SECTION 2. Arkansas Code Title 5, Chapter 4, Subchapter 6, is amended to add an additional section to read as follows:

5-4-609. Serious mental illness.

(a) This section applies to a person:

(1) Charged with an offense for which the state seeks the death penalty; or

(2) Convicted of an offense and sentenced to death.

(b)(1) Except as provided under subsection (h) of this section, a person may file a petition with the trial court alleging that the person has a serious mental illness.

(2) If a person files a petition under this subsection, the court shall order an evaluation of the person to provide evidence of whether the person has a serious mental illness.

(3) The court shall appoint two (2) examiners, each of whom shall be a psychiatrist or psychologist licensed by the Arkansas State Medical Board as a health service provider in psychology and experienced in the diagnosis and treatment of individuals with a serious mental illness.

(4) The examiners shall provide a written report to the court offering an opinion as to whether the person has a serious mental illness.

(c)(1) A statement that a person makes as part of an evaluation or at a hearing under this section may be used against the person on the issue of guilt in the criminal proceeding.

(2) However, the person and the state may call an examiner as a witness in the criminal proceeding.

(d) This section does not preclude the person or the state from presenting any other evidence on the issue of whether the person suffers from a serious mental illness.

(e)(1) The court shall conduct a hearing on a petition filed under this section.

(2) The court may determine that the person has a serious mental illness only if the person proves by a preponderance of the evidence at the hearing that the person has a serious mental illness.

(3)(A) Not later than thirty (30) days after the hearing, the court shall determine whether the person has a serious mental illness based on the evidence presented at the hearing.

(B) The court shall issue written findings supporting its determination under subdivision (e)(1) of this section.

(f) If the court determines that the person has a serious mental illness, the state may not seek the death penalty but may still seek a sentence of life imprisonment without parole.

(g) This section applies to a person who is alleged to have committed before the effective date of this act an offense for which the state seeks a death sentence, but who has not been sentenced.

(h) For a person who has been sentenced to death before the effective date of this act:

(1)(A) If the person has not completed state post-conviction proceedings, the person may include in the petition for post-conviction relief an allegation that the person has a serious mental illness.

(B) If the court hearing the post-conviction petition determines that the person has a serious mental illness, the court shall vacate the person's death sentence and impose a sentence of life imprisonment without parole.

(C) This subsection does not preclude the court from granting the person any additional relief to which the person may be entitled based on the merits of the person's additional post-conviction claims; and

(2)(A) If a person has completed state post-conviction proceedings, the person may request permission to file a successive petition for post-conviction relief in accordance with applicable post-conviction procedure as established by court rule, alleging that the person has a serious mental illness.

(B) A request under this subdivision (2) must be filed not later than July 1, 2018.

(C) If the successive petition is authorized, the court shall proceed under the applicable rules governing post-conviction relief.

(D) If the court determines that the person has a serious mental illness, it shall vacate the person's death sentence and impose a sentence of life imprisonment without parole.
