intent was?

A I don't. I rely on the statement of the staff and that was her interpretation.

Q So did you read about where he punched his sister?

A I read reference to it.

Q Okay. Did you read where, the day after Christmas, David Cain in, I don't know what year, that Mrs. Robinson, the mother and legal guardian of David Cain was at the facility, David Cains overturned a table and hit his mother? Were you aware of that?

A I'm aware of overturning a table.

Q But you didn't see where he hit the -- where he hit his own mother?

A I don't remember reading that.

Q Okay. All right.

But I didn't -- none of those -- so would that be -- so, as a psychologist, going back to the question, people can be lovable and calm and also have a darker side where they're aggressive and violent and destructive; right?

A I think the same could be said about any human being.

Q Okay. I would agree with that.

Now, you also saw in the IPP that he had destroyed his television set in his room, several radios, and a DVD player and had broken class; correct?

A Correct.

Q Okay. Hold on one second.

And we got a little into the substance but -- so I want to kind of go back and ask you some preliminary questions again or some questions.

When were you -- you were identified to DHS in approximately January of '21 as a potential expert in this case. When were you first contacted by someone on this as a potential expert?

A I believe in January of 2021.
Q Okay. And so we didn't get your report and your report is not dated until December 28th of 2022, approximately a year later; right?
A Right.
Q Do you know any reason why there was such a delay?
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the use of the term delay. Obviously, we were conducting depositions that whole year and those were important for her to review in order to render an opinion.
MR. ROSEN: Okay.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q So you didn't -- when you were first contacted about being a restraint, of being a restraint expert, so to speak, did you -- who'd you talk to?
A I was contacted about being a restraint prevention expert. Not a restraint expert.
I was contacted by Mr. Gillispie.
Q Okay. Do you know how he got your name?
A No, I do not.
Q Are you listed with any service or agency as a potential expert witness?

A Not that I'm aware of.
Q Okay.
All right. Let me ask you about -- since you're with the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health, does that in -- is there a separate department for like developmental disability services? Or is that within the department of mental health?
A Development disability services used to be within the department of mental health but split out. And now it's its own department.
Q Okay. When did that happen?
A (Inaudible) department services.
Roughly 1990, '91, '92.
Q Oh, so 30-something years ago? About 30 years ago?
A About.
Q Okay. So you don't -- so you're over mental health, not over DDS services, disability services; right?
A I work for the department of mental health.
Q Okay. So does Massachusetts have ICF/IIDs, which are intermediate care facilities for individuals with intellectual disabilities, which is what an HDC is, do they run those?
A They run those.
Q Okay. So they -- you have them in Massachusetts?
A Yes.

Q Okay. State run?
A State run or contracted.
Q Okay.
And so they don't use restraints at all?
A They use some restraint.
Q Oh, okay. So, even in your own state, restraints are used in the equivalent of human development centers, ICF/IIDs; correct?
A I believe so.
Q Okay.
So now let's get back to a topic we kind of jumped into but I want to explore a little further.
How do you define what is a standard?
MR. GILLISPIE: Objection to the form.
MR. ROSEN: I'm not sure how that would be objectionable.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q But go ahead.
A How do I define what is a standard?
Q Yes. What is a standard to you?
A A standard for what?
Q A standard of care.
A A standard of care, to me, is a reasonable practice.
Q In whose opinion?
A Well, you just asked me for mine.

Q Okay. In your opinion then. Okay. Fair enough.
In your December 28th, 2022 report, you used the term proximal. What did you mean by that?
A I used the word proximal because his death followed the use of restraint. It was proximal to restraint.
Q Okay. So proximal, does that mean like close in time?
A Close in contiguity of time, yes.
Q Okay. But you're not insinuating or stating that one had anything to do with the other, are you, in that statement?
A Oh, I believe one absolutely had something to do with the other.
Q Okay. Well, that's where I want to go back, because you're not a physician; right?
A I'm not a physician. But, as a member of the lay public and reading reports from the coroner, reading reports from EMS, reading reports from the hospital, I can recognize when somebody is describing that somebody died.
So, as a member of the lay public, I'm able to read and appreciate that someone died as a result of being restrained.
Q Well, that's what I'm asking you. How do you make the medical connection, to a reasonable degree of medical certainty, that the restraint caused the death?

A Well, I would say, if you look at the statements that have been rendered, whether it's from the emergency personnel on site, the nurses, whether it's the direct care staff, that in the course of restraint, David became
[redacted]
Q Well, it stopped because of an event that happened while he was being restrained, and that was vomiting; right?
A He vomited because he was being restrained.
Q Well, that's where I -- so, Dr. LeBel, I understand you're a licensed psychologist in Massachusetts. Okay?
But you're not a physician, you're not a coroner, you're not a pathologist, you're not a neurologist. You have no formal medical training whatsoever. You're not a lawyer, you're not a prosecutor.
So on what -- this is just -- you base that connection based simply on your lay observation?
A I make that observation based on reading the CPI/NCI training, that they describe the sequela of restraint, they describe the possibility of positional asphyxia, they described the possibility of choking, aspiration, they described the possibility of cardiac arrest.

They described a number of physical possibilities associated with the high risk of using a restraint. So I rely on that industry, CPI and NCI, which was the policy and practice adopted by Booneville as a method to intervene in the event of behavioral distress.

I rely on --

Q So you're --

MR. GILLISPIE: Please let her finish.

A -- CPIs, NCI, written description about the possibilities of adverse events.

I rely on the expertise of my colleagues who I have worked with, studied with, published with, trained with, who have, in fact, opined, as medical professionals, about the lethality of restraint use.

So I feel quite comfortable in relying on this education, this learning, this experience, to render an opinion that David Cains was alive and relatively healthy before this restraint occurred.

And, during the course of restraint, a series of medical events happened, and he died.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Okay. Okay. So you're saying -- well, proximal is not proximate in your -- you didn't use the word proximate in your opinion, in your written report. You used proximal; which means close in time.

So two events happened close in time does not necessarily, to a reasonable degree of medical certainty, mean that one caused the other, does it?

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form; asked and answered.

MR. ROSEN: Please tell me your objection to the form so that we can address it. Because this is cross examination of an expert witness.

MR. GILLISPIE: It's borderline unintelligible. I'm not sure what you're asking; but, other than that, it's -- you've asked the same question about that word and she answered it.

MR. ROSEN: Okay.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q So, Dr. LeBel, I want to make the record clear so that we know what you're saying and we know what you're not saying. Okay?

So are you saying to a reasonable degree of medical certainty, in your medical opinion, that the restraint caused David Cain to vomit and to choke? Is that what you're saying?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And your qualifications to say that is based upon? What medical training do you have? What medical training do you have? That's all I want to know.

A I have been employed in healthcare settings. I have been given education within hospital-based settings on medical procedure and practices, including the use of restraint. I have received a medical education.

And let me just also say, that when I received this medical education about the use of hands-on procedures and the use of restraints, I'm sad to say that none of the psychiatry attending physicians that were on staffing ever participated in that medical training.

So, while they're authorized to give the order, they didn't participate in that level of education and training. I did.

I have also learned, I'm relatively educable and have taught and have presented with a number of physicians, cardiologist, pathologists, psychiatrist, who have all educated me about the use of restraint, the stress on the body, and the likelihood of serious harm when restraint is used that could lead to death.
Q Okay. So if there is a connection between the restraint and vomiting, that means that every time a restraint was used, there would be vomiting, is that your opinion?
A No, that's not my opinion.
Q Okay. Okay. So how often, when a restraint is used, would there be vomiting?

A I have no capacity to respond to your question.
Q Okay. Fair enough.
Now, you're aware that David Cains was able to make himself vomit at times; correct?
A I wouldn't --
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to form; assumes evidence not in the record.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q I'm asking you, are you aware of that or not aware of that?
A I'm aware of --
MR. GILLISPIE: Same objection. Assumes evidence that's not in the record.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Dr. LeBel, are you aware that David Cains frequently vomited?
A I'm aware that Tyler Mattson made reference to that.
Q Okay. Are you aware that his sister made reference to that?
A No.
Q Okay. Would that change your opinion, if your sister, if David Cains' sister mentioned that he frequently vomited?
A Possibly.

Q Okay. But you weren't provided that information, were you?
A No.
Q Okay.
Now, I think we've already established that you do agree that the Code of Federal Regulations governing intermediate care facilities for individuals with intellectual disabilities and the corresponding CMS operations manual, which we call Appendix J, are the applicable standards to be applied by Booneville Human Development Center for restraints; correct?
MR. GILLISPIE: Asked and answered.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q You agree with that; right?
A I already answered to that question. Yes.
Q Okay. And so, if the Booneville Human Development Center followed those restraint provisions, then they met the standard of care; correct?
A If they followed those provisions.
Q You would agree, that if they followed it, they would have met the standard of care?
A Well, the standard of care is broad. There are multiple dimensions of the standard of care.
And the use in the application of this discussion with respect to restraint, then yes, they would have met the standard of care. But the standard of care doesn't just apply to the use of restraint.

Q Okay. And so, just to be clear, would you agree that physical restraints may be employed in an ICF/IID like the Booneville Human Development Center as an emergency measure but only if absolutely necessary to protect others from injury? The client and others from injury, would you agree with that statement?
A I would agree with that.
Q Okay. And so would you agree that the employment of restraints for -- the employment of emergency restraints in an ICF/IID is allowed, pursuant to 42-CFR-483-450(d)(1)(ii)?
A I would agree with that. And also that it preferences that restraint is only to be used when the client is exhibiting behavior that the client has not exhibited before and is not identified in the functional behavior assessment or the client is harming other people or themselves. So there's -- Q But that's actually not the --
A -- many facets.
Q But that's actually not the standard in the state operations manual or the CFR, is it?
A That's the standard that I made note of.
Q Okay. Well, you might have made note of it, but that's not what it says, is it?

And let's go to that. So it's your testimony -- so the state operations manual -- and let's set the stage a little bit.

Appendix J, which is the state operations manual under which facilities are judged as to whether they are compliant with federal regulations or not compliant and deficient with federal regulations; correct? You would agree with that; right?

A What was the question?

Q The question is, that Appendix J, the state operations manual for ICF/IIDs like the Booneville Human Devolpement Center, is the guidance to surveyors for determining whether a facility is in compliance with federal regulations or not in compliance with federal regulations; right?

A I don't know that; because I do know that CMS has issued separate guidance to surveyors, so I don't know.

I don't have a copy of the state operations manual.

Q Okay. So you're not -- are you familiar with Appendix J from CMS? The state operations manual?

A I don't know. I don't believe that I've reviewed Appendix J.

Q Okay. Fair enough.

So your opinion that you've expressed here today and those in your reports are not based upon Appendix J, the state operations manual, is it?

A My opinion comes from looking at the CMS regulations, 483.420, 483.450; so I'm looking at those standards. I'm not looking at the state operations manual.

Q Okay. And have you ever heard of that before?

A The state operations manual?

Q Yes.

A Yes.

Q Okay. And so you know it's a promulgated document from centers of Medicare -- from the federal government; right?

A Right.

Q Okay. And do you know what we commonly call as a TAG?

A Yes.

Q What is a TAG?

A A TAG is a citation to a specific referenced within the manual of the regulation.

Q Okay. And this is the manual that the TAGs are related to. They have certain requirements that a facility must meet with regard to, in this case, restraints.

And, if they violate that, then they're going to get a deficiency. And, if they don't violate that, then they're okay, they're cleared; right?

A Conceptually.
Q Yeah. That's how it works; right?
A I presume so.
Q Okay.
A I'm not a --
Q Do you know so?
A I'm not a CMS surveyor.
Q Okay. Fair enough. But you know the process is that when there's a -- well, you know that a facility like the Booneville Human Development Center has annual surveys and compliant surveys by CMS surveyors; correct?
A I don't know the frequency with which CMS conducts their surveys. I don't know that.
Q Okay. Do you know what the regulators, how often they survey at all?
A I do know that COVID has dramatically stepped on the frequency of surveys, so I don't know the frequency in Arkansas.
Q Do you know whether there was a survey by the state regulator as a result of an investigation into David Cains' death?
A No, I don't.
Q So then, if you don't know that there was a survey, you don't know what the outcome of that survey was, do you?

A I don't know the outcome of the CMS survey following David's death.

Q Okay. Fair enough.

Would you agree, that under federal regulations and -- well, I'm not going to ask you about the Appendix J state operations manual because you're not familiar with it, so let's --

MR. GILLISPIE: Object. Object to the form of that. The term Appendix J may be throwing her off, but we're talking about the same federal regulations, the same CMS/ICF regulations, 483.450, et cetera. We're talking about the same thing.

MR. ROSEN: Well, I'll just go on what Dr. LeBel said.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Anyway, what I'm going to ask you is, in response to an emergency -- well, is it your opinion that the emergency situation that would allow restraints must have a potential consequence, that without the restraint or the intervention, there would be some lethality to it?

A Yes.

Q So that's your requirements?

A That's not my requirement. That comes directly from the DDS regulations.
Q Okay. When --
A And the (inaudible) health or safety in which death or severe bodily injury could reasonably be expected to occur without intervention.
Q Okay. So it's not just death, it's bodily injury as well; right?
A Severe bodily injury. Not just bodily injury. It's severe bodily injury.
Q And where are you looking at for that statement? Where did you get that statement?
A The DDS regulations 311-D.
Q Okay. 311-D?
A And they also roll up to CMS standards. And the CMS standards, as Mr. Gillispie has identified and what I'm referring to and, yes, they inform Appendix J --
Q Okay.
A -- in the operations manual.
Q Okay. In looking at -- where in 311-D, 3011-D, does it talk, does it say that?
A I don't have it open in front of me.
Q Okay. What subsection? Do you know?
A I don't have it open in front of me.
Q Because I don't see it; and that's why I'm asking.

MR. GILLISPIE: I think it may be DDS 30 (inaudible) --

MR. ROSEN: Well, I'm not asking you, Counsel. I'm asking --

THE WITNESS: I'm sorry. You're correct. It's 3004.

MR. ROSEN: 3004?

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q And what is that?

A That's Appendix A, the imminent danger to health and to safety.

Q Okay. And what --

A DDS 3004.

Q Okay.

A Appendix A.

Q Okay.

MR. ROSEN: We're going to take a break here. We've been going for a while. Let's take about a five-minute break. Okay?

THE WITNESS: Okay.

(WHEREUPON, the record was suspended momentarily and the proceedings resumed as follows, to wit.)

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Okay. So we were talking about the restraint policy and 3011-D. And I just want to make sure, is your opinion of DHS policy, excuse me, DDS policies based upon 3011-D regarding restraints?

A Yes.

Q It is?

MR. GILLISPIE: Which -- what's the --

MR. ROSEN: I was asking about 311-D.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q And, Dr. LeBel, you had said that you relied upon 3004 with regard to serious injury or death. Or I can't exactly --

A It was referenced there and 311-D, as well, I relied on.

Q Okay. Well, let's talk about 311-D first. Okay. So 311-D, emergency provisions don't include the words the requirement that there be any lethality in the absence of intervention, does it?

A I read the word and phrase imminent danger.

Q Okay. Where is the word imminent danger in DHS or DDS policy 3011-D?

A 3004, Appendix A.

Q Okay. I'm talking about 3011-D --

A One-one-D?

Q -- which is the behavior management restraint policy for DDS.

A I don't have that in front of me.
Q Okay. Did you rely upon that at all?
A Oh, yes. I read them.
Q Okay. And is it your testimony here today that the DDS policy 3011-D requires imminent danger or harm?
A I said that with respect to 3004.
Q Okay.
A DDS regulation and policy.
Q Okay. So you said that's with 3004.
So, in 3004, what is -- the behavior management and restraint policy of DDS is in Policy No. 3011-D. So I'm asking you, you looked at something different, at DDS Policy 3004, which deals with what?
MR. GILLISPIE: I object to the form. I'm not sure what --
MR. ROSEN: Well --
MR. GILLISPIE: I'm not sure what that question is asking at all.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q I'm asking you, what is the subject of the policy?
MR. GILLISPIE: You're asking her what is the subject of a DDS policy?
MR. ROSEN: Of the policy she relied upon.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Well, I'll make it a little easier since there's been a pause and I don't think you know.

So 3004 is the maltreatment prohibition prevention and reporting investigation policy; right?
A Sir, I don't have these documents in front of me.
Q Okay.
A You're asking me to paraphrase the language that's used to describe these. I read different DDS regulations that pertain to the use of restraint.
Q Okay. So is it your testimony that DDS Policy 3004 deals with restraints?
A It's my testimony that it deals with the imminent danger to health or safety --
Q Okay.
A -- in which death or a severe bodily injury could be reasonably expected --
Q Okay.
A -- to occur without intervention.
Q Okay. In regard to what context?
A The context of behavior management.
Q Okay. Well, I'm going to -- but you don't have the document in front of you; right?
A Sir, I don't have these documents in front of me.
Q I'm going to show you, I'm going to try to show you if I can. Apparently, I can't.
All right. So the DDS Policy 3004 is -- the subject of that policy is maltreatment prohibition, prevention, reporting, and investigation.

MR. GILLISPIE: What's the question?

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Well, do you agree with that or you disagree with that?

A Sir, I don't have it in front of me. I did not commit the DDS regulations to memory.

I've read them and I opined based on reading them.

Q Okay.

A I did not commit them to memory.

Q Okay. So, just to be sure though, do you know whether the subject of the policy that you're citing is behavior management and restraints or maltreatment investigation and reporting?

A I will restate, I read DDS regulations that pertain to the circumstance and I've rendered an opinion.

I did not commit them to memory. I don't remember the title of the specific -- and, clearly, you have the advantage of both the regulation and the citation in front of you. I did not commit them to memory.

Q Okay. And are you aware of whether the definition of imminent danger to health or safety has to due with the statutory definition of abuse as opposed to what we're talking about here, being a restraint?

MR. GILLISPIE: Objection.
MR. ROSEN: I'm just asking.
MR. GILLISPIE: It's asked and answered. She already said it's her understanding that definition of imminent danger applies to restraints. And it's worth mentioning that Superintendent Gonyea specifically said that definition is the definition of emergency use at BHDC in his testimony.
MR. ROSEN: Okay. Well, we're not asking Mr. Gilllispie to testify. We're asking Dr. LeBel to testify.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q And so, Dr. LeBel, is it your testimony that imminent danger to health or safety -- well, actually, the definition from -- well, what is your definition from 3004 of imminent danger to health or safety? What does it mean?
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form. She's read what she believes that definition to be.
MR. ROSEN: Well, no, I'm asking her.
MR. GILLISPIE: You're asking her what a definition means? What does that even mean?
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q What is the definition -- what are you using that to mean? Define that.

A Sir, I don't have these documents in front of me. I don't know what you're citing. I'm getting lost in your questions.
Q Okay.
A I don't know how to answer them.
Q I'll make it very simple for you.
When you use the word imminent danger to health and safety as stated in DDS Policy 3004, what does that mean to you?
MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form.
MR. ROSEN: What objection? Please tell me.
MR. GILLISPIE: I don't understand the question.
MR. ROSEN: Well, I can't be simpler. Just because you don't like the answer -- I mean, I don't know what the answer is.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q But I'm just asking you, Doctor, how do you -- would you use the term as applied in DDS Policy 3004? What did you mean it -- what did it mean to you?
A Sir, it's not what it means to me. It's what it means to the State of Arkansas, the Department of Developmental Disability Services when they adopted this standard of imminent danger to health or safety.

My opinion is less relevant than the State of Arkansas'. Their definition likely means the likely risk of life and limb is imminent danger. Serious bodily harm.

Q Okay. Define serious bodily harm.

A Serious bodily harm could be any number of things in which there is a severe injury to the physical body that could compromise health, vitality. It could compromise functioning, any number of things.

Q Can it mean just physical injury?

A Not likely.

Q Do you know whether that's the definition or not? Or are you guessing?

A Just physical injury could be falling down and getting a scrape. I believe the attempt of the verbiage is to elevate the importance of how these interventions are in fact used.

Imminent danger implies something of significant risk posing a potential loss of life.

Q Okay. And that's what you base your statements about imminent serious bodily harm, is on 3004; correct?

A Well, it's looking at the federal standards from CMS.

Q Okay.

A It's looking at the state regulations. It's looking at Booneville's policy. It's looking at the CPI/NCI training. There are many sources that inform that opinion.
Q Okay. Well, I'm going to ask you about -- did you rely upon DDS Policy 3004 for your, at least as for part of your claim, that it had to be imminent and serious harm when used, before you can use a restraint?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
A Along with the other DDS regulations and the CMS standards and the Booneville policy and the CPI/NCI training curriculum.
Q Okay. Well, I'm going to ask you individually, so you don't have -- I understand your mantra of -- you said that before. But I just asked you about 3004. And that's all I asked you about.
So the answer is you did rely upon that with regard to use of restraints; correct?
A I relied on that as part of the information that informs my opinion.
Q Okay. And did you rely upon DDS Policy 3011-D as part of your opinion on imminent or serious bodily harm before you can use a restraint?
A Yes.

Q Okay.
A It also helped to inform my opinion.
Q Okay. And did you rely upon 42-CFR-483.450 as well, requiring imminent physical harm or lethality before a physical restraint may be used?
A Yes. I relied on CMS regulation 483.450; which is, I know, used to inform the operations manual and the guidance thereof as guidelines for use.
But the regulations cited by CMS, yes, I used those to inform.
Q Okay. So in reading your report of December 28th, 2022, I saw only -- really, only two references to 482-CFR-450.483. One on Page Four and one on, I believe, it's Page Eight.
And so let's talk about the one on Page Four of your report. Okay? Hold on.
MR. GILLISPIE: Are you going to show it to her?
MR. ROSEN: You don't have your report? Okay. Well, I'm going to ask her questions about her report.
MR. GILLISPIE: Well, give her a second to grab it then, if you -- if she could pull it up.
THE WITNESS: Okay.

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. Now, on Page Four of your report, you state, and I'm going to quote, physical restraint is a potentially lethal procedure of last resort which is used in an emergency circumstance in the event of imminent danger when alternatives have been attempted and/or ruled out.

And you cite, in parentheses, 42-CFR, Section 483, closed parentheses, unquote. Okay? You agree? You there with me?

A Yes.

Q Okay. That's what you said; right?

A Correct.

Q Okay. Tell me where in 42-CFR-483.450 does it say, use the word imminent?

A I don't see the word imminent.

Q Okay. Fair enough.

Now, all right. And so just to make clear, the state operations manual, Appendix J, that's what -- you're not familiar with that; right? Because I won't ask you questions about it if you're not familiar with that.

A I'm familiar with Appendix J to the extent that the regulations rolled out to interpret a guidance for the state facility operating manual.

Q Okay. So you are familiar with it?
A I don't refer to it as Appendix J. That's interpretive guidance. I rely on the regulatory language, so the citations I'm more familiar with. I don't call it Appendix J.
Q Okay. But that's what it's called. It says state operations manual, Appendix J, guidance to surveyors, intermediate care facilities for individuals with intellectual disabilities; right?
A Okay.
Q Okay. I mean, you agree?
A I agree.
Q Okay. So, in this state operations manual, it talks about restraint; right?
A Right.
Q And, in the guidance, CMS guidance to state regulators for compliance, it says, under W -- well, first of all, W-296, you look at that?
A Yes.
Q Okay. That's what we were talking about as the TAG; right?
A I'm assuming so.
Q Okay. So that's the -- if a state regulator found that a facility didn't do what's required in there, they would find a deficiency at that TAG number; right?

A Presumably.
Q Okay. And, if they found that they were in compliance, there would be no deficiency; right?
A I don't know.
Q Okay. Well, in there, under W-296, which cites 42-CFR-483.450, it specifically says restraints can be used as an emergency necessary, if necessary, to protect the client and others from injury; right? You agree with me?
A No, I don't.
Q Okay. What does it say?
A Because it's qualified.
Q Okay.
A You skipped over the word only. Only is very important to me.
Q Oh, okay. Okay. So --
A It can only be used as an emergency -- only is absolutely necessary to protect the client and others from injury. Only --
Q Okay.
A -- if absolutely necessary to protect.
Q I agree with you.
And so the guidance, the CMS guidance to state regulators and federal regulators is that physical restraints may be used as an emergency intervention only in situations where the client is exhibiting behaviors which -- and it lists three things; correct?

A Correct.
Q Okay. And, after the second, it uses the disjunctive or, does it not?
A Correct.
Q And so any one of those things would be reason for emergency, employment of emergency conditions for restraints; right?
A Presumably so.
Q Okay. Not all of them, but any one of them; right?
A It demands on the interpretive guidance.
As I read it, the three conditions are the client has not exhibited the behavior before, they were not identified in a functional behavioral analysis, or they're harming other people or themselves.
Q That means any one of those three is grounds for the restraint; correct?
A I'm reading.
Q Well, I mean, there's not that many words there. Would you agree or not agree?
A I don't see them as mutually exclusive. I see them as specific criteria.
Q Okay. So --
A They've not exhibited the behavior before. They weren't identified in the functional analysis or.

Q Okay. So tell me your definition of --
A I don't read them as -- I'm sorry.
Q Tell me your definition of the disjunctive or. What does that mean?
A It only occurs in number two. It doesn't occur after number one as well.
So, to me, I see room for client has not exhibited before, were not identified in the functional analysis of behavior or are harming other people or themselves.
Q Okay.
So your interpretation is that you have to -- that it has to be -- when you have three items listed with the last one, with the second to last one having -- divided by semicolons. And the last one having an or means that you -- it's not either or, it's some of which, not just one of which; right?
Is that your interpretation? Because I want to make the record clear.
A I have a hard time following your question, sir.
Q Okay. Fair enough. Let me re-ask it.
So it says here in the guidance from CMS to state and federal regulators, physical restraint may be used as an emergency intervention only in situations where the client is exhibiting behaviors which, colon, one, the client has not exhibited before, semicolon; two, were not identified in the functional analysis of behavior, semicolon; or, three, are harming other people or themselves, period, unquote.

Now, what does that mean to you as to what the requirement is?

A I read that as a requirement that one and two are satisfied or numbered three.

Q So you're saying that there's at least two elements to that and not just one? That any one of them would not do it? Is that your interpretation?

A That's my interpretation.

Q Okay. Good. All right. We'll move on. Thank you.

Now, so it's your interpretation -- actually, we're not going to move on.

It's your interpretation that you would need -- the client would have to not have exhibited behavior before and be harming to the other people (inaudible) or it would have to be it was not identified in the functional analysis and harming other people. That's your testimony?

A Could you please restate that?

Q Okay. Well, let's go back a little bit.

I know that you have a -- you've stated you have a Ph.D. Okay? And tell me what the disjunctive or means to you.

A To me, when I read the word or in this list of three conditions, I read that number one and number two are rolled up as requirements or number three.
Q So does that mean -- in your interpretation, would -- physical restraint may be used as an emergency intervention when the client exhibits behaviors which are harming other people or themselves? Would that be sufficient?
A It could be.
Q Okay. So you don't need one and two, you just need three, if that's the facts?
A Possibly.
Q Okay. Well, I'm asking you, in your opinion.
A And I've answered the question.
Q Well, what's the answer? That three could stand alone if the resident is harming other people or him or yourself, that would be sufficient to implement and employ restraints?
A That's my interpretation of the CMS standard.
Q Okay. Thank you.
I'm just catching up. We went a little further than I was prepared so I'm just going through my outline. So, if you would, just give me a moment.
On a few other things, are you opposed to the use of physical restraints in the human development center?

A I'm opposed to the use of restraint in the human development center when it is used for nonlethal, nondangerous circumstance.
Q Okay.
A When it's used as a matter of routine, when it's not used for the method in which it's intended, as a lifesaving measure of last resort.

I'm opposed when it's used as a first resort. I'm opposed when it's used for the convenience of staff. I'm opposed when it's used in the face of adequate training and support for staff and competency development.

I'm opposed to the use of restraint in the vast majority of times that it's used. It's intended to be a lifesaving method of last resort. It serves its purpose there.

It is an extraordinarily high risk, dangerous procedure, that should only be used with strict authorization requirements, oversight training and a high standard with which to lay hands on a person against their will.
Q Okay.

Do you know the difference, in the State of Arkansas, between a -- among state regulators of HDCs, ICF/IIDs, between a maltreatment investigation and a survey?

A I can't comment on the state of Arkansas' practices. I'm aware of the difference between a survey and a maltreatment investigation in other states. I can't speak to Arkansas practices or standards.
Q Generally, a survey, you understand a survey by long-term care surveyors is an inspection of the facility for compliance; right?
A That's my understanding.
Q Okay.
And I might have asked you this before and I think -- but I'll ask you just to make sure the record is clear.
Are you aware whether or not the state regulator, Office of Long-term Care performed a survey or inspection of the Booneville Human Development Center as a result of investigating David Cains' death and whether the facility complied with federal regulations?
A I know that documentation was developed and prepared and submitted. I did not see their investigation.
Q So you don't know the outcome of that investigation, do you?
A I don't know the outcome based on the record from the Disability Rights Arkansas, looking at the mortality review committee findings. I've read other references but not the specific report.

Q So you don't know if they were found not to be deficient or not, do you?
A I read reference to no findings of significance and no breach in standard of care and other documents.
Q Okay. And you know that surveyors are CMS federally trained to investigate compliance; right?
A I know they're CMS employees. I can't comment on whether or not they're adequately trained to conduct those types of reviews or investigations.
Q Now, on Page Three of your December 28th, 2022 report, you opined -- and it's a little different than you said today.
But you opined that David Cain had a, quote, right to be free from abuse and restraint, unquote. And that's the first bullet point, approximately mid page.
Is there anything in federal regulation that says a resident of an ICF/IID has a right to be free from restraint?
A Yes, I believe it is incorporated in the federal standards, that the patients have a right to be free from unnecessary restraint and abuse.
Q Okay. So you're qualifying it to be unnecessary; right?
A That's the language of CMS, I believe.

Q Okay. Well, that's not what you put in your report, on Page Three.

So your report, where it says, quote, right to be free from abuse and restraint, unquote, in the first bullet point mid page, didn't use the word unnecessary, did it?

A No, it did not.

Q Okay. So that's an omission that you made; right?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Also on page -- well, strike that question.

So would you agree, since you're here to testify as an expert, if a dually diagnosed person with severe intellectual disabilities and mental illness attacked staff, would that be sufficient to employ emergency restraints? In your opinion.

A I'm going to go back to my earlier testimony that questions language. I have no way of knowing what your definition of attack is. I have no way of knowing what staff's definition of attack is.

In my experience of reviewing records and looking at the testimony of staff and the language used, there is a great tendency to exaggerate, distort, alter, the actual behavior that -- staff capacity to accurately describe is often inaccurate.

I don't have a way of responding to your question about his developmental disability, mental illness, and attacking staff makes restraint justified.

Because I look at it with a lens in which staff who tend to use restraint tend to exaggerate, distort, or not have a good working knowledge about what is actually happening, what behavior is actually dangerous, what is destructive versus disruptive versus agitated.

There are levels of behavioral distress, so I don't have a way of answering that because I don't have a good way of knowing what your definition of attack means.

Q Well, do you know whether the staff at the Booneville HDC in their behavior reports or on -- in their behavior reports, exaggerated or distorted or are you just saying based upon your experience in other facilitates?

A I'm saying in my experience in reading documentation from other facilities as well as Booneville's. I'm looking at the staff characterization and staff description of --

Q Well, how do you know they're distorted?

A Because I see inconsistencies in the way people are labeling and describing the behavior.

Q Do you know the educational level of the direct care staff at the Booneville Human Development Center?

A No, I do not.

Q Okay. Do you think that might play a factor in the ways it's described?
A I don't know.
Q Fair enough.

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q Okay.

You state in your report, on Page Seven, that Dr. Hamid, who was David Cains' physician at the time, did not approve of the use of floor or ground restraints for David Cains. Do you recall that?

A That's my understanding.
Q I'm sorry, say that again.
A That's my understanding.
Q Okay. Did he disapprove them? Did he prohibit them?
A That, I do not know.
Q Okay.
A It was in his individual program plan.
Q Do you know what a papoose board is?
A Yes.
Q What is it?
A It's a mechanical device used to contain a body in the form of restrain.
Q Now, although that didn't happen here on this day, you're aware that Dr. Hamid determined that it was safe for David Cains to be placed on a papoose board when necessary; right?
A It's my understanding that a restraint authorization, as indicated or a standing order, is prohibited by the facility.
Q I didn't ask you that question. I asked you whether Dr. Hamid determined it was safe to do.
A I did not read that determination.

Q That wasn't provided to you?
A I did not read that in the medical orders.
Q Okay.
So a papoose board is -- you have to be on the ground to be put in a papoose board, do you not?
A Yes.
Q Okay. So, even though that's not what happened here at all, by necessity, if it was -- if a papoose board was authorized in the IPP or in the medical orders as safe to do, it, by necessity, would require the person to be on the ground; right?
A Conceivably.
Q Okay. And I'm talking whether David Cains or any other person, that's how it operates; right? If you're going to use one?
A If you're going to use one.
Q Yeah.
Now, let's talk about your testimony here today and I guess, in your report, you mentioned it briefly on Page Five of the report, about withdrawal reflex. Okay?
I didn't see anything in there about fight or flight; and now you're saying that's the same thing? Is that your testimony?
A If you look up withdrawal reflex, you will see a greater detailed explanation than I put in my report.

It's considered a fight or flight response.
Q Okay. And so would it be a withdrawal reflex if I put my hand -- accidently touched a hot surface, I automatically pull it back; right? Withdrawal it, could that be an example?
A It could.
Q Okay.
And I understand that you don't accept Tyler Mattson's deposition testimony. But at what point did David Cains, in your opinion, withdrawal?
A I have no way of knowing when David Cains withdrew. But I would assume, that if Tyler Mattson had an element of accuracy when he said he grabbed David and he laid hands on first, that David's response would have been to try to escape from that noxious stimuli. He would have tried to withdrawal from being grabbed.
Q But you're assuming -- your opinion is premised, your assumption is premised on David Cain not being the aggressor; correct?
A My assumption, based on Tyler Mattson's language and his OLTC statement is that he grabbed David, that he laid hands on first.
Q Okay.
A He activated the behavioral sequence that led to the use of physical restraint.

Q Okay. So I take that as a yes, you do agree that that's -- your opinion is pressed on the assumption or presumption that David Cains was not the aggressor; correct?
A That's my assumption. And I also note, that once he's on the ground, there's ample opportunity for Mr. Mattson to step up, step away, give time and space, and he did not.
Q Okay.
A So if one assumes that Tyler is accurate in his first statement right after the event, that he grabbed David and David fell to the floor -- it doesn't say that Tyler fell to the floor.

So he later describes it as a supported lowering to the floor. He still -- he, Tyler, had the opportunity to pull away from David and not put pressure on his shoulder, his side, or his waist.

He had the opportunity to create a condition for David that would have allowed him to escape from the noxious circumstance; which is the basic withdrawal reflux continuing on the ground.
Q Okay. So at what point in time did David Cains calm down while on the ground?
A I have no way of knowing.
Q Okay. So would you agree or disagree with the statement, that in the state Operations manual, under W-302 that says documentation should support that the client was released from restraint as soon as they became calm.

A I would agree that the client should be released as soon as they become calm.

Q So I'm asking you, at what point in time did David Cains become calm?

A I don't know.

Q Okay.

A I wasn't there.

Q Okay. Just a few more questions, actually.

So had mentioned several times NCI is a de-escalation protocol; right?

A As part of the CPI program of restraint use --

Q Okay. So that's the --

A -- that includes de-escalation.

Q That's one protocol within the CPI portfolio dealing with de-escalation; correct?

A That's correct.

Q What does NCI stand for?

A Nonviolent crisis intervention.

Q So it's really noncontact crisis intervention, would you agree?

A I can't comment on that.

