Presentation of the Speaker of the House, Robert S. Moore, Jr., by Parliamentarian Tim Massanelli.

REMARKS OF THE PARLIAMENTARIAN
TIM MASSANELLI

One hundred years ago, in January, 1911, the House of Representatives of the 38th General Assembly met for the very first time, here in this Chamber. The State Capitol was not completed, but the House and Senate Chambers were usable; and so the 38th General Assembly came to order. Among the group of 100 legislators was a newly-elected representative from Desha County named Isaac Norman Moore. One hundred years later, in 2011, we have a man named Robert S. Moore, Jr., who represents Desha County. Robert S. Moore, Jr., is the grandson of Isaac Norman Moore. So, with that said, it is a high honor and privilege for me to present to you , Robert S. Moore, Jr., the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the 88th General Assembly of the State of Arkansas. Speaker Moore, you are recognized.

REMARKS OF
SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE ROBERT S. MOORE, JR.
JANUARY 10, 2011

Thank you Mr. Parliamentarian. Thank you ladies and gentlemen of the House, dedicated staff and honored guests. I am genuinely humbled by your confidence and commit to each of you that I will serve honorably and to the best of my ability for the people of this Great State and for you, the members of the 88th General Assembly. I stand before you today to tell you that in accepting the challenges inherent in this office my work will be dedicated to assisting you in excelling in your duties to your constituents and to guide us as a legislative body to serve the best interests of the State of Arkansas.

Recognition of family

As Tim related, my grandfather was a freshman legislator in this chamber 100 years ago almost to the day. While knowing of his long service in the House and Senate, it was only recently that I learned of this uncanny bit of history.....I knew my grandfather as "Big Daddy" and you may rest assured that I feel the ghost of big daddy present here today! No doubt he's sitting comfortably next to one of you right now. Big Daddy loved this institution, loved the legislative process and loved being a part of democracy in action. I share that love as I know each of you returning members do also and that each of you new members will begin to embrace from this day forward. But I'm not the only member today to have family preceding their service in the House, Terry Rice your father and grandfather; Hank Wilkins, your mother and father, Johnnie Roebuck, your husband, and David Branscum, your father...and almost unbelievably, 11 more of our colleagues enjoy that distinct honor.

As we celebrate this historic day in our chamber it is to be noted the great strides for humanity that have occurred over these hundred years...the diversity in our membership as regards race, gender, religion, age, and political party that we enjoy today did not and could not have occurred in the society of 1911. Many of the great changes reflected in this diversity were brought about because of the vision over the years, of our forefathers in this Chamber, to see what needed to be done and more importantly, to have had the will and the courage to go against the often ill tempered protest of the status quo to accomplish the tough job at hand and make those just and necessary changes. As we begin the journey of the next 100 years as members of the 88th General Assembly, let us commit together to exemplify that courage in addressing the problems we face in 2011.

In JFK's book, "PROFILES IN COURAGE", Kennedy shares the stories of Republicans and Democrats, Federalists and Independents, who stepped up in tough times with acts of courage. Kennedy writes that "to be courageous requires no exceptional qualifications, no magic formula, no special combination of time, place, and circumstance. It is an opportunity that sooner or later is presented to us all. Politics merely furnishes one arena which imposes special tests of courage."

One hundred years ago, at the dawn of the automobile age, the legislature in this Chamber bravely tackled the issue of highways and roads..... our predecessors said that bold action was needed for Arkansas to meet the challenge of economic growth by providing the needed infrastructure. Today, we are called upon to meet that challenge again, to demonstrate the courage to act for the common good regardless of short term political ramifications. Now, so that the crisis in the highway funding issue doesn't create too much initial discomfort, let me make clear that the starting point on dealing with this serious problem is not simply raising taxes, because contrary to some opinion, democrats have no love for paying higher taxes either. Rather, the starting point is recognizing that we have a funding mechanism that is inadequate to meet current and future highway maintenance and construction needs and then having the courage to modify or change that funding structure so that future generations can safely travel our highways, so that industry will know that we have a viable plan that will insure their ability to move goods and services swiftly and economically, and so that tourists will be attracted in increasing numbers to enjoy the beauty of our scenic state. But rest assured, the old adage "there is no such thing as a free lunch" is applicable. If we are going to have a bright future for economic development in Arkansas we will find a way to pay for a highway system that is recognized nationally for its excellence.

Likewise, the 38th General Assembly was called upon to deal with matters of prison reform. The issues we face in this area today bare little similarity with those of 100 years ago, but the point is the same...changes have to be made...tough changes that will be successfully resolved only with the collective courage of this body.

We also owe it to all Arkansans that for the next 100 years our citizens will continue to enjoy our most precious natural resource...our ground and surface water supplies...in adequate quantity and with assured quality. Without a revision of our 22 year old State Water Plan, these fundamental and necessary goals will be in jeopardy. We must find the will to insure these guarantees are in place.

We will engage difficult issues that affect every district dealing with education, healthcare, security, and the environment. Our resolve in policy and funding solutions must be predicated on our commitment to work together for the benefit of all.

I believe that we will be judged by our constituents on whether we are willing to stand and answer these calls. And the test of our political character is the favorable judgment, not from our local newspaper at the end of the session, but of our children and grandchildren when they are standing in our shoes as adults 20 or 30 years from now. As expressed by my friend, Robert Dale, "what folks are saying a generation or two from now should be the measure of the worth of our efforts here as legislators"...Robert Dale is right and I like it. Harry Truman reminded us of our responsibility to govern with his admonition..."the buck stops here". The challenges regarding the future public good of our state that face the 88th General Assembly need to be resolved by the 88th General Assembly. We do a disservice to ourselves, the people we represent in our districts and to all of the citizens of Arkansas if we do otherwise.

As we begin our work remember that regardless of your political party, regardless of the rhetoric involved in your election, we are here, not as adversaries but as partners sharing the same privilege of representing the best interests of all Arkansans. We are not here as some remote battleground related to whatever misgivings are going on in Washington D. C., because if you don't yet know, please consider and learn that we have enormously more on our plate in taking care of the business of our citizens than we will ever have time to properly deal with. As Abraham Lincoln said, "the occasion is piled high with difficulty and we must rise with the occasion". So let us rise to the occasion and think anew in insuring the well being and safety of our citizens, in providing a quality education for our children while insuring that we have good job opportunities at home so that they can stay and become part of the future of our neighborhoods, our hometowns, our regions, enjoying quality of life in our Great State. The more time we spend wisely working on these matters that affect us all, the less time we will lose arguing on issues that impact only a few.

While the challenges of today may be more complex than those my Big Daddy and his colleagues faced 100 years ago, I believe the goals are generally the same. By successfully running for public office, regardless of the motivation, we have agreed to place ourselves on the line, to show leadership, to show courage, and to work for the common and greater good of all Arkansans. That is our job description. Ronald Reagan provided guidance for each of us when he said "there are no easy answers, but there are simple answers. We just have to have the courage to do what we know is right". In doing what's right, we each have a role to play and a contribution to make if we are to meet the expectations of those who have given us the privilege to be here today as members of the 88th General Assembly. In meeting our obligations to the people of Arkansas may we always be mindful of the words of the poet Alexander Pope when he wrote "Act well your part, there all the honor lies." Thank you. Now let's go to work!
