(3) The fact finder shall secure from both parties agreements reached by the parties prior to fact finding and the final position of each party with regard to any subject of bargaining as to which the parties have not reached agreement.

(4) In determining whether to include in his or her recommendations the final position of either party, the fact finder shall consider the following factors:

(A) Agreements reached in collective bargaining prior to fact finding;

(B) The ability of the employer to meet costs, including both available financial resources and sources of additional financial resources, in light of any state imposed limitations on local spending or revenue;

(C) The terms and conditions of employment of the employees involved in fact finding hearings as compared to the terms and conditions of employment of other employees of the employer and of other public and private sector employees performing similar services in the same community and in comparable communities; and

(D) Other factors that traditionally are taken into consideration in the determination of terms and conditions of employment through collective bargaining in public and private sector employment.

(4) The fact finder shall make written findings of facts and recommendations for resolution of the dispute and, not later than fifteen (15) days after the date of appointment, shall serve the findings and recommendations on the employer and the employee organization.

(5) The employer shall immediately accept the fact finder's recommendations or shall make public the report of the fact finder.

(6) The employer shall, on the sixth working day after making the fact finder report public, take action of acceptance or rejection of each recommendation of the fact finder.

(7) However, during the period of time between the employer making the report public and taking action, the parties shall continue to make good faith efforts to resolve the dispute.”