Q But do you know whether CPI, which is a company that sells this, they have more advanced, more contact training protocols?
A I believe they have different programs for different settings.
Q So they would have one that would be more interventionalist as of more de-escalation; correct?
A I can't comment. I don't work for CPI. I'm not aware of all of their programs. I've only been their keynote speaker and consultant for CPI.
Q So CPI, you worked for CPI or you --
A No, I do not work for them. I was asked to be a keynote speaker at two of their international (inaudible).
Q Did they pay you for that?
A They pay for my travel expenses.
Q They didn't give you a peridium or some type of payment to --
A Not that I remember.
Q Okay.
Now, let me ask you -- let me change the topics a little bit. The six core principles that you mentioned earlier, and I know -- you go around the country lecturing on that; correct?
A It's called the six core strategies. And I have --

Q Yeah. Do you --
A -- traveled extensively in the United States and teaching and training on the use of the core strategies.
Q Okay. Is that some type of -- is that an entity or a corporation or a partnership? Is there a business associated with that?
A No, there's not a business associated with that.
Q When you lecture on this topic, are you paid to lecture on this topic or given some type of compensation for lecturing on this topic?
A Yes. Most of the time, I'm given compensation to speak about the six core strategies.
Q Okay. Just a few more questions.
Let me ask you, from speaking to you today and reading some of your articles and -- you fundamentally disagree with, do you not, with CMS's allowance of the employment of restraints, do you not?
A I would not say that.
Q Okay. So you agree that restraints can be used in certain instances?
A I said before that restraint has its place as a lifesaving method of last resort.
Q Well, okay. And that's the only time?
A Yes.
Q Okay. So have you ever had comments, publicly spoken out, against CMS particularly allowing restraints in situations that are not potentially lethal?

A Not that I'm aware of.
Q Okay. Hold on. Just a few more questions.
Do you not see yourself as part of a movement to ultimately eliminate restraints from use in facilities?
A I'm not sure what you mean by movement.
I certainly would define myself as somebody who works tirelessly to help facilities, organizations, state public health systems, to try to prevent, avoid, the use of restraint seclusion.
I'm not sure what you mean by a movement.
Q Okay.
A Anything that helps improve the quality of care and treatment for persons served along with a staff who serve them is a very good thing.
Q I have no other questions. Thank you.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q All right. Dr. LeBel, real quick, I'm going to share the screen here.
MR. GILLISPIE: Just a moment. I'm trying to pull something up as an exhibit.
Can y'all see the state operations manual?
THE WITNESS: Yes.

MR. ROSEN: Yes.
MR. GILLISPIE: Okay. Is that the only thing y'all see?
THE WITNESS: Yep.
MR. ROSEN: Yes.
MR. GILLISPIE: All right.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Real quick, Dr. LeBel, I just want to clear up any confusion that there might have been with regards to the state operations manual.

On Page Three of your written report, you write that the standard of care required the respondent to comply with the federal CMS\ICF regulations found at 42-CFR Section 483, et sec., and also the Arkansas DDS policies and procedures and BHDC's own policies and procedures; is that correct?

A Correct.

Q Okay. So I want to make sure that we're talking about the same thing. I'm going to take you through this state operations manual.

And I just want to make sure that the CMS regulations that you based your opinion on with regards to standard of care are the same as found in what the respondent refers to as their state operations manual Appendix J.

In other words, that we're talking about the same thing. Does that make sense?

A Yes.

Q Okay. So is one of the policies -- I'm sorry.

Is one of the federal regulations that you relied on 483.450(b)(1)(iii)? And I'm going to show you that before you answer.

Okay. I've stopped here. This is Regulation 483.450(b)(1)(iii). And this is -- this document I'm showing you, again, which I'm going to call Exhibit 1 to your deposition, is in fact the Appendix J, state operations manual.

So do you recognize this 483.450(b)(1)(iii) as one of the federal regulations that you based your opinion on?

A Yes, I do.

Q Okay. And, specifically, I'm going to highlight this part here.

In emergency situations where an unanticipated behavior requires immediate protection of the client or others, the technique chosen is the least restrictive appropriate technique possible.

Is that a regulation that you relied upon?

A Yes, it is.

Q Okay.

Moving on to 483.450(b)(1), and I'll highlight the part I'm talking about, all interventions for the management of inappropriate client behaviors which are approved for use in the facility are to be clearly stated and described in its policy.

Is that one of the federal regulations that you relied upon?

A Yes, it is.

Q Okay. Section 483.450(d)(1), the facility may employ physical restraint only -- and then we move down to Roman Numeral Two, as an emergency measure but only if absolutely necessary to protect the client or others from injury.

Is that a federal regulation that you relied upon that is also part of this Appendix J?

A Yes.

Q And is that some of the language found in various policies that informs your opinion regarding imminent danger and the necessity that there be a risk of either lethality or at least severe personal injury?

A Yes, that's correct.

Q Okay.

And, in reviewing the BHDC policies, did you find anywhere in any BHDC policy any reference to or description of the type of ground restraint that was used on David?

A No, I did not.
Q Did you find it in David's IPP?
A No, I did not.
Q Moving to 483.450(d)(1), right here, guidance, Section 483.450(d)(1)(i), the use of physical restraint is specified within the IPP. The plan must address the specific type of client behavior to be managed. And then, here, the type of restraint, under Section Four, do you see that?
A Yes, I do.
Q Okay. And, again, this is among the federal regulations that you based your opinion on; correct?
A That's correct.
Q And, of course, your opinion is that one of the violations of standard of care was that the restraint that led to Davie's death was not described anywhere in the facility's policies or anywhere in his IPP as required by CMS; correct?

MR. ROSEN: And I'm objecting to the question because of the characterization. There's nothing here that led to death, but she can do a hypothetical.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q That would be correct; right?
A That's correct. And I also relied on the testimony of Mark Hise, the staff development training of NCI who affirms the same.
Q Okay. But, ultimately, all of these policies here that are found in this Appendix J, these are the same -- well, let me rephrase that.
While you may not have referred to it as Appendix J, you were referring to the same thing in your report and in your testimony when you were testifying about the CMS regulations and the violation of those regulations?
A That's correct.
Q Okay.
MR. GILLISPIE: Let me make this Exhibit 1 and I'll e-mail it to Cris.
(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 1 and is attached hereto.)
MR. ROSEN: Are you making the whole manual Exhibit 1?
MR. GILLISPIE: Yeah. I'll send it to you as well.
MR. ROSEN: Okay.
MR. GILLISPIE: If you have an issue with it, we can address it post deposition.

But I don't want to take her through every single part of it. I just wanted to establish that we were all talking about the same thing.

MR. ROSEN: Okay.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q And then one more question, Dr. LeBel.

With regards to what informs your decision -- I'm sorry. With regards to what informed your opinion that -- regarding the definition of an emergency situation and/or the type of risk that needs to be present before restraints should be used, was the BHDC policy, the facility policy, ID-4, also informative to that conclusion?

A Yes, it was.

Q And do you recall that being the facility policy which states the following, that -- well, actually, it defines emergency restraint as use of the least restrictive procedure and for the least time necessary to control severely aggressive or destructive behaviors.

And then it goes on to say that the use of emergency restraint will comply with all relevant standards and regulations. Is that also your understanding of what that facility policy says?

A Yes.

Q And severely aggressive is actually their term, written term, is it not?

A It is.
Q Okay.
And then, lastly, very, very lastly, I promise, do you see here? It should say the Zoom Deposition of Amanda Schmitt. Does everybody see that?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And I wanted to go back to something Rich asked you about at the very beginning of his questioning, and that was the -- what these nurses who were called and responded, said about how long it took them to get there, I just want to put this in front of you. This is Page 57.
So this Exhibit 2, this is just two pages and the cover page from Nurse Amanda Schmitt, one of the LPNs who responded. And I'll let everybody look through this, but tell me when y'all are done reading and then I'll take you to the next page and then I'll have one question.
A Okay. Okay.
Q Okay. Am I correct that what Ms. Schmitt is testifying to here is, that after they got the call at Judge Hill, it took she and LPN King approximately 45 seconds to get to Schmitt's car and then approximately one minute to drive from their building to the Commons building and then another 45 seconds to one minute to get out of the car and arrive at the scene?

A Yes.
Q Okay. So, according to Nurse Schmitt who made the trip along with Nurse King, it took anywhere from two minutes and 45 seconds -- I'm sorry.
Anywhere from two minutes and 30 seconds to three minutes, based on what Nurse Schmitt is saying here; is that correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay.
MR. ROSEN: Are you going to introduce this as an exhibit?
MR. GILLISPIE: Yes. I'd like to introduce this as Exhibit 2. Thank you.
MR. ROSEN: Okay. And it's just those pages; right?
MR. GILLISPIE: Yeah. It is, Rich. Yeah, it is.
(WHEREUPON, the document was marked for identification as Exhibit No. 2 and is attached hereto.)
MR. GILLISPIE: And that's all I have for you, Dr. LeBel. I appreciate you being here.
THE WITNESS: Okay.
MR. ROSEN: I have no other questions.

So I guess this ends the deposition.

Thank you, Dr. LeBel.

THE WITNESS: Thank you.

MR. ROSEN: Thank you, Counsel.

(WHEREUPON, the proceedings were concluded in the matter at 1:55 p.m.)

2. The ability to make choices;
3. The ability to identify preferences; and
4. Cognitive abilities including tracking, attention span, communication, and the client's ability to understand the cause and effect. (The client understands of cause and effect is significant in the determination.)

Money management includes a broad spectrum of programs with varying levels of participation by the client ranging from the use of choice in money expenditures, to an understanding of the concept of money, and ultimately to actual money handling and budgeting. The IDT must not conclude that a money management program is inappropriate based solely upon the level of intellectual or physical disability of the client.

The CFA must be reviewed at least annually per 42 C.F.R.483.440(f)(2). As a part of this annual review, a client's ability to participate in money management will also be reviewed. The annual review should always include an update to the CFA and take into consideration any changes in the client's circumstances since the last IPP. The need for a formal money management program must be addressed in every client's IPP by the IDT on an annual basis.

The determination of the appropriateness of a formal money management program is made by the IDT and must be based upon a CFA. The IDT discussions resulting in that determination must be established through documentation in the client's IPP.

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.420(a)(5) Ensure that clients are not subjected to physical, verbal, sexual or psychological abuse or punishment;

Guidance §483.420(a)(5)

Identification of patterns or isolated instances of physical, verbal, sexual or psychological abuse or punishment without prompt identification and corrective action by the facility would result in a non-compliance determination for this Standard and Condition level non-compliance.

The facility must develop and implement systems that protect clients from all forms of abuse, neglect, or mistreatment, including client to client abuse, neglect, or mistreatment.

a. The facility is expected to ensure that staff possess and demonstrate needed competencies to effectively and appropriately interact with clients.

b. The facility must monitor to assure that systems are effectively implemented and the facility takes immediate actions to address circumstances where abuse, neglect, or mistreatment have occurred and prevent reoccurrence.

c. The facility must be organized in such a manner as to proactively assure clients are free from any threat to their physical and psychological health and safety.

d. The facility must act to prevent physical, verbal, sexual or psychological abuse.

If the facility fails to implement appropriate corrective action, the potential of additional threats to the clients remain at the facility.

"Threat", for the purposes of this guideline, is considered any condition/situation which could cause or result in severe, temporary or permanent injury or harm to the mental or physical condition of clients, or in their death.

"Abuse", for the purposes of this guideline, is the willful infliction of injury, unreasonable confinement, intimidation or punishment with the resulting physical harm, pain or personal anguish.

Physical abuse refers to any action intended to cause physical harm or pain, trauma or bodily harm (e.g., hitting, slapping, punching, kicking, pinching, etc.). It includes the use of corporal punishment as well as the use of any restrictive, intrusive procedure to control inappropriate behavior for purposes of punishment.

Verbal abuse refers to any use of insulting, demeaning, disrespectful, oral, written or gestured language directed towards and in the presence of the client. Psychological abuse includes, but is not limited to, humiliation, harassment, and threats of punishment or deprivation, sexual coercion and intimidation (e.g. living in fear in one's own home). Since many clients residing in ICF/IIDs are unable to communicate feelings of fear, humiliation, etc. associated with abusive episodes, the assumption is made that any actions that would usually be viewed as psychologically or verbally abusive by a member of the general public, would also be viewed as abusive by the client residing in the ICF/IID, regardless of that client's perceived ability to comprehend the nature of the incident.

Sexual abuse includes any incident where a client is coerced or manipulated to participate in any form of sexual activity for which the client did not give affirmative permission (or gave affirmative permission without the attendant understanding required to give permission) or sexual assault against a client who is unable to defend him/herself.

The facility must implement, through policies, oversight and training, safeguards to ensure that clients are not subjected to abuse by anyone including, but not limited to, facility staff, consultants or volunteers, staff of other agencies serving the client, family members or legal guardians, friends, other clients, or the general public.

The facility must take whatever action is necessary to protect the clients residing there. For example, if a facility is forced by court order or arbitration rulings to retain or reinstate an employee found to be abusive, the facility must take measures to protect the clients of the facility (such as assigning the employee to an area where there is no contact with clients).

W128

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.420(a)(6) Ensure that clients are free from unnecessary drugs and physical restraints and are provided active treatment to reduce dependency on drugs and physical restraints;

Guidance §483.420(a)(6)

The facility must implement an aggressive active treatment program, which includes appropriate replacement behaviors, to address the reduction/elimination of physical restraints and drugs to manage behaviors.

For purposes of this Guideline drugs to manage behavior are "unnecessary" if there is evidence the drugs are being used:

- In excessive dose (duplicate therapy);
- For excessive duration;
- Not monitored adequately;
- Without adequate indications for its use;
- With adverse consequences which indicate the dose should be reduced or discontinued; or
- Any combination of the reasons listed above.

The long term use of a drug/physical restraint to manage behavior combined with one or more of the following may indicate unnecessary use:

- The client's developmental and/or behavioral needs are not being met and the appropriateness of less restrictive approaches to manage inappropriate behaviors should be questioned;
- Staff behavior may be prompting behaviors in clients which result in the chronic use of physical restraints and drugs to control behavior;
- Staff may have inadequate training and/or experience to provide active treatment and employ preventive measures;

Restraints applied for behaviors when less restrictive measures have not been tried or have been tried and found to be just as effective.

Guidance §483.430(e)(2)

Staff receive training in the following areas:

- developmental programming principles and techniques (e.g. techniques to involve clients in their programs to their highest capability, use of positive reinforcement, use of assistive technology, use of appropriate materials and providing informal opportunities to practice skills);
- use of adaptive equipment and augmentative communication devices and systems; and
- effective recordkeeping procedures.

§483.430(e)(2) behavioral,

Guidance §483.430(e)(2)

Staff receive training in the following areas:

- use of behavioral principles during interactions between staff and clients;
- use of accurate procedures regarding abuse detection and prevention, restraints, drugs to manage behaviors, client safety, emergencies, etc.;
- use of least restrictive interventions;

- use of positive behavior intervention programming; and
- training clients in appropriate replacement behaviors.

§483.430(e)(2) and health needs

Guidance §483.430(e)(2)

Staff receive training in the following areas:

- signs and symptoms of the client's changing health (e.g. constipation, urinary tract infections, adverse drug reactions, as indicated);
- exercise and diet;
- first aid;
- infection control;
- reporting to appropriate healthcare professionals; and
- for those staff who can administer medications, how to include clients in their medication administration by recognizing and encouraging the use of applicable skills.

W193

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.430(e)(3) Staff must be able to demonstrate the skills and techniques necessary to administer interventions to manage the inappropriate behavior of clients.

Guidance §483.430(e)(3)

Staff correctly and consistently implement the interventions specified in the behavior plans of clients with whom they are working.

§483.440(f)(3)(i) Review, approve, and monitor individual programs designed to manage inappropriate behavior and other programs that, in the opinion of the committee, involve risks to client protection and rights;

Guidance §483.440(f)(3)(i)

Any program that utilizes restrictive or intrusive techniques must be reviewed and approved by the specially constituted committee prior to implementation. This includes, but is not limited to:

- restraints;
- drugs to manage behavior;
- restrictions on community access;
- contingent denial of any right; or
- restrictions of materials or locations in the home.

The committee should ensure that consequences within a written behavior management program do not violate the client's rights.

There is no requirement for the committee to evaluate whether the proposed program is consistent with current practices in the field. Documentation should verify that the specially constituted committee considered factors, such as whether less intrusive methods have been attempted, whether the severity of behavior outweighs the risks of the proposed program and whether replacement behaviors are included within the plan.

Any revision to a behavior plan that increases the level of intrusiveness must be re-reviewed by the specially constituted committee. The committee need not reapprove a program when revisions are made in accordance with the approved plan. For example, if the physician changes the dosage of a medication in accordance with the drug treatment component of the active treatment plan to which the legally authorized person has given consent and which has already been approved by the committee, then there is no need for the committee or the legally authorized person to reapprove the plan. Generally, this would also apply if the medication was changed to another within the same therapeutic class or family.

W276

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(b)(1)(i) Specify all facility approved interventions to manage inappropriate client behavior;

Guidance §483.450(b)(1)(i)

All interventions for the management of inappropriate client behaviors which are approved for use in the facility are clearly stated and described in its policy. Examples of positive interventions include, but are not limited to, verbal praise reward systems, and prompting. Examples of negative interventions include, but are not limited to, removal of a privilege, implementation of restraint, and/or the use of exclusionary time out.

W277

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(b)(1)(ii) Designate these interventions on a hierarchy to be implemented, ranging from most positive or least intrusive, to least positive or most intrusive;

Guidance §483.450(b)(1)(ii)

Policies and procedures must include a clear progression as to how staff implement interventions to manage inappropriate client behavior.

Facility policy and procedures must define the entire hierarchy of possible interventions from the most positive, functionally appropriate approaches to most intrusive approaches authorized. The facility determines at what level in the hierarchy the IPP will begin for each client based on their individual assessment. The plan must still begin at the least intrusive technique shown effective for that client. Individual plans should specify the specific techniques that have been determined through assessment to be least restrictive for each client.

The facility policy for unexpected behavioral incidents must provide direction for the staff in the utilization of the hierarchy. For clients not on a behavior plan, staff must apply the appropriate level of intervention per the established hierarchy, including emergency measures to prevent harm to self or others.

W278

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(b)(1)(iii) Insure prior to the use of more restrictive techniques, that the client's record documents that programs incorporating the use of less intrusive or more positive techniques have been tried systematically and demonstrated to be ineffective; and

Guidance §483.450(b)(1)(iii)

Policies must be implemented to ensure that all restrictive procedures begin at the lowest level of the hierarchy unless there is documented evidence that less intrusive interventions have been tried and have been found to be ineffective.

The facility is not required to justify discontinuing the use of a more restrictive technique before initiating a less restrictive technique, since the intent of the regulation is to use the most positive, least intrusive technique possible.

In emergency situations where an unanticipated behavior requires immediate protection of the client or others, the technique chosen is the least restrictive appropriate technique possible.

§483.450(b)(1)(iv) Address the following:

W279

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(b)(1)(iv)(A) The use of time-out rooms;

Guidance §483.450(b)(1)(iv)(A)

"Time-out room" is defined as a separate room that is used to remove a client from stimulation that may be triggering and reinforcing maladaptive behavior. The facility must have written policies and procedures for the use of time out rooms which address all the requirements of 483.450 (c) (1-4) standard: time out room.

W280

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(b)(1)(iv)(B) The use of physical restraints;

Guidance §483.450(b)(1)(iv)(B)

"Physical restraint" is defined as any manual hold or mechanical device that the client cannot remove easily, and which restricts the free movement of, normal functioning of, or normal access to a portion or portions of a client's body. Examples of mechanical devices may include arm splints and mittens.

Policies and Procedures must address:

- the types of physical restraint that are allowed in the facility;
- the persons who apply such restraints;
- the parameters for duration of application;
- the methods that assure the health and safety of clients while in restraints; and
- the specific training required for staff allowed to apply such restraints.

W281

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(b)(1)(iv)(C) The use of drugs to manage inappropriate behavior;

Guidance §483.450(b)(1)(iv)(C)

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(c)(3) Clients placed in time-out rooms must be protected from hazardous conditions including, but not limited to, presence of sharp corners and objects, uncovered light fixtures, unprotected electrical outlets.

Guidance §483.450(c)(3)

Because placement in the time out room is typically secondary to extreme behaviors, it is acceptable that there be no furniture in this room.

A door that opens inward can potentially be held closed, either intentionally or inadvertently, by the client in the room, thereby denying staff immediate access to the room.

W294

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(c)(4) A record of time-out activities must be kept.

Guidance §483.450(c)(4)

The documentation in the client's record accurately reflects planned (e.g. part of the IPP) usage and presents a picture of events prior to, during, and following the use of time-out. The IPP should include direction as to how often data must be collected during each use of time out for each individual client.

(d) Standard: Physical restraints

§483.450(d)(1) The facility may employ physical restraint only- -

W295

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(d)(1)(i) As an integral part of an individual program plan that is intended to lead to less restrictive means of managing and eliminating the behavior for which the restraint is applied;

Guidance §483.450(d)(1)(i)

The use of physical restraint is specified within the IPP. The plan must address:

1) The specific type of client behavior to be managed by this plan;
2) The less restrictive behavioral approaches which were previously used, but were unsuccessful;
3) The hierarchy of measures that must be utilized prior to the application of physical restraint;
4) The type of physical restraint;
5) The type of client behavior that would indicate that the patient is calm and can be released from the restraint; and
6) The replacement behavior being taught to the client to reduce the need for future restraints.

W296

§483.450(d)(1)(ii) As an emergency measure, but only if absolutely necessary to protect client or others from injury; or

Guidance §483.450(d)(1)(ii)

Physical restraint may be used as an emergency intervention only in situations where the client is exhibiting behaviors which:

1) the client has not exhibited before;
2) were not identified in the functional analysis of behavior; or
3) are harming other people or themselves.

When there are repeated episodes of the use of physical restraint as an emergency safety measure, these episodes should be assessed for their predictability by the IDT, and revisions to the IPP considered addressing the behaviors through a formal behavior plan in order to reduce/eliminate the use of physical restraint.

W297

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(d)(1)(iii) As a health-related protection prescribed by a physician, but only if absolutely necessary during the conduct of a specific medical or surgical procedure, or only if absolutely necessary for client protection during the time that a medical condition exists.

Guidance §483.450(d)(1)(iii)

Physical restraint during medical procedures must be utilized only when absolutely necessary and be used as a last resort in order for the facility or practitioners to deliver needed medical care to the client. The restraint must be released as soon as the medical procedure is completed unless it is necessary to continue restraint for a longer period of time to continue to deliver care or to prevent the client from displacing tubes or dressings. These restraints may only be used as long as the physician indicates them to be necessary.

For instances where physical restraint are used by the facility or a practitioner during a medical procedure, the client record and interviews should verify that less restrictive measures were attempted before using physical restraint and verify whether any injuries occurred during the use of the physical restraint. Written orders by medical personnel for the application of a physical restraint should include the reason that the restraint is necessary, the type of restraint to be used and the length of time the restraint will be applied.

A restraint device used to prevent a client engaging in self-injurious behavior is not considered a restraint for medical condition.

§483.450(d)(2) Authorizations to use or extend restraints as an emergency measure must be:

Guidance §483.450(d)(2)

Facility policies should list who in the facility is allowed to authorize the emergency use of restraints or to extend the use of an emergency restraint, and the training that is required for those persons who may authorize. Documentation in the client record in those instances should confirm that the facility follows that policy.

W298

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(d)(2)(i) In effect no longer than 12 consecutive hours; and

Guidance §483.450(d)(2)(i)

This regulation does not mean that restraints may be authorized to be applied for up to a 12 hour period. The client must be released from the physical restraint as soon as the client is no longer a risk to self or others. Once the behavior has ceased, the emergency has ended, and the client has been released, another authorization would be required for any new emergency situation.

The 12 consecutive hour period is the absolute maximum period of time that emergency physical restraint may be utilized for a client during an individual behavioral incident. It is reasonable to expect that the facility will reassess the emergency situation for any client who remains in physical restraint for longer than one hour and reassess the situation at least every 30 minutes thereafter up to 12 hours when the physical restraint must be removed.

W299

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(d)(2)(ii) Obtained as soon as the client is restrained or stable.

Guidance §483.450(d)(2)(ii)

There may be instances where the maladaptive behaviors of a client or clients escalate into a serious and immediate event that must be de-escalated quickly in order to prevent harm to clients, staff, other clients, or by standers when incidents occur in the community. In these instances, the staff should contact the appropriate person to obtain authorization for the use of physical restraint as soon as the situation is stable. Retrospective documentation of the incident should confirm the need for authorization after application.

W300

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(d)(3) The facility must not issue orders for restraint on a standing or as needed basis.

Guidance §483.450(d)(3)

All instances of physical restraint must be ordered on a case by case basis with individual assessment of the situation and authorization based upon the individual client. Authorizations should include the rationale for the use of the physical restraint versus other less restrictive measures.

W301

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(d)(4) A client placed in restraint must be checked at least every 30 minutes by staff trained in the use of restraints,

Guidance §483.450(d)(4)

The frequency of monitoring will vary according to the type and design of the device and the psychological and physical well-being of the client. The facility should be checking the client often enough to adequately assess the physical status of the client (e.g., circulation, respiration and vital signs) of the client and the need to continued restraint. The more restrictive the intervention, the greater the risk to the client and the more often the client must be assessed. Frequent assessment will assure that the client will be released as soon as possible, however, in no instance may the staff go longer than 30 minutes without checking the client.

W302

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(d)(4) released from the restraint as quickly as possible, and

Guidance §483.450(d)(4)

"As quickly as possible" means as soon as the client is no longer a danger to self or others. Documentation should support that the client was released from restraint as soon as they became calm.

W303

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(d)(4) a record of these checks and usage must be kept.

§483.450(d)(5) Restraints must be designed and used

W304

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(d)(5) so as not to cause physical injury to the client

Guidance §483.450(d)(5)

Physical restraints to include mechanical devices must be the correct size for the client and be applied with the correct amount of pressure according to manufacturer's directions. In addition to observation of any physical mechanical restraint in use at the time of the survey, review incident reports for any injuries as a result of restraint use.

W305

§483.450(d)(5) and so as to cause the least possible discomfort.

§483.450(d)(6) Opportunity for motion and exercise must be provided

W306

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(d)(6) for a period of not less than 10 minutes during each two hour period in which restraint is employed,

Guidance §483.450(d)(6)

This requirement does not apply to cases of medical restraints that are specifically ordered for the immobilization of bones and joints during the physical healing process involved with fractures, sprains, etc. (e.g. a broken bone immobilized by a cast or splint). See 331 483.460(c) regarding surveillance of skin integrity during the use of medical restraints.

However, if a mechanical physical restraint is applied to an extremity to prevent a client from removing post-operative sutures, the restraint must be released every two (2) hours for a period of not less than ten (10) minutes in order to maintain adequate circulation.

Mechanical restraints placed on the client during sleeping hours must be medically based and specifically ordered by a physician. There should be evidence in the client's record why the mechanical physical restraint is necessary during sleeping hours. While it is not necessary to wake the client every two (2) hours to release the restraint and provide opportunity for exercise, the staff must check the restraint frequently during the night to ensure that the restraint is still properly applied and the client appears comfortable.

W307

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.450(d)(6) and a record of such activity must be kept.

§483.450(d)(7) Barred enclosures

Guidance §483.450(d)(7)

A bed or play equipment with bars that prevent the client from leaving the bed or voluntarily climbing out of the bed are barred enclosures. The use of such enclosures must be a part of the written IPP and behavioral assessments must clearly state why such an enclosure is necessary, the risks of using the enclosure versus not using it and what less restrictive measures have been tried prior to the implementation of the barred enclosures.

Such devices may not be used in lieu of adequate staffing.

W308

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

directly in front of the building.

I actually have a really bad habit of jumping the curb and parking in the grass right in front of Judge Hill.

It's where we're not purposed to park; but it's where I purposely park my vehicle because there is no parking in front of Judge Hill. And I want to be able to get to somebody in an emergency. Commons is just right up the road from where we were.

Q Yeah.

Let me ask it this way. Approximately how long do you think it took from the time Debbie Noah got this call to the time you got to your car?

A Until the time I got to my car?

Q Yeah. Thirty seconds?

A Thirty second. Forty-five seconds.

Q Okay. And --

A It was -- it's a very small building and it was a dead run.

Q And you had to grab -- and you stopped to grab the thing you needed, of course.

A Yes. It is -- it is by the front door.

Q Okay. And Nurse King is with you? She gets in the car with you; right?

A Yes.

Q And about how long -- about how many seconds or minutes did it take to drive from Judge Hill to the Commons building?
A It's going to be less than a minute or maybe right at a minute.
Q Okay.
A I mean, it was -- we pulled out and I hit the gas.
Q Okay.
And then about, approximately, how long would it take for you to then get out of your -- or park at Commons, get out of your car, and reach the scene?
A I parked directly in front of the front doors.
So we jumped out of the car, ran up the stairs into the building, and he was right inside the front doors, right up the stairs.
Q So maybe 45 seconds?
A So that wouldn't be long. Forty-five seconds to a minute, maybe.
Q Okay.
A I mean, like I'm -- I'm overshooting the amount of time it would take, so I'm not -- I don't know. We were running.
Q Okay.
A These are people that we deeply care about. This is not just a job. These are people that we care about.

MR. ROSEN: This is the deposition of Jennifer Berry in the case of McAuliffe/Cains versus DHS, Claim Number 220374 in the State Claims Commission. I'm going to introduce as Exhibit Number One the Notice of Deposition. I will introduce that.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number One was marked for identification.)

WHEREUPON,

JENNIFER BERRY,

having been called for examination, and having been first duly sworn by the undersigned notary public, was examined and testified as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q This is the deposition -- as I said, this is the deposition of Jennifer Berry. Ms. Berry, please state your full name.

A Jennifer Berry.

Q And, Ms. Berry, are you employed?

A Yes.

Q Where are you employed?

A At the Booneville Human Development Center.

Q And what do you do there?

A I'm the Assistant Superintendent.

Q And as Assistant Superintendent, what do you do?

A Well, I am the, I guess you would say, co-administrator of the facility.

Q How long have you been doing that?

A Since March of 2020.

Q Okay. And is this a licensed or certified position?

A Yes, it is.

Q What certification do you hold?

A I have a nursing home administrator's license.

Q And that's issued by the State of Arkansas?

A State of Arkansas.

Q Let me just -- I'm going to be asking you a series of questions. I should have started this at the beginning. This lady here is the court reporter and she is going to take everything down. So, try not to talk over me and I will try not to talk over you, or counsel, because it makes it difficult for her. We are going to need a response, "yes" or "no", just because "uh-huh" and "huh-uh" doesn't come out on the transcript.

A Right.
Q If for some reason you need a break, you just let me know.
MR. ROSEN: And the same with you, counsel, if you need a break, just let me know.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. Back to the questions.
A Okay.
Q How long have you been licensed as an administrator?
A Since February of 2020.
Q Is there a test involved with that, or training?
A Yes, there is a test.
Q Okay.
A There is a state test, and then there is a national test.
Q And have you taken both?
A I have.
Q And have you passed both of them?
A I have.
Q And do you need to do that before you become an administrator?
A Correct.
Q Now, what is your employment history with the Department of Human Services?

A I first started working with the Department of Human Services in January of 1999, and I worked for Children and Family Services, DCFS, until March of 2004. And then, I started working at the Booneville Human Development Center in February -- no. January of 2008 and then until present time.
Q What did you first do with the Booneville Human Development Center?
A I worked in the Social Services Department. I was the social service worker.
Q Now, I'm probably going to just refer to it as maybe the BHDC or Booneville -- you know what I'm talking about?
A Right.
Q What is the Booneville Human Development Center? Can you tell us what it is?
A It's an intermediate care facility for adults with intellectual disability. We train individuals in independent living skills, pre-vocational skills, and behavior management.
Q And do individuals reside at the facility?
A They do.
Q Okay. And how many human development centers are there in Arkansas?

A There are five.
Q Are they all under the Department of Human Services, Division of Disability Services?
A Correct.
Q And tell me a little bit about the history of Booneville Human Development Center.
A Well, it originally was the Arkansas Tuberculosis Sanitorium, and it opened in 1909, and it was that until January of 1973 when it switched over to what it is today. At the time they called it the Children's Colony.
Q And so, this is facility-based care for what population?
A For adults with intellectual disabilities.
Q Okay. In Arkansas, are there other options for adults with developmental disabilities?
A Yes, there are.
Q What are those other options?
A Well, they can reside at home, they can receive Community Employment Service Waiver, otherwise known as Medicaid Waiver. There are also small ICFs that are privately owned by different providers throughout the state. And those are typically 15 beds or less. And they also -- they can live in a group home or in a nursing facility.

Q Okay. And so, this is just -- the human development centers in Arkansas is just one option that is available?
A Correct.
Q And you mentioned some other facility-based options, but there are also community-based options?
A Correct.
Q And in June of 2020, and in the years prior to that, were there community-based options available for individuals with intellectual disabilities?
A Yes, there were.
Q Is admission to the human development center, particularly the Booneville Human Development Center, voluntary?
A Yes, they are all voluntary.
Q And is continued staying at the facility voluntary?
A Yes.
Q Are there any involuntary commitments at the Booneville Human Development Center?
A No.
Q So, people are there because somebody wants them there?
A Correct.
Q Either family or guardian?

A Correct.
Q All right. So, who is it that decides whether they stay or not, or whether they are admitted or not, more or less?
A Do you want me to kind of walk through like the admission process?
Q Yes, sure.
A Okay. So, if somebody is interested in human development center services, they make an application through the DDS intake and referral office, and they submit all the required paperwork that is needed for such application. At that time, once it's completed, then they have what is called a Human Development Center Appropriate Review Team Committee, and we meet and we discuss that particular referral to determine if they meet the criteria for HDC placement or not. And if they do, then, because there are five HDCs, each HDC will look to determine if that particular individual would fit in their center. Because of the centers are a little different. Like at Booneville, you know, everybody has to be ambulatory, and we also service the individuals that have mental illness, on top of just intellectual disability.
Q So, everybody who -- so, basically, the different facilities, HDCs in Arkansas, cater to a different type of developmentally disabled individuals?

A They do.

Q Before we get any further, let's talk about, is Booneville Human Development Center accredited or licensed by any organizations or state?

A Yes, we are licensed through Office of Long Term Care, Arkansas Department of Human Services, and then we are CARF accredited.

Q What is CARF?

A CARF is a national standard of -- well, they review different committees -- I mean, different facilities throughout the nation and they come in and evaluate to determine if we meet the standard nationwide.

Q So, is it a voluntary organization or is it mandatory?

A It's voluntary.

Q So, they will accredit you if you meet their national standards?

A Correct.

Q And so, in June of 2020, was the Booneville Human Development Center accredited by CARF?

A We were.

Q You were?

A Yes.
Q And what does CARF mean, do you know?
A I don't know what the acronym stands for. Sorry.
Q But it's C-A-R-F?
A Yes.
Q And that's just a national standard?
A Correct.
Q And is Booneville Human Development Center currently, as of today, accredited by CARF?
A Yes.
Q And has it been continuously?
A Yes.
Q When was it last renewed by CARF?
A This year.
Q Okay. And do they come out to the center?
A They do.
Q And they do an inspection?
A They do.
Q And do you know whether Booneville Human Development Center was accredited by CARF in 2014?
A We were.
Q And has it been continuously, since that time, been accredited by CARF?
A We have.

Q And does the Booneville Human Development Center -- is it licensed?
A Yes.
Q By whom?
A Office of Long Term Care.
Q And as what?
A As an intermediate care facility for adults with intellectual disabilities.
Q And is Office of Long Term Care the State of Arkansas regulatory body?
A Yes.
Q And when was it last -- when was the license of Booneville Human Development Center last renewed by Office of Long Term Care?
A July 1st, 2022.
Q And was it licensed by Office of Long Term Care in June of 2020?
A Yes.
Q And have the state regulators -- tell me, how do you get licensed?
A Well, we have to follow CMS guidelines, Centers for Medicaid and Medicare Services.
Q That's the federal requirement?
A That is, uh-huh.
Q Is that a "yes"?

A Yes. Sorry.
Q All right. And so, as part of the state regulation, does the Office of Long Term Care send out inspectors or surveyors at least once a year?
A At least annually, yes.
Q And they also inspect more than annually?
A They do, if needed.
Q Just jumping ahead real quick. Did the Office of Long Term Care inspect the Booneville Human Development Center in June of 2020 after David Cains passed away?
A Yes, they did.
Q And what was the outcome of that regulatory -- state regulatory inspection?
A No deficiencies found.
Q And what is a deficiency?
A It means that we did something incorrect.
Q So, they didn't find anything incorrect?
A No.
Q And they came out as a result of David Cains' death?
A In conjunction with a followup survey, yes.
Q So, they looked into it?
A Yes.
Q All right. Tell me a little bit about -- we were talking about just Booneville Human Development Center. Tell me a little bit about the campus.

A Well, our campus is old. It is a thousand square feet -- not a thousand square feet, it's not that. It's a thousand acres, is what our main campus is. We have 5,000 acres, total. We have different dormitory style settings for our individuals to live in. Our buildings are older, because they built -- a lot of them were built in the 1940s, late '30s, early '40s. However, we've got some new buildings that have been built recently, and we are in the process of building some more. We have our own water treatment plant, we have our own sewer plant. We are pretty self-sufficient. And that's just because it came from the Arkansas, when it was the tuberculosis sanitorium. We have various departments on our campus. Is that kind of what you were looking at?

Q Yes, whatever your answer is.

A Yes.

Q But let me ask you. So, Booneville is in what county?

A Logan.

Q And how many employees -- how many employees work at the Booneville Human Development Center, approximately?

A Approximately 250.

[redacted]

Q Is that a large employer in the county?
A It is.
Q Do you know if it's the largest?
A At one point we were. But I believe a manufacturer has come in.
Q But you are right up there; right?
A Correct.
Q And so, you mentioned some new construction. There is new construction in the facility?
A There is.
Q So, the state has invested money into it?
A They have.
Q So, they are committed to the Booneville Human Development Center; right?
A Yes.
Q I'm going to show you some photographs. Hold on. And ask if you can -- ask if you can identify some of these photographs. What is that?

A That is one of our new living residences.
Q And did you take that photograph?
A Yes.
Q When did you take that?
A Recently.
Q Okay.
A Because it has got the Christmas decorations on it, and we just put them up.
Q Okay. And is this one that is currently lived in?
A It is.

MR. ROSEN: We are going to mark that as DHS Exhibit 2A.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 2A was marked for identification.)

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q And I'm going to show you another document, and ask if you can identify this document, this photograph.
A This is another one of our living areas.
Q So, this is like a cottage, a dormitory?
A Yes.
Q Is that different from the other one that we just showed a picture of?

A Yes. This is our most recent one, and it is not occupied at the moment. We are waiting to get it -- for the beds to be -- for the beds to be certified.
Q So, it is a brand new facility?
A Correct.

MR. ROSEN: That we will mark as Exhibit 2B.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 2B was marked for identification.)

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q And I'm going to finally show you a third picture, and ask if you can identify this. What is that?
A This is the same building as the last one, just on the front side during the construction phase.
Q So, this is the same picture?
A Correct.
Q All right. And how many new cottages are there?
A We have three.
Q So, I have showed you two. So, there is one that's not in these pictures?
A No. It's right next door, to the left of it. You can see that.
Q And so, is that one still in the stages of construction?

A No. This one is -- as you can see, this is taken beforehand.
Q No. I meant the third one.
A No, no. It is completed and lived in.
Q Oh, it is. So, there are two that are lived in?
A Two lived in.
Q And one that is pending, I guess, occupancy?
A Correct. We're waiting for Office of Long Term Care to certify the beds.
Q Okay. And so, I'm going to show you this one --
A Do you need to label this one?
Q Which one is this? Well, this is the --
A Same building?
Q Yes. So, we are not going to introduce this.
A Okay.
Q While we are looking at photographs, I'm going to show you some other photographs, as well.
A Okay.
Q What is this a photograph of?
A This is a photograph of the inside of our -- one of our training areas. The stone building is what we call it.
Q And what is it depicting? I know it's a little light.
A Yes. It's the work area. This is where we do our recycling program. And so, this is where the material goes in. Our clients are in here, and they separate the recyclable materials. Some will tear from books, because we do collect like school books from places and other locations, and then there are some shredders that are around there.

Q So, this is part of the vocational program for the residents?

A Correct.

Q Did you take that photograph?

A Yes.

Q And did you take it recently?

A Yes.

Q Was the building essentially the same way or was it different in June of 2020?

A Essentially the same.

Q Okay. And so, tell me what type of vocational services were offered to the residents of the facility in 2020.

A The recycling program.

Q Okay. And was that it?

A And we have a rug program where our clients make rugs.

Q So, let's talk about the recycling program. What do you mean by "recycling program"?

A We pick up recyclable materials in the River Valley from different businesses, schools.
Q Paper, or more than paper?
A Paper, cardboard boxes, books.
Q Okay.
A Confidential material, nonconfidential material. And then, we bring it back and our clients unload the trailer and then they separate it. And then, once it's shredded we actually have a bailer, and some of our clients work the bailer.
Q And you say "clients". You mean the residents?
A Yes.
Q These are the developmentally disabled individuals?
A Correct.
Q And so, as part of this vocational program, are they paid?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Tell me, why do you have a program -- recycling program that pays the residents?
A Well, we want to give them a purpose to their day. We also want to give them a skill set so that when they transition into a lesser restrictive setting into the community, that they could, you know, develop some kind of employment skills when they transition out.

Q And so, in addition to this, there are -- you had mentioned rugs.
A Correct.
Q So, what is the vocation area of rugs?
A What do we do with the rugs?
Q Well, I mean, tell me about the process. Do they make the rugs?
A They do make the rugs. So, they are made out of socks, sock loops. There is a company that makes socks. And the toe loop where the seam is, it is cut off. And so, it forms a loop. And so, we get that material. And it is a multi-step process where the clients sort the loops, they clean the loop. And then, there's a dyeing process. And then, they kind of -- I don't know. It is very fascinating to watch them separate them out, and then our clients -- then it goes into the weaving room where our clients actually weave the rugs.
Q And so, they do all these things, and as part of their vocational training?
A Correct.
Q And do they also get paid for this if they are in there?
A They do.

Q And in 2020, did David Cains do any of these programs?
A He was in the recycling program.
Q And did he get paid for that?
A He did.
Q And so, as part of the payment process, what are -- in the vocational -- is money skills part of the vocational process?
A For some of them, correct, yes.
Q And tell me, what does that mean?
A Money skills?
Q Yes.
A Some of them -- well, some of them don't have any concept of money. But some of them have a basic understanding, and we just teach them like, "This is how much you have worked, this is how much you are going to get paid." They will get money that they have earned into their account, they will have a payday. So, they get paid the same, you know, every other week, and they will get, you know, a certain amount for that.
Q And what do they do with the money?
A They will buy whatever they want to. They will go to our canteen, they will go to the vending machine, some of them will save up and we will go into town, some will get something from, you know, one of the local establishments.

Q So, let me ask you this. A canteen, you mean like a little snack store?

A Uh-huh, yes.

Q Is that a "yes"?

A Yes.

Q So, snacks. Is there anything else in there?

A Drinks.

Q Or a vending machine?

A Correct.

Q So, it teaches them how to use money?

A Yes.

Q And you mentioned they go into the town.

A They do.

Q Into Booneville?

A Into Booneville, Fort Smith.

Q And this is an outing for them?

A Yes.

Q And so, they interact with the community?

A They do.

Q And is that part of their vocational --

A Yes.

Q -- their training?

A Yes.

Q Okay. So, in other words, it teaches them responsibility with money and interaction with the local community?
A Correct.
Q And do they ever go to movies or lunches?
A Yes.
Q Tell me about that.
A Well, each living area has different activities that they do. So, sometimes they will go into town to a local restaurant. We used to have a movie theater in Booneville which they would go to often, but unfortunately they shut down. So, our clients don't get to go to movies nearly as much. Of course, this is all pre-COVID. COVID has kind of, you know, put a damper on everybody's life. But beforehand they would go into Fort Smith. There is a movie theater in a town south of us called Waldron. They would, you know, run out and go to those places.
Q And they paid for their movies and lunches?
A They did.

MR. ROSEN: Let's mark that photograph as Exhibit 2C.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 2C was marked for identification.)

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q And I'm going to show you another photograph, and ask you what that is.
A It is the same building, just a different view.
Q Okay. So that's marked as what, 2D?
A Yes.
(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 2D was marked for identification.)
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q And so, that's the work area?
A Correct.
Q Did you take that photo?
A Yes.
Q And was it taken recently?
A Yes.
Q And did it look substantially the same as it did in June of 2020?
A Pretty close.
Q I'm going to show you another photograph that has been marked as 2E.
(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 2E was marked for identification.)
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q And ask, what is that?
A That's another one of our vocational training areas. It's the Hamp Williams building.

Q And is this as it looks today?
A Yes.
Q And is it currently used?
A Yes.
Q And are all floors used or just some of the floors?
A No. Just the first floor.
Q And so, this Hamp building -- what is it called?
A Hamp Williams.
Q The Hamp Williams building -- let me back up a second. Are you familiar with the Disability Rights Arkansas, or DRA, report issued in January of 2015?
A I am.
Q Did the Hamp Williams building figure in in that report?
A Yes.
Q And so, this is what it actually looks like, correct, from the outside?
A From the outside, yes.
Q And there were photos in that DRA report in January of 2015 of holes in the roof of the building.
A That was a different building.
Q Holes in the floors. Was that a different building, or was that this?
A It could have been this building.

Q But there was a report -- there was a report -- in the report, there were photographs of trash and debris in the DRA report in a building.
A Correct.
Q Was that this building?
A It was.
Q And that trash or debris, was that actually trash or debris --
A It was the --
Q Let me finish my question.
A Sorry.
Q What was that trash and debris as classified by the DRA?
A It was actual rug material to make rugs, the sock loops.
Q So, what DRA called in that January 2015 report as trash and debris featured prominently in a photo was actually work material for the vocation?
A Correct. And it was on the third floor of this building that was not occupied.
Q So, it was a storage area?
A Yes.
Q I don't remember them saying that in that report. Did they?
A Not that I recall.

Q And so, were you surprised or --

MR. GILLISPIE: I'm sorry. What was that question, what report?

MR. ROSEN: The 2015 -- January 2015 DRA report that called the work material trash and debris.

MR. GILLISPIE: Oh, I'm sorry. Go ahead.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q And was this building used in 2014 or '15 as the vocational training area for the residents and storage?

A It was.

Q Do you have any idea why DRA -- well, first of all, did DRA talk to you about what that material was that they called trash and debris?

A Not that I recall.

Q Do you know that anybody in the -- they just took a photograph of it; correct?

A Correct.

Q Did they issue the report to you or did they just do a report?

A They just issued the report.

Q It wasn't directed towards you, or the human development center, was it?

A It was directed about the Booneville Human Development Center.
Q It was about it, but it wasn't issued to the Superintendent, was it?
A No.
Q Now, do you have any idea why DRA would label the resident work product or their materials as trash and debris?
A Not really sure --
Q Okay.
A -- why they would -- why they would classify that.
Q Okay. Going back to -- okay. So, what is the last number on that one?
A 2E.
Q All right. Let me ask you a little bit about -- furthermore about the Booneville Human Development Center. And you had mentioned that it employed a large number of people. Does it also have contracts with other service providers, as well as employees?
A We do.
Q And what types of things are contracted out, type of services?
A We contract with a psychiatrist, a neurologist, a podiatrist, a dentist, Ph.D. level psychologist.

Q What about any therapists, or are they on staff?
A Our psychological examiners are on staff.
Q Speech therapist, physical therapist?
A We have a speech therapist on staff, but we also contract with occupational therapy and physical therapy.
Q And is that the way it was in 2020?
A Yes.
Q And before that?
A Yes.
Q What about dieticians?
A Well, that's through a purchase order, but, yes.
Q So, it's a contract?
A Right.
Q What is an RCT?
A At the time it was a residential care technician.
Q Is that an aide?
A Yes.
Q Tell me what an aide is.
A They manage the direct care of the clients that we serve.
Q And what does it stand for?
A RCT?
Q Yes.

A Residential care technician.
Q You mentioned that. And so, in June of 2020, were the aides RCTs?
A They were.
Q And tell me about the training for an RCT.
A Well, they are hired on and they go through a three-week phase, is what we call it, two weeks in the classroom, one week on on-the-job training, and then they have sporadic training throughout, you know, every year that they are there.
Q Okay. And what are they trained in?
A They are trained in understanding our population, they are trained in the skills that they will be providing to our clients to learn, they are trained in behavior modification. Essentially every aspect of client care, they are trained in.
Q Okay. And are they also trained in CPR?
A Yes.
Q And are they all certified in CPR?
A Yes.
Q And do you have -- do you employ a medical team on campus, or nurses on campus?
A We do.
Q Tell me about that.
A We have a medical director, and then we also have a nurse manager, an assistant nurse manager, we have RNs and LPNs.

Q Okay. And so, at any given time, how many nurses are on the facility grounds?

A At any given time?

Q Well, let's just say during the business hours of 8:00 to 4:00.

A Oh, goodness. Fifteen.

Q Okay. And what about -- and is there a medical center?

A Yes. We call it the Judge Hill building, is where the medical is located.

Q All right. What is the Commons Building?

A The Commons Building is where our dining room is, it's where our storeroom is. At the time -- well, right now our staff development is up there, and then down below we have an auditorium and an exercise room.

Q Okay. And so, how many floors is it?

A There are two.

Q And so, it's kind of a split level?

A Yes.

Q So, I'm going to show you what I'm going to mark as two documents, one is marked as Exhibit 3A and one is 3B.

A Okay.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibits Numbered 3A and 3B were marked for identification.)

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q And ask if you can identify that?

A (Witness reviews documents.) Yes.

Q What is 3A?

A 3A is the main floor of our Commons Building.

Q And what happens in the Commons Building?

A This is where our residents, well, go and eat their lunch.

Q Okay. And in June of 2020, that's where residents ate lunch?

A Yes.

Q And so, this is a -- it is call Evacuation Plan, but it's really a layout of the facility; correct?

A Right.

Q And this is the top floor; right?

A Yes.

Q What is on the bottom floor?

A The bottom floor is where we have an auditorium, and then there is some storage, a stage, and then we have our fitness center.

Q And that's marked as 3B?

A Correct.

Q All right. You can put those down.
A (Witness complies.)
Q Now, in the dining room -- let's talk about the Commons Building a little bit as it was in June of 2020. You mentioned this is where residents have lunch?
A Yes.
Q Do they have other meals there?
A No. They eat their breakfast and their dinner in their living areas.
Q Back in 2020?
A Yes.
Q And so, they would come here for lunch back then; right?
A Yes.
Q And how is it served?
A Cafeteria style.
Q Okay. So, they go get their food?
A Yes. There is a line, and they go through the line and our kitchen staff give them their food based on their diet and their desires, what the client wants that day.
Q So, going back to the map of the Commons Building, the top floor where the dining room is. So, as you walk into the building, what happens?

A You go into a little foyer, and then to the left you go down to the stairs, or to the right you go up the stairs.
Q And if you go up the stairs, you go to the dining room and some other rooms; correct?
A Correct.
Q And so, on this map that I have given you as 3A, the top floor, it's marked "dining room". Is there a bathroom nearby?
A Yes. It's at the end of the hallway.
Q Can you point that out?
A I can. It is right here. (Indicating.) These are the restrooms at the back.
Q I'm going to ask you to mark in yellow --

MR. GILLISPIE: Could she mark mine, please?

THE WITNESS: Okay.

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q In yellow where the restroom is.

MR. GILLISPIE: And just hold onto that until he's done having marked things.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q And I'm going to have you mark where the dining room is.

A (Indicating.)
Q Okay. Now, back in June of 2020, were there any chairs in the lobby area?
A Yes.
Q And can you put an "X" where the chairs were?
A There were chairs here, and there's usually chairs kind of here, and sometimes here. (Indicating.)
Q Just put an "X" where the chairs were.
A (Indicating.)
Q Put an "X".
A Oh, an "X". Sorry. (Witness complies.)
Q Now, I'm going to show you some photographs. All right. I'm going to hand you a photograph I will mark 4A, and ask if you can identify that.
A Yes. This is the Commons floor.
(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 4A was marked for identification.)
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q So, did you take this photograph?
A Yes.
Q When did you take it?
A Several months ago.
Q So, recently; right?
A Yes.

Q And with the exception of maybe the exact layout and that yellow sign, did it look essentially the same --
A Yes.
Q -- back in June of 2020?
A It did.
Q And in this -- what are we seeing in here?
A Well, this is when you first come up the stairs.
Q I see on the lower left-hand corner there is a little half wall there.
A Correct.
Q Tiled?
A Yes.
Q As you are coming up, that's on your left-hand side?
A Yes.
Q So, where would the dining room be?
A It's on your right.
Q And where are the bathrooms?
A They're straight down the hallway. They're the last two doors on the right.
Q Past the water fountain?
A Yes. The men's is the first one and the women's is the second.
Q That one is marked 4A. I'm going to show you this one marked as 4B.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 4B was marked for identification.)

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q And ask you, what does this photograph depict?

A (Witness reviews document.) This is the little area that goes into the dining room.

Q Okay. So, this is as you come into the building, go up the steps, it would be on your right-hand side?

A On your right-hand side.

Q What we are looking at is on the other side of the steps, is that correct, right there, in 4A?

A Yes. It would be like that. (Indicating.)

Q This wall here, what is that? There is a door and a wall?

A Yes. So, on the other side of this wall is the foyer when you first come into the main doors. So, it's like a drop-off straight into the foyer.

Q So, it's a half wall?

A Yes.

Q And so, you can stand at the wall and look down into the foyer?

A You can.

Q And it's the same on the other side?

A The other side you look straight down to the bottom of the steps to the second level.
Q Okay.
(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 4C was marked for identification.)
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q I'm going to show you another photograph that's marked 4C, and ask you if you can identify that?
A This is at the top of the stairs when you come in the front.
Q So, those doors are at the front of the building; correct?
A Correct.
Q And so, you can see that there is a half wall that you just mentioned on the left-hand side of this photograph; correct?
A Right.
Q And these are the steps coming into, I guess, the upstairs?
A To the main floor.
Q Okay.
(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 4D was marked for identification.)
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q I'm going to show you a document marked 4D, and ask you if you can tell us what that is?

A Again, this is another view of the main level of the Commons Building.
Q And did you take this photograph?
A Yes.
Q And recently?
A Yes.
Q And with the exception of the exact layout of the chairs, was it basically the same in June of 2020?
A Yes. It just wasn't the TV monitor up there.
Q But there were chairs near or at where they are now?
A Right.
Q Now, on the left-hand side there is that little half wall you described.
A Yes.
Q On the right-hand side there are these double doors and the sign above it.
A Correct.
Q What does the sign say?
A "Hilltop Store and Canteen".
Q What does that mean?
A That's where our clients go and get their snacks.

Q So, that's the store, the canteen?
A That's the store, uh-huh.
Q That's the canteen that you discussed earlier?
A Yes.
Q They can go in there and use their money that they earn?
A Correct.
Q So, there is also a half wall right after that -- right before that door; correct?
A Yes.
Q And then, the steps going down?
A Yes.
Q And so, back in June of 2020, were there similar type of chairs located at or near where these chairs are depicted in the photographs?
A Yes. And there could have been more chairs at that time.
Q But there were chairs?
A But there were chairs there.
Q Okay.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 4E was marked for identification.)

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q I'm going to show you a document marked 4E, and ask you to tell us what that is.

A It's just again showing the main stairs going up to the main floor.
Q This is in the Commons Building?
A In the Commons Building.
Q So, to the left-hand side would be the canteen?
A Correct. And the right-hand side would be the dining room.
Q So, those two doors in the back towards the back of the building, what are they?
A Those are the bathrooms. On the right-hand side?
Q Yes.
A Yes. The first door that you see is the men's bathroom, and the door -- the second door you see on the right is the women's.
Q Just a few more.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 4F was marked for identification.)

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q I'm going to show you what has been marked as Exhibit 4F, and ask if you can identify what that is?
A That is the common area in the Commons Building, main floor.
Q This is looking at it from -- I'm sorry.
A Oh. This is looking at it from the steps.

Q From right at the top of the steps?
A Correct.
Q Towards the left by the canteen?
A Yes.
Q And it hits that half wall?

Arkansas State Claims Commission
FEB 16 2023
RECEIVED

MR. GILLISPIE: I'm sorry. Could you tell me, which one was the men's bathroom?

THE WITNESS: It's the first one on the right.

MR. GILLISPIE: So, that one?

THE WITNESS: It's this one right here. (Indicating.) That's the men's bathroom.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q And just for the record, you are pointing to --

MR. ROSEN: Which exhibit is that?

MR. GILLISPIE: I don't know.

MR. ROSEN: No. She will tell you.

THE WITNESS: It is 4A.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Okay. And 4A is the first door --
A So, it's the -- one two. It's the third door on the right, that's the men's bathroom.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q And that's what you pointed to; correct?

A Yes.
Q Okay. Now, let's go back to the current photograph.
A Which is this one. (Indicating.)
Q 4F?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And so, this is -- and again, this is -- I forgot where we were. But this is where the -- this was depicting the canteen and essentially looked the same except for the chairs might have -- there might have been more chairs slightly, and they're along the wall definitely --
A Correct.
Q -- back in 2020; is that correct?
A Yes.
Q And the TV wasn't there?
A Right.
Q But the building has stayed the same?
A The building has stayed the same, correct.
Q Okay.

MR. ROSEN: 4G.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 4G was marked for identification.)

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q And I'm going to show you a document labeled 4G, and ask if you can identify that?

A That is the bathrooms at the end of the hallway at Commons on the main floor.
Q And the door that's open is to the men's room; right?
A Correct.
Q And with the exception of possibly the exact location of the chairs, in that picture the building is essentially the same as it was in June of 2020; right?
A That's correct.

MR. ROSEN: 4H.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 4H was marked for identification.)

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. I'm going to show you what has been marked as Exhibit 4H, ask if you can identify that?
A Another view of the canteen floor/wall area on the Commons Building.
Q It is a closer-up view?
A Right.
Q And it shows the half wall there?
A Correct.
Q And did you take this photo?
A I did.

Q You took it recently?
A Yes.
Q And has anything in the layout of the building itself been changed since June of 2020?
A No.

MR. ROSEN: I think this is the last one. I'm going to mark this Exhibit 4I.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 4I was marked for identification.)

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q And ask if you can identify that document?
A It's just the foyer when you come in to the main doors. That's just to the right when you come in to the doors.
Q And did you take this photo?
A Yes.
Q And did you take it recently?
A Yes.
Q And aside from the little cone there, was the building format the same when you took the picture as it was in June of 2020?
A Yes.
Q And what are those doors above on the top floor?
A That's going into the dining room.
Q So, this is a view from the foyer looking up the steps, up the half wall into the dining room?

A Correct.
Q So, tell me, are you aware of the distance? You mentioned Judge Hill where the nurses' station is.
A Correct.
Q How far is that from the Commons Building, do you know?
A Approximately 932 feet.
Q And how do you know that?
A Because I had our maintenance men measure from the front door of Judge Hill to the front entrance at Commons.
Q So, this building, it is kind of like a college campus, is that --
A It is.
Q And the dormitories would be somewhere nearby?
A Yes.
Q You referenced this early in your testimony. Tell me about the population of the Booneville HDC in June of 2020 and before.
A Well, our population is majority dually diagnosed.
Q What does that mean?
A That means that not only do they have an intellectual disability, but they also have a mental illness diagnosis. So, schizophrenia, bi-polar, depression, anxiety, ADHD, schizoaffective disorder, various others.

Q And so, do all the human development centers in Arkansas take patients like that?

A They take some. But we take the ones that have the most severe behavioral outbursts.

Q So, the Booneville -- in other words, the Booneville Human Development Center would have a higher population of behavioral problems?

A Correct.

Q Patients?

A Correct. A lot of our clients will come from the Arkansas State Hospital, they will come from jail, they come from other inpatient psychiatric facilities.

Q Okay. So, they are kind of funneled to Booneville?

A They are.

Q So, they most likely wouldn't go to one of the other HDCs?

A They may go to, you know, one temporarily and then they will get transitioned to us.

Q If there is a behavioral problem at another HDC, say the Conway HDC, that really isn't within -- well, tell me -- so, do you ever accept transfers from other HDCs?

A We do.
Q And why is that?
A Various reasons. Some is because they can't, behaviorally, manage them at their particular center. Some, their families live closer to our side of the state. Conway has children. And so, they also have a behavioral unit for children. And so, when they age out of that behavioral program, they would come to our center.
Q So, do you know the percentage of the Booneville population that is dually diagnosed?
A As of right now, it's 96 percent.
Q Do you know what it was in June of 2020?
A Probably not -- probably between 90 and 94.
Q So, about the same range?
A Correct.
Q Nothing has changed; is that right?
A Yeah.
Q And so, having the higher percentage of dually diagnosed and those with behavioral problems, was that the way it was in 2020?
A Yes.
Q Was it that way in 2014?

A Yes.
Q What about 2015?
A Yes.
Q What about 2016?
A Yes.
Q Has it been that way at least since 2014 to 2020?
A Yes.
Q So, if you were comparing populations of the Booneville Human Development Center with -- and comparing it to populations at other development centers --
A Our population is different.
Q So, you would have a -- you have a higher percentage of behavioral residents; right?
A Correct.
Q To your knowledge, back in June of 2020 and before, did you -- did the Booneville Human Development Center have a higher percentage, or a higher number of mental -- of dually diagnosed residents with behavior problems than the other human development centers?
A We did.
Q So, in this population of developmentally delayed people with behavioral problems -- strike that question.

I'm going to ask you, did you know David Cains?

A I did.

Q And did you know him well, or did you just know him from being a resident there?

A I knew him from being a resident there. I mean, I have seen him in activities and, you know, various things. And, you know, I knew his love of the Monkeys and Dukes of Hazzard.

Q Okay. Do you know, as an administrator over at Booneville HDC, are you familiar with Individual Program Plans?

A I am.

Q And they are called, also -- what are they also called?

A IPPs.

Q And what does that mean? What do they do?

A Well, it's a program that is laid out for a year to address every need that the client may have in that particular year, from medical to psychological, pre-vocational, independent living. And it also lists social history and ultimate goals for that individual and things to achieve.

Q Okay. And who develops it?

A The program coordinator, which is also known as the QIDP.

Q I'm going to show you a document, and ask if you can identify that?
A (Witness reviews document.) Yes.
Q Have you seen it before?
A I have.
Q And what is it?
A This is the Individual Program Plan for David Cains.
Q Okay. For what year?
A August 9th, 2018.
Q Okay. 2018?
A Yes. That's what it says on this one.
Q Oh, I'm sorry. I might have given you the wrong one, then.

MR. GILLISPIE: Yes. Mine is '18, too.

MR. ROSEN: Yes. Sorry.

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q We will come back to it, because I have to get the right one that is sitting on my desk. Okay?

MR. ROSEN: Actually, why don't we take a break for five minutes? Are you okay?

THE WITNESS: I'm good.

MR. ROSEN: We will go off the record and I will go get that one.

(WHEREUPON, a break was taken.)

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number Five was marked for identification.)

MR. ROSEN: All right. Back on the record.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q I'm going to show you what I'm marking as Exhibit Five. Let me make sure it's the right year. And ask you if you can identify that?

A (Witness reviews document.) Okay. This is the Individual Program Plan for David Cains for July 18th, 2019.

Q Okay. And what is the significance of the date?

A That this was his last program plan.

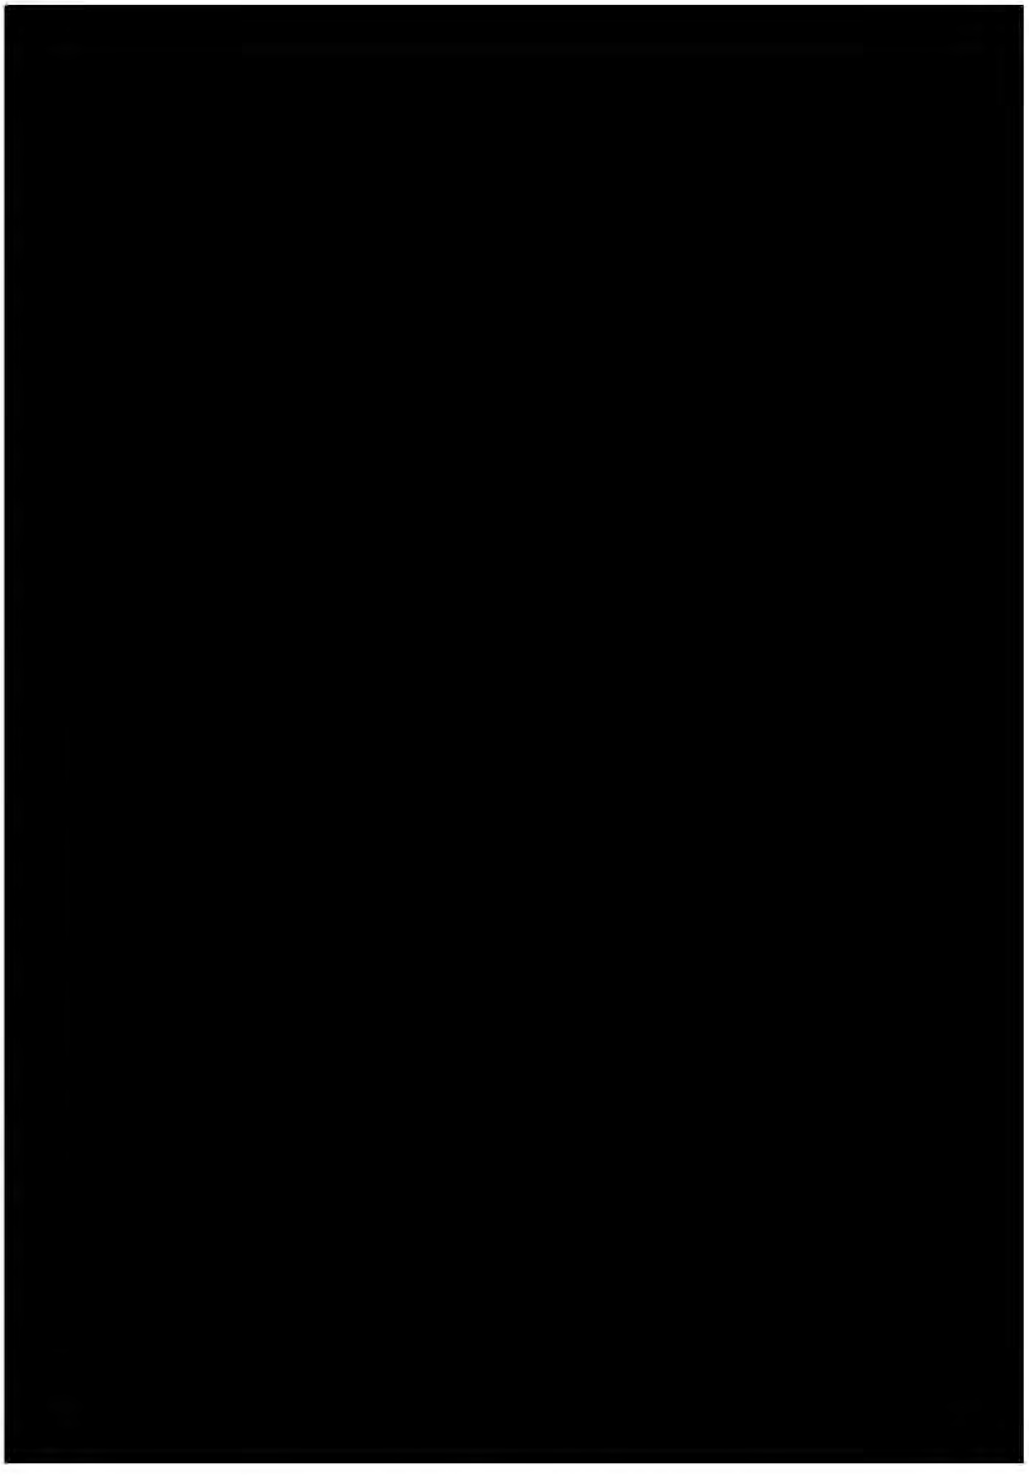
Q So, this was the one in effect at the time that he passed away?

A Correct.

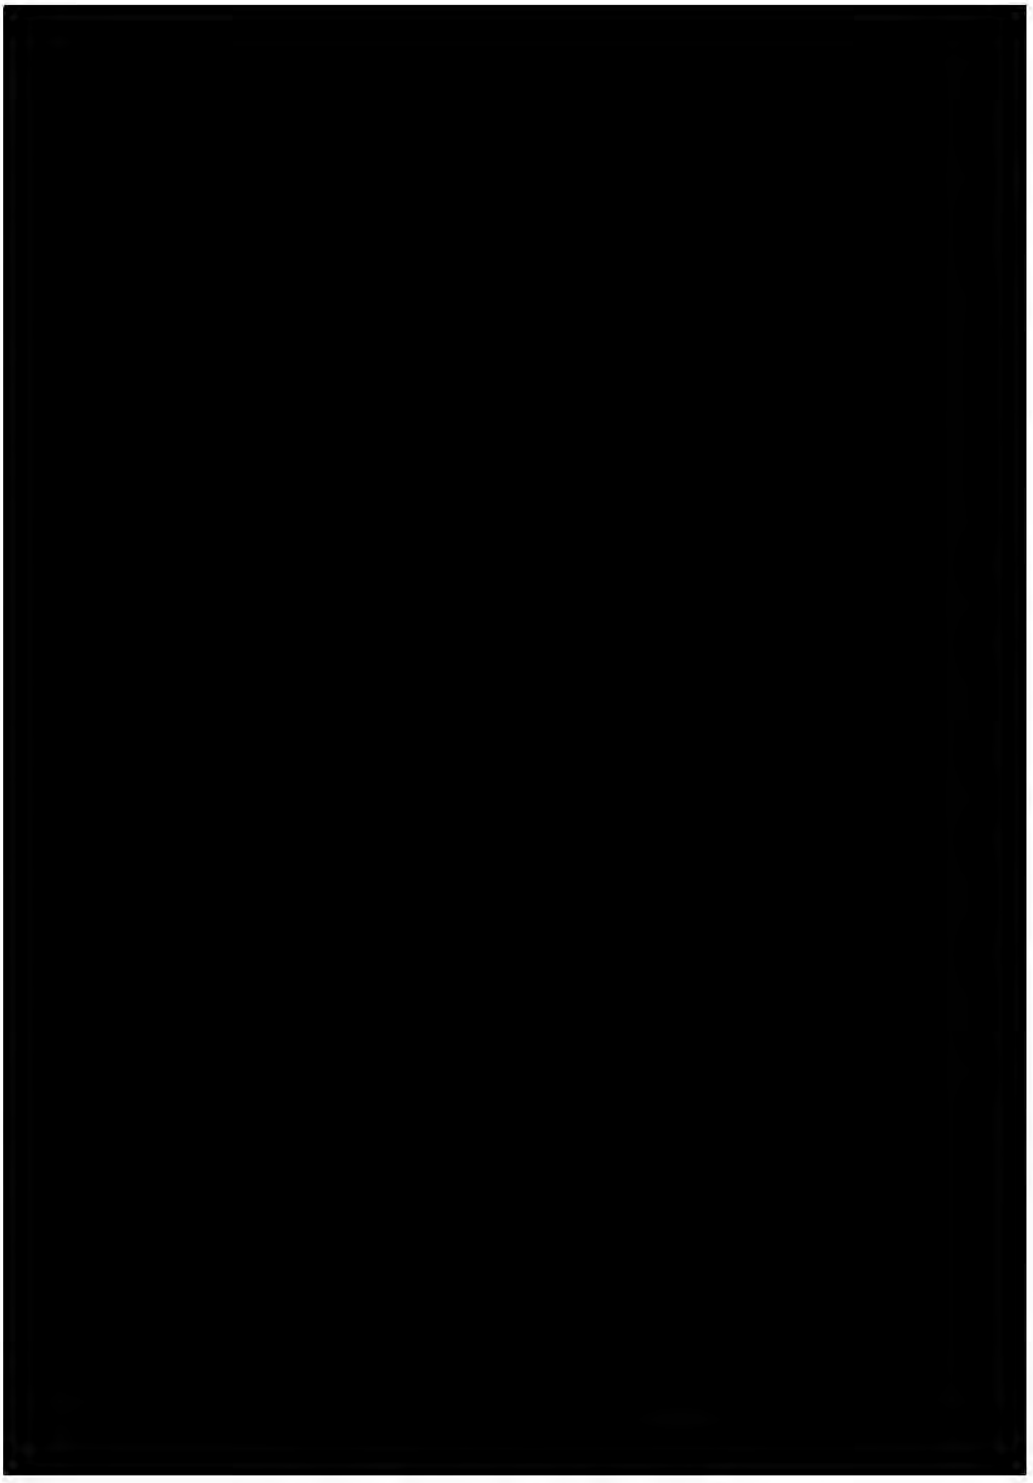
Q And so, how often are IPPs created?

A They have to be completed and approved every 300 -- within 365 days.

Q So, this one was completed and approved on what date?



A It was completed on July -- well, the meeting was July 18th, 2019.



Q And so, therefore, when would the next review be required?

A It would be due by July 17th, 2020.
Q Okay. And so, who is on the -- is this a team effort that creates this?
A It is. It is an interdisciplinary team.
Q And who is on the -- who participated in the interdisciplinary team?
A Well, there are core team members. And the core team members consist of the client, the guardian, the QIDP, Social Services, the team RN, residential, direct care, and then the psychologist.
Q And on this document, if you will turn to like the page --
A I see it.
Q It is page two, and it is Bates marked 1455.
A Yes.
Q People signed in; correct?
A They did.
Q And that includes the guardian. Did she sign in?
A Yes.
Q And who was that?
A Charlene Robinson.
Q And her signature is on that page; right?
A Yes.

Q And Chrissie Cains?
A Yes, I see her signature on there.
Q Did David Cains, himself, was he present?
A He was. His signature is in between Chrissie and Charlene.
Q And those are the people that directly participated in the development of the plan on that day; correct?
A Correct.
Q And then, on page three of the document, which is 1457 on the Bates numbering, it identifies -- what does it identify?
A It shows the following people attended the annual review on the signature sheet. So, that's the typed-out names of everybody involved. And then, the names below are people that participated in the annual review through written reports.
Q So, it's not just the people talking about it, there were medical and other reports that were submitted?
A Correct.
Q And so, I'm going to ask you to turn to page 1463 of this document, the Bates stamp, and it is page six of the document, but it's Bates stamped 1463.

A Okay. (Witness complies.)
Q And so, at the bottom of the page, under Background Information, it identifies David Cains as [redacted] does it not?
A Yes.
[redacted]

Q In the event that his aggression or symptoms interfere with anything, what does the IPP allow to be done?
A They can employ the category one procedures, which is part of DDS' 3011-D Policy.
Q And that specifically said "3011-D Policy"; right?
A Yes.
Q And it also says "TACT procedures"?
A Correct. Which would be actually NCI.
Q "And other center emergency procedures if necessary to protect from injury to client or others"; correct?
A Correct, yes.
Q So, let's shift gears a little bit and talk about the 3011-D Policy. Okay?

A Okay.
(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number Six was marked for identification.)
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q I will give you what I have identified as Exhibit Number Six, and ask you if you can identify that?
A Yes. This is the DDS Policy 3011-D, Behavior Management.
Q And was this in effect in June of 2020?
A Yes.
Q And what is the purpose of this, the stated purpose?
A Well, it's to -- it's for staff to follow the different behavioral -- we have different categories for behavioral incidents. And this allows us -- to give us guidance on what we are supposed to do.
Q Okay. I'm going to specifically, on page one of the document, section one, it says "Purpose". Can you state what that is?
A "This Policy is intended to provide guidelines for managing challenging behaviors of individuals residing in DDS operated programs."
Q Okay.

A "(Human Development Centers)".
Q All right. And so -- and it goes on, and I'm going to ask you to turn to page six, Emergency Procedures -- I'm sorry, page eight, section six. Okay?
A Yes.
Q And what are Emergency Procedures as defined in this Policy?
A It says, "Nothing in this policy prohibits the use of emergency restraint (mechanical or personnel), confiscation" --
Q I'm going to ask you to slow down, because the court reporter has to take down your words. So, if you start again and read a little slower.
A Okay. "Nothing in this policy prohibits the use of emergency restraint (mechanical or personal), confiscation of any item used in a threatening manner, or removal from the environment for the purpose of protecting the individual and others around him/her. This includes the use of restraint procedures in the course of an established program, when the individual becomes a danger to him/herself or others, prior to staff being able to implement a lesser restrictive hierarchy. However, it is emphasized that emergency procedures may not be used at frequent intervals, becoming a routine method of intervention. If emergency procedures are utilized three times in a six-month period, the IDT will meet to conduct a functional analysis and develop an appropriate plan of action. The emergency use of restraint must conform to IFC/MR regulations and must be reported immediately to the facility administrator or designee."

Q And the IDT is the interdisciplinary team; is that correct?

A Correct.

Q And that's reflected in the IPP?

A Correct.

Q So, they did address these issues --

A Yes.

Q -- for David Cains?

A Yes.

Q When you mention the emergency restraint, and it's actually in parenthesis, "(mechanical or personal)", what does "personal" mean?

A It's a personal hold, emergency personal hold.

Q Okay. Now, I'm going to show you what I'm going to mark as Exhibit Number Seven.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number Seven was marked for identification.)

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q And ask you if you can identify what that is?
A This is the HDC Policy I-D-4, "Documentation of and Response to Maladaptive Behaviors".
Q Okay. And so, this is the Booneville Human Development Center Policy; correct?
A Correct.
Q And so, it defines "Emergency situation", does it not?
A Yes.
Q And that's under the Definitions, number three?
A Yes.
Q And 3(c), what is -- tell me what 3(c) is for.
A "Emergency situation in which the clients are harming other people and/or themselves."
Q And what is "Physical restraint"?
A Physical restraint is what we call -- well, "Any manual hold or mechanical device that the client cannot remove easily and which restricts the free movement to a portion or portions of a client's body."
Q And what is a "Personal hold" as defined in this document?
A It's "The actual physical holding of a client by staff using manual methods that restrict the free movement of the client or restrict movement of or access to a portion or portions of the client's body until the client reaches a state of calm and cooperation, signalling the dangerous behavior has ended and safety no longer is at immediate risk."

MR. GILLISPIE: Rich, are you intentionally using the 2021 policy?

MR. ROSEN: No.

MR. GILLISPIE: This is not the policy that was in place at the time of David's death.

MR. ROSEN: Oh, okay. Then, we will not -- was there a different policy in effect?

THE WITNESS: We revise our policies every year. But it is essentially the same.

MR. ROSEN: Then, we won't introduce this one.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Tell me what the policy was in June of 2020.

A Pretty much the exact same thing that I just read.

Q What was revised, do you know?

A Probably the wordage, in terms of from personal holds, from personal restraints to personal holds.

Q So, it was called a personal restraint previously?
A Correct.
Q We will come back to that. Going back to the IPP, let's go to page nine of the IPP, which is Bates marked -- let's go to page nine and ten, which is Bates marked 1469 through 1471.
A (Witness complies.) I have it.

[redacted]

Q Now, per the note on page nine of the document, which is Bates 1469 -- strike that. I already asked that.

So, the IPP reflects -- what is in there is David Cains' treatment program for that year; correct?
A Correct.
Q As approved by the treatment team?
A Yes.

Q And the treatment team, on page ten, Bates marked 1471, in the first paragraph, last sentence says, 'The team agreed that David's Behavior Treatment Program is appropriate and recommended no revisions'; is that correct?
A That's correct.
Q And on that treatment team, besides all the medical team, was Christine Cains McAuliffe; correct?
A Well, she is not a core team member, no.
Q She signed off on it; correct?
A She was at the meeting, yes.
Q She was at the meeting?
A At the permission of her mother.
Q But the team, then -- I guess she is not on the team?
A She is not.
Q But Ms. Robinson, the legal guardian and the mother of David Cains, is on the team?
A She is.
Q So, she agreed to these terms; correct?
A Yes.
Q And so, this is what was agreed at the annual meeting, was it not?
A It was.
Q Okay. So, let's put this aside for a second and go to some -- so, we know from this that David Cains' [redacted]

A They do.

Q I'm going to show you -- let me get these straight. I'm going to show you a document that -- we are going to go through some of these documents, so I'm going to ask you about them. We will label them individually.

MR. ROSEN: The top document I'm going to label as 8A.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 8A was marked for identification.)

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q What is that document?

A This is a Behavior Report.

Q And what is the date?

A It is December 26, 2019.

Q And it is two pages; correct?

A Yes.

Q Bates marked 541 and 542; is that right?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And what is a Behavior Report?

A It documents a client's maladaptive behaviors.

Q Okay. And in this particular report, what happened? What does it depict?

A It shows where David was visiting with his mother.
Q In the facility?
A In the facility.
Q So, his mother came to the facility?
A Yes.
Q And that's Ms. Robinson, the legal guardian?
A Yes.
Q What is the date of this?
A December 2019.
Q What is the date?
A December 26, 2019.
Q This is the day after Christmas?
A Yes.
Q So, the day after Christmas, he was at the facility?
A He was. She returned him from leave, from Christmas break.
Q So, she brought him back the day after Christmas?
A Yes.
Q And what happened?
A They were sitting in the kitchen, and he had just come back from LOA.
Q LOA means what?

A Leave of absence.
Q So, he was with his mom?
A He had been, yes. Staff heard a loud commotion, went into the kitchen, and David had hit his mom and flipped the kitchen table.
Q And that's what the narrative report says?
A Yes.
Q And so, staff intervened?
A They did.
Q And what happened?
A David went to his room.
Q And what did the mom do?
A She left and did not return. He also shouted at her and called her an "F"ing bitch.
Q Okay. All right. Now, if you will put that one aside, that's 8A. I will mark -- let's just go through the next document. I'll mark it as 8B. Actually, we have a lot of documents here, let's go through them each.
A Okay.
Q And then, we will mark them all as 8B.
A Okay.
Q Okay? So, this is December 18, 2019 Behavioral Report. What does it depict?
A It shows another instance where David was physically aggressive --

Q Okay. And --
A -- towards objects in the dining room, as well as he was biting himself.
Q And so, on the narrative, which does it mention that David -- what does it mention about throwing objects?
A Let's see.
Q On the fourth line, fifth line.
MR. GILLISPIE: Which one are we looking at?
MR. ROSEN: I'm going to mark all these as an exhibit, one exhibit, it will be 8B. But this is the one of December 18, 2019 on page 551.
THE WITNESS: David had -- he was throwing objects.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Did he push over an outside table?
A Yes.
Q Did he pick up a Christmas ornament and throw it across the room?
A Yes.
Q Did he almost hit another client?
A Yes.

Q With the ornament?
A Yes.
Q And was he put in a personal hold?
A Yes, for two minutes.
Q Okay. Now, let's go through. So, these exhibits -- here is another one on December 18th.
A Okay. I see that.
Q And he was biting himself?
A Yes.
Q And what was he doing?
A He was waiting in line, talking about work.
Q Was he put in a personal hold?
A For five minutes.
Q To prevent what?
A Because he was biting himself.
Q Okay.
A And because he had picked up a Christmas decoration and was trying to throw it.
Q And so, let's go to another --

MR. GILLISPIE: He had picked up a Christmas decoration and was trying to what?

THE WITNESS: Throw it.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Okay. These are all -- so, this is at December 18th at 10:50. And then, the next document on page 554, it's the same date at 9:30, a little bit earlier. Did he have a problem at that time?

A He did.
Q Okay. And what was he doing?
A He was crying for about 15 minutes.
Q As far as physical aggression, what did he do?
A And then, he got up and he began spitting on the staff several times. He took off his hat and hit the staff several times with it. Staff tried to restrain him and he began slapping the staff.
Q Okay. Now, let's talk about the page 564 and 565. December 2nd, 2019.
A Okay.
Q What did he do on that day?
A He picked up an object and he threw it at the staff.
Q Did he do that twice that day?
MR. GILLISPIE: Are we on December 2nd?
MR. ROSEN: Yes. On page 565.
THE WITNESS: Yes, he did, twice.
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Okay. So, let's go to, now, Bates stamp 566 and 567. He had another behavior incident. What was the date?
A This was November 21st, 2019.

Q And did he jump up and flip a table over?
A He did.
Q And did he call people names?
A He did.
Q And let's go to page 570 and 571. And what is the date of that one?
A It is November 16th, 2019.
Q Okay. And did he try to bite himself?
A He did.
Q And let's go to the next one, page 578 and 579. What is the date?
A November 2nd, 2019.
Q And did he pick up a table and throw it at staff?
A Yes.
Q And let's go to page 580 and 581. What is the date of that one?
A It is October 31st, 2019.
Q Now, they say that he was on a mobile. What does that mean?
A That is our transportation van that goes around campus.
Q So, is it an actual like a bus, a little bus?
A A little bus.
Q So, it's a van?

A Yes.
Q And what did he do on the van?
A He tried to hit another resident, and then staff intervened and he slapped that staff.
Q And so, I'm going to ask you to look at page 582 and 583. What is the date of that?
A October 31st, 2019.
Q What did he do there?
A Screamed for no reason and started biting his right arm.
Q Okay. I'm going to ask you to take a look at 584 through 591. What is this?
A This is an Emergency Mechanical Restraint Documentation Log.
Q And what was he doing that caused this to happen?
A He became upset, spitting, picking up items to throw at staff.
Q And he began hitting and kicking the staff?
A Yes.
Q And I'm going to ask you to turn to page 592 and 593.
A Okay.
Q What is the date?
A It is October 15th, 2019.

Q And did he attempt to hit staff in this incident?
A He did.
Q And he yelled "bitch" several times?
A He did.
Q And so, let's go to 604 and 605. What is the date?
A August 8th, 2019.
Q And again, he is on the van again?
A He is.
Q And while on the van -- so, it's a motorized vehicle and they are going around campus?
A Correct. Picking clients up and dropping them off.
Q And what did he do?
A He started to take off -- he stood up and hit staff that was sitting in the seat across from him.
Q Did he try to bite himself?
A Then, he tried to bite himself on the other wrist. They used personal restraints on him until the mobile stopped, and then they escorted him back to the seat because he was getting out of his seat while it was driving.
Q And did he proceed to bang on the window and start to bite himself again?

A He did. And then, staff had to put him in personals again, and then he bit the staff on the finger.
Q So, he actually bit the staff?
A Yes.
Q And that's on page 605; correct?
A Correct. And then, he continued with his behavior when he ended up to his training area, and he was biting them and hitting windows and attacking staff.
Q And so, let's go to Bates marked 608 and 609 dated June 25th, 2019.
A Okay.
Q What did he do there?
A He was hitting windows in the common area where we eat lunch.
Q We just went through those photographs?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Let's go to 612 and 613. What is the date?
A May 20th, 2019.
Q And in the narrative, what did he do?
A While he was doing his laundry, he grabbed the fire extinguisher and threw it out the laundry room door, hitting the wall in the kitchen.

Q Tell me about the fire extinguishers. How big are they?
A I don't know. Probably decent size. I'm not sure. (Indicating.)
Q So, they're at least two to three feet big?
A Yes.
Q So, they could hurt somebody if they hit them?
A They could.
Q Let's go to 616 and 617. What's the date?
A April 29th, 2019.
Q And did he hit staff with his hat and hit the windows?
A Yes.
Q Let's go to 618 and page 619.
A The date is April 18th, 2019.
Q Okay. And tell me what happened here.
A They prompted him to get his medication.
Q Did he throw a fire extinguisher again at a --
A At a resident, at another client.
Q And then, threw it at staff?
A Yes. He raised the fire extinguisher above his head to throw it. And then, he threw the fire extinguisher at the staff.
Q Okay. And so, let's look at 620, 621. What is the date?

A It is April 18th, 2019.
Q That's the same date as the fire extinguisher you just mentioned. What did he do here?
A He was agitated, he was yelling, spitting, throwing objects, cussing, and attempting to hit staff. He was put in personal restraints for 45 seconds until calm. Then, he went to get his medication, and then he began slamming the cabinet door, biting himself, and attempting to hit staff again.
Q And he was restrained again?
A He was personally restrained for another two minutes.
Q And that's for safety; right?
A Yes.
Q Page 628 and 629.
A The date is April 12th, 2019.
Q What did he do there?
A He became agitated and tried biting himself. He was still agitated.
Q Did he throw anything?
A He picked up his glass of tea and he threw it at staff and began to scream and shout.
Q Did he attempt to bite himself and scratch staff?

A He did.
Q Let's look at what is marked as 636 and 637 dated April 8th, 2019. What did he do here?
A He was in his training area and he didn't want to go to work, so he tried to hit another client.
Q The client is a resident?
A Correct.
Q So, he tried to hit another resident?
A He did. And he was placed in personal restraints to prevent him from harming another client.
Q So, he was grabbed as he was about to hit them there?
A Yes.
Q By the staff to protect the other client?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And there is 638 and 639. Did he throw his juice at staff and threw his plate?
A Yes. This was on April the 6th, 2019.
Q Did he try to hit and spit at staff and bite himself?
A He did, cussing and screaming.
Q 645 through 649. What did he do here?
A Well, this is on April the 2nd, 2019. He was throwing personal belongings, he started spitting and biting himself and cussing at staff, which they could not calm his behavior and he ended up in emergency mechanical restraints.

Q Did he try to hit staff and kick staff?

A Yes. And to bite staff.

MR. GILLISPIE: Rich, I will stipulate that these documents speak for themselves. If you want to --

MR. ROSEN: Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: -- you can enter them all in and I will stipulate to them.

MR. ROSEN: All right. Then, that's fine. Yes. So, I'm going to -- okay. We will enter them. And all these documents will be marked as Exhibit "B", but there are a few that I still want to talk about.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

MR. ROSEN: So we don't have to go through each one.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q So, looking at 665 and 666. In this Behavior Report dated March 15th of 2019, did he grab a fire extinguisher and throw it?

A Yes. And started to bite himself, spit and curse at staff.

Q Okay. And just, on some of them, on 669 and 670, what happened here?
A He was in line for lunch and attempted to rip the papers off the wall, the door to Commons. He couldn't get them because they were taped to the inside of the door. He then turned to another individual standing behind him and he attempted to hit the individual. Staff intervened.
Q Is that individual another resident?
A Yes. He tried to hit another resident.
Q All right. Then, let's move on. And just on number 679 and 680. On March 4th of 2019, did he then -- his behavior, he opened the fire extinguisher door and took it out and tossed it toward staff?
A He did.
Q And let's look at 705 and 706, this Behavior Report dated February 27th of '19. Did he actually rip a thermostat off the wall?
A He did.
Q And hit staff?
A He did, and spit at staff.
Q And 709 and 710, February 21, 2019, did he, in this incident, attempt to attack or hit another --
A Client.
Q -- client, or resident?

A He did.
Q And he spit on staff?
A And screamed and cussed.
Q And he hit staff?
A He did. And he jumped up and he flipped his bike that he was riding.
Q Okay. And the last one on this exhibit is 730 and 731, dated January 14th of '19?
A Yes.
Q In this instance, according to the narrative -- and these are Behavior Reports; right?
A Correct.
Q Did David Cains take a picture off the wall and throw it at staff, shattering the glass?
A He did.

MR. ROSEN: All right. All those documents will be marked as Exhibit 8B.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 8B was marked for identification.)

MR. ROSEN: All right. Now, I want to -- I also have some Behavior Reports from 2020. We're going to mark these as Exhibit Nine. Do you want me to go through them individually?

MR. GILLISPIE: No, you don't have to go through them individually. I will stipulate that they are -- there is nothing here that you haven't produced already to me?

MR. ROSEN: No. Yes, they are all Bates stamped.

MR. GILLISPIE: Yes. I will stipulate that these are the Behavior Reports for the times and dates dated.

MR. ROSEN: So, those will be marked Exhibit Nine.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number Nine was marked for identification.)

MR. ROSEN: There are a few other ones. There are too many documents.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Do you know what dysphagia is?

A It has to do with swallowing.

[redacted]

Q And is that documented on page Bates marked 1505, under Speech?

A Yes.

Q And that's actually --

A That one was August 11th, yes.

[redacted]

Q And are you familiar with the acronym HOB?

A Yes.

Q What does that mean?
A Head of bed.
MR. GILLISPIE: Just to make sure it is on the record, we have gone over it before, Rich -- what page is she looking at?
THE WITNESS: 1483.
MR. ROSEN: And you can ask her questions in your cross examination.
MR. GILLISPIE: I know.
MR. ROSEN: So, unless you have an objection, there is nothing to be said.
MR. GILLISPIE: Well, it is an objection to the form.
MR. ROSEN: Okay.
MR. GILLISPIE: And I will briefly state my reason why, without getting into a speaking objection. But again, this is the version that it doesn't have that other -- this is missing a page. This version that you use is missing a page containing the [redacted]

BY MR. ROSEN:
Q Let me ask you this. Is this IPP complete?
A Yes.

Q And is that what it says on this IPP on page 1487 that was Bates stamped and provided to claimant as part of discovery?

A 1487 or 1483?

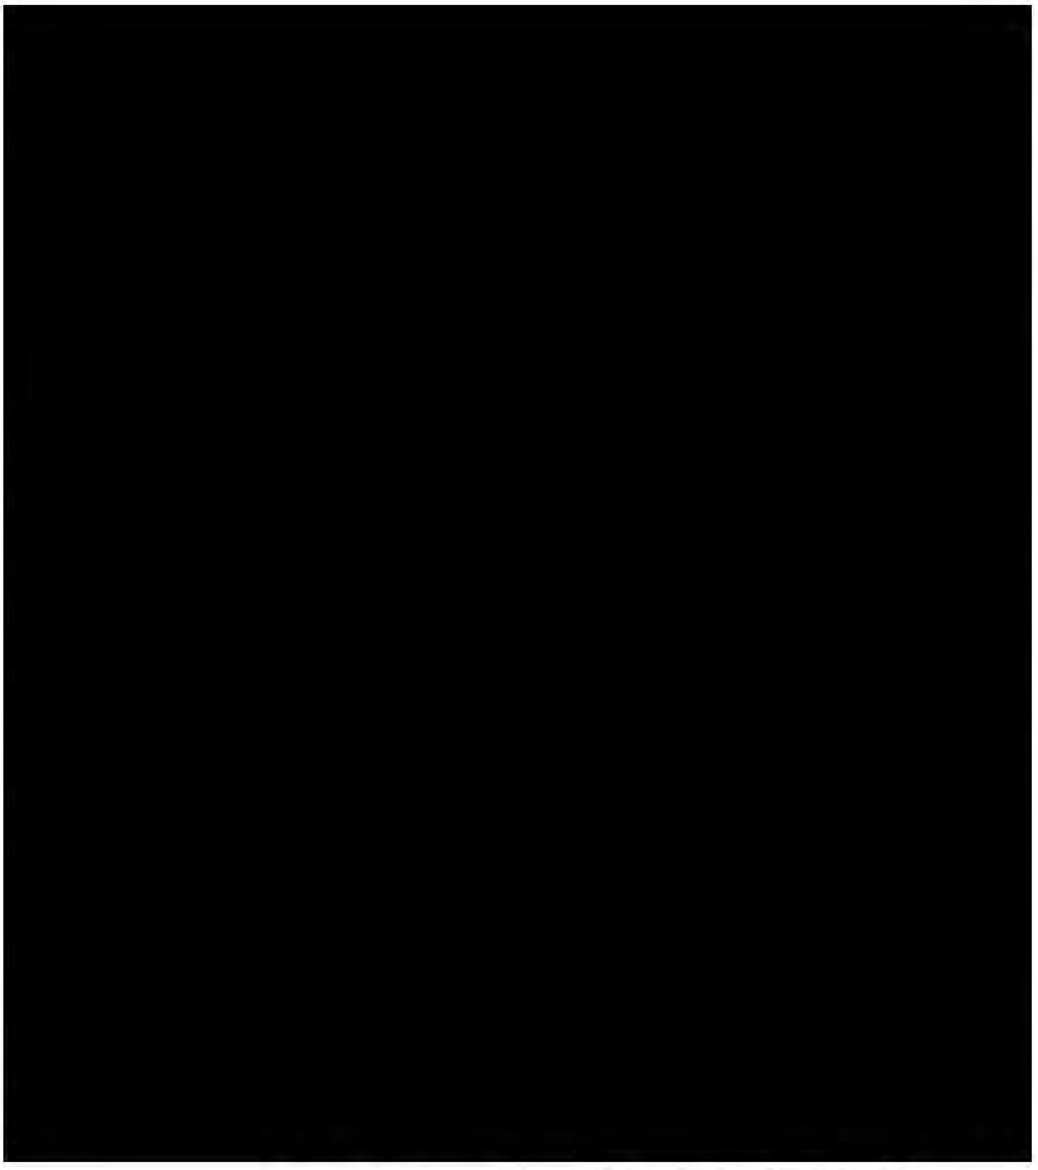
Q 1483.

A Yes.

Q Now, directing your attention to page 1501 of the same document -- of the IPP, it states about two-thirds of the way down the category, "Treatments by LA Staff". Do you see that?

A Yes.

[redacted]



Q What does LA staff mean?

A Living area staff.

Q Okay. And as a matter of fact, on 1497, just a few pages before that, it identifies living area staff -- "Living Area Service Objectives"; right?

A Correct.

[redacted]

MR. GILLISPIE: Object to the form. She has no expertise to the questions you are asking.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q How long have you been working with developmentally delayed?

A For 15 years.
Q And during those 15 years, have you ever had or known of a drug that treats developmentally delayed people?
A I do not know of one.
Q We can treat their mental illness; right?
A Correct.
[redacted]
Q We can treat any other medical problems, perhaps, hopefully, that they have?
A Correct.
Q But there is no medication, is there, for developmental delay?
A There is not.
Q Let's talk about, Booneville Human Development Center is licensed -- excuse me, is regulated by the state; correct?
A Correct.
Q And so, you have certain staffing requirements, do you not?
A We do.
Q Okay. And I'm going to show you what we are going to mark as Exhibit Number Ten.

A (Witness reviews document.)

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number Ten was marked for identification.)

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q And ask if you have seen that document. Okay. And what is this document in front of you?

A This is the ICF regulations.

Q What does that mean?

A Intermediate Care Facility.

Q So, these are certain portions of the regulations that regulate your facility?

A Correct.

Q And what section is this?

A We are looking at "Standard: Facility staffing".

Q So, the regulations determine what your minimum staffing levels are; correct?

A They do.

Q Where was that in this document? You have seen this before, haven't you?

A I have.

Q And where is the staffing level for direct care staff?

A It is under W187.

Q Okay. So, W187 of Exhibit Ten is the requirements for direct care staffing; correct?

A That's correct.
Q And it talks about minimum ratios?
A It does.
Q And so, at any time in June of 2020 did the Booneville Human Development Center ever fall below those minimum staffing levels?
A We did not.
Q On June 13th of 2020, did the human development center fall below the staffing levels required by the State of Arkansas?
A We did not.
Q And the State of Arkansas looks into those things, do they not?
A They do.
Q And the incident with David Cains where he choked, did that happen in the dorms?
A No. It happened in the Commons Building.
Q Okay. And so, there were, we know, at least three aides nearby; correct?
A Yes.
Q Were there others in the dining room?
A Yes.
Q So, there were plenty of direct care staff in the area?

A There was.
Q And so, at that point in time, in that location, did DHS -- or in any location, did the Booneville Human Development Center fall below the state required minimum staffing levels?
A We did not.
Q Now, I'm going to ask you -- I'm going to give you some documents. I'm going to mark this Exhibit 11.
A (Witness reviews document.)
(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 11 was marked for identification.)
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q And have you seen this document before?
A I have.
Q In fact, you created this, did you not?
A I did.
Q At whose request did you create this?
A Yours.
Q And what does this document do?
A It shows the staffing ratios for all residential areas.
Q For what time period?
A From June 1st, 2020 to June 13th, 2022.
Q Actually, I think it's a repeat on some of these. But it's actually just a three-page document; correct?

A It is.
Q Does yours have three pages or more than three?
A Mine has more than three pages.
Q It is just repeated. Somebody made copies -- too many copies of it. So, I'm going to give you Exhibit 11. It is just three pages. Okay?
A Okay.
Q If you will give me that back. Okay. So, let's look at June 13th of 2020.
A Okay.
Q This is for all residential living areas, this is facility-wide; correct?
A Facility-wide, yes.
Q And so, what is the ratio looking at June 13th?
A So, our required ratios from midnight to 8:00 in the morning is one staff per 16 individuals.
Q How many were there?
A Well, our daily census was 123 that day, and we had 25 staff present.
Q So, are there different requirements for different shifts?
A There is.

Q So, which is the most -- which shift requires the most staff?
A The 8:00 to 4:00 shift and the 4:00 to 12:00 shift.
Q So, during the day and then to midnight?
A Right.
Q And so, this is facility-wide. How many did you have on staff, direct care?
A For 8:00 to 4:00, we had 30, and then for 4:00 to 12:00, we had 29.
Q And what was the requirement?
A One to eight.
Q All right. So, you were over the limit?
A We were.
Q So, you did not have any -- you did not fall short -- you were not short-staffed that day?
A We were not.
Q And you did this for the whole first 13 days of June of 2020; correct?
A Correct.
Q And when you looked at your staffing levels, did any of those dates -- this is residential areas. Facility-wide, did they fall below the minimum staffing levels for any shift?
A They did not.

Q All right. We're going to look at what I'm going to mark Exhibit 12.

(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 12 was marked for identification.)

(WHEREUPON, a discussion was held off the record.)

(WHEREUPON, a break was taken.)

MR. ROSEN: All right. So, back on the record.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q What you have in front of you is -- what do you have in front of you? It is marked as Exhibit 12.

A It is the staffing ratios for Davison House from June 1st, 2020 to June 13th, 2020.

Q Okay. It is marked "June 13th, 2022" at the top?

A Yeah, I guess. That's a typo.

Q Did you prepare this document?

A I did.

Q Were these staffing ratios from 2022 or 2020?

A 2020.

Q So, individually, per day, they are marked correctly?

A Yes.

Q That's just a typo; right?

A It is a typo.
Q Okay. And so, directing your attention to June 13th, 2020 -- well, first of all, what is the difference between this Exhibit Number 12 and what we just discussed on Exhibit 11?
A This is specific to Davison House living area.
Q So, the other one was facility --
A Facility-wide.
Q And this is to the Davison House. And what is the significance of Davison House?
A This is where David Cains lived.
Q And I see there are different categories here. There is blue, green, yellow/orange?
A Yes. That's the different living areas within the building.
Q Within Davison House, which is a dormitory --
A Yes.
Q -- there are different areas labeled different colors?
A Correct.
Q And that's what you have broken down here?
A Yes.
Q So, what were the staffing levels -- what was the census of that house that day on June 13th, 2020?
A The census was -- we only -- well, for the 12:00 to 8:00 shift for Davison House Blue, if we're looking at that specifically, that was the area that David lived in, was we had ten clients in that area, we had two staff, so we were more than covered under that ratio from one to 16.

Q So, just so I understand, you say one to 16. So, that's one staff per 16 individuals?

A Correct.

Q And you had ten?

A We had ten, and we had two staff per ten.

Q So, then, you had well more than --

A Yes. We were one to five, actually.

Q And you have it broken down for the other shifts, as well?

A Correct.

Q And for the different areas. I guess are they different floors?

A Blue is on -- blue and green are on the first floor, and then orange and yellow are on the second floor.

Q And for those areas where David Cains wasn't, you met the minimum staffing levels; correct?

A We did.

Q And so, from June 1st of 2020 through June 13th of 2020, in Davison House in any color -- any area marked by a color, were the minimum staffing levels met or exceeded?

A They were met and some exceeded.
Q All right. Let's talk a little bit more. Let's talk about -- I'm going to show you about the next what we are going to mark as Exhibit Number 12?
A It would be 13.
Q Thirteen. I'm sorry.
(WHEREUPON, DHS Exhibit Number 13 was marked for identification.)
BY MR. ROSEN:
Q And ask if you can recognize that document?
A (Witness reviews document.) Yes, this is CMS 2567.
Q And what does that mean?
A This is the form that Office of Long Term Care uses when they come for any sort of annual review or complaint.
Q And so, this is dated up at the top, "Survey Completed 06-30, 2020"?
A Right.
Q Now, do you recognize this particular document?
A I do.
Q And what do you recognize it to be?
A This is the outcome of the Office of Long Term Care visit.

Q With regard to David Cains?
A It has various complaints.
Q But was one of these -- do you recognize this as being at least one of them?
A One of them was for David Cains, yes.
Q Now, how do you know that?
A Because when they came to visit at our facility the date that they came to visit, which was June 30th, 2020, that was part of their investigation.
Q And so, you recognize this as being from that?
A Correct.
Q But it doesn't mention David Cains?
A It doesn't.
Q But do you recall it?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And do you know which one of the three complaints that they looked at was David Cains?
A I couldn't tell you which one.
Q But all of them were unsubstantiated, whatever they looked at?
A They were.
Q And what does "unsubstantiated" mean with regard to an Office of Long Term Care complaint?
A That means they found no fault at the facility.

Q No violation of any --
A No violations.
Q No violation of any regulation?
A Correct.
Q And we don't know from this document what they specifically looked at, do we?
A I do not, no.
Q But whatever it was, Booneville was found not to be deficient?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And did Office of Long Term Care interview people?
A They did.
Q And did they actually come to the facility?
A They did.
Q And so, they were there, present, to look into this?
A They were.
Q You are also familiar with the Disability Rights of Arkansas report on David Cains' death?
A I am.
Q And that was conducted -- do you know who it was conducted by?
A Chris Stewart.
Q And did Chris Stewart actually come to the facility to inspect it?

A She did not.
Q Who is Sandy Evans?
A She was our Residential Services Director.
Q And as Residential Services Director, did she -- do you know whether she conducts any Long Term Care, or maltreatment investigations?
A She did.
Q Internally?
A Yes. She was one of our adult maltreatment investigators.
Q And to be a maltreatment investigator, is there any training or certification?
A There is a course that they attend.
Q Do you know anything about that?
A I do.
Q Tell me about it.
A Well, it's a couple day course, or even a one-day course, depending on which one they send you to, and you go and you learn the ins and outs of investigating at a facility.
Q Okay. And so, what was Sandy Evans' position?
A At the time of her retirement, she was Residential Services Director.
Q What about on --

MR. GILLISPIE: I'm sorry. This is my call.

MR. ROSEN: Why don't we take a break?

(WHEREUPON, a break was taken.)

MR. ROSEN: We are back on the record after a break. I just have a few more questions.

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Tell me, again, how long you have been at the Booneville Human Development Center.

A It will be 15 years in January.

Q And during the course of those 15 years, have there been incidents where a call to 911 had to be implemented?

A Yes.

Q And do you have personal experience with that?

A No.

Q Do you know, as formerly the Social Services Director, or in that division, and as Assistant Superintendent, are you familiar with the response times of the Logan County EMS system?

A I am.

Q Tell me what your experiences at the Booneville -- what the Booneville Human Development Center's experiences with calling 911 is.

A Typically -- we have two units in the county.
Q Two, what do you mean?
A Two ambulances.
Q Okay.
A And it covers the entire county of Logan County. So, if it's on the other side of the county, it may take a while for them to get to us. We did have an incident where it took 45 minutes for the ambulance to arrive, and another incident recently where it took an hour for them to arrive.
Q And sometimes they arrive sooner?
A Sometimes they do. But typically, you know, within 15 minutes. But we have also been told when we have called the ambulance that they have to get an ambulance from another county to come in because both of their units are out.
Q But you have a medical team of nurses; correct?
A We do.
Q And so, are they able to respond to many of these instances?
A They are.
Q And about how long does it take for them to respond?
A A couple of minutes.
Q Okay.

A Depending on where the location is.
Q I'm going to ask you a few terms and ask you if you are familiar with them and if you can identify them. Do you know what NCI is?
A Yes.
Q And what does that stand for?
A Nonviolent Crisis Intervention.
Q And tell me about that. Do you know anything about NCI?
A I do.
Q Tell me about it.
A It's a de-escalation program where our staff are taught how to de-escalate behaviors. And then, it also entails doing certain personal holds to kind of de-escalate a situation.
Q Okay. And so, is that the only protocols or policy that Booneville Human Development Center implemented for behavior modification or management for residents in June of 2020?
A No.
Q What else?
A We also use emergency mechanical restraints and emergency chemical interventions.
Q What are they for?
A To help with behavior modification.

Q And so, what did you say that -- what else do you use?
A Emergency chemical intervention.
Q Other than that, what was the other one?
A Emergency mechanical restraint.
Q Okay. Mechanical. So, what is mechanical restraint?
A Papoose board.
Q And it's --
A It's a board that lays on the ground that is cushioned, and there are straps that go around their legs.
Q In some of the behavior reports that we went over earlier and some that are in there, you referenced a papoose board or mechanical restraint.
A Correct, correct.
Q Is that what you are talking about?
A Yes, it is.
Q And that's for behavior management?
A Well, it's to ensure the health and safety of individuals.
Q Oh.
A Everything we do, we use for emergency purposes.
Q So, are restraints used for therapeutic purposes?

A No.
Q Are they used for disciplinary purposes?
A No.
Q Do you know what CPI is?
A I think it's like Crisis Prevention Institute.
Q Yes. What is that?
A That's the organization that developed the NCI.
Q Okay. So, that's the company and NCI is one of the programs?
A It's a program.
Q I got you. Do you know whether CPI has other programs that teach more?
A They do. They have an advanced NCI.
Q In 2020, Booneville Human Development Center didn't buy those protocols, did it?
A We did not.
Q And is that what you do, you buy the protocols and teaching materials?
A Well, we send instructors to go to those programs.
Q But it's a paid thing?
A It is.
Q And so, what is a personal hold?
A A personal hold is where an employee has their hands on the individual to calm them.

Q Okay. And so, that's --
A And prevent them from harming themselves and others.
Q In the behavior reports, that was also referred to as an alternate hold or a restraint.
A Right.
Q And what is the purpose of that?
A The health and safety of the individual and the individuals around them.
Q What is early chemical intervention?
A Early chemical intervention is where it's identified by the medical staff that this person would benefit from having an Ativan or Haldol or whatever as their behaviors start to increase. That way -- let me reframe that better. So, if a client is agitated and they are showing signs of distress, some of our clients can get quite violent. And so, before it gets to that point, if we can get them an early chemical intervention, then that client won't escalate to the point of severe harm to self or others.
Q And was David Cains in 2020 and before authorized for early chemical intervention by his physician?
A Not to my knowledge.

Q Do you know one way or another?
A I do not off the top of my head, no.
Q Tell me, are you familiar with maltreatment investigations?
A I am.
Q So, tell me the different type -- are there different types of maltreatment investigations?
A There is the maltreatment investigation, and sometimes we have admin reviews.
Q What is an admin review?
A Just where there is a situation that is presented to us and we look further into it to determine if we need to expand upon it and make it a full-fledged investigation.

[redacted]

Q And that's a lesser than an investigation?
A We still do a full-fledged investigation with a review. It's not much different.
Q So, what is the significance? What is the difference?
A Well, the difference is if it's, you know, if it's reportable or not.
Q Okay. Oh, okay. So, only certain things are reportable?
A Correct.
Q And what is the standard that -- what is the standard, do you know?
A No.
Q Okay. You are not an investigator?
A I have investigated.
Q Oh.
A But I'm currently not an investigator at the moment, with my current position. But previous, I did investigations.
Q All right. So, the behavior incidents of David Cains that we introduced into evidence, and some we went over in detail and some were stipulated to, were those -- and they were from 2019 and 2020. Do you know whether those were all the behavior incidents or were they just certain ones?

A Those were just certain ones.
Q You are familiar -- you reviewed the records?
A I did.
Q And there were more?
A There's a lot more.
Q Okay.

Arkansas

RECEIVED

MR. ROSEN: That's all the questions I have.

CROSS EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. Berry, why would you -- you are saying that there are a lot more behavior incidents from 2020 that a report was not done for?
A No. From -- I was talking about 2000 -- David was with us from 2007 until 2020. So, there's a lot of Behavior Reports regarding that timeframe.
Q Oh, okay. You are not saying that y'all neglected to do reports for incidents?
A No.
Q You are just saying Mr. Rosen only showed you 2019 and 2020?
A Correct.
Q Not years prior to that?
A Yes.
Q I misunderstood that. Ms. Berry, you are the --

are you the Assistant Superintendent, is that technically the title?

A That's my title.

Q And Jeff Gonyea is the Superintendent?

A Correct.

Q All right. So, he is the one person at the facility above you?

A Yes.

Q And I'm quite happy to have you here today, but I'm wondering, you know, why -- we are deposing him on Thursday. Is there information that you have that y'all determined that Mr. Gonyea may not have, or topics he may not be able to cover as well as you?

A I don't know.

Q Okay. You have no idea?

A I mean, I don't know what topics it is that you are interested in.

Q Would Mr. Gonyea be equally capable of answering questions about the topics that have been addressed with you today?

A No.

Q What topics would he not be capable of addressing and why?

A I mean, he could. But, I mean, in terms of the records, I am the one that, you know, was the one that produced all the records. So, I don't know.

Q Flesh that out for me.
A Yeah. Ask the question again.
Q What records are you saying you produced?
A All of the records.
Q You are talking about discovery?
A Yes.
Q Okay. You are the one that compiled all of the stuff that was given to the attorneys that was then given to me?
A Correct.
Q Okay. I assume Mr. Gonyea is familiar with the case?
A Yes.
Q Okay. I assume he is familiar with all of the policies that you have been asked about today; right?
A Yes.
Q So, I am simply wondering, is there any specific reason that you know of that you are here to answer questions as opposed to just getting this information from Mr. Gonyea on Thursday?
A Maybe because I give a different insight to it.
Q Sure. Everybody has -- fair enough. Are there any -- as far as you know, are there any topics that you are able to address that he would not be able to address related to this case?

MR. ROSEN: That you know of.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q That you know of?

A That I know of. Right. Because I don't -- I don't really know where you are going with this. But, okay.

Q Do you understand my question?

A I hear what you are saying.

Q Yes.

A I just don't understand. I mean, yes, I mean, there is really -- I don't know. Yeah. I know what you are saying and I understand the question that you are saying, but there is no real -- I mean, it's perfectly fine for me to be here and perfectly fine for him to be here.

Q I anticipate his deposition to take quite a while. He is the Superintendent, I have a lot of things to address with him.

A Okay.

Q I see no particularly good reason to --

A Ask me questions.

Q -- to ask you questions all the same things that I'm going to be asking him on Thursday.

A Okay.

Q Unless there is something that you are aware of related to this case that you have knowledge of that he would not. So, the question would be, are you aware of anything related to this case that you have knowledge of that Mr. Gonyea does not?

MR. ROSEN: Objection. I'm not sure that she can answer that question. But to the extent that she does have knowledge of that, she can.

MR. GILLISPIE: Right, that she is aware of anything.

THE WITNESS: I'm not aware of anything.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q And I am not going to ask you a lot of questions here, just some quick followup. You testified earlier that Mr. Cains and the other residents of the BHDC are there voluntarily; correct?

A Yes.

Q They or their loved ones choose for them to be there; right?

A Correct.

Q And they can presumably remove them at any time; right?

A Correct.

Q You are not also saying that that means that the facility can use any kind of physical force that they want on them, are you?
A No.
Q Okay. The facility still has to comply with federal regulations?
A Yes.
Q And I'm not going to go through all of them individually, but specifically the ones that Mr. Rosen asked you about, those that pertained to staffing. But the same set of regulations found at 42 CFR, Section 483.000, which y'all commonly refer to as either the State Operations Manual or the Medicare --
A ICF regulations.
Q ICF regulations. The facility has to follow those; right?
A Correct.
Q The facility also has to follow and comply with the DDS policies?
A Correct.
Q And then, of course, the facility has to follow and comply with its own policies?
A Correct.
Q So, to be clear, you would refer to these federal regulations typically as ICF regulations?

A Yes.
Q And would you agree with me that, in general, the facility has a duty to keep the clients reasonably safe?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And this document, I can't remember what exhibit number Mr. Rosen called it, but --
MR. ROSEN: 13, in front of her.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Is that OLTC's findings?
A Yes.
Q So, that's the OLTC report that was generated --
A Correct.
Q -- as a result of David's death?
A Yes.
Q There is no other OLTC investigative report, is there?
A Those are the findings. I don't know what their actual report is.
Q Okay.
A Those were the findings.
Q I just want to make sure that my understanding of all the different reports is correct.
A That's the OLTC's findings.

Q And so, my understanding is that Ms. Evans did the maltreatment investigation and then she generated what is called a Maltreatment Investigative Report; correct?
A Correct.
Q And then, my understanding is, correct me if I'm wrong, Mr. Gonyea then uses that to generate what is called the DH Incident Report. Is that correct?
A Yes.
Q And then, both of those documents, along with witness statements, are then sent to DDS, or are they sent to OLTC?
A They are sent to OLTC.
Q Which is a part of DDS?
A No.
Q No. It's different. Okay. They are sent to OLTC. What does OLTC then do?
A They review the investigation --
Q Okay. And so --
A -- and then conduct their own investigation.
Q Okay. And this is what was generated from OLTC's investigation?
A When they came on our campus, correct.
Q Do you know of any other document produced by the OLTC investigation, other than this?

A Not to us. No, I don't know of any others, no.
Q Okay. Thank you for clearing that up for me. So, OLTC conducted this investigation just within weeks of the death?
A Correct.
Q All right. Way before this case was filed; right?
A Yes.
Q Their investigation was done way before any of the depositions in this case were taken; correct?
A Correct.
Q The OLTC investigators would not have had the benefit of reading Sandy Evans' deposition, would they?

MR. ROSEN: Well, how would that happen?

MR. GILLISPIE: It wouldn't. I just want to -- I just wanted to -- it wouldn't.

MR. ROSEN: I mean, it happened three years later.

MR. GILLISPIE: It's a very obvious question. But bear with me.

THE WITNESS: No, it would not.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q And the OLTC investigation --

MR. ROSEN: You are turning towards him, so you will need to speak up.

THE WITNESS: Sorry. No, it would not.

MR. ROSEN: You're turning towards him and away from the court reporter.

THE WITNESS: But I need to talk to her.

MR. ROSEN: No. You can talk to him but just keep your voice up so the court reporter can hear it.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q You would agree with me, as Mr. Rosen pointed out, because it was years before, you would agree with me that when OLTC did its investigation, it did not have the benefit of Sandy Evans' deposition; correct?

A Correct.

Q Nor the benefit of getting to review Mark Hise's deposition; correct?

A Correct.

Q Or any of the other depositions or evidence that has been produced in this case; correct?

A Correct.

Q Was there a single investigator representing OLTC in this investigation, or was it a team?

A They send out a surveyor to the facility.
Q And in this case, they sent out one person, a solo person?
A To the facility.
Q And that person -- that single person they sent out is who conducted the investigation into David's death on behalf of OLTC?
A She is the one that came out to do the survey there. OLTC has a multi-step process.
Q Tell me about it.
A Well, they send a surveyor out, but they also conduct -- they have a whole Internal Affairs that conducts a separate investigation against the staff that are involved.
Q Okay.
A Okay. So, we submit -- we submit the reports to the Office of Long Term Care.
Q Right.
A So, the surveyor is the one that comes out and does the ground work at the facility.
Q Do you know who that person was?
A Diane was her name.
Q Diane?
A But I can't remember Diane's last name all of a sudden.

Q Whoever signed this?
A No. That's Jeff Gonyea's signature.
Q Okay. Keep going. They sent Diane out. Then, what happened?
A And then, they review the investigation, and they conduct their own investigation by contacting staff members, requesting documents.
Q And do you know what staff members they spoke with?
A I do not.
Q Do you know what documents they requested during their review?
A I do not.
Q Do you know who, other than Diane, was involved in this investigation?
A I do not.
Q Do you know who might have the answers to these last few questions I've just asked about this?
A Office of Long Term Care.
Q Okay. And how long did their -- well, this document is dated June 30th, 2020. Does that mean that OLTC's investigation was complete at least by June 30 of 2020?
A That was the day that she was on campus, was on June 30th.

Q So she completed her investigation on the same day?
A No.
Q No?
A That's the day -- in the corner it says the day that she was there, which was June 30th. I don't know what day she completed the investigation. But the day she was on campus was June 30th of 2020.
Q I see that Gonyea signed this on July 14th of 2020. So, does that mean the investigation was complete by at least July 14th of 2020?
A We would have received that by that day, and then we would have submitted -- acknowledged that we received it and signed it. So, yes.
Q Okay. Ms. Berry, Mark Hise, he is the staff development coordinator at BHDC; right?
A He's one of them, yes.
Q One of two; right?
A Yes.
Q And he has been with BHDC -- he told me he has been there for 27 years. Does that sound right to you?
A That's correct.
Q He was a program supervisor over direct care staff for approximately 13 years before moving to staff development in 2016. Does that sound correct to you?

A It does.
Q And he is responsible for training staff on BHDC policies and procedures, but specifically the use of personal restraints and NCI; is that correct?
A Yes. Personal holds.
Q Sorry?
A Personal holds.
Q Which is the same as personal restraint?
A We call them personal holds.
Q Is it different than a personal restraint? If I say "personal restraint" and you say "personal hold", are we not talking about the same thing?
A We will just go with personal restraints. But we call it personal holds.
Q Okay. And Mark teaches those?
A He does.
Q He still teaches those, as far as I know; right?
A He does.
Q Okay. Mark is certified -- he is NCI certified; correct?
A Correct.
Q I assume you would agree with me, since Mark is the person that teaches staff to do that, you would agree with me that Mark has expertise in this particular area?

A He has knowledge, yes.
Q You don't agree --
A I mean --
Q -- that your staff coordinator has expertise in --
MR. ROSEN: In what area?
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q In the use of personal restraints and NCI?
A He is trained in that. "Expertise" is kind of a word you use when you are, you know -- I don't know.
Q Okay. So, Mark Hise is one of two people on your campus responsible for training all direct care staff in the use of personal restraints; correct?
A Correct.
Q But he is not an expert in it? Is that your testimony here today?
A No.
Q Well, then, what is your testimony?
MR. ROSEN: I think she has already answered it. You don't have to raise your voice. The woman is sitting right here. Her testimony, as I heard --
MR. GILLISPIE: You are not testifying, are you?

MR. ROSEN: Well, I mean, you have asked the question. How many times are you going to ask it? That is a question to you, counsel. How many times are you going to ask it?

MR. GILLISPIE: Let's go off the record.

MR. ROSEN: No, don't stop the record.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Please answer the question, Ms. Berry.

A Could you repeat it, please?

MR. GILLISPIE: Read back the question, please, court reporter, starting where -- starting with, "Mark Hise is one of two people on campus," and then just keep going until Rich interrupted, please.

MR. ROSEN: I didn't interrupt. I made an objection. I mean, we are going to need to keep going, we are going to need to put this on the record.

COURT REPORTER: "So, Mark Hise is one of two people on your campus who is responsible for training all direct care staff in the use of personal restraints; correct?" Answer: "Correct." Question: "But he is not an expert in it? Is that your testimony here today?" Answer: "No." Question: "Well, then, what is your testimony?"

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q So, what is your testimony today?

A What is my testimony?

Q Yes. Is he or is he not an expert in the use of personal restraints at BHDC?

A For BHDC, yes.

Q Okay. He is?

A For BHDC.

Q What does that mean?

A To me, when you say "expertise", when you are talking about being the expert of it, I feel like that's somebody that is at CPI. CPI is the expert on NCI and personal restraints. We go to them to receive the training so that we can train it to them.

Q Sure.

A So, I don't see him being the expertise. The expertise is the one that actually works for the company.

Q Well, I'm not suggesting -- I'm not asking if he, you know, wrote the book.

A But when you say "expertise", that kind of leads to that.
Q I'm wanting to know if you believe he has expertise --
A He has a great sense of knowledge of what to do in terms of personal holds and NCI at our facility, based on the training he received from the experts at CPI.
Q Okay. But you would not go as far as to say he is an expert on the use of NCI --
A At our facility.
Q He is at your facility?
A At our facility.
Q Meaning that he is one of two people --
A That conducts that training, correct.
Q Okay. He and the other person, as far as your facility goes, they are the experts on it at your facility?
A At my facility.
Q Okay. Thank you very much. The Behavior -- the 2019 and the 2020 Behavioral Reports that Mr. Rosen had you look at and went through some of them, introduced, I stipulated that, you know, they speak -- those documents are what he purports them to be, stipulated they can go into evidence, they speak for themselves. But I do want to clarify, and correct me if I'm wrong, but you were not personally present for any of those incidents?

A I was not personally present.

Q Okay. So, as far as you know, you were not personally present for any of the behavioral incidents that were described in those reports from 2019 and 2020?

A Correct.

Q And so, do you have any -- did you try to get -- do you have any personal knowledge of any of those?

A Yes.

Q Okay. And how did you get the personal knowledge? How did you come by personal knowledge of those?

A We have daily meetings at BHDC.

Q Okay.

A And we review all the Behavior Reports and incidents that took place within the last 24 hours.

Q Okay. Who attends those meetings?

A Quality Assurance, Social Services, Administration, Residential Services, Psychology, and Medical.

Q And those are daily?

A Daily.

Q And you are --
A Monday through Friday.
Q And in your capacity, your job title, under your current job duties, you would be present for all of those?
A I was, yes, or the Superintendent -- in my current job title, yes, or Jeff would be there.
Q Okay. And are the staff members -- the specific staff members involved in each of those behavior incidents also present?
A No.
Q Would you have specifically spoken to the staff members -- the specific staff members involved in those incidents about those incidents each time?
A If it was warranted, I would have. But I can't recall me -- recall that, that I did.
Q Okay. Let's just take the ones that Mr. Rosen asked you about today, the ones that he specifically kind of showed you and had you read from and authenticate. Did you reach out to any of the staff members involved in those incidents before coming here today?
A No.
Q No. Okay. Do you recall having ever spoken to any of those staff members specifically about those specific incidents that you were questioned about today?

A I don't recall.
Q Am I correct that -- and I think you said this. But personal restraints or personal holds can only be used at Booneville in emergency situations?
A Correct.
Q Okay. And I assume you would agree with me that the emergency use of restraint must also conform to ICF regulations?
A Yes. And Policy 3011-D.
Q Okay. Very good. And so, personal restraint is to be used only as an emergency measure?
A For health and safety, yes.
Q So, that would mean that every single one -- every single time a personal restraint or a personal hold, as you like to call it, is used on a client at Booneville, that means that whatever that incident was, y'all are calling it an emergency?
A Correct.
Q Okay.
A Unless there -- it's a medical procedure.
Q Sure. But in the behavioral context?
A Okay.
Q In the behavioral context --

A Yes.
Q -- it would be an emergency every time hands are laid on a client?
A Correct.
Q Is it true that at the time of David's death there was a Policy at Booneville prohibiting nonmedical staff from calling 911 in cases of medical emergency?
A Anyone can call 911. That was in effect, call 1422 ahead of time for the nurses to come. But at any point, anyone can dial 911. They are taught that in First Aid.
Q As you sit here today -- you are testifying, as you sit here today, there was no such policy?
A No, there's a policy that said that they needed to call 1422 first, but that they can call 911, as well, if they needed to, depending upon the emergency.
Q Where does it say that in the policy that you are talking about?
A You are looking at the First Aid Policy. So, the First Aid Policy says -- if you can show it to me again.
Q I'm showing you what we will mark as Exhibit One for us. That is the First Aid Guidelines, the Booneville First Aid Guidelines, Policy Roman Numeral IV-B-10; correct?

A Correct.

Q And this was the policy regarding medical emergencies in place at the time of David's death; correct?

A Correct.

Q Take a look at there -- take a look there. Point to where it says that nonmedical staff can call 911 if they want to.

A It's not in here.

Q It's not in there?

A Huh-uh. (Indicated no.)

Q Read all of number paragraph two for me, please.

A "In all cases in which a serious medical injury or illness is suspected, either to clients or staff, a call to the Medical Department should be made. This should be the first call so that Medical staff can respond immediately to the situation. A call to Medical at 1422 should be made and the following information should be given. One, caller's name and title; two, victim's name, location, situation and condition of the victim," in parentheses, "(Alert, unconscious, et cetera). Number three, Medical will assess the situation and call an ambulance if appropriate."

Q Thank you.
MR. GILLISPIE: Make that Exhibit One.
MR. ROSEN: It's already marked Exhibit One.
(WHEREUPON, Claimant Exhibit Number One was marked for identification.)
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q But as you sit here today, are you saying that there was another policy?
A There is no policy. But it's in first aid treatment, when you receive first aid treatment, or the training for first aid CPR, it tells you in there that you can call 911. We don't prohibit people from calling 911. We preferred that they would call 1422 so our medical staff could assess the situation because EMS takes a while to get to our facility.
Q Are you aware that every single staff member I've deposed believes that they were -- nonmedical staff member that I've deposed believes that this was your policy, that they were prohibited from calling 911?
A No, I'm not.
Q Okay. Let's address that. Sandy Evans, page 52 and 53 of her deposition, acknowledges that was the policy that nonmedical staff could not call 911. She assumes that --

MR. ROSEN: Is there a question there to this witness?

MR. GILLISPIE: This is a question.

MR. ROSEN: Okay. Or are you just testifying?

MR. GILLISPIE: This is a question.

MR. ROSEN: Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: And I will phrase it better.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q But are you aware that Tyler Mattson, Sandy Evans, Amy Jones, Don Carter, Kelly King, and multiple other staff members and former staff members that I deposed all swore under oath that there was a policy at your facility forbidding nonmedical staff from calling 911?

A It doesn't say forbid in there. Does it say "forbid"? I don't remember reading "forbid".

Q My question is, are you aware that that was their belief, that they believed that was the policy?

A That they were forbidden?

Q Yes.

MR. ROSEN: Well, I'm going to make an objection because you're asking this witness to testify as to somebody's belief. But to the extent that you have knowledge of it, you can answer it.

THE WITNESS: Well, I mean, if you are saying that's what they said in their deposition, then I have to say that's what they said in their deposition.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Why would all the staff members think that they were not allowed to call 911 if you are saying that they were?

A I don't know why. Anybody can call -- anyone can call 911. We had a policy in place for them to call 1422. But nothing that says -- that forbid them from calling 911.

Q And do you have any explanation for why the staff members, particularly that I just named off, and I can show you exactly in each of their depositions where they say it, do you have an explanation for why they might have believed otherwise?

A No, because they were following, I guess, what they believed the policy to say.

Q Okay. What was the reason for that policy, if you know?

A I don't know the reasoning behind the policy.
Q Who came up with the policy?
MR. ROSEN: You're referring to what is reflected on Defendant's Exhibit One, I assume; right?
MR. GILLISPIE: I'm referring to the policy regarding calling 911 that we have been talking about.
THE WITNESS: The First Aid Guidelines.
MR. ROSEN: The First Aid Guidelines which is Exhibit Number -- Defendant's Exhibit Number One; right? I want to make sure we are talking about the same policy. You are being vague on that. So, what policy are you talking about?
MR. GILLISPIE: I'm being vague?
MR. ROSEN: What policy are you asking this witness about? That's all I want to know. Is it the one you introduced or is it a different policy? Because I'm looking at --
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Do you know who came up with the policy that we introduced? Do you know whose idea that policy was, where that came from?

MR. ROSEN: And for clarification, that is Defendant's Exhibit One.

MR. GILLISPIE: Rich, can I depose her or are you just going to keep talking?

MR. ROSEN: I'm going to make sure that there's clarity in the record, because your vague questions could -- you know, if she thinks you are talking about one thing and you are talking about something else. So, I just want to make sure that we are talking about -- when you ask her the policy, we are talking about the policy that you introduced as Exhibit Number One. Because if we are talking about a different policy, let's present it to her.

MR. GILLISPIE: I gave you the courtesy of not interrupting you, not doing speaking objections.

MR. ROSEN: I'm making an objection. And this is a deposition. I just want to know, are you trying to trick the witness or are you going to tell her what policy you are referring to? That's all I want to know. It's simple.

MR. GILLISPIE: I would ask that you kindly let me conduct my deposition.

MR. ROSEN: Okay.

MR. GILLISPIE: Give me the same courtesy that I gave to you.

MR. ROSEN: I give you courtesy. I just want to make sure that it's not -- that you are asking her -- that she understands what question you're asking her about, because I don't understand. Because I see a policy --

MR. GILLISPIE: I know you don't understand.

MR. ROSEN: Yes. Because I see a policy in Exhibit Number One, but I don't know -- you are somehow unwilling to ask -- to commit that that's the one you are asking about. So, if it's not this one, then please tell us what policy you are talking about so that we can know. That's all -- that's very simple.

MR. GILLISPIE: Let's take a couple of minutes. Let's take a couple of minute break, please.

MR. ROSEN: Okay.

(WHEREUPON, a break was taken.)

MR. GILLISPIE: Back on the record.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. Berry, who does the CPR certification for Booneville?

A Mark Hise.

Q Is it through -- do you know if it's through --

A American Heart Association.

Q American Heart Association. Okay. Then, the very last question I have for you, I'm going to take you to page 1525 of Exhibit Five, which was the 2019 IPP.

A What is the page number?

Q The Bates mark is 1525. It's the page titled "Physician's Orders".

A Right. Okay.

Q Are you the one that marked out that "2" there where it says "Page 1 of 2" and put a "1" there?

A I did not.

Q Do you know who did that?

A I do not.

Q I will represent to you, and it has been made an exhibit in someone else's deposition, that the documents that you put together and produced to me contain another version of this same IPP, except it included that page two. And on that page two is a

[redacted]

you --

MR. ROSEN: Is there a question there, or are you testifying?

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Can you explain why there are two versions of this document?

MR. ROSEN: Stop, stop. That's argumentative, because we don't know that that statement is correct that you are making. And we know from other depositions that it's not correct.

MR. GILLISPIE: Well, that's absolutely false.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q But assuming that I'm --

MR. ROSEN: Well, let's see the document.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Assuming that I'm correct, could you give an opinion as to why that might be?

MR. ROSEN: No, there is no opinion. Objection. She's not assuming anything.

MR. GILLISPIE: Are you telling her she can't answer?

MR. ROSEN: That's right. Because she is a fact witness. Now, produce the document and we can discuss it. This trickery is just not correct. If you are going to have her comment on a document that we -- that you believe says something, then show her the document and she can testify on it.

MR. GILLISPIE: Are you instructing her not to answer?

MR. ROSEN: What is the question? I can't remember the question. But if you are asking her to assume your facts and give an opinion, she is not an expert witness here, she is a fact witness. So, give her the facts and let's get on with it.

MR. GILLISPIE: That's what I'm trying to do here.

MR. ROSEN: Then give her the facts, just show her the document and we can talk about it. This trickery is too much.

MR. GILLISPIE: What trickery?

MR. ROSEN: You are asking her to comment about your facts that aren't established. And we know from the other deposition why they are not part of this. But if you want her to comment on a particular document, show her the document and let her review it and then she can answer your questions.

MR. GILLISPIE: I'm not going to go digging for the document.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Assuming what I'm -- hypothetically, assuming what I'm telling you is true, there is another version of this with a page two, and on that page two is a Physician's Order regarding GERD specifically stating that GERD -- his GERD precautions required him to remain upright for one hour after eating. Assuming that's true -- hypothetically, assuming what I'm representing to you is the truth, do you have any knowledge as to why that might be, that there are -- that there were two versions produced?

MR. ROSEN: I'm going to let her answer the question, but I'm going to make the objection that that's your view of something. And if she knows the answer --

MR. GILLISPIE: Again, I would ask you not to make any more speaking objections.

MR. ROSEN: Well, no. I have to here because it's argumentative what you are saying. You know, you are assuming facts that aren't in evidence and asking her to comment on it.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Please answer the question.

A This is part of the Annual Pharmacy Report. So, that's why there is only one page, because this first page shows all the medications. (Indicating.)

Q You gathered these documents and produced them; correct?

A Uh-huh. (Indicated yes.)

MR. ROSEN: Is that "yes" or "no"?

THE WITNESS: Yes, yes, yes.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Do you know why this number two is marked out?

A I don't know why the number two is marked out, except for the fact that this was attached to the Annual Pharmacy Report. So, the Annual Pharmacy Report only reviews the medications. So, if they have it attached to it, it just shows all the medications that are right here. (Indicating.) And then it has the report of all the medications past it. So, if you look past it -- so, this is just for -- this report here is just for medication. It is just for the medication. (Indicating.)

Q I see that.

A And so, then, all the medications are back on these sheets of paper afterwards.

Q Okay.

A So, it has nothing to do with -- because, so, the other one has two pages -- if it has two pages, it's the legitimate one. This one here is only for the pharmacy report, only for the medication.

Q Would Physician's Orders pertaining to something like [redacted] not need to be made part of the IPP?

A Is it part of the IPP? It's in the IPP.

Q Okay. Where in the IPP? Where in this version of the IPP is it?

A Go to -- well, if you look at -- I guess it's CM 001501, "Treatments by Living Area Staff" says, [redacted] that's in the Annual Medical Staffing Report --

MR. GREEN: Did you say 15 --

THE WITNESS: 1501.

MR. GREEN: 1501.

THE WITNESS: So, it says, "By Living Area Staff". And then, if you go to 1497, it says it in there, "Elevate head of bed, do not go to bed for one hour after eating."

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

(WHEREUPON, Claimant Exhibit Number Two was marked for identification.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q I will show you what I have marked as Exhibit Two, Bates marked 1327.

MR. ROSEN: Do I have a copy?

MR. GILLISPIE: I don't have one for you right now.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Take a look at that for me.

A I see it.

MR. ROSEN: Let me see it.

THE WITNESS: (Complies.)

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Then, take a look at the next page.

A (Witness reviews document.)

Q Do you see on the next page where it says [redacted]

[redacted]

A Uh-huh, I do.

Q Do you see where it says -- it has an order number, and it says -- it does say, [redacted]

A I see that.

Q And it says up here "Active Orders", and it gives a date range of June 1st, 2020 to June 30th, 2020; right?

A I see that.

Q David died on June 13th, 2020; right?

A Yes.

Q And this is a document that was produced to us, clearly, it's Bates stamped. Why was this --

A This was printed on 6-15, 2020.

Q Okay. And why was this not part of the -- why was this second page not part of the IPP that we -- the version of the IPP we have been talking about today?

A Because the section that was looked at that is under, is under the Annual Pharmacy Report.

Q Okay. Well, then, why is this second page not made part of the Physician's Order section of the IPP, then?

A Well, it's in -- I mean, it's in here. And this is dated 2020, where the IPP here is dated 2019.

Q Well, I don't have it with me, but I will represent to you that you also produced an identical document to this with a 2019 date. So, hypothetically, assuming I'm not lying to you here, why the different versions of documents?

MR. ROSEN: Objection. Because if we are going to talk about a hypothetical 2019 report, let's see the report so that she can testify. Because you are talking about a 2020 report that's not part of the 2019 IPP. So, if you're -- I don't know that there is one, so give it to her and she can comment on it.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Go ahead, Ms. Berry.

MR. ROSEN: There is no -- you know, if you're -- she is not talking about a hypothetical based upon your representation. Let's see the document, because I don't know what you are talking about. Show it to her. Can you show it to her?

MR. GILLISPIE: There is a question on the table. Unless you're instructing her not to answer, she can answer it.

MR. ROSEN: It's argumentative. She can't answer a question assuming something.

So, what is the question? Tell me what the question is so I can be clear --

MR. GILLISPIE: That is not a deposition objection.

MR. ROSEN: Yes, it is.

MR. GILLISPIE: You can either object to the form --

MR. ROSEN: No. I can object --

MR. GILLISPIE: -- or you can tell her not to answer for privilege. Which is it?

MR. ROSEN: No. You tell me what your question is. What is your question so that we can be clear as to whether it's something that she -- that's in the document in front of her or you are asking her to speculate.

MR. GILLISPIE: I'm not going to --

MR. ROSEN: So, tell me.

MR. GILLISPIE: I'm not going to sit here and clown around with you, Rich.

MR. ROSEN: I want to know, otherwise she can't answer a question that we don't know what the question is. So, tell me the question again. What are you asking her?

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Ms. Berry -- I will wait for your answer, Ms.

Berry.

MR. ROSEN: No. There is no question pending until you ask her one. So, ask her the question so that I can make an objection or allow her to answer. But if you are asking her to speculate about a different document without showing her the document, that's not going to happen.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q What are you looking for right now, Ms. Berry?

A I'm looking for the -- through his IPP about [redacted] That's what I'm looking at.

Q Okay. I will let you look through that, and then I will -- you let me know when you are done.

A I can be done.

Q Okay. My question is, do you have any knowledge as to why this second page of the Physician's Order is not in the IPP we have been talking about?

A Because that order is in the IPP. It is under the Annual Medical Review, Staffing Reports.

Q And what page is that?

A It starts on 1501. It talks about everything that is supposed to go on medically with David.

Q Show me where -- point to the [redacted]

A "Treatments By Living Area Staff".

MR. ROSEN: What page?

THE WITNESS: It's page 1501. That's treatments, there is medication, there is SAMS training, they list the different changes since the last year.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Under number six, [redacted]

[redacted]

A Yes.

[redacted]

MR. GILLISPIE: That's all I have, Ms. Berry. Thank you.

MR. ROSEN: I have a few followup questions.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. ROSEN:

Q Particularly on that, on 1497, what does it say -- because counsel asked you something slightly different and you referred to 1497.

[redacted]

Q Okay. It doesn't say anything about upright, does it?

A No.

Q Okay. Now, I want to talk to you about -- the Behavior Reports that were provided that were introduced here, they were from 2019 or 2020. Do you know whether those were all the reports from 2019 and 2020 or just certain reports from 2019 and 2020?

A Some from 2018, 2019 -- from 2019, 2020.

Q Were they all the reports that there were for behavior or were they only certain ones, do you know?

A Those were the aggressive behaviors.

Q All right. Now, were those -- tell me how a Behavior Report is filled out and when.

A After -- if you look at the front of the Behavior Report, there are different categories to fall under. It talks about like what is going on in the environment, like -- I can show you one.

Q Well, let's show you the -- an actual Behavior Report. Okay. I'm showing you what is marked as Exhibit 8A.

A Okay.

Q What is the date of that report?

A This one is December 26, 2019.

Q Okay. Tell me what you are talking about.

A So, the point of the Behavior Report is, we want to know what happened immediately before the problem occurred. So, what was going on, were they -- was there a change in their routine, was the environment loud, was somebody's personal space invaded. There is a whole list of different things that could have possibly gone on before the behavior. And then, was there aggression involved. Because sometimes there is not aggression, sometimes there is not, you know, physical aggression or verbal aggression. Sometimes they may have -- maybe they are not sleeping or they are falling asleep in class. We document that. Or if they are not eating, we document that in the Behavior Report. If they are in somebody else's bedroom, we will do a report.

Q Okay. So, there are also some other issues plus aggression?
A Correct.
Q All right. I understand. So, there is a host of reasons why a Behavior Report might be filed?
A Yes.
Q All right. So, these are filled out by whom?
A By any BHDC staff that witnessed said behavior.
Q And so -- and is it done at or near the time of the incident?
A Yes.
Q Is there a time requirement that they are supposed to submit one?
A Usually by the end of shift.
Q So, these reports that were -- and you got these reports and you provided -- you are the go-to person for the documents --
A Yes.
Q -- for David Cains; isn't that right?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And so, when you went to the documents and produced them pursuant to a discovery request, were they in David Cains' file?
A Yes.
Q And those are medical records, are they not?

A Well, we call them our master file records, yes.
Q Okay. So, are the master file records, which included these Behavior Reports, kept in the regular course of providing services for David in the business of the HDC?
A Yes.
Q And so, were these recorded at or near the time of the incidents indicated?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And so, those are the records that you pulled out of the file; correct?
A Correct.
Q So, those are his records?
A His records.
Q Now, let's talk about -- switch a little subject, okay, and just talk about the -- yes, give me back the exhibits.
A (Witness complies.)
Q Thank you. Now, counsel asked you about Office of Long Term Care investigations. One of the documents introduced was the -- let's look at it.
A The 2567?
Q The 2567, it's Exhibit Number 13. Okay. And that's done by, you mentioned, a person named Diane?
A Yes.

Q Okay. And is that the Office of Long Term Care surveyor?
A Yes.
Q And what is the form at the top, what is it called?
A What is the form called?
Q What is it called, at the top?
A It is Department of Health and Human Services, Centers for Medicaid and Medicare Services.
Q Who is that?
A That is the federal government.
Q So this is a federal government form?
A It is.
Q And it's Form CMS 2567; correct?
A Yes.
Q Okay. And this is filled out by the surveyors. And what was the surveyor doing when they survey or inspect?
A They are checking to see that we are following all the rules and regulations set forth.
Q So, the survey is to look at the facility practices?
A Correct.
Q And whether the facility practices conform with the CMS standards and DHS standards?

A Correct.
Q Well, state standards?
A Yes.
Q Okay. Is that different from a maltreatment investigation by OLTC?
A Yes.
Q Do you know?
A No.
Q Okay. Well, then, what is a maltreatment investigation investigating, do you know?
A My experience with it --
Q Yes.
A -- is when we submit the report to Office of Long Term Care, they have their own investigators that reach out to obtain different information.
Q Do you know whether those are different from the surveyors?
A Different from the surveyors.
Q So, are there two different investigations by Long Term Care?
A Yes.
Q Do you know that for a fact?
A Yes. Because the other ones determine if the person actually needs to be put on the Maltreatment Registry or not.

Q So, one is a maltreatment investigation, one is a deficiency or standards investigation?
A Correct.
Q What is this Exhibit 13?
A Deficiencies.
Q So, that is whether the facility, meaning the Booneville Human Development Center, met all the applicable standards?
A Correct.
Q And the maltreatment investigation is what?
A Is where they go and they review our investigation and determine if they go along with our investigation or they overturn our investigation.
Q Okay. And your investigation, the internal -- the maltreatment investigation of it is of the individuals involved?
A Correct.
Q And in this instance, do you know what the outcome was?
A No negligence was found.
Q And so, just to make sure -- strike that question.
Do you know what Jeff Gonyea knows?
A No.
Q So, when counsel asked you, "Do you know what Jeff Gonyea, what he doesn't know or what you know different from him," do you know the answer to that question?

A I don't know the answer.

Q Have you reviewed David Cains' files and produced the documents?

A I have.

Q To your knowledge, did Jeff Gonyea produce the documents in response to counsel's Request for Production of Documents and Interrogatories?

A No.

MR. ROSEN: I think that's all I have. Thank you.

MR. GILLISPIE: No. Thank you.

MR. ROSEN: We will read. Thank you.

(WHEREUPON, at 3:15 p.m., the taking of the above-entitled deposition was concluded.)

DC was getting on mobile to go to Schoolside when he started to Spit and Show at the mobile Driver. He then attempted to hit the driver with his hat. Staff (GH) grabbed DC's Hat to prevent him from doing so and DC then began to Spit and Cuss at Staff and begin to hit the Window and then take a swing at Staff. Staff Guided DC to Sit down and put DC in P.R. for three mins to Calm down. DC was Still Cussing at Staff and attempting to Swing at Staff for a minute before Calming down. Staff asked DC if he was Calm and ready to talk about it. DC Said he was. Once mobile got to Exercise to drop DC off he became upset again. Exercise Staff got DC to Calm enough to head into class. DC was calm at that time. No marks where found at this time. PS notified for Restraint.

BEHAVIOR REPORT NARRATIVE SUMMARY

INSTRUCTIONS: Describe what happened. DO NOT INCLUDE personal opinions or comments. *Legible Signature, Title, Date.

David came to class. He appeared fine. He then jumped up and went in the hallway. Sat on the bench for a while then got up and turned over the trash can full of pop cans. Client calmed down enough to re-enter the class. He was given his ordered snack and juice, he then threw the juice at staff. Medical was notified and evaluated for intervention. 1mg Ativan administered @ 10:12. After the medical intervention he went back out in the hall slamming the door and cussing at staff. After ample time for the conditions to improve he was taken back to living area.

(C) Unless otherwise specified by State licensure and certification requirements.

Guidance §483.430(b)(5)(xi)

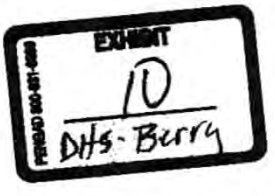
An individual client program may not require that professional staff perform all of the services as outlined by the IPP (e.g. the direct support staff may be trained by the professional to safely and effectively carry out the designed program), however, any specialized therapy must involve evaluation, program development, and re-assessment by the appropriate professional at periodic intervals.

(c) Standard: Facility staffing

W182

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.430(c)(1) The facility must not depend upon clients or volunteers to perform direct care services for the facility.



Guidance §483.430(c)(1)

The facility must have sufficient staff to provide needed care and services without the use of volunteers or enlisting the help of clients residing in the facility to perform the duties normally performed by facility staff.

The facility may not rely on volunteers in lieu of paid staff to fill required staff positions and perform direct care services. Volunteers are permissible, but must be in addition to the number of paid staff required to carry out a function. Volunteers should have an orientation to the policies and procedures of the facility and oversight is required by facility staff.

W183

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.430(c)(2) There must be responsible direct care staff on duty and awake on a 24-hour basis, when clients are present, to take prompt, appropriate action in case of injury, illness, fire or other emergency, in each defined residential living unit housing- -

(i) Clients for whom a physician has ordered a medical care plan;

(ii) Clients who are aggressive, assaultive or security risks;

(iii) More than 16 clients; or

(iv) Fewer than 16 clients within a multi-unit building.

Guidance §483.430(c)(2)

Indicators of staff not being awake in relation to the occurrence of incidents, accidents, and injuries may include, but are not limited to:

- incidents of unplanned client absences;
- untimely reaction to a medical emergency;
- injuries from client to client aggression; or
- a pattern of injuries of unknown origin.

If even one client meets 483.430(c)(2)(i-ii) then staff must be awake on a 24-hour basis.

A client has a medical care plan when an acute or chronic occurrence requires clinical assessment and monitoring on a scheduled basis.

W184

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.430(c)(3) There must be a responsible direct care staff person on duty on a 24 hour basis (when clients are present) to respond to injuries and symptoms of illness, and to handle emergencies, in each defined residential living unit housing- -

(i) Clients for whom a physician has not ordered a medical care plan;

(ii) Clients who are not aggressive, assaultive or security risks; and

(iii) Sixteen or fewer clients.

Guidance §483.430(c)(3)

At all times, there must be at least one staff person on-duty in the facility if even one client is present. For purposes of this provision, "on duty" staff need not be awake during normal sleeping hours, but do need to respond to injuries, illness, and emergencies promptly.

W185

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.430(c)(4) The facility must provide sufficient support staff so that direct care staff are not required to perform support services to the extent that these duties interfere with the exercise of their primary direct client care duties.

Guidance §483.430(c)(4)

Direct care staff should not be performing support services (e.g., making beds, cooking, cleaning, etc.) independently which takes them away from client interaction and teaching. If support services in the house cannot be done jointly as chores between clients, as part of their training program, and the support staff, additional staff should be added to perform the chores. This does not include any staff chores done during client's sleeping hours.

"Support staff" include all personnel hired by the facility that are not either direct care staff or professional staff. For example, support staff includes, but are not limited to, secretaries, clerks, housekeepers, maintenance and laundry personnel.

(d) Standard: Direct care residential living unit staff

W186

(Rev. 135, Issued: 02-27-15, Effective: 04-27-15, Implementation: 04-27-15)

§483.430(d)(1) The facility must provide sufficient direct care staff to manage and supervise clients in accordance with their individual program plans.

Guidance §483.430(d)(1)

"Sufficient" means enough direct care staff to effectively implement the active treatment programs as defined in the IPP, to meet client needs, and to respond to emergencies, illness, or injuries.

Even though minimum ratios are defined at §483.430(d)(3), active treatment may require more staff than the minimums required ratios, therefore compliance should not be based on staffing ratios alone.

§483.430(d)(2) Direct care staff are defined as the present on-duty staff calculated over all shifts in a 24-hour period for each defined residential living unit.

Guidance §483.430(d)(2)

"Direct care staff" are those personnel who are assigned to work directly with the clients providing support during activities of daily living and active treatment programs.

Professional staff who work with clients in a living unit on a periodic basis are not included in direct care staff ratios.

Supervisors of direct care staff can be counted only if they share in the actual work of the direct care of clients on a continuous basis (e.g. take client assignment).

Direct care supervisors whose principle assigned function is to supervise direct care staff may not be included in direct care staff ratios although they may occasionally provide direct services to clients.

Non-direct care staff supervisors whose principle assigned function is to supervise non-direct care staff may not be included in direct care staff ratios.

W187

(Rev. 144, Issued: 08-14-15, Effective: 08-14-15, Implementation: 08-14-15)

§483.430(d)(3) Direct care staff must be provided by the facility in the following minimum ratios of direct care staff to clients:

(i) For each defined residential living unit serving children under the age of 12, severely and profoundly retarded clients, clients with severe physical disabilities, or clients who are aggressive, assaultive, or security risks, or who manifest severely hyperactive or psychotic-like behavior, the staff to client ratio is 1 to 3.2.

(ii) For each defined residential living unit serving moderately retarded clients, the staff to client ratio is 1 to 4.

(iii) For each defined residential living unit serving clients who function within the range of mild retardation, the staff to client ratio is 1 to 6.4.

Guidance §483.430(d)(3)

The minimum ratios in this standard indicate the minimum number of direct-care staff that must be present and on duty, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, for each discrete living unit. For example, to calculate the minimum number of living unit staff that must be present and on duty in a discrete living unit serving 16 individuals with multiple disabilities: divide the number of individuals "16," by the number corresponding to the regulation "3.2," the result equals "5." Therefore, the facility must determine how many staff it must hire to ensure that at least 5 staff will be able to be present and on duty during the 24 hour period in which those individuals are present.

Using the living unit described above, "calculated over all shifts in a 24-hour period" means that there are present and on duty every day of the year: one direct care staff for each eight individuals on the first shift (1:8), one direct care staff for each eight individuals on the second shift (1:8), and one direct care staff for each 16 individuals on the third shift (1:16). Therefore, there are five (5) direct care staff present and on duty for each twenty-four hour day, for 16 individuals. The same calculations are made for the other ratios, whichever applies. Determine if absences of staff for breaks and meals results in a pattern of prolonged periods in which present and on-duty staff do not meet the ratios.

W188

§483.420(d)(4) When there are no clients present in the living unit, a responsible staff member must be available by telephone.

§483.430(e) Standard: Staff Training Program

Guidance §483.430(e)(1)

Newly employed staff receive a supported orientation program (mentor or ongoing supervision) during their early employment. All staff receive continuing education on such issues as abuse and neglect, handling emergency situations, behavior management, and treating people with respect and dignity, etc.

The primary evidence of an effective staff training program is the observed competent interaction between staff and clients.

PROCEDURES:

1. The First Aid Guidelines have been approved by the staff physician for the Booneville HDC.

2. In all cases in which a serious medical injury or illness is suspected, either to clients or staff, a call to the Medical Department should be made. This should be the first call so Medical staff can respond immediately to the situation.

   A call to Medical at 1422 should be made and the following information should be given:

   1. Caller's name and title
   2. Victim's name, location, situation and condition of the victim (alert, unconscious, etc.)
   3. Medical will assess the situation and call an ambulance if appropriate.

3. All staff members are trained in first aid, CPR, and abdominal thrust for choking so, that if necessary, emergency rescue measures can be initiated before Medical staff arrives.

PROCEEDINGS

WHEREUPON,

SYED HAMID, M.D.,

Having been first duly sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Doctor, did I pronounce your last name correctly, Hamid?

A Hamid.

Q Hamid, I'm sorry. So Dr. Syed Hamid; is that right?

A Syed Hamid.

Q Okay. Well, pleasure to meet you, sir. My name is Josh Gillispie. I'm the attorney for the family of Mr. David Cains, who was a patient of yours at the Booneville facility there. The purpose of your deposition today is purely information-gathering. I'll represent to you that this is not a medical malpractice case. We have no reason to believe that anything you did or didn't do had any effect whatsoever on what happened to Mr. Cains. You're simply here because you were his doctor and I just need to get some information. Does that make sense?

A It does.

Q In other words, we believe there were mistakes that were made by staff, not anything you did is what I'm telling you. So tell me first, you're the medical director of the facility.
A Yeah. I'm the medical physician in the facility. I don't know whether I have the director tag on it, but yes, I'm the medical physician taking care of these clients.
Q Okay. And you're a hospitalist; is that correct?
A Yeah. I am an internist and I do some hospitalist work as well.
Q When did you begin working at the Booneville Human Development Center?
A I think I've been here -- I started, I think, around 2007. And that's when I started, so it's been almost 15 years.
Q I understand that you work at other facilities as well, Mercy Hospital, other places, right?
A That's right. I do some hospitalist trips there.
Q So how much of your time is spent at the Booneville facility, Human Development Center, typically?
A Well, I'm here at least three days a week. I do clinics. I've got a nurse practitioner over here as well, so I do morning clinics at least three days a week. Then I'm taking phone calls for anything that goes around. We kind of split calls between me and my nurse practitioner, so I'm pretty much available all the time.

Q Okay. And would that mean you began treating David Cains as long as 15 years ago?

A If he has been there this long, then I would have been taking care of him, yes.

Q Well, actually he was in the facility for 13 years before his death, so I think he got to the facility in 2007.

A Around the same time then.

Q And do you recall Mr. Cains?

A I mean, I recall, you know, seeing him in the clinic. I used to see him in the clinic for medical evals and yearly physicals, and that's all the recollection that I have of him.

Q Sure. You see a lot of patients there, I understand.

Are you the only physician, medical doctor that is located on the facility?

A That's right. I'm the medical, and then you've got psychiatrist that comes and works here as well. You've got a neurologist that comes in, you know. Then you got other physicians coming in as well, so there are other specialty doctors coming in, too.

Q Are you part of a formal clients' IPPs?
A What does that mean?
Q Individual program plan.
A What do you mean by "formal"?
Q Well, my understanding from talking to David's QIDP, Mr. Joe, was that there was a core team of folks who worked on that plan and met yearly to basically produce an IPP every year.
A That's correct.
Q Maybe formal -- formal maybe isn't the right word to use. So same question, remove the word "formal." Do you have any hand in that process of producing that annual IPP?
A I'm not part of that critical meeting if that's what you're talking about, but whatever is discussed in that meeting is brought to my attention. And if you're talking about the same thing, then, you know, the medical staffing reports, I do sign those reports, so. And the nurses would discuss it with me, but I'm not part of that meeting. I'm not present in that meeting.
Q Okay. And have you ever been present at a meeting where David's mom, Charlene Robinson, or sister were present? Have you ever met them?
A I don't recall that. I don't think so. I can't recall it.

Q And in a normal year or in a normal -- under normal settings, how often would you see a client like David? I understand for yearly physicals, but then you mentioned periodic assessments.

[redacted]

Q Do you have any hand or participation -- do you participate in the forming of policies regarding physical restraints at the facility and the types of physical restraints that can be used on clients? Do you have anything to do with that sector of --

A On clients, you know, we've got some clients that have a lot of behaviors and sometimes it's brought to my attention that this patient will need early chemical intervention or -- and, you know, somebody -- so, again, I've been asked those questions off and on, and I do sign some forms about what kind of prescriptions can be -- apply to these clients.

Q Do you recall ever being approached or ever being asked to approve a physical restraint on David whereby he would be restrained on the ground? Does that sound familiar to you?

A I don't recall that. No, I don't.
Q Do you have any recollection of or knowledge of physical restraints of clients while they're on the ground?
A I mean, what kind of knowledge are we talking about?
Q Do you have any reason to think that that was happening?
A Okay. So on a usual day, if some client needs some intervention, so they would call me for chemical intervention, so the nurse would give me a call that Mr. So-and-so is having some behaviors. Can we give him this? So it's mainly for -- and some of our clients are on early chemical intervention, and I think David was one of them. I cannot recall whether I was called for him and how frequently I was called for that, but on a usual day, I get some phone calls about, you know, clients who are acting out or, you know, going to get into behaviors, so they call me for chemical restraints.
Q My concern with this case is not particularly chemical restraints because that's not what was involved in David's death. The type of restraint that was involved with his death was a physical or personal restraint on the ground. And so I know that you don't -- you have no -- well, let me ask it.

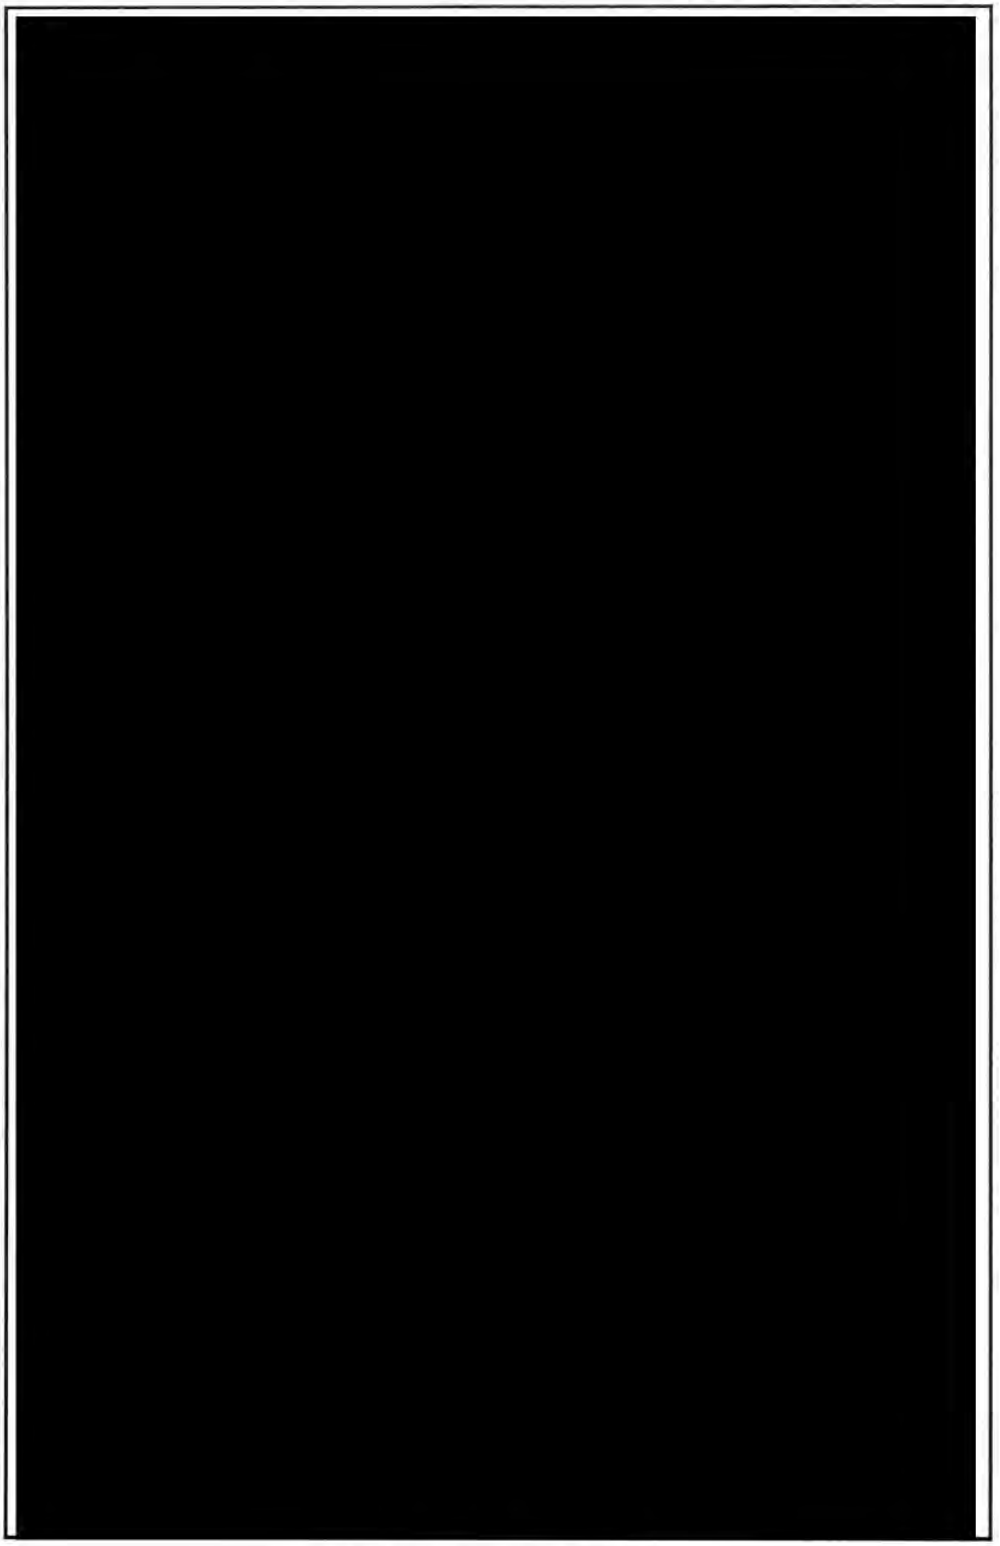
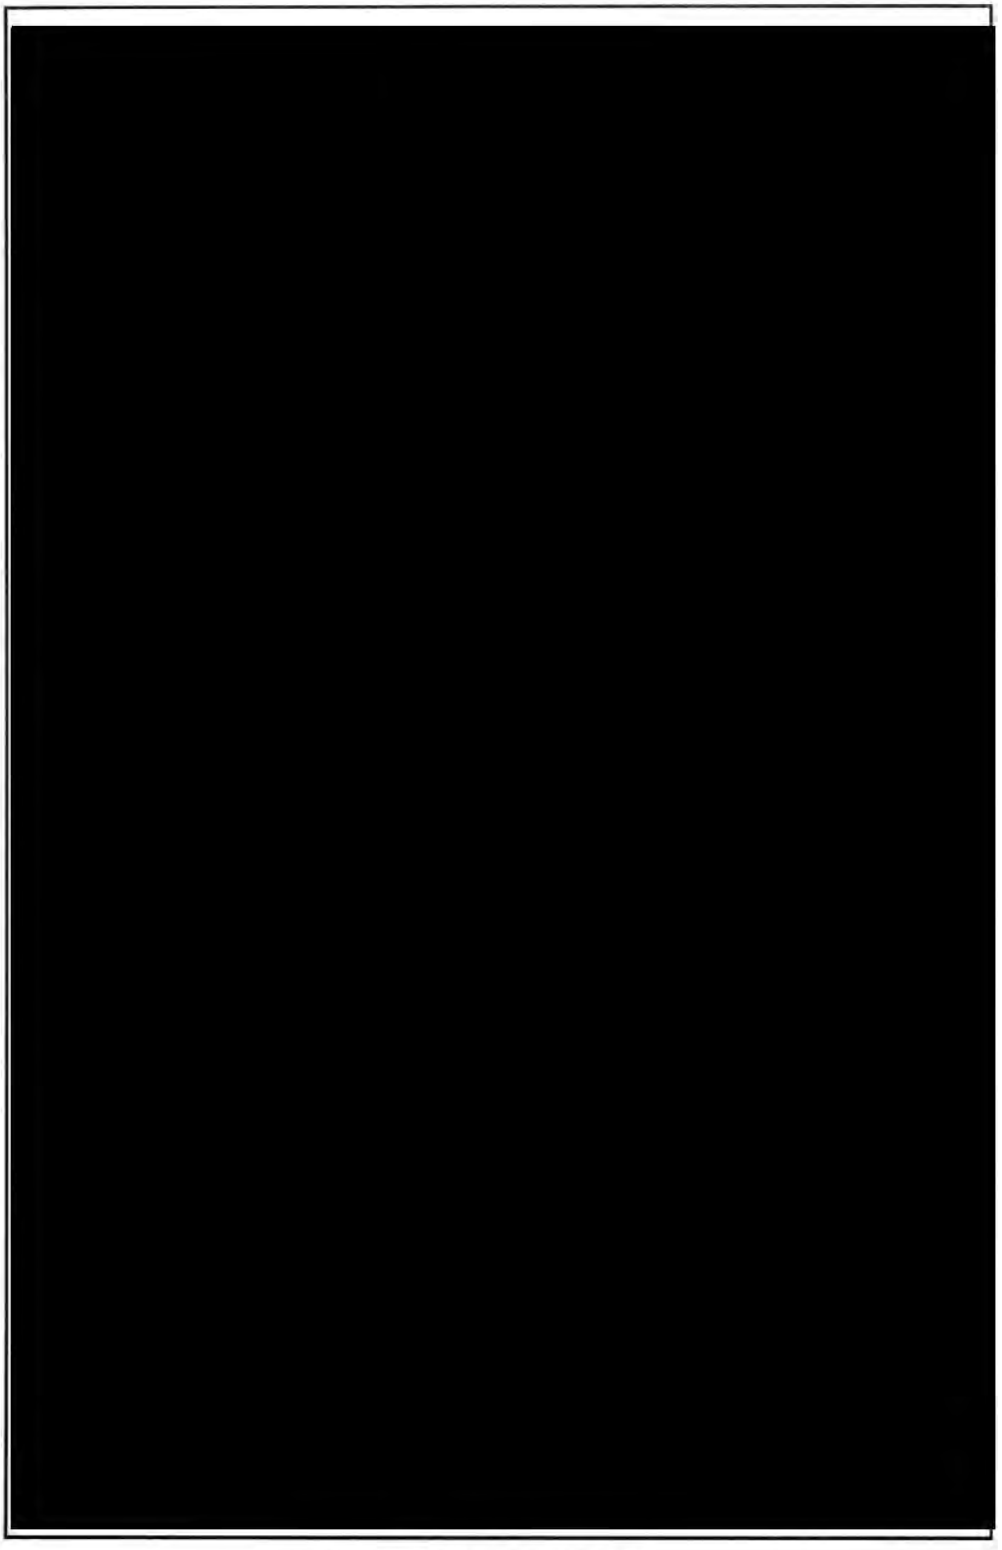
I'm assuming you have no control or say over what types of physical restraints the direct care staff are trained in and what they use?

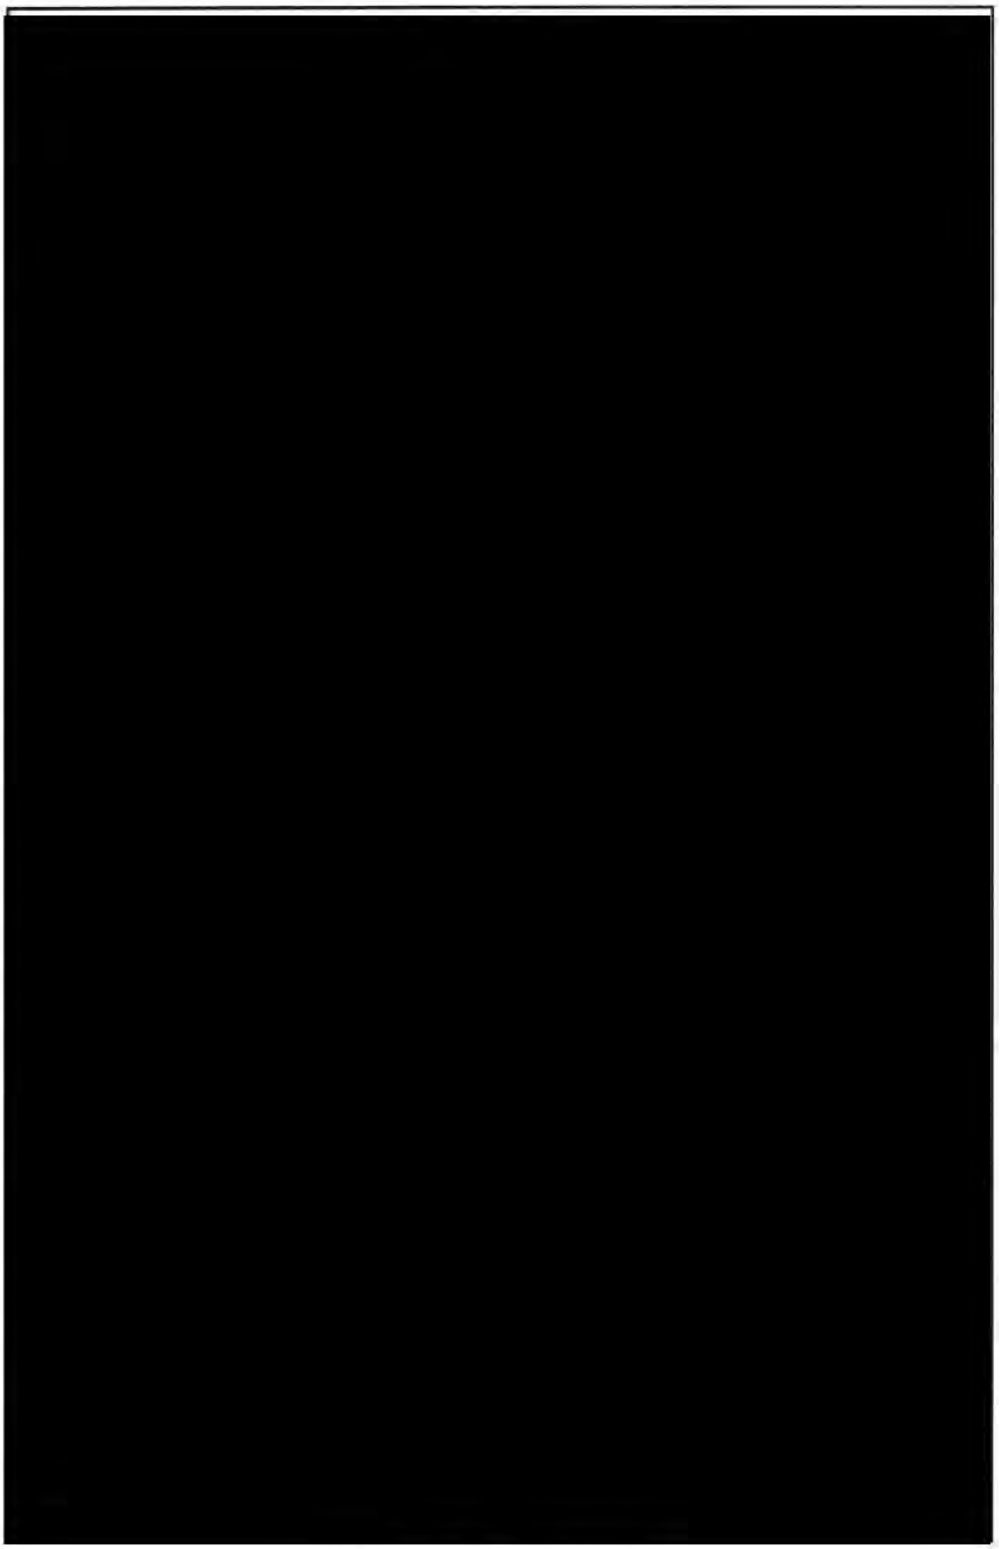
A I don't.



Q And so really my question is, did it ever come across your radar that a particular client was being restrained in an improper way physically, specifically on the ground?



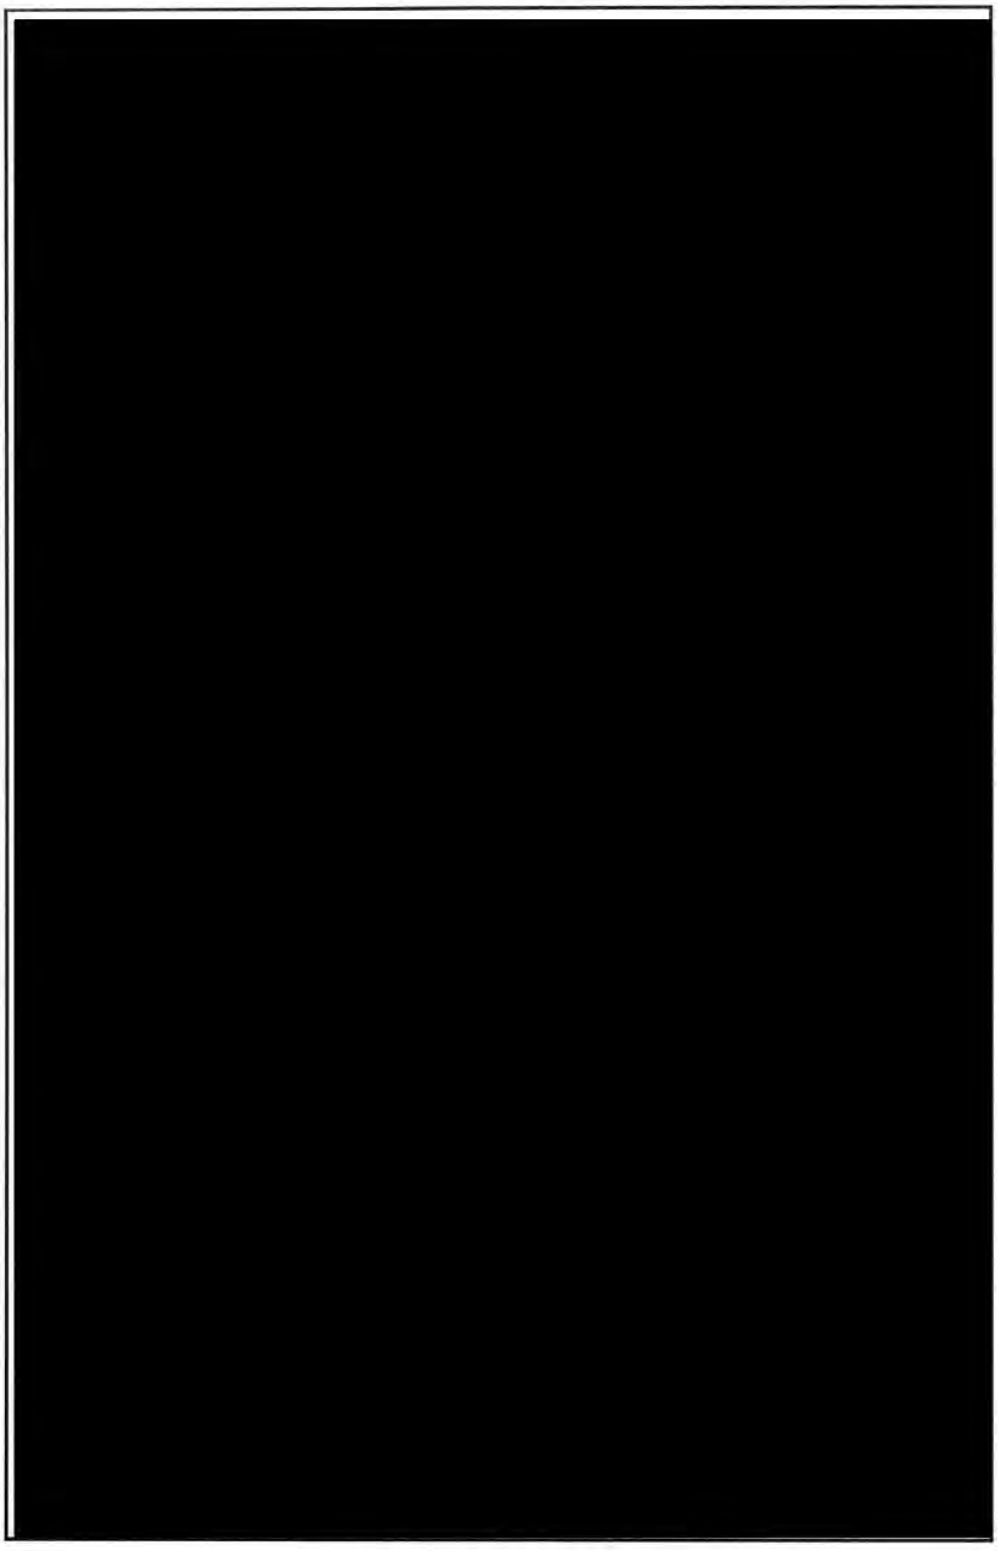
A No, sir. I don't recall.

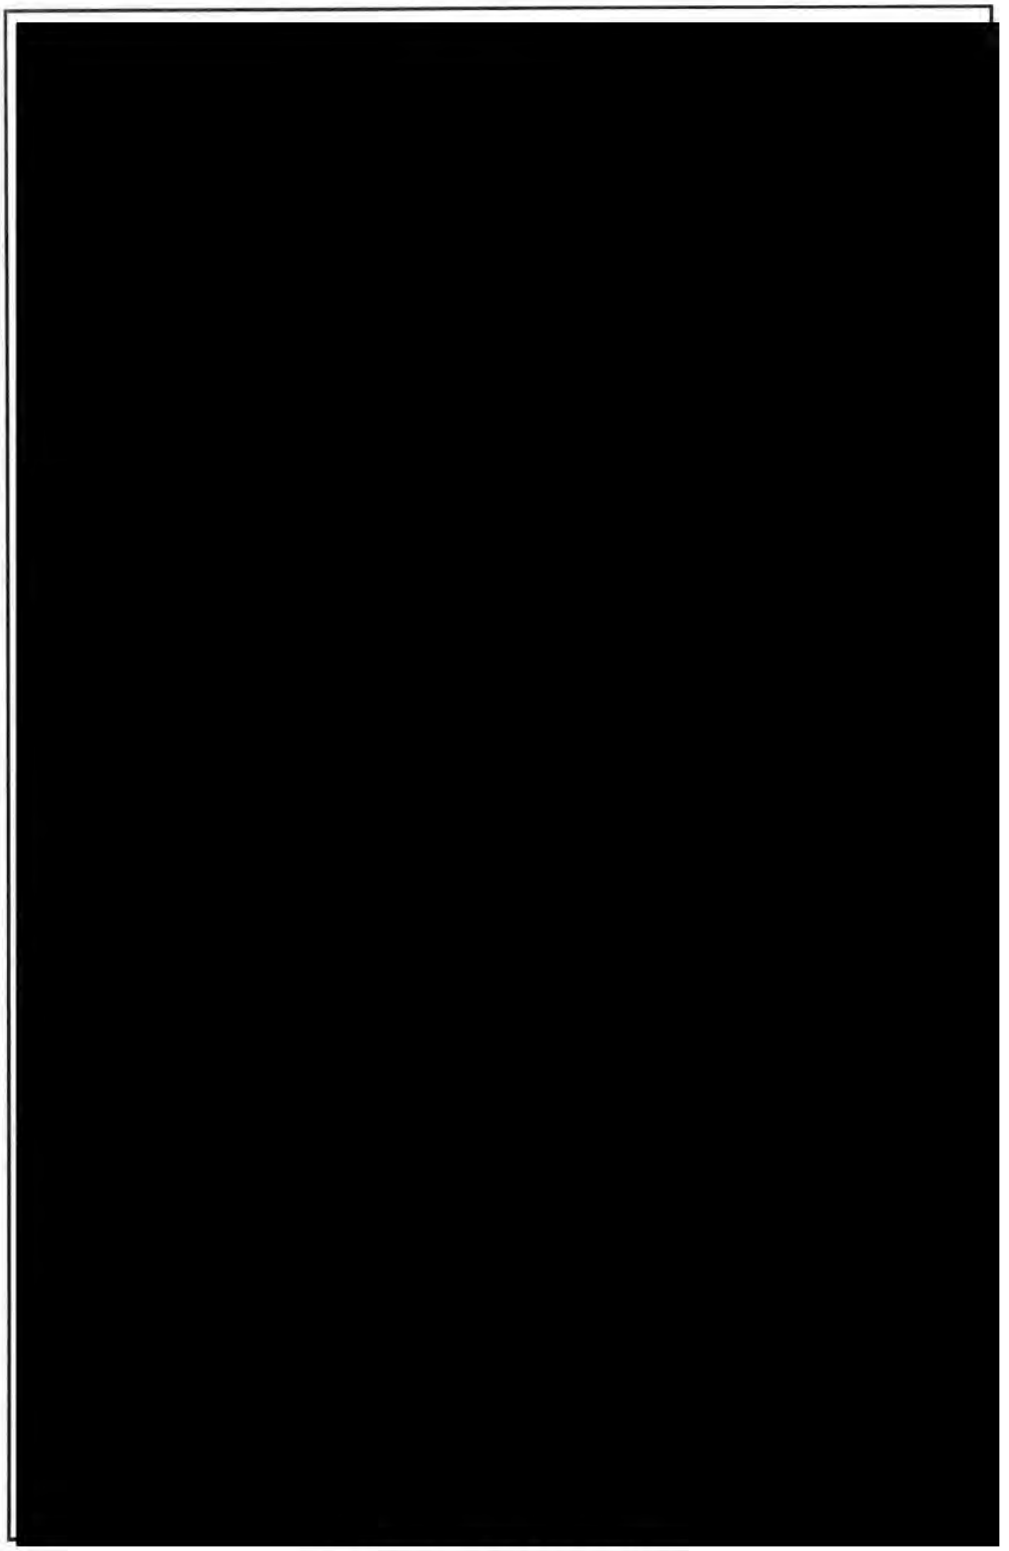


Q Okay. Have you had a chance to review any documents, any of David's chart, for instance, before today?

A Yeah, I did. When I got notice that I had a deposition, so I did review briefly, you know, some of my notes.

[redacted]





[redacted]

Q Okay. And I'm specifically referring to this order here. [redacted] Reading that, to me, it sounds like a requirement for David. Are you saying it wasn't?

A I don't think so it was a requirement, requirement, you know. So what I see here is that if he was having an active behavior, and that's what happened after he had his lunch looking at the records, and that's when he was physically restrained. So looking at the risk and benefits at that time -- you know, clinically, you know, I don't know what happened at the point in time. I was not there. But, you know, at that point in time, you make him elevated just because [redacted] I really just cannot justify it. This is a very standard recommendation on anybody who's got [redacted]

[redacted]

[redacted]

Q And does that record that you're looking at -- where is that record found in the -- where would I find that in his records? I have his records, but if I wanted to see what you're looking at.

A What I'm looking at is on the Booneville Human Development Center annual medical staffing report, and this review is from July 17, 2019.

Q Okay. Does it have a Bates stamp at the bottom?
A No, sir. I don't see that.
Q So it's not a document given to you by the attorneys; it's from your own -- or from the facility's copy of the chart then? If it had a Bates stamp, I'd be able to find it easier with what I have, but that's okay.

Q It doesn't give any details about the circumstances or the environment?
A I don't have that information in front of me.
Q Where would it be if I wanted to find that?
A It should be in his chart for sure, you know.
Q What was the exact date again in 2009?
A 10/28/2009.
Q Dr. Hamid, what knowledge do you have of David's behavior issues?
A I don't look at that part. There's a psychiatrist that, you know, is looking at the documents, our psychiatrist that managed the psych medications and everything. But, again, looking at the -- you know, it seemed like he had, you know, issues with behaviors.

Q I noticed in the emergency chemical intervention checklist that were provided for David -- well, I assume your file of the emergency chemical intervention checklist?

A Yes, I am.

Q I noticed that the first question on that checklist is, is he on the do-not-restrain list. My question to you is, if you know, what clients or what type of clients or what would the reasons be for a client to be on the do-not-restrain list, if you know, if that's your area?

A Well, again, I don't know that, but you talk about medical decision-making and you've got a client who's got a pretty bad back, you know, I would not put that client on a restraint, you know, or, you know, do the early chemical intervention and things like that.

Q If a client was going to be placed on a do-not-restrain list, would that be an order that you make or would that be a decision made by somebody else?
A Can you repeat the question for me?
Q If a client were to be placed on the do-not-restrain list, is that a decision that you would make or would that be a decision that came from another person at the facility?
A Eventually it's going to go past me as well.
Q Do you have any recollection of any clients who -- I'm not asking you about specifics about your other patients, but just in general, do you have any recollection of any clients at the facility that have been on the do-not-restrain list?
A I don't have a recollection of that. I know there are some clients that are on early chemical intervention, but I don't know. I may be wrong, but I don't think so we have any client that's on no physical restraints because if they need it, if they're a danger to themselves and others, we do have to somehow control that.
Q Are there any medical conditions that you can think of that would warrant placing a client on a do-not-restrain list?
A Again, as I just mentioned, somebody who's got a broken back or a bad back, always trying not to do it. I don't know of any medical condition that would, you know, prevent anybody on going on restraints.

Q Do you work with Mark Heiss and the other folks at staff development on the phase one training and the things that are taught to the staff members as far as how to physically restrain clients? Do you have any participation in that?

A If you're talking about the same thing, I mean, I have to go for the phase training as well. I've been part of it. If you're talking about the same thing or are you talking about something different? I'm not -- I have been part of phase training, but it's not something I do every year. I've been part of it probably a few years ago, but I don't have recollection of it very well.

Q Honestly, what I'm asking is I want to make sure that it's not something that originates in your office, the phase training, what's taught, what's approved. I'm just trying to get a sense of whether you as the medical doctor on staff has any involvement in approving the forms of restraint that the staff members are trained in, if that make sense?

A Again, I didn't get the question right. There is a form that I sign in which there are about, you know, five boxes in which we click as to which restraints we can offer to these clients. If you're talking about that form, then I do sign that form on every client.

Q What form would that be? because I want to make sure we are talking about the same thing. What form would that be?
A I don't have it in front of me or anything.
Q Could you do your best to describe it for me? I know you said there's five boxes.
A I think there's a chemical intervention and, you know -- again, I have to look at that form to tell you, you know. Probably physical restraint, two point, or it says something like that. I have to look at it.
Q You can't think of what it might be called or where it might be located in the --
A No, I don't, but I can look into that.
Q Okay. We may in a minute take a five-minute break here and let you take a look for that because it may be something I already have, Doctor, but if it's not, I need to know about it.
A I can ask my secretary to look for it.
Q Okay. What knowledge do you have about the event that led to David's death?
A Again, all I have recollection is I was told that, you know, David has been sent to the hospital, and I looked at the hospital records. I don't have any direct, you know -- all the recollection I have is by reading through the notes.

Q Okay. Have you ever spoken with any other staff members about what happened on that day?

A No, I have not.

Q Well, if you were to -- I understand that your information just comes from things that you've read, but as you sit here today, what is your understanding -- what is your present understanding of what happened to David?

A I mean, I can read you the things that I noticed.

Q Sure.

Q Okay. Yeah, I'm asking about the event that happened. Based on whatever it is that you're looking at or that you heard or read, what is your understanding of what happened? That's what I'm asking.

A This says that after lunch, David Cains started to kicking, yelling, biting. The staff attempted to settle the client and he started to vomit and turned [redacted] Do you want me to go over all this?

Q No, but I would like you to hold that document up that you're looking at, please. Hold it up to the camera so I can see what it is. Okay. Let me see the bottom of it, too. Do you know who wrote that? Does it say?

A No, it doesn't.

MR. COLLINS: Can we pause for just one second?

MR. GILLISPIE: Yeah.

MR. COLLINS: My apologies. Go ahead.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q So the document that you read from, Doctor, that's part of his chart. Was that in his chart? Where did you come by that document?

A Again, when I was told that I have a deposition, you know, they gave me those records, so that's part of the records that I got.

Q And who did you ask?

A My DON.
Q Who's that?
A The nursing supervisor, which is going to be Stacy.
Q Stacy? What's her last name, sir?
A I'm so bad at the last name. I know her by Stacy.
Q That's fine. I think I know who you're talking about.
And so when you learned you were going to be deposed, you asked Stacy for what exactly?
A Medical records. I need to go over the medical records. And then Jennifer Berry sent me some records as well.
Q This read from there, would with that have come from Jennifer Berry?
A Again, I've got a lot of papers here, so I'm not sure whether this particular one came from Jennifer Berry, but, again, it was on my table, so I'm not sure, you know, which one came through.
Q Okay. So I noticed that that description has no mention of David being taken to the ground and a restraint being used on David whereby he's held on the ground. Does that mean that you have no knowledge that that occurred?
A There's a lot of records that I've mentioned and I came across some records that mentioned that he was in restraints on the ground. This may not be part of this particular thing that I just read, but there were stacks of papers. I did notice that.

Q And Dr. Hamid, one of my goals here is to figure out for this family, his mother and his sister, what exactly happened medically that caused his death. And that's where I'm going with this. I'm hoping that you could maybe help shed some light on that. Based on the depositions that I've taken of the three staff members that were there and that participated in the restraint, those being Tyler Matson, Mandy Jones, and Ryann Campos, we know that this restraint took place a few minutes after David had his lunch. Are you aware of that?

A I'm not aware of the exact timeline.

Q Okay. Well, for purposes of today, I'll represent to you that this event took place five or ten minutes after he finished lunch, so keep that in the back of your mind as we move through my questions here. I'll also represent to you that a behavior incident occurred. David and a staff member named Tyler Matson end up on the ground. How exactly David landed on the ground, whether he landed on his face, on his back, it's not crystal clear at this point, but he -- according to Mr. Matson, there was a struggle of some sort and they sort of topple over onto the ground. And I'll represent to you that that's how he got to the ground. Are you with me so far?

A Yes, I am.

Q According to Mr. Matson -- and at this point, it's only Mr. Matson and David in the room and this is in the lobby area outside of the cafeteria in the commons building. At this point, Mr. Matson says that he held David on the ground or he turned David onto his left side specifically and held David on the ground for, he says, two to three minutes. Let's just say for purposes of today a couple minutes. And during this time, as Mr. Matson says and as the other two witnesses say, David is agitated and flailing, kicking about and screaming possibly. Are you with me so far?

A Yes, I am.

Q The next thing that changes in the environment is that another direct care staff member, Ms. Amy Jones -- she goes by Mandy. Mandy enters the room and she assists Mr. Matson in restraining David. Specifically she says that she grabbed David by his wrists or arms and sort of knelt in front of his head. Again, David is on his left side. She knelt behind him with his hands on David's body in some capacity. And then at this point, Mandy is also kneeling but more above his head and holding him by his arms in some way.

There's some conflicting statements about whether Mandy might have been holding him by the head. She didn't admit to that, but there's conflicting witness statements from Mr. Matson and Ms. Campos that Mandy may have been holding his head at some point as well because David was spitting, I think, or supposedly he was spitting. According to Mr. Matson, the two of them continued to hold David there on the ground against his will because he's screaming and flailing for another couple of minutes.

The next thing that happens is Ms. Ryann Campos, another staff member, enters the scene and she joins in on the restraint by grabbing David's legs because she said David was kicking. Are you with me so far?

A Yes, I am.

Q Before we go further, do you have any questions about these details that I just represented to you?

A No, I don't.

Q It's all very clear in your head?

A Yes.

Q David is on his left side, according to these three witnesses. And the three of them hold him there like that for another minute or two. So each of the witnesses, the amount of time they say passes is a little different. According to Tyler, it could have gone for as long as seven minutes total. According to the others, maybe a little less, so let's say four to seven minutes of -- four to seven minutes of David being restrained against his will on the ground by three staff members. During that time -- during which, according to all staff members, David was extremely agitated, flailing. According to Tyler, he may have been screaming, but very agitated and extremely agitated, flailing, kicking according to these witnesses. Are you with me there so far?

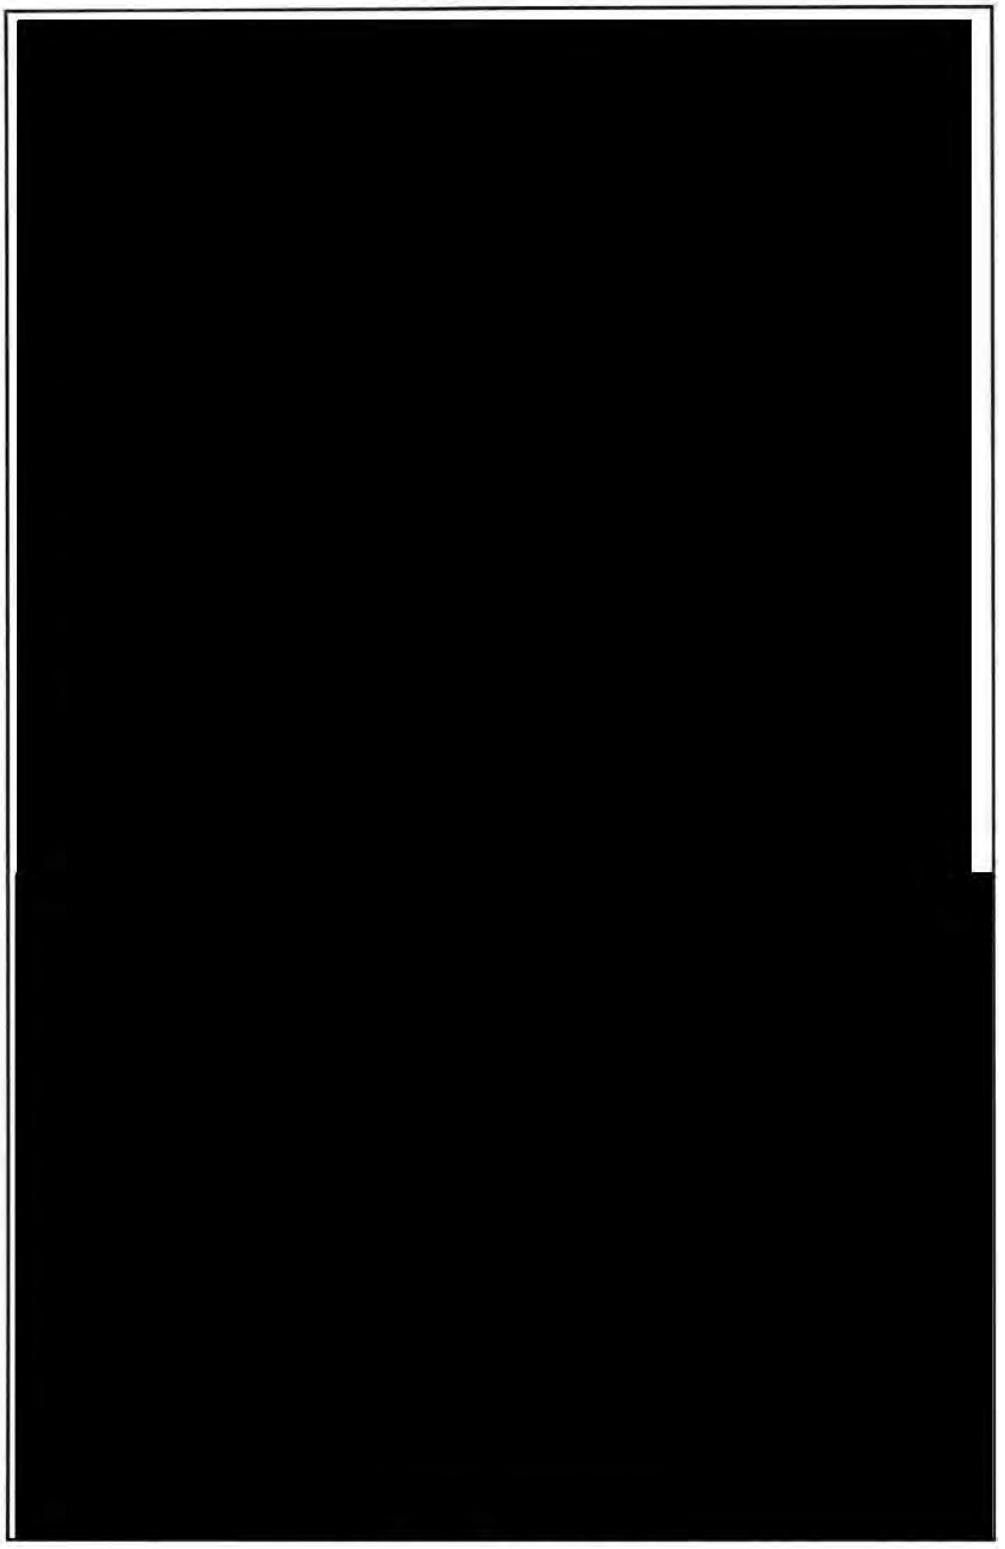
A Yes, I am.



[redacted]

[redacted]

Q Well, I just want to make sure that you're -- I'm trying to paint a picture for you here based on the picture that was painted for me by all these witnesses that I've had to depose.

[redacted]

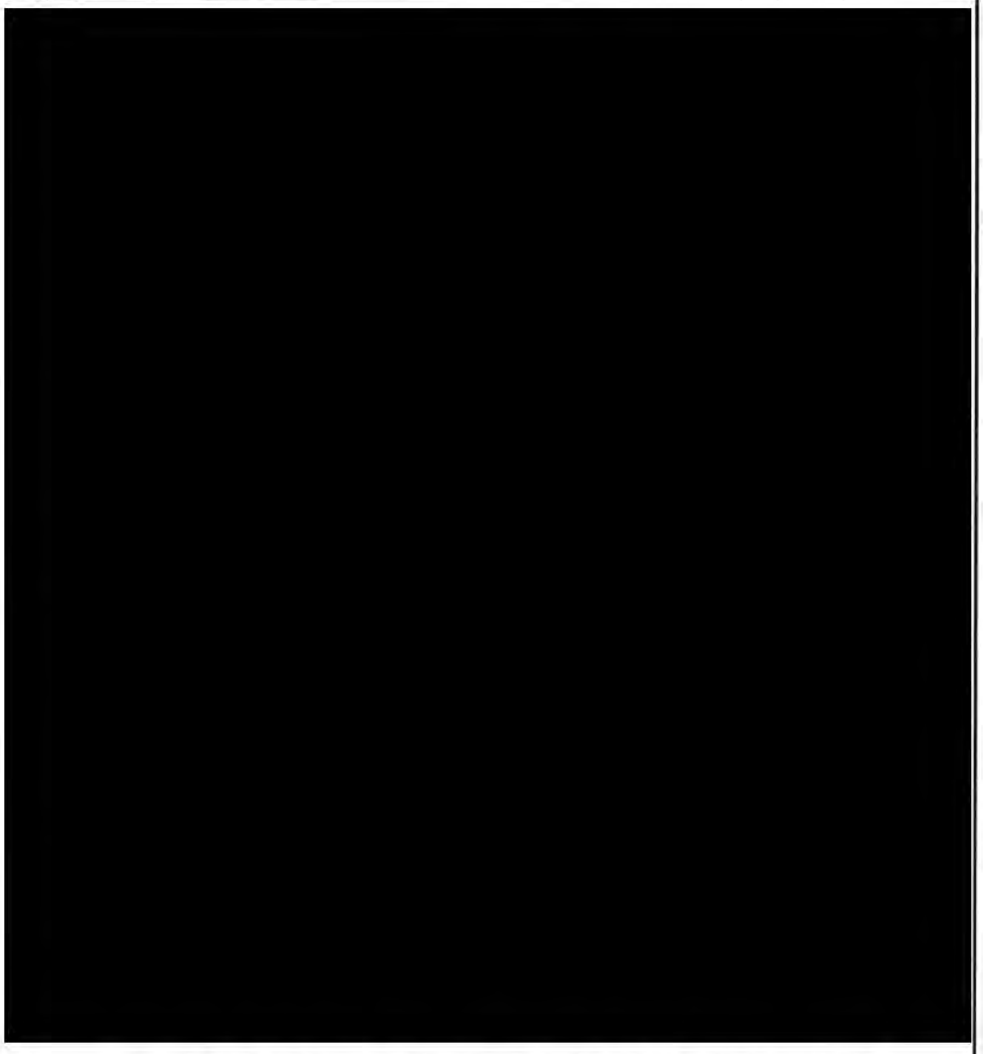
[redacted]

Q Is it possible for somebody to choke on their lunch after they finish their lunch and several minutes after lunch?

A Sure. I mean --

Q How does that work?

A Anybody can have vomiting, right, after intake of food, after eating. I mean, a healthy individual can have an episode of vomiting, too.



Q How long does it take for food to pass through the esophagus and the stomach? Does it happen --

A Right away.

Q Right away?

A Yeah.

[redacted]

Q Assuming that -- let me ask it this way: Could restraining David in the position that I described to you, restraining him on the floor in the position I described to you, taking him to the ground and then restraining him on the floor in the position described to you, could that have prevented him from having the normal protective reflexes, you know, i.e. protecting his airway from vomit?

A No.
Q Why not?
A He was in the left lateral position, you know. I don't know how else you can restrain this patient. He vomited after and he vomited after being placed on that position. Again, looking at or pointing to the records, he vomited after he was placed in that physician, probably aspirated. Again, you know, there's no definite answer as to that point in time. You can assume that this could be a possibility and there are other possibilities that could happen and lead to his death.
Q Assuming everything that I described to you about what was happening to him is true, what are some of the possibilities that could have led to him -- led to vomit clogging his airways?
A I don't understand the question.

Q But to be clear, you do not think that a physical restraint of this sort -- are you saying you don't think the physical restraint had any causal effect on him vomiting and going into cardiac arrest?

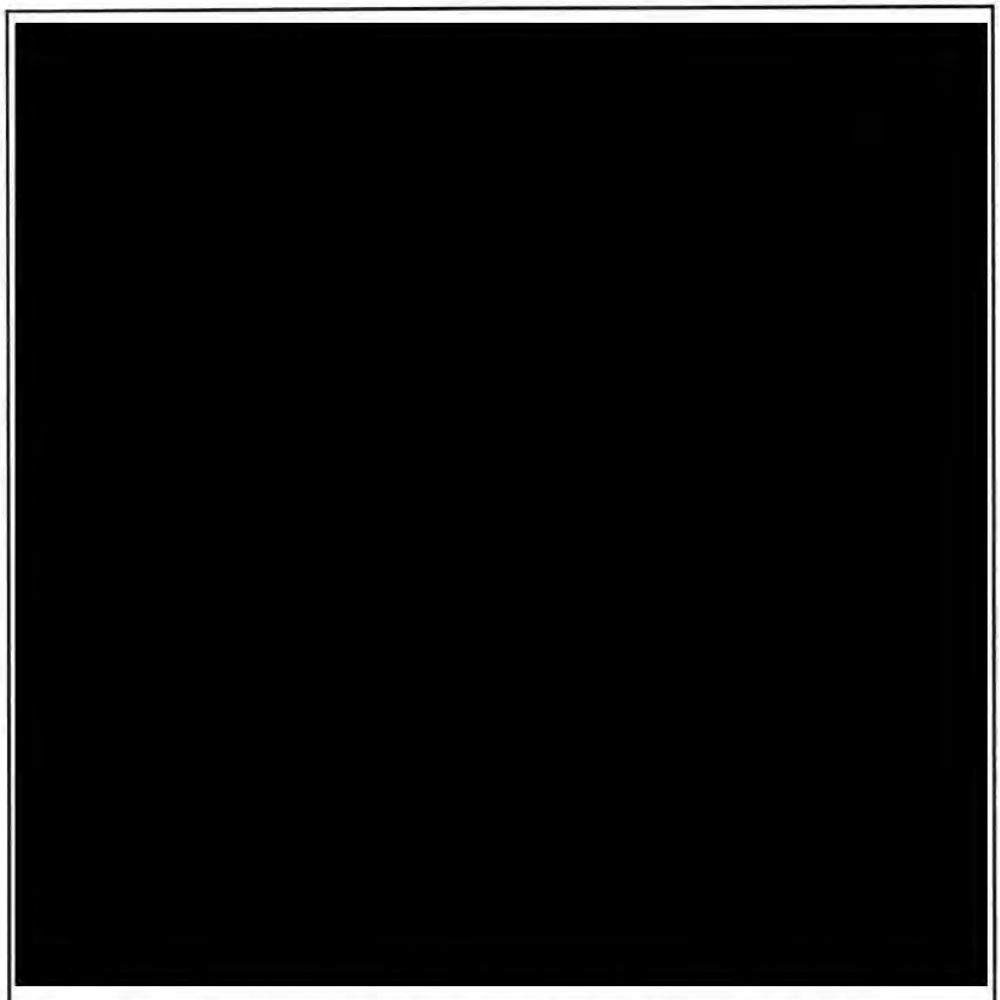
A I was not there, so I don't know how much strength was used, but in real world, again, physical, if somebody is restrained and he chokes to death, you know, does not happen. So I don't think so physical restraint -- there's no way for me to tell because I'm not there at that particular point in time and how much strength was used. No.

Q I don't think I quite understand something you just said.

MR. GILLISPIE: Hey, Kristi, could you read back his passage just there for me?

(WHEREUPON, the court reporter read back the previous answer.)



BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q If you could, finish your thought for me about in the real world. In the real world, what? I don't quite understand what you meant there.

A I mean, I have not come across any case studies that the patient who was physically restrained ended up choking to death because of that physical restraint. I have not seen any case reports. It has not come in my practice, you know, even working at BHDC here and other facilities.

Q You have no knowledge of physical restraints on the ground being dangerous to clients? You have no knowledge of that?
A Physical restraint on the ground, if you're choking somebody by the neck, it can be dangerous.
Q Well, I'm not talking about choking somebody by the neck.
A Right. So I really don't understand the question in the sense that it would depend on how much, you know, strength is being used or how is the patient taken down. I think it would be eventually, you know, how long the patient was on the ground and whether they're doing it appropriately or not.
Q Well, ground restraints in this type of setting aren't allowed at your facility. Mark Heiss, who does the training, confirmed that for me, that this was an improper restraint. So restraint is not allowed. So I'm assuming there's a reason for that, and everything that I read on the standard of care for the intellectually disabled in facilities like this is pretty unanimous about the particular dangers of ground restraints. All physical restraints are dangerous as the facility's own documents say. But ground restraints in particular being dangerous to these clients. What I'm asking you is are you saying you don't agree with that?

A I don't disagree with that. If it was done properly and we don't have a choice, especially in the circumstances, I mean, there's no time for chemical intervention. You have to hold this client because he's going to be a danger to himself or some others.
Q And what would be the particular risks of restraining a client on the ground? Why is it dangerous then? Since you agree it's dangerous, why is it? What are the risks medically associated with restraining a client on the ground?
A Physical assault on a patient when putting him on the ground. You can break a bone. You can, you know, asphyxiate somebody. It depends on how much physical strength is being used.
Q Okay. Given the event that I described to you, is it possible that -- you know, I'm not able to tell you how much physical strength was being used, but is there any amount of physical strength that could have been used in that setting that could have led to David's vomiting and choking?
A I don't think I'm going to be able to answer this question because I'm not there at that particular point in time. How do you expect me to answer that question?
[redacted]

Q Am I correct that seizures can occur without visible convulsions?

A Yeah. They are absent seizures.

Q And am I correct that seizures can be brought on by extreme distress or agitation?

A Any kind of stress can do it.

Q I'm sorry. Say that again.

A It can.

Q Could severe agitation coupled with a physical restraint that heightened that agitation induce a vagal response that can lead to emesis and aspiration?

A Possibility. I cannot completely rule that out.
Q Am I saying that word right, vagal?
A That's right.
Q So that would be a possibility then of -- in this scenario, that's a possibility of how he came to vomit?
A There are a lot of possibilities. I mean --
Q What are some other possibilities? What are some other possibilities of -- you know, I don't believe it was a coincidence that this guy -- you know, that Mr. Cains starts vomiting and choking in the middle of his physical restraint. Do you believe that's a coincidence? Is that your opinion that the physical restraint likely had nothing to do with his death?
A I have no way to confirm on that, but I don't think so.
Q And I need to know every reason why and I need you to be as thorough and detailed as possible to me as to why that's your opinion.
A Why is that -- I mean, I feel that, you know, he aspirated on the food particle and that was probably the cause of his death.
Q But you do not feel that the extreme agitation of being physically restrained on the ground in any way could have triggered that aspiration?

A Again, there's always a possibility. That kind of extreme agitation can trigger a heart attack, can trigger a stroke. So there's a lot of possibilities, you know.
Q Can it trigger vomiting?
A It can. I don't know if it can.
Q It can?
A There's all kinds of possibilities as I mentioned. It can trigger a heart attack. It can trigger a stroke. Any kind of this level of stress can trigger a lot of things.
Q Can it trigger vomiting?
A Again, I don't know.
Q It can or --
A It's a possibility.
Q Well, I just want to be clear. You're saying it can. I don't know, so those are --
A It is a possibility.
Q So it can. Yes, it can. That's all I'm trying to get to. In other words, yes, it can or you're not sure if it can?
A It can, possibly can.
Q Okay. I'm sorry. I'm not trying to harass you. I just want to make -- I want to make sure that the record doesn't look like, you know, you're giving contradictory answers. I know that's what you're trying to do, but I just have to make a clear record.

Is it also possible that a really bad episode of reflux could have caused vomit to enter his esophagus and obstruct his breathing?

A Anything can be possible, but looking at his records, he was visually monitored while he was eating all the time, so he was not doing it for years. Whether that happened at that point in time, there's no way to tell. Looking at his records, he passed his swallow study without any problems. He didn't have any choking episodes before so, you know, unlikely.

Q I'm not even asking you if that's what you think happened to him. I'm asking is that just -- is that medically possible for somebody to reflux that severely that they begin to vomit like this and choke on their vomit. Is that possible medically?

A I have not seen any case studies where somebody has this bad of reflux that he vomits and chokes to death. Again in my clinical practice, I've not come across it.

Q Have you come across a situation where somebody refluxes and vomit enters the esophagus and they don't die, but --

A No, I have not.
Q Okay.
MR. GILLISPIE: Let's take five minutes, Eric, for a break.
(WHEREUPON, after a break was taken, the proceedings resumed as follows:)
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Dr. Hamid, is vomiting more likely to lead -- in general, I'm asking in general. Is vomiting more likely to lead to choking if a person is on the ground as opposed to if they're standing upright?
A It can, you know, but, again, if you are in a left lateral position, then less chances, you know. Otherwise, you know, if you're laying flat, then obviously you're going to have more chances for aspiration.
Q So you're saying if you're lying flat on your back and you vomit, you're going to have a greater likelihood of aspirating than if you were standing up?
A That's right.
Q Let's say you're lying at an angle, partially on your back, partially on your side. I assume you're also going to have a greater likelihood of aspirating if you vomited than were you standing up.
A I don't know what position is that, but left lateral position, you've got less chances for aspiration as completely laying on your back.

Q Well, the position -- and I didn't go over this with you before, but if you could, please let me finish my question. I understand that you know where I'm going with it, so that she can make a clean record, it's important that you let me finish speaking before you start speaking, and I'll do the same for you.

Okay. Let's just say laying completely on his left side, laterally on his left side. If a person is laying completely laterally on their left side when they begin vomiting, are they at an increased likelihood of aspiration than somebody standing up? Now, I understand that the likelihood or the risk is not as great as if that person had been lying on their back. What I'm asking, though, is, if it's still an increased likelihood of aspiration when somebody is laying laterally on their left side as opposed to standing up.

A I don't know that answer. You're asking me about whether the person is left lateral versus standing; is that right?

Q Right.

A And I really don't know the answer for it. I don't know if there have been any studies done. I don't know the answer to that question.

Q Okay. So to be clear, you're not sure whether a left lateral position would lead to an increased risk of aspiration after vomiting?
A Compared to what?
Q Compared to standing completely upright.
A I don't know the answer to that.
Q Okay. What if somebody is positioned partly on their back, and that was what I was trying to describe to you before, meaning positioned at an angle to where the left half of their back is on the ground and they're kind of like this, at an angle. Do you understand what I mean by that?
A Yeah.
Q Partially on their back is what I'm saying. Would that not also be a situation where vomiting would lead to increased risk for aspiration as compared to standing up?
A I do not know the answer to that.
Q So the only thing you can answer about is if somebody is laying completely flat on their back?
A That's right.
Q And if they're slightly at an angle in any way, then you don't know the answer?
A I don't know the answer because it literally says with left lateral position, you've got with increased chances for aspiration. I don't know the position in between, whether that's an increase or decrease. I'm not aware of any studies that have been done.

Q Are you quoting from something when you say that left lateral means a decreased chance for aspiration?

A That's a pretty, you know, standard of care just like, you know, [redacted] put them in left lateral position so that the secretions are not going to your throat. They're just drooling out through the angle of your mouth.

Q And I want to go back to what I think you said that your position was and I want to make sure I understand correctly. With regards to what happened to Mr. Cains, correct me if I'm wrong, I believe you said that -- you testified that you weren't there, you don't know for sure what happened, but it's your opinion or your belief that most likely this physical restraint whereby David was taken to the ground and held on the ground did not have anything to do with his death. Did I state your position correctly?

A I don't think so. But then again, I'm not there at that point in time.

Q You don't think I stated your position correctly?
A No. I do not think that physical restraints --
Q Well, first of all, let's just answer -- let's just one question at a time. Yes or no, did I state your position correctly?
A You're going to have to repeat the question again.
MR. COLLINS: That last question he just asked, I didn't hear what you said.
THE WITNESS: Again, I --
MR. GILLISPIE: He sort of anticipated the next question and answered that one. But I'm repeating my question for him. He asked me to repeat it. I'm going to repeat the question.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q So my question is, is it your position here today -- is it your testimony that while you weren't there and while you don't know for certain, you feel like it is most likely that the physical restraint used on David, which included taking him to the ground and holding him down on the ground, one person by his body, one person at his legs, one person at his arms, one person may have had his head, is it your position that most likely that restraint event did not in any way lead to David's death? I'm just asking is that your position. Did I state your position correctly? Is that your position, yes, no, or --

A It's unlikely, but I cannot promise.

Q Sir, I'm sorry. First, I need you to just -- before you get into describing the whys, just tell me if that is your position or not.

A Yes.

Q Okay. Now you can tell me why that is your position.

A Because I was not there at that point in time. That's why.

Q Well, then why would you have an opinion at all about whether the restraint caused his death or not? Why wouldn't you just say, he could have, I don't know?

A I just said unlikely it could have caused.

Q But why is it unlikely it could have caused it? That's what I'm asking you.

A Because I was not there at that point in time and I don't know how much force was used and what happened at that point in time. That's why, you know, I can't say for certain.

Q I understand that, that you can't say for certain, but when you say "unlikely," that's giving it an opinion as opposed to just saying I don't know. If you were to say I wasn't there, I don't know, okay, that's fine, but you're saying I wasn't there, I don't know, but it's unlikely.

[redacted]

Q Are you basing this opinion on anything else other than the records that you are referencing right now?
A That's the only way I have the knowledge. That's pretty much. I'm looking at the records.
Q And when you say "the records," are you talking about what is in front of you right now?
A I've got very limited records in front of me right now. I had stacks of paper that I briefly went through.
Q Okay. This is very, very important, Doctor. I need you to -- so at a deposition, anything a deponent brings to use at a deposition, I get a copy of. And it's very, very important that you send to Mr. Collins exactly what you're talking about when you say the records that you used to base your opinion. And I want to go over with you right now exactly what those records are. The records that you've used to base this opinion, what are those records? It's important that we be thorough here.

A I'm looking at the EMS records right now, so is that part of your --
Q EMS records. I have those.
A I'm looking at those witness statement forms.
Q What do those say at the top?
A Facility investigation report for resident abuse, neglect, misappropriation of property, and exploitation of residents in long-term care facility.
Q Can you hold that up for me real quick so I can see it? I want to see if it's something I have already or not.
Okay. OLTC witness statements?
A That's right.
Q So OLTC witness statements. We have EMS records and now we have OLTC witness statements. Are you using the statements from all five of the people that gave statements?
A Again, I'm going over right now witness full name, so there's one that I see, the second, third.
Q Or maybe just tell me the name of the witness for each of the ones you're relying on?
A Daniel K. Jones, Ryann Mariah Campos, Amy Amanda Jones, Tyler Matson. And then I am looking at roles and names of others involved. I don't know what --

Q Say that again, sir. I'm sorry. Say that one more time.
A On top of this page, it says roles and names of others involved. Again, it talks about the timeline that the whole incident happened.
Q That timeline document. What other documents are you -- I need to make a list of every document and record that you've relied on to make your opinion. And so far, I have EMS records, the OLTC witness statements, and that document titled "Timeline."
A There's some more OLTC statements here. The same name, Tyler Matson.
Q Matson?
A That's right. And I've got this ER record in front of me.
Q Okay. Mercy emergency room records?
A That's right. I've got the Logan County EMS records.
Q Okay. We already got that.
A And then I think I've got his previous records in which they mention about his vital signs and then there's -- you know, all the records that says IPP reports.
Q Start with -- before you got to IPP reports, what was the thing that you had, records that mentions vital signs?

A They're vital reports.
Q What reports?
A They're vital reports. I think they're talking about blood pressures.
Q Are those Booneville records or are those from another facility?
A No. That's the BHDC records.
Q Okay. Can I just see what those look like? So vital reports. What time period of vital reports did you look at? What's the time period for the vital reports you looked at?
A 06/01/2020 to 06/13/2020.
Q So is that 6/1/20 to 6/30/20?
A 6/13/20, one three.
Q Is that the end date or the start date or the only date?
A From 06/01/2020 to 06/13/2020.
Q Okay. June 1st to June 13th, okay.
A Then I've got others as well that has a different date. Do you want me to go over all this?
Q Yeah. If you used it to give the opinion you just gave me, then yes.
A There's another one that says the same thing, vital reports, and that's dated from May 1, 2020, to June 30, 2020.

Q May 1, 2020, to --
A June 30th. Although we don't have that --
Q Right.
A And then I'm looking at this annual medical report.
Q Okay. IPP. And what's the date of that IPP? Is it the 2019 one or the 2018 one?
A I've got 2020 in front of me.
Q 2020?
A June 18, 2020, so probably was printed at that time.
Q Oh, is that the print date or the -- I think on the IPP it tells you the date that it was done, that it was actually produced.
A This is July 17, 2019, review.
Q Okay. So the 2019 IPP.
A But there are others as well with different dates, so. I've got another one that says June 18, 2020.
Q You have an PP that appears to have been completed in 2020?
A Or either it was printed at that date. I'm not sure.
Q Go to the next page on that and you should see where it gives a meeting date. For instance, July 18, 2019. I'm assuming what you're looking at it was printed in '20, but I don't know.

A I might find the date here. It's May 30, 2020.

Q And it's an IPP?

A That's right. It's this report, IPP. Do you see it?

Q Well, I see annual medical staffing report, yeah. I don't have a 2020. May what 2020? What was the date on that report, May what?

A June 18, 2020. I don't know --

Q Okay. I thought you had given me a May date.

A No. I don't have any May.

Q So it says June --

A 18, 2020. Then I have these, the timeline of the events. I think there's a lot of duplicates here. I do see the EMS records and everything.

Q How many pages is that timeline itself?

A That's one page that I have under this.

Q It gives no indication as to who wrote that timeline?

A No.

MR. COLLINS: Hey, Josh, let me interrupt real quick. So I was pretty sure I'd seen that before. So I think what that is, we used it obviously -- I'll verify, but I'm pretty that was created for me by the client to tell me initially when we first got the case, what happened, what their timeline of events were. So I think what probably happened is when they found out he was being deposed, they probably just sent the file over to him and that was in it.

MR. GILLISPIE: I see.

MR. COLLINS: I'll review it. I don't have any issue necessarily with producing it, I think.

MR. GILLISPIE: I'm looking because I recognize it and --

MR. COLLINS: I may have sent it over already.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Doctor, is that timeline of events, is the date on the left-hand corner June 13, 2020?

A That's right.

Q And then it's a one-page document. And is the very last line a time 12:21 and then it says code called at BHDC?

A That's right.

MR. COLLINS: I'm going to find out if that was actually created for me or if that was actually --

MR. GILLISPIE: Yeah. That was given to me by my client.

MR. COLLINS: Then I imagine it wasn't created for me. I just know I asked for a timeline.

MR. GILLISPIE: Yeah, she got that before hiring me and then --

MR. COLLINS: Gotcha. Okay. I apologize. Thank you.

MR. GILLISPIE: Yeah, because I knew I recognized it, but it wasn't in my discovery and that's because it was -- okay.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Okay, Doctor. So we have the IPPs, the vital reports, the Mercy ER records, that timeline, OLTC witness statements, EMS records, Logan County EMS records.

A And I've got this hospital records here.

Q Is that from his -- the day of his death at Mercy?

A That's right. So there is some repetition here. I've got a DHS incident report here. A lot of things that we have already talked about or, you know --

Q DHS incident report?

A That's right.

Q Could you hold that up, please? Okay.
A And I have, you know, those psych reports in here. I've got his full medical records here of at least five or six big stacks of paper.
Q But are those things that you -- you didn't go through all of that?
A I went through a lot of these things. Let me see what else I reviewed. As I told you, I went through the staffing report that's dated July 17, 2019. Then I went through this pneumonia risk assessment for him.
Q Why did you look at pneumonia risk assessment?
A Because I'm going through his chart. Whatever comes -- I mean, I pretty much went through a lot of things.
Q So are you saying you pretty much went through his entire chart in preparation for today?
A I went through the things that -- you know, went through like my office notes as well, I guess. And there's a choking risk assessment here.
Q What's that dated?
A 2019.
Q What are the dates of your progress note that you used?
A On the IPP, it's all mentioned in the IPP, so it --

Q So if it's part of the IPP, then that's all I need to know.
A Yeah.
MR. GILLISPIE: Eric, while he's going through that stuff, let's take five minutes to use the bathroom.
MR. COLLINS: Okay.
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q And, Doctor, when I come back, I just want to finish this list of documents and records that you might have relied on to form the opinion that you think it's unlikely that the restraint contributed to his death. So when I get back, just be ready to tell me what other documents there may be that you relied on.
(WHEREUPON, after a break was taken, the proceedings resumed as follows:)
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q So any other specific records or documents that you relied on in forming your opinion that you feel like it's unlikely the restraint led to Mr. Cains' death?
A I mean, I've mentioned about the choking assessments. I went through that. And there's a speech 2020 document that I went through as well. He was seen by a speech pathologist over here. And then

Arkansas
State Claims Commission
FEB 16 2023
RECEIVED

there's a dysphasia disorder survey as well that I went through.

Q A dysphasia survey?

A That's right.

Q From what year?

A Let me check the date of it. This is 2014. There are some nursing reports here as well. On-site doctors as well. Went through those, too.

Q What are the dates on the nurse -- are they nurse notes you're talking about?

A The nurse's notes and, you know, the incident reports sometimes that they place on the chart.

Q What dates for the nurse's notes?

A A lot of these are 2017 that's right in front of me here.

Q Okay. And, again, I'm just asking for documents specifically that would have informed your opinion, not necessarily everything you might have looked at or everything you have.

A I already answered that question.

Q Okay. So you feel like you've told me every document that -- significant document that you would have relied on to form your opinion?

A That's right.

Q Okay. Thank you. And if your opinion were correct, that would mean that it was coincidental to being restrained on the ground, his choking?

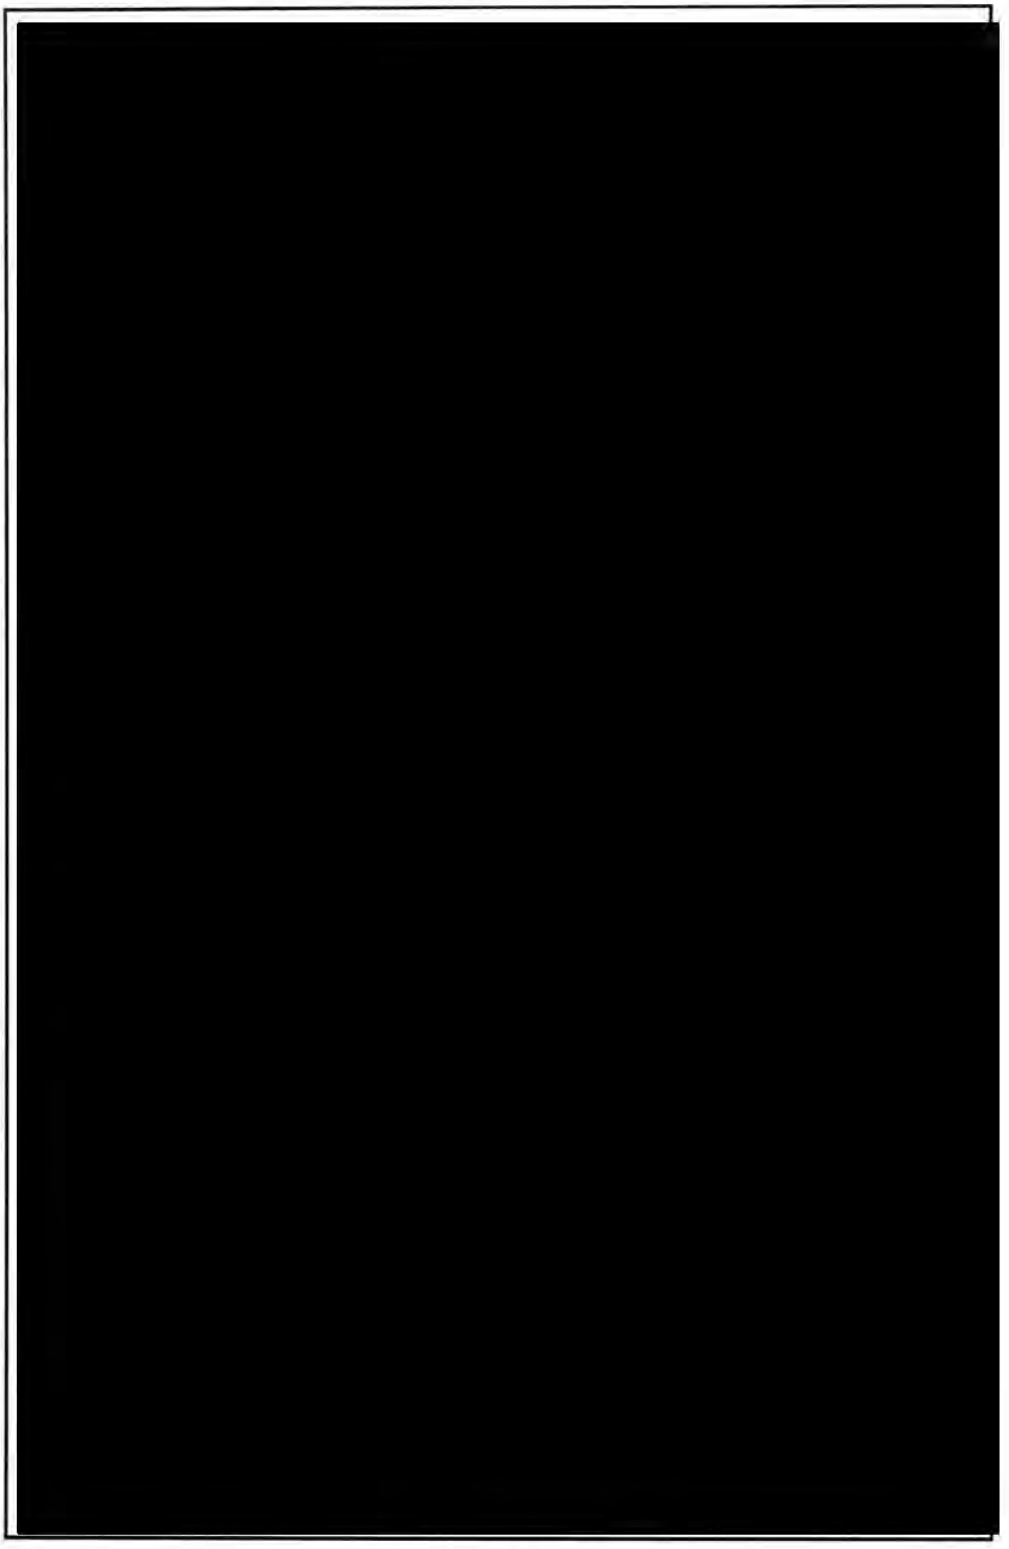
A I have no way to know that. Again, there's no definite answer that I can give that this led to this and this caused the death, you know.
Q And I understand that, but you're giving an opinion that you don't think it caused the death, and I need to know what specific facts you're -- you told me about these documents, but what can you tell me specifically -- what facts can you tell me that informs that opinion of yours?
A I may not have got the question right, but the way that I look at it is this patient had an episode of vomiting on which he aspirated. Whether the vomiting was caused by the physical restraints or taking him on the ground, I don't have the answer or the knowledge about it because I was not there at the scene, right. In looking at those records, what I see here does not seem like to me that excessive force was applied. Again, it's difficult to ascertain that, you know. Then I looked at the ED records and it shows some food particles in his throat. Makes me think that yes, he aspirated. What caused him to aspirate? I don't know.
Q Help educate me about when you say "aspirate," what exactly do you mean?

A How else to -- you know --
Q What happens when somebody aspirates? And I'm sorry to ask stupid questions.
A When somebody aspirates, they can have a choking spell. It can compromise your respiration and you can choke to death.
Q Does aspiration only happen when you're chewing and swallowing your food? Is that what you're referring to, or you referring to aspiration that occurs after food has entered the stomach?
A It can be both ways. You can have regurgitation of, you know, food particles. That's what happens in vomiting. You can have even silent aspiration as well that, you know, there's some trickle that goes in to your windpipe instead of the stomach. You've got a lot of cases of silent aspirations as well.
Q And when you say that from what you're seeing, it sounds like this patient, Mr. Cains, aspirated, which type of aspiration are you referring to?
A If he vomited, most likely he had regurgitation.
Q And is it possible for that regurgitation to be brought on by extreme agitation?
A It can. I mean, extreme agitation can cause a lot of things. Vomiting may be part of it, but I don't have a definite answer to this.

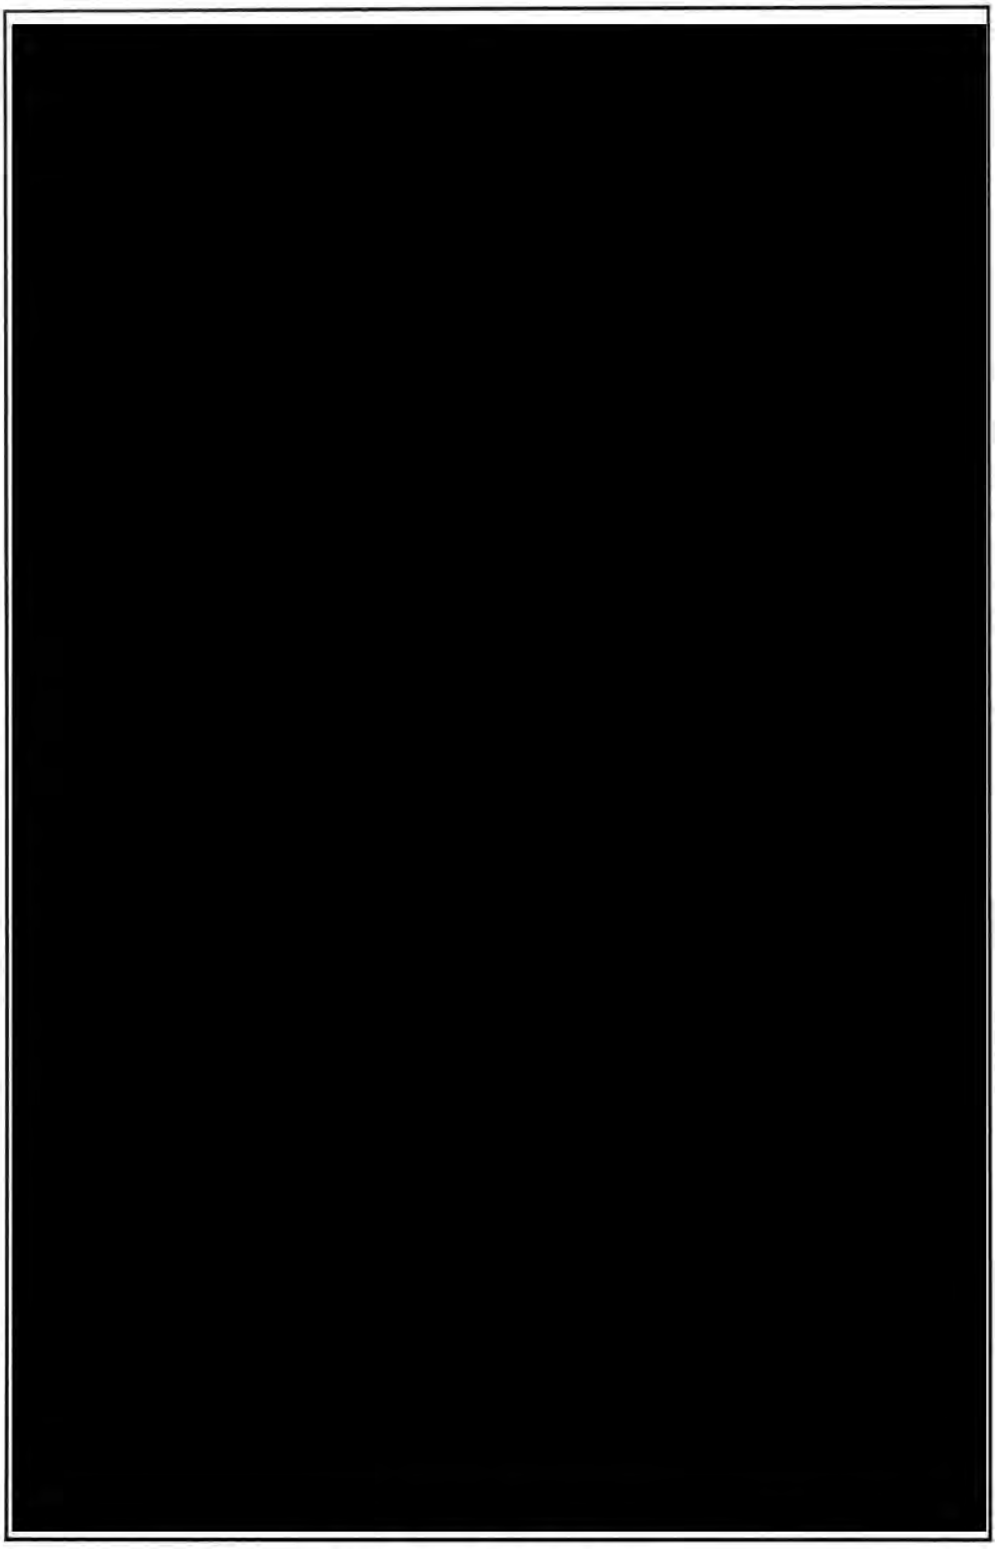
Q Can being on the ground itself increase the likelihood of aspiration in any way?
A I don't think so. I mean, if you have a good swallow reflex, you have passed your speech solo study and this particle applied, then I would say no. But then again, you know, depending on your mental status at that point in time, if you were, you know, mentally cognitively declined at that point in time because you're not getting enough air, you can aspirate.
Q I was wanting to ask about mental status and how that can contribute to something like this. What you're saying is that if your mental status is -- what are you saying about mental status? When you say your mental status could contribute or mental status could play into it, what does that mean?
A Because generally in a hospital setting, you have an altered mental status. You're kind of obtundent. You are drowsy, sleepy, you know, then you are more chances of aspirating. That's what I meant. I was not meaning in this particular circumstances.
Q So you don't mean mental status like an intellectual disability?
A No, sir. No.
Q You're meaning sedation, drowsiness, that sort of thing?

A Right.

Q What about if you take medication that can cause drowsiness or a sedated effect?



A If you're getting too much of sedation, you always have chances for aspiration.



[redacted]

Q And what you said before was that -- or what you might find with aspiration is that patients whose mental status is drowsy or sedated can be more at risk for aspiration?

A If you are overly sedated, then anybody can go into aspiration if he's loaded with, you know, any kind of medications that would interfere with the swallowing mechanism. You're too drowsy to swallow.

[redacted]

Q Assuming that what Mr. Matson, Ms. Jones, and Ms. Campos described to me is accurate, that David began vomiting while on his side and that they then immediately put him on his back, would that have been the best thing to do in that situation, to put somebody who's actively vomiting on their back?

A He was in the left lateral position as required from what I see in the documents. He was involved in a behavior, so, again, I was not there at that point in time. That's what they felt was the right thing to do.

Q I think you misunderstood my question. I'm asking -- they all three told me that after he started vomiting -- he was on his side when he started vomiting. They say that immediately once they noticed he's vomiting, they put him on his back. They rolled him onto his back. Do you follow me?

A Yes.

Q I'm assuming that's not the best thing to do given that you said that you don't want to be on your back when you're vomiting. So my question is, was putting him on his back, rolling him onto his back, rolling him from his left side onto his back while he's vomiting, was that the safest thing to do in that situation?

[redacted]

Q So let's say you had been present, you personally had been present, and Mr. Cains is on his left side and he begins vomiting profusely, would it have been -- would you have put him on his back at that point?

A If he's pulseless, he is not breathing, you know, I --

Q At this point, they didn't know any of that. All they was that he was vomiting. So I'm just asking is that, you know, what you're taught to do in medical training?

A They do the ABCs, airway, breathing, and circulation. So, again, you have to take all this in

[redacted]

Q I'm simply asking in general is that -- you know, if he's on his left side and he starts vomiting, putting him on his back, could that have made it worse? That's all I'm asking.

A Again, my answer is going to be the same. You have to look at the whole perspective. If he is not breathing, doesn't have a pulse, you have to put him on the back and start the --

Q What if he is breathing while he's vomiting?
A If he's breathing, he's up and awake and vomiting, then obviously, you know, you're not going to put him on his back.
Q And why?
A Because of risk for aspiration.
Q Other than what you told me already here today, are there any other reasons that you can point to that would suggest that Mr. Cains would have died even if he hadn't been on the ground?
A I didn't understand the question.
Q Well, as we've established, your opinion is that you don't know what happened, you weren't there, but that it's also -- you also think that it's -- I believe what you said exactly is that you think it's unlikely that this physical restraint contributed to his death. And it's very important, Doctor, that I know every single reason that you have for having that opinion, for giving that opinion. I know I've asked you already and you've given me some answers. I just want to make sure that there's not anything else that you're going to say at trial that I haven't already heard.
A I think that's all I have to say. It's my opinion based on not being physically present there and looking and going over his chart.

Q When you say "his chart," you mean the documents that we specifically listed together, right?
A Yes.
MR. GILLISPIE: Eric, can we take one more break here? We'll come back and wrap up.
MR. COLLINS: Okay.
(WHEREUPON, after a break was taken, the proceedings resumed as follows:)
BY MR. GILLISPIE:
Q Doctor, we're about to wrap up here. You've done a good job clarifying for me your position and that is that based on what you've reviewed, you feel that it's unlikely that the restraint in which David Cains was taken to the ground and held on the ground against his will for several minutes contributed in any way to his death. That would suggest that David would have choked, vomited and choked even had this restraint not occurred, even had he been upright. Is that what you're saying? In other words, are you saying that you think that it's likely that Mr. Cains would be dead even if this restraint had not occurred?
A I've already answered this question.
Q Well, with all due respect it is what you're saying in a roundabout way. By saying that you think that it's unlikely that the restraint contributed to his death, well, that means that he would have died absent the restraint, doesn't it?

A It doesn't make much sense to me. Anybody can die, you know.

Q Where am I losing you?

A Repeat the question or your thoughts again.

Q Sure. Mr. Cains died on this day, we can agree on that. You stated your position as that you think it's unlikely that the restraint contributed to his death, caused his death. Well, the inverse of that, the logical inverse of that would be that he would have died absent the restraint. Does that not make sense to you?

A He would have died if he had aspirated, yes. There was chances that if he had vomited and aspirated with or without restraints, he would die.

Q Right. And all I'm saying is -- I just want to make sure I understand your position because is it your position -- the implication of your position is that even absent the restraint, Mr. Cains would have aspirated and died.

A If he would have aspirated, then he would die.

Q I think you're misunderstanding me a little bit still. I'm going to try my best to walk you through this. And I don't mean to confuse you. But I'm asking if the restraint didn't cause his death where -- we've established that he died. He aspirated and choked to death, correct? That's how he died, he aspirated and choked to death?

A That's right.

Q Okay. So if the restraint didn't cause that, in your opinion, or if, in your opinion, it's unlikely the restraint caused that, obviously that suggests that you think he would have aspirated and choked to death anyways, meaning even had there been no restraint. That's what your position -- the only logical conclusion of your position, and I just want to make sure that you agree with that, that that's what you're saying, that you think that Mr. Cains would have aspirated and choked to death even if he had not been restrained and even if he had been on his two feet.

A If Mr. Cains, after an episode of vomiting, aspirated, there were chances of him dying.

Q Sir, with all due respect, you're still not answering the question.

A I mean, I'm trying to understand the question. You're saying that -- you asked me basically whether putting him on mechanical or physical restraints led to him aspirating; is that right?

Q Yes.
A And I told you the answer that it's unlikely, whether if he was not restraint, he would have still vomited and he could still die of aspiration. Does that answer the question?
Q Well, no, sir, not exactly. I appreciate you trying with me here, but not exactly. I'm going to try to phrase it in a way that all you have to do is answer yes, no, or I don't know. Does that sound fair?
A Okay.
Q Again, he died because -- he died after aspirating and choking. And your position is, once again, that it's unlikely that being restrained caused him to aspirate, correct?
A It's unlikely, yes.
Q Unlikely, right. So if it's unlikely that the restraint caused him to aspirate, does that mean that you believe he would have aspirated anyways, meaning he would have aspirated even if he had not been restrained and even if he'd not been on the ground. And so you can answer that yes or no or however you want, but I don't know how to make that more simple.
A And I still don't understand it, but the answer is I don't know.

Q So you're not saying that you think he would have died anyways absent the restraint? That's not what you're saying?
A In my logic, anybody with or without restraint can die of aspirating.
Q Sure.
A Right?
Q Sure. I guess. You're the doctor. I don't know. But that's not an answer to any question I've asked.
A That's what you've been asking me. If he was not restrained, he would have died if he had aspirated. That's what you were asking me, right?
Q Well, you said "logic" and you brought up logic. That's what I'm talking, logically. We can't have it both ways. Either the restraint contributed in some way --
A I told you my opinion. I don't know.
Q Let me finish. Either the restraint contributed in some way to Mr. Cains' death or it didn't. And if it didn't, well, there's only one logical conclusion there, isn't there? And that's that because he's dead, he died of aspiration and choking -- he's dead. That's a fact. So the only logical conclusion is that aspiration and choking event would have occurred regardless of whether he'd been restrained on the ground. Surely what I'm describing makes sense to you logically, Doctor.

A I told you I don't know the answer. If he would not have been restrained, whether he would have choked to death, I don't know the answer.

Q If you don't know the answer to that, how can you say it's unlikely the restraint caused the aspiration and the choking?

A With the documentations that I have in here, it does not seem like there was any excessive force that was used. He was in the left lateral position.

[redacted] So, again, that's my observation and that's -- I cannot say it with certainty so that's why I said unlikely.

Q Well, it can't be both things, though. It just can't, sir.

MR. GILLISPIE: What I want to do, Eric, is there's one document he mentioned. It had to do with a -- it was a five-prong checklist about restraint use that he says that he signs off on. I'm not sure what that document is. I'm not seeing that. And I'd also like to see everything that he's using here today, so what I would like to do is, you know, I may not need to question him anymore, but I'd like to adjourn and keep the possibility open of bringing him back for further questioning if the documents he's been using turn out to be something that -- the documents he's using to answer questions that I don't get to see, if they're something that I haven't seen that might lead to further questioning. Is that all right?

MR. COLLINS: That will be fine.

MR. GILLISPIE: Okay.

BY MR. GILLISPIE:

Q Dr. Hamid, do you feel like you've understood all my questions today?

A Yeah, I think so.

Q I appreciate your time. Oh, one more before we go.

Doctor, did you ever yourself approve the use of ground restraints on David Cains?

A I don't remember that. I don't think so.

Q In your position as the physician, would you typically be put in a position to approve or disapprove those things or is that the Q's job?

A Again, they will call me for a chemical restraint.

I think he was an early chemical intervention, so when clients -- I get phone calls to put them on chemical restraints, so they get the first chemical and some individuals get the second chemical as well, and if they're still not, you know -- the behaviors are not controlled, then they would call me for, you know, physical restraints. That does not happen that often, but I think I would be the person they would call.

Q Do you recall ever being called for restraints involving David Cains?

A I don't remember that.

Q Do you recall ever being called for restraints whereby a client was restrained on the ground, and not for purposes of being transferred to mechanical restraints but just restrained on the ground?

A I have not been called for that that I can recall.

Q Were you aware that such restraints were not authorized at the facility?

A I'm aware of it, but, again, I don't recall being called for such an individual.

Q But you are aware that restraining clients on the ground for purposes other than transitioning to the mechanical restraints is disallowed?

A Yes, I am.

Q And how did you become aware of that?

A Being here for 15 years. I don't know whether I read it afterwards or anything, but I'm familiar.
Q So you're familiar with this type of restraint that I described to you was used on David was not a proper restraint, an allowed restraint, as I've described it to you?
A Yes. I mean, at that point in time, this was the only option. Again, in my understanding, this would have been a transition.
Q How do you know they didn't have any other option?
A I don't know. Again, looking at those documents, they had to control him. There was no time for chemical intervention at that point in time. They had to control him and I never got that far for the chemical intervention because things happened so quickly.
Q I just wonder what would make you think the extra week to get me that opinion if you don't know and you weren't there.
A I didn't understand the question.
Q Well, you said that -- I didn't even ask you this. You just volunteered that you don't think they had any choice at the time, any other option but to do this to him.
A Because the documentation says he was kicking and hitting other people. He was trying to go to the bathroom, and then all this, you know, transpired.

Q And just based on that, you come to the conclusion that they had no other option than doing what they did?
A Again, I'm not there at that point in time.
Q Well, why give me the opinion if you don't want to -- you know, if you can't tell me --
A Well, you kept asking me for my opinion.
Q Okay.
A -- ask questions in different ways.
Q Sure. I wasn't even going to ask you if I thought that -- if you thought that what they did this was -- if they had a choice or not, but you volunteered that, so now I have to flesh that out.
You're basing that on the OLTC reports and these other documents we've talked about?
A Yeah. That's all I have.
Q And any other reason why you would have the opinion that these staff members had no other options but to do precisely what they did?
A No.
Q Again, your reasons are what again?
A It's just my opinion looking at those records that they may not have any other option at that point in time. That's what I'm saying.

Q Do you make policy decisions at the facility?
A What kind of policy are we talking about?
Q Policies regarding restraining the clients.
A I think it's pretty standard.
Q So you're not involved in tracking or implementing the restraint policies at BHDC?
A No, I'm not.
Q Do you know who is?
A No, I don't.
Q Were you involved in drafting or implementing the policy that prohibited nonmedical staff from calling 911?
A No, I was not.
Q And you've been there for 15 years. Do you know where that policy originated?
A No, sir, I don't.
Q Do you know who insisted on that policy or who came up with that policy?
A I have no idea.
Q And you've been there for 15 years, but you don't know who creates the policy?
A No, I don't.
Q Couldn't even venture a guess?
A I'm sorry?
Q You couldn't even venture a guess?

A No, I don't.
Q Are you aware of the disability rights Arkansas investigations into the Booneville facility that have been conducted over the last 10 years?
A Somewhat, yes.
Q Have you seen those reports, specifically the one in 2016 that -- there's one in 2015 and one in 2016 that were critical of Booneville for the overuse of restraints on clients. Are you familiar with those reports?
A I was a physician at that time as well, so I'm familiar with those.
Q Do you feel like those reports are fair and accurate?
A Are you talking about the 2016 reports?
Q Yes. The report that highlighted what the disability rights described as the excessive use of restraints on the clients at Booneville, particularly in comparison to the number of restraints used at the other human development centers in Arkansas?
A I think the number of restraints are drastically down. I may be wrong there, but I think after that, we looked into that, and, again, you've got the psychiatrist on board as well. And as far as I know, I don't know about the latest numbers, but we were working on it and the last I heard we had decreased on the number of restraints.

Q When did you last hear about it or talk to someone about it?
A Again, probably in the last couple of years.
Q When you say "last I heard," was that a document you saw? Do you have any idea where you got that?
A I'm thinking. I think, you know, discussing with the DON, the nursing supervisor we talked about.
Q Do you believe there was a time at the facility where physical restraints were being used too often on clients?
A I don't know. It's difficult for me to answer that question.
Q Why is it difficult?
A Because I don't know the answer. I mean, again, it's my opinion I don't think so we were using it excessively. We used it as needed, but I think we were reprimanded or we were looked into that, and after that, we tried to cut down on it as far as I remember. This is probably two or three years old, quite a while back.
MR. GILLISPIE: All right. Eric, we can adjourn now.
Q If you could just please make sure Eric gets a copy of the things that you used today and also that document that you described early on in the deposition about a list of five types of restraints that you approve or disapprove for a client. I don't think I've seen that document. Do you recall what document I'm talking about, Doctor?

A Yes. I will forward it to you.

Q Okay. That would be great. Thank you, sir.

A Thank you.

(WHEREUPON, the proceedings were concluded in the matter at 12:14 p.m.)
